ONE STAR PICNIC TO BE HELD IN EASTLAND

DATE GROUP RECONSIDERS TAX PROPOSAL

WASHINGTON, May 22.—The date finance committee voted today to reconsider a section of the compromise corporate tax plan which a "joker" was disclosed here as a heavier tax burden could be imposed on some corporations than committee members intended.

Study convinced the committee when it resumed session today that would, in some instances, levy a tax upon a tax. As a result the committee voted to reconsider this bill and began study of treasury estimates on the yield of various rates.

The so-called "tax on a tax" developed on the compromise plan setting an 18 per cent flat tax on corporations and a 7 per cent tax on undistributed profits. It would work as follows with a corporation with $100,000 income which desired to pay taxes out of that income and retain 30 per cent of its earnings:

18 per cent flat tax—$18,000, 7 per cent tax on $30,000 retained, $2,100.

In addition the corporation would have to pay 7 per cent on the $18,000 taken out of income to pay the original flat tax. This would be an additional $1,260.

GOP Convention Hall Will Seat 8,000 Visitors

CLEVELAND.—When Senator Steiwer of Oregon steps from the central stage of the Republican National convention on the night of June 9, walks a few feet along a ramp to the speaker's platform and begins his keynote speech, he will find himself virtually surrounded by newspapermen.

And it will be no surprise to Steiwer himself nor to the party faithful grouped on the stage back of him. It's all part of the setting plan for the convention, and has been arranged not by the newspapermen, but by the men who guide the destiny of the Republican party.

The seating plan, drawn up April 23, and approved by Ralph E. Williams, vice chairman of the Republican National Committee, gives the choicest seats in the big auditorium to the men who will give the news of the convention to the world.

Extends in Semi-Circle

The central stage—the platform from where the convention business will be directed—is on the south end of the main arena, which seats 12,500 of whom 8,000 will be visitors. On the left and right and directly in front of the stage are the sections set aside for the press.

The ramp leading from the stage to the speaker's platform extends 15 yards through rows of the working press and brings the speaker directly in front of the second block of seats. This block, in four sections, will accommodate approximately 1,000 delegates.

In the third block are four other sections set aside for the 1,000 alternates.

Eight Sections for Guests

To the rear of the alternates, eight sections have been reserved for guests.

The entire balcony will be open to visitors.

Through the whole arena, the view is unobstructed. There are no columns in the hall and the rows of seats will be stepped to give everyone an equal opportunity to see the convention proceedings.

The arena at the south end will merge into the public auditorium masonic hall, with accommodations for nearly 700 other visitors.

The auditorium will provide seats for approximately 8,000 visitors, not counting the delegates, the press or other men and women assisting in conducting the convention.

ARNOLD'S PARK, Ia.—W. J. Kennedy, local auctioneer, is a hard man to discourage. He ran for Dickinson county sheriff 16 years ago, and was defeated by George Paulsen, who has been sheriff ever since. Kennedy has announced he'll be a candidate this year.

Landis Explains Aims of SEC

Full protection for the security holders of the nation is the aim of the government through its Securities and Exchange Commission, James M. Landis, chairman of that New Deal agency, said at the tenth annual meeting of the Associated Stock Exchanges in Cleveland.

CONTEMPT IS PONDERED AT PENSION QUIZ

WASHINGTON, May 22.—The house old age pension committee, perplexed by technical difficulties of punishing Dr. Francis Townsend for his defiance of the inquiry, today held up its contempt action pending further study.

A plan to bring immediate contempt action against Townsend in the house as soon as it met today was dropped. Study was being given another proposal to certify a contempt action to the District of Columbia supreme court.

Certification of the case to the court probably would postpone any action until next fall.

The delay developed in spite of a statement by Speaker of the House John W. Byrnes that Townsend was "in patent contempt" of the house when he walked out on the old age inquiry yesterday.

The committee appeared to be in some confusion today. It had planned originally to meet at 9:30 a. m. to vote on a recommendation to the house for a contempt citation and take up the matter on the floor at 11 a. m. Overnight the members seemed to have changed their attitude toward the 70-year-old physician, whose dramatic exit precipitated the crisis yesterday afternoon.

Italians Contend British Furnished Enemy Dum-Dums

GENEVA, May 22.—A new Italian memorandum containing fresh evidence purporting to prove British firms supplied dum-dum bullets to Ethiopians, was published today.

After citing 15 cases in which Italian troops allegedly were wounded by dum-dum bullets, Florio Suvich, Italian undersecretary for foreign affairs, said he had information including documentary evidence that British firms supplied the ammunition.

Roosevelt Plans Visit to Texas

WASHINGTON, May 22.—President Roosevelt today announced tentative plans to attend the Texas Centennial June 12. He also expects to visit Fort Worth.

If congress adjourns by June 6, but does not adjourn and takes a three-day recess, the president said he would leave Washington June 8, visiting Arkansas June 10 and arriving in Texas June 11.

He will visit Dallas on June 12 and Fort Worth that night to visit his son, Elliott.

LEON SURVEY IS APPROVED BY SENATORS

WASHINGTON, May 22.—The senate accepted Thursday amendments by Senator Sheppard (D-Tex.) to the omnibus flood control bill to provide for preliminary surveys on five Texas rivers.

They are the Colorado both above and below the Coke-Bunnels county line, the Nueces and its tributaries, Leon, Sulphur and Pease. These investigations would be conducted with funds from a blanket $5,000,000 appropriation in the bill.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—A $284,000,000 omnibus flood control bill was hammered through the senate Thursday and returned to the house, where it originated a year ago.

"This is the first porkless flood control bill in the history of the country," declared Senator Copeland (D-NY) who handled the measure after passage had been effected by a voice vote.

Carrying authorization for 216 flood control projects, the big measure would require the affected states and localities to share the cost with the federal government, paying for land and construction damage costs.

Included also was authorization for President Roosevelt to select the projects he felt should be initiated first under the $50,000,000 to be made available the first year.

Beaten down by a 55 to 15 vote in the drive for passage was an amendment by Senator Bilbo (D-Miss) to require the federal government to carry the entire cost of the measure. Sidetracked also was a "rider" to create a national resources board of five members to make surveys looking toward a broad conservation plan. The rider was returned to committee.

Senator Copeland forecast the house would insist on its provisions and that a conference would be held next week between representatives of the two chambers. Friends of the measure said there was little likelihood of a White House veto.

Almost simultaneously the house voted a more than hundred million dollar increase in another flood control measure already passed by the senate.

Attempt Is Made To Hang Student Because of Grades

DENVER, Colo., May 22.—Anna Klantchek, 13-year-old school pupil, was recovering from a stab wound in the thigh and shock after 100 students from her school, assertedly prompted by jealousy over high grades, threatened to hang her.

The girl's mother said the trouble started three days ago when Anna was told she was to be passed from the fifth to the seventh grade and several other pupils dejected. Since then other pupils had threatened and taunts at her.

Yesterday the mob of students forced her into an alley and one boy climbed to the top of a garage where she fastened a rope. In the struggle Anna was stabbed in the thigh by an unidentified student.

Allred and Oil Man Disagree On Oil Shipments

DALLAS, May 22.—Differences over oil shipments from the Rodgers field into Texas precipitated an open break today between Gov. James Allred and Freeman Burford, Dallas oil man and colonel on the governor's staff, who only last week represented Allred at the inauguration of Gov. Richard Leche of Louisiana.

Burford, president of the East Texas Refining Company, took exception to a statement by the governor that he had not authorized Burford to speak for him about oil shipments from Louisiana to Texas when Burford attended the Leche inauguration.

Lie Detecting in Criminal Work Is Labeled A Myth As Devices Merely Diagnose Symptoms Expert Says

BY JACK CURWELL

CHICAGO.—There is no such thing as a "lie-detector," according to youthful Prof. Leonardo Keeler, brilliant scientist-lawyer, who heads Northwestern University's scientific crime detection laboratory.

The odd-looking black boxlike machine and methods used by Keeler and his associates in helping solve crime mysteries, come under the general heading of "the (Keeler) Polygraph detection of deception technique."

And the polygraph—"lie-detector" to some—is only one cog in the crime detection plant which contains paraphernalia ranging from lathes and drills to scientific laboratories.

Keeler defenits his polygraph, and once wrote an essay entitled "Debunking the 'Lie-Detector'."

"To begeth with," he said, "there is no such thing as a lie-detector. There are no instruments recording bodily changes—such as blood pressure, pulse, respiration, or galvanic reflex—that reserve the name 'lie-detector' any more than a stethoscope, a clinical thermometer, or a blood count apparatus with a microscope can be called an "appendicitis detector."

"Laymen are led to believe that indicators jump in a defined manner when a subject lies, or that a little red light flashes, or that a bell rings. Certain so-called experts refer to their instruments as 'lie-detectors,' and give the impression they really have such a device."

"However," said Keeler, "deception, guilt, or innocence can be diagnosed from certain symptoms just as appendicitis or any other physical disorder can be diagnosed."

Created After Massacre

The scientific crime detection laboratory grew out of the St. Valentine Day massacre of seven years ago—a crime for which no blame ever was fixed.

It was started to make available a laboratory to give expert assistance to police in identification of firearms and also in the examination of all other types of evidence needing scientific methods.

Burt A. Masee, a member of the coroner's jury investigating the massacre, authored the idea, and with the co-operation of Dean Emeritus John H. Wigmore of Northwestern University school of law, a laboratory corporation was formed and affiliated with the university.

The polygraph consists of three units—one for recording respiratory change; another for continuously recording the pulse wave and blood pressure; and a third for recording muscular reflexes of the arm or leg.

Operation Is Described

To obtain body reactions a rubber tube is placed around the chest and a blood pressure cuff is fastened about the upper arm and inflated to a pressure midway between the systolic and diastolic blood pressure. Rubber tubes approximately a quarter of an inch in diameter lead from both the chest tube and the cuff into metal tambours, to which are attached two pens. As the pens fluctuate with each pulse of respiratory movement, recordings are made upon a slowly moving graph paper on a small drum.

Ordinary physical abnormalities, such as high blood pressure and irregular pulse, or emotional instability caused by fear, anger or other disturbing factors, do not interfere with the deception test because these irregularities are brought out in the "control" part of the record.

In other words, that part of the record made by the subject while being asked a few customary irrelevant questions—(Have you had breakfast this morning?—requiring an answer of "yes" or "no")—will indicate the physiological peculiarities of the individual.

Deviations Are Important

Significance is attached only to the deviations from the "norms" at the points where the subject is being questioned as to his particular participation in the crime under investigation.

This polygraph is used by insurance companies, banks, department stores and other organizations. More than 2,000 employes of 52 Chicago banks have been examined in effort to detect embezzlers of various sums.

In one instance a bank desired to detect the embezzler of $5,000. Tests were run on all 56 employes, but instead of finding one liar in the group, 12 were discovered. Of the 12, nine confessed to embezzlements then unknown to bank officials.

DETROIT, Mich., May 22.—Workings of a secret society known as the "Black Legion," which reeked vengeance upon those considered un-American or guilty of misbehavior were revealed today by police, who announced the arrest of 16 members and confessions of six vigilantes to the slaying of an alleged wife-beater.

Inspector John Navarre announced the arrests following exhaustive police investigations into the slaying of Charles Poole, 32, former East St. Louis, Ill., resident, whose bullet-riddled body was found in a ditch at Dearborn Township.

From the alleged confession Navarre said he learned that the "Black Legion's" purpose for killing Poole was for beating his wife. Four bullets were fired into his body.

Under arrest and admitted participants in the midnight murder, according to police, were Harvey Davis, 38; Dayton Dean, 36; Irvin Lee, 30; Urban Lipps, 32; Lowell Rushing, 24; and Hershel Gill, 21, all of this city.

Kate Smith Given Birthday Party; Over 4,000 Attend

Kate Smith was guest of honor a few days ago at a spectacular celebration in Constitution Hall, Washington, D. C. More than 4,000 guests, including numerous government officials and other dignitaries were on hand to witness the colorful ceremonies which marked the Radio Star's birthday and the fifth anniversary of her first broadcast.

While the massed bands of Washington American Legion Posts played, and the audience applauded, John A. Hartford, President of The Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company, whose Washington Unit of 1,500 employees sponsored the party, presented Miss Smith with a 300-pound birthday cake, standing six feet in height.

Mr. Hartford requested that the huge cake be brought in after playfully pretending to fumble in his pockets for the "little birthday remembrance" he wanted to give the radio star.

The golden-voiced singer was so overcome by the enthusiastic reception of her "home-town" people and the honors heaped upon her that she was forced to borrow a handkerchief from the master-of-ceremonies, Mr. Harry Butler. "I'm so happy," she confessed, "that I'm afraid I'm going to cry."

Among those paying tribute to Miss Smith were: James L. Frieser, Vice-Chairman of the American Red Cross; Joseph S. Malloy, District Commander of the American Legion; Alfred Jacobson, of the Jewish War Veterans; William S. Paley, President of The Columbia Broadcasting System, and J. W. Barnett, President of the Washington A&P Managers Benefit Association.

Mr. Malloy and Mr. Jacobson presented Miss Smith with a bouquet and a handsome engraved medallion. Mr. Frieser, on behalf of the American Red Cross, praised her for her work in securing contributions for the stricken victims of the floods, and gave her a parchment scroll in recognition of her services.

Addressing the assembled guests Mr. Hartford declared that the welfare of each and every employee was the thing nearest his heart. And when he said, "We are more interested in building men than balance sheets," he received a tremendous ovation.

Mr. Paley, extending his congratulations to the honor guest of the evening, said, "Her character of unselfishness, sympathy and human kindness is as much a part of Kate Smith as her voice."

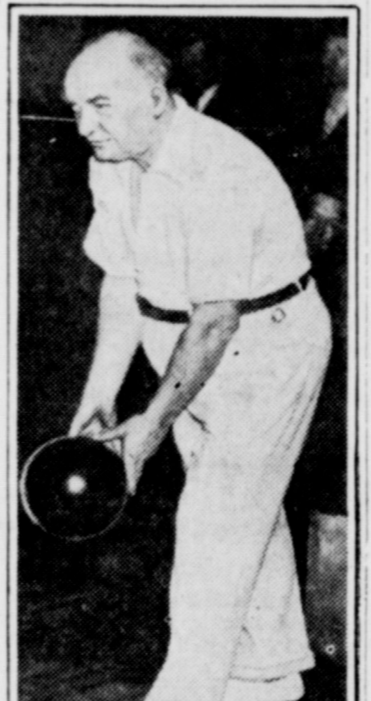

Miss Smith brought with her to the party a revue which included numerous outstanding stage and radio personalities. The performance was directed by Ted Collins, Miss Smith's announcer-manager, who has been associated with her since her radio debut, in 1931. Kate's Orchestra, led by Jack Miller, was also on hand. The popular singer acted as mistress-of-ceremonies, and offered several songs, including her famous theme song, "When the Moon Comes Over the Mountain." The day following the banquet, she presented the 300-pound cake to the small patients in the Children's Hospital, and the bouquets of flowers to war veterans in the Walter Reed and Mount Alto Hospitals in Washington.

Institute Asks Free Competition And Tax Curbs

TULSA, Ok.—The board of directors of the American Petroleum Institute at the institute's mid-year meeting here unanimously adopted a resolution charging that endeavors to promote unsound, uneconomic, and discriminatory policies of taxation and legislation, having as their objectives selfish and limited benefits, are impeding recovery.

It asserted that attempts to eliminate or to equalize competition between domestic industries prevents the public from benefiting from the industrial progress and from the resultant economies which free competition among industries assures.

Oil men at the meeting, commenting unofficially on the resolution, asserted that it may have been prompted by recent legislative proposals to tax fuel oil for the competitive advantage of other power and heating industries. It may also have been inspired by the fact that measures have recently been introduced in Congress and in several states which would make blending of alcohol with gasoline compulsory, either directly, or through a tax differential or subsidy.

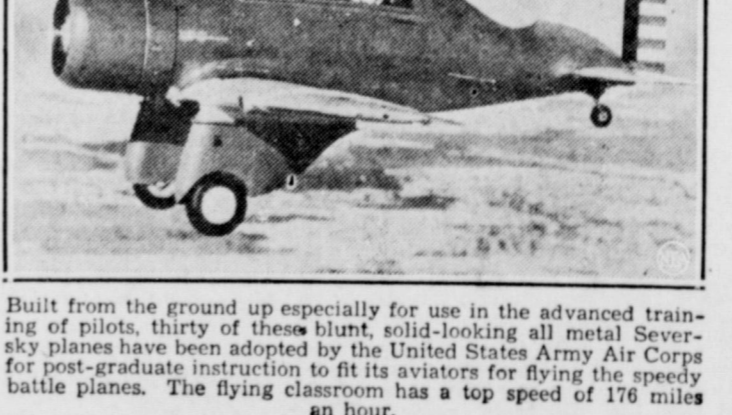

The resolution is as follows: "WHEREAS, restoration of real prosperity in the United States necessitates the early and complete resumption of activity by all industries; and

"WHEREAS, progress toward recovery is delayed and recuperative efforts of industry are handicapped by endeavors to promote unproductive, uneconomic, and discriminatory policies of taxation and legislation having as their objectives selfish and limited benefits;

"NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the board of directors of the American Petroleum Institute as an expression of its opinion:

"First, that to levy discrimina-

Mexican Eldorado Is Being Sought

JUAREZ, Mexico.—Search for a Mexican Eldorado, a 200-year-old lost cavern of the Catholic missionary, Fr. Herman Glandorff, may be undertaken by a contemporary priest, Rev. Fr. Salvador B. Uranga, rector of Juarez' ancient Guadalupe mission.

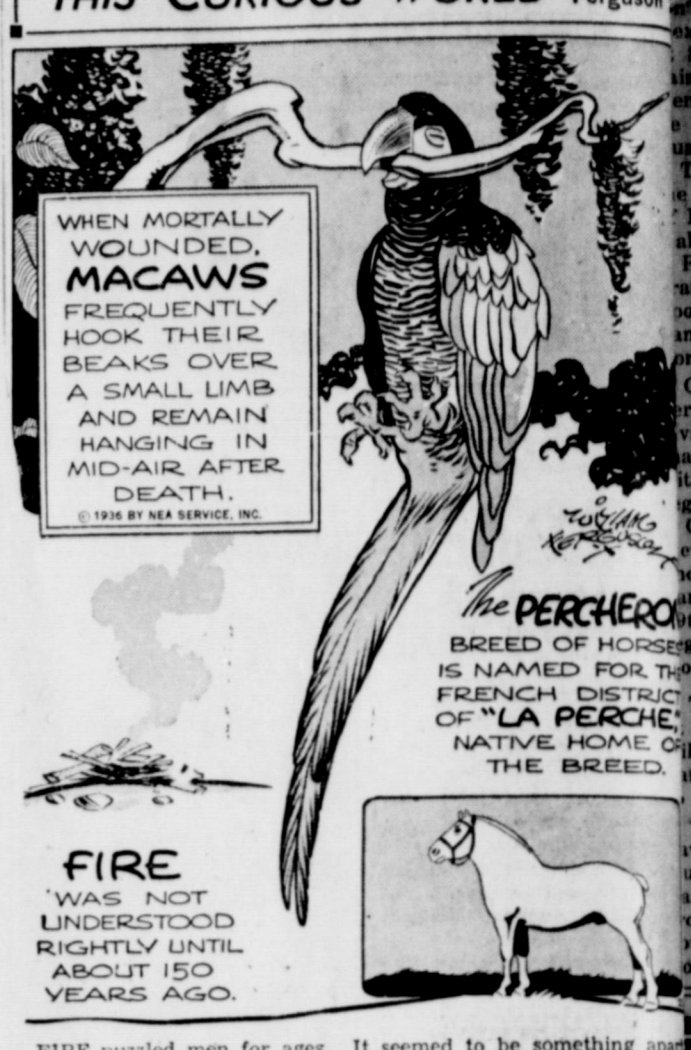

Glandorff fled to the mountainous Indian country in Chihuahua in the eighteenth century after being suppressed by Carlos III, king of Spain. The rest of the "Company of Jesus" returned to Spain but Glandorff took refuge in a cave and continued his work of Christianizing the Indians. He died in 1763.

In 1924, Rev. Fr. Uranga organized an expedition to the Tarhuamarras mountains, 200 miles southwest of Chihuahua City. He was transferred to Juarez, however, and the trip was never completed.

"Soon we will go back," announced the 40-year-old priest recently. "Most priceless would be the ancient documents of the original founding of the Company."

GUADALUPE, Calif.—Postmasterhips have become candidates in the Dolcini family. V. F. Dolcini has been postmaster here ever since the Wilson administration and his sister, Miss Corinne Dolcini, has been appointed postmistress at Davis.

FIRE puzzled men for ages. It seemed to be something apart from earth, air and water. One reason why fire remained a mystery so long is that people thought it was a substance. They believed that it was a hot material that poured out of things as they burned.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON WITH RODNEY DUTCHER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—Chairman James M. Landis of the Securities and Exchange Commission, after prayer and thoughtful consideration, has decided to stay on the job in Washington instead of returning to his law professorship at Harvard.

That doesn't mean that Landis or anyone else outside of Wall Street is especially satisfied with the record of SEC to date. He and many others who were once enthusiastic over the securities and stock market acts are disappointed at the commission's failure to grapple successfully with the many complex problems presented by the securities markets.

The SEC staff is weak. There has been constant dissension between a large group known as "Wall Street stooges" and another group made up mostly of liberals, many of them dissatisfied with Landis. Personal jealousies and bickering have been rife.

This, plus the difficulty of getting able men to work for the salaries offered and the caliber of men picked by former Chairman Joe Kennedy—with tacit approval of Landis and other commissioners—has made it impossible for SEC to present a strong front on any major issue.

The result is that Landis, originally considered a crusader against Wall Street malpractices, is unwilling and perhaps unable to crusade.

So far the SEC has merely worked out problems as to information for security buyers—and none too well, according to liberals who still talk about the Northern States power case, in which a registration statement balance sheet was approved showing a surplus which, in fine print subsequently, turned out to be a deficit.

Landis wrote the opinion and Kennedy later engineered his selection as chairman.

The commission still apparently has no plans to do anything about unlisted trading, over-the-counter sales, segregation of dealers and brokers, and similar large problems.

The most worrisome aspect of this is its seeming indication that SEC is unprepared to handle the next big bull market, with all the fast operations that may then be expected.

The term of Commissioner Robert E. Healy, famous for his investigation of public utility methods, is about to expire and it will be all right with quite a few SEC men if Roosevelt finds something else for him to do, instead of appointing him for five more years.

The group opposed to Healy attacks him on several grounds, chiefly, they say, because he is cantankerous and so set in his ways as to be something of an obstruction.

JOE KENNEDY continues his "raids" on SEC personnel for his office in New York, where he has been engaged mainly with big corporate reorganizations.

Following his hiring of Bill Hickey, one of the commission's best experts, he is taking back Joseph R. Sheehan, whom he brought here and who would make an ideal lobbyist in relations with SEC, because he was long in charge of hiring of personnel.

Kennedy is also after General Counsel John J. Burns, whose departure would be a distinct loss to the commission.

Gen. Houston's Defeat of Santa Anna To Be Celebrated Again Next August

HOUSTON.—Gen. Sam Houston's defeat of Santa Anna, the Mexican "Napoleon of the West," San Jacinto 100 years ago to its independence will be commemorated Aug. 9 in a sham battle by 2,500 soldiers and National Guardsmen. The mock fight will be held on a old battleground 12 miles east of Houston as part of the Centennial celebration. Permission for the spectacle was granted by the war department on request of officials of the San Jacinto Centennial association. Col. E. A. Everberg, commander of the 141st Infantry, 36th division, will be in charge of the sham battle. The date coincides with the 100th anniversary of his defeat. Colonel Everberg said a regiment of National Guard artillery and several army units from Fort Sam Houston and the motorized 10th Cavalry, anti-aircraft regiment from Fort Crockett, would participate. "Negotiations are under way to have several hundred National Guardsmen from Virginia, Gen. Houston's native state, and from Tennessee, where he was born before coming to Texas," Colonel Everberg said. "There may take part in the parade in Houston. In all, there will be some 2,500 soldiers in the sham battle. We will re-enact the 18-minute fight which resulted in the defeat of the Napoleon of the West, Santa Anna, freeing Texas. In this we will use only such weapons as the actual heroes of the day did. "Then we will show what modern weapons would have done to change the history of the world. We will have hundreds of rounds of blank artillery ammunition fired; there will be airplanes overhead and an elaborate system of modern military communications, including radio and telegraph lines. "We will have cavalry, just as Sam Houston had mounted men in his Texan army," he said, "but we will show how military science has equipped the modern mounted troops with powerful weapons. It is going to be a fine show—the biggest thing ever seen in this part of Texas." Preliminary plans call for a memorial service at dawn for the heroes of the 141st Infantry during the 100 years of the organization's existence. The 141st Infantry dates back to the Alamo and the regimental coat-of-arms displays the words: "Remember the Alamo." "The 141st has had many names in the past," Colonel Everberg said, "but we know its men first came from the old Washington

Federal Savings and Loan Assn's. Pass 1100 Total

WASHINGTON.—A new total of 1,102 federal savings and loan associations was reported to the Federal Home Loan Bank board on April 30. During April, 26 associations were added to the growing number of such institutions, which are privately owned and managed thrift and home-loan associations, operating under federal supervision. The resources of these associations now aggregate $570,351,261. The total includes 629 new associations, holding assets of $91,660,794, which were organized by local citizens in the past 23 months, in districts throughout the country where local home-financing needs were not adequately served. The remaining 473 are old-established institutions of the savings, building and loan type, formerly state chartered, which voluntarily converted to federal charter, as permitted under the Home Owners' Loan Act of 1933. The latter group embraces some of the largest savings and loan organizations in the country, with total assets of close to $480,000,000.

more than $1,000,000 in resources are located in Los Angeles, Cleveland, New York City, Omaha and Hollywood, Calif. Investors in all federal associations are protected by insurance of their accounts up to $5,000 each through the federal savings and loan insurance corporation. This protection of individual savings is also available to state-chartered institutions of the thrift and home-financing class which choose to apply for insurance and are approved by the corporation. To date, 207 such associations throughout the country, with resources aggregating $323,000,000, have become insured. An April 30 report also showed that federal savings and loan associations are leading in the number of institutions requesting and receiving federal investment in their shares, for the purpose of increasing the volume of credit available locally for loans for the construction, purchase and refinancing of homes, from a fund of $300,000,000 authorized by Congress in 1935. However, other eligible institutions are increasing their applications for such investment, indicating a larger demand for home loans in their areas.

Fiddle Band's Father 122 Years Old, Will Pay a Visit to Texas

WICHITA FALLS.—Marion West, 122, who does a neat buck-and-wing and directs his own nine-son fiddle band, is coming to Texas this summer to see the other one of his "boys." Marion West, Jr., 84-year-old laborer in Burk Burnett, is the "boy" who left home. The other nine are in Father West's string band and will travel with him this summer. All live in and near Norfolk, Va. The elder West uses neither spectacles nor a cane and is an expert rifle shot. He carries a "minnie" ball in his leg today, suffered while he was a Confederate soldier. His 18 children all are still alive. West's family includes two sets of triplets and three sets of twins. The "younger" West, Marion, Jr., still does a full day's work. He suffered no lasting effects from a leg broken in an auto accident when he was 78.

MARBLE PLAYING Faster Trains For Canada Are Studied

VANCOUVER, B. C.—Climatic conditions and a sparse population are delaying development of Canada's railroads. Addressing the Board of Trade here, W. A. Mather, general manager of western lines for the Canadian Pacific Railway, revealed that lighter and faster trains may be placed in operation on Canadian railroads this year, but warned that several problems must be overcome first. Canadian roads, he said, are keeping in touch with modern trends in rail transport. But while the greatly publicized improvements in their own country, the Canadian roads, faced with climate and the sparse population, are forced to move cautiously. In considering introduction of lightweight equipment, designed for higher speeds, Mather said Canadian railroad men are faced with the fact that winter conditions make imperative the adding of six tons of insulation and heating equipment to each car. Mather scoffed at the common belief that steam locomotives have outlived their usefulness. It is possible, he said, to build, economically, steam engines capable of the speed now demanded by the public. "Hundreds of a new rackets are being developed to swindle veterans of their bonus payments." Holding baby bonds for ransom would be something new. Little Willie, scolded for the way he looked after playing in the streets, wants to live in Italy after learning that Il Duce had praised the Junior Blackshirts.

Let Not Jeffersonian Cries Deceive You

The name and the spirit of Thomas Jefferson have been invoked often enough, as this presidential campaign gets under way, to lead an innocent bystander to suppose that Jeffersonian democracy would be the issue of the year.

The administration has been denounced for leading us away from Jefferson's ideal; it has been praised for leading us toward it. And the best thing the ordinary voter can do is to make up his mind right now that all this is one of the grandest sham battles that ever began a political campaign.

There is not the slightest chance that the present administration will Jeffersonize the country; there is not the slightest chance that its opponents will do so. Neither side has either the power or the wish to make Jefferson's great dream come true.

For Jefferson dreamed of an America which, in almost every essential, was the exact opposite of the America we have today.

His America would have been predominantly agricultural; ours is predominantly industrial; His would have had few cities and small ones; ours has many cities and large ones.

He felt that democracy would flourish only as long as the overwhelming majority of Americans lived on small farms, which they owned outright and on which they raised and fabricated nearly all the food and clothing they needed; and America has not remotely resembled that concept since the pre-Civil War era.

We have, instead, an enormous working class population and an incalculably immense network of finance and industry—the two things which Jefferson would have none of at any price. Most of our farmers either are in debt to the bankers or hold their farms as tenants—two more things which Jefferson held fatal to his vision of democracy.

But the important point is not so much the fact that we are in almost every respect the direct opposite of Jefferson's dream, as the fact that it would be almost impossible for us to get back to that dream.

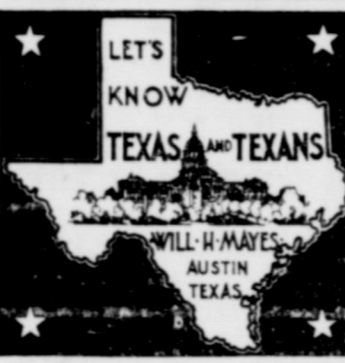

To do so we would have to remake our agriculture, to begin with, from the ground up; abolish debt, abolish tenancy, abolish the great one-crop farms of the corn and wheat and cotton belts, and restore antique handicrafts, such as weaving, wood-working, dyeing, and so on, to each farmhouse.

We would have to abolish our great corporations, give up our mass-production industries, reduce our great cities to a fraction of their size, abolish our tariffs, and whittle our banks and exchanges down to pocket size.

And if, at this point, you begin to wonder just how we can ever put through any such program, the answer is, bluntly: we can't.

We can't do it, and it is safe to say that no responsible party leader in or out of Washington thinks that we can. The fight over Jefferson's democracy is, in other words, a great sham battle. We might as well forget about it and devote ourselves to the real issues of the campaign.

BOOTS! BOOTS! BOOTS!

Q. When was Texas first formally offered to the United States for annexation?—S. J. Uvalde. A. On Aug. 4, 1837. The offer was declined largely because it might lead to war between the United States and Mexico and because it would extend slave territory. It was withdrawn by Texas in October, 1838, and negotiations were not renewed until October, 1843, when President Tyler asked that they be reopened. The change from Republic to State was consummated on Feb. 16, 1846.

Q. What percentage of sulphur production of the United States is from Texas and how is it mined?—R. C. U., Del Rio. A. About 75 per cent, most of which is from Brazoria, Wharton and Matagorda counties. It is mined by forcing superheated water through pipes into the deposits, melting the sulphur and carrying it by force to the surface through pipes.

Q. How many Texans were killed and how many mortally wounded at San Jacinto?—R. N. P., Sonora. A. Six were killed in battle. They were Lemuel S. Blakely, Brazoria; Benjamin E. Brigham, Brazoria; John A. Lamb, Walker county; John C. Hale, Sabine county; Thomas P. Fowle, recently from Massachusetts; Mathias Cooper, recently from Indiana. The mortally wounded, who died in a few days, were William J. Motley, Gonzales; Ashley R. Stephens, Washington county; Olwyn J. Trask, recently from New York. In addition to these 34 others were more or less seriously wounded.

Rainbow Puzzles Winter Garden Area

By United Press
 McALLEN.—A noonday sun surrounded by a rainbow puzzled residents of Texas "Winter Garden" area for two hours May 12 until they discovered it was a "Solar Halo."

About 12:30 p. m., persons outdoors noticed that a varicolored ring was forming about the bright sun. The portion of sky seen between the "halo" and the sun was brighter blue than the sky outside. The Brownsville weather bureau was asked to explain the phenomenon. The meteorologist did: it was a "solar halo," caused by the reflection of the sun's rays through a high layer of icy cirrostratus clouds. "He said such occurrences were fairly common in the area, despite the fact that old-timers vowed they'd never seen one before.

LYRIC NOW PLAYING

Richard Dix's dashing first encounter with Leila Hyams as the driver of a stage coach he saved from road agents develops into a hectic romance in "Yellow Dust," RKO Radio Picture with Moroni Olsen and Andy Clyde.

"THESE THREE" HAS THREE GREAT STARS

"These Three," Samuel Goldwyn's powerful new screen drama, brings Miriam Hopkins, Merle Oberon and Joel McCrea to the Connellee Theatre for two days beginning Sunday.

The most talked-about story of the year, this Lillian Hellman screen play depicts how a whispering campaign growing out of a child's malicious lie nearly wrecked the lives of three innocent people.

The drama is laid in a small girls' school run by two young college women, Martha Dobie (Miriam Hopkins) and Karen Wright (Merle Oberon), but Martha, seeing that he loves Karen, conceals her affection.

Mary Tilford, the school's problem child, resenting punishment for wrongdoing, runs away from school, connecting a vicious lie involving the three adults as her reason. As a result Martha, Karen and Joe become the center of an ugly scandal. The school is lost and the romance is broken. The situation seems desperate until an unexpected turn of events brings the truth to light and the story ends happily.

Twelve-year-old Bonita Granville is cast as the trouble-making child, and others prominent in the cast are Catherine Doucet, Alma Kruger, Marcia Mae Jones, Carmencita Johnson and Walter Brennan. William Wyler directed "These Three." The photography is by Gregg Toland. The costumes were designed by Omar Kiam and the sets by Richard Day. The picture is released through United Artists.

DELIGHTFUL NEW TEAM SCORES IN POWERFUL DRAMA

Loretta Young and Franchot Tone form a delightful new romantic screen team in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "The Unguarded Hour," now showing at the Connellee Theatre.

The new picture, filled with romance, drama and mystery, gives both players an excellent opportunity for their talents.

Moving with lightning speed, the Lawrence Feingarten production concerns a prosecuting attorney who sends men to their doom by his brilliant use of circumstantial evidence. When he is caught by circumstances for a crime he has not committed his wife comes to his aid to save his life.

Both Tone and Miss Young are outstanding in their respective roles as the attorney and the wife. Roland Young, as the friend of the family, is exceedingly funny while Lewis Stone is sterling as the head of Scotland Yard.

Others who score in the mystery thriller, directed by Sam Wood, are Robert Greig, Dudley Digges, Jessie Ralph, Aileen Pringle and Henry Daniell.
