Pet Projects Add Up Toll of Taxpayer

The well-intentioned citizens of rock-ribbed Maine are furnishing the best candid camera shot of the American system that we have seen in a long time.

It was up in Maine, you will remember, that the government launched the Passamaquoddy project—a gigantic engineering endeavor to harness the Bay of Fundy's tides for production of unlimited power.

Here was to be created the first power plant of its kind in the world; that is, if funds continued to pour in for its completion. But they haven't, and that is where Maine comes in.

Hardly had Congress refused to appropriate beyond July 1 for the vast project, when Maine voters set up a tremendous howl that echoed down the coast to Washington.

The heat, for that matter, still is being applied to Congress and the president. And when enough pressure has been exerted, Maine voters quite likely will turn homeward with a promise in their pockets of more millions for Passamaquoddy.

But that, to the country, is not the really important thing. The significant fact is that other states are tarred by the same brush. Northern Florida right now would be content, for instance, with no less than completion of its embryo canal, and the west wants more and more reclamation projects.

Now the question for John Public is just this: How can the costs of government be reduced when local interests perpetually and inexorably apply pressure for this particular community project or that bit of sectional spoils?

For every one of such projects, cut from budgets of state legislatures and Congress, there are several delegations on hand to force the issue; and invariably the visitors are armed with stacks of petitions, signed by no less an important person than Mr. Average Taxpayer himself.

"Cut out any other project you like," these good citizens may argue, "but ours is vital to the continued prosperity of the community."

And so the innocent community interest becomes a special sort of vested interest, posing a new drain on the national pocket-book.

And after a while Mr. Voter wakes up to learn that the services of government must be paid for. He finds that his community can't have its costly improvements and lower taxes, too. But until he does learn this, he will go on paying and paying, and he has little cause for complaint.

Harvester Company Will Have Exhibit At the Centennial

The International Harvester Company exhibit at the Texas Centennial Central Exposition occupies all of the west wing of the Transportation Building—an area comprising 10,810 square feet of floor space.

A replica of the first reaper, built in 1831 by Cyrus Hall McCormick, is on display, as well as models of many of the machines that evolved from the reaper. A full-sized 16-foot McCormick-Deering harvester-thresher is displayed operating slowly so that visitors can see how each part functions.

Much of the progress of the past century is a direct result of American ingenuity in perfecting not only the modern grain binder but also a successful method of making satisfactory, low-priced binder twine.

Although large quantities of twine are used in the wheat sections of Texas, few wheat growers have had an opportunity to see how binder twine is made. Accordingly, throughout each day of the Exposition there are complete demonstrations of the spinning and lining of binder twine—using the same equipment and the same people who operate the machines in International Harvester twine mills.

Of interest to the dairyman is a milk cooler, a new product of International Harvester, as well as a variety of cream separators and milking machines—several of them in operation and cut away to show their mechanism.

Various sizes and types of farm tractors are shown as well as machines of the quick-attachable type that are used with these tractors. Throughout each day there are demonstrations of how many of these modern machines can be attached or detached from a tractor-operated two-row cultivator, demonstrating the ease with which the modern equipped cotton grower can cultivate 25 acres a day.

There also is an extensive display of stationary power units and wheel-type and crawler-type tractors made by International Harvester for use in oil fields, lumbering, road building and maintenance, and for various industrial purposes. In continuous operation is an International Diesel engine cut away to show how it starts on gasoline and then shifts automatically to operation on Diesel fuel.

An important part of the progress in transportation featured in this building is an extensive variety of motor trucks displayed in the International Harvester wing.

Townsend Club to Meet In Ranger

The Townsend club will meet in Ranger Monday at 7:30 p. m. at the Majestic Theatre building on Rusk street, which is to be the permanent meeting place of the club.

Fred Jaye, attorney of DeLeon, candidate for congress on the Townsend plan will be the speaker of the evening. Jaye is seeking election from the 17th congressional district, the seat now being held by Thomas L. Blanton of Abilene.

According to announcement this will be the opening gun of Mr. Jaye in the interest of his campaign.

The following communication was handed this paper for publication:

CISCO, Texas, May 22.—Dr. F. E. Townsend, Baltimore, Md., 17th congressional district assembled endorse your walkout on this despot, communistic committee. Thirty million, Townsendsites will stand by you to the last drop of their blood.—Signed, Secretary.

Resolution

WHEREAS, as a congressional committee has for some time been endeavoring to destroy the Townsend movement by inquisitorial and unfair methods in an effort to besmirch the character of the leader of the Townsend movement and especially that of Dr. T. E.

These include four and six-wheel trucks with panel, stake and oil tank bodies, as well as one of the latest types of school buses.

A complete description of the variety of displays in the International Harvester exhibit would reveal a great many other items of historic interest and educational value not only to farmers but also to city people. The careful fairgoer will find that he can profitably spend several hours in the west wing of the Transportation Building studying the many International Harvester displays.

Slow, But He's Getting There

Roy Simpson of Amherst, Texas, is making but about 15 miles a day but he has already covered over 350 miles of his trip to Dallas for the Centennial Central Exposition. The reason it has taken ten days to cover 350 miles is apparent in the above picture, he is making the trip astride a bull. He passed through here Saturday enroute to Dallas, which he expects to reach in time for the opening of the Centennial early in June. He rides from 10 to 12 hours a day over the 15 miles, an average of slightly over a mile an hour.

Townend, our illustrious leader, and,

Whereas, these methods have and are being used with the knowledge and consent if not by the direct order of our central government at Washington, and

Whereas, the Townsend cause is the greatest humanitarian movement of all times, and Therefore, we the 17th congressional district for the Townsend movement do here and now highly resolve that we commend the action of Dr. Townsend in walking out on his communistic, despotic committee and pledge our alliance to him as our great leader and the cause which he represents and here and now with 30 million other followers express our willingness to follow in even to the giving of our last drop of blood if necessary to the end that this great cause may succeed at the earliest possible moment.

The above resolution was proved at the last 17th congressional district convention of Townsend movement held at Texas, May 22, 1936.

FRECKLES and HIS FRIENDS—By Blosser

By HARRY GRAYSON

DETROIT—When Connie Mack peddled Jimmy Foxx, Roger Cramer, Eric McNair, and Johnny Marcum to the Boston Red Sox last winter, the boys changed the name of the Athletics to Apathetics, and predicted that they would fall out of the American League.

But the Apathetics haven't fallen out of the loop, and in the brief period of a month succeeded in doing something that the Athletics, with $400,000 worth of Foxxes, Cramers, McNairs, and Marcums, failed to achieve in four years. They recaptured the fans of Philadelphia.

Shibe Park crowds of 10,000 and 12,000 saw Mack's apparent "misfits" of the Grapefruit League off on their current western trip. The Athletics performed to only a few more than the ushers last season.

Mack, the bitter old man of Fort Myers, is so pleased at this sudden turn of events that he appears 10 years younger and is planning an elaborate rebuilding campaign at 73.

"There is more talk about the Athletics in Philadelphia than there has been since we won our last pennant in 1931," beams the Grand Old Man. "It really wouldn't take much to make us a power again."

IN addition to needing the money, Mack realized that only Wally Moses and Rabbit Warstler, two of the lowest salaried of his crew, really hustled in 1935.

Next to the reviving of the Philadelphia customers, the spirit of his 1936 array pleases Mack most.

"If we had obtained any hitting from Bob Johnson and Frank Higgins, we'd have a 500 mark right now," explains the old gentleman. "Marcum is the one of the four we sold that we miss most. It's not easy to replace a pitcher who won 17 games."

"Naturally, we could use Foxx's power, but Lou Finney makes plays around first base that Foxx wouldn't get close to."

"Moses is batting .382 and has made the fans forget Doc Cramer in center field," says Mack. "Little Lamar Newsome fills McNair's shoes at shortstop. I'm afraid that Newsome will never hit too much, but his hits to date have been timely, and he has a pair of scoops for hands. He has no peer at engineering double plays."

TERMITES Tunnel Into The Finest Homes

You will be amazed at the way these wood-eating insects cleverly tunnel into the finest homes, and without noise or sign eat away the inside of timbers. Ignoring the ravages of termites is costing home and building owners more than 50 million dollars a year. You may have to pay part of the bill.

You can not see—nor hear termites at work, and only an experienced inspector can discover the extent of their destruction. It is best to have your property inspected for termites—and if there is infestation, secure the service of a reliable and nationally recognized termite control organization.

ALLEY OOP . . . . . By HAMLIN

MYRA NORTH, Special Nurse -- By Thompson and Coll

Congressman Thomas L. Blanton Has Filed His Name For Re-election To 17th Congressional District Position

In filing as a candidate for re-election, I offer to my constituents: (1) twenty years of ripe experience in handling governmental problems; (2) the same prompt, earnest, painstaking and tireless attention to their business which I have always given in Congress and out, and to all requests from everybody, rich and poor alike; (3) a thorough knowledge of parliamentary rules, precedents, and procedure, which constitute the working tools of a congressman, and without the intimate knowledge of which he is helpless and impotent; (4) detail familiarity with the inside workings of every commission, bureau and department of government, and knowing when and how to stop the waste, extravagance, and in instances graft, constantly growing in all of them; (5) a knowledge of the history of all important laws and their changes, and the menace of thousands of off claims involving millions constantly asserted against the Government during each session; (6) unlimited energy, love of work, and an unbroken record of never straddling or evading; and (7) active, determined, vigorous, fearless, and dependable representation in Congress, before departments, and at all times, either during sessions or recess.

The Government or the United States is the largest business concern in the world. It has its valuable properties and agents scattered in every country, and on every ocean. Some of its numerous agents are reliable. Some are not. Some are constantly trying to take advantage of their Government.

As one of the business managers for the United States, I have made it my concern to know all about its complex business affairs, to learn which of its agents are dependable, to bring charges against those who are not, and to know when unreasonable demands are made for enlargements and increases in annual expenses and how to stop abuses.

In Congress, the prestige of seniority, acquired only through long, uninterrupted service and experience, is most important. It means everything. The longer service a member has, the greater is his influence. Any district that passes its office around in rotation simply to honor some aspiring politician, who has spent a lifetime holding court-house positions, suffers the loss of having practically no recognition whatever in Congress.

If I am reelected, next January I would become the chairman of the powerful War Appropriations committee, enabling me to save annually about $75,000,000 in waste and extravagance, without any reduction in adequate National Defense, and if emergencies should arise at any time, I would be in a most strategic position to help keep our country out of war. I have made a close detailed study of all war projects both in the United States, and in Hawaii and Panama. I shall perform my duties here until Congress adjourns and then I will campaign my district.

Sincerely,
Thomas L. Blanton.

Former Eastland County Residents Seen by McDonald

"Folks who read my recent letter in the papers telling about the former Eastland County residents that I have been running across in my campaign travels had such nice things to say about how they enjoyed learning where old-time friends were that I'm writing another one," says a letter received today from W. H. (Bill) McDonald of Eastland, candidate for State Land Commissioner.

Writing from Houston, McDonald says:

"While in the lobby of the Rice Hotel—where the State Bankers convention is going on, I greeted A. M. Beeman, president of the First State Bank of Gunter, in Grayson county. Old-timers will remember him as a candidate for district clerk against Judge Joe Burkett. I also saw Scott Key, former Eastland attorney; Sam Semple, former Prairie scout at Eastland, and before leaving here hope to visit with W. J. Barnes, former Eastland County district attorney; Gilvie Hubbard, former assistant district attorney; Allen Key, J. M. (Mike) Ferrell, J. O. Sue and Major Harry Johnson—all of whom now live in Houston.

"Among those attending the bankers convention were Hall Walker of Ranger, Mr. and Mrs. Will Tyler of Rising Star, Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Newberry of Gorman and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Taylor of Eastland. A visit to the San Jacinto battlefield—on which they were kind enough to invite me to accompany them—was one of the most interesting events in my journeying over Texas."

You are liable to run into former Eastland Countians almost anywhere, McDonald said. "For instance as I was driving from Fort Worth to Eufonia, a car went by and an occupant waved. I recognized Joe Cole, former Eastland merchant, now living in Dallas.

"And if you'd been out at the ball park last Friday at Kilgore, you'd have seen 'Pud' Hammett catching for Longview. Oil Belt football fans remember the for-

Q. What was the first capitol of Texas under Mexican freedom from Spain?—A. G., Lubbock. A. Saltillo, Coahuila.

Q. Where was Copano Landing?—S. G. T., Big Spring. A. In Arkansas county on north side of Copano Bay, about half way between Galveston and Brownsville. An old Mexican port, it was a landing place for supplies shipped from New Orleans to South Texas points.

Q. Who were the Tejas Indians?—G. H., Corpus Christi. A. The Tejas Indians, from whom Texas got its name, meaning "friendly," were a Caddoan tribe, called in different localities by names of a common "Tao" derivation, such as "Tao," "Texans," "Tagueas," "Tagueas," "Tehuanas," etc., with tribal villages scattered along fairly well defined routes from Natchitoches to the mountains of New Mexico. They built crude villages of wood and thatch and farmer in a small way. For the most part they were friendly unless or until their suspicions were aroused.

Q. What is the height of the main tower of the University of Texas, now under construction?—A. G. S., Alpine. A. From grade to top, 307 feet.

Q. How much was spent in Texas last year for highways, bridges and their maintenance?—S. R. T., Gainesville. A. For the fiscal year ending Aug. 31, 1936, $38,646,425.07 was spent from all sources.

The GLAMOROUS ADVENTURE by Jean Seiwright

BEGIN HERE TODAY
GAIL EVERETT, winner of the John S. Larnie costume design prize, comes to New York to find work. Gail's parents are both dead. She has spent the past year at Mrs. Cranston's fashionable school for girls—due to Miss Cranston's generosity and friendship for Gail's mother.

Armed with a letter from Larnie, Gail goes to his office and is told he is out of town. DEREK HARGREAVES, an artist, having heard this conversation and offer to help Gail. He advises her to get MADAME LIZETTE's shop to apply for a job.

Gail arrives there just after the closing. Madame Lizette has learned her designer has gone to Hollywood. Gail gets the job and is told to report for work next morning.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY!
CHAPTER IV
THE subdued tinkle of the telephone on her bedside table awoke Gail next morning. She half asleep, she reached for it and received and heard a crisp voice announce, "It's 7 o'clock!"

"Thanks," answered Gail, mechanically placing the receiver in its cradle again. She'd quite forgotten she had left word at the desk to be called.

The sun was shining brightly, and already the unfamiliar noise of the city were drifting into the room. There was the screech of the elevator as its serpentine train swung around a curve, the throbbing of innumerable motors as a never-ending stream of cars swept along the street. Hundreds of men and women were already on their way to work.

Gail breakfasted alone, for she was not yet acquainted with any of the young business women who comprised the population of the tall clubhouse. At the table around her little groups of girls were coming and going, pausing here and there to call a greeting to new arrivals or wave gaily to others in more secluded corners of the large dining room. Gail felt thrilled. The atmosphere was so so vibrant. Surely romance and adventure were in the very air.

She rose from the table but as she neared the door she came face to face with a girl whose vivid green eyes and dusky hair immediately set her apart from all other girls. Gail and her friendly good-morning but a cool stare which undoubtedly she would have resented from a less intriguing character.

"Wonder who Natalie's gunning for this morning?" sniggered a rather petite blond to the girl beside her who carelessly shrugged her shoulders as the green-eyed girl passed.

But Gail had not been in such a hurry to leave she might have heard the blond girl exclaim, as her eyes still followed Natalie, "She's looking so lovely again today as if there's any newcomer worth getting acquainted with."

Gail sniffed the air as she stepped into the street. Although there was no fragrance of flowers around her, and she missed the sweetness of growing things, it felt fresh.

She walked quickly, amazed to see so many people on the streets so early in the day. Then, catching sight of a mail box, she crossed the street and dropped a letter into it. She noted the time of collection before she hurried on, her lips parted in a smile. Had Derek Hargreaves really wanted to know the result of her search for work, or was it only politeness that had prompted him to ask her to let him know how she had made out?

Gail was still smiling as she stepped down to the basement court where the employees' entrance to Madame Lizette's shop was located. Something seemed to tell her she would see Derek again.

"Tis the wrong entrance you'll be coming to here, young lady," exclaimed Pat Murphy, the porter. "Sure, 'tis only the employees that do go in at this door."

"Well, I'm one of them," Gail answered gaily.

"Begorra, then, 'tis my mistake, though it's a lady you be!" and he flung the door open for her.

Down the dark passage Gail followed the other workers into a small dressing room which was crowded with lockers. She looked around. It was bedlam in the closely packed room where girls were changing their shoes, combing their hair, adding another touch of lipstick, and calling back and forth to each other, until suddenly, some one said, "Shush!" as Miss Everett entered.

"Miss Everett," she called, "here's the key for your locker, Use 57," she added as Gail appeared.

"Thank you," Gail answered; but when she tried to open the door, she could not move it.

"Here, sister, let me show you the trick," exclaimed Clytie, the model Gail had seen the day before. With a crooked smile in her languorous eyes, Clytie took the key and continued, "It's a temperamental one, you know. Takes after Madame."

THERE was a loud guffaw in the room. Then, having opened the locker, Clytie said, "Maybe you'd like to meet the crowd, Miss Everett?"

Gail nodded. "Yes, I would," she said.

"Girls, this is our new designer, Miss Everett," Clytie announced. Then, turning to Gail, she declared, "I don't believe you'd remember all their names even if I told them to you, but you'll soon learn who's who. Oh, you'd better meet Selma and Toinette. They'll sew for you, and here's Ariadne who'll be your model."

Gail acknowledged the introductions, though she felt a little awkward as she met the rather disdainful glance of the dark-eyed Ariadne. For a moment she wished that Clytie had been assigned to her. Then, quickly, she tried to banish the thought that the dark-eyed girl might be difficult to work with—perhaps a trouble-maker. Yet as she walked toward Madame's room to await her orders, she confessed to herself that, as a rule, her first impressions were correct.

Madame's just telephoned that she won't be here for an hour, so she wants you to work up some ideas for youthful summer frocks. I'll show you the designer's room."

Rising from her desk, Miss Caroline led Gail along a dim passage to a room in the rear.

It was an extension to the old brownstone house which was Madame's salon, and the long studio windows at the north made the room quite light. There was a large work table in the center and at one side Gail saw Selma and Toinette busily at work, the former running an electric sewing machine and Toinette, the finisher, working on a filmy organdie rock. Nearer the door was a handsome Italian with a beautifully curled mustache, wearing a fine white woolen coat.

"You'll find paints and brushes here," Miss Caroline pointed. "There are plenty of supplies. If you need anything make a hand it to me. Frank our pressing and Selma oinette will help you. Madam she wanted you to make later color sketches before you art to work in the material. We've had some experience practical side of design, haven't you?"

"Oh, yes," answered Gail, though she stifled a slight thought how different surroundings were now.

"All right," Miss Caroline aimed, leaving the room.

"OR a moment Gail felt aperate desire to follow her, turning to the chest in her, she found the paint and brushes she needed. A buzzer sounded, Ariadne, who had been in the show room most of the morning, came to her. "Time to go to lunch," she said.

"My, but the morning's ast," cried Gail, sitting up looking about her. "I guess better finish this before I go. Madame may wish to see it."

"Better go when the good," advised Ariadne, and slouched from the room.

A moment later the door opened, and Clytie called, "It's time to go to lunch. I'll go till one, for someone has in the show room, but our always goes at this time."

"Then I guess I'll go," said rising and cleaning her while she studied her sketches through half-shut eyes. "Say, that's gorgeous! You'd think she'd like that. Oh, she doesn't—and when she's tried about Rex (that's her she often acts crazy—just a mind her. She gets out especially if some of her pointers are pleased with sketches she shows them."

So Madame had a son, the Gail, as she quickly got ready. Clytie's warning were still ringing in her when she reached the street. "Don't be late, Miss Everett," you'd take a tip from a model. It was 20 minutes past 12. Directly across the street she saw a smart-looking team. Still she was often rather slow in places that cater to women's leisure. Gail remembered a drugstore on her way to work that morning. The store was at the corner, and hurried toward it. A cup of and a sandwich would have taken the place of anything substantial today. She risked roasting Madame's waist first day!

But Fate often smiles at the risk roasting Madame's waist! Gail's first day! Gail's first day! Gail's first day!

Entire State Gets Rains Saturday

Rainfall ranging from local showers to downpours fell over most of Texas in the last 24 hours, reports Saturday said.

Brownsville was the only station of the weather bureau that did not report some rain.

The record for Amarillo Saturday morning was 42 of an inch, with rain still falling. Other reports showed Abilene, .36; Dallas, .90; McKinney, 1.25; Corpus Christi, .06; San Antonio, .76; Austin, 1.95; Palestine, .04; Houston, .30; Port Arthur, .36; and El Paso, 1.00.

The heaviest rains were in southwest Texas and in the central part of the state, where rain was still falling Saturday afternoon.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICE
"Soul and Body" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, today.

The Golden Text is: "Dearly beloved, I beseech you as strangers and pilgrims, abstain from fleshly lusts, which war against the soul" (1 Peter 2:11).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "This I say then, Walk in the Spirit, and ye shall not fulfill the lust of the flesh. For the flesh lusteth against the Spirit, and the Spirit against the flesh; and these are contrary the one to the other: so that ye cannot do the things that ye would . . . If we live in the Spirit, let us also walk in the Spirit" (Galatians 5:16, 17, 25).

The Lesson-Sermon includes also the following passage from the Christian Science Textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Sooner or later we shall learn that the fetters of man's finite capacity are forged by the illusion that he lives in body instead of in Soul, in matter instead of in Spirit" (page 223).

Liquor Enforcement Officers Make Raids
By United Press
AUSTIN, May 23.—State liquor officers reported today on a West Texas campaign this week in dry counties. As a result of the week's investigation charges were filed against 33, they reported. Included in the charges were several in Eastland county.

Noise Meter Reveals Turmoil In Schools
By United Press
SAN FRANCISCO—Children in a school room ordinarily make as much noise as heavy street traffic, according to scientific tests just made here.

The readings were made with a "noise meter" in the city's effort to find the precise line of demarcation between necessary and unnecessary noise before it is a new anti-noise ordinance.

The meter, first used in the Hart school here, showed the children were out of the reading of 60 decibels, the equivalent to the noise of a street car. When the children were back in the room, the noise meter jumped to 80 decibels, the equivalent of heavy street traffic.

Campfire Girls

Planning Camp

Camp Fire Girls, "The Adahi," are practicing for the routine of camp of the Fort Worth Council at El Tesoro, which opens June 14, for a seven weeks session, divided into four periods. The Potluch, Pete Nationale, Fiesta de Coronado, and Rodco.

The camp will be located at the junction of Falls creek and Brazos, 37 miles southwest of Fort Worth.

The meeting held Friday afternoon from 4 to 5 at residence of their guardian, Mrs. R. A. Larner, had with them for the first time their assistant guardian, Miss Edith Meek.

Camp Fire songs were practiced and reports were made of the honors, in social work and handicraft, that were earned since last meeting.

After discussion of camp plans the group was given a list of materials for making of hammocks, one for each girl, their first project, and to be commenced at their next Thursday meeting, at the home of their guardian.

Present, Dorothy Perkins, Nancy Seaberry, Annette Bender, Marjorie Murphy, Mava Lou Crossley, Frances Crowell, Louise Davis, Fannie Pitzer, Betty Hyer, Marilyn Larner; assistant guardian, Miss Edith Meek; and visitors, Nanette Tanner and Dorothy Sparr.

Spencer Kindergarten

Pupils Have Picnic

The members of the Spencer school closed their season's work with a picnic party 10 a. m., Friday, in the City Park. Lunch was served by the children and their mothers.

Fifteen children were present, accompanied by Mmes. Karl F. Page, W. G. Womack, Wayne Jones, W. B. Piekens, Tom Matlock, E. R. Stanford, John W. Turner, C. W. Hoffmann, and Mrs. Sue G. Spencer, whose kindergarten reopens Sept. 14.

Baptist Groups

Hold Sessions

The mid-week session of the Intermediate R. A. and G. A. in Baptist Church was given to the study of their missionary book.

Announcement was made that Circle 3 of the W. M. S., Mrs. J. B. Overton, chairman, has "adopted" the group.

Members of this circle served the children present, 11 members, iced punch and small cakes.

The group will meet next Thursday afternoon in the church.

Initiatory Rite

The Order of the Eastern Star will hold an initiatory ceremony at the Masonic temple Tuesday night, May 26, at 8 o'clock.

Schools Close

Until September

Friday was the last day of school until next September, and boys and girls are planning their summer vacations, work or study.

Many outstanding social events have marked the calendar week for the high school classes and these will culminate in the "farewell party" to be hosted by the Mother-Teacher Club and co-hostesses, Senior Mothers, at the high school gymnasium Tuesday night.

This party honors the freshman class, but invitations are for the entire personnel of Eastland High School.

Graduating class exercises will be held in high school auditorium Monday night at 8:15 and rehearsal for this auspicious occasion will be held upon the return of the seniors from their sunrise swim and breakfast at 6 o'clock at the Olden pool, Monday.

The party will be accompanied on this outing by the class sponsors, Miss Verna Johnson and Leroy Stone.

Thursday Afternoon Club

Closes Successful Season

The community clubhouse presented a gay and delightful scene Thursday noon in its setting of five foursesome, and one square, luncheon tables, centered with crystal vases of sweetpeas, and a large bowl of blossoms on the table for the nine places, all seating.

Thursday Afternoon Club members bent on a jolly hour of stunts and surprises.

In a business session conducted by the president, Mrs. E. R. Townsend, Mrs. Cyrus B. Frost was unanimously elected to membership.

The club voted to have a mid-summer picnic with husbands as guests.

The buffet luncheon of delicious salads, in variety, stuffed eggs, sliced iced tomatoes, ribbon sandwiches, nut and meat sandwiches, in large varieties; dill, olives, iced tea, and the glistening onions arranged as a big flower, was topped off with brick ice cream, and nut cookies.

Mrs. Wayne Jones, general chairman of arrangements, and committee, Mrs. Carl Springer, and new club members, Mmes. Victor Ginn, Fred C. Eastham, Ben Scott, W. S. Poe, C. M. Allen, were charming hostesses, assisted by Mmes. E. R. Townsend and Grady Pipkin, who received informally.

After luncheon, the tables were removed and the "stage," made ready for the stunts, opened with a voice solo (?) by Mrs. W. D. R. Owen with Mrs. W. P. Leslie as accompanist, an artistic but unimpassioned effort of "There Was a Frog."

The second stunt, a parody on a regular club meeting, Mrs. B. M. Collier, chairman, presiding; Mrs. Dan Childress as president impersonated Mrs. Townsend; Mrs. Victor Ginn, secretary, impersonating Mrs. Hubert Jones; Mrs. Hubert Jones, treasurer, impersonating Mrs. W. A. Martin, were very clever. Minutes of the "next meeting" were read, and Mrs. Ben E. Hamner, presented as a soloist, impersonating Mrs. Marene Johnson. A burlesque book review by Mrs. E. R. Stanford, impersonating Mrs. J. M. Perkins.

Mrs. R. E. Sikes gave a "fan dance," with Mrs. Clyde L. Garrett as accompanist.

Mrs. R. A. Larner presented "Cow Town Musicians," in costume; Edmond Herring and Leslie Cook, accompanists for the Virginia reel, done by Mmes. W. P. Leslie, L. D. Black, W. B. Piekens, R. A. Larner, C. M. Allen, Marilyn Larner in Texas hats, red neckerchiefs.

"Visit to Washington," brought Gracie Allen, by Mrs. J. M. Perkins; Mrs. Huey Long, by Mrs. Clyde L. Garrett, and Mae West, by Mrs. W. K. Jackson, who discussed the affairs of the nation and picture world.

Mrs. W. A. Martin, introducing "The Turkey Trot School," presented group songs by Mmes. Black, Horton, Eastham and Martin. Song, "I Wish I Was a Rock," Mrs. Pipkin, with Gracie Allen at piano.

The last number, "A True Story," titled "Father Stayed Home," presented the "Quintuplets," Dr. Daffoe, Mrs. E. R. Townsend; nurse, Mrs. J. B. Krause; Quints, Mmes. W. B. Collier, Ben Scott, Leslie Gray, Wayne Jones, Carl Springer; Mama Dionea, Mrs. W. S. Poe; Papa Dionea, Mrs. Carl Hill. The quint costumes of pink silk shorts, vests, booties, and lacy baby caps were adapted to their crawling period of infancy.

Awards for the best stunts, immense bouquets of sweetpeas, were presented Mrs. Carl Springer's group, the Dionea Family theme, and Mrs. Hamner's group, "The Perfect Club Meeting," second place.

Present, Mmes. B. M. Collier, Victor Ginn, C. M. Allen, W. B. Collier, Dan Childress, C. L. Garrett, Leslie Gray, Ben E. Hamner, Carl Hill, James Horton, Hubert Jones, J. B. Krause, Wayne Jones, R. A. Larner, W. P. Leslie, W. D. R. Owen, W. A. Martin, J. M. Perkins, W. B. Piekens, Grady Pipkin, R. E. Sikes, Carl Springer, E. R. Stanford, W. S. Poe, L. D. Black, Ben Scott, Fred C. Eastham, E. R. Townsend, W. K. Jackson.

Junior Thursday Club Closes Year's Work. The Junior Thursday Club closed their club season with a picnic supper at City Park, at 6:30 Thursday evening.

Two tables laid in lines, had a spread of the assembled baskets, of pimento cheese sandwiches, chicken sandwiches, chicken salad sandwiches, Virginia ham, potato salad, olives, iced tomatoes, macaroni, pickles, potato flakes, devils food cake, pineapple cake, and iced tea.

Games were led by Misses Mary Carter, Kathleen Maxwell, and Mrs. Hollis Bennett.

In the ticket selling contest for the Hardin-Simmons play, some time ago, the awards, linen handkerchiefs, were presented Mrs. E. W. Chalker, and Mrs. Johnny Kitchen, who sold the greatest number of tickets.

The club was notified that the yearbook committee, Misses Verna Johnson, Evelyn Hearn, and Mrs. Hollis Bennett, will have the book ready for the first fall meeting of the club.

Present, Misses Jessie Lee Ligon, Marguerite Quinn, Mary Carter, Maurine Davenport, Kathleen Maxwell, Evelyn Hearn, Marjorie Spencer, Ina Mae Reik, Viola La Munyon; Mmes. J. C. Whatley, H. B. Sone, Jack Vaught, R. W. Chalker, Johnny Kitchen, Carl Miller, Fred Maxey, Hollis Bennett, Jack Ammer, W. S. Barnett, and sponsor, Mrs. James Horton.

New members entertained were Misses Edith Wood, Connie Stewart, Adrienne Flurry, and Mrs. Carl Garrett.

Guests present were Miss Blanche McCraw of Kingsville and Mrs. Joe Gibson of Childress.

with her mother, Mrs. J. T. Lawrence until time to reopen her kindergarten in the fall. Miss Spencer enters SMU for the summer course, preparatory to resuming her duties as teacher at West Ward school in the fall.

DESDEMONA

On Sunday afternoon several hundred friends and relatives gathered under the oak trees in front of the Sparks home a few miles north of town to pay the last tribute of respect to Jim Sparks, who had passed away on Saturday at the age of 78 years. He had lived on his large farm there for 56 years and was loved by all who knew him. He had truly lived "in a house by the side of the road and been a friend to man." He is survived by his wife and two sons, Felix, of Bellville, and Tommy, of Idalou; one daughter, Mrs. Guy Tidwell, who lives here; and another daughter, Mrs. Charlie Anderson, who lives in Arizona. One son, Sam, died a few years ago. Funeral services were held at the Baptist Church here, who paid a splendid tribute to him. Interment was in Howard cemetery, not far from his home, where his parents and other relatives had been buried, his mother having died a few years ago at the age of more than 100 years. The Desdemona Masonic Lodge, of which W. B. May is worshipful master, conducted the Masonic burial service over their departed brother. Floral offerings were numerous and very beautiful, bearing testimony to the love and esteem in which this pioneer settler was held. To the sorrowing relatives sincere sympathy is extended by the whole community.

Aaron Henslee of Longview arrived Wednesday to visit with his parents-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Davis, and to accompany his wife home after her 10-day visit here. Felix Sparks returned here Tuesday after a few days stay at his home at Bellville, near Houston, and remained until after the death and burial of his father, Jim Sparks. His wife and children came with him. Tommy Sparks and wife and children of Idalou were also here with their father when the end came. One of his daughters, Mrs. Guy Tidwell, who lives on a farm near that of her parents, was also with her father during his illness. The other daughter, Mrs. Charles Anderson, lives in Arizona and could not come on account of illness.

Mrs. L. N. Williams and Mrs. Roy Ashburn drove up to Strawn Friday afternoon and visited the grave of little Kenneth Vuncelle Ashburn, who would have been three years old that day. A. B. Henslee, accompanied by his son-in-law, Minor Wallace, and Brown Ray and Mr. Warren, came in Tuesday from Freer for a visit and business trip. Miss Lillie Buchanan, accompanied by Mrs. A. C. Robert and Madeline and Curtis Robert, drove down to Stephenville Saturday to see the Centennial pageant presented that night by pupils of John Tarleton College. W. C. Bedford drove up to Eastland Monday to visit his sister, Mrs. Susan Steele, who is 95 years old and who has been seriously ill for about two weeks.

Rev. Mrs. Earl Alexander, pastor of the Church of God here, drove over to Stephenville Monday to begin a revival meeting there. She was accompanied by her husband and also by Misses Capitola Browning and Gwendola Brazell, who will lead in the song services. Mr. and Mrs. Will Jones of the School Hill community were guests of Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Stover Sunday.

The "21" Study Club met Tuesday of last week at the clubhouse. In the absence of the president, Mrs. Mattie Henry, the meeting was called to order by the vice president, Mrs. C. A. Skipping. Roll call responses were "A Little Known Resource of Texas." The program was led by Mrs. Charles Lee, who gave the story of "Lost Mines in Texas." She also gave a talk on "Influence of Indians in the Life of Sam Houston," which was a topic carried over from a previous meeting. Mrs. C. A. Skipping gave as a part from a previous program, "Bonnie McLeary, a Texas Sculptor." Mrs. Preston Sparks gave a reading, "Shall We Divide the State?" and Mrs. David Parks conducted an interesting parliamentary drill. Those present were Meses. Charles Lee, C. A. Skipping, David Parks, Preston Sparks, S. E. Snodgrass, C. W. Maltby, and W. C. Bedford. Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Heeter returned to Hamilton on Monday evening after having come home on Sunday to visit their mother, Mrs. S. E. Snodgrass, and to attend the funeral of Jim Sparks.

The graduation of the 12 boys and girls of the senior class of our high school took place Thursday night. The program was as follows: Processional, Miss Edra Sparks, pianist; Invocation, Rev. E. M. Daily. Salutatory, Jane Hammond. History of the School, Virginia Bruce. History of Class, Idelle McGuire. Graduation Song, Class. Sports Review, Bergen Wilhite. Class Will, Dorothea Parks. Valedictory, Delma Hicks. Address, Supt. C. A. Skipping. Presentation of Diplomas, Arnold Anderson. Recessional.

Each number was most interesting, especially the address of Superintendent Skipping, who talked on "Twelve Life Essentials." The house was filled to capacity but the order was perfect so all could enjoy the program. Members of the class were Kathryn Huffman, Virginia Bruce, Delma Hicks, Lois Anderson, Pauline Moore, Idelle McGuire, Jane Hammond, Estelle Balderee, Dorothea

News From 4-H Clubs of County

Okra Boys' 4-H Club

The Okra Boys' 4-H club met the third Thursday in May at the Okra school. After the business meeting Mr. Barnhart took the group of boys to Mr. Lightfoot's farm, where a hen was tested for white diarrhea, by using what is known as the Pullorum test. Mr. Barnhart discussed with the club the causes of white diarrhea, and a way to prevent this disease from spreading throughout the flock. Those members present were: Marvin V. Claborn, Bob R. Foster, Otis Adams, Jr., Norman R. Gisham, Billie F. Claborn, Herman H. Claborn, and the club sponsor, Mr. Lightfoot.—Otis Adams, Jr., reporter.

New Hope 4-H Club

The boys' 4-H club of New Hope met on May 14 at the schoolhouse. Mr. Barnhart, assistant county agent, gave the club a very interesting talk and demonstration on peacan budding. After his discussion each club member budded some limbs. Mr. Barnhart also talked to the club and showed us a test and how to make it on chickens infected with white diarrhea. The club was shown some leather which was tanned at home by Mr. Cook, the county agent.

Several of the club members decided to try and tan some leather if they could find a hide which is suitable for tanning. We are all very much interested in our club work and our club is making wonderful progress.—Elton Guy, reporter.

Morton Valley 4-H Club Meets

The Morton Valley boys' 4-H club met 12:45 p. m., May 13, 1936, at the schoolhouse. Mr. Hugh F. Barnhart, assistant county agent told us further plans on the club encampment to be held in June. We were fortunate enough to have Mr. Gibson, assistant dairyman of College Station, Texas, at the meeting and he gave an educational talk on raising the future dairy cow. He told how to tend to dairy calves from the time they were a day old until they were a year old.

The following club members were present: Roy Clouch, Morphis Miller, C. F. Eakins, Carl Peoples, Donald Tow, Rex Ramsower, Billie Henderson, Winice Graham, Charles Peoples, Donald Jones, Vonelle Eakins, Ned Smith, Harland Harbin, Billie Jones, Fletcher Sneed, Gerald Marlow, Olin Trout, J. B. Rayfield, Earl Trout, Bene Webb, Billie Jones, Billie Joe Moore, Darvin Harbin, Junior Sneed, J. E. Adams, William Hazard, Tedd Hammit, V. J. Shamburger, Junior Daves, Elton Colley, Jack Hodges, K. B. McCriston, Truett Gregory, Frank Sneed.

Penney Manager Attends Meeting

George H. Hipp has returned to Eastland from Abilene, where he attended a two day junior convention of the J. C. Penney company.

Hipp was one of 33 Penney store managers of Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma who attended the meeting.

Herbert Schwand, New York, personnel director for the Penney system west of the Mississippi, was in charge of the sessions, at which discussion were held of fall buying and selling plans.

W. D. Naffziger, district manager for the territory including Texas, Louisiana, New Mexico and South Central Oklahoma, was also present, along with A. B. Chambers, assistant district manager.

"THESE THREE" IS BIG DRAMATIC SMASH

Samuel Goldwyn's new production, "These Three," which brings Miriam Hopkins, Merle Oberon and Joel McCrea to the Connellee Theatre today, proved the most powerful and gripping drama to reach the screen in many a cinema season.

Offering all three stars the acting opportunities of their lives, brilliantly conceived by Lillian Hellman, famous Broadway playwright, magnificently produced, and expertly directed by William Wyler, "These Three" held the audience breathless from opening shot to final fadeout.

It boasts something new to film fans in dramatic situations, knit together with a skill that results in smart-paced, smooth and unforgettable entertainment. And Bonita Granville, the 12-year-old who plays the spiteful school girl whose vicious lie motivates the story, is one of the great acting discoveries of motion picture history.

The story, briefly, depicts how the ugly lie invented by an unruly student in a private girls' school, involving her two teachers, Miriam and Merle, and the latter's doctor fiance, Joel McCrea, and brought disaster into their lives. Due to the resultant scandal, the school is lost, the romance broken and almost unbearable suffering and humiliation is visited upon these three innocent people, before the lie is brought to light.

Others who score in the uniformly brilliant cast are Alma Kruger, as Mary's grandmother; Catherine Doucet, as the silly, trouble-making aunt; Marcia Mae Jones, Carmencita Johnson, and Walter Brennan. "These Three" is the dramatic smash of the season! It is released through United Artists.

FREE RODEO TO BE HELD ON JUNE 1ST

A free rodeo will be held Monday afternoon, June 1, at 2:30 on the grounds at North Seaman Street, Carl Johnson, manager of the Economy store, which is sponsoring the event, announced Saturday.

A full program of steer riding, calf roping, goat roping and other regular rodeo events will be staged, Johnson stated.

Stock for the affair will be furnished by Town Miller and Guy Stoker.
