DEATH SUMMONS EX-PROSECUTOR

GALVESTON, Tex., Jan. 8.—D. B. McNerny, 51, county attorney from 1925 through 1928, died early today at his home. He went out of office Jan. 1, having been defeated by Owen D. Barker.

Owen D. Barker, the new prosecutor of Galveston county, lived in Eastland county until about four years ago when he moved to Galveston. His father is Judge J. D. Barker of Cisco.

Leaving the County May Cause Arrest

When his attention was called to the fact that in other cities the arrest of auto drivers who do not have 1929 licenses on their cars are being made, County Traffic officer Bob Hammett said: "We shall have to begin a strict enforcement of the highway laws here also."

It is pointed out by the officers here that, while they dislike to see anyone have to pay a fine, it is Eastland county people drive their cars into other counties where the law is being strictly enforced and are arrested and compelled to register their car and possibly pay fines, that Eastland county is deprived of the revenue it should have from the payment of the license.

Question Mark Again Resting On The Earth

Army Plane Breaks All Records for Endurance Flying With 150 Hours.

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Jan. 8.—Five army fliers and their plane, Question Mark, stood today, the conquerors of all records for endurance flight.

Their plane, named significantly because it was to answer the question of how long an airplane could stay aloft when refueled, came to earth yesterday with the marvelous figure of 150 hours, 40 minutes and 16 seconds aloft at its record.

The five American aviators who flew the Question Mark planned to return to their craft today.

One of them perhaps loves the big plane more than the others because he watched its motors through the arduous flight that lasted six and a half days.

It was Sergeant Roy W. Hove, mechanic, who crept along the side of the plane to tend the engines in flight. With his parachute strapped to his back, he stepped from the cabin and felt his way cautiously along the walk.

When the grease-stained ship landed at Metropolitan airport yesterday after better than 150 hours in the air, Sergeant Hove protested for a time against others experimenting with the plane.

"No, by G", he shouted, "I watched her all through the days in the air and I watched her before that. Nobody else is going to take care of her on the ground."

LIONS HOLD A PEPPY MEETING

It will cost $75 to paint a sign on the top of the Continental Tool Company building directing aeroplanes to the Eastland airport, President Donald Kinnaird of the Lions club, told the members of that organization at their meeting today.

The Lions club had previously sponsored a movement to have this sign painted. No definite action was taken on the matter at today's meeting.

The Lions club, to attend the meeting on the 11th which is being held for the purpose of completing the work of clearing the landing field at the Eastland airport. All citizens of the town are urged to attend this meeting and assist in the work.

Wednesday night week the local Lions will attend an organization meeting of the DeLeon Lions club, the meeting having been postponed from next Wednesday night on account of the flu epidemic over the country.

President Kinnaird of the Eastland club was requested by the club members to represent the club at the public "dirt breaking" for Warner Memorial University here Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, and consented to do so.

Secretary W. H. McDonald read to the club today a letter from R. C. Kinnaird, father of President Donald Kinnaird of the Eastland club, expressing the thanks and appreciation of the Kinnaird family for the many kindnesses shown the family in the recent illness and death of Mrs. R. C. Kinnaird, member of President Donald Kinnaird.

Superintendent Bittle of the Eastland schools announced at today's meeting of the club that the home talent play, "A Pair of Sixes" which was presented last Friday night, would be repeated Thursday night at the high school auditorium, this time for the benefit of the band and pep squad.

Visitors at today's meeting of the Lions included Mr. Baldrige, salesman for the General Electric company with headquarters at Abilene, Rev. Jack Adams, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Eastland, and the Rev. Mr. Odell, Presbyterian minister. Each of the visitors made short talks.

The Hoovers—Keeping Fit

It was hot out there on the deck of the U. S. S. Maryland, with the rays of the tropical sun beating down upon them, but President-elect and Mrs. Hoover got in their regular daily exercise anyhow, in preparation for the strenuous pre-inauguration whirl. They are pictured in the midst of a brisk walk about the deck of the Maryland as it cut through southern seas on the way back from the good will tour of South America. The camera caught the Hoovers' smiles, too.

CHICAGO, Jan. 8.—Temperatures ranging from zero to 20 degrees below prevailed today in the Middle and Northwest, causing more than a score of deaths and intense suffering.

All records for this winter fell before the sub-zero wave which swept down from the Canadian Northwest two days ago. The lowest temperature reported was 24 degrees below at Devils Lake, N. D.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—The wintry blasts which swept the eastern section of the northern section of the United States the last eight hours will not diminish until Wednesday, according to government weather bureau reports. The cold is predicted in full extent today with slowly rising temperatures following Wednesday.

Despite the lowered temperatures throughout the East, little snow has been reported or is expected.

Two deaths from freezing in Chicago were added today to the toll of 20 attributed to the cold wave in the stricken area since Saturday night. Chicago's death toll stood at six.

The temperature in Chicago ranged from zero to 8 and 10 degrees below but even more intense cold is prevalent over the Northwest.

"Crime Wave" Stirs Up The Dallas People

Liability To Be Hi-Jacked on Way To Church—Rivalling Chicago for Crimes.

DALLAS, Jan. 8.—Rewards of $400 have been offered for the capture and conviction of the slayer of William Mann, 17, high school student, who was shot and fatally wounded Sunday night.

Announcement of the rewards, offered by private citizens, preceded the arrest of a man suspected of being the slayer. He was captured by six policemen in a house four miles from Dallas where it is believed he had been in hiding.

Officers said the suspect perfectly the description given by persons who witnessed the assault on young Mann. The suspect came to Dallas from Chicago three weeks ago.

DALLAS, Jan. 8.—"While Chicago is trying bravely to live down its reputation as the crime center of the nation, Dallas is fearful lest this appellation be applied to its fair name.

So serious is the crime situation here now that townspeople live in constant fear of being hijacked, slugged, assaulted, robbed or murdered on the streets while driving about the city in their automobiles.

Scarcely a night goes by without its list of victims, and Judge Charles A. Phippen of the Criminal District court considered the matter of sufficient importance to make special mention of it in his instructions to the January grand jury.

Dallas—"Little Chicago"—said Judge Phippen as he exhorted the jurors to do their utmost to make the town a safe place in which to live by bringing to justice murderers and hijackers.

"So common have murders and robberies become," he said, "that

17 WHY MOTHERS GET GRAY. REG. U. S. PAT. OFF. © 1929, BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

RICKARD
Tex Rickard has vanished from the scene.
This was a life splashed with the glitter, rich with the romantic.
Punching cattle in the Panhandle, seeking gold in the Yukon, questing for fortune in the mining camps of Nevada, invading the oil fields of Eastland county, presented the greatest athletic pageants since the days of the Roman emperors, Rickard indeed saw the world and drank deep of its excitement.
It was a far cry from the position of marshal of the little city of Henrietta to the rank of the greatest boxing impresario the world has ever known, his name more familiar on the lips of the multitude than that of any monarch, his associates the rich and powerful and at his command the luxuries that wealth bestows, a palace in Florida, a palatial home in New York City, a private yacht.
But through it all, Rickard was "Tex" to those who knew him personally and to the millions who knew him only by reputation but who admired and esteemed him.
And it is not odd that after treading the paths of fame and splendor his heart yearned to retrace the steps to the scenes he had known in boyhood and as a young man?
Two years ago he returned to Henrietta, visited the old house where he had lived as a lad, drank from the well he had helped to dig, wandered under the trees that had murmured their deep, poetic messages beneath the caressing fingers of the wind - just as he had done in the long ago; mayhap, plunged again into the ole swimming hole; gazed at the brooding
hills, unchanged and changeless,
beneath the boundless blue of a West Texas sky.
And yet it is not strange either,
for an life's pathway winds down
the hill toward the lengthening
gray shadows, one's heart, burdened with responsibilities and wearied
by care, turns back to the golden days of boyhood when the gilt and tawdriness of the circus were real gold and splendor, when life with all its infinite illusions stretched like a marvelous mirage far into the shining future, when troubles
were as intense as an April thunderstorm but as swiftly passed,
when the voice of flattery was unknown and when laughter rang out as clear and spontaneous as the
trill of a mockingbird.
So it came to pass that Tex Rickard, loaded with honors, wandering back on the familiar pathway that led to home, walked through the gateway to the old house clad in its fragrant vines of honeysuckles, dreamed the old dreams and could hear, in fancy, the voices of the long ago.
In that Valhalla to which his spirit has gone will he behold battles between warriors of old more thrilling than the mimic conflicts which he staged for the world or will his spirit ask and receive only
the healing of peace?
Texas bids farewell to her son.

ELKS DANCE FRIDAY NIGHT:

Another one of those delightful
"Swing me again" dance, is announced by the Elks for Friday night, and the real Blue Moon entertainers, sponsored by Bert Wilburn, will open up their tuneful harmonies at 9:30 p. m., and keep them moving 'til 1 p. m.
This is a strictly invitational dance, and the word "must" is printed in some large letters in connection with the presentation of your invitation at the door.
We just don't know what Red Ford, and his bass horn, are, but we know they are all right, or you would not have to present your invitation at the door.

OPENS SESSION

tering votes that a majority will appear on the first ballot.
Lieutenant Governor Barry Miller called the Senate to order.
Senate officers generally were agreed upon at a Senate Caucus
this morning and balloting on president pro tem was the principal early business. Particular interest attaches to election of the president pro tem as the race between Walter Woodward of Coleman and Gus Russek of Schu-lenburg is looked upon as a practical test of the administration and anti-administration strength in the Senate. One Senator remains to be elected on Jan. 21 to succeed the late Senator R. F. Triplett of Beaumont.
Organization of the House will not be complete until two contests are decided. E. M. Smith of Hico-go county is contesting the re-election of W. R. Montgomery and Rev. H. H. Wallace of Tyler, who was a member of the 40th legislature is contesting the election of
A. S. Johnson.
The Rev. Wallace's name was barred from the Democratic ticket
because he openly supported Hoover and Curtis.
Friends of Montgomery asserted that the contest of his election will not prevent his being named speaker.
Floods of bills already are being emptied into the legislature. They originating has been completed. At that time, each body will notify Governor Moody.

His message is expected to be delivered to them Wednesday. A joint session to hear the message
read personally by the Governor was held by the 40th legislature
This time, it is possible the Governor will send a copy of the message to each branch and have it

AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 8 - The cost of the session of the legislature which opened at noon today is estimated at $185,000. Senator Tomas Pollard of Tyler will introduce a bill appropriating that much for the purpose.

AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 8 - Ten million dollars appropriation for free school to supplement local school taxes and provide nine months' school terms is proposed in a bill drafted by Senator Tomas Pollard of Tyler. The bill makes half of the sum available in the year beginning Aug. 31 and the remainder the following year. It specifies that $750,000 a year shall go to pay high school tuition of pupils transferred from their home districts.

AUSTIN, Jan. 8 - State Land Commissioner J. T. Robison, personally appeared in the 53rd District court today and asked for a hearing on the injunction against opening oil lease bids before the legislature which met today can amend the lease law.
When this was refused, Commissioner Robison issued a statement to the effect that delay on the injunction hearing was sought so that the legislators might not learn what big bonuses are being offered for the land under the present law.
Robison charged that big oil companies want the oil, if it exists, kept in free storage on the University lands until the companies have a chance to put out geologists and determine what lands to bid upon. Small oil companies, he said, want the delay until the blue sky law can be repealed. He said he had information that the companies claim enough members of the legislature pledged to make the blue sky law changes.
Governor Moody was charged with clouding titles by withholding signatures to 579 land patents and with having one of his secretaries or the negro porter "Hugh"
sign his name to others.
When the injunction was called in court this morning, the attorney general's department insisted on at least a week's delay.

PLANNED MORE BOUT FOR DEMPSEY

Made Public After Rickard's Death Reveals Plans for Jack's Return.

By United Press.
NEW YORK, Jan. 8 — The body of Rickard arrived at 10:15 a. m. from Miami Beach, Fla., was taken with a police escort to the Campbell mortuary. A crowd of 400 or 500 gathered at the gates of the Pennsylvania station to view the $15,000 casket containing Rickard's

By United Press.
NEW YORK, Jan. 8 — Tex Rickard planned to have Jack Dempsey fight for him this year, according to a story appearing in the current issue of the Ring, international boxing magazine, and copied by that publication, tells that plans Tex made for the former heavyweight champion, who now probably never will fight again.

Dempsey's activities in boxing probably now will be confined to promoting, as the article discloses that the champion had agreed to try to fight under Tex's guidance. The article written by Rickard before his death, follows: "George L. Rickard, promoter of the Ring International Boxing Magazine, has decided that Dempsey will come back to the fact that he was determined to enter the ring in an attempt to win the crown he lost to Tommy and that he still is in the fighter makes it necessary to give him a high rating. Despite his illness, he cannot think of Dempsey in terms of greatness, and he is in his case his inactivity must be disregarded in favor of the world's heavyweights, for he is a greater fighter than any new basking in the sun and striving for the title left vacant by Gene Tunney. "Jack Dempsey has decided to make a determined effort to regain the championship. There are thousands of fight fans throughout the world who feel that Dempsey is the uncrowned heavyweight king. "Dempsey will fight only once and that one battle will be for me and it will decide the holder of the heavyweight crown. In other words, he will be one of two finalists, the other to be selected by me from among the rest of the contenders."

By Frank Getty
United Press Sports Editor
NEW YORK, Jan. 8 — The man whose sporting spectacles amazed the world was brought home today to rest in state in the temple of sport which is to be his monument. Accompanied by his grief-stricken young widow and a few close friends, the body of Tex Rickard came to New York in a bronze flowerstrewn casket aboard a fast express train from the South.

A strong police escort, 100 of Commissioners Whalen's "finest," waited to accompany the remains to Madison Square garden; a curious insistent throng — such a throng as Tex, loved — pressed closely about the Pennsylvania station gates; men and women, who knew Tex only as a name and a symbol for the spectacular in sport, stood shivering with cold but held by curiosity along the route mapped for the cortege. If Mrs. Rickard approved the plans made by James I. Bush and Roy W. Howard, close friends of the late promoter, the body was to lie in state in Madison Square garden until the funeral services Wednesday afternoon.

The public will be admitted from 10 a. m. to 1:30 p. m., tomorrow, after which services will be conducted and the body taken to Woodlawn cemetery for burial beside those of Rickard's first wife and a daughter who died in childhood many years ago, and near the grave of "Bat" Masterson, the former two-gun man from the west whose death Tex mourned more than that of any other friend. Madison Square garden, awaiting the return of the man who made that greatest of sporting arenas possible, was shrouded with mourning crepe and guarded by police. Its directors, having cancelled all sporting functions for the next two days, were on hand to pay tribute to their late president. A death watch was to be maintained for the next 24 hours. Because Rickard was a man of no particular religion, those in charge of his funeral services were seeking today to have a priest, a rabbi and a protestant clergyman participate in the final rites. Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion, who assumed charge of the late promoter's affairs at Miami Beach where Tex died Sunday morning, wired his approval of these arrangements. Mrs. Rickard is a Catholic, and services before the body was placed aboard the "Havana Special" of the Florida East Coast line, which brought it here today.

The young widow, who was married to Rickard early in 1926, left their infant daughter, Maxine, at Miami Beach in the care of Mrs. Walter Fields, wife of one of the promoter's employes. Mrs. Rickard bore up bravely under the strain of the journey, and was somewhat rested after the long vigil she had kept at her husband's bedside since his operation for appendicitis on New Year's day.

Action by Champs Favored by N. B. A.

By Bert Demby
United Press Staff Correspondent
CHICAGO, Jan. 8 — There being three boxing champions who have not complied with the national boxing association rule, requiring them to defend their titles every six months, Paul Pehm, the association's president, has decided it is time for either some title risking or some suspensions.

Pehm believes that "nothing can harm boxing more than inactive title-holders," and he has started a campaign to get the inactive champions into the ring in title bouts. As his first move, he sent a letter to each commission holding a membership in the association, asking cooperation in the enforcement of the rules. Three of the present champions recognized by the N. B. A. are liable to suspension. Those who have not fought in title bouts during the past six months are Mickey Walker, middleweight; Sammy Mandell, lightweight; and Joe Dundee, welterweight.

Walker last defended his title June 21, 1928 against Ace Hudkins Mandell's last championship appearance was against Jimmy McLarnin, May 3, last year; and Dundee has been in no title fight since his battle with Latzo June 3, 1927 Tommy Loughran is still within the association rule although on January 16, it will be six months since he fought Pete Latzo. Andre Routsis, featherweight, and Frankie Genaro are well inside their time limit. The N. B. A. does not recognize a bantamweight champion and Gene Tunney left the heavyweight division without a titleholder.

Good Mat Bout Is Scheduled Tonight

By United Press.
DALLAS, Tex., Jan. 8 — Bert Willoughby, local wrestling promoter, is offering Dallas fans a "neck twisting" match tonight that promoters in various parts of the country are said to have been seeking for years. It will bring together Billy Edwards, Kansas City "Chiropractic headlock" wild man, and Tony Bernardi, the Little Rock, Ark., gashouse wop. The match will be for the best two falls out of three, to a finish. Bernardi seems to have been a fixture in Dallas. Willoughby had a good deal of trouble to get him to come here for a match with Hugh Nichols two weeks ago. The match was close and Nichols got the decision.

Bernardi has stayed here ever since, trying to build back his reputation to the place where it was before he came. He professes a great rivalry with Edwards, although the two have ever met in the ring, and both men are "straining at the leash" to get in the squared circle and use their patented holds, according to Willoughby.

RAZORBACKS WIN FROM THE FROGS

By United Press.
FORT WORTH, Tex., Jan. 8 — The tall, rangy Razorbacks of the University of Arkansas last night won the third lap in their race for the conference championship when they took the first tilt of a two-game series with the Horned Frogs of T. C. U. by a 41-24 count. The Frog team was outclassed but not outfought. The first half was nip and tuck, Arkansas getting away to a 6 point lead early in the game. But the half ended 14-11 with the Porkers leading. The tall boys came back in the second half with their heavy artillery and soon had doubled the score on the local boys, keeping that lead throughout the game. The Porker offense was, as usual, built around the lanky Tom Pickel, center, who accounted for 18 of the visitors' 41 points. The two teams will play again tonight.

FLU is now Epidemic!

Compared with 1918, this epidemic, so far, is mild; and yet, in spite of vastly increased capacity, the Vicks Laboratories are once more operating night and day to meet the emergency demand for more and more Vicks VapoRub. Over 375,000 jars are now being produced daily.

How best to use Vicks VapoRub

- 1. AS A PREVENTIVE
Several times a day, insert Vicks up the nostrils. Also melt a little night and morning in a bowl of boiling water and inhale the steaming medicated vapors. This helps to ward off germ-infection.
- 2. IF A COLD STARTS
If possible, go home and go to bed. Take a laxative and a hot lemonade. Apply hot, wet towels over throat and chest until the skin is thoroughly reddened. Then rub vigorously with Vicks. Spread on thickly and cover with warm flannel. Leave the bed-covering loose, so that the vapors, released by the body-warmth, may be freely inhaled. At the same time, Vicks also acts through the skin like a poultice. Repeat this treatment every four hours, eat lightly, and stay in bed until the cold is broken. Complete rest helps the body throw off the cold more quickly.
- 3. AFTER A FLU ATTACK
Physicians advise that the chief danger in this epidemic is after influenza. Then, more than ever, colds, attacking the weakened system, may lead to bronchitis, sinus-trouble or pneumonia. This is especially true of children or old folks. Heed even the slightest cold as a danger signal. Vicks is especially valuable here, because it is applied externally, and so can be used freely, as often as needed, without upsetting delicate digestions, as too much "dosing" is so apt to do.

Life is an uncertain thing and property at all times insecure. We cannot drive at night without fear of the bandit and we cannot leave our automobiles on the street for fear of the common thief. Our homes are at the mercy of the burglar.

Police of the city apparently are helpless to stop the crime wave, said to be the worst in the city's history. Little children are kidnaped off the streets. Girls are taken from their escorts and assaulted. Innocent motorists are stopped nightly by bandits and forced at the point of pistols to drive into the country where they are hijacked and robbed.

The usual "determined police drives" are announced and "suspects" rounded up but only a small fraction of the offenders are ever brought to trial. Records at police headquarters disclose numerous unsolved crimes of the most glaring types.

Homicides in Dallas in 1928 numbered 69, a record for the city. One murder a day was recorded for twelve consecutive days in August. Two homicides have occurred in the first week of 1929.

While still professing to be working on "clues," the police thus far have failed to bring to justice the killers of two young women in a cornfield near town some weeks ago. Neither have they apprehended the bandit who terrorized the city in a one-man crime wave several nights ago, slugging three persons in a series of five robberies.

Today officers scoured the city for the killer of William Mann, 17-year old high school boy, fatally shot while returning home from church Sunday night with a girl friend, Miss Mildred Drennen, 17. The girl also was hit by the assassin's bullet but she escaped serious injury. The attack on the young couple took place at a busy street intersection after they refused to let a bandit ride with them.

"It's getting so one can't even go to church to worship without getting killed by hijackers," sobbed the mother of the young man when his lifeless body was taken home.

In defense of his department, Police Commissioner Clarence Parker said his men are doing the best they can to halt the wave of lawlessness. He indicated that there are more hijackers operating in the city than policemen and asked that additional police substations be established and that he also be given more policemen.

Official Is Giving Lecture to Agents

FORT WORTH, Tex., Jan. 8.—Webster Spates, of Washington, D. C., is in Fort Worth this week giving lectures to dry enforcement officials of Texas. Last night he explained the search and seizure law, the obtaining of search warrants and the fourth amendment to the constitution.

Mr. Spates contends that more antagonism toward the prohibitory law is caused by resentment against the abuse of power and authority by federal prohibition enforcement officers than by the law itself.

OFFICE DOOR SIGNS
A neatly painted sign of plain design now marks the entrance to each of the departments in Eastland county's new courthouse. They were painted by Eddie Jones, Eastland sign painter. With these signs on the doors, persons unfamiliar with the new courthouse should have no difficulty in locating the offices they wish to find.

JANUARY IS THRIFT MONTH

The board of directors of the Eastland Building and Loan Association in a meeting Monday afternoon set aside January as "Savings Month". A campaign will be put on the entire month through the newspapers and other ways to acquaint the people with the advantages offered by the Association along this line.

It was pointed out that the first week in January brought in a great number of accounts, which clearly shows that the people are interested in saving, and want to save, but the problem is in getting started. The first month in the new year is the time when almost all make new resolutions, new plans, and reconstruct ideals; and some kind of a savings plan should be on the program of every citizen in Eastland regardless of position or salary.

"I cannot save, because my income is not sufficient" is the reply very often given by some when they are approached on the subject of a savings account. The records of the association clearly show that those who have limited means are saving the most money. In fact the bulk of the accounts are made up of salaried people because the incentive to save is greater.

The Eastland Building and Loan Association pays 10 per cent or savings accounts, and those who have a savings program in mind who have been detained on account of sickness, or other reasons, are urged to start their accounts as soon as possible, as the interest starts on the day the account is opened.

FAME OF SARGON SPREADS OVER ENTIRE NATION

New Scientific Medicine Proclaimed Greatest Medicine of All Time by Tens of Thousands Who Have Taken It.

Never before, perhaps, in all history has the demand for a proprietary medicine ever approached the wonderful record that is now being made by Sargon, the new scientific formula which has been accomplishing such remarkable results throughout this section. Its fame is rapidly spreading over the entire country and wherever introduced, Sargon is the most talked of medicine in the country today. Nothing like it has ever been seen before.

Sargon was first placed on the market just a little over six months ago. Its success was immediate and people everywhere were quick to recognize in it a new and epoch-making product—a medicine of great power and extraordinary merit. In leading cities where it has been placed on sale it has required from 70,000 to 100,000 bottles to supply the unprecedented demand, establishing a record probably never before equaled in the history of the drug trade.

Countless thousands of men and women, in all walks of life, suffering with stomach, liver and bowel troubles, some of them of long standing, as well as thousands of weak, thin, nervous men and women apparently on the verge of collapse have voluntarily come forward and testified that they have been fully restored to their normal health, strength and weight by its use.

Still others, who seemed fairly well, yet suffered with constipation in its worst form, indigestion, dyspepsia, headaches, shortness of breath, bad complexion, bad breath, loss of appetite, sleeplessness at night and of terribly dejected, depressed feelings, state that they have been entirely relieved of these distressing symptoms and restored to health by its use.

Sargon is the result of the last ten years of world-wide scientific research; it embodies new knowledge of certain organs and fluids of the body recently come to light; it is helping build up run-down men and women by modern methods undreamed of a generation ago.

Sargon may be obtained in Eastland from Texas Drug Store; in Rising Star from Star Drug Co.; in Desdemona from City Drug Store, and in Carbon from Dixie Drug Co.

Oil Refining company, but in recent years had been an independent operator.

When Food Sours

Lots of folks who think they have "indigestion" have only an acid condition which could be corrected in five or ten minutes. An effective anti-acid like Phillips Milk of Magnesia soon restores digestion to normal.

Phillips does away with all that sourness and gas right after meals. It prevents the distress so apt to occur two hours after eating. What a pleasant preparation to take! And how good it is for the system! Unlike a burning dose of soda—which is but temporary relief at best—Phillips Milk of Magnesia neutralizes many times its volume in acid.

Next time a hearty meal, or too rich a diet has brought on the least discomfort, try—

Don't Neglect a Cold Now, is Doctor's

Don't neglect any cold nowadays. Colds are so weakening; and in a weakened condition, you are so susceptible to more serious troubles.

When you find you are catching cold, take care to keep the bowels open. That's the first precaution every doctor advises. That's the way to avoid the congestion which makes you feverish, achy, half-sick, miserable.

Millions know the quick way to open the bowels, keep them active, is with Dr. Caldwell's Syrup of Pepsin. Every second of the day someone, somewhere is going in to a drugstore to get a bottle of this splendid medicine, made from simple laxative herbs and pepsin by the formula Doctor Caldwell found so effective during his 47 years' medical practice.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup of Pepsin is mild and gentle in its action but it is promptly effective on the most robust constitution. Containing neither narcotics nor opiates, it is safe for the tiniest baby. Children like it and take it gladly.

For colds, fevers, biliousness, indigestion, headaches, heartburn, nausea, bad breath, loss of sleep—any troubles caused by poor digestion or faulty evacuation—Dr. Caldwell's Syrup of Pepsin is a blessing.

It's overwhelming popularity is based on one satisfied user after another. Your drugstore has generous bottles of money-back guaranteed satisfaction.
