CHAPTER XXXVIII
"I'll see that you get there," he promised, "but I think we ought to do something to celebrate the occasion."
The suggestion made Jerry uneasy. "Oh, please let's start as soon as we can," she said hastily. "I ought to be near the show."
"Now, see here," Alester replied with a touch of asperity. "I always have to argue with you, Jerry. Aren't you ever going to do as I like without making a fuss about it?"
"But, Alester, you know . . ."
"I know that you aren't treating me fairly," he interrupted hotly. "What harm can it do to you to make our last evening together a pleasant one? You know I'm not going to see you again until your show comes back to New York. I've promised mother to go on her cruise to Nova Scotia."
"We could celebrate when you come back," Jerry began hopefully.
"Jerry," Alester broke in, "just this once let me have my way. I've planned a little dinner party in Philadelphia, wired few friends yesterday. They're people I want you to meet—one of the girls is going on the cruise. This isn't a theatrical party or an affair like that one at Leontine's. Please don't disappoint me this time."
Jerry wished very much that she had taken the train with Evelyn for she knew, before Alester had ceased his pleading, that she was not going to hold out against him. After all, it did seem a bit silly to insist upon getting home by 10 o'clock. And there would have to be dinner somewhere.
She asked how much longer it would take them to go by way of Philadelphia.
Alester said about two hours. "I can make wonderful time to Philly," he said, "and the roads to New York will be clearer at night. You will be home around one."
"All right," Jerry said, thinking that one o'clock was about her usual bedtime anyway. And she was in the habit of getting up early. Her short theatrical career hadn't yet accustomed her to late sleeping. Besides, there had been morning-rehearsals to get her out of bed on most days.
They walked to the Boardwalk and took a chair car. After a half-hour of this form of promenading Alester suggested a ride in a speed-boat.
Jerry had seen these boats, with seats like those in automobiles and the same kind of steering wheel. She thought it would be fascinating to go out in one.
Motion was always exhilarating to her, she said to Alester, and he promised to take her up in his plane when he got back from the cruise. His promise brought Dan Harvey to Jerry's mind.
"Teach me to steer," she begged suddenly. She did not want to think of Dan.
When they returned to shore, somewhat salt-sprayed and wind-blown, she had succeeded in erasing the unwelcome memory out of her mind.
She had been doing that all week, telling herself that what she felt for Dan was a transitory infatuation—something she mustn't encourage if she wanted to go on growing fonder of Alester, as she seemed to be doing.
They lunched heartily at their leisure and at three they were off for Philadelphia.
Jerry could not get down a feeling of guilt. When she promised Mr. Weinert to make good there had been no thought in her mind of doing the least thing to jeopardize her future.
But Alester was in a very good mood. He was pleased with Jerry, pleased that she was to have a real chance with Mr. Weinert, and elated that she had consented to go to Philadelphia with him.
Almost without being willing to admit it, he was building up something that might help him in case he ever seriously considered marrying her. She would make a good impression upon the people she was to meet tonight, he felt, and he wanted an ally at court where his mother reigned.
There had been a change in Jerry. Little crudities that would have made him unwilling to introduce her to certain of his friends had disappeared through association with Evelyn Starr. Jerry was acquiring a manner as well as manners.
"I hope you will like Miss Morimer," he said as they neared the Quaker City. "She's one of the few girls mother doesn't consider among the lost."
Jerry wondered why he told her this. She could not help feeling that the remark was significant.
But she had something else more important to think about. What would she wear at dinner and where would she change?
Finally Alester himself settled the matter for her.
"We're going to have the Magnolia Rooms at The Kraal," he said and waited for the answering remark he was sure Jerry would make.

WHITHER ARE WE DRIFTING?

The Supreme Court of Texas has handed down a decision that merely because food does not smell good is not sufficient basis to send a man on a charge of selling unwholesome viands.

The learned opinion of Justice Lumiere cites that if such a basis were sufficient, "the succulent onion, the appetizing limbergreen, the tasty garlic and the luscious celery" would stand condemned at the bar of justice.

Personally, this reasoning leaves me untouched. As far as this gourmet is concerned banish forever the limberger; exile eternally
the garlic; if all the onions faded from the earth tomorrow, we would shed no tears, and as for the collard, we wot not what it is.
Therefore, if in order to make the world safe for the digestion of unwholesome food, it becomes necessary
to extend the legal ban to these foods,
damned, fiat justitia, ruat
caelum.

But we submit, in our dissenting opinion in the case, that whether the sense of smell be admitted as the sole criterion in all cases, it certainly should have some consideration—also what becomes of the weighty regard that has been attached to these "blindfold tests"
of the law?

The bone of contention, in this particular case was hog meat which, after it was cooked had a "rank odor." Now we take the position that no hog that has enjoyed the proper youthful environment and has been given suitable educational opportunities in childhood, has any business when cooking, producing any odor except that rich, fragrant scent that curls up voluntarily from a golden brown outer crust of meat and that ascends like incense from the juicy center.

And we, for one, are going to refuse to eat any roast that produces the scent judicially described as "rank"—Supreme court or no supreme court. The human appetite rises superior to the rule of Shelly's case and the Dred Scott decision. If this be treason
let me die on Mac Duff.

THE LOVE OF A MOTHER

I confess all the crimes my son
is charged with."
This was the message sent back
by a prosecuting attorney yesterday by a woman who has just entered the grim prison walls of California to spend the remainder of her life.

We doubt that the confession is true. Everyone connected with the investigation inclines strongly to the opinion that the mother is trying to save her boy.

B. & L. Directors
Hold a Meeting

The directors of the Eastland Building and Loan Association had their regular monthly meeting in the Exchange National Bank this afternoon.

The semi-annual financial statement was submitted by the secretary and approved by the Board.
The statement showed a satisfactory half-year's operations, and that the usual dividends were earned.

The directors were very much pleased with a report that a good number of Eastland people had stepped in to save a part of their savings during the year 1923
through the savings department of the organization.

The annual board meeting will be held on the third Thursday in January. At that time new officers will be elected for the year and the usual dividends declared.
Those interested in the association are cordially invited to attend all meetings, and most especially the annual meeting in January.

OUT OUR WAY

HEROES ARE MADE - NOT BORN.

REST FOR AN ORDEAL

ing a relief measure at this session of Congress practically has disappeared. Chairman Snell of the House Rules Committee, who has much to do with fixing the House
legislative program, has advised President Coolidge there is almost no chance of action in the two months before the present Congress dies.

That means Mr. Hoover will be obliged to call a special session of Congress in accordance with his campaign pledge. This is not a welcome thought to any new president for it means that, added to the woes attendant upon taking care of thousands of political jobseekers, he must worry with a new Congress.

There will be more to worry about in the next Congress than usual because not only is the complete subject of farm relief coming up but the even more delicate problem of tariff revision. It was an upward tariff revision which wrecked the Taft administration.
Some of the more cautious Republican leaders here, like Speaker Longworth, are trying to prevent this chapter of history from repeating itself.

Prohibition Is Another
Another package waiting on the Hoover doorstep appears from the looks of the wrapping to be the well-known prohibition problem.

Pressure again is growing for a thorough re-appraisal of federal prohibition. The question of repealing the Eighteenth amendment is not involved—except academically—for no "wet" whose judgment entitles him to an opinion, believes the amendment will be repealed for many years, if ever.

The issue slowly is swinging around the question of enforcement. Many wets, like Bruce of Maryland, are coming to believe that the best strategy is to strangle prohibition with helping hands.
Bruce would appropriate $275,000-000 to provide the most rigorous enforcement conceivable in the hope it would cause general revul-sion and lead to repeal of the prohibition amendment.

Following up the suggestion of W. C. Durant, automobile manufacturer, for a Congressional investigation, Senator Jones, Washington, Republican, has offered a resolution calling for such an inquiry. Senator King, Utah Democrat, has introduced a bill to transfer the prohibition enforcement

bureau to the justice department.
There is little chance for either measure at this session.

SEA TRAGEDIES
ARE REPORTED

By United Press.
PARIS, Tex., Jan. 4.—A death
list of more than 30 was the toll of winter's first grip on the continent as gales, snow storms and freezing weather prevailed and France, Italy and the Mediterranean suffered a second day's onslaught today.
Five deaths occurred in France
yesterday. Snow continued to fall in many sections.

Italy was still swept by severe storms and southern rivers were overflowing their banks in many places and the Tiber was showing a steady rise in Rome.

Northern sections of Italy lay under a blanket of snow that was four feet deep at many points.

Reports from Fecamp, on the channel coast of France, said that the French trawler Pacificque was lost with 38 men on board. All hope was abandoned of picking up the crew. The trawler is a sailing vessel without wireless equipment.

A sixth death in Paris was reported when a man was found dead
in the street.
The Marseilles radio station
broadcast a demand for information about the french vessel Mala-koff, believed sunk with all hands off Minorca Island. (United Press dispatches from Madrid reported that 27 men were lost from the Malakoff and 6 saved.)

New Courthouse

O. G. Allen, convicted on a charge of liquor law violation, was Eastland county's new courthouse.

Allen, who drew an intermediate sentence of from one to two years in the state penitentiary was sentenced by Judge Elzo Bean of the 88th District Court Friday morning.

His trial was held in the court's temporary quarters in the old high school building.

THURSDAY AFTERNOON
HOLDS BIENNIAL ELECTION:

The Thursday Afternoon club of Eastland is the really large civic and study organization of the city, which is responsible for the upkeep of the Community clubhouse, the maintenance and continuity of the public library, and who built and established the public library, held their election of officers in the clubhouse yesterday afternoon, the officers including the Library Chairman.

These chairmen, each of whom represents one of the four Federated clubs, are the intermediary between the library and the club.

The various clubs have a percentage of ownership in the community clubhouse but not in the library, which is exclusively owned by the Thursday Afternoon club, an Eastland institution, with output about keeping pace with the expenditures.

The usual program of study is conducted by the Thursday club
in connection with its civic work, and the program, now in its last cycle for this year, was one of the strongest the club has featured.

The retiring president, Mrs.
Joseph M. Perkins, has given generously of her experience as a club
woman, and as a woman in touch with large affairs, conducted by clubwomen in elder and stronger club life in other States, and this influence has been fine for both club and library.

Mrs. Perkins was elected chairman of the Library board, which in this instance means chairman of the Board.

The Thursday Afternoon Club
was organized in 1916, and federated the same year.

The first president was Mrs.
A. H. Johnson, who originated the plan of using the small collection of books then owned by a little club, known as "The Hawthorne", (which had resolved itself into the Thursday Afternoon club) as the beginning of a public library for the benefit of Eastland.

This was thirteen years ago,
when but one school building housed
all the grades of the Eastland school, and books for public use were few and far between.

In thirteen years the library has grown from thirty books to three thousand, and steadily increasing all the time.

The election held for 1923-24 resulted: Mrs. James Horton, president; Mrs. Carl Springer, first vice president; Mrs. B. M. Collic, second vice president; Mrs. J. M.
Armstrong, recording secretary;
Mrs. Earle Johnson, corresponding secretary; Mrs. H. O. Tatum, treasurer; Mrs. Joseph M. Perkins
chairman library board.

The balance of the offices are appointive, and are named by the incoming president.

The new officers assume their duties, at the first regular meeting in September.

The Club voted resolution of appreciation of the work of Mrs. A.
H. Johnson, as library chairman and regretted she was unable to further carry on the duties of the post, which she had filled so admirably for many years and resigned voluntarily.

The next meeting will be January 17, when program will be
"Red Letter Day".

Each member is requested to bring the most outstanding letter received during her life.

Talk "The Imperishable Bible,"
Mrs. J. A. Caton.

Talk, "History," Mrs. Curtis F.
Corzelius.

The club will send their floral offering to Mr. and Mrs. A. H.
Johnson as token of respect, in their recent bereavement.

The committee originally appointed as "stunt show" committee, Meses. W. E. Staller, Theodore Ferguson, Harry Semple, and J.
M. Armstrong, were retained, and instructed to confer with the library committee, and complete arrangements for the new shelves in the public library, the expense of which, it was voted, would be partially defrayed through the monies received from the last "stunt night"
performance.

There were fifteen members present. Announcement of the Eastland County Federation of Clubs meeting on January 19, at the Gholson hotel in Ranger was made by Mrs. W. H. Davis of Desdemona, president of County Federation,
who was the only visitor present.

LADIES AUXILIARY MEETS:

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Church of God, are holding rather slimly attended meetings, as many members of the organization are ill.

Those present at yesterday's session, Mrs. D. K. Williamson, president, Meses. J. T. Wilson, H.
M. Sell, Sarah High, J. S. Burk-
head, Elmer Parsons, and Rev. H.
M. Sell, resolved themselves into three committees to visit the sick of the church, for the balance of the afternoon.

It is hoped to open the study of evangelism at the next meeting.

FEATHERS IN VITAL BOUT AT BOSTON

Shea, a Clever Lad, Is Striving for a Chance at the Crown.

BY BERT REMBY
United Press Staff Correspondent
CHICAGO, Jan. 4.—Eddie Shea, who until now has shown about everything a featherweight needs to climb to fistic heights except a good pair of hands, goes out tonight to prove his assertions that he has remedied his one deficiency.

Shea meets Tony Mandell of Boston and, if successful, he plans to go after the title. Eddie has a world of speed, a beautiful left jab and a clever head but so far the "brittleness" of his hands has hindered him.

He has turned in victories over Johnny Farr, Cleveland; Ross Stoy, Erie, Pa.; Midget Mike O'Dowd, of the Pacific coast, and Ignatio Fernandez, in his more recent fights.

Eddie Taylor, the Terre Haute, Ind., battler, beat Shea.

If Shea wins tonight he hopes to be able to talk Promoter J. Mullen into matching him with the winner of the Armand Santiago-Tony Canzoneri bout here January 18. Eddie was disappointed that he was not matched with Canzoneri before Santiago.

Santiago won his chance for the Canzoneri match when he knocked out Joey Sangor here recently.

Shea says his hands have been strengthened greatly by a recent operation. Reports from Boston say that Eddie will find tough sledding with Mandell tonight.

Mandell is reported to have a considerable following, which believes he should have the next match with Routsis. Shea thinks that since Sangor has become a junior lightweight, the next Routsis match should be his.

Bible's Successor Is Still Unchosen

By United Press.
COLLEGE STATION, Jan. 4.—As yet the berth of football coach at Texas A. & M., recently vacated by Dana X. Bible, is unfilled.

Aggie officials have made plans to secure a new mentor from the ranks of Big Ten coaches. They have not indicated, however, who they are trying to secure.

Prominent Aggie alumni from Fort Worth have raised some little agitation to secure the appointment of Matty Bell, at present the coach of the Horned Frogs of Texas Christian University. Chances of his being the next Aggie mentor, however, seem rather slim.

In the first place he has an ideal position at Fort Worth and it is said that a contract calling for renewal of his position for five more years has been drawn up and is waiting for his signature.

BASKETBALL OF SOUTHWEST TO OPEN TONIGHT

Arkansas, Last Year Champs, Meet S. M. U., Who Put Up Real Fight.

DALLAS, Tex., Jan. 4.—The Southwestern Conference championship race will officially open tonight at 8 o'clock in the S. M. U. baseball pavilion when Jimmy St. Clair's Mustang cagers meet the University of Arkansas Razorbacks, coached by Francis R. Schmidt. Other teams in the conference will not open their title programs until next week.

Schmidt and his team arrived in Dallas this morning. They left Fayetteville last night after a final workout on their own court.

It is generally conceded that the Arkers are again the pick of the field in the championship race. They have the usual collection of big, tall men and mostly veteran performers.

S. M. U. will send a team on the floor composed mostly of green men. St. Clair thinks, however, that a lot of hard work will bring them up to the high standard which the Mustangs set last year.

They were barely nosed out of the conference championship by the Razorbacks.

"Gashouse Wop" Loses Mat Bout
By United Press.
DALLAS, Tex., Jan. 4.—Hugh Nichols, "boy wonder" and idol of Dallas mat fans, last night won over Tony Bernardi, Gashouse Wop of Little Rock, Ark., in a madhouse bout at the city hall auditorium here.

The two boys were outside the ring as much as inside it, and it was an iron ring post that really decided the match. Bernardi got a blow in the head that was hard enough to render him dizzy long enough for Nichols to pile him to the floor for the last and deciding fall. It was the second match between the two rough-housers.

Barney Gets Friendly

IT is interesting to observe that the social items out of New York have frequent references to the friendly visits paid to the officials of the New York Giants by Barney Dreyfuss, owner of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Slipped One Over

HE went into the Giant office to extend the holiday greetings and he left with Burly Grimes. Mr. McGraw wasn't around when Dreyfuss paid his social call and if McGraw had been around he would certainly have had something to say when the Pittsburgh boss was persuading Charley Stoneham and Jim Tierney that Vic Aldridge was a better pitcher than Grimes.

Stoneham and Tierney fell for the line and traded Grimes for Aldridge. Aldridge ended the season in the International League and Grimes almost pitched the Pirates into the pennant.

Grimes had won all the games for the Giants that he won for the Pittsburghers the Giants surely would have won the National League pennant.

Old Barney seems to be softening up on his hates but he doesn't lose any of his sagacity.

For years Dreyfuss carried on a feud with Garry Herrmann, former president of the Cincinnati Reds and at one time the chairman of the National Commission.

When he was chairman of the commission Herrmann had almost as much authority as Commissioner Landis has now and he had to pass a decision upon the quarrel over the property rights to George Sisler that was being disputed by the St. Louis Browns and the Pirates.

Herrmann gave the decision that Sisler belonged to the Browns and Dreyfuss was so pained by the decision he said he never would get over it and it wasn't until recent years that he did begin to get over it.

Dreyfuss thought he never would be able to get another ball player like Sisler, but he had such a swell break in falling into the ownership of the Waner boys that he decided he had been more than evened up and he became cordial again with Herrmann.

Reward of Modesty
DAUL SCULL, captain of the Pennsylvania team and the All-America fullback, stood in line before the ticket window for an hour before the Cornell game and when he arrived at the window he asked the young man inside:

"I wonder if I could please buy two tickets for the game. If there are any in mid-field I would like to have them."

And the young vendor inside sold him two benches back of the goal line, not knowing him.

START PAVING EASTLAND HILL ROAD SATURDAY

From Sue Street To Ranger-Breck Highway To Be Paved.

RANGER, Texas, Jan. 3.—Preliminary work of connecting the Ranger-Breckenridge highway with West Main street pavement will be started Thursday, it was announced today.

With the county aid of $5,000 obtained, the work will be started immediately and rushed to completion.

Although the $5,000 given by the county to aid the project is characterized by some as "a drop in the bucket," city officials are grateful for the appropriation as it relieves a condition that has held the project up for months.

That is, the value of the property that abuts on the highway near the top of the hill is not such that would stand being levied against for the pavement.

The paving will be started at the intersection of West Main and Sue streets and will have a width of 30 feet to the intersection of Homer street.

From Homer street to the Ranger-Breckenridge highway the width will be 20 feet. Eighteen feet of this will be brick paving and there will be a one-foot concrete shoulder on each side.

The cost of paving the street from the swimming pool to the top of Eastland hill is conservatively placed at $18,000. Of this amount, $5,000 is to be paid by the county, approximately $3,000 by property assessments, and the remaining $10,000 by the city.

When the link is completed all highways leading into Ranger will have a paved connection with the business and residential district.

It is not known how long it will take to finish the paving.

Intention of Lower Rio Grande valley growers to reduce early potato acreage is reported with an estimate of 26 per cent decrease.

Want To Talk To The Fourth Man

BORGER, Tex., Jan. 4.—Jimmie Brown was charged with murder in a warrant served on him at a hospital today where he is receiving treatment for a gunshot wound in the arm.

He is accused of the fatal shooting of J. H. Richey, night watchman at Hedley. Charges of murder also have been filed against Bert Hall and Joe Dunwoody in connection with the slaying.

Two men arrested here were sent to Amarillo for safe keeping while a third, Oscar "Jimmie" Brown, is in a local hospital fighting to save his right arm from amputation.

Brown is said to have told officers that he was in a motor car en route to Medley with Joe Dunwoody, Bert "Cowboy" Hall and a fourth man and they quarreled. One of them shot him in the arm, Brown said, and left him on the road six miles from Borger. Brown said he walked to Borger and his arrest along with Dunwoody and Hall followed.

State Ranger H. B. Purvis is aiding Police Chief J. W. Crabtree and Jim Crahe, chief deputy sheriff, in the search for the fourth man.

Eastland Figure, Issued by Newspaper Feature Bureau, Based on Many Factors.

The population of Eastland at the opening of 1929, nine years after the last decennial census, is 11,710, compared with 9,308 in 1920, an increase of 25.0 percent, according to a survey issued by the Newspaper Feature Bureau.

An interesting feature of the survey is the occupational figures. Among the 9,581 persons ten years of age or over residing in Eastland it is estimated there are 5,819 workers for gain, 4,504 being males and 1,315 females.

Characteristics of the Eastland population are:

Population	1920	1929
Males	5,849	6,911
Females	3,519	4,799
Persons over 21	5,938	7,423
Males	3,922	4,402
Females	2,016	2,021
Persons over 10	7,665	9,581

The survey is based on figures from local sources giving the city's gains since the 1920 census in factors essential to population growth. Excess of births over deaths in the city since the 1920 census, numbering 760.
Increase of 25.0 percent since 1920 in the number of qualified voters.
Increase of 25.0 percent since 1920 in the number of youth of school age.
Increase of 30.0 percent since 1920 in the number of active domestic water services.
No annexations of territory by the city during the year 1928.
Estimate from the Mayor of Eastland of 11,500 population for the city at the close of 1928.

Lowden Optimistic About the Farmers

By United Press.
CHICAGO, Jan. 4.—Bright days for the farmer are in sight, Frank O. Lowden, Farm leader and former governor of Illinois, predicted as he set out with his wife and daughter, Florence, and son, Pullman, for a four months' trip in Italy and the near East.
The Lowdens will sail from New York tomorrow on the Steamship Augustus with Naples as their first stop.
The former governor urged farmers to cooperate to the fullest extent in President-elect Hoover's relief program, which includes a special session of Congress March 4 to consider legislation that will aid agriculture.
"When the voters elected Hoover they turned thumbs down on the equalization fee, advocated by Governor Smith, and in effect issued a mandate to Hoover to proceed with the program he favored. All of agriculture now will work with him in giving his program effect."

RESULTS FROM NEW FORMULA ARE AMAZING

Thousands of Sufferers Say Effect of New, Revolutionary Medicine, Sargon, Almost Unbelievable.

When Sargon is given to half-sick, run-down men and women who are in a nervous, debilitated condition, the following improvements are noted in the majority of cases:

The appetite increases, the complexion clears, gas, bloating, and hyperacidity are overcome, constipation disappears and a sense of physical well-being and mental alertness replaces a dragging body and depressed mind.
Sargon is accomplishing these amazing results in a new and remarkable way—the way that the men of science who labored for years to perfect this new epoch-making formula intended to be done.

Sargon and Sargon Soft Mass Pills are designed to exert a tremendous stimulative influence on certain vital organs and fluids of the body upon which good health largely depends. The system, besides being purified and strengthened, is toned up and invigorated.
Sargon is designed primarily for the correction of disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels. At the same time, as above stated, it is a powerful reconstructive tonic, for it naturally follows that any medicine that brings about proper assimilation of food and thorough elimination of waste products must have a far-reaching and most beneficial effect on the entire system.

Tens of thousands of men and women, of all ages, in all walks of life, have testified that they have been fully restored to the enjoyment of new found health and strength by its use.

Woman Is Fired On From the Darkness

By United Press.
HOUSTON, Tex., Jan. 4.—A silent assailant who fired a shotgun once at a young woman and then slipped away into the darkness was puzzling police today.
Mrs. Edgar Van Ness, 30, was the victim.
A little after dark Wednesday, she entered her yard. A man stepped from behind a hedge and leveled a shotgun at her. She jumped to get out of the way but the man fired. The charge, birdshot, struck her in the legs and the man fled before she could tell whether he was a white man or negro.
Frank Neggy, 33, of Brady Island, later was charged with assault to murder.

CORINTO, Nicaragua (By mail)
—The most impressive thing to an American sailing into Corinto harbor, through which 65 percent of Nicaraguan exports leave the country, probably are the two or three U. S. navy seaplanes on the beach alongside rows of crude native dugouts.

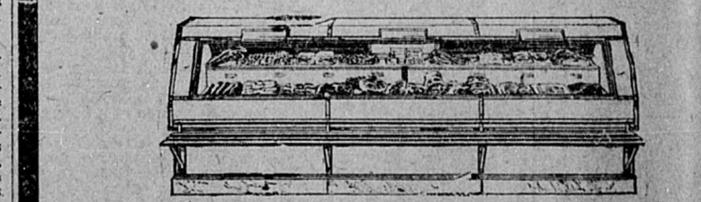

Few planes are to be seen in this part of the world. Conditions are not yet ripe for rapid development of aviation. Most Nicaraguan business, for instance, consists of production and export of bananas and other fruits, coffee and coconuts and importation of cotton cloth, iron, steel, machinery, meats, leather, shoes, automobiles and chemicals. Neither the business situation nor the size or population of Nicaragua justify use of airplanes except in a small military way.

Much Like United States
But here, as in the rest of Central America, one can find almost anything, on a modified scale, that one can find in the United States. Even the hotel in Corinto, the best encountered by the Hoover party in this section, compares very favorably with many leading hostelerias in larger North American cities.

Despite experiences with our marines, Nicaragua, potentially the richest of Central American countries, shows a trend of thought and sympathy toward the United States. Coming at a time when Nicaragua is awakening to new aspirations, this trend is resulting in increased business for American manufacturers, though the bulk is not large.
Young men and women in the cities long ago began to pick up American and European styles. The girls who can afford them, however, say they can get their dresses
