TOUSSAINT IS MISSING FROM PRISON FARM

"Lifer" Missing For Week, Maybe Longer From Darrington Convict Colony Near Houston.

HOUSTON, Oct. 26.—Henry Toussaint, civil engineer, who was convicted in Wichita Falls in 1922, for the brutal murder of his father has escaped from the Darrington prison farm, southeast of Houston. Toussaint, according to information from the farm Friday, made his escape a week ago, although no report of it has leaked out until now. It was reported at Huntsville, Thursday, that Toussaint had disappeared three months ago and that officials at the farm had not discovered he was missing until this week. G. F. Murphy, farm manager, denied that Toussaint had been gone for this length of time and said he had seen him at the farm Saturday. Toussaint, who was serving a life sentence for the slaying of his father, has been a trusty on survey work in the vicinity of the Darrington farm. Somewhat of a dabbler at paintings, he had put on the walls of his cell while at the penitentiary at Huntsville. On one wall he had painted a portrait of Jesus Christ and on the opposite had sketched a monkey. After he had finished these two, he painted a portrait of "Ma" Ferguson and Dan Moody on the end walls.

COTTON CROP ESTIMATE IS UNDER FIRE

Georgia Agricultural Chief Attacks Bureau Report of Federal Department of Agriculture. ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 26.—The department of agriculture cotton crop estimate was attacked in a statement today by Eugene Talmage, Georgian commissioner of agriculture. Talmage said a survey revealed the 1928 crop in this state short 219,000 bales from the government estimate of 1,060,000. "The federal cotton bureau has made this mistake in all other cotton states," he said. "A serious error exists in the estimate for the entire crop. It is well for the Southern Senators and representatives to bear in mind that one of the employees of this same bureau gave out a statement last fall when cotton was bringing a good price or about what it was worth, that there was entirely too much cotton goods and products on the market for the demand. After this statement, the price of cotton was depressed 5 cents a pound in less than two weeks."

LOBOES MEET BUCKAROOS ON GRID SATURDAY

Two Teams Are Considered Well Matched and Thrilling Game Is Expected. When Loboos meet Buckaroos Saturday afternoon on the Breckenridge gridiron, 7000 wild-eyed fans will fill the immense stadium to view a game that is expected to be one of the most thrilling in the history of the Oil Belt district. Both teams are in splendid condition, physically and mentally for the game. There are almost no injured members of the first string and all are in fighting mood to play at the top speed. Coach P. E. Shottwell may fling both his triple threat axes into the game at the very start—something that he has not done all season heretofore he has started Boon Migness, punter, passer and runner, and then when Boon, after making beautiful gains, has tired, he has been relieved by his brother, Aubrey, not quite as good a punter but an even more dangerous broken field runner. If both these stars start the game, with Graham, husky fullback, and Robinson, shift quarterback, who ran 80 yards with the opening kickoff for a touchdown last week at Brownwood—well, you can look for things to happen. However, Coach W. H. Chapman is able to have his hidden ball plays in evidence this week. Aise it would not be surprising—in view of the remarkable speed of his backfield—to see some lateral passes are handled smoothly, they are certainly disconcerting to the opposition. All of which is mere surmise for no one outside the teams and coaches know what strategy each eleven will resort to. If Breckenridge looses, it will be because of the ends. See how that prediction works out. From tackle to tackle, the Buckaroos average around 177 yards. But Carey at one end, though a fighter, is light and the other wing position has not been definitely settled—several taking turns. On the other hand, the Cisco wingmen are heavy enough for linemen. Miller at one end weighs 168 pounds and he is plenty solid, likewise fast. Men-downs at the other end weigh 160 pounds. Only one thing seems certain about Saturday's game—and that is it will be so hard fought that it will be in doubt until the very end. That's the reason why Eastland, Ranger, Cisco and Breckenridge fans will be there in record-breaking numbers.

THREE ROBBERS LEAVE TOWN DISCOURAGED

Spent Night Tapping Fines In Fentress, Small Community in Caldwell County. FENTRESS, Texas, Oct. 26.—Three robbers, presumably working out of San Antonio, tied up Watchman Will Lancaster here last night and then proceeded to work on practically every safe in the village, but a hasty checkup this morning has so far revealed no extensive shortages. The postoffice safe containing receipts for the week and also records was attacked by the burglars without success and its contents were found unharmed. Entrance was also gained into the town bank and the safety deposit vault opened although no losses have yet been found there. Several other establishments were entered before the gang left without much reward for several hours' work. Fentress, a small town and summer resort, is located about 40 miles northeast of Austin.

Monoplane Yankee Doodle To Try For West-East Record

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 26.—The monoplane Yankee Doodle, holder of speed records for non-stop flight in both directions across the continent, was being groomed today for a new effort to lower the existing mark for a trip from west to east. Capt. B. B. D. Collyer, pilot, and Harry Tucker, millionaire sportsman, arrived at Mines field, Los Angeles, at 2:08 p. m. Pacific Coast time yesterday, after completing the non-stop flight from Roosevelt field, New York in 24 hours and 52 minutes. The previous west record of 26 hours and 50 minutes was set by Lieut. Macready in 1924. When the two flyers arrived they showed the strain of their 24 hours in the air. They were dazed temporarily by the roar of their motor. The plane was in good shape, however.

SIX-CYLINDER CARS FEATURE LONDON SHOW

"Midgets" Still Popular in England, However—Price War On. LONDON.—Larger, more powerful, and easier to handle automobiles were on exhibition at the annual Motor Show here this year. The increase in popularity of the moderate-priced six-cylinder car, was notable. Of the model on view something like 44 per cent were fitted with six cylinder power units. Two years ago it was only 36 per cent. Almost as remarkable was the growth of eight-cylinder-in-line engine. Two years ago there were only about three in the show. By this year British, American, French and German examples brought straight-eight engines and twelve cylinders (double six) to 10 per cent. This obvious tendency toward bigger cars by no means indicates a slump in the "babies" and "midgets," those seven-eight and nine horsepower midgets which have become almost as popular in England as the Ford in America. The manufacturers of these light cars have been and are even now engaged in a fierce price-cutting war, and many have been the humors, surmises and promises of what would be done at the show. Consequently the public looked forward to a car priced at $300, but prices went only as low as $175. Four-cylinder cars are on the decline. Two years ago they represented 60 per cent of the types displayed. This year they dropped to approximately 46 per cent. The two-cylinder was represented by one make, and the other extreme, the twelve-cylinder, also by one make. Despite the growing popularity of the six-cylinder there has been no decrease in cubic capacity of engines, much the same as last year, except for a slight increase in sleeve valve models.

know that there is no organization in this country to give back the United States to King George. But this request for the hall was seriously denied. A few days later, it came out that the royalist organization was merely a "joke."

We suppose if some one representing himself as chairman of the association to give the country back to the Indians wanted to hire the hall, the matter would be gravely debated and then as gravely refused.

Elbert Hubbard said the seventh commandment was, "Don't take yourself too seriously," and this is commended to the Dallas authorities.

SUSAN STEELE BIBLE CLASS DOING DAILY DEEDS

The Susan Steele Bible class is fulfilling a very lovely role of their society, that of visiting the sick and shut-ins, to whom they have carried the lovely roses that have been so profusely in bloom, and the shaggy mums, now in their glory to bring to the ailing a bit of sunshine.

Mrs. W. A. Cathey, president of the class, said, that though they do not meet so often, in regular order, yet, they are more active than usual, as they are now taking up this line of their Bible class personal service program.

THURSDAY AFTERNOON CLUB SESSION

The Thursday Afternoon Club enjoyed as their program at their meeting yesterday in the Community Clubhouse a most diverting and interesting tour of foreign countries. It was conducted under the general leadership of Mrs. Charles G. Norton, chairman for the program, assisted by Mrs. Marshall McCallough and Mrs. George being of Baylor.

The imaginary tour started from Eastland for Houston, and then speeded the travelers on their northern journey by the steamer their first objective being Paris.

From this center of art and literature, the travelers pursued their artistic pilgrimage into Italy, concentrating their descriptions on Rome, Milan and Florence, after which they resumed their tour in Germany, when they were called home by the club's time limit for discussion.

The feature of the different art salons were shown in several beautiful prints, and some small paintings, exhibited and described by Mrs. Bohning, who had studied abroad several years.

The original and delightful talk by Mrs. McCullough about Florence, where she lived three years when studying art, were greatly enjoyed, and the exquisite work exhibited by the speaker proved the worthwhile of her sojourn. The entire program was charming, and beautifully introduced by Mrs. Norton, who also closed the lesson.

During the business session conducted by the president, Mrs. Joseph Perkins, four new members were received into the club, Mrs. H. O. Tatum, Grady Pipkin and W. L. Spencer, who will be on the active membership list, and Mrs. Ghent Sanderford, who requested associate membership.

Mrs. Earle Johnson was elected delegate to the State convention on November 11. It will be held in Denton. This fills the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mrs. W. F. Leslie.

The Civic League flower show was announced, and co-operation requested.

Mrs. Perkins, the president, appointed as committee on preliminary arrangements for the annual Thursday Stunt Show, Mrs. W. E. Stallter, chairman, and Mrs. J. M. Armstrong, Harry Sample and Theodore Ferguson. This committee to report arrangements at the first club meeting in November.

Their will be the responsibility also of determining the number of prize awards to be given, as well as the value thereof.

The Club was requested by the president to be prepared at this November meeting to decide exactly what the wish to do with the money they will make from the stunt program.

One dollar was voted the District chairman on citizenship for the scholarship fund.

The chair appointed as hospital-ity committee for the Eastland County Federation, which visits Eastland November 17: Mrs. W. P. Leslie, Carl Springer and James Horton.

CHURCH OF GOD WOMEN PLANNING BIG REVIVAL

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Church of God met in the church edifice Thursday afternoon. The session was conducted by the president, Mrs. D. K. Williamson, and a very interesting lesson concerning their foreign mission field stations was taught by Mrs. J. T. Wilson.

The number of the missionary stations of the Church of God in Africa and India were tabulated and described, and something of the life of the missionary pictured. The talk was very interesting. During the business session plans were made for the distribution of three thousand printed announcements to be distributed throughout Eastland and Eastland county, telling of the revival which opens on November 11. It is to be conducted by the Rev. A. C. Lovell, of Dakoma, Oklahoma, and will continue several days.

The Auxiliary will assemble in the church on some appointed day to receive their budget of announcements, which they will distribute throughout the town. Those present yesterday were: Mrs. J. T. Wilson, H. M. Sell, William Jessu, J. S. Burkhead, Eliza Parsons, Cleo Ford, D. K. Williamson, and Miss Helen Hosek.

BLUE BONNET CLUB HAS DELIGHTFUL MEETING

Mrs. B. E. Hamner was a charming hostess to the Blue Bonnet Club Thursday entertaining at her lovely home with a Halloween party. The tallies of girls in bouffant draperies holding lighted pumpkins, and the bridge table appointments carried out the holiday idea, also observed in the daintily wrapped favors for the games, each in its holiday attire. High score favor, a pretty serving tray, was awarded Mrs. Hampton, and guest high score favor, silk cord and tassel for the hanging of a picture, went to Mrs. Ralph Lindley.

A delicious salad plate was served at five o'clock with sandwiches, nuts, olives, stuffed dates and hot tea. The room was prettily adorned with yellow mums, and marigolds, carrying out the Halloween tints of yellow and brown.

Those present were Mrs. Roy Allen, George Cross, J. O. Earnest, S. C. Everingham, Ulysses Hampton, G. C. Kimbrell, E. R. O'Rourke, C. E. Overly, Guy Patterson, and guests, Mrs. Ralph Lindley, J. L. Ennis and Blake Bryant. The club will meet at 2:30 p. m., in two weeks, with Mrs. Hampton.

Farmer Says Cows Much Prefer the Milking Machines

Do cows like milking machines? This question, which has occurred to many farmers and has been frequently argued around many farm hearthstones, is answered authoritatively by C. H. Eccles, a well-known agricultural teacher and dairying expert, in the current issue of Farm and Fireside. He finds that cows prefer the modern machine method of milking to the old-fashioned way.

NOTES AND PERSONALS

Mrs. W. H. Taylor left Thursday night for West Texas expecting to be away about one week.

The Senior B. Y. P. U. is to entertain with a Halloween social Saturday evening at 6:30 o'clock. Members and friends are invited. The entertainment will be held in the B. Y. P. U. cottage.

EAGLES WILL SHIFT TEAM QUITE A BIT

Center Goes to Tackle, Half-back to End, Guard to Bench.

ABILENE, Oct. 24.—That Abilene High school line that will face Ranger Friday afternoon is a much different combination from the one that would have been anticipated at the outset of the training schedule six weeks ago.

Only two individuals in the Eagle forward trenchmen will occupy the places they were expected to at the beginning of the season. What's more, the Abilene line that goes on the field is not due to be altered many more times this year.

Black, Sally Stationary.

Butcher Black at left tackle and Captain Dan Salkeld at right end remain as fixtures from the 1927 season. The other positions have been involved in so many changes, that except for the uniform Friday's club will be scarcely recognizable to those who witnessed the conference opener with Eastland.

Clayton Lusby, right tackle; Smold Allen, left end; Bob Manly, center, and Neely, right guard; neither of them started in the stated capacity last week. But that represents the new features in the product of the week.

Lusby and Manly have worked at center of late, but both looked so good that a place was cleared that neither would have to do bench duty. It is the third line position that Lusby has played since the start of the 1927 season. He substituted at end and center last fall.

Neely, much lighter than Baker, is a better defensive man, but not so strong on the offense. The two may split time on the guard as they have been doing, but Neely will probably get to start for his first time Friday.

Switching of Allen to end again was not because of any poor showing he made in the backfield but was a move to bolster the line. Both Baldwin and Phelps will be in the backfield Saturday, and barring further injuries, the full backfield should be ready by the time of the Breckenridge game, next on the conference schedule after Ranger. Henry Hanna's broken collarbone will have healed by that time.

Run-Down, Nervous, Appetite Gone, Lady Shows Great Improvement After Using Cardui.

Waterloo, S. C.—"I took Cardui at intervals for three years, and have been in good health since last fall," says Mrs. Noble J. Hayes, who lives near here. "My improvement after taking a course of this medicine was really remarkable.

"I am much stronger and can accomplish so much more work now. My weight increased twenty pounds, and my color is fresh and good.

"For a long time I had been feeling poorly. Some days I dragged around the house and had not enough energy to do my housework.

"I worried a lot about myself. I did not seem like myself, and my nerves were all on edge. I did not sleep well, and my appetite left me.

"I found Cardui to be an excellent tonic. After I had taken it a few weeks, I began to pick up and to gain in weight and strength.

"Now I am in fine health. I have recommended Cardui to many of my friends, and shall continue to do so."

For over 50 years, Cardui has been used with success and recommended by thousands of women for weakness and similar ailments. Try it for your troubles! At all drug stores. NC-192

MATADORS ARE NEXT FOES OF HORNED FROGS

Several T. C. U. Players Among Great Stars of Southwestern Conference

FORT WORTH, Oct. 25.—With the first hurdle of their conference race successfully passed, the Texas Christian university Horned Frogs began hard work the first part of the week in preparation for the Texas Tech Matadors who will invade Fort Worth Saturday for a game with the Purple.

The Frogs came through the Aggie fray with only one injury, Clyde Robertson, end, suffering a wrenched leg on the first play of the game. From indications, however, Clyde will be able to answer the opening whistle Saturday. The remainder of the Frog squad is in perfect condition.

A great deal of all-conference talk is going on among the Frog followers with the names of Atkins, Grubbs, Griffith, Toler, Williams, Brumbelow and Reynolds predominating. The work of Noble Atkins, 200-pound Frog center, has been outstanding in every game the Frogs have played this year.

Howard Grubbs, fast little quarterback, is also making a great bid for a berth on the mythical eleven. It was Howard's 10-yard run against the Aggies that put the ball in scoring position, and it was his deadly passing eye and his ability to run the Frog ship that resulted in a Frog victory.

Only two conference games are scheduled for Saturday. They are the Texas University-Rice grudge battle at Houston and the Arkansas-Texas A. & M. melee at Fayetteville.

Orphans Try To Operate a Farm

LA VERNE, Cal., Oct. 25.—"All for one and one for all," the motto of the famous "Three Musketeers," found a parallel in the lives of three orphans who live on a ranch near here.

After the death of their mother more than a year ago, Sidney, Harry and Albert Lane, aged 8, 12 and 13 years respectively, carried on alone at the family ranch in Pine Canyon.

They shared the work, shared their food and traveled five miles to school each day. Then one day there was little food left.

LOBO AND BUCKAROO TO MEET

Saturday's Game Will Be Between Two Great Teams.

One of the greatest gridiron conflicts in the history of the Oil Belt district can well be expected Saturday at Breckenridge when the Buckaroos clash with the Cisco Lobos.

Two great scoring machines—each has piled up more than 200 points this season—will display dazzling runs, spectacular passes and trick plays that will thrill the thousands of spectators. Defeat the tie the Lobos played last week against San Angelo, as a tie counts as half a loss. Defeat for Breckenridge would not end the mathematical chances of that team for the district title but would hit those chances such an awful jolt that it would probably prove fatal.

Breckenridge unquestionably has the strongest eleven that has ever worn the Green and White. Aubrey and Boom Magnus, brothers, are triple threat men; Graham is a brilliant runner and punger, and Robinson, Carey, Ligon and Pruitt are only some of the good backfield men available. In the line, "Bull" Magnus, 190 pounds of muscle; Captain Downing, 180-pound gladiator; Cox Nichols, Munneryn and other giants give the forward wall an average of 177 pounds. This is heavier than A. & M.'s line.

Cisco likewise has a great eleven. Van Horn is an accurate passer, a fast man on dashes around end and a good man at hitting the line. Little is rated the greatest broken field runner in West Texas. Eddleman at full-back busts opposing lines wide open. Anthony, 190-pound center, looks like the classiest man in the district at that vital position. Miller at end is superb. Cisco's line averages 170 pounds—which equals the weight of many college lines.

There is quite a chance that the winner of the Cisco-Breckenridge game will win the Oil Belt championship. Estimates of the attendance Saturday is from 5,000 on up. However as the stands at Buckaroo field can handle 8,000, there will be room for all.

Sports Matter

The National Hockey League, professional ice hockey's major organization, is looking forward to another banner year. The ten teams in the organization began fall training this week and will open the 1928-29 season November 15.

The New York Rangers, world's champions and holders of the Stanley cup, played to 166,000 spectators in 22 games at Madison Square Garden last year and expect to pass the 200,000 mark this season. The gate receipts last year were $330,000 and indications point to receipts in excess of $400,000 this season.

The ten teams in the National Hockey League are divided into two groups as follows:

International Group
Montreal Canadiens,
Montreal Maroons,
Toronto Maple Leafs,
Ottawa Senators,
New York Americans

American Group
New York Rangers,
Detroit Cougars,
Boston Bruins,
Pittsburgh Pirates,
Chicago Black Hawks.

Two New Managers
Two new managers and eight old ones will be seen around the circuit. The new men are Tommy Gorman, who is replacing Shorty Gorman as manager of the New York Americans, and Herb Gardner, who will lead the Chicago Black Hawks in place of Barney Stanley.

The eight managers who are back include Les Patrick, New York Rangers; Jack Adams, Detroit Cougars; Art Ross, Boston Bruins; Cleghorn, Pittsburgh Pirates; Cecil Hart, Montreal Canadiens; Eddie Gerald, Montreal Maroons;

YOUTH SEEKING ADVENTURE IN MYSTIC EASTERN LANDS

Among the outstanding players in the N. H. L. are Howie Marenz and Aurel Joliat the two high scoring stars of Les Canadiens; Frank Boucher, New York Rangers center, who was the hero of the Stanley cup series, scoring five of the Rangers' six goals; Eddie Shore, Boston Bruins' defense, and "bad boy" of the league; Roy Worters, Pittsburgh Pirates' lead tender, rated the best goalie in the league; and George Hay, Detroit Cougars, considered the smartest player in the league. The Rangers have the star brother act in Bill and Bud Cook and an attraction in Myers Lee, all around Dartmouth athlete.

Muro's $9,000 Salary
The highest salaried professional hockey player last year was Dunc Muro of the Montreal Maroons who received $9,000 for the season. Many of the stars were tied up to long term contracts several years ago before professional hockey developed into a paying proposition.

Howie Marenz, perhaps the league's most brilliant player, received about half the salary he would have brought in open market.

Benny Leonard, the retired undefeated lightweight champion, will make his debut this season as a professional hockey magnate, having purchased a large interest in the Pittsburgh club. The Pirates lost money last year, largely because of their small rink, but Leonard hopes to place them on a paying basis this season.

Baylor Campaign Workers Enlisted
WACO, Oct. 27—That a Greater Baylor university looms before Texas Baptists is indicated in progress of the Greater Baylor campaign for $2,000,000 in district 13 with Cisco and Breckenridge as key cities and Rev. W. H. Andrew of Stephenville, district chairman.

Hundreds of workers in this section have been enlisted to put over the $2,000,000 Baptist enterprise, and will be engaged in its promotion through Nov. 23 to Dev. 4, when the popular campaign is scheduled.

Every Baptist and Baylor alumnus in the state will be visited personally for a campaign contribution.

The campaign is identified with Baptist leaders throughout the state. In district 13 Rev. Harlan J. Matthews of Mineral Wells is chairman of Palo Pinto-Jack association; Rev. C. A. Shiraz of Breckenridge is chairman of Cisco association; Rev. E. W. Goss, Dublin, Erath association; Rev. Joe Mayes, Baird, Callahan association.

Mathematical Wonder
Scientists of Europe are much interested in a five-year-old boy who is proving a mathematical wonder. Even before entering school he revealed a remarkable knowledge of the mathematical table. When asked by the doctors how many days had elapsed since the birth of Christ, he gave a correct reply. Given the date of a person's birth, he instantly gives the number of days and minutes that have passed since that time, not forgetting the leap years. The boy's head is so large that no ordinary hat will fit it.

Sleep Is Broken 35 Times During An Average Night
NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—You may think that you sleep like a log, but you don't. The fairly typical sleeper awakens, at least to part of his environment, about 35 times in the course of an ordinary night and in general men are more restless than women.

These facts have been determined by H. M. Johnson, director of an investigation at Mellon Institute of Industrial Research University, of Pittsburgh, and are published in the current Harper's Magazine. More than 90 different people have been under observation for several months during the investigation, and experts have recorded more than a quarter of time to become engrained in memory. But for one such youth or girl there are a dozen bewildered and virtually helpless public charges, unable or unwilling to hold regular employment long enough to get a "stake" and determined to see the world at the world's expense.

Government and company officials dread these as the plague. There is no standard method of dealing with them and many a sweating executive whose time may be profitably employed is forced against his will to grapple with the problem of some such human "lost dog."

How You Votin', Babe?

The outstanding objection to the average such traveler appears to be that he thinks the world owes him and all his romantic like a living. It is the old tramp notion magnified several thousand diameters. Each young wanderer is lingo, in his own concept, and it seems to him both fair and natural that at every turn he should be aided by persons full of enthusiasm over his daring.

Reasons for Aid.
And it cannot be denied that "loans" free transportation and other aid frequently are forthcoming, particularly in places where white faces are few. The reasons are numerous: Common humanity, unwillingness to allow a fellow white man to hurt the prestige of those who must live in alien surroundings, and not infrequently a plain desire to get the idler on his way so that the day's work may progress.

Once in a blue moon one of these travelers is "the right son"—intelligent, willing to work his way, honest. Such a person usually obtains employment from time to time, saves enough money to meet his frugal needs for several weeks ahead, and proceeds on his way possessed of new friendships and new scenes which have had

WHAT HAS HAPPENED

Thorne, secret bride, disappears in going to have a child. Mabel Blake, a worker with whom she took to Havana on which she married after a shipwreck, proved so despicable that Sybil left him two weeks' honeymoon. Mabel to secrecy she goes to Boston, where Craig lives. Craig has loved Sybil since—fact they were engaged when she sailed to Cuba—and met Richard. She has tried to tell her marriage, but—misunderstanding—he began to joke of such things. That particular incident inclined to avoid her. She hates her husband and has heard from him since the day she left him, sleepily in their hotel in New York.

She is furiously rebellious about having a child. Christmas time her heart and to her own utterance she no longer hates the child of Richard's child. She argues Sybil to tell her and to tell Craig. After Christmas, she said, "I can't bear to spoil for them. But the very I'll tell."

go on with the story:

were wreaths in the window bay candles on the mantel after dinner there was plum pudding with rum merrily. Sybil had tried to make things festive. Mrs. Thorne went salt tears Mabel kissed her solicitously, and Sybil saw the worried question in her eyes.

"Oh, it's all right, Mab," she said, and began to pull off her gloves to hide her confusion. "I told them yesterday. Val was simply scandalized. I mean she said she was. You never saw a girl act up so in all your life. Of course she was tickled to death—but, my dear, you'd have thought to hear her, the whole thing was a personal affront. And that I'd done it all just to embarrass her. Some day I'll kill that woman—I know I will."

Sybil rolled her gloves into a little ball, and tossed them on Mabel's desk.

"Tad was absolutely wonderful," she continued. "And Mother's down at Bigelow's this morning, to see about having announcements printed. First time she's been out of the house for weeks."

"Poor Mums—I guess she felt there wasn't a minute to lose. They seem determined to put on a brave face, and make the best of a tough proposition. But Val's martyr-like air is a joke. You'd think I'd outraged her sense of decency. She gives me a pain, Mab. I do feel sorry for Mums and Tad, though."

Mabel looked relieved. "Well, thank goodness that's over with. I should say your mother had been quite wonderful about it."

"Oh, she cried half the night. To tell the truth, I was afraid they'd think I hadn't been married. But Val seemed to be the only one who entertained any doubts on that score. It wasn't what she SAID—but the way she LOOKED."

"You've never heard from Rich, Sybil?"

"Not a word."

Mabel was counting on her fingers. "Are you frightened, dear?"

College Athlete at 14

Below the shadow of being the youngest athlete in Harvard University, R. B. Konikow, 14 years old, is winning athletic honors. He's trying out for coxswain of the freshman crew and here you see him giving orders to his oarsmen during a practice race.

"Oh—sort of. I don't imagine it's going to be much fun, with the whole town talking, and mother acting like a tragedy queen. Val will have a good time, though—that's something, of course. By the way, I saw Hilda Burgess the other day. It seems my sweet sister-in-law had quite an affair in New Haven last month. Gosh, I pity Tad!" Sybil gasped a little at the swirling snow that beat against the windows. "There will be a smashup there, Mab," she predicted, "as sure as you're a foot high."

That evening Sybil met Craig. "I'd rather be cut in little pieces," she told Mabel. "I'm having dinner with him at the Copley. I don't know how I'm going through with it."

She wore a black dress, with pearls in her ears and a hat at her throat. She was deathly pale, though her lips were scarlet, and the dark circles beneath her eyes gave her a tragic loveliness. Like

The head waiter led them to their favorite table, in a corner removed from the orchestra, and lit the candles, and brought pink roses in a silver vase.

Sybil leaned her elbows on the table.

"Craig, I'm going to hurt you awfully."

She cupped her chin in her hands—swallowed resolutely—and began again.

"I—I—Craig, I was married last summer."

He had been searching her pale features with a puzzled, kind concern. Now it seemed to her that his face grew hard and cold, as if it had been frozen, or carved from stone.

Bravely she held his eyes with hers. Her throat was dry, and somewhere in the back of it was a great choking lump. She moistened her lips with the tip of her tongue, and they felt parched and dry like chalk. Her tongue was dry, too. And her mouth filled sickeningly with saliva that flowed from inside her cheeks.

Craig, across the table, never took his eyes from her face. His cheeks were white. The seconds dragged like minutes.

"And now," she said, "I—I'm going to have a baby, Craig."

GETS WRONG CAR.

EL PASO, Oct. 24.—The man who got the wrong hat in the cafe had nothing on Sylvester McCoy, negro. He got the wrong car and was called upon for lots of explaining.

McCoy parked his car in front of a cafe and took his spare tire inside to avoid theft. When he came out he threw his tire into a car and drove off. A few minutes later he was overtaken by Jose Hernandez, who demanded that he stop. The negro had taken Hernandez's car. They were exactly alike, police said, and had been parked side by side.

The case grew more complicated when Hernandez claimed that a spare tire was missing from his car which the negro had driven away. He also claimed five gallons of gas had been used. But McCoy said he had only driven six miles.

Police engineered another trade to restore the cars to their rightful owners. Failing to find the tire Hernandez claimed he lost, they advised him to bring civil suit against McCoy if he wished.

Smith Is Indicated As Still Gaining Heavy Republican Support

Hoover is leading in six of the ten States of the "Solid South" as more than 2,500,000 returns from all of the forty-eight States are reported in the Literary Digest's huge national Presidential poll which is published today.

With the vote announced as not yet completed, Smith is carrying only Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi and South Carolina, while Hoover has substantial margins over his rival in the Democratic strongholds of Florida, North Carolina, Texas and Virginia and sparring leads in Alabama and Arkansas, which leads The Literary Digest classes as doubtful.

The border States of Kentucky, Maryland, Oklahoma and Tennessee give the Republican candidate a comfortable plurality.

Of the total of 2,529,997 votes returned in this fifth week's tabulations of The Literary Digest's poll, Hoover has 1,595,456 while Smith has 910,234. This gives a percentage of 63 for Hoover to 37 for Smith, which is almost the precise ratio of last week's returns.

Unexpected Lead.

Hoover at present shows a lead in this "straw poll" in several of the States that are generally considered doubtful, as in Wisconsin, where he is ahead by 31,351 to 21,847; in North Dakota, where he leads by 5,408 to 2,899; in Minnesota, where his ratio is 52,882 to 23,621; and in Montana, where he is polling 6,750 to Smith's 3,152.

The Republican candidate is leading in returns from all the Eastern States from Maine to Delaware by ratios of 2 to 1 and 3 to 1 except in New York, where though he has a substantial lead in the State as a whole, the New York City vote is strongly favorable to the Democratic side, showing Smith with 130,822 to Hoover's 93,974.

Another analysis of "how the same voters voted in 1924" offers the significant shift that for the first time since this "postcard election" was started Smith is polling more of his strength from voters who state that they voted Democratic in the last Presidential election than those who have changed from Republican ranks, although the difference is rather slight. Previously he has had in his column as obtaining the better part of his support from Democratic sources in the States where he shows a lead.

In individual polls of Chicago and Philadelphia, where the entire registered electorate is being polled, the same as in New York City, Hoover shows an advantage of 93,286 to 67,646 in the Illinois metropolis and 68,495 to 47,816 in Philadelphia. Against this Al Smith is shown polling more of his strength from former Republicans than from previous Democratic voters in both of these cities.

"The poll establishes a new record this week," The Literary Digest states editorially, "with 2,529,997 votes recorded as against somewhat less than 2,000,000 when the poll of 1924 had reached the present stage of development.

Smith Gaining.

"With the present tabulation the returns may be considered for the first time fairly representative of the country as a whole. The division of the vote is slightly more favorable to Governor Smith than in the earlier tabulations.

"The wide-spread breaking down of political fences, noted throughout the previous reports, is even more evident in the present tabulation. It may be observed, however, that with fuller reports from the Southern States, there is an increasing switch of Democrats to Hoover, along with Mr. Smith's increasing support from former Republicans.

"For the first time in the poll it will be noticed, Governor Smith draws more of his support from Democrats of 1924 than from Republicans of that year. He still has 334,931 of these 'switched' votes, as against 230,555 former Democrats who are now for Hoover.

"The shift of former Republicans, several authorities agree, means merely that Democrats who voted for Coolidge in 1924 are now returning to their home camp, but the fact remains, of course, that there has been a switch since 1924."

ILLS OF TRAVEL

PARIS.—"There is no joy left in traveling," wails A. de Montgon, Parisian journalist and one of the capital's ablest fault-finders.

Thanks to the deadly permeating influence of the cinema, he says, everyone wears the same kind of hats, shoes and other articles of clothing. If bow ties are popular in Hollywood or New York, they immediately become the rage in Cairo and Moscow. The smallest hotels from the Scottish border to Pera and points south all have the same type of jacketed concierge, baggage boys and matrons-d'hotel. "Travel was once considered the equivalent of a college education," he regrets, "but its only equivalent today is a four-reel baby film and a phonograph."

BRITAIN'S BILL FOR LIQUOR ON SHARP DECLINE

Advent of Movies, Autos, Radio, Takes Customers From "Pub"

LONDON, Oct. 25.—Britain, home of the "pub," stronghold of bitter and stout and "whisky and splash," is showing an amazing decline in the consumption of beer and spirits.

That the decline is continuing is proved by the latest figures on clearances for bonded spirits, namely, a decrease of eight percent for the first half of the present year, compared with the corresponding period of 1927.

The drop is attributed to a change of habits rather than to any campaign or moral revival. The country has drifted away from the public houses without actually realizing it. Cinemas, theatres, radio, automobiles, the complete change that has come over the average man's existence since 1900 has diverted thousands of pounds sterling from the till of the "pub." The great increase in sport interest has taken many customers from the bar to the stadium or race track.

The home of whisky has also felt the changing trend of the times. The consumption of spirits in Scotland was 8,623,092 gallons in 1900; 6,709,343 in 1913, and 2,456,283 last year. England's consumption of spirits in 1900 was 32,239,522 gallons. It dropped to 22,004,432 gallons in 1913, and fell to 10,412,921 last year, and is still decreasing.

Beer has followed "hard liquor" on the downward trail. England consumed 31,810,877 bulk barrels in 1902; 30,758,800 in 1913, and 23,418,640 in 1927. In Scotland, where tradition assigns beer to the role of a "chaser" after "neat" whisky, the consumption of beer in bulk barrels fell from 2,260,759 in 1902 to 2,119,666 in 1913, and dropped to 1,672,576 last year.

The figures show that the decrease in liquor trade started before the war depleted the nation's manpower, and consequently its number of drinkers. War-time restrictions naturally cut the nation's drink bill. But since the war, drinking has steadily decreased with the exception of 1920, when Britain spent a total of 469,700,000 pounds, or approximately $50 per head for alcoholic liquids. Last year's figure, estimated at 298,800,000, was the lowest since 1915.

ILLINOIS YOUTH, GIANT AT TEN, STILL GROWING

Robert Wadlow, Now 6 1/2 Feet Tall May Become Nine Feet Tall

By RALPH L. SANDERS, United Press Staff Correspondent.

ALTON, Ill., Oct. 25.—Among members of the National Association of Longfellers, Robert Wadlow, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wadlow of this city, probably enjoys the most abundant prospects, professionally speaking. At 10 years of age he is six feet six inches tall and weighs 211 pounds.

Four physicians who examined him predicted that his average growth of four inches a year will continue until he is approximately nine feet tall. They based their predictions on the size of Robert's feet, which now measure 15 1/2 inches from heel to toe when out of his 830-a-pair triple E size 21 shoes, explaining that a rapidly growing boy's feet outdistance their owner's height early and then wait for the rest of the body to catch up.

An overzealous pituitary gland is credited with the responsibility for Robert's upbringing. The boy's mother and father are of normal size as are Robert's three young brothers and sisters.

Robert makes satisfactory marks in his fifth grade class according to his teacher, Miss Glenn. School authorities were forced to provide a special seat and desk for him, however—a seat from the high school resting on several blocks is momentarily satisfactory but the janitor at Milton school where he attends is already casting about for some further improvement which may be needed any day since several seats have already broken under his weight.

After school he joins children of his own age playing on playground apparatus many sizes too small for him. He may be seen using the slide at the Horace Mann school. His height and weight and width reduce his speed down the apparatus and smaller children crowd him out since they can move more swiftly.

He encounters all sorts of trouble because of his height. The family Ford sedan will hold him but he must squeeze slowly into the rear seat and then his head is but half an inch from the top. There isn't enough leg room in the front seat. He seldom bumps his head because he learned long ago to expect many obstacles that appear in his path, wherever he goes.

Wadlow, senior, told the United Press he has received a number of offers from circus and vaudeville producers for the appearance of Robert on the stage and sawdust. His parents, however, hope to give the young giant a satisfactory education before he enters what apparently will be his "natural" profession.

USE OF MOVIES FOR EDUCATION GROWS RAPIDLY

U. S. Bureau Reports 15,000 Institutions Have Visual Instruction

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—Visual instruction in schools by means of motion pictures has developed rapidly in recent years, a report by the United States bureau of education showed today.

Fifteen thousand educational institutions, including everything from the university to the kindergarten, are now estimated to be equipped for motion picture projection.

Many state universities maintain film libraries and regularly supply educational films to schools and community organizations in their states. Yale has co-operated in producing an American historical film and Harvard is aiding in making films relating to science.

In a number of cities it is now the practice to equip every new schoolhouse with projecting machines. Cleveland now has such apparatus in nearly every school. Use of this form of instruction is said to be increasing rapidly notwithstanding objections that learning through pictures is too easy and that it results in mental indolence.

Despite the recent progress, however, the bureau said, many film companies organized to manufacture educational films have been forced to the wall because enough schools were not using their product regularly to enable them to make a profit.

The number of text films which may be used in connection with daily teaching is still far from adequate, the bureau reported. Improved mechanical equipment and development of the portable machine has now virtually eliminated any operation problem, according to the bureau.

For the past two years the Eastman Kodak company, Rochester, N. Y., has been conducting experiments in 12 cities from Newton, Mass., in the east, to Rochester in the north and Atlanta in the south, on practicability of motion pictures in education. Their report is expected to be published soon.

STOCKTON, Cal.—Jack Walsh, 50, tried four times before he was successful in ending his own life.

He twisted a belt around his neck and the bedpost and rolled himself off the bed, only to have the belt break. He slashed his neck and arms with a razor and lay down to die, but lived. He slashed his jugular vein, but not fatally.

With failing strength, the determined man dragged himself to the window and flung himself into the street below. When neighbors discovered him, life still remained in the broken body and he lived for more than 30 minutes in the hospital.

SCRAPBOOK SELECTIONS

NAPOLEON.

By ROBERT G. INGERSOLL. A little while ago I stood by the grave of the old Napoleon—a magnificent tomb of gilt and gold, fit almost for a deity, and gazed upon the sarcophagus of black Egyptian marble where rest at least the ashes of that restless man. I leaned over the balustrade and thought about the career of the greatest soldier of the modern world.

In imagination, I saw him walking on the banks of the Seine, contemplating suicide. I saw him putting down the mob in the streets of Paris. I saw him at the head of the army of Italy. I saw him crossing the bridge at Lodi with the tri-color in his hand. I saw him in Egypt fighting the battle of the pyramids. I saw him conquer the Alps and mingle the eagles of France with the eagles of the crags. I saw him at Marano and Ulm and Austerlitz. I saw him in Russia where the infantry of the snow and the cavalry of the wild blast scattered his legions like winter's withered leaves. I saw him at Leipzig in defeat and disaster, clutched like a wild beast, banished to Elba. I saw him escape and retake an empire by the force of his genius. I saw him on the frightful field of Waterloo where chance and fate combined to wreck the fortunes of his former king. And I saw him on the lonely isle of St. Helena with his hands clasped behind his back, gazing out upon the sad and solemn sea.

I thought of all the orphans and widows he had made, of the tears that had been shed for his glory, and of the only woman who ever loved him thrust from his heart by the ruthless hand of ambition and I said: I would rather have been a French peasant and worn wooden shoes. I would rather have lived in a hut with the vines growing over the door and the grapes growing purple in the amorous kisses of the autumn sun, with my loving wife knitting by my side as the day died out of the sky, yes, I would rather have been that man and gone down to the tongueless silence of the dreamless slum that to have been that imperial impersonation of force and murder known as Napoleon the Great.

Children of the school are so accustomed to snakes that they rather look forward to the discovery of another to interrupt studies.

Now the board plans the meeting to decide what steps shall be taken to keep her.

Pecan Land Loan Value Is Topic

BROWNWOOD, Oct. 25.—Under the title, "The Loan Value of Pecan Lands," a subject of statewide importance will come up for discussion and conference at the Pecan Institute to be held here Nov. 15-16, under the sponsorship of the Brownwood Chamber of Commerce. This is the first time in history that this matter has been taken up publicly.

Judge M. H. Gossett, president of the Federal Land bank of Houston, will be the chief speaker. Some 50 representatives of national farm loan associations are expected as well as a large number of land owners and bankers within a radius of 75 miles of Brownwood.

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce will be represented by Homer D. Wade, manager, and other officials of that body. Mr. Wade has been gathering pecan data for the past two years, showing the value and earning power of land on which pecan trees grow. Informed pecan men have long been aware that Texas is far behind in the production of paper-shell pecans, whereas the state of Georgia is cited as having thousands of acres of paper-shell orchards which return a large annual income. The open forum on this matters at the Brownwood meeting is expected to be the first step in establishing an extra value of pecan lands as a basis for loans, thus directly and indirectly affecting all citizens of the state. Invitations have been sent to more than 200 banks within 100 miles of Brownwood asking them to have a representative present to take part in the deliberations.

SNAKES MAY CAUSE CLOSING OF SCHOOL

By United Press.

FAIRCHILD, Wis.—Snakes have infested a rural school near here in such numbers that a school district meeting is contemplated to decide whether the building shall be abandoned or move, as state school authorities have recommended.

The snakes are harmless "prairie bulls." More than a score of them, 18 inches to four feet long, have been killed in the school building or on the front steps. The schoolhouse has no basement. It stands on a stone foundation raised about a foot from the ground and members of the school board of the Garfield-Cleveland joint school district, which supports the school suspect that a nest of hundreds of reptiles exists in a hole under the building.

To support this theory, the story is told of a highway crew discovering several hundred snakes in a cavity in a clay band near here.

The snakes have been getting into the schoolroom by crawling up through the walls and dropping out of holes in the plaster. The frequent sight of them, wriggling out of bookcases, crawling among the children's feet on the floor and popping their heads through holes in the plaster during the first three weeks of school gave the teacher, Harriet Pomeroy, a strong warning to abandon her pupils and flee.
