Acrobat Puts Teeth in Act

This must be what is meant when legislators speak of "an act with teeth in it." Certainly there are teeth in the act put on by the acrobat Frederick to thrill crowds at Little, France. He holds on to the trapeze at least 325 feet into the air to perform his stunts.

Vandenburg Scores U.S. Regimentation

DETROIT, Sept. 17.—The United States is "too big to be successfully regimented from a central bureaucracy and too American to be driven into goosestep," Sen. Arthur H. Vandenburg, Rep., of Michigan, said in a Constitution Day address. The senior Michigan senator, reviewing the Constitution's 150 years of life, observed that it "has repulsed every assault and every treachery whipped up in the inevitable storms and passions of recurrent strife."

Holbrook Widens Break With Allred

AUSTIN, Sept. 17.—Differences between Gov. James V. Allred and Sen. T. J. Holbrook of Galveston, chairman of a state Senate economy committee, were widened today by Holbrook's assertion that the governor had failed to obey the state budget act. When the same point was recently raised at a press conference, Allred said he received a budget from the board too late to make a detailed recommendation for appropriations for the board of control and that a blanket recommendation was made to the legislature, excepting specific increases for care of insane persons.

Munitions Unloaded From U. S. Freighter

SAN PEDRO, Calif., Sept. 17.—The government-owned freighter, Wichita, was bound for Manila today without the cargo of munitions and airplanes with which it started out for Hong Kong. The two cases of revolvers, two cases of cartridges and 19 fast "mail" planes, which were readily convertible into Chinese bombers, were unloaded here to avert the first crisis arising from President Roosevelt's ban on transportation of war shipments in government-owned boats.

MISSIONARY CAPTIVES ARE GIVEN RELEASE

PEIPING, China, Sept. 17.—Three Catholic missionaries held captive by a Chinese Volunteer army of nearly 2,000 men since Aug. 30, were released today. Along with three other Catholic missionaries they had been forced to accompany the marauding bands for nearly a month. The volunteers, who called themselves the National Peoples' Army, had constantly engaged the Japanese in gorilla warfare.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 16.—Chinese, seizing advantage of heavy rains that immobilized Japanese airplanes and tanks, attacked them ferociously all along the Shanghai front today. Infantry "dare to die" units smashed at the Japanese lines in three sectors. The reports from the front told of savage hand-to-hand fighting in which the Japanese called for re-enforcements. The Chinese continued their gradual withdrawal to a new defense line, but it had become evident that their retreat was a planned one for the movement of the scores of thousands of men involved seemed effected with clocklike precision and rear guards challenged the Japanese at point after point.

PIRATE POLICY EXTENDED TO G PLANES, SHIPS

GENEVA, Switzerland, Sept. 17.—The power extended their war on piracy in the Mediterranean today by deciding to include warships and airplanes as well as submarines and at the same time discarded almost all pretense of non-intervention in Spain. The air and surface accord provide that patrolling ships shall open fire immediately on craft attacking vessels contrary to the London Naval Accord of 1936. The conference decided that any airplane surface vessel or submarine not carrying well-marked identification or flag, would be considered pirates and fired upon. The entire day's proceeding, in London and in Paris constituted a direct snub of Italy. Announcement was made both in London and Paris of abandonment of the naval patrol of the Spanish Coast to prevent munitions from being shipped in. Britain and France, without awaiting Italy's next move, acted swiftly and in unison.

Youths Respond To Farm Work Need

AUSTIN, Texas.—The response of Texas youths to the demand for seasonal agricultural workers is indicated, at least in part, by the reports of Junior Placement Service offices in Texas, J. C. Kellam, Texas Youth Director, said today. During August five Junior Placement Offices obtained 1,507 jobs for young people. These offices are operated in Dallas, Fort Worth, Waco, San Antonio and Houston by the Texas State Employment Service and the National Youth Administration. The services of the Placement Service are available without charge to any youth who wishes to register. Besides the youths placed in private employment through the Junior Division, 217 other youths in cities which have no Placement Offices were reported as having obtained private employment during the month. These 217 youths all were from National Youth Administration work projects.

The Placement Office figures shows that 356 regular jobs—that is, jobs expected to continue more than six months—were obtained during August. The remainder of the placements were in temporary employment, most of them in seasonal agricultural work.

FAIREST GIRL IN 48 STATES—BEAUTY UNMATCHED

Unplucked eyebrows, mighty little makeup, a simple, girlish coiffure, a winsome, unsophisticated smile—fresh, unspoiled beauty carried 17-year-old Bette Cooper of Hackettstown, N. J., to the title of "Miss America" at the Atlantic City national contest, and proved to the world that radiant charm flourishes in America's small towns as well as in metropolitan centers.

Double-Cross Is Recognized by U.S.

CINCINNATI.—A check for $2,500 soon will be received by John N. Brooks, Cincinnati negro, who for 16 years has striven to get back the money he lost when a faithless friend jumped the bond that Brooks had put up to bail him out of jail. It was back in 1921 when Brooks, taking pity on a former schoolmate who was in jail on a charge of stealing cigarettes from a freight car, gave bond for him. The friend, not being the friend Brooks had thought he was, skipped the bond and disappeared. Brooks, at a loss at having to pay the $2,500 bond, searched the country for the fugitive with the aid of hired detectives until finally in 1925 the government said the bond would have to be met. Brooks paid, but he continued his search.

Then 1929 rolled along—the year the depression hit the country—and Brooks was one of the many whose finances were depleted. He even lost his home through foreclosure, the home that the $2,500 would have saved had he not lost it through his faithless friend. More ironical was the fact that Brooks in that year had at last located the fugitive—but too late. The government was no longer interested in him since eight years had passed and witnesses were no longer available. So Brooks turned to Uncle Sam, pleading for the money he needed so badly. One congressman had ears for his plea. Unconcerned he placed it before the new congress that met last January. Congressman Herbert S. Bigelow spoke for Brooks and introduced a bill to pay the negro his money. The bill passed and the money will soon be paid.

Department Store Sales Are Higher

AUSTIN, Texas.—Department store sales in Texas, as measured in dollars, during July were well above those of the corresponding month last year and the decline from June was considerably less than the usual seasonal recession is nearly 22 per cent. There was a slight increase in the percentage of credit sales compared with a year ago, while the percentage of outstanding accounts collected remained virtually the same.

A. & M. Expecting 5,000 Enrollment

COLLEGE STATION, Texas.—F. C. Bolton, vice president of Texas A. & M. College, reported today that despite prospects for an enrollment of more than 5,000 students this fall, there will be ample rooming facilities for students at the college. "It is true that all dormitory rooms have been reserved already," he said, "but privately-owned facilities took care of approximately 1,500 of our 4,500 students last year. Dr. Bolton pointed out that the erection of 14 new "project houses" by the college on the campus this summer, with accommodations for 500 students, would bring the total number of students living on a cooperative basis to approximately 1,000. Registration of new students will begin on Monday, Sept. 20. Returning students or those who have enrolled before, will register the following day and class work will begin on Wednesday, Sept. 22. If the enrollment exceeds 5,000 this year, the college will have doubled its enrollment for a regular session within a five-year period.

CONNALLY SAYS BLACK ROW IS JUST POLITICS

HOUSTON, Sept. 17.—Sen. Tom Connally, Dem. Tex., charged today that most of the furor arising from the appointment and confirmation of Hugo L. Black to the Supreme Court bench was politics, apparently aimed to embarrass President Roosevelt. In a prepared statement Sen. Connally said that the "effort to embarrass the President is wholly without merit and I am wholly out of sympathy with such efforts." He defended Mr. Roosevelt's appointment of Sen. Black and said that the President had stated he had "no knowledge when Justice Black was appointed as to any prior affiliation" Black may have had with the Ku Klux Klan.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—The controversy resulting from a newspaper expose alleging that Supreme Court Justice Hugo L. Black was a life member of the Ku Klux Klan was extended today. Sen. Burton K. Wheeler, Dem., Mont., demanded that President Roosevelt appoint an "impartial board" to investigate.

Cops' Kidnaper Ends in Irons, Their Prisoner

For most of a week Clyde Derrick added to his reputation as New York's most daring bad man. He kidnaped two policemen and stole their car. Time and again he evaded the net. But the end of the chase he led police was tame. A squad of officers surprised him at Rome, N. Y., and captured him without firing a shot although Derrick carried three pistols. Manacled and crestfallen, Derrick, above, sits dejectedly in the police station, where he was brought by the two patrolmen he kidnaped, then released.

SLATE TODAY PROMISES TO ATTRACT MANY

Fort Worth and Cisco Groups Bolster Attendance On First Day of Event.

The eleventh annual Eastland County Fair Friday moved into its second day with favorable weather and many attractions promising to draw even greater attendance than the opening day. The fair is to continue through Saturday. A delegation of Fort Worth trippers led by Sam H. Bennett, radio station manager, Thursday afternoon arrived in Eastland for a several-hour visit at the show. The Cisco high school band led by Director Robert Maddox was heard by many in its concert at the city's contribution to the program for the first day of the fair. Friday's program promised to draw many to Eastland. A rodeo was scheduled in the afternoon, to be followed by a football game between the Brownwood Lions and Eastland Mavericks. Tonight in the Fire Department softball field community programs will be presented under the electric lights. Scheduled also are a square dancing and old fiddlers' contest.

Captain W. O. Parent, who is shot from a cannon into a net approximately 200 feet away at the Yellowstone carnival grounds during the fair, has attracted considerable attention. The act is free. Ranger's program is scheduled Saturday night. Attendance the first day was a high and fair officials expressed the opinion the annual event this year will be one of the greatest. Judging of livestock and agricultural exhibits was scheduled also Friday.

Japanese Gunboat Cruising by Blazing Shanghai

Steaming slowly, casually up the Whangpoo river with men and ammunition, this Japanese destroyer is pictured against a background of smoke that rose from the blazing pyres of bomb-wrecked Shanghai, as the desperate struggle over control of the Chinese city continued.

Then just look how the smoke pours from it above. The occasion was the York harbor.

Orchids to You But Ore to Prospectors

NEW YORK. — Prospectors for iron ore, though they may be hard-boiled and weather-beaten, may have to know their orchids and have some knowledge of botany, according to the American Iron and Steel Institute.

of iron ore, and knowledge of this fact helps the prospector. In Brazil and Venezuela iron is found where a certain type of rare and beautiful orchid blooms. In the latter country, moreover, the presence of a little tree called the "copy" invariably indicates iron ore deposits.

Woman Breaks Up Burglaries, Catches 14 Lawbreakers

CLARENDON, Texas.—There's a "Posted, Keep Out" sign at Leila Lake, near Clarendon, for all burglars, highwaymen and hoodlums.

Behind it is a modest housewife, Mrs. John Howard, who is credited with the capture of 14 law violators and the breaking up of a series of burglaries frequent here for a number of years.

Mrs. Howard not only is the guardian of her husband's store, but the protector of the entire, but short, main street.

Burglaries, ranging from petty robberies to postoffice breaks, have been failures because of Mrs. Howard's diligence.

Only three of 17 would-be burglars in the last 19 years have escaped and of those, two left a trail of blood after gun fights with her husband and son.

One night she ran, barefooted, over sharp stones and "sticker-burns" to warn her husband that a burglar was in the store.

She once directed officers during a running gun fight which led to the capture of two desperadoes and was rewarded by the federal government after their conviction.

Mrs. Howard refuses to discuss her exploits, but Sheriff Guy Pierce views them differently.

"Since I took office in 1932," he said, "we have captured and convicted 14 persons through Mrs. Howard's assistance. There have been no robberies in Leila Lake since 1933."

down for a new mast, ore was found. In the Lake Superior and in the New York state iron regions of this country the botanically-minded prospector is less fortunate.

In prehistoric times a huge ice sheet swept away accumulations of distinctly iron-bearing soil.

However, in the southern part of the United States, which was not overridden by glaciers, the outcrop of iron-bearing formations can be traced through distinctive vegetation. In the Southeast, for instance, the iron ore deposits are commonly overgrown with cedar in much thicker growths than are found in non-iron bearing soil. In the East Texas "brown ore" field, outcrops of the ore-bearing green sand support relatively heavy growths of hardwood, almost the only hardwood in the locality.

Drive Launched On Relationship for Tenant Farmer

A new drive is being launched to improve relationships between land-owners and those tenants who are being financed by the Farm Security Administration, it was stated by Geo. I. Lane, county supervisor.

Recommendations of a committee of supervisors are now being printed for guidance of all county offices in Texas and Oklahoma. The 45,000 farm tenant families in these two states who are being financed by Farm Security can blaze a trail for the remainder of the 147,000 Texas and Oklahoma tenant families, the supervisor declared.

The committee report recommends that leases be prepared at a conference between landlord, tenant, and county supervisor. The lease should always be in writing, it was suggested, because "distrust frequently exists, and because of the human element of forgetfulness as to what agreements have been made." A long-time lease was recommended, in place of the one-year lease now commonly used.

Each Farm Security borrower is working under a long-time plan, and it was recommended that the lease encourage him to make improvements which will aid in carrying out that plan. Improvements which he makes should be considered the property of the tenant, and he should either be allowed to remove them at expiration of the lease, the report said, or an understanding should be included in the lease as to how the tenant should be compensated.

Present division of crops, on the "third and fourth" basis, was declared inequitable. "On good land it is usually to the disadvantage of the landlord, and on poor land to the disadvantage of the tenant," the report declared, urging that "a fairer distribution should be made, based upon the respective contributions of the landlord and tenant." However, the committee condemned the "bonus" or "privilege rent" now being used in many counties of Texas and Oklahoma. It recommended that payment for special privileges be made in labor. It also recommended that county farm debt adjustment committees act as conciliation boards, to settle landlord-tenant differences.

Sale of Main Street Brings Out Protests

GROVETON, Texas. — The Groveton city council, in the manner of the man who sold the Brooklyn bridge, sold a portion of Main street to two business men, then was laughed out of the deal. The business men wanted the ground to expand their building. The city attorney ruled that since the street belonged to the people and the city council was elected by them, the council had the right to sell the tract.

Citizens, enraged until they saw the humor of the situation, flooded the council with so many requests for similar purchases that the councilmen, unable to withstand the ribbing, rescinded the sale and restored Main street to the people.

Reaped No Ride

"Ride mister?" But no shuddering motorist cared to offer a lift to death, portrayed by this ghastly figure of the grim reaper shown thumping a ride on a much-traveled Arkansas highway. The figure had such a sobering effect on motorists that a tour of all the state's main highways was proposed for it.

Freak Accident Is Harmless to Woman

WICHITA FALLS.—A baptism of gasoline, flying timbers and shattered glass resulted in only a slight scratch on the forehead for a Henrietta, Texas, woman driver. The woman's automobile side-swiped another machine, crashed into a filling station, demolished two gasoline pumps, smashed the props supporting the roof, then stopped. The roof collapsed. A few minutes later, the woman, after apologizing, drove away. Her automobile had a dented radiator, scratched fender and bent bumper.

Ex-Goat 'Our Gang' Try Film Comeback

HONOLULU, T. H.—Poo-Poo, once the famous goat of the "Our Gang" film comedies of years ago, will try the luck of every movie star eventually and endeavor to stage a comeback here.

Aside from having been supplanted in the minds of the American movie loving public by other goats, Poo-Poo has somewhat aged in acquiring the reputation of being the greatest ocean-going goat in the world. Along with its owner, Hats McKay, he has staged exhibitions in nearly all of the countries of the Orient, including Australia and New Zealand.

Poo-Poo has returned to Honolulu, where McKay will endeavor to stage a comeback for his protégé. According to McKay, the goat will be seen in the role of "Buttin', Buttin', Who Wants a Buttin'."

Be Prepared for War on Infantile Paralysis

The cost of being caught unprepared for one of the greatest single enemies that American boys and girls must face—infantile paralysis—never was so fearfully illustrated as in the early September flurry of the disease in numerous communities, from coast to coast.

There might be some excuse for being caught off guard in the case of a strange, new plague, unfamiliar to doctors and scientists. But, while we don't know everything about infantile paralysis, we do know what persons it attacks most readily, what measures will prevent its spread.

Where, then, is the difference between preparedness for this kind of an enemy and the kind of enemy who moves in on the nation with battleships, airplanes and troops?

More than $900,000,000 was appropriated in the last session of Congress for army and navy building in anticipation of a war at arms which not only doesn't exist, but which doesn't even threaten.

Now the so-called iron lung apparatus costs only a few hundred dollars. And it isn't necessary to wait on the slow-grinding federal machinery to provide those dollars.

Here is a chance for the nation to try out constructive preparedness, the kind that augurs for health and happiness, and provides disease-stricken folk with a chance to make a fair fight for life.

Organization of the defenses ought to be the next big public welfare goal of every community. And the job ought to be started right now. Disease makes no proclamation of war, and postponing action until the "next time" may be fatal.

In spite of the glory, the average Englishman probably would rather have a crown in his pocket than one on his head.

long she knelt there on a cold ground beside Amy's Cilly did not know. She did not see the innumerable cries of questions of her neighbors; I not see the crowd slowly forming—the crowd of half-dressed men and women in all of midnight undress. It was as if the world had suddenly begun to spin in a crazy, kaleidoscope, and she soon awoken to reality. A few seconds passed into short minutes, and a radio car drove up to the door. Officers stepped out. Half a people in the crowd spoke, each eager to tell his own part of the accident. "She fell from the roof, officer. She felt going and screamed. . . . I didn't fall. She jumped. She fell first and then jumped. . . . "No, she didn't fall out of a window. I saw officers bent over the body. looked at each other and I in solemn significance. Ider of the two lifted Cilly to this young lady inside, an," he instructed his partner and phone the medical ex- r. Dolan, too. I'll get a re- turn, here."

He'll ask me a million questions, Cilly thought, and what will I tell him? She tried to organize her own thoughts about Amy's death—but it was all so unreal.

Soon another officer arrived. Sergeant Dolan sensed her uncertainty. "I've been all over the roof," he said. "There's no place in the front of the house where a person could accidentally fall over. In the rear, yes. A person could easily trip in the darkness back there where the ledge is low. But the body wouldn't fall in front of the house, right under your window. Tell me about this evening—did anything happen to disturb the young lady? Was she in good spirits?"

"She was never any happier, not since I have known her," Cilly stated. She was happy to meet Jim, she thought, but she didn't say it. "A friend of hers, Mr. Hutchins, and a friend of mine, Mr. Kerrigan, spent the evening with us. We played bridge, and Amy seemed to have a very good time. The boys left at 11:30." She did not add that Jim stayed about 15 minutes longer. "Amy went up on the roof to air a dress that had come from the cleaner's smelling too much of benzine after they had gone."

SERGEANT DOLAN was making notes in a little black book. "What did you say the names of these young men were?" he asked. Cilly told him, giving the addresses of their hotels. "What about money?" Dolan asked. "Did she have any financial problems. Was she employed?" "She had a very nice position—secretary to Harvey Ames of Ames & Wakefield, real estate people. She liked her work very much. There was a light knock on the door and a short, plump little man entered. "Hello, Doc," Dolan said. Then to Cilly, "Dr. Bender, the medical examiner."

Dr. Bender nodded in a kindly manner to Cilly. "Unpleasant hour to run in on you, young lady," he said apologetically, "and unpleasant business, too. However, I've taken care of everything. "Make an examination, Doc?" "Too dark for much of that. Fall was enough to kill anyone, of course. We've moved the body, and there'll be a thorough examination tomorrow. What about this young lady tonight? You won't want to stay here?" "Yes, I think so," Cilly said. "I'll be quite all right, and much more comfortable than anywhere else."

"Dare say you're right," agreed the doctor. Dolan arose to go. "Guess there's nothing more I can learn here tonight," he said to Cilly. "We come up against these suicides every day, and in most cases we never know why they have to be. Melancholia of a sort, I guess. Or insanity. Hard to tell. Well, goodnight, miss. Sure you'll be all right here alone?" "I'm sure, thank you both."

CILLY was glad when they both had gone, although they left her feeling miserably alone and terrified. Just two hours ago, and Amy was here too. The apartment still echoed her laughter. Her slippers were there under the bed, where she had left them early in the evening. Her bed was turned down, waiting for her. A terrible trembling seized Cilly. She began to cry. She reached into her pajama pocket for her handkerchief. She touched the piece of newspaper that had fallen from Amy's hand.

Cilly crumpled the clipping and dropped it into a vase, turned toward the bedroom. Suddenly she stopped. . . . In the stillness of the apartment she heard the dumbwaiter going slowly down the shaft. It passed the level of her kitchen. She started, at first. Queer time of night for people to be running the dumbwaiter. Or was it time so soon for the milkman? But what did it matter? She was suddenly quite drowsy. She put out the light and went inside to bed. (To Be Continued)

Pilot Merrill Only One Who Flew Over Atlantic, Pacific

Veteran of more than three million miles of air travel, Pilot Dick Merrill is the only man in history ever to make two round trip flights across the Atlantic Ocean. He holds the record for the fastest two-way journey ever completed over the Atlantic.

Merrill returned to America from his Coronation flight to England in less than five days after he had first taken off at Floyd Bennett Field in New York. His 3600 miles eastward trip had been covered in 21 hours and 2 minutes with an average speed of 170 miles per hour, and his average speed for the return flight home was 144 miles per hour. His flight covered a total distance of approximately 7,000 miles in less than five days.

Pilot Merrill is credited with being the first pilot "to bring his plane to and from Europe without an accident." His Coronation flight, which was his second round-trip ocean crossing in less than a year, was the first commercial flight ever made across the Atlantic. As representative of a de-

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

By Mrs. Gaynor Maddox NEA Service Staff Writer

It may be salads that put the "it" in Hollywood. Movie stars watch their diet, seek streamlined figures and vital energy. They demand salad bowls with every meal. Yes, right through the year. It's getting along toward fall now and they begin to change from summer to fall types of salads. The recipes given below will take you behind the scenes of many a star's kitchen and reveal how they eat for health and glamor.

A few notes first on salad bowls themselves. Use a wooden one and keep it for green salads and nothing else. Wood is absorbent, so after being rubbed with garlic and anointed with oil over a period of time, your wooden bowl will achieve a delicious personality and play a leading role in making your salads taste better. To clean the wooden bowl, wipe it out with a damp soft cloth. Let it dry in the air but not in the sun. Never dry it on a radiator or near intense heat. Follow these simple rules and that flavorsome bowl will never warp or crack.

Prevue Night Lettuce Bowl (4 to 6 servings)

Two cups canned salmon, or cooked halibut, 1-2 cup chopped cucumber, 1 cup chopped celery, 1 green pepper, 1 head iceberg head lettuce, broken into pieces, 3-4 cup salad dressing mixed with onion juice, 1-4 cup chopped sweet pickles, 2 hard-cooked eggs chopped, 3 tomatoes. Combine fish with cucumber, celery, green pepper and tomatoes. Arrange in bowl with lettuce and toss with French dressing.

Malibu Beach Lettuce Bowl (6 servings)

One small head cauliflower, 6 small stalks broccoli, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-2 cup highly seasoned

Tomorrow's Menu

French dressing, 1 head crisp lettuce, broken into pieces, 1 large grapefruit, 2 tomatoes, peeled and quartered.

Cook broccoli with salt until tender, about twenty minutes; drain, marinate broccoli and uncooked cauliflower in French dressing. Place lettuce in a salad bowl and mix with vegetables, grapefruit and tomato sections. Toss lightly with French dressing.

Salad Bowl Toluca (6 servings)

Six peach halves, 2 oranges cut in round slices, 1 avocado, walnut halves, parsley, tart jelly, 2 heads iceberg lettuce.

Break lettuce into mouth size pieces. Fill center of peach halves with tart jelly. Marinate orange wheels and avocado strips in French dressing. Garnish with walnut halves and parsley.

An accident that came near being fatal occurred Friday morning when little Patricia ("Patsie") Morrison, 14 months old daughter of Mrs. Horace Morrison, found a lye can that had been partly filled with water from recent rains and started to drink it, getting the inside of her mouth, tongue and lips terribly burned. Mrs. Morrison and baby came over from Gorman to spend the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Dave Key, who were next door neighbors when the Morrissions lived here before the death of Mr. Morrison just four months ago on that day. They rushed to Gorman to the Blackwell Sanitarium where her burns were treated and she is reported to be out of danger. The lye can had been thrown on the ground back of the Key home during the summer while Mr. and Mrs. Key were away.

Two baby girls whose births are of interest to many friends here are Jessie Gwendolyn Campbell, born August 31st to Mr. and Mrs. J. Davis and with her mother, Mrs. Dora Cotton of Ripley, Missouri, who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Davis the past few weeks. Mrs. Cotton taught at Ranger a few years ago and boarded with Mr. and Mrs. Suits who now have charge of the Paramount Hotel and she had a short visit with them Sunday night. She had just returned from a Caribbean cruise and a tour of a number of countries of South America. Her many friends here are delighted to see her again.

The De Leon young people's union, which was formerly the east zone of the Epworth League of the Cisco District, met here Friday night at the Methodist church. There were four other unions represented besides the Desdemona Union, which entertained the group with games and refreshments of sandwiches and ice tea. Behind the Scenes in Washington

BY REPRESENTATIVE MAURY MAVERICK
Written Exclusively for This Paper and NEA Service, Inc.

WHAT Congress did not accomplish in the last session makes us think of what should be accomplished in the future.

We congressmen, most of us lawyers, stewed around in our own mental juices. With that confusion, nothing could be done. So the important legislation was held off till the last, and then dropped overboard.

The future? Argument over the court, its powers and the powers of Congress must go on. The controversy has done some good, for the American people have at least recognized that the judges are human, and the full humanization of the court must be accomplished.

Maverick

At the next session we should agree what we want to do; this must be developed into a permanent program. I suggest the following:

1. Conservation of natural resources.
2. Farm legislation.
3. Establishment of the eight TVA's.
4. A developed and extended housing campaign.
5. Strengthened labor provisions for settlement of disputes, fair to both sides.
6. Minimum wages and maximum hours; fair labor standards.
7. Government reorganization.

When a national plan is mentioned, considering these four subjects, a great yell goes up about state's rights and centralization of power in Washington. That is nonsense.

In all these problems let every division of government do its part. The eight TVA's will be federal (cheap power, flood control, navigation, dams), but states, cities, industry, business will benefit and take a part.

Farm production and prices are affected by what occurs anywhere in the country; there must be co-ordinated government action, whether by production, price, surplus, or ever-normal granary control.

Political ideas, politicians, reactionaries in general, who do not join the New Deal advance, must be left behind. In this there must be national unity of thought.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, like the people, wants to go ahead. For one, I am sure that he sees the picture more clearly than anyone.

And I hope that as the captain of the ship he will take a look at the compass, sail straight on with all friendly sailors aboard, and all others overboard, especially those who would scuttle the ship.
