MAVERICK IS FOR PEACE IN THE FAR EAST

By United Press HOUSTON, Oct. 15.—Rep. Maury Maverick, dem., Texas, said today the United States was too openly biased as a spectator of the Sino-Japanese war. Maverick, strong administration supporter, questioned the wisdom of the note condemning Japan as the aggressor against China. "I think we should be neutral, even in words. We should take that attitude that even if China and Japan are obliterated in this conflict it will make little difference in America. "So far as I am concerned," he said, "I don't care if we never do sell another bale of cotton to the orient if this means saving our men from being murdered at war."

AMERICAN ACE IN SPAIN WAS TEX. PRISONER

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 15.—It was recalled today that Harold E. Dahl was familiar with American jails when he left last winter to join the loyalist army in Spain, where he has been taken prisoner twice sentenced to die and reprieved. He also left a former wife who divorced him in 1925. The present Mrs. Dahl, whose letters to the nationalist commander have twice saved her husband's life, also was known here. She was Dahl's fiancée and they left together for Mexico after he was released from jail on a writ of habeas corpus. He was held on a fugitive warrant from Los Angeles. As he left the courtroom, Dahl stood in the doorway and made his parting speech: "So long, boys. I am going to join the Reds in Spain. I have no doubt they will bump me off. But when they do I will be out of your hair. I need the money so I'll take the chance." That was last November. He left with his fiancée and they were married in Mexico City.

In Daring Satire of the President

"President Franklin Delano Roosevelt" was balancing another budget—in a Boston theatre and with Actress Joy Hodges as his helper—when this picture was made. But it wasn't the real budget or the real President Roosevelt. It was George M. Cohan in the new play, "I'd Rather Be Right," a satire on the administration, so stinging it would have been tabooed in almost any other country. Cohan portrays a singing and dancing chief executive, and throughout the cast pseudonyms are abandoned for real names.

Gross Production Tax On Crude Oil Reaches New High

DALLAS, Texas—Gross production taxes collected by the State on crude oil produced in August marked an all-time peak of more than $1,500,000 and a gain of 142 per cent since the beginning of the 1935-36 fiscal year, according to a report just released by The Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association. As a result of record-breaking tax payments on Texas crude oil the State's income from this one source alone shows a net increase for the current fiscal year over the preceding year of nearly six million dollars. Gross production tax collections this year have aggregated 14,482,079, against 8,559,874 in the year ending Aug. 31, 1936. While the Texas gross production tax rate was increased 37 1/2 per cent at a recent special session of the legislature, the amount of tax now being paid per barrel has actually increased 65 per cent. Increased oil production and higher market prices for crude have been substantial factors contributing to the State's huge increase in tax revenue from oil. Texas crude oil now has an average market value of $1.20 per barrel. Other State levies on oil production and oil producing properties, and taxes levied by county, school and independent taxing agencies, bring the average tax on Texas oil up to 8.6 cents per barrel. In addition, federal taxes paid by Texas oil up to 8.6 cents per barrel. In addition, federal taxes paid by Texas oil producers average better than five cents per barrel, which boosts the total tax per barrel to nearly 14 cents.

ALL KIDDIES AND GROWN-UPS ALERT FOR THE CIRCUS

Tomorrow is circus day once again . . . There's only one thrill that the little boy-you-were-carpenter of circus day. If you have children of your own, you deck them out in their best clothes, and take them down to see the "Big Show." If you are single, borrow somebody else's youngster to take you to the circus. That spirit will be abroad tomorrow, when the Al G. Barnes-Sells Floto Combined Circus—with its tempting bands, red wagons, spangles, and pink lemonade—invasives Ranger. The special two steel railroad trains will start to arrive about dawn over the Texas & Pacific railroad from Tyler.

Consequently, no end of youngsters will go to bed tonight with the alarm clock set for some unearthly hour, and will dream of a seat in the very front row, with the prettiest bare-back riders and aerialists blowing him kisses from the back of a galloping horse, or out of a trapeze swinging miles high in the air. But the sound of the alarm clock will dispel all such startling happenings, and at the first streak of dawn there is bound to be a goodly gathering of youngsters and grown-ups around the railroad yards—as almost everyone knows the circus has grown to such enormous proportions that it is impossible to hold the old-time street parades any more. But the unloading of the brightly-painted railroad cars of their burdens, the herds of elephants stepping from their side door Pullmans, the hundreds of horses, yaks, camels, zebras, and cage after cage of wild animals, promises to be a real free show that will not be overlooked.

Enormous new displays have been introduced on the Al G. Barnes-Sells Floto Combined Circus this year. Over 200 acts will be shown. A magnificent extravaganza, entitled "Old Mexico," depicting the charm and gaiety of old Mexico, serves as a prelude to the circus performance proper. Hundreds of people take part in this elaborate and colossal presentation, yet it is but one of the many features with the show.

Bert Nelson and his Royal Bengal tigers and lions display, in which twenty-six of these ferocious animals go through their paces in the big steel arena; Walter McLain and four herds of performing elephants; Robert Thornton and his liberty horses; The Cristiani Family of riders; The Great Hal Silvers on the silver wire; The Two Karleys; The Flying Artzons; and The Dazzling Amerika Aerialist—present this season one of the greatest circus performances ever witnessed. Little folks will be glad to hear that the addition of a score of European clowns has increased the fun-making contingent to an even sixty.

Each season the Al G. Barnes-Sells Floto Combined Circus exhibits in more than 200 cities. It travels from its winter quarters in Baldwin Park, California, and makes a transcontinental tour from coast to coast. It covers more than 20,000 miles, and, in twenty-five years, has grown to be one of the world's largest amusement organizations. Every day more than 2,000 meals are served in the spacious dining tent. Its policy has always been to see just how much can be given to its patrons, and the enormous seating capacity in the big main tent enables the management to give so much for so little.

There will be two performances given in Ranger, starting at 2:00 p. m. and 8:00 p. m., with the doors opening an hour earlier to enable visitors to view the menagerie.

General admission tickets, and individual, numbered, grand stand chairs will be on sale circus day at Ross Pharmacy in Ranger. On the show grounds at the air port.

New Model Great! Exclaim Trio Who See '38 Chevrolet

Chevrolet dealers of Eastland returned home today with enthusiasm over the 1938 outlook after a meeting with zone officials at Dallas, where they obtained their first inside information on the new 1938 Chevrolet soon to be introduced to the public.

The new car embodies so many advances as to assure heavy demand, the dealers reported. Plans for the most spectacular new car introduction in Chevrolet history are being rounded out.

Spokesman for the Eastland residents attending the Dallas meeting said they believed the approaching announcement period will see a greater public interest in the new model offerings than has ever been seen before. The statement was based on the fact that the new models embody many vital advances in safety, performance, economy, comfort and style.

Attending from Eastland were O. E. Harvey, Claude Maynard, and O. H. Doss.

Offering $25 for return of lost dental work, a New York want-advertiser seems to be crossing his bridge before he gets it.

The white ticket wagon will be open all day for the grand stand chairs, and the red wagon, with general admission tickets, will open at the same time the doors to the big tent open.

The Al G. Barnes and Sells Floto Circus is the only railroad circus coming to this vicinity this season.

Showing Youth That Crime Doesn't Pay

If you should see a policeman in uniform neglecting his beat in order to help a bunch of boys stage an informal baseball game on a vacant lot, you probably would wonder irritably just what that copper thought the city was paying him for.

On second thought, however, you might feel differently. For if a cop's chief job is to prevent crime, the officer who teaches the youngsters in his district to look up to him as a friend and counsellor is doing a very efficient and praise-worthy job of crime prevention.

J. Edgar Hoover, chief G-man, touched on this point the other day in a speech before the annual convention of the International Association of Chiefs of Police, at Baltimore.

Suppose, said Mr. Hoover, that a $100,000 bank robbery occurs in a given city. Every youngster in town is, to a certain degree, stirred by the excitement and the adventure of the affair. In a great many cases he will conclude that the robber has done a brave and romantic thing and is a person to be emulated. In other words, he makes a hero of him.

But if the police have means of contact with the city's youth—through police athletic associations, police play officers, police instructors and umpires for sandlot athletic contests, and so on—then the police have a fine chance to make youth see the robber, not as a hero but as a sap.

"You simply cannot combat in the literal mind of youth the fact that someone got $100,000," said Mr. Hoover. "He can listen to platitudes forever, but the thought remains in his mind—a man robbed a bank and a man got $100,000, and certainly in this instance crime must have been made to pay. And so our job as the guardians of youth is to say why and how that $100,000 is worthless.

"The boy must be made to understand that the money can be spent for no sensible purpose. He must be shown that this sum will be split among dozens of persons whom the robber must pay for aiding his escape.

"He can be convinced that every cent of this money for which a man has dared his life and the penitentiary must either be expended for things which do him not one particle of good or be paid out in a desperate effort to defeat the law, leaving him in the end penniless, a broken being living in a filthy, worm-eaten, rocking house of crime and robbed of everything worth-while which a life of decency might have given him."

That, as Mr. Hoover says, is a job well worth doing. It is a job the police can do easily enough, if they have the contacts with youth that enable them to get their message across. Such contacts, obtained through a systematic campaign of friendship and understanding, could be invaluable in the great work of crime-prevention.

The average criminal starts out as a juvenile cop-hater. If that trend can be reversed, a great step in law-enforcement can be taken.

NIGHT-MARE NOSTRUM

Hero Who Aroused Minute Men in 1775 Boasted of Skill in Dental Science

When Longfellow immortalized the historic ride of Paul Revere he failed to mention the latter's tremendous pride in his dental skill. The hero who aroused minute men on that memorable night of 1775 displayed a variety of talents—goldsmith, copper roller, engraver, powder manufacturer. But he took most pride in his skill in oral hygiene. In a circular he wrote of himself: "He fixes teeth in such a manner that they are not only a real ornament, but of real use in speaking and eating."

YANKEE DOODLE stuck a feather in his cap and called it macaroni. But if you stick a few strips of macaroni in a baking dish with pork chops and apples, you'll be too busy enjoying it to do any name-calling.
Pork Chops with Macaroni (6 to 8 servings)
One-half pound macaroni, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 cup apple slices, 4 or 6 pork chops, 4 or 6 slices onion, 1-1/2 teaspoon mustard, salt and pepper to taste.
Plunge macaroni into rapidly boiling salted water. Cook until tender, rinse with cold water and drain. Combine macaroni with apple slices (leave skin on apples to add color) and arrange in baking dish in layers, alternating with pork chops and onion slices. Before placing the chops in baking dish, have them fried lightly to turn a delicate brown. Bake dish in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 1 hour.
Spaghetti and meat sauce is always a standby for supper parties, and especially for the bachelor girl cook who has small quarters and little equipment. Plunge the spaghetti into rapidly boiling water and cook until tender. Drain. Keep hot and combine with this husband-winning sauce.

El Paso Prepares For Baptist Meet On November 8-13

EL PASO—This picturesque border city was speeding preparations today for welcoming 5,000 Baptists expected to crowd Liberty Hall, municipal auditorium, during the annual session of the Baptist General Convention of Texas Nov. 8-13.

An elaborate program of entertainment for the delegates from 3,018 churches and additional thousands of visitors was planned, its climax coming at an unprecedented underground convocation Nov. 14 at Carlsbad Caverns, New Mexico. Baptists of New Mexico will join in the impressive services to be held underground.

Outstanding leaders of the denomination will report on foreign missions—now disturbed by war in the Far East—Home missions, civic righteousness, Christian education, hospitals and care of orphans. A special report will be made on the summer evangelistic campaigns held throughout the state in which denominational leaders estimated 100,000 members were added to Baptist churches in Texas.

Dr. Wallace Bassett of Dallas, two-fisted, hard-hitting pastor will crack down on gambling and the liquor traffic in his speech on civic righteousness. Texas Baptists during the past year joined anti-gambling forces, leveling their fire especially at horse racing.

One day preceding the general sessions, pastors and laymen will meet in their annual conference to thresh out problems of special concern to them. This meeting annually provides a forum in which ideas are exchanged and plans formulated for future effectiveness.

E. D. Head, Houston, pastor, will deliver the convention sermon, keynoting the program of the denomination which includes 650,000 members in Texas. Geo. W. Truett of Dallas, president of the Baptist World Alliance; F. M. McConnell, editor of the Baptist Standard; R. C. Campbell of Dal-

Congress Must Protect Individual Right to Work, Says Rep. Hoffman

WASHINGTON:—The right to work, or the right to strike? Which of these "rights" is to take precedence in the future of American labor? The right to work, supposedly, is guaranteed by the Constitution of the United States.

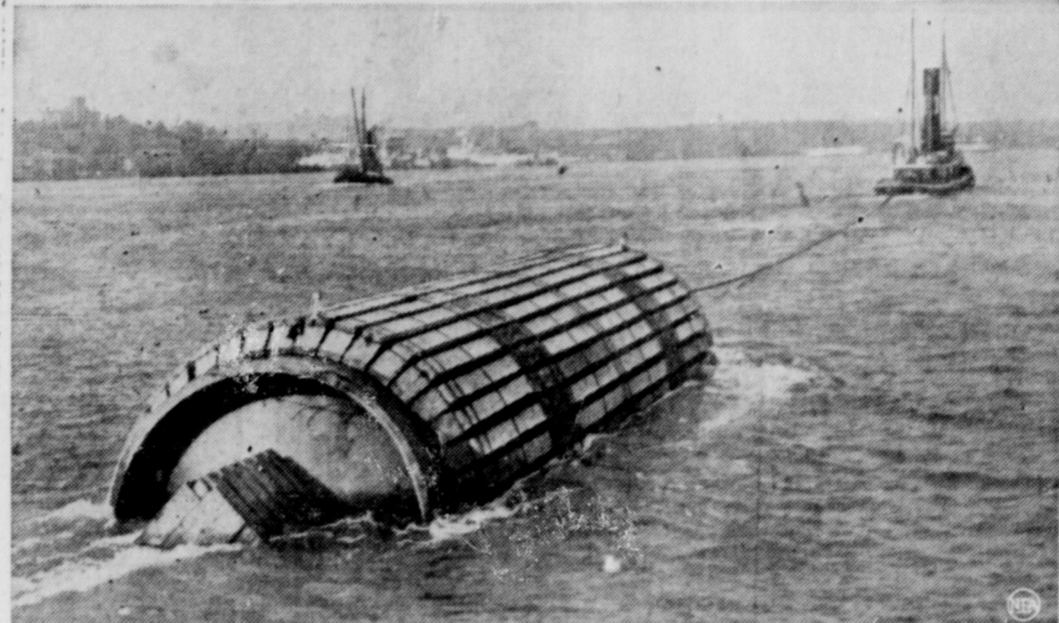

REPRESENTATIVE HOFFMAN

But when, in the exercise of the right to strike, men undertake to deny the right of others to work which right takes precedence? And how may that primary right be protected and enforced? These are questions, in the opinion of Representative Clare E. Hoffman, of Michigan, which Congress must face in the coming session.

By means of a specially prepared cement, and an ingenious filing machine fashioned from a pair of shears and a few boards, Galliano and his wife, Anna, turn out weekly approximately 200 repaired beer steins.

Geese Used to Carry Gospel to Indians

Huge flocks of geese stop twice a year at the sanctuary, and Miner puts a verse of scripture on the back of each tag placed on a bird.

room. True, there might be a murderer hiding in there, under the bed, or in the clothes closet at the side. But Cilly did not think so now. Fearlessly she peered through the window only to get a glimpse of the room's layout. Then she took the dressmaker's tool out of her pocket.

Very carefully she cut a semicircle in the pane of glass directly above the window's catch—just enough so that she could slip her fingers through and unlatch the window. Some day, she thought with a smile, she would confess to Mr. Johnson and offer to pay for the broken window pane.

The small semicircle of glass fell to the floor within the room and splintered with a resounding crash. But it could not have been heard anywhere except in the apartment below, and that was her own. Cilly unlocked the window and raised it slowly. An instant later, she slid over the sill, careful not to tread on the broken glass at her feet.

She wished she had brought a flashlight, but she did not own one. She looked carefully at the window shade. . . . Good! It was as she had hoped. The windows were equipped with two sets of shades, light and dark, for this apartment faced the south and the sun shone in brightly all day. She pulled down both sets of shades; now she could turn on the light with little fear of being seen from the outside.

In the full glare of the overhead fixture, the room looked bare and cold. It lacked the cozy homeliness one usually associates with old ladies' rooms. There were no magazines on the end table, no intimate snapshots of nieces or nephews or grandchildren, no snugly cushions. . . .

Cilly started on the chest of drawers. One after another she opened each drawer, and her eyes widened in amazement. They were entirely empty! There was not even newspaper covering on the bottom. Had Mrs. Elliot moved out completely, bag and baggage, as had Mrs. Wheeler?

Next she looked into the clothes closet. Would this too be empty? But in there were clothes here! Typical old ladies' clothes. A black silk dress, of no particular style. A plain cloth coat, of a slightly rusty black. A muslin slip, hung on a wall bracket. Black oxfords, very large black oxfords, looking not unlike a pair of man's dress shoes lay on the floor.

Cilly looked again. Surely there must be something else . . . this was only one complete outfit. Did Mrs. Elliot have no other clothes? And where were her underthings, her house dresses? She opened the door wider, to see deeper into the closet. . . .

Here was something! Another coat, it appeared. Cilly brought it out to the light. Why, it was a man's coat! A man's topcoat!

Cilly felt suddenly panic-stricken. Here was the solution to the mystery. Here in Mrs. Elliot's apartment. This was where a man had been hiding out. . . . And she would be just as helpless as Amy had been up there on the roof. . . .

If she waited long enough, she would discover him. But what good would it do her, if she never lived to accuse him?

Quickly she put the topcoat back into the closet. Her hands shook violently. She knew only one thing: that she wanted to get out of this apartment and downstairs just as fast as ever she could. She did not dare go out into the other rooms to search for more clues. She would call Sergeant Dolan immediately and let him do that.

Somewhere a board creaked suddenly. Cilly spun around and stared outside, into the darkness that was the living room beyond. She could see nothing. She stood still for one dreadful moment. She must go over to the doorway and switch off the light, yet she hesitated. For some reason she didn't want to be left in that dark bedroom to find her way back to the fire escape.

And even as she thought this, her eyes widened in horror. She tried to scream, yet the very breath choked in her throat. For a man's hand—a large, powerful hand—reached in from the living room and turned off the light instead.

The next instant, she felt that hand around her throat, and she was dimly conscious of the odor of damp tweed.

Four Grid Games Will Be Broadcast Saturday Afternoon

Two important intra-conference games headline the four football broadcasts to be put on the air by the Humble Oil & Refining company Saturday afternoon.

Of major significance is the game between Texas A. & M. and Texas Christian University, to be played in Fort Worth. T. C. U. has a loss to Ohio State, a tie with Arkansas, and a win over Tulsa University. The Aggies have won two inter-sectional tilts, one against Manhattan in New York, the other against Mississippi State College at Tyler.

The Humble company will broadcast the game at 2:50 p. m. over stations of the Texas Quality network—WBAP-WFAA, Fort Worth-Dallas; WOAI, San Antonio; KPRC, Houston—and over Stations KRIS, Corpus Christi; KRGV, Weslaco.

Of scarcely less importance in the championship race is the game to be played at Austin between the Universities of Texas and Arkansas.

The Humble broadcast of the Texas-Arkansas game will begin at 2:20 p. m., over Stations KNOW, Austin; KRTSA, San Antonio; KTAT, Fort Worth; and KXYZ, Houston.

The Rice-Tulsa game at Houston climaxes the Oil World exhibition which has been running in the South Texas city all this week. The game will be broadcast at 2:20 p. m., by the Humble company over Station KTRH, Houston.

Another game packed with human interest is between Southern Methodist and Vanderbilt Universities, scheduled for the Cotton Bowl in Dallas. The Humble company's broadcast of the game will begin at 2:20 p. m., over station KRLD, Dallas. Hal Thompson, assisted by Jack Mitchell for color, will be at the microphone.

Q. How was Coronado's report of his unsuccessful expedition received?

A. On his return to Mexico City in 1542, when he submitted his report, the people refused to believe him, although Casteneda, the expedition historian, states that all that was found of riches was "a place in which to search for them."

A LARGE picture of Bill Booth, star halfback who was killed in the offseason, hangs over the doorway of the Ohio State dressing room at Columbus. . . . It smiles down on the boys as they troop out onto the field and more than one mutters between clenched teeth. "For you, Bill, this one for you."

WASHINGTON WITH RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON—It is perfectly true, as charged, that Chinese arms embargo declarations destroyed with many tons of American—and other—scrap iron showered upon them in Japanese bombs and shells.

On the other hand, the Chinese have been buying far more actual implements of war from us than have the Japanese. Each nation is using plenty of our stuff to help kill off the troops—or civilians—of the other.

Roughly speaking, assuming this year's exports from the United States have gone into the current warfare, the Japanese are hurling about $35,000,000 worth of our scrap at the Chinese and the Chinese are using around $5,000,000 of American-produced arms, munitions and planes in defense.

This appears to be the chief basis for complaints that the present official policy of neutrality, which allows virtually unrestricted sale of anything and everything to any nation which wants it, now favors Japan at the expense of China.

The State Department doesn't like that allegation. In fact, it's surprisingly easy to pick up the impression around the department that the chief reason the President isn't applying the neutrality act is that China needs the arms she can buy from us rather badly, while Japan is an unimportant customer for them and would benefit from an arms embargo. Thus, in September, licenses for arms exports to China about doubled the August figure and in Japanese demand fell off. The point is that, although an arms embargo declaration at the President found a state of war to exist—would automatically shut off all exports of planes, guns and munitions, there is no law under which exports of scrap iron, oil, copper and other war materials could be stopped. A "cash and carry" order would tend to favor Japan more than China.

Exports of oil and gasoline to Japan from January to July, inclusive, amounted to about 15,500,000 barrels with a value of more than $22,000,000, according to Department of Commerce figures. That represented an increase of about 6,000,000 barrels over the same period in 1936.

Figures on scrap iron, scrap steel and scrap tin exports for the same period amounted to 1,536,000 tons, valued at $31,900,000, as compared with 644,000 tons and $8,400,000 in the first seven months of 1936.

Export to Japan of copper, a very important war material, increased from 47,000,000 pounds to 85,000,000 pounds—in value from about $4,100,000 to $11,200,000.

China's January-July copper imports from this country rose from 3,000,000 pounds to 8,250,000. Her imports of scrap haven't been important enough for the Commerce Department to list. Although in July she had bought but 13 American planes, compared with 87 at that time last year, the August-September demand for planes to China increased considerably.

the most widely known name in the retail grocery business among independent merchants. The system brings to home-owned merchants all of the advantages of large scale operation, and furnishes a wealth of valuable information and assistance which enables them to be of greater service to the public, with more economical prices. At the same time, the set-up preserves the individual, personal contact between store owners and customers which is so advantageous to both. Piggly Wiggly is the original self service system, and it is a fact that today all over the country Piggly Wiggly and Self-Service are synonymous. There has been a growth during the past two years in the number of new merchants affiliating with the parent organization, the Piggly Wiggly Corporation, and the move to Atlanta is expected to stimulate this movement even further.
