BOYS' DAIRY CLUB TO BE EXPLAINED

Explanation of the workings of the Eastland County 4-H Dairy Club, which has been declared by officials as one of the most outstanding of its kind in Texas, will be given in a series of talks at a state meeting of the National Dairy Club in Dallas, Texas, Sept. 6-10. Dr. Hauk said that the club has been organized in order to provide a means of increasing the economic life of the county by increasing the production of milk and butter. The club was organized in 1936 and has since that time been steadily increasing its membership and stock owned. The club has been successful in its efforts to increase the production of milk and butter, and its members are now producing an average of 14 pounds of milk per cow per day. The club has also been successful in its efforts to increase the production of butter, and its members are now producing an average of 25 pounds of butter per cow per year. "I wouldn't want to kill my husband or anyone else." Officers were told that the husband, John Beckham, and his wife's brother, Arlton Jackson, 33, were fishing off a bridge when Beckham pulled a bottle of whisky from his pocket and took a drink. He was seized with convulsions and fell in the lake. He grasped Jackson and the two went down together. Jackson's death was considered accidental.

Near Tragedy On Picnic Party at Lake Near Olden

A near tragedy was averted late Friday afternoon when Mrs. A. L. Stiles of Ranger, wife of A. L. Stiles of the Magnolia service station, plunged into the deep water at Olden to rescue her five-year-old son, Alton, from drowning. Also, the unusual presence of mind of the youngster assisted his mother in the rescue. The lad, by his own power, kept his head above the water for a minute or two, but was sinking the third time when dragged from the lake. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Calder, 57, and Mrs. A. L. Stiles and three sons, and Mrs. C. C. Casa, had gone for an outing on the lake. Calder and Stiles, together with two of the children, were rowing across the lake when they heard the screams of those on the bank. Stiles immediately jumped out of the boat and started swimming as fast as possible to the rescue. But because of the distance Mrs. Stiles said it would be impossible for her husband to get to the rescue in time so she, being an expert swimmer, plunged in and perfected the rescue. Calder was forced to remain in the boat to keep the two small boys from jumping out and going to the rescue. The party continued in their picnic celebration and returned to their homes still shaky and frightened over the near tragedy.

Dead Jokes Most Wistful of Ghosts

Nothing shows more clearly how the people of the United States have changed in a generation than a few melancholy reflections on the death of James McIntyre.

Back in the minstrel show days from the 180's to 1900, McIntyre wowed 'em with "What Are the Wild Waves Saving?" and "Hanna's at the Window Binding Shoes."

We know what kind of songs made the tears run down into grandpa's bushy mustache. But what kind of gags rolled 'em in the aisles when "The Ham Tree" was the "Abie's Irish Rose" of its day?

Try it on your youngest son and watch the blank stare, succeeded by incredulity that anyone could ever have thought THAT funny.

Humor is about the most perishable stuff in life, and fashions in humor change more often and more sternly than fashions in hats.

And yet, perhaps, it is a change of manner rather than of matter, and the witty Frenchman was right when he sighed "The more it changes, the more it is the same thing."

Ages ago, the elephant was no bigger than a pig, but life was no circus then, either.

Sport Glances.By Grayson

BY RICHARD McCANN NEA Service Sports Writer

FOREST HILLS, N. Y.—Spectators call her Mademoiselle Whatchacallit, the sports writers call her Jadda, and the tennis players call her "Okay, Toots," but they all may soon be calling her champ.

All around her people are buzzing about her possibilities . . . her powerful forehand, her weak backhand, her driving game, her tendency to weaken in the late going, her terrific service, her gay manner on the court, the severity of her stroke.

At least, she doesn't believe that the climax of her American tour will come when she walks out before a clapping crowd, receives a huge loving cup, poses for pictures, and is called the national singles champion.

"Oooo," she'll gurgle, hardly before the introductions are over, "I can't wait until I meet all those beautiful people. . . ."

"Oooo," she oooo's, which is her favorite way of starting a sentence, "didn't you hear? I am going to Hollywood—yes, Hollywood. I am going to play tennis out there and meet all those," and her bright blue eyes roll, "all those beautiful people."

MADMOISELLE must like movies and actors and actresses? "Ooooo, so very much, I do. They are so beautiful."

Someone told her that Robert Taylor, identified as a movie actor, also plays tennis. . . . "Ooooo, he does? Zen I moost play heem of a certain. Weel he play me?"

Next to the movies, Mlle. Jedzejowska loves to talk about her knowledge of American slang.

"Don Budge—oooo, he is so beautiful, no?—Don Budge he tell me how to say "Toots" and "Hokay, Babe," and "You tellink me now I tell you" and "Zai's what you zink." And, oooo, so many more."

When she talks she uses her hands and her eyes to carry out the meaning and if the conversation lasts very long she is almost limp with exhaustion from her gestures.

And when she wants to end the interview she smiles and says, "You know ever'zing, no?"

Quota Established For Students Over Counties by NYA

AUSTIN, Aug. 28.—A quota of part-time NYA jobs for each Texas county has been established, and the county superintendent of each county will be advised immediately the number of jobs allotted, J. C. Kellam, Texas director of the National Youth Administration, announced today.

Each county superintendent has been requested to organize a county committee to recommend an allocation of jobs within the county. As soon as this is done, the NYA state office will consider the recommendations and be in position to grant formal approval of schools for participation in the program, Mr. Kellam said.

As heretofore, students in secondary schools of the state will be able to earn a wage not exceeding $6 a month. They will be selected for employment by officials of their school, who will determine the nature of the work and supervise its performance.

The Texas quota of school aid jobs has been reduced from 8,500 to 4,300 this year, and an extra allotment of $10,000 per month, which provided additional school aid jobs for drought-stricken counties of West Texas, will not be continued.

School officials desiring to obtain information regarding quotas and application forms should communicate with their county superintendents, and should supply them with information which will assist the county committee in making equitable recommendations regarding the distribution of jobs, Mr. Kellam said.

Students seeking part-time N. Y. A. school aid jobs should apply to the superintendent or principal of the school which they plan to attend, he said, since the

The stadium is very near completion as most of the major tasks have been finished and the larger units of work are complete. Now most of the work is on the smaller parts of the stadium and it is receiving the finishing touches of seats, fences and the job of painting. Most of the stadium has already been given the first coat of paint, but the larger task of putting on the second coat has not yet been started. After the second coat has been finished the larger units of labor will have been completed.

The contractor does not know the exact date that the stadium will be completed in its entirety, but up to now the work that has been done on schedule time with little or no delay, which was due to holidays and rain. Mr. Wilson also states that no major injuries have occurred.

Foreign Youth Is Winning In Fight For An Education

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 28.—School children have quit laughing at 19-year-old George Pappas, who seven years ago came to New Orleans from Greece, and started in the first grade of grammar school.

He started to school with no knowledge of English. He started with the A B C's. His little classmates made fun of him and laughed openly when he stumbled over beginner's words in his readers.

George wanted to quit, but he stayed.

Last year George won a weekly news contest sponsored by a local newspaper. He also was awarded a gold belt buckle for making the highest average in the school.

This year he is feature editor of the school newspaper and manager of the high school baseball team. He attends night school three times a week to enable him to graduate in June.

Big Stadium at Cisco to Be Ready For 1937 Season

CISCO, Aug. 28.—The south side of Cisco's new $13,000 stadium has just been covered with the first coat of paint, W. F. Wilson, contractor, said that the fencing would be completed by the weekend. A crew is also putting up some cable fences. These will act as temporary interior fences.

"Erratic market agitates wheat" is news from Chicago. Keep this up and future biscuit recipes will have to omit the traditional "mix well."

Funny thing about our European cousins. When they're taking enough of a licking to holler "Uncle," they never forget to add the "Sam."

AMELIA'S MEMORY IS HONORED AS AIR KINGS MEET IN RACES

BY WILLIS THORNTON
NEA Staff Correspondent
CLEVELAND, Aug. 26.—When the newest and fastest of the world's planes zoom and zip over Cleveland's model airport Sept. 3-6 in the 17th annual National Air Races, a phantom ship will be soaring in the clouds above them. It will be the ship in which

Amelia Earhart vanished into the South Pacific. The Amelia Earhart Memorial Trophy will be awarded the winner of a special women's event to be flown Sept. 3. It is a development of the trophy Miss Earhart herself contributed to the race in 1935. She was always closely identified with the annual race event, and finished fifth in the Bendix race in 1936.

Cliff Henderson, managing director of the races, hopes to make presentation of the memorial cup an impressive moment. "It is hard to conceive a National Air Race program without her active participation," Henderson said, "but we hope this trophy will perpetuate her influence in years to come."

Thompson Trophy Safe for U. S. The Thompson Trophy is certain to come back to America during these races — by default. The trophy, reward of the fastest time over a 200-mile closed-course stretch, will be fought out among American pilots. Michael Detroyat, the Frenchman who won the top speed honors at Los Angeles last year, will not be competing. Neither will Ernst Udet, Germany's No. 1 airman.

Neither was able to arrange for a plane and proper leave of absence. In fact, European competitors will be noticeably scarce this year, for few European countries like to see their best flyers as far away from home as Cleveland in the present troubled state of the world.

But there will be some very fast flying nevertheless, and a special prize of $2,000 is waiting for the pilot who breaks Detroyat's record of a winning average speed of 264 miles an hour. Frank W. Fuller, San Francisco, is expected to produce something with his Sevversky racer, which is a striped military standard model which army pilots have flown at 341 miles an hour, fully equipped. Fuller is flying this same ship in the Bendix cross-country race, and has chosen Roy Moore to fly it in the Thompson race.

Star Field in Bendix The Bendix event is drawing an all-star field this year. In addition to Fuller, there are Eiler C. Sundorff, Roscoe C. Turner, Jacqueline Cochran, Capt. Alexander Papania of Roumania, S. J. Wittmann, Reginald Robbins, Jack Wright, Lieut. Perry Lyons, the U. S. Coast Guard, Dick Merrill, Earl Ortman, Robert Perlick, Paul Mantz, Milo Burckham, and Beryl Nankham. This race starts from Los Angeles and finishes at Cleveland airport. Merrill and his copilot, Jack Lambie, will fly the same plane in which they recently double-circled the Atlantic. There are $25,000 in prizes awaiting the winners, and another $15,000 for winners in the Grebe Cup races.

All-Americans in Dream Game at Dallas

BUZZ BUIVID, Marquette SAMMY RAUGH, T. C. U.

Here's half of anybody's all-American backfield and Southwestern football fans will have a chance to see it chinking together in the Cotton Bowl at the Greater Texas and Pan American Exposition the night of Sept. 6. Kay Buivid, ace fullback of Marquette University's Golden Avalanche, and Slinging Sammy Raugh, quarterback of the T. C. U. Horned Frogs, were opponents in the Cotton Bowl classic at Dallas New Year's Day but now they're going to combine their resources against the professional Chicago Bears in this section's second grid dream game. Buzz and Sam are only two of a list of twenty-eight outstanding senior stars of 1936, who have been recruited from western colleges and universities from coast to coast to make up the Pan-American All-Americans. They'll be coached by Matty Bell of Southern Methodist and Dutch Meyer of Texas Christian.

CALENDAR, Ont., Aug. 28.—The Dionne Quintuplets, three years and three months old today, often reported to be exceptionally slow in learning to talk, have vocabularies of between 200 and 300 words, it was revealed today.

Although they have been taught only French, they have picked up enough English from Dr. Dafee and the nurses, that they now understand simple English.

ANOTHER CCC ENROLLMENT IS DUE IN OCT.

Mrs. Jewell Reeves, case worker for the City-County Welfare association, has been notified at her office at the city hall in Eastland that youths will be enrolled in October for the Civilian Conservation Corps.

In order to learn the number of boys available Mrs. Reeves suggested that every unemployed youth between 17 and 23 call at her office to discuss the CCC program.

According to the case worker training in the program is to be increased greatly. She stated, "It is going to be a character building program more than ever. Those boys who apply themselves will receive promotions and increases in pay that will be equal to amounts they might earn in private employment."

She further explained: "It is anticipated that the regular quarterly enrollment for the Civilian Conservation Corps to take place in Oct. 1937, will be one of the most extensive that we have faced, as the quota is set at approximately 11,000 whites and 1,200 colored for the state. The number of vacancies will be especially large in view of the fact that (1) under the new law all members of the Corps who will have reached their twenty-fourth birthday on September 30, and all members who will have had more than eighteen months total service in the Corps on September 30, will not be eligible to re-enroll, (2) all "Local Experienced Men" will not be eligible to re-enroll (unless they are eligible for reclassification as Juniors), (3) September 30, will mark the end of an enrollment period and an undetermined number of eligible men will not wish to re-enroll, although they may be eligible to do so, and (4) replacements will be on demonstrations of combat tactics.

The army will also bring in one of its big Boeing "flying fortress" bombers, the first public exhibition of the type. Langley Field will also send up a squadron of bombers which will put on an exhibit of bombing and then fly back to Langley without landing.

Plenty of Stunting Sandwiched in between these main events, there will be a series of stunt demonstrations, parachute jumping and hot-wing diving. Capt. Papania the Rumanian daredevil, is bringing a special stunting plane, Harold Johnson will start with his Ford tri-motor with which he can do stunts generally thought possible only to small, nimble planes. And Tex Rankin, the Hollywood stunt flyer, will contribute his own thrills.

Cleveland's 1,000-acre airport, the "biggest, finest, safest and busiest" in the United States, has been greatly enlarged since the races were held here in 1935, and is considered a model by the Bureau of Air Commerce. So vast are the facilities that the whole air race program will be carried out without interrupting regular air traffic in and out of the port.

The $85,000 in prizes that will be won is expected to bring out the fastest and most sensational flying ever seen at a National Air Race meet.

needed to compensate for discharges for acceptance of employment and for other reasons during the quarter ending Sept. 30.

"The new law provides that the enrollees of the Corps "shall be unmarried, male citizens of the United States between the ages of 17 and 23 inclusive, and shall at the time of enrollment be unemployed and in need of employment." It is further provided that "enrollment shall be for a period of not less than six months and re-enrollments shall not exceed a total term of two years."

"The new law provides that "the compensation of enrollees shall be in accordance with schedules approved by the President and enrollees with dependent member or members of their families shall be required, under such regulations as may be prescribed by the Director, to make allotments of pay to such dependents. Other enrollees may make deposits of pay in amounts specified by the Director with the Chief of Finance, War Department, to be repaid in case of an emergency or upon completion of or release from enrollment and to receive the balance of their pay in cash monthly."

The Methodist Missionary society met Monday for their social meeting at the home of Mrs. W. H. Whitworth. Instead of the usual games and contests, an hour and a half was spent in a very interesting and profitable study of the minutes of the Missionary Conference, which was held at Temple in April. One of the questions was in regard to the boundaries of the conference and the president, Mrs. Charles Lee, had a map which she had drawn, showing the most northern place in the Conference to be Olney the most eastern points, Fort Worth and Arlington, the most southern and southwestern being Coleman. During a short business session a letter was read from Mrs. Edwin Snead of Dublin, who is District Secretary, who wrote to thank the society for the donation sent to help pay a delegate's way to the Retreat at Georgetown. At the close of the meeting, the hostess served delicious cake, fruit salad topped with whipped cream and cherries and iced grape juice with cherries. Mr. and Mrs. Dave Key returned Friday from Santa Anna, California, their former home, where they had spent the past three months. While there Mr. Key was employed by a harvesting company as driver of a large tractor. Their many friends are glad to welcome Mr. and Mrs. Key back to our town.

Mrs. Dora Cotton arrived on Tuesday of last week from northwestern Texas where she had been with one of her sons for some time and is now visiting her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Davis. Mrs. Cotton has visited here often and her many friends are always delighted to see her.

Mr. and Mrs. Bailey Stark and baby, Jane Anne, left Friday for Borger, where they will make their home. On Tuesday Bailey had received by wire an offer of a position at Freer and also at Borger, but decided to accept the one at Borger.

Working Girl Best As Wife Says Prof

ITHACA, N. Y., August 29.—To assure a successful marriage marry a girl who has worked before becoming a bride, Cornell University's department of rural social organization advises potential husbands.

Girls who, before marriage were responsible housekeepers in their own homes, are also "good bets."

"The poorest bet of all," according to the department, "is the girl who, after finishing school, stays at home with no responsibility either in the home, or on a job, or in a community."

Future husbands were also discussed by the department.

Husbands with a record of regular employment and a lively interest in their jobs are one and one-half times more likely to have a well-adjusted marriage.

Those who earn at least $150 a month at the time of marriage have slightly better chances of success in marriage.

Husbands who have saved between $500 and $1,000 at the time of marriage are better bets than those with no savings. More important, however, than the actual amount saved is a consistent policy of saving.

Husbands and wives with similar social and cultural backgrounds are more likely to be more successful in marriage, while those who participate in organized community life seem more likely to succeed.

Developed hobbies and interests help make a marriage successful.

An engineer who predicts 37 million cars by 1960, maps the highway of that date—with dugouts for pedestrians, maybe?

Mrs. Bullington and her husband and their two daughters and Mr. Bullington's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bullington lived here from 1918 to 1925 when they moved to California. Both Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bullington died a few years ago. Mrs. Bullington made short visits to a number of her old friends here who were delighted to see her.

W. C. Bedford drove up to Eastland Tuesday to take the election returns. Only a light vote was cast here, a total of 34 votes being cast. All of the six amendments voted on received good majorities.

Mrs. Alton Claborn and three children accompanied by Mrs. S. T. Stover, drove to Ranger on business Saturday.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
KAY DEARBORN—heroine who inherits a yacht for vacation.
MELITA HOWARD—Kay's roommate and co-adventurer.
PRISCILLA DUNN—the third adventurer.
FOREST BROTHERS and GRANT HARPER—young scientists whose expedition turned out to be a rare occurrence.

Yesterday, enthusiastic after looking over Kay's new boat, the three girls decide to talk away from a cruise vacation with the little yacht.

CHAPTER III

DINING long past their usual hour, the three found themselves with healthy appetites. But discussion of the exciting topic of a vacation cruise.

"Think of it!" Priscilla Dunn invited. "A private cruise in our own boat!"

"What do you mean?" laughed Kay. "Our own boat? Did I say I was giving you each a third interest in the good ship 'Chinoon'?"

"You'll have to," Melita pointed out. "Priscilla and I will share the work and contribute to the outfitting that Mr. Pike mentioned."

Kay smiled at their enthusiasm. "Do you really think we ought to make the trip?"

"I haven't heard you put forth any good reason why we shouldn't. And Mr. Pike dealt very effectively with the ones you did offer."

"Well, it all seems very easy to Mr. Pike," Kay told Melita. "But suppose we had trouble? Suppose we didn't read the chart right, or the compass didn't work, and we struck a reef or something?"

"Oh, ran into a battleship in a fog," suggested Priscilla helpfully. "I saw a movie once where three girls were out in a sailboat and a battleship hit them. It was thrilling." Of course the sailors all jumped overboard and saved them. Then the girls fell in love with three officers.

"I'm serious," said Kay. "And there aren't any sailors on a reef, or whatever it is we might hit."

"I saw life preservers on the boat," retorted Melita. "And in a window the other day I saw some life jackets made just like sport coats. We might wear those and then if anything happened, there we'd be, floating around as nicely as you please."

Kay looked at them humorously. "I really believe you two would do it."

"We certainly would!" answered Priscilla both for herself and Melita.

"All right," said Kay Dearborn suddenly. "Then I'm for it, too!" They telephoned Jim Pike from the restaurant; and Kay, who delivered the message, found him delighted.

"Good! I'll have a man working on her in the morning. I know a fellow who'll do a good job and I'll try to get her ready by the time you get back."

Grateful for the summer's lagging twilight they set to work. Sometimes they worked after dark, until hunger drove them into more presentable clothes and a good food shop.

up the bilge and check the engine for you, too. I'll order the paint, and I suggest you girls get set to spend some evenings and a couple of week-ends working as you've never worked before."

"Aye, aye, sir," said Kay.

Replacing the receiver, she turned to the waiting Melita and Priscilla. "That man is exhausting—but I like him. Well... it looks like we're going to see the sea!"

BUT in the days that followed, they discovered what many an amateur mariner had discovered before them—that getting even a small power cruiser ready for summer cruising is not child's play.

Yet they enjoyed every minute of it. All day long on their respective jobs they looked forward to 5 o'clock. At the stroke of this hour each rushed to the street car which would take them to the West Shore Boat Moorage. Meeting there, they changed into the slacks, sweater, and sneakers which Jim Pike assured them were practical. Then, grateful for the summer's lagging twilight, they would set to work. Sometimes they worked after dark, until hunger drove them into more presentable clothes and a food shop.

"I've got painter's colic, housemaid's knee, and blisters on both thumbs," complained Priscilla. "If I had to do that much work in the apartment I'd simply die."

"I've noticed that," mentioned Melita pointedly. "But I confess to the same complaints. What I can't figure out is, why do we like to do it?"

Kay shook her head. "Darned if I know, Jim Pike says it gets you. He says when you do spring housecleaning ashore you haven't anything to look forward to except getting everything dirty again. But with a boat you can look forward to the good time you're going to have aboard."

"Well," laughed Melita, "recalling the interior of Jim's houseboat I'd say he believes what he says about spring housecleaning, but isn't he a grand person? He's as excited about this trip as we are."

THERE came at last the glorious day when Jim Pike stood with legs apart and surveyed the "Chinoon" to say, "She's ready, all right. Now let's take a little trial spin, what do you say?" They could have cheered. As hastily as their stiffened joints would permit the trio clambered aboard and ranged around Jim at the wheel.

He grinned at them. "Now look here. We're tied to the wharf. If one of you will go forward and one aft to see to the moorin' lines—and the other fend us off a little on the starboard side till we get out of the basin—then I'll start the motor and do the piloting."

Not without some confusion, Kay, Melita and Priscilla rushed to obey orders. Soon the little boat was riding nicely along the bay.

"She's don't about eleven or twelve knots," he said with satisfaction. "For cruising speed I'd whip her up some more. This motor will work best that way."

Patiently and subtly he dropped information to the interested girls. He let each one in turn get the feel of the wheel, showed them how to line up the bow with a leading landmark, explained the working of the compass. When he warped the little boat into the moorage again he had them watch closely at the controls.

"Why, it's easy!" exclaimed Kay.

"Well... now that I got you into this," he said, "I won't warn you it ain't just as easy as it looks. Another way a boat is like a woman is that just about the time you think you got her figured out, she ain't. Never pays to be cocksure with a boat. Keep your head on your shoulders all the time."

SUITABLY subdued, Kay and the others listened and watched.

"Now if you'll come over to my place tonight after dinner I'll lay out your course for you on the charts. I figure I'd better do that this time—but next summer, you'll have to do it yourself. However, I want you to observe how I do it. I got a cruise figured out for you, one that Mr. Crandall and I took once. It's about a two weeks jaunt there and back, with a day or two to spare."

That evening found them grouped around Jim Pike's big table, a glowing ship's lamp overhead, watching him work with pencil, dividers, and parallel rule, tracing happily all the while.

"This ain't all," he said. "I got to teach you a few seamanlike knots before I send you out."

Not a little baffled by all that Jim Pike had tried to cram into their heads, Kay ventured, "I wish you could go with us, Mr. Pike."

"I wish I could, too. But this is my busy season here and I got to tend to business. Besides," he grinned at them, "if I went on a cruise with three fine-looking girls like you there'd be a lot of talk. This ain't an aunt in Tacoma and if she ever heard about it she'd be wild!"

Humble to Sponsor Southwestern Grid Broadcasts Again

It was announced Saturday the Humble Oil & Refining company sponsors of broadcasts of Southwestern Conference football for the past two years, will again sponsor these broadcasts during the 1937 season.

The broadcast will be over an extensive network of Texas stations, so that followers of conference football in all parts of the state will be able to follow their gridiron favorites without difficulty.

Due to the 10-game schedule adopted by the conference this season, broadcasts will be more condensed than heretofore. On most Saturday afternoons the Humble company will broadcast as many as three games, and on several Saturdays as many as four, according to tentative football schedules now being worked out. This will give radio followers a comprehensive picture of the conference season.

The announcing staff is already well known to football fans. It will include Kern Tips, Cy Leland, Hal Thompson, Gene Wyatt, Tom Jacobs, Bill Hightower, and others of note. Technical equipment, much of it bought new this year, to take advantage of latest developments, will be unsurpassed, it was stated.

U. of T. Physical Training Enrollees Are Spread in Age

By United Press
 AUSTIN, Texas, Aug. 28.—Women's physical training at the University of Texas has enrollees from 2.5 years to 60.

Youngest is Elva Rae Higgins, 25-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Higgins, Austin. She is taking instruction in rhythmic dancing. Several women who admit they are "more than 60" are enrolled in swimming classes.

The youngest swimmer who reports at the women's gymnasium pool regularly for instruction is Dorris Burns, 5. She is a daughter of Major and Mrs. B. B. Burns, Camp Mabry. She swims 15 feet either face down or her back.

Facilities of the women's gymnasium were opened this year to nonstudents. Half of those taking courses are not enrolled for other university work. Miss Thelma Dillingham, instructor, said.

The Rotary governor who shook hands with Mussolini and reported later that Il Duce's hand is "soft as a woman's" must have caught him without the mailed glove.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

By Mrs. Gaynor Maddox
 NEA Service Staff Writer

LABOR DAY usually ends up in a picnic, a get-together of some kind, and complete exhaustion for the women of the party. Confusion often comes from guess work. Women who are used to cooking for small families, lose their bearings when a crowd appears. How many pounds of coffee are needed for 50 people? The answers—1 1/4 pounds coffee, 1 1/2 quarts coffee cream and 1 1/2 pounds cut sugar. Simple when you know.

The following quantities are for 50 people, and if more are to be fed at the picnic or club gathering, multiply accordingly; or if less than fifty, divide the amount given here.

Pie and Cake Needs
 Pie, too, is a member of the national color guard. Use 8 10-inch pies. Cake, one of the refrains of our national anthem, must go to the picnic, too. Four large ones will do the work for fifty.

Sandwiches always appear in profusion. For 50 sandwiches, make 1 quart of sandwich spread, use 2 1/2 pounds butter, and 100 slices of bread or 100 rolls.

If you are taking along macaroni and cheese, keep warm, wrapped in cloths, for 50 people, you'll need 1 1/2 pounds macaroni broken in small pieces, 4 quarts cream sauce, 3 pounds cheese. If baked beans are used,

Tomorrow's Menu
BREAKFAST: Orange and grapefruit juice, fried cornmeal mush, maple syrup, coffee, milk.
LABOR DAY PICNIC LUNCH: Cold veal loaf, casseroles of scalloped potatoes, (wrap well in dish towels and papers to keep warm for about 2 hours), sliced fresh tomatoes, queso olives, old-fashioned chocolate cake, coffee, bottle soda, lemonade.
DINNER: Cantaloupe, beef tongue with grape sauce, surprise potatoes, (each with egg, watercress and grapefruit salad, caramel custards with whipped cream, chopped almond sauce, coffee, milk.

you will need 4 quarts of beans before they are baked. An quart of potato salad is the right amount, 20 bunches celery and 3 quarts olives. This menu is suggested for the Labor Day picnic when you plan to make a fire. Frankfurters roasted on sticks, special frankfurter rolls which may be toasted, potatoes baked in their jackets in live coals, Mexican cole slaw, individual green apple pies, cheese, coffee and lemonade.

Keep your picnic and large crowd menus simple. Don't try to impress your guests with your originality but with the perfection of your outdoor menu. Keep calm. Nature is on your side, providing the mosquitoes, and flies don't interfere.

Weekly Sunday School Lesson GOD REQUIRES SOCIAL JUSTICE

Text: Leviticus 19:9-18, 33-37

BY WM. E. GILROY, D. D. Editor of Advance

WE have seen that a nation needs religion for its true welfare. But it is important to consider the kind of religion that a nation needs. Religion is a vague and general thing is not enough. If we believe in the wrong things in our religion, zeal will only drive us in the wrong direction. It is necessary that faith should be sound, that vision should be clear, and that goals should be right and true. Here in this lesson we have that clear insistence, which is the glory of the New Testament, upon the sort of religion that a nation needs.

It is, first of all, a religion in which man takes account of his fellowman. The religion of selfishness has no place in a nation's life. Selfishness ruins and destroys nations. So, in the harvest that is the people's living and continuance, it was established in this religion of Israel that men should not reap wholly for themselves. They must not be greedy and grasping to the disregard of the needs of others, and particularly of the poor.

So the true Israelite was ordered not to reap in the last corner of his field, nor to glean the last fruit from his vineyard. He was to leave there something for the poor and the needy, and God was represented as the upholder of this sort of consideration for others.

Then, in a true society, there must be recognition not only of needs, but of rights. Men in a sound society should have a religion that will not permit them to steal from one another, to
