GERMANY AND ITALY BOYCOTT SUB PARLEY

By United Press
BERLIN, Germany, Sept. 9.—Italy's joint front with Italy boycotting tomorrow's Mediterranean Conference, was set forth in a note delivered today by Britain and France, a paraphrase of which was published by D. N. B., official news agency, in an announcement said: "The German government agrees with the Italian government in its intention that Italy cannot be expected to participate in a conference proposed so long as the initiative provoked by the Soviet is satisfactorily settled."

Daughter Is Born to 12-Year-Old Girl

By United Press
WATERTOWN, N. Y., Sept. 9.—Leona Backus, 12-year-old bride is the mother of a nine pound daughter, born Sept. 5, her parents announced today.
Stanley S. Backus, the 18-year-old father, wept when officials said he could not see his daughter. The mother will be 13 Sept. 22. Backus sought his wife's release from the state institution for women at Hudson, where the young bride was confined after her real age was discovered by authorities. The baby was born at the institution.

U. S. WILL NOT GUARD PEOPLE IN WAR ZONE

By United Press
WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—Administration officials said today the United States could not guarantee protection to its shipping or to its nationals or their property abroad unless the army and navy are augmented to the point where they would consume half or more of the government's revenues.
The United States cannot guarantee such protection unless the American people are willing to fight a major, the officials said.

Fastest Air Racer and Trophies

Speed and plenty of it won these three trophies for Rudy A. Kling, Lemont, Ill., flyer, at the National Air Races in Cleveland. He shot his specially designed racer around the pylons at 232 miles per hour to win the Louis W. Greve race and the trophy at left. He increased his pace to 256.910 miles per hour to take the Thompson 200-mile event and the center trophy in the last 100 feet of the race. The Henderson trophy at right was awarded for most points scored in the meet.

Identity of Burned Man Still Sought

By United Press
SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 9.—Police today summoned Mrs. D. D. Wesson, wife of a 24 year old man missing from his home since Tuesday, in an effort to identify a body found in the burned wreckage of a San Antonio home yesterday, as that of her husband.
Detectives had tentatively identified the body as Wesson after they traced ownership of a car abandoned near the fire scene to him and learned that he had been missing from home.

C. L. GARRETT WIRE BRINGS ABOUT MEET

State Administrator Wants To Tell of Program Difficulty.
Sponsors of Works Progress Administration projects in the 17th Congressional District Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock in Eastland will discuss the increasing difficulty of participation in the program at a meeting with officials in an effort for relaxation of unrest.
The courthouse will be the meeting scene.
State WPA Administrator H. P. Drought, advised by Congressman Clyde L. Garrett of Eastland of the increasing difficulty of the sponsors in his county and district, to cooperate in the program and increasing unemployment as a result, arranged for the meeting in a telephone conversation Thursday morning after receiving the wire from the congressman.
He stated he would send Major Karl Wallace of Fort Worth, director of WPA district 7, and Alton Bell of Crowley, his personal representative, to attend the meeting.
"I want them to come and get a first hand picture of the situation," Drought told Congressman Garrett in the conversation.
Congressman Garrett urged all sponsors of WPA projects in his district—composed of 12 counties—and adjoining counties, to attend and submit data to the officials upon the situation.
Garrett expressed appreciation for the interest and prompt action of Drought upon his suggestion of the meeting. Sponsors of WPA projects are mainly members of school boards, county commissioners and city commissioners.
The telegram from Garrett to Drought which prompted the calling of the meeting read as follows:
"Upon arriving in district I find situation confronting WPA sponsors due to recent regulations alarming. The added financial requirements made on sponsors render it absolutely impossible for them to participate in program. In event local agencies cannot continue to participate in this work the situation among unemployed will fast become more and more deplorable. Due to severe drought in much of the district makes it impossible for farm labor. No other means of relief for these people other than WPA work program. In Eastland county alone six hundred twenty-two men employed. Only two of these jobs working approximately one hundred ninety-eight men will carry on for more than thirty days. Other four hundred twenty-four will complete projects now on and will be laid off within ten to twenty days. And additional two hundred fifty men awaiting assignment and additional one hundred men who have recently been laid off for lack of projects. Impossible for sponsors to submit new projects on account new truck ruling cutting the amount set up for other than labor practically one half and requiring additional engineering and technical data on all new as well as projects already submitted and approved this greatly increasing contributions to be made by sponsors. I firmly believe that these rules and regulations should be so changed as to make it possible for the local agencies to continue to provide projects for employment of these people as they so much desire to do. In view of these facts I most earnestly and respectfully urge that you do everything possible to the end that this condition may be immediately remedied."

TVA COMPLETES MUSLCE SHOALS OPENS SEPT. 10

By THOMAS A. DOZIER
United Press Staff Correspondent
MUSLCE SHOALS, Ala., Sept. 9.—A spark of electric energy, released at the push of a button by President Roosevelt in Washington, will formally open Joe Wheeler Dam on Sept. 10—the second structure to be completed by the Tennessee Valley Authority in its program on the Tennessee river.
Elaborate dedication ceremonies will mark the formal opening of the new $37,000,000 dam.
Speaker of the House William B. Bankhead of Alabama will deliver the principal address. Arthur E. Morgan, TVA chairman, will read a message from President Roosevelt, and scores of national and state figures will be present.
The day will mark the 101st birthday of the late Gen. Joe Wheeler, Confederate and Spanish-American War hero, for whom the dam is named.
Descendant Present
Present at the ceremonies will be Miss Annie Early Wheeler and Col. Joseph Wheeler, children of the general honored by the new structure.
Wheeler Dam—the second project in the TVA's three-way program of flood control, navigation and power development on the Tennessee river—is located 15 1/2 miles upstream from Wilson Dam. It is 6,500 feet long, and includes a navigation lock and power plant. Two generating units, each developing 45,000 horsepower have been installed in the power plant.
With a 20-foot wide roadway across its surface, the dam is 72 feet high and impounds a lake which at normal levels will cover 64,000 acres.
The structure will extend the navigable territory of the Tennessee river 74 miles upstream to Guntersville, Ala.
General Wheeler, whose name the huge project memorializes, was born at Augusta, Ga., Sept. 10, 1836. Entering the United States Cavalry from West Point in 1859, he resigned at the outbreak of the war between the states to become an officer in the Confederate Army.
Rebel Leader
In 1863, he was made a major general, and through the bloody and desperate campaigns of Chickamauga, Atlanta and Chattanooga, he commanded the Confederate cavalry in the west.
Wheeler's cavalry became the terror of enemy forces, and when Sherman made his march to the sea, he was harassed continually by Wheeler's group.
At the outbreak of the Spanish American War in 1898, Wheeler was commissioned by President McKinley as major general of the U. S. Volunteers. He was commissioned a brigadier general in the regular army in 1900. He died in 1906.
Guests invited to the dedication ceremonies include:
Gov. Bibb Graves of Alabama; the state's congressional delegation, including members of both houses; officers of the state senate and house of representatives, high TVA officials and mayors of more than a score of Alabama cities.

ALLRED READY FOR BATTLE ON TAXATION

No special fall session of Congress is likely unless "the war situation in the far east becomes more acute," Representative Clyde L. Garrett, back at his home in Eastland and the district, stated Thursday.
"That feeling," added the congressman, "is the belief of many of the leaders in Congress and older members."
Congressman Garrett, back for the first time since his journey to the capitol after election to office on a landslide of votes, described his work as "both pleasant and extremely fascinating." In Eastland he noted construction of the WPA swimming pool, widening of West Commerce, location of the Coca-Cola bottling plant as signs of progress and praised officials making those projects possible.
"I understand that both Ranger and Cisco have new WPA football fields and will visit those and other new construction activities in those and other cities of the county and district as soon as possible."
Congressman Garrett also noted the increase in oil activity of the district, particularly in Jones and Taylor counties and other sections of the diversified territory he represents.

NO EXTRA SESSION OF CONGRESS SEEN UNLESS WAR GETS MORE ACUTE

As to the wage-hour bill which the administration favors strongly, the legislator declared that, in his belief the regular session in January will pass such a bill. Stating one was favored strongly in the North and East, he expressed the hope that the favored bill would safeguard and not cripple or handicap southern industries and "the little business man." He explained that a wage-hour bill as favored by the north and east might possibly be in contravention to interests of the south.
"I was sorely disappointed in that Congress did not the last session pass a general farm legislation. I am glad that both house and senate went on record promising to give general farm legislation first consideration at the next session."
"I went on record as opposing adjournment of the session until general farm legislation was passed."
The representative also expressed gratification on the passage of the farm tenancy bill, "even if it was on a small scale." He said the program to enable tenants to secure and own homes would be administered by the secretary of agriculture. A total of $85,000,000 was provided for three years. Ten million will be used the first year, 25 million the second and 50 million the third year.
The program provides for establishment of county boards throughout the nation to carry out the program. He stated he hoped arrangements to secure practical men cognizant of worthiness of applicants and farm tenancy problems would be secured to pass upon applications in each county.
"I was in favor of the appropriation being $50,000,000 for the first year. Under the amount set up for the first year, however, it will be impossible to assist more than one or two tenants in each county to purchase a farm."
Congressman Garrett found conditions in Eastland—he had not had time to visit other parts

Men Predominate High School Staff

Women teachers in the United States in recent years have outnumbered men more than three to one, according to the World Almanac, but the reverse is true in the staff for the coming term opening Monday at Eastland High school.
A listing by officials shows there are six men and four women teachers at the high school. Yet, unfilled is the commercial course instructorship.
Women predominate in the staff of Junior High, South Ward and West Ward schools.

Corn Crop Estimate Awaited As a Cue To Special Session

By United Press
WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—Administration leaders today awaited apprehensively the 1937 corn crop production forecast as all-important in determining whether the farm situation has become so crucial as to require a special session of congress.
The department of agriculture will make the corn estimate tomorrow, following up its forecast yesterday of an all-time high per acre cotton yield of 228.5 pounds and the fifth largest total production, 16,098,000 bales.

Charges Are Filed In $1,995 Robbery

By United Press
SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 9.—Joseph E. Cain, 20-year-old Houston youth, faced a charge of robbery with firearms today in connection with the $1,995 holdup of a public service company bus garage a month ago.

New Regulations On CCC Enlistments Go In Effect Soon

Recent changes in regulations covering eligibility for selection into the Civilian Conservation Corp have been received from the Department of Labor by Adam R. Johnson, Director of Texas Relief Commission.
"A youth may now be selected who has been out only six months, if other rules covering eligibility are met," stated Mr. Johnson. "Heretofore, a boy had to remain out a year before becoming eligible. This will give hundreds of boys an opportunity to enroll in October who otherwise would have to wait until January."

Fees from the service of the official will go to the surveyor, the position paying no salary.

Memphis Finds Out Yankees Prefer Its Negroes For Cooks

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — Negro cooks from Memphis who can cook Southern style fried chicken, pancakes and hot biscuits are finding ready employment in the North. The Memphis Employment center reported to City Commissioner Ralph Picard that out-of-town calls had boosted placements of servants and that more than 1,250 had obtained other jobs since January.
Many of the cooks were trained at the WPA "cooking school." A call recently came for a southern cook from the baked-bean section of New England. It asked for a Negro mammy who didn't "shy away from blackberry pie and frying-sized chickens."
The order was filled, and within a few weeks the same person wrote back for another cook, saying that a neighbor's offer of higher wages had lured away the first one.
A Chicago couple visiting here took home a Memphis cook, and within a week two of their friends wrote the employment bureau for "one just like her."

Mental Measurements of College Freshmen

So stealthily is the burden of civilization shifted from the aging generation onto the backs of its children that the change rarely is perceptible.

If every adult properly fulfilled his duty to posterity, he would interest himself in the processes by which thousands of high school graduates are permitted to proceed with higher courses of training for service as leaders in the arts, professions, trades and sciences.

Along with the thrilling experience of actually seeing the wheel of time and circumstance start a new revolution, the observer would get an eyeeful of just how much progress we are not making in teaching boys and girls how to live and make a living.

There is, for instance, the report of an eastern college after its study of about 500 applications for admission. The 1937 model male freshman, the report says will be 18 years and six months old, five feet 10 inches tall, and will weigh about 152 pounds.

These figures, showing an increase in physical proportions over freshmen of previous years, will be great news for the athletic coaching staff. But their significance for the rest of the faculty, for the student himself, and for civilization in general is negligible.

Beyond listing the physical measurements and seeing that high school grades meet certain standards, the registrar's figures usually leave the freshman an unknown quantity as far as his affinity for building bridges, researching in botany or mastering constitutional law is concerned.

And the likelihood is that he will remain an unknown quantity until he muddles through one or more years of his course, or is led to it by the rare teacher who regards his job as somewhat more than a daily 50-minute lecture to each class.

The college performs a great service in spreading its groaning table of intellectual fare before the freshman. And the 18-year-old contributes his part, in most cases, with ambition and determination to make good at something or other.

Failure to pin down that "something or other" is the gap on the production line in mass education. The job is only half done when the physician's staff weighs and measures the newcomer and the college prexy welcomes him at the orientation assembly.

The wheel of progress will turn ever more swiftly and more efficiently when institutions of higher education seriously attempt to learn what's above a prospective freshman's neck as well as what's below it.

with it, and the trees between us and the light make that flickering effect.

"It must be Grant," Priscilla said. "Give him a signal."

"No," Mac advised. "Grant didn't have a flashlight when I left him. That's the man we're looking for, 10 to 1. And maybe Kay and Grant are with him." He started the motor at slow speed, began "coasting" down the shoreline. "We'll land a little farther down, and see if we can follow that light."

Carefully and quietly he nosed the speedboat into the sand. "You girls stay here with the boat," Tom said. "We'll leave you one of the revolvers."

"But—"

"Remember what happened to the dinghy! The best thing is for you to stay aboard. Look here—"

The control lever is in reverse. If you have to get out of here, just step on the starter. When Mac and I return we'll flash the light three times so you'll know who it is." He climbed over the bow and onto the beach. "Can you still see that light, Mac?"

"Yes, but it's getting fainter. We'd better start right now."

Melita and Priscilla had no desire to stay with the speedboat, but they realized the wisdom of a guard for it, recalling vividly the damaged dinghy which had been the start of all their present troubles.

Melita touched Mac's arm. "Please be careful."

"Don't worry..." He smiled down at her.

A MOMENT later the two men had disappeared in the darkness, leaving a pair of tense young women huddled in the speedboat. They could no longer see the flickering light which they had detected from the water, and the very silence around them grew frightening and oppressive.

How long they sat there, ready at any instant to start the motor of the boat, Melita and Priscilla never really knew. It seemed hours. Then suddenly they heard a sound in the brush quite close to the beach. For a second they sat rigid. Melita's foot crept toward the starter button—and then came the flash from Tom's light... once... twice... three times.

"What did you find?" Melita cried as the Forrester brothers hurried down the beach.

They did not answer at once. Shoving the speedboat out from the beach and climbing aboard, they were strangely silent. Tom started up the motor, veered

Story of Romantic Texas Will Go to New York Exhibit

AUSTIN.—The thrilling story of Texas will be carried to New York and San Francisco's world's fairs in sound and color films if the legislature adopts plans of the Texas Planning Board. The cost of the exhibits at both fairs will not exceed $225,000.

The sound and color film, depicting the industrial, agricultural, recreational, cultural and economic life of the state, would be shown in an air-conditioned replica of the Alamo.

The planners discarded the old type of fair and exposition exhibit as being too costly and wholly inadequate to show the 50,000,000 visitors expected at New York, and the 20,000,000 the San Francisco fairmen expect to attend the Golden Gate International Exposition, just what Texas is today.

The board chose the historic Alamo as best illustrating the spirit of Texas. Plans for each replica were drawn by Adams & Adams, San Antonio architects who helped design the Hall of State at Dallas. As submitted by the architects the building plans call for an exact replica of the Alamo at New York and a slightly smaller replica at San Francisco.

In each the chapel of the Alamo will be used as a lounging salon where Texans visiting the fairs may meet and rest in air-conditioned comfort.

The auditorium will seat 500 persons at New York and about 350 at San Francisco. Each auditorium is modeled after the lines of the museum now nearing completion on the Alamo grounds at San Antonio.

Drive a Car? Maybe You Can Fly, Too

If you can drive a car, you ought to feel right at home in the pilot's seat of this new biplane, tested at Buffalo, N. Y., and acclaimed as a marvel of safety after it survived a landing mishap. Joseph Guinness Jr., is inventor of the stubby little craft. The controls are so simple—so simple that even a child can operate it as well as turns. The foot pedal at right is the accelerator pedal.

Q. What country was the leading producer of sulphur before the Texas-Louisiana sulphur deposits were discovered?
A. Forty years ago, Italy was the chief producer of sulphur, but now more than 75 per cent comes from the Texas Gulf Coast section. This is due largely to the practically unlimited supply and to the new methods of sulphur mining, in which superheated water is run through pipes into the sulphur deposits, melting the sulphur and forcing it in liquid form to the surface through other pipes. Texas sulphur, thus produced, is 99 per cent pure.

Q. What was the 1936 petroleum asphalt production in Texas?
A. The U. S. Bureau of Mines places it as 39,994 tons, or 8.5 per cent of the output of the United States. Texas also produces natural asphalt in appreciable quantity.

Q. What is the size of Longhorn Cavern State Park and how much of the cavern has been developed?
A. The state park surrounding the cavern contains 2,032 acres. About 8 miles of the cavern has been developed, largely by CCC labor, and reports are that explorations are as yet in the beginning stage, the park and cavern giving promise of becoming one of the most popular resorts of the country.

THE safest way to prevent overweight is to cultivate sufficient weight to avoid eating too much. The best exercise for reducing it is the turning of the head from left to right, signifying "no thank you" when you are offered a second helping of fattening food. And be very careful of fantastic reducing diets. They are often dangerous, usually interfere with the normal functioning of the body, and almost always make you thin so that you can quickly get fat again.

These are a few of the sound ideas expressed by Morris Fishbein, M. D., in "Your Diet and Your Health." Dr. Fishbein, editor of the Journal of the American Medical Association, is a valiant crusader against whatever seems to him "bunk in medicine and diet."

A Typical, Safe Diet

A few quotations from his carefully written guide are pertinent: "The earliest reduction diets failed to take into account the vitamins and mineral salts. They involved only a count of calories. Many popular reducing diets, like the 'Lash' 16-day diet, the 'milk' diet, and similar performance tests, offer from 500 to 800 calories a day instead of the 1100 or 1200, which may, in most instances, be the absolute minimum compatible with health."

Would you like to lose from two to two and a half pounds a week and yet not lose your health and disposition at the same time? Dr. Fishbein has a solution for your problem. "Here is a menu developed by a medical authority," he says. "It contains just over 1000 calories and if you eat just these things and no others (and carry on your normal work, you will lose from two to two and a half pounds per week. If you do extra work or take more exercise, you will lose more," he adds.

Breakfast
Two small oranges or 1 large orange, sliced, 1 egg, 1 slice toasted bread (thin), 1 small square butter, 1 glass skim milk, 1 cup tea or coffee, clear.

Luncheon or Dinner
One cup consommé, 1 medium slice roast beef, 3 heaping tablespoons spinach, 1 salad containing 8 stalks asparagus on lettuce leaves with vinegar, 6 heaping tablespoons sliced peaches, 1 glass skim milk, 1 cup clear tea.

Supper
Three heaping tablespoons cottage cheese, 3 heaping tablespoons cauliflower, 1 baked tomato, 1-3 head lettuce with lemon juice or vinegar, 6 heaping tablespoons red raspberries, 1 glass skim milk 1 cup clear tea.

You probably are ready to say that such is not a reducing diet, that it contains a lot more food than you normally eat. Listen to Dr. Fishbein: "The observation is false. The list contains a variety of ingredients, but all are chosen with exact knowledge of what they provide in the way of calories and the essential food substances."

Dividend Declared By Missouri Firm

NEVADA, Mo., Sept. 9.—A dividend at the rate of 4 per cent annually and totaling $255,680.60 covering the six-month period ending August 31 has just been declared to its shareholders by the Farm and Home Savings and Loan Association of Missouri, according to an announcement made today by George W. Wagner, president of the Association. "In addition to the dividend declared we were able, from the earnings of the period, to make substantial additions to our contingent fund and undivided profits," said Mr. Wagner, "and if collections are an evidence of business conditions, business must be good in the Southwest, as our loans are confined to three states in that territory—Missouri, Oklahoma and Texas. "At the end of August we had 5,384 loans and contracts in force. All but 289 of our borrowers made payments during the month; only 140 of our loans and contracts were delinquent as much as three months payments, and at the end of August, on loans and contracts totaling in excess of $12,600,000 the unpaid interest was only $6,113.28. "The demand for loans on homes in the Southwest continues good, for during the past six months the new home loans installed by this association totaled 557, for $1,703,505.29, most of which was on new construction."

Shipping Crisis Seen In Pacific SAN FRANCISCO. — An announcement that the Canadian Pacific is building two new 25,000 ton liners for its service between Vancouver and Australia via San Francisco threatens to raise the whole question to Americans traveling on foreign steamship lines, according to local shipping circles. At present Americans who take a foreign vessel between American ports are obliged to pay an extra tax of $200. This affects principally Americans who make use of the Japanese lines that stop at Honolulu on the way. Shipping circles, however, are convinced that there will be a big demand by Americans to make use of the two new Canadian boats, which will exceed anything in modern luxury on the Pacific, between San Francisco and Honolulu. This may cause a heavy cut into the trade of the two American lines, Matson and Dollar. Shipping circles point out, however, that the Matson and Dollar lines still have the right of maintaining service to Australia and New Zealand and to carry citizens of those countries between their own ports. As a consequence, local shipping circles believe that if the United States insists on barring the Canadian Pacific from carrying Americans between San Francisco and Hawaii, it is not improbable that the New Zealand and Australian governments may close the trade door to the American lines.

Historian Says Grant Broke Drinking Habit KENT, Ohio. — Dr. Henry M. Dater, of the department of history at Kent State University, comes to the defense of Gen. Ulysses S. Grant, frequently described as an excessive drinker. "Grant imbibed quite heavily in his younger days," said Dr. Dater, "but as he became older he made an effort to cure this habit. Once at a formal dinner in New York, Grant neither refused nor accepted a drink, but quietly returned his wine glass to signify his refusal."

Bomb-Struck U. S. S. Augusta Before Flaming City

Clouds of dense black smoke, rising behind the U. S. S. Augusta, are somber evidence of the destruction which descended on the war-torn Shanghai area from out of the skies. High explosive shells and bombs dropped on Shanghai and on Pootung, just across the Whangpoo river. The smoke above is from flames in Pootung which spread through the city and caused damage estimated in the millions. Shortly after this photograph was made a one-pound "pom-pom" shell fell on the well deck of the Augusta, flagship of the U. S. Asiatic fleet, killing one sailor and wounding eighteen. The navy investigated, decided it was impossible to tell who dropped the shell.

Shreveport Girl, Eastland Man Are Married at Ceremony In Louisiana

The marriage of James Turk Pipkin of Eastland and Miss Thelma Hickman of Shreveport, Louisiana, took place this week, with the ring ceremony read by Rev. Crowe at the Noel Memorial church in Shreveport, before an altar banked with ferns and tall baskets of white gladioli, with a background of high wrought iron candelabra with lighted white tapers. The bride's attendants were Miss Bobbie Montgomery, maid of honor, in turquoise chiffon, carrying a pink rose bouquet. Mrs. Fred Capps in apricot chiffon with bouquet of deep red roses, was matron of honor. The bride groom was attended by Charles Hickman, brother of the bride, and Raymond Pipkin his brother, was the best man. Ushers were Fred Capps, and Moffett Pugh. Pre-nuptial pipe organ music by Mrs. O. D. Cloud and voice solos, Miss Beatrice Groner who sang, "Oh Promise Me," and "I Love You Truly," flowed into the crashing wedding march as the bridal party entered. The bride, with her father, H. B. Hickman, was met at the altar by the groom and wedding party. The bridal gown of white silk net and silk lace had extremely full skirt falling into a short train. The tight bodice had ruffled sleeves. Her bouquet of orange blossoms was centered with a purple orchid, later, worn as corsage on her going-away frock. The finger tip face veil fell from an orange blossom coronet and tumbled in feecy clouds to the tip of train. Her going away suit of black crepe with cotton jacket printed in red, was worn with a small black hat with veil, black shoes, and matching accessories. Following the ceremony the bride's father, Mr. Hickman, was host to the wedding party and out of town guests, at a formal dinner function. Mr. and Mrs. Pipkin left for a short trip to New Orleans, and will be in Eastland this week and locate in their own home, which is fully furnished and awaiting them. The home was the gift of the bride's father. Out of town guests were the bride-groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Grady Pipkin, and their son, Bruce; Mr. and Mrs. Jess Pipkin, his uncle, of Breckenridge; Mr. and Mrs. S. L. O'Dell, his aunt, of Dallas, Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton of Mansfield Louisiana and Mrs. Dora Young of Dallas. Mr. Pipkin is one of the young business men of Eastland and has been associated with his father in the Piggly Wiggly store since his return from college. The bride is a graduate of State Teachers College of Louisiana. She has visited in Eastland on several occasions, and was once an Eastland resident.

GIRL FOLLOWS FATHER AS U. S. MARSHAL'S AID

By United Press NEW ORLEANS.—The "thrill" of wearing a badge started Miss Neolie Loisel in the footsteps of her father, Victor Loisel, former U. S. Marshal of the eastern district of Louisiana. As deputy marshal—and able to handle a pistol almost as skillfully as any man—Miss Loisel is one of the few women empowered to make arrests on federal charges. Miss Loisel first took the deputy's oath in 1927, receiving her appointment from her father to assist him in apprehending women violators. She left the service in 1933 to take a position as stenographer in the office of the collector of internal revenue. "But I just couldn't stay away, I guess, and I was back in the marshal's office in September, 1936," Miss Loisel said. Her duties include transporting convicted women to the Federal Industrial Reformatory for Women at Alderson, W. Va. Among her more than 25 trips there, with almost 50 prisoners, she has never had any trouble with them, "because we've been very successful in convincing them that the place will do them good."

Nail Picker-Upper Doing a Good Job

By United Press KERRVILLE, Texas. — J. W. Whitaker of Austin, who operates a nail picker for the state highway department, stated that he had picked up 385 pounds of nails, bolts and pieces of metal on the 101 miles of state highways in Kerr county. The nail picker is a truck with a huge electro-magnet, current for which is supplied by a dynamo operated by a gasoline motor in the rear of the truck. Whitaker spent five days covering all the state highways in this county, which was the last of the 12 counties he visited in division

15. He covered 756 miles in the whole division and picked up 4,250 pounds of nails and other pieces of metal. He stops his truck every two or three miles to free his huge magnet of its gatherings. Among the most curious things he picks up are horseshoes and manhole tops.

Railway to Install New Block Sign

By United Press DALHART, Texas. — H. Mullen of Dalhart, superintendent of the Panhandle division of the Rock Island railroad, has ordered another $1,000,000 appropriation for installation of automatic train signals from He Kan, through Dalhart to Cari, N. M. This is in addition to an appropriation of $2,000,000 for track improvements on the 467-mile stretch of railroad started last year and not expected to be completed until next year because of the stoppage of necessary during cold weather. When installation to Cari is completed by May 1, the automatic signal system of Rock Island and Southern will be complete from Clarksburg, La. to Los Angeles.

Johnny Goes Marching Off to School

Soon the school bells will be ringing over the land. Soon Johnny and Janice, scrubbed and combed and brushed, will go off to the serious business of Reading and 'Riting and 'Rithmetic.

But, before they go, there is serious business for Mother too: She must select the children's outfits. In this work, advertisements can help her as nothing else can! They enable her to plan her shopping before she leaves the house. They point out bargains. They remind her of items she might otherwise forget. They make her task easier, more economical, more thorough.

Have you made a list of the things the children will need for school? Does that list include galoshes or rubbers? A new lunch box? A school bag, or strap for their books? A raincoat? Pads and pencils? Hats and suits, and a young man's topcoat? Perhaps a watch for the "ten o'clock scholar"?

Before Johnny goes marching off to school. . . read the advertisements!
