Many Peanuts Are Bought In Ranger

Approximately 160 tons of peanuts have been purchased in Ranger so far this season, it was estimated here today, with the Ranger Bonded Warehouse purchasing 48 tons in the past two days.

Peanuts are also being purchased by Tom Lauderdale at the Ranger Gin Company, and though a report has been made of the number purchased by him or by others in the town who have made business a Chamber of Commerce estimate today put the total purchases around 160 tons, with a possibility that it might be even greater.

Light Ends Over Hoover Suggestion

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—A truce appeared today to have ended the intra-party fight over former President Hoover's proposal for an "off-year" national convention of the Republican party in 1940.

In the national committee meeting to draft a program to restore the party to power, it was understood that both friends and foes of the Hoover suggestion had agreed to action on the proposed national meeting.

Profit Tax Rapped By One Senator

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Senator Byrd of Virginia, member of the senate finance committee, today demanded repeal or modification of the administration's untried profit tax.

"The small corporations are being most seriously damaged," Byrd said. "The law is not just the big corporations which have large surpluses accumulated."

Cupid Wrestles With Disfavor

"I'll probably be disinherited for this," announced beautiful Princess Babs, above, when she told of her intention to marry Bob Gregory, claimant of the European catch-as-catch-can wrestling championship. She fears her matrimonial choice won't find favor with her father, Borneo's Rajah of Sarawak, only white rajah in the world.

NEGOTIATIONS FOR PEACE TO BE DELAYED

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Nov. 5.—The nine power treaty conference on the orient came to a stand still today in efforts to draw Japan into peace negotiations, with Britain, France and the United States still insisting on excluding Italy from negotiations.

The conferees agreed to postpone appointment of a small committee to approach Japan and adjourn until tomorrow without doing anything.

The delegates discussed word from Berlin that Adolf Hitler may decide to approach Japan and China and settle the conflict himself, leaving the conference with nothing to do but go home.

McQueen Rites to Be Held Saturday

J. W. McQueen, resident of Eastland county 45 years, who died Friday morning in Cisco at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Minnie Loyd, will be buried Saturday afternoon at Flatwood.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p. m., Saturday, with a Cisco pastor officiating.

He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Loyd, Mrs. J. A. Hallmark of Flatwood and a son, Jim McQueen, Borger.

Contracts Listed On Highway Paving

AUSTIN, Nov. 5.—A contract for grading and drainage structure on 22.5 miles of Highway 96 through the "walled kingdom" of Kenedy county is included in $1,800,000 worth of projects listed for letting by the highway commission Nov. 23.

Other projects tentatively listed subject to federal approval included grading for Highway 1 in Mineral Wells and brick paving for sections of the same road in Parker county.

Total vote cast was 232. A total of 177 favored prohibiting sale of all alcoholic beverages and 55 voted against prohibiting.

DUKE DECIDES TO CONTINUE PLANS OF TRIP

LONDON, Nov. 5.—The Duke of Windsor was "extremely angry" at American labor today and prepared to defy criticism, a reliable source said.

He was quoted as calling American labor resolutions as "not cricket," taking the view that they were hitting at Charles Bedaux, his American tour representative, through the duke.

A reliable source said that the duke had seriously considered cancelling the trip, but eventually decided to defy the attackers in order to back up Bedaux.

It was likely, these sources said, the visit would incline more to the social side as the duke would cut out much of the part he intended to devote to industrial conditions.

There was no surprise here at the duke's decision to make the visit, because he could hardly have abandoned it with dignity at the last hour.

Four-H Goals Are Told At 11 Meetings

County Agent Elmo V. Cook and assistant County Agent Hugh F. Barnhart reported Friday they met recently with 247 4-H club boys and their parents in 11 communities to explain goals set for members in their demonstrations for 1938.

Boys' clubs were met at Flatwood, Kokomo, Alameda, Carbon, Okra, New Hope, Gorman, Desdemona, Morton Valley, Colony and Peak. Meetings of a similar nature have been planned for in three other communities.

During 4-H club meetings the 1937 year's work was reviewed by Barnhart who collected data concerning the number of boys who completed records on the demonstrations they carried. Cook outlined briefly the eight types of demonstrations recommended for members in 1938. It was pointed out that every Club boy must conduct a satisfactory demonstration in order to be eligible to enter county and state contests. An accurate record must be kept on each demonstration, it was added.

A brief outline of the eight types of demonstrations recommended by the County Agents for 1938 is as follows:

Breeding Hog Demonstration
Start with not less than two purebred barrow pigs in November. Supply green pasture. Feed a balanced ration preferably in a self-feeder Weigh barrows twice per month. Show barrows in March and sell through 4-H Club Pool.

Beef Calf Feeding
Start with purebred steer calf in November. Keep calf in separate pen and stall. Feed a balanced ration. Make halter and train calf to lead and pose. Show calf in March and sell through 4-H Club Pool.

Dairy Demonstration
Starting with yearling Registered Jersey heifer not later than December 15th. Feed a balanced ration. Breed when 14 months of age to registered Jersey bull. Fit and show heifer in spring and fall shows. Make a halter and train heifer to lead and pose.

Poultry Demonstration
Start in February with not less than 100 baby chicks. Feed starter and growing rations approved by County Agents. Sell or caponize cockerels at broiler stage. Cull pullets and feed laying ration. Keep accurate production records. Show pen of birds at County Fair.

Dust plants with sulphur and calcium arsenate to control flea hoppers and boll weevils. Exhibit bolls and stalks at County Fair. Keep seed pure and sell cotton through 4-H Club pool.

Peanut Growing

Roosevelt Is For New Labor Peace

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—President Roosevelt said today he always has favored reunion of the American Federation of Labor and the Committee for Industrial Organization.

Asked if he favored reunion of the warring labor factions, Mr. Roosevelt said he had always favored such action. He declined to expand on that statement.

Meanwhile conferees of the two groups came closer to an armistice than they have been since their dispute broke out two years ago. They expected to discuss a proposal this afternoon which would bar raids on each other's memberships.

Eastland Farmers On Radio Program

T. E. Castleberry of Eastland and Dick Weekes of Ranger, and County Agent Cook, presented a 15-minute radio program over an Abilene radio station Wednesday.

Using the subject, "Building Eastland county soils," the county agent told of the work that is being done in the county on terracing, pasture contouring and ridging, growing of soil improving crops, inoculation of legumes, plowing on contours, strip cropping and use of commercial fertilizers.

Castleberry told how he built terraces on 20 acres of cropland and 30 acres of pasture land at a cost of $63. He told how the water stood 18 inches deep above his terraces during recent rains, without breaking them.

Weekes gave an account of results he obtained with fertilizers on his peanuts this year. At a cost of $2.18 per acre he fertilized with 75 pounds of 11-45-0 fertilizer per acre and boosted his yield 10 bushels of peanuts and 11 bales of hay per acre.

Macspan Peanuts Bring High Yield

A yield of 23 bushels of Macspan peanuts as compared with 14 bushels of Spanish peanuts under similar conditions has been reported to the county agent by George C. Snyder of Gorman.

Snyder planted 10 bushels of the Macspan seed which he obtained from the Texas agricultural experiment station, on five and one-half acres of land, and harvested 125 bushels of peanuts. His other peanuts made only 14 bushels per acre in the same field.

Snyder inoculated all of his seed before planting, and fertilized with 40 pounds of 11-45-0 fertilizer.

Bedford Funeral Is Held at Cisco

Services for W. C. Bedford, 80, who died Tuesday morning at Ranger, were held Friday afternoon at Cisco at the First Methodist church with Rev. J. I. Patterson, pastor, conducting. Burial with Masonic rites followed.

Mr. Bedford moved to the county from Alabama when he was a youth. At one time Mr. Bedford and a brother, the late John Bedford, were merchants in Eastland. He had also farmed near Eastland.

In 1900 Mr. Bedford moved to Cisco where he was cashier of a bank. Later he was county clerk and during the Ranger oil boom moved to Desdemona. At Desdemona he was city tax collector, poultryman and a hotel proprietor.

Survivors are his wife and two daughters.

Many Masons and other citizens of this city attended the funeral.

Boy Claims to Be Lindbergh Baby

Another weird twist was added to the Lindbergh kidnaping case by the story, published in Belgium, that the boy pictured above had identified Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh as his father and Bruno Hauptmann as his kidnapper. Adopted by a family in Wayne, Belgium, the boy, now seven, is quite dark, whereas the Lindbergh baby was fair. He speaks English.

Two Ranger Games Are Transferred To Other Towns

W. T. Walton, superintendent of Ranger schools, has announced that the Cisco-Ranger game on Nov. 11 and the Stephenville-Ranger game on Thanksgiving day have been transferred to Cisco and Stephenville, respectively.

"Both Cisco and Stephenville wanted the games," Walton explained, "and it will put our schedule for 1938 into pretty good shape by letting them have them."

"Next year, with the transfer of these two games, we will have Abilene, Breckenridge, Brownwood, Cisco and Stephenville. Be at home, while San Angelo, Sweetwater, Big Spring and Eastland will be played away from home."

"The San Angelo and Sweetwater games were played in those two towns this year with an agreement that the games would not come back to Ranger next year. These concessions were made necessary in order that the entire Oil Belt schedule would not become muddled in 1938, and transfer of the two games this year, while it leaves us only two home games for 1937, simplifies our schedule for next year."

Speculation Called Risky By President

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—President Roosevelt today characterized stock market speculation as "dangerous."

Mr. Roosevelt's stock market comment was in answer to a question about his conference in New York City with F. H. LaGuardia, newly re-elected mayor.

"Speculation in news stories is just as dangerous as speculation on the stock exchange," said Mr. Roosevelt.

Asked if he had any plans to make stock investments less dangerous, the President said the situation worked both ways. If it were more dangerous fewer people would engage in the market and if it were not so dangerous everyone would make money out of it.

The President declined to comment on LaGuardia's victory over Jeremiah Mahoney, Democratic candidate.

The girl died of a fractured skull after Donald had struck her with a cardboard tube, police said.

1937 ROLL FOR TAXES GETS OKEH

Eastland county's 1937 tax roll showing property valuations of $21,421,040, was approved Friday by commissioners' court in session at Eastland.

Valuations for the year showed a $264,730 drop from the 1936 tax year. However, the drop was not as large as in 1936, when valuations that year were $731,380 less than 1935.

Collections for the year from the valuations was placed at $473,487.73. That figure represents state, county, polls, and school tax collections.

The $21,421,040 valuation does not include intangible values on pipe lines which are to be certified by the state tax board for the year.

Isom was shot to death in a quarrel with Smith during which Isom's father was wounded.

PENSION ROLL CUTS DENIED BY WALLACE

AUSTIN, Nov. 5.—A house of representatives committee, meeting here today, took prompt steps to check a report that 10,000 names were to be stricken from Texas Old Age Assistance rolls.

No order has been issued, either by federal or state officials, to take off any specific number, John Wallace, member of the state board of control said.

Wallace said there will be ample revenue to carry on assistance at the existing rate indefinitely, so long as payments of a bank debt of $1,626,000 is not "forced."

He said there is no indication that payment will be forced. Wallace did not know what authority there was for a printed report that 10,000 would be taken from the rolls.

Gov. Alfred said he would oppose any reduction of the rolls.

"The rolls are too small, rather than too large," said Alfred. "I know of some borderline cases where help should be extended that now is refused. If the rolls are to be reduced indirectly, let's have a showdown."

Texas' November list totaled 114,000 allotted an average of $14. Care of poor folk less than 65 years old will fall largely on the Texas Relief Commission this winter. The commission has ample funds to carry on through the entire winter. Direct relief payment was discontinued some time ago. The balance of the "bread bond" issue is used in distributing federal surplus products.

Town's Income to Cover Charities

INDEPENDENCE, Mo.—While other municipalities are going through their annual drives for Community Chest charity funds this fall, this community of 20,000 will enjoy a "breathing spell" in the knowledge that a full program of aid will go forward without the need of contributions.

The city administration stepped into the charity situation with the offer to provide the full $20,000 goal out of city surplus funds.

The offer came as generals, captains and business men workers of the community chest drive prepared to seek funds in a campaign they knew would be difficult.

Merchants lately have felt the weight of sales taxes, social security taxes and other levies by the state and federal government and when the city relieved them of the charity burden they hailed the move as a welcome "breathing spell."

The city's action as announced by Mayor Roger T. Sermon was made possible by the administration's development of a $1,000,000 municipally owned electric light plant and the careful husbanding of the plant's income. Since the first of the year the council has been enabled to reduce city taxes from 9 to 6 mills on the $1 valuation, saving the taxpayers approximately $30,000, and has been able to put into effect a 10 per cent reduction of light bills paid before delinquency, a saving of $24,000.

Maintenance of streets without direct taxation and an appropriation of $44,000 for civic improvements also have been accomplished through the light plant earnings and economical government.

Mayor Sermon said: "The city administration, the civic relief in charge of the charity drive feel that our charity needs can be financed without burdening the workers with the colossal task of raising $20,000. Our generous citizens will be given what they ask and deserve—a breathing spell. The city government is in position this year to render this service to its citizens despite some unusual other services and an appreciable tax reduction. We are therefore happy to announce there will be no charity drive."

WIDE USE SEEN IN '38 FOR NEW COTTON PICKER

Machines of Two Types Do Work of 75 Men in Experiments.

By W. F. DeLOACHE
United Press Staff Correspondent

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — Sixteen cotton pickers which can pick more cotton per day than 75 men—today appeared virtually certain of harvesting a significant part of Dixie's 1938 crop. Both the Rust Brothers and the International Harvester Co.—whose machines are the furthest developed—have taken orders from planters of the fertile Mississippi Delta, where pickers will be operated next season.

Pickers of each company contained field tests this season—almost within sight of each other near Clarksdale, Miss. One of the Rust machines is at the Delta Experiment Station at Stoneville, undergoing government-supervised tests.

Weather curbed operations somewhat although John Rust reported that his machine harvested more than 40 bales this season.

The harvester company released no report on their experimental tests.

The Rust concern has two revised models built; one in operation in Mississippi, the other in Tashkent, Russian Turkestan, under the supervision of Mack Rust.

Five pickers are being tried by the harvester company near Clarksdale, Stoneville, San Antonio, Texas; El Paso and Phoenix, Ariz.

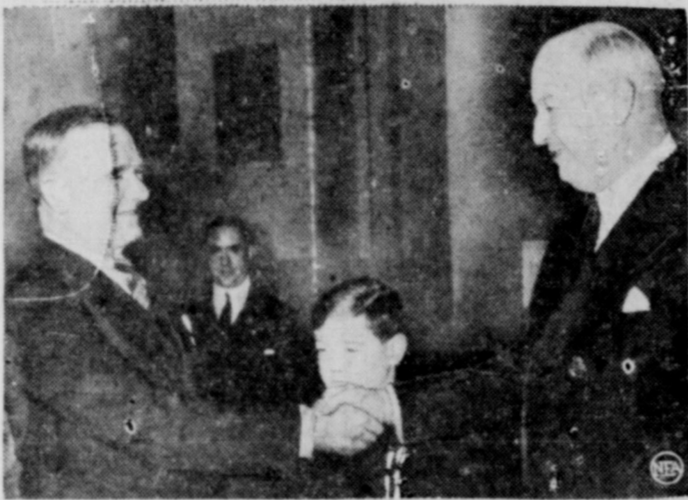

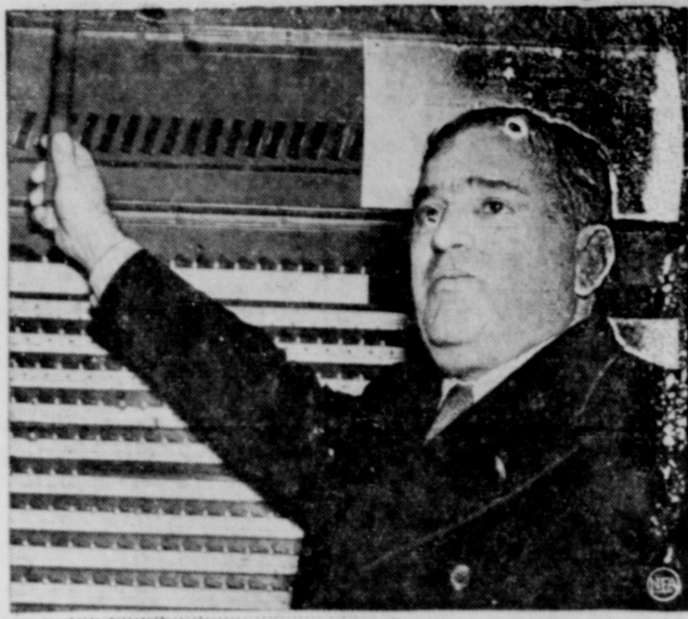

In general, both machines are alike, although they differ in operating details. Each apparatus plucks the fiber by means of whirling spindles that penetrate the stalks as they pass through a picking tube. The stalks are reached on both sides of the tractor-mounted machines by tandem picking units in staggered formation.

The type of spindles used is one basic difference. Short, heavy, conical and roughened spindles are employed in one model. In the other the apparatus carries many lone, wire-like smooth spindles on an endless belt on each of its two picking units.

The fundamental difference of the revised Rust machine and the one previously exhibited is that the newer device has two picking units instead of one, picking each row twice in one operation.

John Rust said the new picker stripped open bolls with little loss and the cotton showed small loss in grade after it was ginned. Figures on one continuous run showed that the machine picked 9-

Victor and Vanquished at New York City Polls

Although all independent polls indicated a landslide victory for him, Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia wears a very somber expression when he emerges, at top, from the voting booth in New York City. Tammany Hall kept up its struggle until the last vote was cast to regain the majority. Postmaster General James Farley, right, who below wishes Democratic candidate Jeremiah Mahoney luck in the contest against LaGuardia, was called to bring personal pressure to bear in the campaign windup.

027 pounds of Delfos cotton in 7 hours, 35 minutes. Labor and fuel cost was 18 cents per 100 pounds on this run. (A man picking cotton does well to average 150 pounds a day).

The only available report on the International machine showed it was 90 per cent efficient in picking open cotton. W. C. Evers, factory expert conducting experiments, estimated fuel cost at 20 cents per hour, for 2.2 gallons of low grade gasoline. Officials said the picker would sell for about $1,600.

Brothers Travel 174,960 Miles to Get An Education

By United Press

CLEVELAND — Thomas Sebian has returned to Cathedral Latin high school carrying on a "commuting tradition" started and held by the Sebian brothers of Painesville, O., and after much addition and multiplication, he computed the distance the Sebian brothers had traveled to school at 174,960 miles.

George, who now is 28, and the oldest Sebian brother started the school-going tradition. After George, there followed four more Sebian brothers—Paul, 26; Aloysius, 21; William, 18 and now Thomas, 16. The Sebian family commuted between their home in Painesville to Cathedral Latin—a distance of 27 miles by train, "thumbing" and by offering through an advertisement, to "divvy up" the gasoline bill with a commuting motorist.

Francis Sebian, another brother who comes between Paul and Aloysius with an age of 23, was put out of the commuting when his leg was broken in seven places in a motorcycle accident.

Two more Sebian brothers, Richard, an eighth grader, and John a fifth grade—expect to follow the others to Cathedral Latin in a few years.

Mary Ann, the family "baby" won't carry on the Sebian brothers' tradition. Cathedral Latin is a boys' school.

Each of his four brothers that preceded him to Cathedral Latin made the 54-mile round trip on 180 school days each year for four years. He multiplied the school days by the mileage.

He then calculated the miles he and his two brothers still in school have traveled. By the same method he also calculated the number of miles they will have to travel before graduation—97,200.

Eastern papers are beginning to speak of New York's Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia as a possible Republican presidential nominee in 1940. After the Sunflower, the Little Mower.

The Rust machine was expected to sell for $4,800, complete with tractor. John Rust estimated operating expense, including labor fuel, interest, etc., at about $1.75 an acre. Rust believes his machine, which has been equipped with lights, could be operated continuously for 24 hours.

The Rust Brothers announced plans of a Rust Foundation, whose purpose it would be to use profits from their machine to alleviate possible depressed social conditions resulting from efficient operation of a mechanical cotton picker.

Termed "Man of Iron" for his activity in quelling anti-British demonstrations in Calcutta, India, grint Sir Charles Tegart, shown above with the ever-present British umbrella, has been ordered to Palestine to advise on measures against Arab terrorists. He had several narrow escapes from assassination as he waged a vigorous campaign against Indian extremists in 1930.

His 'Iron Rule' Over Palestine

Guided by railway officials, the European executive has been specially impressed, he said, by the extent an organization of American underground terminals, the frequency and precision of train service, the number of tracks, air conditioning, the cleanliness of railroad terminals and the surprising comfort of railway coaches.

It is impossible to make comparison between American and European railways, Senn said, since the wealth of the systems and the volume of travel are relatively much greater in the United States.

In explaining Hungarian railroad technique, Senn pointed out several original features. The conductors on international trains in Hungary speak several languages. The names of important Hungarian railroad stations are inscribed in neon lights. Tourists, on crossing the borders, are met by official "greeters" much as in western American cities. All visas on American passports have been eliminated to facilitate travel, and every effort is made to please the foreign visitor and smooth his journey, according to Dr. Senn.

Rail Executive of Hungary Amazed By United States

NEW YORK—Dr. Otto Senn, president of the Hungarian Government Railways, has arrived on a visit to the United States to study American railway technique first hand.

Guided by railway officials, the European executive has been specially impressed, he said, by the extent an organization of American underground terminals, the frequency and precision of train service, the number of tracks, air conditioning, the cleanliness of railroad terminals and the surprising comfort of railway coaches.

Arrive to Pave Way for Windsors

Often the posts to the Duke and Duchess of Windsor, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bedaux are pictured on arrival at New York, to arrange final details of the cross-country tour the royal couple will undertake in their international study of labor and housing. However, the Bedauxs refused to discuss plans for the journey.

Why Britain Nears Break With Japan

The casualties suffered by British outposts at Shanghai have strained relations with Japan, but the incidents are only the last straws in a sequence that threatens to break the diplomatic camel's back. Pictured are evidence in two other incidents—below, the car, with the Union Jack painted on top and another flying from a staff on the running board, bombed nevertheless by Japanese aviators; and above, the Shanghai home of a Briton, bombed despite the flag that still hangs crazily from the wreckage at right.

Team Work is Needed to Move a Heavy Load

Overtures toward peace between the Committee for Industrial Organization and the American Federation of Labor, however embryonic and ineffectual, arouse hope that America's prolonged labor conflict soon may be terminated.

As a pawn between two bitterly opposing forces, each striving for dominance, the workingman has been the real loser in the year-long conflict. With a bright era of industrial prosperity near, firm establishment of business upon a definite road to recovery has been impeded, if not blocked, by a turbulent labor situation.

A team will never accomplish much if energy is wasted pulling against each other. Achievement is possible only when forces co-ordinate, in harmonious and unified effort.

If a wagon bogs down in sand, two horses may lunge against their collars until exhausted, churning up a great flurry of dust without ever moving the load. But two lighter, better trained and disciplined animals can move the wagon with comparative ease, if they pull together.

If their avowed principles be fact, both the C. I. O. and the A. F. of L. are striving for the same goal, the improvement of laboring conditions and a just distribution of industrial profits. But in place of united action toward fulfillment of that aim, the past year has seen factional battles, fraught with violence, for the right to control.

Taking no sides in the controversy, the average individual can easily see the gigantic waste of effort that might have been put to better use. That there are convincing arguments for organization along the lines laid down by the C. I. O. is undoubtedly true. And equally admissible are the contentions of the 'A. F. of L. that the course of action it has pursued in organization is sound.

But there is no truth, no basis in fact or reason that one faction, and one alone should be supreme, dominant in every instance. If labor would reach the goals it has set for itself it will be necessary for the leaders of these two great organizations to sit down, in amiable conference, each granting concessions, each agreeing on "spheres of influence" and control. Only in this way can American labor achieve greatness.

It's foolish to argue that the law has no heart. Look how easily a sheriff may develop an attachment for your house.

Football is back again, and with it the great game of trying to distinguish the head linesman from the radio broadcasters.

Detroit has a driving class for traffic violators, which every student, presumably, will flunk until he learns how to pass properly.

'RAILROADS TO ASK FOR NEW RATE INCREASE'

News From 4-H Clubs of County

'Well planned and arranged shelves will double the storage capacity of a clothes closet,' says Aline Upton, clothing demonstrator of the girls' 4-H club at the Rising Star Grammar School. 'As it is necessary for six to use the one closet we now have and impossible to build another, I plan to rearrange the shelves more conveniently. I will make narrow shelves for some things and wider shelves for others. I will use one shelf for placing my hat racks and the others for storing folded garments. Shelves spaced 10 to 12 inches apart are convenient. I plan to paint all my shelves white.'

Behind the Scenes in Washington

WASHINGTON—Frank C. Walker, New Deal troubleshooter and "mystery man," is likely to become director of the Bureau of the Budget. The element of doubt about it appears to rest in the question whether Roosevelt can persuade Walker to take over the job. Heretofore Walker usually has succumbed to the blandishments of his close friend in the White House when the latter has beseeched him to take over a difficult administration job. Walker doesn't want to be director of the Budget, but he probably will be, just the same. The budget and the matter of balancing it have become an increasingly serious problem in the President's mind. Ever since Director Lew Douglas quit his post in 1934, the budget has been in charge of capable Acting Director Dan Bell, who is guided to a large degree by Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, who in turn is so subject to White House supervision that Roosevelt sometimes is called "his own Secretary of the Treasury."

Students and Convicts Discuss Same Topic

ST. LOUIS.—Prison inmates and university students have the same chief topics of conversation—namely, sex and religion—according to the Rev. Donald M. Cleary, Catholic chaplain at Cornell University and former New York state prison chaplain. In a talk before the Third National Catechetical Congress here, Father Cleary related that while a prison chaplain he had asked 20 inmates each day what their chief conversational topics. The answers were almost invariably "sex and religion." In the two years he has been at Cornell, Father Cleary said, he has continued this practice among the students. He said the responses have been virtually the same.

Grand chap, who uprooted himself and went wandering." "You know him?" Jill's tone was incredulous. "We were at Eton together as small chaps. Alan was the star of the school. Headmaster's favorite and all that, which didn't interfere with his popularity with the students."

Jill scarcely breathed. "Then?" her eager voice prompted. "Alan went the educational way. I had to drop out. Family fortunes, you know. He studied. He must have been accumulating a vast amount of knowledge, besides indulging himself in the study of art."

"The Jeffrys all go in for politics," he answered. Parliament is a tradition. Lord Jeffrey—" "Lord—" broke in Jill faintly. "Yes. Didn't you know? He has always been a staunch conservative. But he is growing old, and he wanted the mantle to fall upon Alan. It must have been a great blow to the old man when Alan would have none of politics. They quarreled. I believe he told Alan that if he could prove he could support himself with his painting as an Englishman gentleman should be supported, he could follow his bent. Otherwise, he must return to the fold and follow his father."

"Oh," exclaimed Jill. "Did he agree?" "Yes. He's a family loving chap at heart. Loved the old home, an ancestral place called Templeogue, which in the Gaelic means 'dear abiding place.'"

Jill sat with a lump in her throat, her eyes misted over with tears. How many humiliations must have come to Alan in the course of his testing period. One of them—the hardest to bear—her own careless plan to pave his rocky way with gold.

"I'm sorry I can't wait to meet him," Ainsley said. "He is one of the finest chaps I know. But I'm taking a train out tonight, on my way south to visit friends. Hello!" he was glancing at his watch. "I'm running late. I must look up your mother and father and thank them for a delightful evening."

"Don't stop for that," Jill said. "You might miss your train. I'll tell them for you."

After he had gone, Jill crossed to a window and stood staring out. She felt faint and confused. Lord Jeffrey was entering the ballroom, his face looked white and red. He turned and walked on the room.

Who had summoned him? What did it mean? Jill heard her father's voice through her veiled abstraction.

"I'll much rather talk than see," he said. "Could we?" Jill led the way to a secluded room. A small enclosed sunroom led into the first room of her father's double study.

"This is jolly," Victor Ainsley said. "May I smoke?" "There are a great many English people in town," Jill said. "If you weren't leaving early, I'm seeing an English friend soon."

Q. Why hasn't the State appropriated money for the purchase of land for the big Bend National Park?

A. At its last regular session the Legislature appropriated $750,000 for that purpose, but Governor Allred vetoed the appropriation, giving as his reasons that the State was without funds and that the National Government had not obligated itself to spend any certain amount for improvement and maintenance of the park.

BRANCH RICKEY, never lacking for a bright reply, says the cohesion of the American League has enabled it to plaster the National.

The director of the far-flung St. Louis Cardinal chain admits that the American League boasts baseball's top team in the New York Yankees, but challenges feebly the current claim that the younger circuit, as a whole, is superior to the elder.

"The leagues average about the same strength," explains Rickey. "We've got as good pitching, fielding, and power as the American. There's one thing we don't have, though. That's the unity of the American. In their desire to beat the National, American League clubs are one. We have concentrated on our intramural fight. This we must correct."

Rickey wouldn't break up the Yankees "for the good of baseball" even if he could.

ON the other hand, it is his view that the Ruppert Rifles have issued a challenge to the rest of their field and to the National League.

"Baseball must answer it by a general improvement on all fronts, and not by weakening the Yankees," asserts the r in whose resourcefulness and hard work brought the revolutionizing farm systems to the game. "There is no point in aiming at a lower standard."

Rickey believes that the Yankees will win five more pennants in the next 10 years.

He attributes the tremendous success of Col. Jacob Ruppert's organization to the fact that it is not a profit-making concern. "Perhaps this is because mapping a plan of battle calculated to whip the Yankees would be especially difficult for the head of an organization which no longer seems able to win in a mediocre loop despite the fact that it controls some 300 athletes."

As Rickey suggests, an armistice in the National League's intramural scrap, which would enable its members to get down to the serious assignment of leveling on the American Leaguers might help. That and a few good ball players.

THE tongue of beef can protest loudly against the rising cost of meat. The liver of beef is reeked with nutritious protest against the sky high price of sirloin steak, and cuts from the round supply strength and encouragement in the fight for more moderate family living.

Beef Tongue With Nut Brown Sauce
(4 to 6 servings with some left over for tomorrow's luncheon)

One beef tongue, 1 bay leaf, 1 small piece garlic, 1 stalk celery, 1-1/2 tablespoons cooking fat, 1-1/2 tablespoons flour, 1/2 lemon.

Place tongue in kettle of boiling water. Add bay leaf, garlic and celery. Simmer until tender. Don't rush it, give it plenty of time. Remove and skin at once. Then cut into individual slices. Heat the cooking fat in saucpan and stir in the flour. When flour is well-browned and blended, slowly add enough stock in which tongue was cooked to make enough sauce to cover the slices of meat. Then place the slices of tongue in the sauce, add salt to taste, pepper, and lemon juice. Simmer about 5 minutes, then serve with slices of hard cooked eggs. The contrast of rich brown sauce with the gold and white of the egg will put a handsome aspect on the battle for lower meat costs.

Sauteed Liver Goulash
(4 to 6 servings)

One and a half pounds fresh beef liver, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoon bacon drippings, 1 large onion, 2 large carrots, 1-2 bay leaf, salt and pepper, soup stock.

Wipe liver with damp cloth and remove thin outside skin and veins. Parboil 10 minutes. Drain and slice into medium size pieces. Heat butter and bacon drippings in large iron skillet. Season sliced liver and roll in flour. Then brown on all sides in hot fat. Chop onion, carrots, cut carrot into cubes and break up bay leaf. Brown onion and carrot slightly in fat. Then slowly add clear soup stock or hot water, just enough to half cover liver. Simmer, covered, until liquid is used up, then add more. Continue until liver is tender. Add more liquid and thicken if needed. Serve this inexpensive meat with a mountain of fluffy mashed potatoes.

Round steak with mustard is a simple yet amazingly delicious dish. Allow two pounds inch thick round steak for 4 to 6 servings. Wipe it with damp cloth, then rub lightly with a clove of garlic. Next, with a sharp knife, criss-cross it until both sides are lined with deep gashes. Into these cuts rub dry mustard. Brown in a little butter or other grease. Add a little water and bake in oven for 1 hour, turning frequently. Add more water when necessary. Tender, gracious with flavor, inexpensive, it calls for the company of a perfectly baked potato.

Love's a Song—Kisses Are 'Strictly Business'

Romantic melodists of opera and screen are the three ladies pictured above in osculatory poses, but it's "strictly business," not love, that is responsible for these kisses. Gaetano Mergola, San Francisco opera director, bestows a welcoming kiss on tiny Lily Pons as she arrives for an engagement. Amelita Galli-Curci, absent from the concert stage for several years following a throat operation, affectionately greets L. E. Behymer, her Pacific coast manager in Los Angeles, as she continues a "comeback" concert tour. A resounding "smack" followed the Sophie Tucker-Eddie Cantor amorous pose at right, as the "last of the red-hot mamas" wished Eddie good night after his party commemorating 25 years as an entertainer.
