Chimp With Aching Tooth Turns Dentist

By United Press
ST. LOUIS—Jackie, a chimpanzee at the zoo, had a tooth-ache. Several of his companions tried to pull the aching molar with their fingers, but were unsuccessful. Zoo attendants then gave Jackie a pair of pliers, and after a little experimentation he clamped them around the tooth and yanked it out. The other chimpanzees then stomped the tooth, shrieking imprecations.

I AM AN ADVERTISING MAN

For over thirty years I have been writing advertisements for national advertisers — shoes, soap, cereals, automobiles, radios, tobacco, blankets, tooth powder.

To me it is the most fascinating work in the world — learning about the merits of merchandise and then telling people about them — bringing greater comfort, and enjoyment, into people's lives — introducing people to new pleasures, helping them to get the most for their money.

Besides being fascinating, it is satisfying! My intimate experience with advertisers has shown me that, except for rare exceptions, the manufacturers and merchants of this nation lean over backwards to be sincere and honest.

The law of advertising is simple once one understands its working — the more people know about the merit of a product, the more people buy it. The greater the volume of sales, the less the cost to manufacture. Savings in making mean either lower prices to the consumer or greater value put back into the merchandise.

As an advertising man I can sincerely affirm that it pays to read the advertisements in the newspapers — for news of new things, for bargains and savings.

There are thousands of other men — and women — devoting their lives to advertising writing, who will tell you the same thing. THEY KNOW!

He'll Never Know His Daddy, 71

His 71-year-old father, who dropped dead before he was born, was a railroad man, but David Wilson Gowder, 3d, will be a farm boy, if his 24-year-old mother, the former Jewell McDaniel of Atlanta, Ga., has anything to do with it. She's going to move her healthy 4-month-old son to the farm she just bought at Powder Springs, Ga.

Peanut Picker Successful In Georgia Tests

ALBANY, Ga. — The peanut harvester is the latest mechanical farm machine to be demonstrated successfully in the South.

Albert Henderson, of Albany, is the inventor and has demonstrated the picker in the peanut fields near here this year.

Henderson got his idea for the harvester from watching moles and salamanders burrow under a row of peanuts and cut the tap roots. He noticed that roots so undetermined then could easily be lifted from the ground.

He then fashioned a plow similar to the nose of the salamander and so that it might be put at the proper depth for varying soils, he conceived the idea of a plow with its depth in the ground controlled by a lever.

Henderson then designed the fingers and hands for a circular belt to grab the vines in the ground just above the plow and elevate them from the soil as the clinging clods of top soil were broken off.

Two types of the harvester have been made. One has a single unit and plows one row at a time while the other has multiple units, is drawn by a tractor and picks a number of rows at a time.

Farmers declare peanut production should boom with the introduction of the harvester. One of the greatest difficulties of the crop has been the gathering.

Peanuts must be gathered at the moment they ripen. If they are gathered too early or late the quality is poor. Since peanuts mature usually during cotton-picking season most farm workers are engaged, and harvesting the crop has been a major problem, which the mechanical picker should solve.

Texas Is 39th In Proportion of Her Workers

DALLAS, Texas.—Texas, the nation's fifth ranking state in population, stands only 39th in percentage of workers gainfully employed in manufacturing and mechanical industries, and, although it is the leading state in value of mineral production, is only 15th in ratio of persons engaged in mineral producing industries.

There are two of the more significant items illustrating Texas' occupational characteristics contained in a recent Dun and Bradstreet survey of "resources and debts of the 48 states," says a report of the All-South Development Council. While the survey deals primarily with debt-paying abilities of the states, the analysis of economic characteristics directly affecting these abilities naturally reveals comparisons useful in charting industrial expansion possibilities, the report pointed out.

Instead of identifying the various states economically by their totals off production in the three principal productive divisions—agriculture, minerals, and manufacturing—the survey identifies them by the proportions of working population engaged in each. This method minimizes much of the dominance which Texas, by virtue of its great size, has seemed to have in various agricultural tables. It is outranked by 13 other states in per cent of population engaged in agriculture.

In a tabulated analysis of proportionate "gainful employment" for all the states and the country as a whole, Texas' percentage of workers in manufacturing, 15.6, shows a much greater deficiency from the U. S. norm of 29.3, than in any other division.

Among the 38 states ahead of Texas in the manufacturing and mechanical industries table are: Louisiana, whose progress in the last year has drawn nationwide editorial comment on the effectiveness of its "welcome to industries" program, with 18 per cent; California, which is nearly Texas' size and has impressive agriculture and mining production, yet has 24.7 per cent engaged in manufacturing; and Alabama, not generally regarded as a manufacturing state, 18.1 per cent. Rhode Island, the smallest state, is far in the lead with 55.1 per cent.

The Texas percentage of 2.4, of persons engaged in mineral production, is exactly the same as the national percentage, although Texas, on the basis of 1935 figures, topped all states, including Pennsylvania, California, West Virginia, Oklahoma, Ohio and Louisiana in mineral values with a total of $528,000,000. Oil, natural gas, sulphur and natural gas mineral products, none of her other many mineral resources constituting appreciable employment sources despite many surveys showing their potentialities.

The survey showed Texas ranking seventh in farm cash income, behind California, Illinois, Ohio, New York, Wisconsin and Indiana, and gave an interesting breakdown of the state's relative sources of farm revenue. It showed that cotton, as would be expected, accounted for 51.7 per cent; cattle, 11.2 per cent; milk, 4.5; poultry and eggs, 3.8, and sheep and wool, regarded as major Texas products, only 3.7 per cent. The preponderance of cotton, and the relatively minor part of milk, in the Texas farm income picture, are significant when it is noted that, nationally, milk accounts for 17.9 per cent of total farm income compared to only 11.9 for cotton. Cattle was second, nationally, at 12.5 per cent.

Except for the "shortage" in manufacturing, the Texas figures in the comprehensive table showing percentage of gainfully employed workers in all classes of employment compare favorably with the United States averages. They are shown as follows: Agriculture, Texas 38.1, U. S. 21.5; mineral production, Texas 2.4; U.

Is Youth Receiving Its Proper Chance?

Nobody wants to see the United States descend to the sort of regimentation of youth that puts dummy rifles in boys' hands at 3, start them drilling at 5, teaches them nothing but a blind, pre-digested philosophy, and turns them eventually into robots with bulging muscles and no more brains than a Hottentot.

But that does not mean that we can afford to let young men and women grow up on the sidewalks without a decent chance to get interested in something that will help them to make something of themselves.

In the county jail at Cleveland sit five young men. They are not unusual. Every city has scores just like them.

These five youths, ranging from 16 to 20 years old, are charged with cold-bloodedly shooting down two policemen who stopped them at a gas station on suspicion of several holdups. What brings a young life to this at 16?

Let us go back to babyhood with Anthony Liberatore, born 16 years ago to parents married in Naples, Italy, 30 years ago.

Anthony was little more than 10 when he first got into trouble for stealing some golf clubs and a fishing reel. Tony was paroled to a probation officer. Three months later, he was accused of helping two other boys steal 34 cents from a newsboy.

Five months later he admitted stealing some padlocks from a dime store. Then came failure in school. He was sent to a special summer school under close supervision. Eighteen months of that showed such improvement that he was released from juvenile court supervision. Almost four years passed before he got into trouble again.

Two years ago he was caught trying to break into a fruit store. At that time others of his "gang" were sent to various institutions for more serious offenses.

While they were absent, Tony improved greatly. He was a regular at school, earned as much as $10 a week in free hours, had a savings account and a Y. M. C. A. membership.

Then his old gang began to drift back into town. He found the neighborhood gang more attractive and satisfying than his own home. And when this 16-year-old was arrested after the police murders, there were powder marks on his hands.

Who put them there? First, of course, Tony himself. But there is a limit to the responsibility that you can put on a boy of 16, with an intelligence quotient of 73, on the borderline of mental deficiency.

The family, of course, shares responsibility, for after all they brought the boy into the world, and gave him little attention at home "until he began to be a problem."

But on all of us there is some responsibility for those fell-tale powder-marks. For it is all of us collectively who have failed to provide interests and opportunities that would have been more attractive to this boy than gangs and guns.

Italy Remains Sure of Gold From Ethiopia

United Press Staff Correspondent
ROME, Jan. 7. — Ethiopian gold, platinum, coffee and hides are beginning to pay the huge cost of conquest of the East African Empire.

Italian colonial experts still talk in the most optimistic terms of the mineral and agricultural resources of Ethiopia. However, one year and a half after Italian troops entered Addis Ababa see only these four products and several others to a minor degree coming out of Ethiopia to help foot the bill.

While much publicity is given to the exploitation of these four key products, definite statistics are lacking.

Gold, which Premier Mussolini in a recent speech said existed in considerable quantities in East Africa, is being extracted at a reported rate of about 200 pounds a month. Great hopes are held for a doubled output during the coming year.

Six Mines Laid Out.
It is reported that six mines are already being exploited. Villages for workers have been constructed and all the necessary modern equipment installed.

At one of the mines in Uguro, more than 150 tons of auriferous soil is treated monthly. Between 18 and 20 grams of gold is extracted per ton of metal producing soil in other zones. This allegedly equals the yield of Rhodesian and Transvaal veins.

The report is current in Italy that another mine will be opened shortly from which experts hope to extract 200 pounds of yellow metal monthly. The opening of this mine would alone double the present output.

About 1,000 pounds of platinum is being extracted from Ethiopian soil per annum at the moment. Like gold, platinum has always been mined by the natives, but in minor quantities.

The output has been increased because of the installation of modern equipment and new methods of extraction. Experts believe they have only scratched the gold and platinum possibilities and that once other zones are studied and new highways built to reach these zones, the yield will show a big jump.

Coffee No. 1 Export
Coffee, which might be termed "Italy's national drink," is Ethiopia's No. 1 export product. Between 30,000 and 350,000 quintals (66 to 77 million pounds) is produced annually.

Only 60,000 quintals of this is annually shipped to Italy. This is explained by the fact that present trade agreements between Italy and Brazil obliges the former to continue importing most of its coffee from South America.

Ethiopia exports the remainder

Simple Recipe For Home Made Chili

The Gebhardt Chili Powder company of San Antonio offers a very simple recipe to make delicious chili at home. Here is all you have to do:

- 2 Lbs. of beef.
  - 2 tablespoons Gebhardt's chili powder.
  - 3 tablespoons flour.
  - 2 teaspoons salt.
  - 4 tablespoons shortening.
  - 1 1/2 quarts hot water.
  - Can of Gebhardt's spiced beans if desired.
- Chop or cut the meat in small pieces. Sear well in shortening. Add Gebhardt's chili powder, salt and water. Simmer until tender. Add flour to thicken gravy a few minutes before serving. Serve hot.
- This recipe may disappoint you unless you use Gebhardt's chili powder. Gebhardt's chili powder is a complete flavoring, containing the necessary spices, etc., in combination with a blend of imported and domestic chili peppers, to give you the perfect Mexican flavor for chili.
- The Gebhardt Chili Powder company has been a Texas institution for 41 years.

of its coffee crop to the United States, principally Holland, Sweden and Norway—old customers dating back to pre-Memelik days. Italy encourages these exports as it brings precious foreign currency to the shrunken Fascist treasury.

Hide Business Good.
Skins and hides came out of Ethiopia in considerable quantities but no statistics are available. The only information throwing light on Ethiopian skin and hide production is the report that the Italian company which holds a monopoly on this industry netted a clear profit of $150,000 in the last six months.

Tobacco, precious woods, fibers, cement, fruits, cattle and grains are the other items which are being produced and shipped to Italy in minor quantities.

The presence of iron, tungsten, coal, tin, gas and petroleum is said to have been ascertained by geologists. Furthermore, the natural layout of the huge colony, seven times larger than the homeland, does not preclude its great agricultural potentialities.

For the present, however, there are only these few products to justify the conquest of Ethiopia in an economic sense. Only time will tell whether other items will be added to the small list to help defray the huge bill which Italy had to pay to join the select family of empires of the world.

BELL UNIQUE IN HISTORY
MILFORD, N. H.—Hanging in the Town House is a 135-year-old bell that has sounded a death knell for every President but George Washington. Cast in 1802 by Paul Revere, it remains mellow-toned and uncracked, tolling the hours daily.

HOME-MADE CHILI
Easy to make with this simple Gebhardt's recipe.

Gebhardt's CHILI POWDER

2 Lbs. beef, 2 Tbsp. Gebhardt's Chili Powder, 3 Tbsp. flour, 2 Tsp. salt, 4 Tbsp. shortening, 1 1/2 Quarts hot water, 1 Can Gebhardt's Spiced Beans if desired.

Chop or cut the meat in small chunks. Sear well in shortening. Add Gebhardt's Chili Powder, salt and water. Simmer until tender. Add flour to thicken, gravy a few minutes before serving.

Behind the Scenes in Washington

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—"Lack of confidence" is so often said to be a fundamental factor in the business slump that it's a news item of the man-bites-dog type when anyone says that "too much confidence" rather than not enough, was one of the recession's major causes.

"The plain truth of the matter is that business in general had too much confidence, and speculated in inventory buying," says Dr. Leon Henderson, chief economist of WPA. "When a corporation is uncertain about the future, it does not buy materials, supplies and new machinery. Business went blindly ahead even when many storm warnings were signaling that the great mass of consumers lacked purchasing power to take their goods off the market."

Henderson's words have been carrying plenty of weight in Washington since he predicted the business recession, with startling accuracy, many months in advance.

According to Henderson's tabulations, 50 large corporations with total assets of $1,330,300,000, had inventories valued at $232,456,000 at the end of 1929. But at the end of last September, even though the price level was considerably lower, these inventories amounted to $285,606,000.

Those who are optimistic about business prospects are sure that industrial activity will pick up when inventories get worked off.

IN past years no president ever considered sending an Irish Catholic ambassador to London because relations between England and Ireland are always so delicate. But the appointment of Joseph P. Kennedy to the Court of St. James may turn out to be a good idea—because relations be-caused this receiver and Carbon Peanut company damages in the sum of $100,000, being the amount of profits lost from the operation of said business, together with the injury and damage done said business by reason of the loss of credit and ability to continue as a going business x x x" might have been hours, or days,

The knock was repeated, louder,

 A pillow, a small affair of silk

"Oh," Connie sat up, rubbed the

 "I'm sorry I hit you,"

The girl did not look up. She

"I said I'm sorry I hit you,"
 Connie repeated.

The girl glanced at her over her

"Can't you talk?" Connie asked.
 She sat up straight now, leaning forward to clasp her knees in her interest, lighted in her blue eyes.

The girl nodded solemnly. Her eyes, blue like Connie's, were wide not credit all they saw.

"Why don't you, then?" This time Connie's tone was touched with impatience. She reached for a negligee at the foot of the bed.
 She slung her feet to the floor, wiggled into blue silk mules, the heels of which were studded with rhinestones, walked over to her chaise longue and sat down.

"You took my breath," the girl said. "And I was told not to say

"I won't bite," Connie said. "I

"Then how would you like to be

WONDER what Hirsch Jacobs does to or whispers into the ears of his horses?

Whereas the great majority of trainers rise and fall with the fortunes of famous runners, Jacobs continues to make castoffs pay important money.

This is the fifth straight year that he has led the ranks. Jacobs first demonstrated that his transformation from an expert at racing pigeons, which is what he was in Brooklyn, to a race horse conditioner was a complete success in 1933, when he saddled 116 winners. He came through with 127 the following year and had 114 in 1935. Last year he amazed the gee-gee globe with 177, a total never before attained.

Jacobs-prepared nags earned $113,000 in 1934, fell short of $100,000 in '35, but grossed a cool $156,000 last year. And the best part of it is that Jacobs sharpens his own, or those of his wife. The swag stays in the family.

THERE are no Seabiscuits or War Admirals in the Jacobs string. Hirsch is the "Ol' Clo'esman of the Turf." He has gallopers which are not and never have been, world beaters. He purchases them when other trainers can't locate the operating formula for them and give up. He seldom fails to find the solution.

Dean of the Jacobs barn in Espinaca, an 8-year-old which, if memory serves, once sported the ribbons of the Greentree Stable. This thing appeared very promising a half dozen years ago, but those who "kicked him shortly rued the day.

Under Jacobs, however, Espinaca for the last two years has won a number of times and finished in the money on other occasions.

Spartan Lady and Fluffy are 7-year-olds, and then come the 6-year-olds, Signalman, Time Clock, and Observant. Signalman was one of the last of the Sir Bartons. For a while it looked as though he might be one of the foremost. Audley Farms were pretty high on him as a juvenile, but he faded quickly.

TIME Clock and Observant have enjoyed their own mede of fame. Observant was one of the top 3-year-olds of his year. Morton Schwartz, who owned him, finally peddled him to his trainer, none other than the canny Maxie Hirsch. But Maxie Hirsch surrendered, and now it remains for Hirsch Jacobs to put him back in winning strides.

This year, of course, Jacobs has had the rather capable South American horse, Caballero II, which chased Seabiscuit two or three times. Caballero II was good before Jacobs got him, but the magician of the tracks put this bangtail in his finest form to date.

The answer is that Hirsch Jacobs knows how to condition horses, and what is just as important, how to place them against the right kind of competition.

Perhaps some of the other trainers should take a course in racing pigeons.

THE year is new, but the taste for pie is as old as hungry men. Judging from the number of letters begging for more and more pie recipes, it looks as though 1938 will be the biggest pie year since the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

January Fruit Pie (2 crust 9-inch pie)

Three-quarter cup drained canned apricots, 3-4 cup drained canned or cooked prunes, 1-4 cup orange juice, 1-4 cup prune juice, 1-4 cup lemon juice, 1-4 cup apricot juice, 3-4 cup sugar, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1-4 cup flour, 1-2 cup water.

Line 9-inch pie plate with pastry. Cut apricots in half and prunes in quarters; combine fruit juices, sugar and salt, and add to prunes and cook about 5 minutes. Mix flour and water to a paste; stir into prune mixture and cook until thick, or about 10 minutes, stirring occasionally; add apricots. Turn into pastry lined plate and arrange lattice of pastry strips over top, and bake in hot oven (450 degrees F.) 10 minutes; then reduce heat to moderate (350 degrees F.) and bake 20 to 25 minutes longer.

That simple but agreeable pie recipe comes from the new and massive "America's Cook Book." This bountiful reservoir of household advice has over 3000 recipes, new diet ideas, menus for all occasions and for all types of people, as well as a section on the etiquette of dinner parties. We'll leave etiquette for another time; it's pie we're after now. "America's Cook Book" has another answer.

The program for the session was an "Our American Music" by John Howard. This book in a form of a study course on music and led by the State Department officials after its arrival from Japan.

In addition to showing the actual bombing of the Panay which precipitated an international situation of concern to officials, the film also shows events prior and subsequent to the sinking.

The New Lyric film will open with the Japanese attack on Nanking, then will show the flight of refugees up the river on the Panay, the sinking of the Panay, the boat's sinking and rescue of survivors, and their return to Shanghai.

Alley, a Universal Newsreel cameraman, received a $5,000 bonus from his company for his work in filming the historic event. The Alley film is shown in connection with the regular program.

Ex-County Judge Advocates Change In Fiscal Years

DALHART, Texas—Former Dallam County Judge Floyd McNeill suggested that government subdivisions would be more efficient if their fiscal years ran concurrently with the tax year.

McNeill served 12 years as Dallas county judge, held other county offices in Texas and Oklahoma, and for a time directed the Northwest Texas Panhandle unit of the State-Wide Tax Survey.

In at least one respect such a change is needed for a standpoint of law compliance, he said. Subdivisions, he asserted, whose fiscal year opens Oct. 1 and whose tax year opens July 1 can rarely comply with the exact letter of the law requiring them to budget expenditures a year in advance.

The law says the budget must not be made until tax levies are determined, yet it must be made before July 1, if that opens a new fiscal year. And if the tax year does not open until Oct. 1, it is more often than not that the tax valuation is set long after July 1, McNeill said.

In addition to making budget law compliance possible, the new system would permit a more accurate forecasting of revenues, McNeill believed, and enable any subdivision to plan a more intelligent program.

Cities that operate under the general laws of Texas have authority, he said, to open their tax-paying year July 1 and leaving the present delinquency, Jan. 1, thus making the tax and the fiscal year con-
