Stakes and Spectacles on Far East Trade

There has been a great deal of toplofty talk about "our stake in the Far East," and the value of trade with China and Japan as affecting American policy there.

Instead of windy generalities about such trade, the thing to do is to put on a pair of spectacles and look closely.

They reveal that for the month of August, American exports were as follows:

Table with 3 columns: Buyer, 1936, 1937. Rows include China, Japan, and U.S. imports.

Now of course this is an appreciable stake, and helps greatly in the building up of American export trade...

The 1936 figures are more reliable as a gauge for the future, because the increase in both China's and Japan's imports from the United States this year is clearly due in both cases largely to their demand for war materials...

Such trade is temporary. We found that out to our cost when Europe fought in 1914-1918. After the war it suddenly dropped away, leaving us holding a great bag of increased production facilities and no sales.

Taking the figures for 1936, before the present war began, we find that American exports to Japan were only exceeded by those to Canada and the United Kingdom...

Besides this trade, with its tremendous risks of war, the market of peaceful nations who can trade with us and with each other in amity and good will, together with that tremendous home market that is the greatest of all, look very attractive indeed.

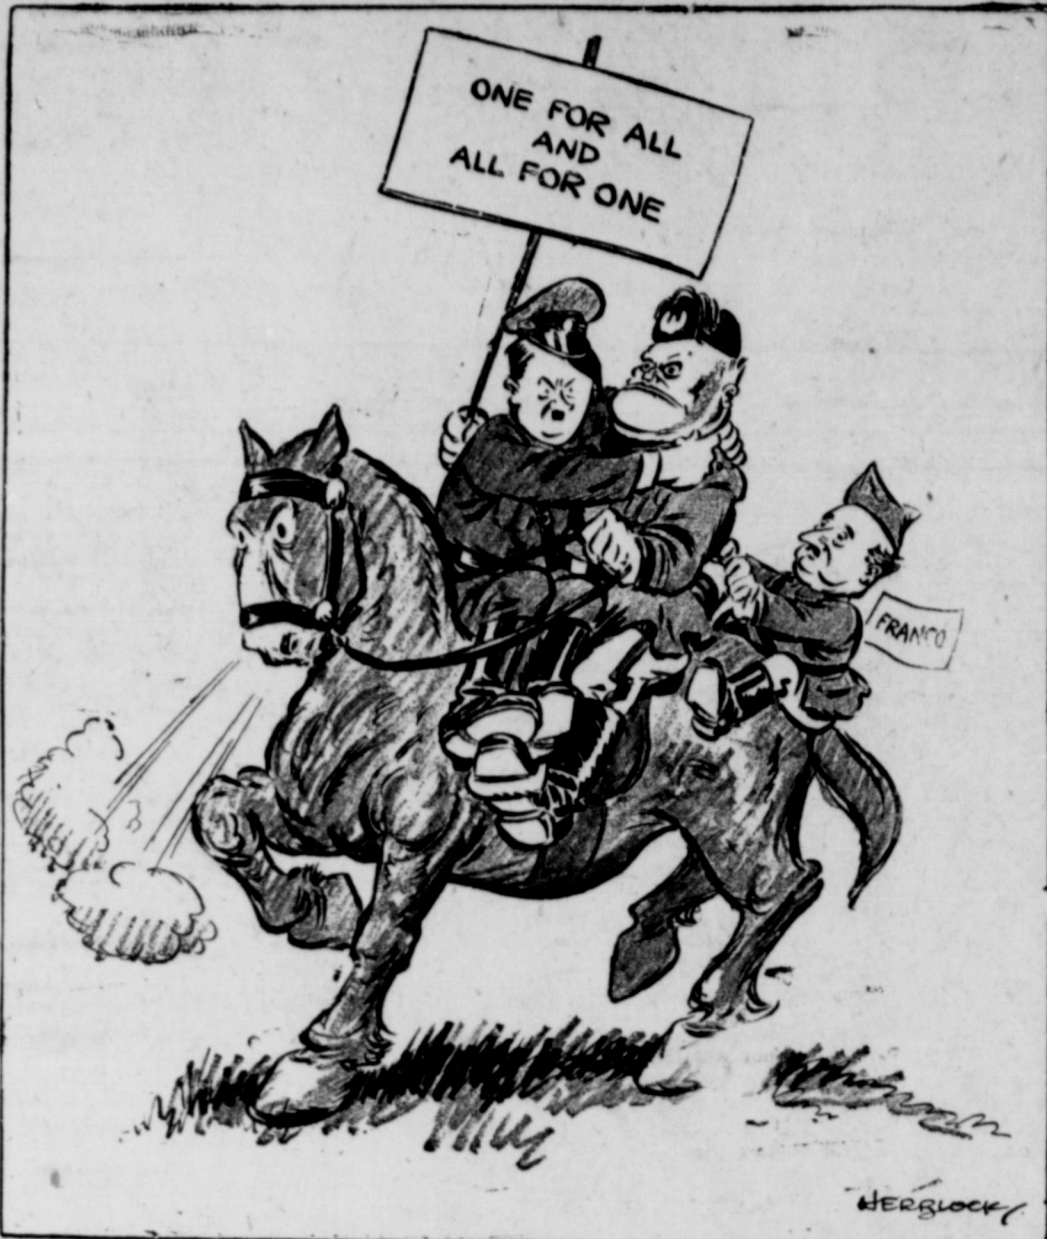

Hoboes acclaim Columbus as first hobo. The only difference was that he knew where he wanted to go—and went there.

WILL THE VANISHING OIL RETURN

Ranger, fair city of ours; We wonder if ever again your wells will flow black gold barrels by the hours.

Will bits bore the earth once more; Going in the ground so deep; To bring oil from the earth's core.

Shall the black gold return as in the past; And will you remember? And that glad cry: "Oil at last!"

Twenty years have past; Once bright eyes grow dim with worry and fear; The oil is vanishing fast.

Colored Church's Completion Seen

Completion of the Eastland Baptist church for colored, a project of long standing, for services Sunday, Nov. 21, was seen Thursday by officials.

A "shingle rally" was announced by spokesmen of the church as one of its final requests for co-operation in completion.

A statement read: "To our many friends who have been so nice to us in our church building we sometimes feel that we are a burden to you, then when we think of the great work we are engaged in (the great work of the Lord), then it gives us courage to ask you again. We have on a shingle rally and we are asking as many of our friends that can, to give a bundle of shingles for the purpose of covering our building."

The following were named to receive the shingles for the church: Rev. J. I. Cartledge, pastor of the First Baptist church; H. J. Tanner, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce; Frank T. Crowell and R. L. Perkins.

At the same time acknowledgement was made of a gift of $5 from a white citizen who gave the contribution to Rev. Mr. Cartledge for them.

Behind the Scenes in Washington

BY RODNEY DUTCHER NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—New and heavier taxes will be used to balance the federal budget when and if.

This prediction is made privately by most of the few persons who, if they do not possess clairvoyance, are at least in the best position to size up the near future and to be informed as to what will be done about it.

Nothing is sure, it appears, except death and taxes which will cut into incomes of from $5000 to $20,000 a year far more painfully than they are being tapped at the present time.

Incomes ranging down to $2500 are very likely to be affected. And it's practically certain that when the rates on these middle brackets are raised, all incomes over $20,000 will likewise be subjected to levies higher than those existing.

All this is contingent on Roosevelt-Morgenthau recommendations to act of Congress. But the fellows who have earned the right to be called wise guys in Washington, say it's inevitable during this Congress, regardless of traditional Capitol Hill reluctance to raise taxes in an election year.

The naked truth is that it's harder to get Congress to hold down appropriations than it is to persuade it to pass a tax bill.

Roosevelt has warned of higher taxes frequently, as an alternative to this or that. He has even been rather definite with assertions that federal spending will be cut. But if you count up, you'll find that his tax wangs have built up a large pile of "ifs," some of which are materializing. Experience has indicated that except in post-war periods government budgets tend to stay up, rather than go down.

SIGHS of relief are heard virtually every hand with return of Russian Ambassador Alexander Antonovich Troyanovsky from his native land.

Troyanovsky probably is the capital's most popular ambassador. When he was summoned back to Moscow last summer, heartfelt though subdued grief arose from his numerous friends.

Most of those friends know of or more old Russian acquaintances whose fate was either none-sure—or all too certain. Near all of them feared the worst; they feared that the ambassador feared the same.

But it seems that Stalin wanted to confer with Troyanovsky—who once was his envoy in Tokyo—to discuss Far Eastern policy. And it's understood that the ambassador now resides in high in Moscow.

(Present Russian foreign policy in the Far East is to let the spend plenty of troops, money and other resources in trying to conquer China, with the conviction that she will gradually become a weaker prospective foe.)

Stock to the Fort Worth maintained a wide margin of increase over September last, and forwardings of cattle, and sheep direct to feeding in Kansas, Missouri, Iowa, and other corn belt states were several time those of September last year.

JILL

BY MARY RAYMOND

arrived and no word had come from Alan.

He will phone, Jill decided. Busy young men who worked rather than played perhaps took these short, social cuts.

All the time she was getting ready, Jill had an attentive ear open for the telephone. While she was emerging glowing from her bath . . . while she was dusting her face and shoulders with fragrant powder . . . when she was slipping into scant, silken things. And finally when the white and silver gown went slithering down over her head aided by her maid's practiced hands, to mold her slim body and sweep out in smart, flaring lines.

She was thinking: "He hasn't phoned. But he'll come. Of course he'll come!"

MRS. WENTWORTH had come into the room and was surveying Jill critically.

"You look very nice," she conceded, after a moment. "I must say that is the smartest evening dress you've had in a long time, even if I did select it. All you need now are your flowers."

"I never saw so many. You can't wear all of them. But there's a gorgeous bouquet of white orchids that Milo sent. They would be perfect with your gown."

"I'll wear them, with Bill's," Jill said, unexpectedly tractable. Troubled waters were ahead. It was just as well to begin pouring oil.

Mrs. Wentworth noted the smile curving the corners of Jill's mouth. "She's thinking of Alan Jeffrey and how she outwitted me," she thought.

Well, Jill would soon find out she wasn't coping. She would doubtless put his unexplained absence down to deliberate rudeness. Then, no doubt, she would sensibly start putting him out of her mind. As she should have done long ago.

A secretive smile was playing over Mrs. Wentworth's face as she went out and closed the door behind her.

The telephone rang a few minutes later and Jill picked up her own phone. It must be Alan!

It was Patty.

JILL, something has come up. An important meeting with a publisher. So can't come to your party. I'll go pirotechnic another time. If you'll ask me, I wish could be there so I could relay the swank details to Ardath. Did you know she's moved? Must say she town is a pleasant place now. But she calls me sometimes when she's full of surplus conversation.

Chambers County, about 10 miles southeast of the town of Liberty, pioneered in cattle raising as early as 1819. He operated the largest ranch in Texas for a number of years, having at times from 8,000 to 10,000 longhorn cattle. The original White ranch is still operated by descendants of the founder.

Q. When was Caldwell County organized and for whom was it named?

A. It was created in 1848 from Gonzales county and named for Col. Matthew ("Old Paint") Caldwell, who was in command of the Texans who defeated a large band of Comanche Indians at Plum Creek, near Lockhart, in 1840. Lockhart, (first called Lockhart Springs) the county seat, was named for Byrd Lockhart, of Gonzales, a surveyor of Austin's colony, who surveyed a number of grants in that section and acquired the land upon which the town of Lockhart is located.

Q. What flag was used by the Texas Navy during and after the revolution of 1836?

A. On April 9, 1836, Pres. David G. Burnett adopted for the navy a flag with the upper left corner a union blue centered with a white star and with 13 alternate red and white stripes. This was so much like the United States flag that it was often mistaken for it to the advantage of Texas. It was known as the "Commodore Halkins" flag, and was used by the navy until Jan. 25, 1839.

NEA Service Staff Writer

THE war is on. Embattled housewives are massed for defense of the family food budget. Let the first attack be a flank movement.

Beef is still beef, remember, though it be in a flank steak. Forget your prejudice against any sirloin or porterhouse; forget any tough experiences you may have had with flank steak cooked in careless ways. Times change and often for the best. If we attack the business of making the leaner cuts of beef which are really the muscles of locomotion, into tender, nourishing dishes, we can develop in this extravagant country of ours a new and permanent threat to the disproportionate cost of beef.

Roised Roast with Mushroom Sauce
(serves 4 to 6)

One flank steak (a flank steak usually weighs between 2 and 3 pounds), 4 strips fat bacon, 1 Bermuda onion, 1 turnip, 1 green pepper.

Lay flank out on table and trim off fat. Lay strips of bacon evenly across it. Cut turnip and onion and green pepper into large slices. Do not cover. Serve this flavored roast with a mushroom sauce.

That recipe explains the general principle of rolling flank steaks for roasting. You can easily vary this stuffing, but remember that when no fat is used, a few pieces of suet should be scattered over the rolled roast in the pan. For roasting time, allowance must be about 10 minutes more a pound than for the expensive cuts. These flank and similar steaks have more connective tissue and muscle fibres in them and less fat. When serving, carve through the meat on the bias. You will get a much more tender result that way.

Quick-broiled Flank Steak
(4 to 6 servings)

One flank steak, salt and pepper, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons catsup, 1 teaspoon minced parsley.

Wipe steak clean and trim off superfluous fat. Have oven broiler very hot, then lay steak on greased broiler and run under flame. Broil for 7 or 8 minutes, turning 3 or 4 times. Then place at once on hot platter, where butter, catsup and parsley have melted and mingled themselves into a cordial welcoming committee.

REVIEWING Ohio State's setback by Southern California, which was due to missing two points after touchdown, Coach Francis Schmidt traced the pass play which accounted for the Trojans' second score.

He asked each Buckeye what he had done on the play. Each had a ready answer.

Schmidt, who could terrify a battalion of Japanese, walked away shaking his head, wheeled, and shouted:

"I don't understand it. They couldn't have scored. They were all flat on the ground."

IT took place in the southwest, of course. The most unusual things happen in football in Texas.

Gladewater High School introduced a half time innovation in connection with its game with Texarkana. A fox hunt, no less, with a pack of hounds coursing the field after picking up the trail of a live fox.

SOME night somewhere police are going to get next to themselves and do exactly nothing about it when a pair of clownish heavyweight wrestlers start belting each other around with their elbows. You would suspect that the cops long ago would have grown tired of serving as stooges for the grunters and groaners.

Or are they part of the act?

PITCHER PAUL DERRINGER and Shortstop Billy Myers of Cincinnati may go to Pittsburgh for Shortstop Arky Vaughan and a pitcher. . . . Pepper Martin of the Cardinals may go to the Cubs in a deal involving Shortstop Billy Jurges. . . . Cubs are leading in reported negotiations for Van Lingle Mungo of the Dodgers. . . . With the Giants and Cardinals nibbling. . . . Mickey Cochrane is willing to pay the Red Sox their price for his old battery partner, Bob Grove. . . . Zeke Bonura of the White Sox and Joe Kuhel of the Nationals may move in an exchange of first sackers. . . . Following popular Bill McKechnie, most anybody will have a tough time pleasing the trade as the new manager of the Boston Bees. . . . Branch Rickey of the Cards took Joe Stripp from Brooklyn in the Leo Durocher transaction on the recommendation of Frank Frisch.

WALTER BROWN had an unusual record the past season. . . . The large right-hander was a member of five clubs—three pennant winners and two tail-enders. . . . The Yankees, Giants, and Newark were the top clubs, and Jersey City and Cincinnati the tail-enders. . . . National Leaguers say that the tipoff on Charley Gelbert at second base and believing that he could make the Reds go with several confirmed minor leaguers. . . . St. Petersburg has wanted to dump the Bees for the Cardinals for several years. . . . The Yanks and Red Birds will be a real attraction in a protracted spring series there. . . . Baseball men point out that the Cleveland club again was foolish to let Bob Feltz take that barnstorming trip this fall. . . . The Iowa wonder was out too long with a sore hipper.

Navy Preparing A Turkey Feast

By United Press

SAN DIEGO, Cal.—The 30,000 odd sailors who comprise that part of the navy station in San Diego are going to have plenty of Thanksgiving turkey to satisfy even the most ravenous—an average of more than 3 pounds per man.

This was revealed here when supply officers said they had ordered 90,000 pounds of turkey—15 tons, to be exact—to top the holiday menu at ship, and shore, establishments here.

Of course, the 90,000 pounds represents bird on the foot, but even allowing for shrinkage in dressing, the sailors will have plenty.

In addition to the turkey the Thanksgiving grocery list of supply officers would fill a market basket which would cause even a Hercules to stagger.

The list for the month includes: 1,125,000 pounds of canned corn, 3,300,000 pounds of tomatoes, 1,700,000 pounds of peas, 7,000,000 pounds of evaporated milk, 2,000,000 pounds of peaches and pears, 1,500,000 pound of jam, 500,000 pounds of sauerkraut, 1,750,000 pounds of catsup, 1,000,000 pounds of apples, and to top it all off, 360 tons of spinach.

No estimate was made of the amount of ice cream which will be needed to round out this sailor's meal de luxe, but it was indicated an equally large supply of food stuff would be needed for Christmas, although the officers hoped there would be some of the canned items left over, so another order would not be necessary within the month.

Survey Discloses Eastland Center Of Club Activity

Eastland has a myriad of clubs and organizations, as many as other towns in its population bracket and likely more, a survey showed Thursday.
In addition to the usual service club organizations, church groups, Eastland has bodies which cover almost every phase of activity.

Some of the clubs and organizations which meet weekly or at other intervals throughout the year include: Chamber of Commerce, Retail Merchants association, Knights of Pythias, Masons, Rotary, Lions, Saturday club, Volunteer Fire Department and Ladies' auxiliary, Order of Eastern Star, Eastland-Collahan County Medical society.

America, after staying out of the World War for three years, finally entered at the close of one of the coldest winters in 50 years.

Perils in Extremes
He pointed out that persons residing in cool, stormy regions are better able to fight infectious diseases than persons living in tropical areas. Respiratory infections are more frequent, however, in the stormy areas because of the frequent and abrupt atmospheric changes.

Dr. Mills suggested that in transferring troops from Panama or the Philippines, for example, to the stormy climate of the northern or middle western states it would be advisable to make an intermediate stop in the south or southwest to acclimate the men to the change.
He also contended that troops should be sent, whenever possible, to areas with climates most like their own.

City councilmen say they have gone "nutty." Instead of eating nuts, they are chewing off the bark of pine tree branches until the latter drop to the ground.

Now taxes may be needed to balance budget. Curtailed spending would have the same effect and would be a lot more popular.

IF ELECTED.. Dollar bills are your ballots in the stores. The offices the candidates seek are a place on your dining-room table... the privilege of clothing your body in comfort and style... of making your home more pleasant... of serving you in a thousand-and-one ways.
Yes... breakfast foods, clothing, furniture, rugs, refrigerators are public servants. Their campaign speeches appear the year round in this newspaper. The things they promise to do for you—if elected—are promises they will keep! For reputable, experienced advertisers know that nothing could do their business more harm than a broken promise... the failure to make good on a public statement.
Read the advertisements in this newspaper—today and every day. Use the manufacturers' printed "platform" as a basis for making your choice... for finding the things that suit you and your pocketbook best. Then vote your preference at your nearest store!
