

MORTON VALLEY GIRL HONORED IN CLUB WORK

Miss Glenn Elaine Duncan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Duncan, of the Morton Valley 4-H club, has won the honor of being a Gold Star Girl of Texas 4-H Clubs, it was reported Monday.

Twelve histories and records are submitted from each county in each district to the district agent. This district is composed of 19 counties with 15 active in club work and Glenn Elaine's history of her club work was selected from 180 records by Miss Maurine Hearn, district agent, and sent to the state, her record was one of the best 100 records in Texas and she will receive a 4-H Gold Star pin.

In her work, Glenn Elaine built a clothes closet at the cost of $1.00, 25c was used for paint and 75c was used to buy a flash light. By making use of the things she had on hand as scraps of lumber for the frame work of the closet, a broom handle for the clothes rod, and two small iron rods which she used to make a shoe rack, and using paper to line the closet, she now has an adequate place to store her clothes.

To make her bed room more attractive was Glenn Elaine's next problem. After talking with her parents she managed to get the room re-papered and the wood-work painted. The paper cost $1.35 and the ivory paint cost 35c. She bought enough pink voil to make her curtains and to drape around the dressing table that she made from an old table which had been discarded. An old mirror was cut to an attractive size and hung over the dressing table. She also added a bedspread and linoleum to the room. "The entire expense of my room was only $4.65," Glenn Elaine said.

Other work that she did was to add a well equipped sewing box, make a pair of pajamas, a slip, a sport dress, and a house coat. In her garden goal is the helped plan and produce an adequate supply of food for her family and arrange shelves for the storage of the canned products.

This year she is president of her club and is doing the regular work in wardrobe and garden. Besides doing outstanding work in 4-H club, Glenn Elaine is salutatorian of the senior class of Morton Valley School this year, and plans to enter college this fall.

Movie Restrictions Set Aside by Court

WASHINGTON, April 25.—The supreme court today set aside an anti-trust decree to prevent movie picture distributors from imposing certain restrictions on second run theatres in Texas cities, where the motion picture field is dominated by the Hobbitzelle theatre chains. STATUTE ON TAXES SOUGHT BY ROOSEVELT

WASHINGTON, April 25.—President Roosevelt today asked congress to enact "a short and simple statute" to subject all government salaries and all future government bond issues to taxation.

The president's recommendation was one of a series of his economy drives.

Mr. Roosevelt advised congress that he believed recent supreme court decisions indicated tax exempt securities and salaries, both federal and state, could be ended without a constitutional amendment.

The statute would enable the government to tax incomes derived from federal, state and municipal bonds and salaries. On the other hand the states could tax incomes from federal bonds and offices.

The president declared that "men with great means" placed funds in tax exempt securities and that a "fair and effective progressive income tax and a huge reserve of tax exempt bonds cannot exist side-by-side."

Under present conditions all government bonds are exempt from taxes. Federal salaries are subject to the federal income tax, but none are subject to state income taxes. State salaries are not subject to federal taxes.

The president's second message is expected to complete his major congressional recommendations of the year.

Road Projects Are Listed For Letting Soon

AUSTIN, April 25.—A list of road projects selected for immediate construction at an estimated cost of $1,988,700 was announced today by the State Highway Department. A second list, to be constructed as soon as finances permit, will cost $1,685,700.

Another group of projects will be handled under a $500,000 special maintenance appropriation. These include: Johnson county—Leveling asphalt surface on three miles of Highway 25 south of Burleson.

SAN ANTONIO BOY IS SLAIN WITH A BOTTLE

SAN ANTONIO, April 25.—Four-year-old William Sullivan, his skull smashed by a wine bottle in the hands of a sex degenerate, died at the army base hospital here today.

The child, son of Timothy Sullivan, a retired army sergeant, died of a fractured skull and possibly exposure, suffered while he lay unconscious in a clump of mesquite at the edge of the city from Saturday night to Sunday morning.

Police held the boy's attacker, 24-year-old Cicero Tuttle, former mental patient at the state hospital in Austin. A murder charge was filed against Tuttle.

When police arrested Tuttle Saturday night his clothes were blood clotted. They found him at the home of another youth only two blocks from where the child was found. A dozen or more youths ranging from 12 to 17 years had dragged him there from his own home and threatened to lynch him unless he told what he had done with the child.

Police said a sanity hearing probably would be held. If found sane Tuttle will be prosecuted, otherwise he will be committed again to the asylum.

City Bankrupt Act Is Upheld By High Court

WASHINGTON, April 25.—The supreme court today affirmed the constitutionality of the new municipal bankruptcy act, passed by congress to replace a statute invalidated by the court in 1936.

The opinion did not overrule the decision by which the court invalidated the old bankruptcy act. Instead it held that the new statute was drawn to meet objections the original statute held.

The court action included: Acceptance for argument of a case concerning the repealed Bankhead Cotton Act.

Rejection of rates established by the secretary of agriculture for livestock commission handling at the Kansas City Stockyards.

In spite of the heavy rains that fell Sunday afternoon a number of golfers showed up for their matches in the Ranger Country Club's member tournament, and one match was completed before the rains and nine holes were played on another.

Gid Faircloth defeated Elmer Norris, Jr., in the championship flight 1-up, 21 holes in the only match completed and J. D. McClister was 1-up with 9 to play with Mrs. Glen West when rain halted their match in the fourth flight.

Match play will be completed Sunday, May 8. A total of 32 golfers qualified for the tournament.

PRAGUE NOW SHAKEN BY A NAZI OUTLAW

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, April 25.—The first major outbreak of Nazi anti-Jewish violence in Czechoslovakia was revealed today as Premier Milan Hodza called an emergency cabinet meeting to consider demands of the country's German minority for recognition.

The Nazi outbreak occurred last night at Theusing, where the town council resigned and was joined by 300 Germans in a parade on through the streets. The demonstrators first dispersed by police; smashed windows of the Jewish temple and Jewish shops.

The Nazi fight for power in the country threatened a new Central European crisis.

Adolf Hitler was credited with inspiring a speech by Konrad Henlein, Nazi leader in Czechoslovakia, demanding minority privileges and close cooperation with Germany.

Other activities along the international front: Russia: Great Britain protested against secret arrests of British citizens as violating the 1937 Anglo-Russian agreement. The Soviet pressed a new purge, arresting almost 25 priests and nuns.

Washington: Reports in reliable sources said Germany was building or planning to build, 51 warships, which would surpass the proposed American naval increase.

Spain: Insurgent armies continued steady gains, reporting that 4,000 loyalists had been killed in the drive toward Valencia.

China: Japan gained ground in that southern Shantung province, but it was reported that Count Terauchi, former war minister had been called to Tokyo because of the slow progress of Japanese troops.

Paris: The cabinet of Premier Daladier adopted a dictatorial recovery program, designed to save the franc.

World Hears Burglars at the Window

A world with the jitters is like a once healthy man who begins to notice the first disturbing symptoms of some deep-seated organic disease. Jitters in themselves are not important; they are worth noticing as symptoms of a deeper, more fundamental trouble.

A fair sample is the fuss which was made in the Philippines the other day when someone reported that a mysterious fleet of warships had come to anchor in an out-of-the-way harbor in Mindanao Island.

These ships, said a frantic local official, were submarines... or possibly they were destroyers, or even cruisers. Anyhow, they were grim and ominous engines of war, they had no business being where they were, and they were obviously up to no good.

Now this used to be a world in which people no more got nervous over naval apparitions than does the average householder get panicky over the creaking of floorboards in the dead of night. But it is not that kind of world any longer.

And so this mysterious "fleet" in Mindanao panicked American officialdom in the Far East and ruffled the nerves of American newspaper readers back home... although if a similar report had been circulated ten years ago no one would have been in the least disturbed.

A great many of our scares have less foundation in fact. A guileless tourist exercises his pocket camera, and a spy scare is born; a South Sea trading schooner visits some forsaken atoll of water, and a brand-new naval air station takes shape before the eyes of strategists.

All of which simply means that we have got the jitters; which, in turn, is a symptom of the bad state of health that the world has got itself into. For the grim and undeniable fact is that we do live in the kind of world wherein malevolent gestures are to be expected.

Perhaps we could understand why economic recovery is so long-delayed if we look at it in the light of that fact. Business builds on a base of confidence, and confidence is the one commodity of which the world is regrettably short these days.

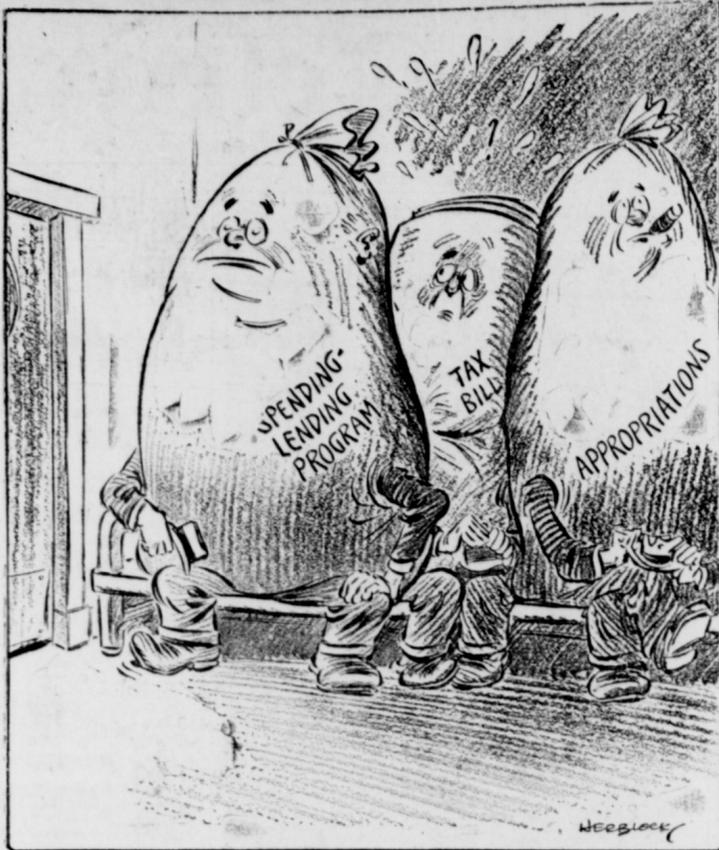

As long as we live under the shadows of an approaching cataclysm, take the approach of that cataclysm for granted, and do nothing to avert it beyond getting ready to do our share of the punching when the time comes—we can we be surprised if prosperity fails to return?

Cleveland police say that whoever committed the notorious "torso murders" certainly knows his surgery. Maybe he's a medical student. In that case it's a clear case of pre-medicated murder.

Authorities want to test the sanity of a woman in Brownsville, Texas, who has reputedly spent thousands of dollars on aimless airplane trips. Gosh, can't a person have a flight of fancy once in a while?

A Philadelphia man who was calling his girl got locked in a phone booth and had to be freed by the police. There's one good way of cutting those boy-girl conversations short.

IN THE CONGRESSIOAL WAITING ROOM

Three Is Lucky, Triplets Declare

PASADENA, Calif. — The "Brilliant Boyd Triplets" is the sobriquet bestowed upon the three 16-year-old daughters of Dr. Jorge E. Boyd, statesman and diplomat of Panama, who are attending the South Pasadena high school.

Besides the brilliancy that has attracted the attention of others, the girls themselves are enthusiastic supporters of the idea that girls have immense advantage in being born triplets.

A few of the accomplishments that have helped them earn the title of the "brilliant triplets" are the fact that all three speak languages — English, Spanish, and French fluently; have unusual musical talent, talent for tap dancing, singing, piano and guitar. The girls plan to attend Vassar after their first year.

Their ancestry is almost as interesting as the triplets themselves.

The mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Bolling Boyd, is a direct descendant of Princess Pocahontas. Her father, the late Rolfe E. Bolling, was a brother of Mrs. Woodrow Wilson.

On the father's side, the family is equally distinguished, being one of the first families of Panama. In fact, it was a Senor Frederico Boyd who founded the Republic of Panama.

The father, Dr. Jorge E. Boyd, is associate judge of the Panama Supreme Court and a veteran of the diplomatic service.

The girls are brunettes, and identical in bearing, height and weight. Even the parents have difficulty in distinguishing them unless they can see their faces.

One of the reasons why the girls are convinced that all girls should enjoy the advantages of being born triplets is that it simplifies shopping.

It is only necessary for one of the girls to go and try on dresses and shoes and they buy for all three because they can wear each other's clothes and shoes.

The girls always dress alike. At school they prefer a junior uniform because it attracts less attention to them on the campus.

They have one sister, Lola, who is 21 and equally as brilliant. She is a professor of languages at Gunston Hall, a fashionable school at Washington.

She was the youngest girl ever to be graduated from Vassar and also the youngest to be graduated from the Balboa high school, Canal Zone.

General Health Is Depending on Child

AUSTIN.—"The general health of Texas and of every community depends largely upon the health and care of its children," said Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer, in discussing the agencies concerned with child health and which will take part in the May Day-Child Health Day program this year.

"The span of life has grown longer year by year since 1900. It seems a question whether or not we are doing civilized man a favor by prolonging life if we are not making it worth living by reducing pain, disease and disability," he continued.

"Realizing the fact that much of the misery which befalls the human race is the result of conditions very early in life, the division of maternal and child health of the State Department of Health has particularly studied means of bringing children to adulthood stronger, more balanced, and more capable of enjoying an abundant life.

"The health, growth, and development of the child depend upon heredity and environment."

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY Mrs. Gaynor Maddox

DESPITE the warm weather, ladies will bake. So here are three excellent recipes which those ladies might want. They can be baked equally well in gas or coal ovens.

Refrigerator Rolls

One cup milk, 1 yeast cake, 1-4 cup lukewarm milk, 4 cups flour, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 teaspoon salt.
Scald milk, add fat, sugar and salt. When lukewarm, add dissolved yeast. Add half of flour and liquid.

Beat with mixer till bubbles are formed. Add remainder of flour and knead. Form into rolls, let rise and bake in hot oven (425 degrees F.) for 15 to 20 minutes. This dough may be stored in refrigerator and used when desired.

Zweiback Torte

One box zweiback rolled fine, 1-2 cup melted butter, 1-3 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 2 teaspoons cornstarch, 3 egg yolks, 2 cups milk, 1-2 teaspoon vanilla, 1-2 cup sugar.

Mix zweiback, butter and 1-2 cup sugar and line sides and bottom of cake pan. Save enough for top.
Make a custard by mixing cornstarch and sugar well, then add a little milk and the beaten yolks, then rest of milk. Cook

Monday's Menu

BREAKFAST: waffles with honey, coffee, milk.
LUNCHEON: Beef soup, frankfurter, pecan salad, tea, milk.
DINNER: Roast green pepper hash, potatoes, buttered stuffed beet salad, torte, coffee, milk.

on low heat until thick. Pour this mixture into lined cake pan, then whites stiff and spread on top. Put rest of zweiback and bake in moderate degrees F. for 30 minutes.
Pecan Cookies: One cup shortening, brown sugar, 2 egg yolks, 1 teaspoon vanilla, cream of tartar, 1 cup pecans, pinch of salt.
Cream shortening, brown sugar, mix one at a time. Add soda and cream together. Add to other. Mix in chopped pecans on wax paper. Refrigerator until firm. Bake in hot oven (425 F.) from 10 to 12 minutes. Cool on golden brown.

has something to say about how different cigarettes can be!

"How about it, Joe, do you find that Camels are different from other cigarettes?"

"Any all-cigarettes-are-alike talk doesn't jibe with my experience. There's a big difference. I've smoked Camels steadily for 5 years, and found that Camel is the cigarette that agrees with me, in a lot of ways. Good taste. Mildness. Easy on the throat. And Camels don't give me jumpy nerves. Like a lot of other people I know, I'd walk a mile for a Camel!"

BILL GRAHAM, seeing Joe DiMaggio pull out his package of Camels, asked his opinion on smoking. Joe came straight to the point: "There's a difference, a big difference, between Camels and the others." You, too, will find in Camels a matchless blend of finer, more expensive tobaccos—Turkish and Domestic.

THE WILL TO LIVE

THIS GROVE OF WHITE PINES, IN GREYLOCK STATE PARK, SAVOY, MASSACHUSETTS, WAS WEIGHTED DOWN AND BROKEN BY ICE AND SNOW IN 1921. TODAY, TWISTED AND BEAT, THE TREES LIVE ON TO TELL THE STORY.

MOTHER NATURE sometimes gives man forceful warnings on how to live. The White Pine forest of Greylock Park is a typical picture of the "Never Say Die" spirit. Some of the trees had the main trunk broken completely off, only to have a new branch sprout on the work of the lost member.

"TOBACCO GROWERS CAMELS THEIR SMOKE — is the major opinion in a survey of well-known tobacco planters"

"When Camel says 'costlier tobaccos' I know it's right," says Mr. Edward Estes, capable young planter, who knows tobacco from the ground up because "Take my last crop. Camel bought all the paid me the most I've ever seen. The men who grow what to smoke—Camels because I know it and pay more at the choice lots of leaf paid the highest price from anybody. Camel uses finer, costlier tobaccos than it's not surprising that leading cigarette makers."

Mr. Harold Craig, too, bases his preference for Camels on what he knows about the kinds of tobaccos that go into the various blends. "I've checked — so I know — use more expensive tobaccos than I've ever used. You bet I know too. You bet I know too."

eyes were two pin-points of cold steel, and as he looked over and saw them standing there, he offered no sign of recognition.

"I wonder what it's all about," Dick mumbled curiously. "That's a Kingston policeman with him."

"And the other man must be from New York," Joyce pointed out with unconscious clarity. "He's the only one around wearing a dark business suit. But he hasn't been on the boat."

They watched as the three men hurried toward the street and stepped into a waiting car; they noticed that the strangers pushed Mr. Gregory in before them, unceremoniously.

Dick shrugged. "Looks as if he got himself into a jam," he decided without much concern. "He'd better talk himself out of it quickly or he'll miss the boat."

Then for the time being they forgot Mr. Gregory, as they struggled up the gangplank with their clumsy assortment of Jamaican merchandise.

It was not until they were at dinner that evening, two hours after they had left Kingston, that they thought of him again. Then it was to wonder why he was not at dinner.

ISOBEL smiled mysteriously. "He's probably worn out from our day ashore," she said proudly. "We had the most marvelous time! Just before we came on board we stopped at the Myrtle Bank for cocktails, and someone suggested an Iron Heel to Hilary."

So it's Hilary, Joyce thought. I knew Isobel and he would be congenial.

"Of course he hadn't the slightest idea what it was," Isobel ran on, brightly. "But he's such a good sport! He had two of them. I wonder what effect they're having."

She laughed in gay abandonment.

Something's wrong with me, Joyce told herself. If Mr. Gregory is a good sport, then I don't know my onions. I wonder if they were running him to a hospital. The Iron Heels might have kicked back.

Mrs. Porter shook her head reprovingly. "I think it's very foolish, Isobel, to try these strange drinks..."

She lacked her usual spirit this evening; it was plain that she did not approve Isobel's plan of burying her romance with Dick in a quick new affair with Mr. Gregory. Or perhaps she was not ready to admit defeat. She turned to Dick now, and asked him with forced brightness: "Did you have an enjoyable day, Richard?"

WASHINGTON WITH RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON—Congress has given evidence that it trusts RFC Chairman Jesse Jones, the lender, more than President Roosevelt, the spender.

This is especially interesting when you consider Jesse's well-known presidential ambitions. The big white-haired Texan has just been handed $1,500,000,000 which he can lend anyone in any amount for any length of time. All the important previous statutory safeguards on RFC loans are off. Only six votes from among 531 members of Congress were cast against this remarkable grant of financial power.

The RFC loan bill, once talked of as a measure to help small business—although that phase had practically been forgotten by the time it passed—whizzed through both houses with remarkable speed at a time when Mr. Roosevelt was fixing to ask for about $2,000,000,000 WPA money and $1,500,000,000 public works money in a new pump-priming, spending-lending program. Mr. Roosevelt will have much more trouble getting his money than Mr. Jones had. And there will be strings tied to it.

The RFC is Jones, and Jones is the RFC. There are four other members of RFC's board of directors and Jones always lets them know about it when he has made an RFC decision. Recently there were a couple of vacancies and a plot was afoot to get at least one independent-minded director appointed. But Jesse nipped that one with a quick trip to Capitol Hill which resulted in an amendment cutting the number of directors from seven to five, leaving no vacancies.

speech, Thomas recalled some of the amusing experiences he had as a preacher. One of the best, he said, occurred in a saloon in Big Spring in the winter of 1883. Thomas was trying to find a place to sleep, all the hotels were full, and finally he started making the rounds of the saloons in an effort to locate a bed.

"I was tired out and was to preach the next morning," he said. "In one saloon a bartender in a hat with a rattlesnake band looked at my long-tailed coat and striped breeches.

"You're a gambler, ain't you?" he asked.

"Well, sir, that fellow nearly took a drink of his own whiskey when I replied, 'No, sir, I'm the new Methodist preacher.'

"It helped the next day's attendance, I thought. Everybody wanted to see what kind of looking fellow I was."

New Jefferson Nickel Is Lucky Coin for Sculptor

The new nickel you'll be handing out when storekeepers say "Five cents, please" next fall. The side at left, bears a portrait of Thomas Jefferson while the reverse side shows his home at Monticello. It is a lucky coin for sculptor Felix Schlag, of Chicago. Art judges flipped 390 plaster and picked Schlag's design to win the $1000 prize. An American citizen, the 46-year-old winner is German-born but came here in 1929 because "there are more opportunities here."

RA NORTH, Special Nurse -- By Thompson and Coll

"Pin the Tail On the Donkey"

When you were young, you played that timeless game. Blind-folded, you weaved your way to the painted donkey on the wall, and tried to pin his tail in approximately the right position. You hit his nose, his ear, his leg—or you missed completely, and your blind stab landed on the empty wall.

Do you still "pin the tail on the donkey" when you go shopping? Do you make your purchases "bindfolded," leaving your choice to chance? That is literally the "unenlightened" method. It wastes your time, your energy, your patience—and your money.

Don't buy haphazardly. Know beforehand what to buy, and where to buy it, and how much to pay for it. Read the newspaper advertisements! Scan the shopping columns; compare prices, compare values—decide upon your bargain. Then go directly to the store which advertises it; make your purchase—and be content!

No more hit-and-miss buying when you follow the advertisements. They lift the blindfold; they make it easier to find the best values.

Mexico Finding Adjusting Its National Economic Program After Seizure Of Oil Properties Is a Huge Task

By William H. Lander
United Press Staff Correspondent
MEXICO, D. F.—Mexico was finding today that the adjustment of its national economy to the new condition resulting from the expropriation of foreign owned petroleum properties is a herculean task.

Public employes, the press, organized labor, students and even the Catholic church have been enrolled in the movement to make the government-labor operation of the oil industry a success.

The nation is being mobilized to make good the solemn promises of President Lazaro Cardenas to pay for the expropriated properties in accordance with Mexican law.

Abroad, the confiscation of the industry overnight was in the nature of a complete surprise. However, no nation has contended the government considered to be of public utility.

What was a surprise to Mexico, however, was the statement by Secretary of State Cordell Hull that the United States expects that fair and just compensation will be made not only for the petroleum properties, but for other American properties which have been seized in the past few years.

Value of the foreign oil properties (American, British and Dutch) amount to something between $200,000,000 and $450,000,000, and some people estimate that the foreign lands recently seized by Mexico without compensation are worth another $80,000,000.

It is understood on good authority that the position of the United States on this point is firm. At the same time, the United States has the sincere desire to see to it that no unnecessary difficulties are thrown in the path of General Cardenas in his endeavor to fulfill obligations.

Relations between the United States and Mexico during the five years since Ambassador Josephus Daniels arrived here have been better than at any recent period in the history of the two countries, and officials of the two neighboring nations are anxious that nothing happen to change this situation.

Thus, the recent interchange of verbal bouquets between Presidents Roosevelt and Cardenas was a demonstration that there are no hard feelings between the two nations. It shows to the people of Mexico that the United States believes Cardenas is "All right"—which is to the shrewd Mexican the same as saying that Uncle Sam does not want a change in the presidency down here.

This is of great importance internally in Mexico. At the same time, however, officials of the United States have let it be known that they expect Mexico to fulfill its "past and present" obligations to American citizens whose properties have been taken away from them.

Since Mexico has been kept in a sort of patriotic excitement since March 18, when General Cardenas dramatically took over the foreign oil companies in punishment for their "rebellion" against a decision of the Federal Supreme Court of Mexico, it is natural that millions of Mexicans have seen only one side of the situation.

Among the Latin-American nations, Mexico is one which normally enjoys about as much freedom of the press as the freest of rest. But in the present situation the newspaper have been called upon by both the government and the powerful CTM (Confederacion de Trabajadores de Mexico) to give all their support to the nationalization program. Under such circumstances it is only natural that the entire press—both rightists and leftists—is unanimous in its eulogies of the governmental program.

Some people both here and abroad have cited this newspaper support of Cardenas' action as proof that some of the dispatches which foreign correspondents have transmitted abroad have been inaccurate or unreliable. Their arguments probably were advanced in good faith; the only trouble was that they were not aware that the situation of the Mexican press "pre-March 18" was different from its position today.

Organized labor encouraged Cardenas to effect the expropriation, and naturally is supporting the president with all its vigor. The monster labor parade held in

Lumber Statistics Are More Favorable

AUSTIN.—Lumber statistics during March were slightly more favorable than during the preceding month but were well below those of the like month last year, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research has announced.

Reports from the Southern Pine Association show average weekly production per unit, 278,053 board feet, a decline of 14.3 per cent from the year before, but an increase of 4.5 per cent over the preceding month; average weekly shipments per unit, 281,770 board feet, a decrease of 8.8 per cent from March last year but a gain of 2.7 per cent over February; average unfilled orders as of March 31, 576,563 board feet, a decline of 30.9 per cent from the corresponding date last year and 11.8 per cent under those at the end of the preceding month.

Mexico City on March 23 was an excellent demonstration of labor's mass strength.

Organized labor encouraged Cardenas to effect the expropriation, and naturally is supporting the president with all its vigor. The monster labor parade held in Mexico City, on March 23 was an excellent demonstration of labor's mass strength.

About 125,000 people had been expected to parade, whereas in reality more than 200,000 (including government employes) participated. Thousands went and paraded spontaneously, but there is no denying that other thousands went because of fear of criticism, or of being either fined or fired for not going.

The University of Mexico found itself in a dilemma over the expropriation question. It is generally regarded as being Catholic, reactionary, and anti-socialist. When it began developing teams playing American football, it was the foreign oil companies that paid the coaches' salaries.

The university, however, lives in fear of being taken over by the government, and it depends upon the government for a yearly appropriation. So, then it became apparent that the patriotic thing to do was to support Cardenas in the expropriation of the oil companies, the university lost no time in doing so.

Not far behind was the Catholic church itself, which is indebted to Cardenas for a much less harsh religious policy than prevailed in the days of previous presidents.

Eastland Donors And Amounts Less For Scout Workers

Eastland's donations to the Boy Scouts for work this year will be less than in 1937, it appeared Saturday.

Grady Pipkin, Eastland district chairman and vice president of the Comanche Trail council, said that "It looks doubtful if as much will be raised as last year."

Last year Eastland citizens opened their purses and gave $500, the goal this year also.

Pipkin stated that a report of donations would be available Tuesday.

Purpose of College Education Is Told By a College Man

SAN ANTONIO.—The purpose of a college education, Dr. Rufus C. Harris, president of Tulane University, said, is to "fit men for the world; not to fit the world for men."

Dr. Harris and other members of the Tulane faculty visited San Antonio en route to New Orleans from Dallas, where they attended a meeting of the Southern Association of Colleges and Universities.

A problem in university training today, Dr. Harris said, is to strive for quality in education through limiting enrollment.

"Today we have a conflict between two kinds of government—dictatorship and democracy," he said. "The great trouble with democracy is disorder and lack of discipline among its citizens."

"The job of colleges and universities is to prepare the people to meet issues without moral, ethical or emotional upsets. In other words, to help them conduct their affairs rationally."

Local-Eastland-Social

Not Complimentary:

The Spring Flower luncheon, held at the Methodist church during the recent session of the Sixth District, T. F. W. C., was not a complimentary affair, as stated in the Telegram of Friday. The charge was seventy-five cents per plate.

Also the table decorations and individual corsages were furnished by a committee of Eastland club women, headed by Mrs. Vera McLeroy.

The group of attractive high school girls who served tables were members of the Rip and Sip club, and were under the direction of their sponsor, Mrs. Bob Vaught.

Eastland Personal

Myra Ann, an eight-pound daughter, was recently born to Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Sipe of San Angelo in the Gorman hospital. Mrs. Sipe is the former Christine Narry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Narry of 1202 West street in Eastland. The mother and daughter were reported doing nicely.

Miss Mary Nell Weaver of Dallas is visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tilman Stubblefield.

Earnest Hittson of Cisco was an Eastland business visitor Monday.

Harrell's Garage Will Feature Brake Lining

Spreading out and doing bigger and better jobs is the slogan of Harrell's Garage, on E. White street, next door to Hanna's according to Mr. Harrell.

Special low prices for brake lining on Fords, using Ford linings are in force this week, and by buying materials in large quantities we are able to make lower prices, Harrell states.

Harrell's Garage features complete garage service backed by many years of experience on all makes of automobiles.

The gunmen in Tulsa, Okla., who gave their victim a receipt after robbing him certainly proved there's still honor among thieves.

CALM YOUR NERVES!

Oklahoma City—Mrs. Ruth Williams, 317 N. Douglas St., says: "I was nervous, tired and upset, and had headaches and backache associated with functional disturbances. After taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription my appetite improved, my strength returned, and I was relieved of the functional disturbances." Get it, in liquid or tablets, at your drug store today.

Department Store Sales In Texas Are Better Than Nation

AUSTIN.—Texas continues to make a far better showing in retail sales than the nation as a whole, according to the Bureau of Business Research of the University of Texas. Aggregate sales, as measured in dollars, during March of a representative group of department stores, dry goods and apparel stores, men's and women's specialty stores were only slightly below those of the corresponding month last year, and exceeded those of February by almost the normal seasonal amount, the report said.

Reports from 106 retail establishments showed total dollar sales during March of only 2.4 per cent below those of the like month last year, while the increase over February was 21.6 per cent. The fact that Easter came in March last year whereas this year it came in April lends further optimism to the current showing.

Cities in which March sales and sales during the first three months made more favorable comparisons than the state average with the corresponding periods last year were Lubbock, Dallas and Austin.

JIM WENT TO THE CELLAR

Last night Jim, our next-door neighbor, went to the cellar and looked over his last year's porch furniture. His appraising eye saw all the scratches and wear given the chairs last year by his three growing boys.

Jim decided that he needed some paint and a new brush; and planned to take that furniture out in the back yard next Saturday afternoon for the annual cleaning-up process.

Curious, but men all over the country are now thinking of paint, and seeds, and outdoor games. And—a new hat, a new suit and some new shirts.

And maybe the women don't feel the urge to buy new things!

And why shouldn't they? Why be content with old things when there is money for new? Mercants are offering the latest goods of all sorts in the advertisements in this newspaper. Go to them as you would to old friends. You can rely upon their descriptions of every article.
