

THREE PLANES CRASH KILLING 32 SATURDAY

Poor flying weather was believed responsible today for airplane crashes on two continents. Two occurred in Europe and the third in Mexico.

In Germany a Czechoslovak commercial plane, carrying 16 persons, including one American, crashed in the Black Forest. All perished except the stewardess. The American was Miss Dorothy Cogen, address unknown.

At Felixstowe, England, six members of the Royal Air Force were killed when their seaplane crashed into the sea.

Rescue airplanes from Mexico City and Vera Cruz searched the Mexican coast for a plane which was lost with eight passengers and a crew of three.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—The German monoplane Brandenburg, flying non-stop from New York to Berlin on the last half of a round trip journey was well on her way toward her home port tonight.

At 2 p. m. CST, the Brandenburg was 400 miles directly east of New Foundland, flying at 9,000 feet in cloudy weather. The plane's speed was stepped up to 210 miles an hour.

Ranger Gets Credit For Booster Truck Of Fire Department

AUSTIN, Aug. 13.—Marvin Hall, state fire insurance commissioner of Texas, today praised the city officials of 30 Texas cities for their foresight in sending representatives of their fire departments to the Firemen's Training school at A. & M. college recently, and announced three per cent "key rate" reductions for fire insurance written in those cities on and after August 15.

Explaining that the fire insurance "key rate" is based on the fire-fighting facilities possessed by each city and locality, Commissioner Hall said that experienced and trained firemen are very important factors in keeping losses low.

Among cities granted reduced "key rates" for improvements in their fire-fighting equipment, in addition to the three per cent, is the City of Ranger, with a reduction in the key rate from 33 to 32, credit due for installation of a booster tank truck.

People to Decide Says Senator Upon O'Daniel Address

State Senator W. B. Collier, upon being questioned Saturday on the speech of W. Lee O'Daniel in endorsing state runoff candidates, said: "I'm sure those as well as those who opposed him will continue to exercise their best judgment in selecting candidates that will put into execution policies which they approve."

He added that he believed that all people will cooperate with the governor-elect and uphold his hand as long as he is trying to do his best for the benefit of the people.

Miller, gave birth to sons in the same New York hospital. ## Red Cross Plans A Safety Survey In People's Homes

The Red Cross through its Eastland County Chapter, plans a movement soon for the prevention of accidents in the home and on the farm.

Few realize that more people are maimed and killed through accidents occurring in the homes and on the farms than in any other one vocation or industry.

This campaign is to be put on through the schools in order to reach the homes. Every home in the county is expected to be reached.

Each school is to be asked to get permission of its patrons to allow pupils appointed by the school to inspect their premises. This will require some preliminary or "mission work" to be done by the teacher through the pupils. This accomplished, the teacher appoints inspection committees of two or three each to go over the premises of the patrons.

Blanks will be furnished by the Red Cross to record the results of these inspections, the hazards found and suggestions for the disposition or removal of these hazards, fire or otherwise.

It can readily be seen that this work affects the life of every individual from the babe in arms to the oldest person. Should the death of one person be prevented by this solicitation, it would be regarded as a worthy effort well expended.

The Red Cross asks for the full co-operation of every family in the county and that full permission be granted these boys and girls to enter your home and carry out the plan.

W. Lee O'Daniel Has Busy Week

FORT WORTH, Aug. 13.—W. Lee O'Daniel, democratic nominee for governor, concluded an action-filled week today with a visit to Waco, where his "miracle Campaign" began three months ago.

The nominee was to ride in a rodeo parade.

The O'Daniel week brought an unprecedented indorsement of six men he wanted in state offices. Other events of the week included: An appeal for donations to the Red Cross for relief of Colorado River flood sufferers.

A visit to Camp Bullis, near San Antonio, to inspect Texas National Guard troops engaged in maneuvers of the third army.

Establishment of offices here occupying an entire floor of a building.

An address at a Fort Worth "salesman's crusade" on how he expects to industrialize the state.

A denial that he had decided upon a sales tax or gross transactions tax to pay increased old age assistance.

O'Daniel professed pleasure at the response from his appeal for support of his slate of candidates. Favorable comment, he said, exceeded the unfavorable.

SURVEY SAYS SOUTH NEEDS GREATEST AID

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—The National Emergency Council's report of depressed economic conditions in the South today foreshadowed administration-sponsored legislation at the next congress for dealing with the South's most urgent problems.

Prepared at the request of President Roosevelt, the 15-point survey bears out the President's view that the South is the "nation's No. 1 economic problem."

The NEC asserted the South offers "the nation's greatest untapped market." The report said that Northern producers are losing profits and Northern workers are losing work "because the South cannot afford to buy their goods."

The report set forth that a large part of the South's population is living at the poverty lines, living quarters are inadequate, that neither on farms or in factories is there any certainty of continued employment and freight rate differentials hamper expansion of the South's industries.

INTEREST ATTACHED TO TWO COUNTY WELLS AS THEY HIT LIME STRATA

Two wells in Eastland county this week-end engaged attention as they were in the anticipated pay areas.

J. F. Baker No. 1 N. T. Mulloy, section 1-Ahrenbeck, five miles north of Rising Star, with producing string set at 2,815 feet, was cleaning out after a nitroglycerin shot in the lime, 3,018-94 feet, Eastland county.

Waiting on cement after setting pipe was Lone Star Gas company No. 1 Penn. Ellenburger area northwest of Cisco, section 468-SP, 4,000 feet northwest of the Hickok Producing and Development company pool opener, Eastland county. Unsaturated Ellenburger lime was topped at 3,983 feet and pipe was set at 3,982 feet. According to other wells in the pool, the lime is only several feet thick at the maximum and extreme caution is taken in probing further into the strata following penetration of the lime.

Checked were the wells of N. D. Gallagher et al, Dobbs, Christman, Haile and Kirk in Eastland county as they were at previously reported shutdowns.

In Palo Pinto county Fred E. Engreen and Susan K. Engreen picked location for No. 1 Mrs. Oia K. Carter, four miles north of Pickwick, McKinley and Williams survey, as 500 feet from the south line and 300 feet from the east line of the survey. The test, in an area absent from activity for some

HAMILTON AND WALTERS MAY BE CORNERED

DeQUEEN, Ark., Aug. 13.—All roads leading from a wooded section, eight miles northeast of here, were blocked late today by Arkansas, Oklahoma and Texas officers seeking to trap two men believed to be Floyd Hamilton and Ted Walters, Southwest desperadoes, who escaped into the hills after a gun battle with five Arkansas state troopers.

DeQUEEN, Ark., Aug. 13.—Floyd Hamilton and Ted Walters, Southwest desperadoes, were believed cornered in a wooded section eight miles north of here today after a gun battle with five Arkansas state troopers.

Officers said they surprised the two men on a bridge just outside DeQueen. The car used by Hamilton and Walters was deserted as the men ran into the woods.

Hamilton and Walters evidently were heading for the Cookson hills of Eastern Oklahoma, officers said.

WILTON, Ark., Aug. 13.—The Federal Bureau of Investigation today marked Floyd Hamilton and Ted Walters the latest of a long list of Southwest desperadoes, as the most sought criminals in the United States. Friday night Hamilton and Walters entered the Wilton Coca-Cola plant, took $100 and fled in a stolen automobile.

Dwight Brantley, FBI agent in Kansas City, instructed all officers that in all likelihood the outlaws would not surrender without a gun battle. From Washington came word from J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the G-Men, to "get Hamilton and Walters."

Eagle Scored By Earl Conner, Jr., In Philpeco Meet

RISING STAR, Aug. 13.—To District Attorney Earl Conner, Jr., goes the distinction of scoring the only eagle during the tournament and by so doing he won the first round in the second flight consolation from Billy Barton. The match was one of the last to come in late Saturday afternoon and a large crowd had gathered around the 18th green. Barton and Conner came up on the last tee all square.

It was Barton's first shot and he drove a screamer to within 20 yards of the green on the 310-yard hole. Conner had one straight up the middle but was about 100 yards short of the green. Coming up to his ball, the D. A. drew his trusty niblick and hit a high arching shot. It fell three feet short of the cup, took one hop and "plunk" into the cup for an eagle two.

Barton, with a fine chance for a birdie three, sheepishly picked up his ball, walked up to the green and shook hands with Conner and the match was over. The Conner eagle, incidentally, is the only one to be scored on the new grass greens.

EUROPE WORKS INTO A FEVER OVER NEXT WAR

Europe today worked itself into a first class "psychological war fever."

The sudden relapse from a period of recovery was due, largely, to speculation and rumor, but fundamentally it involves disturbing developments in the Czech crisis, the Spanish war, and the still threatening conflict between Russia and Japan.

Pressure is just beginning on the Czechs. Germany is putting 1,000,000 men under arms this month for military maneuvers, coincident with conferences on the minority quarrel.

France, principal ally of Czechoslovakia, is beset on three sides and rendered helpless except in cooperation with London. New German fortifications along the Rhine leave France impotent to rush to the aid of the Czechs in event they are attacked.

Even more troublesome to Paris at the moment is the Spanish civil war intervention by Italy. France has more or less closed her frontiers to loyalist supplies, but has been under tremendous pressure to reopen the border on the grounds Italy continues to send men and supplies to the insurgents.

Nationalist airplanes spread death and destruction in raids on Alicante and Valencia today, loyalists reported. The insurgent airplanes at Alicante killed 50 persons and injured 200, according to reports.

Nationalists asserted two loyalist divisions which crossed the Segre river in Northeast Spain had been driven back with heavy losses.

The play will require 45 minutes. It is by Holwarth Hall and Robert Middlemass.

Also part of the program will be a feature picture, "Judge Hardy's Children."

Seventy checks, totaling $1,221.35, and representing additional payment to farmers because of re-adjustment of bases in the 1936 conservation program, have been received at the extension service office in Eastland.

The Forces of Nature Need a Little Teamwork

One of the tough things about our modern world is the fact that it is getting to be so hard to tell good news from bad.

The U. S. Weather Bureau, for instance, reports the long period of drouth seems to be over—for the time being, anyway—and that for several years to come we ought to have plenty of moisture.

The weather seems to run in long-range cycles. There was a bad drouth period extending through the first half of the '90s. After that the country as a whole had decent weather until 1909, when there was another drouth. Then there was another good spell until about 1930; then six abnormally dry years—we began to hear about the dust bowl, and people started wondering if some of our western grain areas hadn't better be turned back to buffalo grass permanently.

Now we are told this last bad dry spell was just a dry spell, after all, and not a permanent climate change. Possibly we won't have to evacuate large areas, with the tragedy of ruined farms and homeless families.

That ought to be classified as good news, certainly. But before we get too jubilant we might as well note that this good news will bring bad news in its train.

Plenty of moisture will mean bumper crops. Bumper crops will mean bigger and bigger export surpluses—which, in turn, will mean lower prices for farm produce. And if all of this works out as it did before, we may very well get into another era of declining agricultural purchasing power, which would eventually bring us to another industrial slump, which—

Well, we may finally acquire enough wisdom to break up that vicious circle and make abundance a blessing rather than a problem.

But there is no very dependable sign that we have that wisdom now, and the way the Department of Agriculture is continuing to worry about substitutes for the old AAA crop-restriction programs makes it look as if we may be a long time in getting it.

Which, in turn, means that what ought to be a bit of very good news may yet prove to be an extremely mixed blessing. We have somehow botched the job of building a smoothly running human society.

The farm problem certainly ought to be simpler when nature smiles than when nature scowls. If it isn't, the fault can be no one's but our own. Now that nature seems prepared to do her part again, it's time that we learned how to do ours.

Clothing manufacturers predict that more caps will be worn. Why, don't they know that on the 4th of July the cap business was all shot to pieces?

BEAR RAID

MODERN PUTS UP BATTLE IN TESCO GAME

Old Faithful, June Hargus, twirled the Texas Electric to their third straight win and into the finals of the A. S. A. A. district softball tournament Friday night in Eastland by a 5-2 count over a scrapping Modern team that did not stop until the game was all over.

The Cleaners pounded Hargus for seven clean bingles, but they failed to be in the right places to go for enough tallies. The Electricians only collected six off Smith and Cox but errors cost the Cleaners the game.

The game went along on even terms until the fifth inning and the entire batting list for Tesco faced Smith. Mitchell, first man up, smacked a high fly out to Lingle in right field that bounced square in his glove and bounded out again, as Mitchell pulled up safely at third. Then Lewis, the Tesco catcher, rocked a hot one through second base that sent Mitchell in home for the first run of the game and Lewis was safe on first base. Before the inning was over the Electricians had piled up five runs that gave them a lead that was never tied.

Bombs' Figure in Strike Quiz

At last year's hearing on strike violence before the Senate post-office committee, Tom M. Girdler, chairman of the Republic Steel Corporation, entered the above photograph as evidence that strikers were making "dynamite bombs." The picture was signed by Carl Olson, Youngstown, O., police chief. The current LaFollette Civil Liberties Committee is investigating Olson's later denial that he had ever seen the picture. The "dynamite bombs" are said to be sulphur smudges used for fumigation.

At third, but Loftis went down for the third out. Cox went in for Smith in the seventh and Mitchell, Lewis and Kearney were all slipped into the out groove. BUILDING ON THE SOLID ROCK —
The most important factor in the beginning of all things is the foundation. In life, its character; in finance, its savings and investments; in education, its fundamentals; and in homes, its rock.
In these more modern days too few of us take time to build the foundation. We start building in a hurry, rush the job, and finish up in the length of time that should be required to start a permanent structure.
We build on sand, spend all or more than we make, drift along aimlessly, and wind up fighting for a bare existence. What a tragedy!
The man who starts out saving something by investing regular monthly payments in a home is building on the solid rock. It takes time, patience and sacrifice, but the final reward cannot be estimated in dollars and cents.

HAYWIRE HOUSE

BY EDWIN RUTT

COPYRIGHT, 1938 NEA SERVICE, INC.

Yesterday Spencer Ames tells Wilton that a hotel firm is interested in buying the Preston place. Wilton had better watch it closely.

CHAPTER VI

WILTON AMES STARED at his father. "Farnsworth Hotels?" he exclaimed. "They're a big outfit, aren't they?"

Spencer inclined his head. "Very big, very solvent and, I am told, very nice people to do business with."

"I'm beginning to understand," said Wilton. "You'll—you'll take the place over?"

"Precisely," said Spencer. "If the interest and amortization payment is not met, the Preston property will have to be put up at public auction. And I'll find a way to buy it in quietly."

Wilton's eyes lighted. "That's a great idea, Dad. We . . . He stopped suddenly. "But what about Sally?"

"Sally? Oh, you mean the Pennington girl? Well, what about her? She'll get a price for it, won't she?"

"Yes," said Wilton shrewdly. "But not as much as if she paid the interest and sold to Farnsworth Hotels herself."

"Quite so," said Mr. Ames. "I'm glad you perceive that, Wilton. It shows you've grasped the situation. Now don't you be a fool, my boy. If we play our hand right, Miss Pennington need know nothing about it. We'll make a handsome profit on the deal and you can marry the girl, if she'll have you. I don't know as I'd object to that, either. She seems a nice enough young person and you've got to settle down sometime."

Wilton was silent, considering. The proposition certainly appealed to his native craftiness. "Yes," he said, at last. "I see what you mean. There's one thing that worries me, though. If Sally ever found out that I . . ."

"She won't," interrupted his father. "Unless you're fool enough to tell her. The thing for you to do is keep your ears open and your mouth shut. I'll handle the transaction. Now you'd better go over there this evening and learn what you can. I don't like this Parker chap getting into it. He might be dangerous."

"Yes," said Wilton, and he meant it two ways. AFTER finishing his sign and setting it up out of town, Kinks arrived to find a great peace brooding over the abode of his late Aunt Martha. Birds chirped in the trees. The sun was warm on the green lawn. In the back the river lapped peacefully by. And in a steamer-chair near the front steps reclined Mr. Harkness, wearing the air of a man whose work has been well done.

"Hello," said Kinks pleasantly. "Taking it easy?"

Mr. Harkness nodded. "Just relaxing. But I have not been idle today, young man. Go up and try that front doorbell."

Kinks mounted the steps and pressed the bell gingerly. The next instant he jumped back and almost dropped his suitcase. An uproar reminiscent of a police siren in full cry had sounded through the house.

"Good night," Kinks called to Mr. Harkness. "What is it?"

The electrical genius waved negligently from the steamer-chair. "We can't," she said. "We're free, white and 21."

"Because," said Sally, "Wilton Ames rang me up this afternoon."

"WILTON AMES? You mean that stuffed shirt you thought you were going to marry before I came along? Well, what if he did? You gave him the air, I hope."

"I didn't. Hey, listen, beautiful! I thought I told you that from now on this beetle Wilton was finished."

"No matter what you told me," said Sally patiently, "Wilton is coming. In fact, he's coming for dinner."

"Dinner? You've got me nerve, Sarah Pennington, to stand here and tell me that you're going to shower our good food all over a nitwit with no chin?"

"Oh, Kinks," said Sally, "do keep quiet. I thought it best to ask Wilton over here tonight. He said that he has something very important to tell me."

THE HITCH BEHIND

Dog and His Owner Go Fishing for Rats

CHARLESTON, W. Va.—A. L. Nidy uses a fishing pole, line and hook to keep down the rat population around his house. And don't forget Pooch, his white dog of an "ordinary" breed.

This modern Pind Piper looked to his fishing outfit when he learned that ordinary rat traps were ineffective against the wary invaders.

So Nidy and Pooch went "rat-fishing". The method, as demonstrated by the man and dog, is simple. Nidy has a fishing pole to which is attached a stout cord with a triad hook on the end. He uses a small chunk of meat for bait and dangles the baited hook near a rat-hole.

Before long, there is a bite. After he feels certain the victim is solidly "hooked," Nidy pulls in the line and jerks the rat out of the hole. Then Pooch goes into action. He grips the rat firmly and enthusiastically about the neck with his teeth, shakes the prey violently, and that's that.

"You see, it's just the same as going fishing, and besides it's a lot more fun," declares Nidy after a demonstration in his home in West Charleston. "I sic Pooch on the rat and let him do the killing."

Nidy's fishing methods of rat catching have spread around the neighborhood, he said. Several of the neighbors' boys have adopted the diversion as a new sport that meets parental approval.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES

Sunday school, 9:45 a. m.; Morning worship, 11 a. m.; Wednesday, testimonial service, 8 p. m.

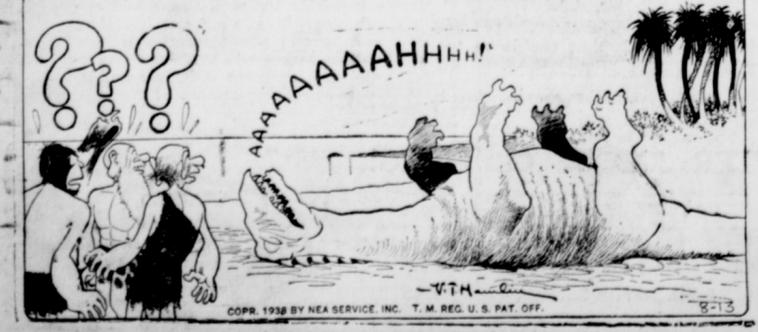

Public cordially invited. "Soul" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in all churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, Aug. 14.

The golden text is: "Hear me speedily, O Lord: . . . cause me to hear thy loving-kindness in the morning; for in thee do I trust: cause me to know the way wherein I should walk; for I lift my soul unto thee" (Psalms 143:7,8).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "Know therefore this day, and consider it in thine heart, that the Lord he is God in Heaven above, and upon the earth beneath: there is none else" (Deuteronomy 4:39).

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Soul, or Spirit, is God, unchangeable and eternal; and man coexists with and reflects Soul, God, for man is God's image" (page 120).

Hannah: Godly Motherhood

Text: I Samuel 1:9-18; 2:1

BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D. Editor of Advance

HANNAH is a great type of the godly mother, the woman yearning for a son, and, when her prayer is answered, devoting all her energies and powers to consecrate that son to the very highest purposes and to train him for the things to which she has consecrated him.

Eli, the high priest, had observed Hannah sitting by the door-post of the temple, praying in bitterness of soul and weeping sorely in her anxiety to have a child. Eli mistakenly supposed, as he saw her lips moving but did not hear her voice, that she was drunk, and he reproved her—but it must have been with staidness and impressive sincerity that she replied, "No, my lord, I am a woman of a sorrowful spirit; I have drunk neither wine nor strong drink, but I poured out my soul to Jehovah."

The son that came to Hannah through her prayers was Samuel, who was to be Eli's successor and a great leader in the life of Israel.

Men and women are wont to pray zealously for what they want, and when they receive it, forget their vows and devotion—but Hannah fulfilled her part. She had promised to give her child to the service of Jehovah and she did not waver. It must have involved considerable sacrifice on her part to dedicate him to the sanctuary and have him brought up there under the guidance of Eli, when she must have had so much of a mother's longing to keep him to herself. Yet, how much greater this man Samuel was in service to God and man because of his mother's love and sacrifice!

Like Mary of Bethlehem, who was to become the mother of one greater than Samuel, her thoughts were all of salvation, and she lived in the atmosphere of divine plans and purposes.

How much it means to have such a wonderful environment as that! It has glorified common men and women. It has enlarged the area of heart and home and the devotion of a household, the love of a mother's heart, has become so enlarged as to extend to the very ends of the earth and to the limits of mankind.

I have read of a Scottish mother of our modern times who gave to the world seven fine sons. Every one of them became a man of distinction in some field of service into which he entered—the ministry, medicine, government, and similar fields. They went out from Scotland to serve other lands. The mother was comparatively unknown, but think of a humble Scottish mother whose life was magnified seven-fold and many times more in the service of her sons!

We are far from Mother's Day, as we study this lesson in August, but here are thoughts for Mother's Day and for every day—as Mother's Day ought to be.

Samuel was the man of achievement, and the savior of Israel in a time of great crisis. In the story of every great man, his mother's part in making him what he was is not so evident as in the case of Samuel.

Would that every Hannah and her name is legion—might have an inspired biographer like the mother of Samuel!

Twenty of Druxman's 25 year promotion were under official grace. The dodge was illegal in Washington, but Nate kept clean and went along while he in authority attended and took the other way officially.

Druxman began his promoter career when he joined the Seattle lodge of Elks in 1913. He had turned 21. The lodge named him on a committee to promote boxing.

As a youngster, Druxman had dined on peanuts, pop corn, and dogs at the old Seattle baseball park. He went to work selling tobacco and in a few years worked himself into the position of chief salesman for his firm.

Druxman had a bright future in baseball. He was signed by Pacific Coast League club two decades ago, but his parents and friends advised him against a professional athletic career.

A promoter's word turned him from the trail of fighting. Youth rode on his side, he applied to leather lathering.

George McKinnon, a featherweight four rounds . . . well collect his $10. In those days winner got $10, the loser $5. promoter handed young Druxman $250.

Nate, angered, threw the money at him. Then he changed his mind . . . Retrieved the cash, paid two seconds 50 cents . . . kept $150 for himself . . . gave up the game as an participant.

Today he will tell you that owes that old-time promoter thanks. The old-time promoter changed his mind about fighting and taught him the importance of keeping his word.

WITHOUT THE MOON, MANY OF THE WORLD'S GREAT HARBORS WOULD BE USELESS, SINCE THERE WOULD BE NO TIDES OF IMPORTANCE.

THE UNITED STATES, IT IS ESTIMATED, WILL REACH ITS POPULATION PEAK IN 1980, WITH 158,335,000 PERSONS.

ANSWER: Right. A kangaroo's forelegs are longest at birth. Many important harbors of the world depend upon the tide. When added a bit by the sun, raises the tide.

Front Door Crashes Arouse Home Owner

By United Press
 SUPERIOR, Wis.—Pat McDermott, former sheriff of Douglas county, wants to know whether he should move his house or if the state will move the two highways which meet in front of it.
 Last year a motorist crashed into the house. A second driver's car almost knocked the house off of its foundation.
 When a third car bumped into his home, McDermott put up a sign. It read: "Eggs for sale."
 That helped until recently when another motorist not only bowled over the sign but rammed into McDermott's house again. Within the next two days four other machines shook the cups off of his pantry shelves.
 McDermott said his patience is almost exhausted.

This is the time when most every mind is thinking about voting and who to vote for. In fact we cannot vote intelligently unless we consider the issues and the qualifications of those men who are offering their service for the office. Let us give you this thought; consider the moral character of the man as well as his mental and experience as qualification. We need men in office who are clean and who have some regard for the finer and better things of our community and State. Remember, candidates and elections come and go, but the Church is with us, as a living and powerful influence for righteousness. The Church is here to stay, to bless our community, our homes and our individual lives. The Church is here 365 days every year, laboring, giving and sacrificing for the good of all our people. My friend the Church is worthy of your loyal support.

 MANILA—A plan to avoid seasonal unemployment in the rich sugar areas of the Philippines has been advanced by Secretary of Labor Ramon Torres after a study of conditions in Negros, Panay and Cebu provinces during the slack season.
 Secretary Torres pointed out sugar workers can be divided in two general groups—the permanent employees and the 10,000 seasonal workers who have steady jobs only during the five-months milling season.
 The secretary proposed that sugar central owners deposit 20 per cent of the seasonal workman's daily wages withdrawn from their pay envelopes, and put with it an equal amount. The sum would be for use of the workers during lay-offs.

He also suggested sugar centrals extended the milling season to six months, thereby dividing the working period and the lay-off equally.

"Where the minimum wage is one peso (50 cents) per day," Torres explained, "The laborer would deposit 20 centavos and the central likewise would deposit 20 centavos. Actually, the laborer would be receiving 80 centavos per day during the milling season, but during the off-season he would instead of not receiving anything get 40 centavos per day." (a centavo is half a cent).

Torres said sugar central executives in Negros received his plan favorably. He estimated each central would have to appropriate an additional $6,000 for an average of 450 laborers.

Rumor False That Premiums Offered

Eastland residents who had saved hundreds of Duke's Mixture tobacco paper wrappers were advised Saturday that no premiums are offered by the Liggett and Myers Tobacco company.

Rumor had started that the firm gave wrist watches and other valuable premiums in return for specified number of wrappers. This was false, Mrs. Edward Clark was advised after she had written the firm.

Several persons were reported to have saved over 300 wrappers.

A recent report states that 100 million dollars a year is spent in the United States on music lessons. Think of the earmuffs that could have bought!

 at her finger tips
 ...ready for your call

At the finger tips of your telephone operator stands many million dollars' worth of equipment in Texas . . . buildings, switchboards in 315 offices; two and a half million miles of wire . . . ready day and night to carry your voice the length and breadth of Texas, and beyond.

Last year it took more than 23 million dollars to operate this system for you. Part of this was for materials and supplies. More than four million dollars went for local, state, and federal taxes, to help pay for your roads, your schools, your police protection, and so on. More than 11 million dollars for wages, to nearly 9,000 workers who are your neighbors in Texas, and who spent that 11 million dollars in this state . . . no small item in keeping Texas business moving.

The telephone company, like the men and women who operate it, is a part of Texas. Its investment here has been made to meet this state's need for friendly, dependable telephone service. It serves its own interests best by giving you the service you want, at reasonable cost to you.
