'The American Way' Is No Miracle

Czech and German children danced together the other night—in New York.

It happened at a fall festival staged for the children who attend a settlement playground known as the Avenue A. Children's Gardens. Youngsters of 17 nationalities play at this settlement and at the festival they all had a good time together.

At the end of the festival they all got together and sang "America the Beautiful." And then the announcer summed up the spirit of the evening by saying: "Now we are all Americans. We're friends now."

There is more to this little anecdote than just a mild human-interest value. It is easy enough to say that America is probably the only spot on the globe where youthful Czechs, Germans, Poles, Hungarians and Russians could have a friendly evening of dancing and singing together, to celebrate the end of a summer's joint work and play. But if we simply pat ourselves on the back and let it go at that we've missed the point.

There isn't a thing surprising about the fact that a mixed group of children will play together happily if they're given half a chance. The point of the whole thing is that these children, quite unwittingly, reflect a way of life which is the exact opposite of the way that is now producing such terrible fruits in central Europe.

It is customary to say that we Americans have a whole continent to live in, and that therefore our job of getting along together is simplified. We have immense resources to exploit, a tremendous trading area in which to buy and sell, and we don't need to have these bitter rivalries, hatreds, and jealousies.

But the Europeans also have a whole continent to live in. It would be an even richer trading area than North America, if the barriers were taken down. It has immense stocks of natural resources and it is enormously productive of raw materials. What has been done in North America could be done in Europe—if people would only understand that it has to be done.

As long as Europe clings to the old idea of watertight boundaries and conflicting "national destinies"—as long as men believe that one nation can prosper only at the expense of its neighbors, instead of in cooperation with them—just so long will there be wars and rumors of wars. Men won't have a lasting peace until they come around to this other way of looking at things.

We can call this other way the American way if we want to. There's no call for us to get conceited about it. We had a lucky break, in that we were able to start from scratch. But the object lesson is just as good. And the spectacle of those children, dancing and laughing together while their relatives overseas were ready to fly at one another's throats, is in its own way a signpost pointing to the only way to lasting peace.

EDITORIAL

Through the thoughtfulness of the Editor of "The Ranger Times," Colony is to have its own news column. This opportunity to give us a newspaper of our own is appreciated by all. Every community, whether large or small, has news that would be of interest to others. The column is to be one for school as well as community. Reporters have been selected from various grades to help cover the news of the week. However, they alone cannot make the column a success, for cooperation of all must be had before any undertaking will be a success. If at any time you have some news that you think will be of interest to others, turn it in to one of the reporters.

SEVENTH GRADE

The Seventh grade class finished

practice for the year. Two practice games have been played with Morton Valley. In the first game the Colony boys were victorious, the score being 16-25. Morton Valley girls won with a 13-4 score. The same teams meet Wednesday night to renew their friendly rivalry. Both of the Colony teams were victors. The boys nosed out Morton Valley, 17-18. The girls played a fast game with the score 6-18 when the final whistle blew. These practice games are helpful in many ways and we are looking forward to others.

The boys traveling squad composed of Jack O'Shields, Jessie Hathcock, Leroy Smith, Raymond Lain, Raymond Tarrant, Johnnie Stuart, Hubert Thompson. The team elected Leroy Smith as captain.

Six girls played the entire game Wednesday night. They were Imogene Stuard, Mildred Harrel, Norma Jean Hadley— forwards, Norma Ruth Crabb, Anna Mae Ivy, Hazel Eakin—guards. Mildred Harrel was elected captain with Hazel Eakin starring as co-captain. The girls are coached by Joe Patterson.

Another team which is fast taking form on our campus is our Junior girls. They played Morton Valley when the other teams did. The score was 8-14 in favor of Morton Valley. The following girls are coming out for the Junior team: Georgia Mae Baggett, Beulah James, Wanda Louise Graves, Christeen Ferguson, June Eakin, Elsie Ridling, Alice Casee. Their coach is Mrs. Estelle Adams.

ASSEMBLY PROGRAMS

The first four grades conducted our first general assembly program. It was an amateur program which was broadcast from our auditorium to the students of our school. The program consisted of songs, readings, and plays. Jo Don Ford was master of ceremonies.

The fifth, sixth and seventh grades has charge of the second assembly program. The program, which was announced by Bill Getts, consisted of a song by the fifth grade girls; readings by Jewel Harris and Bobby Ray Eakin; songs by high school trio; and a short play, "Mr. Jones Solves the Problem."

Reconstruction and beautification work on our campus and buildings is progressing nicely. Work is being done by two N. Y. A. boys—Johnnie Steward and Raymond Tarrant. A large flag pole has been erected in front of the campus. Beautification work on the school ground by the removal of rocks and trash has been helpful in making our campus a beauty spot. Rock will be placed around the trees on the campus. Other projects are to be carried out later in the year.

Tuesday evening, Sept. 27th, was the regular meeting of our P.-T. A.

After a business meeting in which the plans for the year were reported upon by the various committees and the president, Mrs. O'Shields, a very constructive program was rendered on Parent Education. Mrs. John Ivy was the leader of the program, which was opened by a solo by Mr. Joe Patterson. Mrs. Estelle Adams gave the address of the evening. An enthusiastic round table discussion closed the program.

The Homemaking Club of Colony high school met Friday 23, 1938 for organization. The time set for the meeting was every other Friday, the name Busy Bee, the motto: Buzz to the end; Colors: Green and Gold, and emblem, Bee. The officers are as follows: Evelyn Harriss, president; Anna Mae Ivy, vice president; Norma Crabb, secretary; Hazel Eakin, treasurer; Inez Ferguson, reporter; Norma Jean Hadley, song leader and Miss Aleene Fitzgerald, acting as sponsor. The club has been organized for two fold purpose, social and educational.

The program committee is working on the year books and plan to have them ready for approval next meeting.

With Our Wildlife
BY JOHN R. WOOD, State Game Warden

What Our Wildlife Resources Mean to Texas
Did you ever consider just what value our Wildlife Resources mean to Texas?

Of course there are several ways in which our Wildlife Resources aid us. Some of these seem to be rather indirectly connected, but are closely enough connected to merit our consideration. We do not always see the birds eating the many insects on the farms and in the cities. Some of these birds work while we are sleeping and others work at insect control when they are not noticed. Another side to the picture is the economic value. In this the farmers and landowners receive money directly in return for hunting rights. Many millions of pounds of fish and other edible products are sold on the market every day to the consuming public, that are produced in nature. The indirect benefit that could be called direct benefit comes from the sportsmen and nature lovers. In this is included the ones who travel many miles to get pictures of wildlife. Others study the Wildlife Resources from other angles. From this phase of the picture many places of business are benefited; such as hotels, cafes, grocery stores, sporting goods houses, ammunition companies, gun companies, camera companies, automobile manufacturers, and filling stations and others but space does not permit the naming of them all.

In the depression the automobile manufacturers had their sales channels analyzed, and to their great surprise they found that the fourth greatest use to which the automobile is put in the United States is for sporting activities. They found that five million automobiles were annually used for sporting activities; that these cars traveled seven hundred miles each on the average; that the total mileage traveled by these cars was three billion five hundred millions of miles each year. They found that the average life of each car averaged forty thousand miles, which caused an annual replacement of eighty seven thousand five hundred cars, at a cost of seventy million of dollars.

They found that tire bills exceeded six millions each year, 35 million dollars, was spent for gasoline, three million dollars was spent for oil. The total cost of transportation, paid out each year, by hunters, fishermen and lovers of nature in general through the use of the automobile alone exceeded one hundred twelve million seven hundred thousand dollars.

Texas sportsmen each year spend twenty-five million dollars for guns, ammunition, fishing equipment, clothing, automobiles, gasoline, food, hotel accommodations, and other goods and articles necessary to hunting and fishing trips. Certainly if every industry that benefits directly or indirectly from the money spent on fishing and hunting trips would pool their money and efforts toward an extensive wildlife conservation program and do all in their power to build up our Wildlife Resources in Texas as well as in other states, the nation would see an upward trend in business. If hunting and fishing facilities are increased more people would indulge in this the greatest of all sports, whereby more money would be spent on such trips and the whole country would benefit.

This fine action picture shows Anahu of Santa Clara dropping Pete Fay of Stanford as ferocious-visaged Jerry Ginney piles in to complete the job. The Broncos of little Santa Clara drubbed the Indians 22-0 at Palo Alto, Calif., in one of the season's big upsets.

Breckenridge Presents Charter
The Charter was presented to the new Boy Scout Troop No. 47 at Eliasville last Sunday night. A group of Scouts and leaders from Breckenridge furnished a special program for this occasion at the Methodist Church in Eliasville. After the regular church service was opened a vocal duet was rendered, and talks on the work of: Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts, and Sea Scouts were made. The charter was next presented, by Russell B. Jones, President of the Council, to the group of new Scouts and Scouters. This troop is sponsored by the employees of the Ohio Oil Co., as a community project. R. B. O'Brien is Scoutmaster, and C. R. Langford, Chairman of the Troop Committee. The Eliasville troop is starting off with a great deal of promise, as it has already made a good record in a recent district Rally.

Kitchen Furniture Is Discussed at Alameda Meeting

The Alameda Home Demonstration club met recently in an all-day meeting in the home of Mrs. Joe Blackwell, worked on two quilts in the morning, then had a covered dish luncheon.

Miss Ruth Ramey, county home demonstration agent met with the club in the afternoon and discussed the arrangements of kitchen furniture. She said the working surface of all tables, cabinets, as well as the cook stove should be of height one would not have to stoop when preparing a meal. The stove should be located where there is plenty of light.

This talk was enjoyed by seven visitors. Mmes. Vick Blackwell, E. E. Blackwell, Addie Belle Howard, Tom Howard, Lena Thomas and Miss Eva Shugart and club members: Mmes. G. O. Troop, has consented to take the Scoutmastership and will begin his work with the troop at this time. What is Scouting? Scoutmaster R. E. Wilkinson, Troop No. 40, Mount Vernon, N. Y., gives this definition: "Scouting is the single positive international code of ethics for boys and young men, which is universally dedicated to consideration of man for his fellow men without regard to class, race, religious creed, or color. It is based on the finest positive code of conduct ever written in the English language."

'Cotton Ed' Is Still 'Hoppin' Mad,' Suh

Senator Ellison DuRant Smith of South Carolina was still "hoppin' mad" when this picture was taken at Washington shortly after his request for a conference between President Roosevelt and a group of southern senators was refused. Although the White House insisted "Cotton Ed," who recently was renominated despite vigorous Roosevelt opposition, was just too late in asking an appointment, Senator Smith saw a direct snub, complained angrily. Senator Smith is spokesman for senators and farm representatives seeking an increase in the cotton loan rate from 8.3 cents a pound to more than 11 cents.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Service Staff Writer
WHITE war clouds threaten to shatter the peace of the world, women are preserving their October cranberries.

Cranberry Jelly (12 servings)
Two pounds (8 cups) cranberries, 1 quart water, 4 cups sugar. Wash and pick over cranberries. Using large saucepan, cook with water until they are soft and have all burst open. Do not over while cooking. Turn into fine wire strainer and force through.

Spiced Ripe Cranberry Relish (12 glasses)
A touch of spice is relished even by the ruddy cranberry. Try his gay suggestion.

Seven and one-half cups (3 1-2 pounds) prepared fruit, 1-2 cup vinegar, 5 1-2 cups (2 pounds, 6 ounces) sugar.

To prepare fruit, add 3 1-2 cups water and 1-2 cup vinegar to about 2 pounds fully ripe cranberries. Bring to a boil, cover and simmer 10 minutes. Sieve pulp, if desired. Add 1-8 to 1-4 teaspoon each cinnamon, cloves and allspice.

Measure sugar and juice into large kettle, filling up to ast cup with water if necessary. Mix well and bring to a full rolling boil over hottest fire. Stir constantly before and while boiling.

Boil hard 1 minute. Remove from fire and skim. Pour quickly. Paraffin hot relish at once.

Sunday's Menu
BREAKFAST: Grapefruit, fried ham and eggs, cornmeal muffins, ripe quince jelly, coffee, milk.

DINNER: Roast lamb, brown gravy, mint jelly, scalloped potatoes, buttered cauliflower, molded green pepper and cabbage salad, apple brown Betty, hard sauce, coffee, milk.

SUPPER: Cream of broccoli soup in cups, cold cuts, French bowl salad, spiced cranberry jelly, chocolate cream roll, tea, milk.

Ripe Quince Jelly (11 glasses)
For breakfast on a snappy morning, try ripe quince jelly on cornmeal muffins.

Four and one-half cups (2 1-4 pounds) quince juice, 7 1-2 cups (3 1-4 pounds) sugar, 1-2 bottle fruit pectin.

To prepare juice, remove cores, blossom and stem ends from about 3 pounds fully ripe quinces. Do not peel. Grind fine and add 4 1-2 cups water. Simmer, covered, 15 minutes. Place in jelly cloth. Squeeze out juice. (If fruit lacks tartness, add 2 table-spoons lemon juice to quince juice.)

Measure sugar and juice into large saucepan. Mix. Bring to a boil over hottest fire and at once add bottled fruit pectin, stirring constantly. Then bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard 1-2 minute. Remove from fire, skim, pour quickly. Paraffin hot jelly at once.

World War Clothes Will Go to Needy

EL PASO, Tex.—Slacks and khaki blouses made in 1917 for backs and feet of World War soldiers will be used to clothe El Paso needy, Assistant District Director Jake Goodell of the WPA has announced.

The military blouses, of which 87,977 have been received by the WPA from the War Department, will be ripped up and made into coveralls and pants for small boys.

There are too many pairs of the shoes for the El Paso needy, says the surplus of the 22,370 pairs which have been received will be offered to the state office of the Community Relief Association for distribution over the state by persons who are willing to pay the freight charges.

EVERYBODY gets a prize!

Have you ever attended a "Treasure Hunt" and raced frantically all over the neighborhood searching for cleverly hidden clues? It's fun, but only the fastest win the prizes.

But there's another "Treasure Hunt" run every day where everybody wins! It's in the newspaper you are reading now. The clues aren't hidden or in code—they're made easy for you! The advertisements in this paper are the clues—and they lead you directly to prizes you choose yourself.

Perhaps you want a toaster or a pair of shoes or a certain kind of soap. Look over the advertising clues till you find what you want at the price you can afford to pay. Without the ads, you'd have to Treasure Hunt all over town, from store to store, from counter to counter, to find just what you want. You can save lots of time and money by getting your clues from the advertising columns.
