Acts of Provocation Followed the Armistice

When you have said all that there is to say about Herr Hitler's appeals to violence and his acts of provocation, one fact remains, and there is no dodging it: the victor nations in the World War have certainly been asking for something like this.

If one thing is completely obvious in this tragic European situation, it is that the Czech crisis and all that goes with it were created, down to the last detail, by what the allies did after the armistice of 1918.

Armistice Day found Germany utterly beaten. The world's most feared army had been roundly whipped, the militaristic gang which had led Germany into the war was disgraced and in flight, the German people had acquired a deep and sincere desire for peace.

On that foundation there could have been built a lasting peace all that was needed was a little justice, a little reason, an evident desire to do the right thing.

But what happened?

Impossible peace terms were imposed. The Germans were compelled to remember the treaty with burning resentment and all of their efforts to negotiate better terms were scornfully rebuffed. When the fantastic reparations scheme broke down, a French army marched into the Ruhr; when economic pressure forced Germany to seek a customs union with Austria, the French sternly barred the way. Nor did the allies honor their own pledge to disarm.

Year after year, the victors did everything conceivable to prove that Germany could not improve her lot by peaceful negotiation—and let it be remembered that the republican government of Germany did honestly try to live in peace and friendship with its neighbors.

One can understand all of this only by assuming that the victors were not satisfied with military victory; they aimed to keep Germany permanently weak. And since Germany is one of the most virile and industrious nations on earth, such an effort was foredoomed to failure.

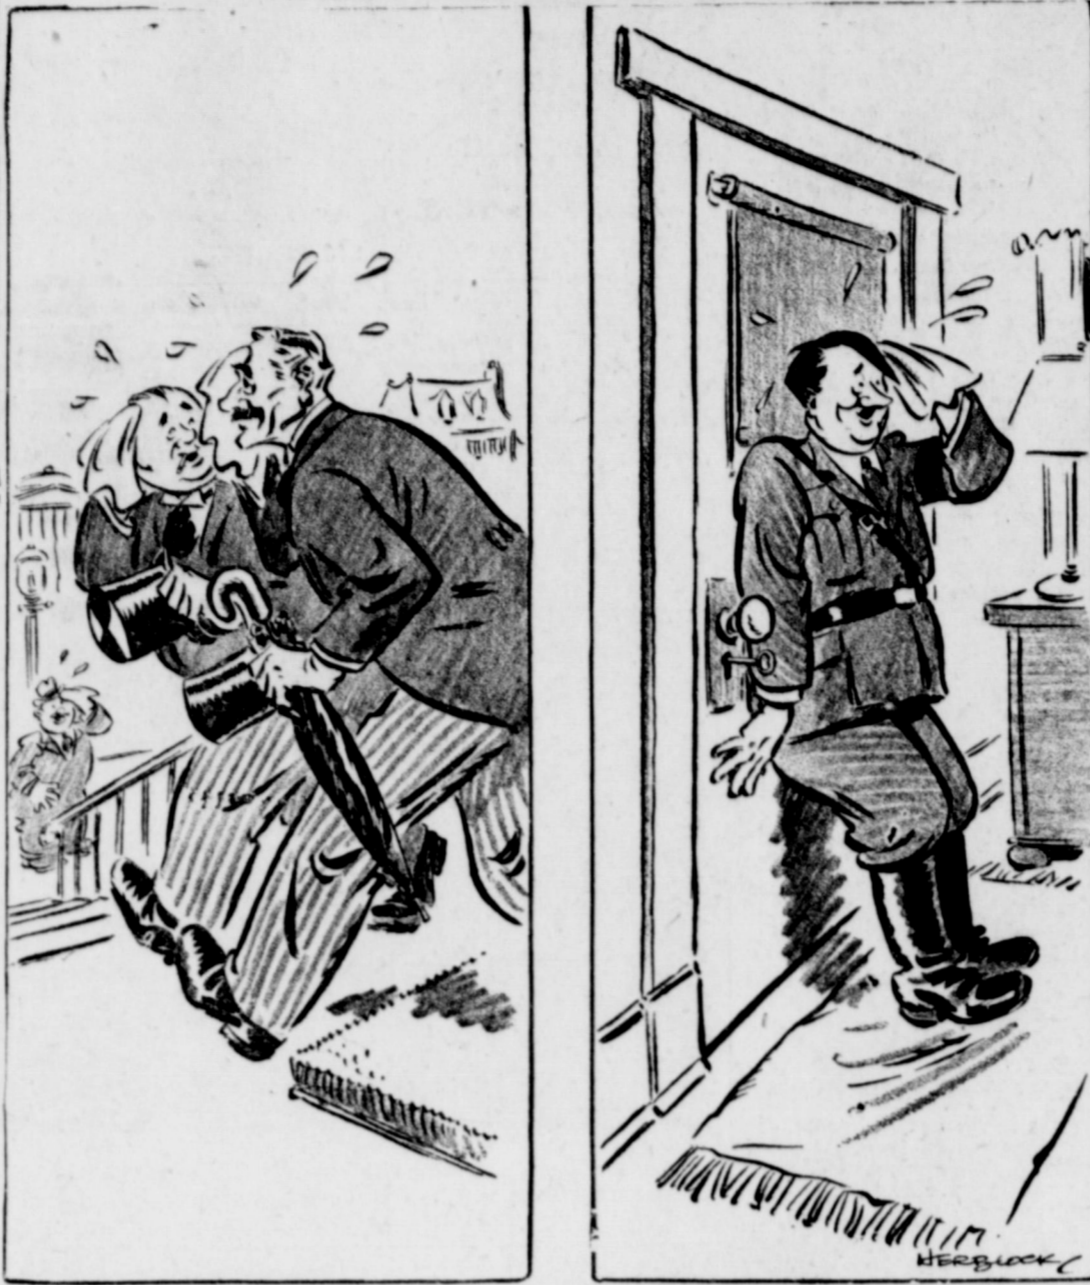

In any case, the allies created Hitler. They provided the atmosphere of desperation in which his frantic appeals to his people would be listened to; they made it clear that only through force could Germany hope to get relief. They set the stage for him, down to the last prop.

And then, having done all this, they retreated again and again before his threats—adding the last bit of proof to his argument that by acting tough Germany could get what she could not get by being conciliatory.

Today the allies face a dire problem in middle Europe—and all one can say is that they have been asking for it ever since 1918.

To the end of time, this ought to be an object lesson to all nations—an object lesson in how not to behave after a victory.

Stripper Well Owners To Have Convention

TULSA, Okla.—The National Stripper Well association, which represents the operators of more than 75 per cent of the oil wells in the United States, will hold its annual convention here Tuesday, October 18, according to W. W. Warner of Nowata, Oklahoma, president.

More than a score of state or district stripper-well organizations from practically every oil-producing section in the United States compose the national body, representing the owners and operators of more than 300,000 pumping or "stripper" oil wells which dot the countryside of oil producing areas and which average only about a barrel of production per day.

"These one-barrel wells are a far cry from the gushers which produce hundreds and even thousands of barrels of crude oil in a day, but the facts are that there are ten of the little wells for every big producer. And despite their average small production, the pumping wells really are the backbone of the petroleum producing industry," Warner stated.

He pointed out that every well now flowing under its own pressure some day will find that natural pressure exhausted and will become a pumping well if the reserve oil under it is to be recovered.

Because they are so important to the entire petroleum industry the current problems of the stripper wells in the country over will be given careful consideration at this meeting, which is a forerunner of the annual three-day convention of the Independent Petroleum Association of America, also to be held in Tulsa, Wednesday Thursday and Friday, October 19, 20 and 21, according to H. B. Feil of Ardmore, Oklahoma, executive vice-president of both organizations.

Other officers of the National Stripper Well association are Howard J. Whitehill, Tulsa, Okla., secretary-treasurer, and C. J.

Right to Kill Deer Becomes An Issue

By United Press

ALPENA, Mich. — Michigan sportsmen are protesting a ruling by the state conservation department and a decision of a circuit judge permitting farmers to kill deer out of season to protect their crops.

The conservation department has issued special permits to farmers for that purpose. Circuit Judge Fred T. Miles exonerated a farmer fined in justice court for killing a deer out of season on the theory that he had a constitutional right to protect his property.

Michigan's deer population is estimated at between 750,000 and 1,000,000. Conservation officials said that 10,000 of them perished last winter because of lack of feed, even though the department bought 75 tons of alfalfa and 25 loads of cedar browse to feed them in some areas. In addition 51,200 were killed in the 15-day hunting season last year.

Many persons bought property in this area solely because it is a deer country. They answer complaints of farmers by saying, they, too, have property rights.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX

NEA Service Staff Writer

DANISH food is not a snack. It is designed for cavernous appetites. If you have a little cavernous enter in your home, try these Danish specialties.

Veal and Ham Pie

(Serves 4 to 6)

Three-quarters pound boiled ham, 1-2 pounds cooked veal, 1 cup milk, 2 tablespoons butter, 1-2 cup stock (left from cooking veal or veal bone), 1 1-2 tablespoons flour, 2 beef bouillon cubes, 1 small can mushrooms.

Cube ham and veal. Make a white sauce by melting butter in saucepan, add flour and mix well. Then add milk gradually and stir over low flame until milk boils.

Add veal stock, mushrooms with liquid, cubes dissolved in a little of the stock, salt and pepper to taste. Rub baking dish with the cut side of a clove of garlic, put meat in, pour sauce over meat, cover all with rich biscuit dough. Bake in oven until well browned and crisp.

Lauritz Melchior, six foot four inches, heroic tenor and valiant eater, gave me that recipe. He says you'll like his favorite desert soufflé, too. Its sauce is pearls in whipped cream.

Tomorrow's Breakfast

BREAKFAST: Swiss omelets in orange juice, nut muffins, coffee, with a dash of honey.

LUNCHEON: Veal, potatoes, green peas, rice, bread, tea, milk.

DINNER: Fried haddock, tartar sauce, cauliflower, lettuce, bread stuffing, peas, Danish soufflé, pickles, cream sauce, coffee, and a glass of port.

Danish Soufflé (Serves 4 to 6) One pint milk, 6 eggs, 1-2 cup sugar, 1-2 cup butter, 6 eggs, grated nutmeg.

Cream butter and light. Add flour to a bowl. Bring the milk to a boil. Boil exactly one minute from fire. Separate yolks and add two at a time, constantly. Put in a sieve.

Beat whites very stiff. Fold into the mixture. Mold, put the cream on top with powder. Bake in a moderate oven (325) for twenty minutes. Serve immediately.

For sauce, slice fresh pears and mix with whipped cream. Flavored with lemon juice, and served with soufflé. Serves four.

age from the food they and their children eat. The council is showing the city's general public how many vague illnesses and fatigue are attributable to improper diet and how the right sort of food is as vital as sunshine, fresh air and exercise.

Mrs. Alice H. Smith, leading Detroit dietitian, who is in charge of the educational program sponsored by the council, has suggested that a study be made to show how the simple addition of inexpensive foods, such as milk, to the diet improves adult health and children's growth. "The family of the average workingman needs the most help," Mrs. Smith said. "The indigent, when there is adequate money for relief, have a better diet than the low-salaried working people. "These are in the majority. "In Detroit, we found borderline families able to spend on the average only 6 cents a meal for an individual. "In Detroit, Mrs. Smith was a member of the nutrition staff, department of public welfare, assistant dietitian at Grace hospital, a nutrition instructor in Wayne University and dietitian at Jennings hospital and the city physician's office.

Steel May Become Important Industry For Eastern Texas

DALLAS, Texas—When the oil wells dry up—or perhaps before that—steel may become the main industry in East Texas. That idea is just a dream at present, but an exhibit prepared by the Texas natural resources committee for the state fair in Dallas was designed to show that dreams may come true. Eleven counties in East Texas have huge iron ore deposits. These deposits are greatest in Anderson, Cherokee Rusk, Upshur, Cass and Camp. Lesser supplies are found in Smith, Gregg, Marion, Nacogdoches and Henderson counties.

The steel companies with the money to develop such resources already have their eyes on East Texas. One rights in certain sections already have been acquired by companies looking forward to the time when iron deposits in eastern states diminish to the point where it will be more profitable to start operations elsewhere.

Engineers for the United States Steel company conducted a survey twelve years ago. They tested 3,000 acres and reportedly estimated that under those 3,000 acres were 24,000,000 tons of iron ore. Furthermore, this ore was found to be of even a better grade than that around Birmingham, Ala., which has been built largely by the steel industry. But Wallace Jenkins, Dallas oil man who is directing iron promotion for the Texas natural resources committee, believes that this state should not wait on the big steel companies. He thinks Texas businessmen should get busy and develop a new industry of their own. "There's no need to wait until eastern companies run low on supplies," he argued. "Texas can use her own steel. There are 25,000 oil wells drilled in Texas each year. On an average, each uses $10,000 worth of pipe and other steel. There are 250,000 miles of pipeline in the United States, 40 per cent of which is in Texas. Texas can use all the steel it produces."

committee, believes that this state should not wait on the big steel companies. He thinks Texas businessmen should get busy and develop a new industry of their own. "There's no need to wait until eastern companies run low on supplies," he argued. "Texas can use her own steel. There are 25,000 oil wells drilled in Texas each year. On an average, each uses $10,000 worth of pipe and other steel. There are 250,000 miles of pipeline in the United States, 40 per cent of which is in Texas. Texas can use all the steel it produces."

More than 40 years ago an attempt was made to develop the possibilities from iron, but the attempt was premature. Seven miles from Rusk was New Birmingham, which in 1890 had foundaries, steel mills and a population of 10,000. But the venture failed. "They had no coal, and had to ship it in," Jenkins said. "Now East Texas has unlimited gas. It blows in the air. Gas is a good substitute for coke in steel manufacture."

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. O. S. E. Initiatory Meeting Set
The Order of the Eastern Star will hold the initiatory meeting

Friday night at 7:30 in Masonic Hall. All members are urged to attend.

Meeting of Circle Held By Chairman

The Lockett Circle of the Woman's Missionary Union of the Baptist church met in the home of Mrs. E. M. Altom with 9 members present and one visitor.

The meeting was called to order by the chairman, Mrs. Altom, with prayer by Mrs. Love.

Business of the Circle was attended to and officers for the circle for the coming year were appointed.

Mrs. R. A. Larner, as program leader, then brought a very interesting lesson on "The Heart of the Levant."

Sisters in Meet

The Pythian Sisters of Eastland held their regular meeting of Temple No. 72 Monday night.

Aside from the regular matters plans were discussed and committees appointed for arranging a schedule of open house meetings and joint programs with the Knights during the fall and winter season. Also plans were discussed for cooperating with the Knights with a view to air conditioning the Hall, which is used jointly with the Knights, before the warm weather sets in next year.

Those present were: Mary Frances Reed, Most Excellent Chief; Winnie Dorsey, Excellent Senior; Katrina Lovelace, Excel-

Rougher Game Than Politics?

Virginia's little "giant killer," Senator Carter Glass, took time out from his job as unofficial gadfly to the New Deal to see how the big boys of professional football handle the opposition. The open-mouthed gentleman from Virginia is pictured putting everything he has into the role of spectator at the New York Giants-Washington Redskins game in Washington.

1939 Chevrolet Is Shown Wednesday At Ft. Worth Meet

Enthusiasm over the 1939 Chevrolet models which will be introduced to the nation Oct. 22, four Eastland men Thursday had returned from a meeting Wednesday at Fort Worth where the new models were shown.

O. E. Harvey, owner with John D. Harvey, of the Harvey Motor company, and Curley Maynard, O. H. Doss and J. V. Thompson, representatives in the sales department, were the Eastland men who attended.

The new Chevrolet was acclaimed outstanding in its field and one that would capture the attention of all motorists.

Consider the sad case of the lady nudist who complained she couldn't attend the forthcoming national convention because she didn't have a thing not to wear.
