'His Big Moment'— a Dramatic Fiasco

It is a shame to say so, but it looks as if the great genius and mastermind of the Nazi military machine, Herr Hitler, had fumbled one.

All along we have heard about Hitler's great sense of timing, about his psychological insight, which enabled him to know precisely when, where, and how to strike, about the shrewd efficiency of his moves as compared with the slow and clumsy fumbling of the democracies.

But a cool review of this whole Czech situation indicates that Hitler misplayed his hand badly.

The psychological moment, for Hitler, came at the height of the Nuremberg conference. Whether he wanted victory by war or victory by peace, that was the hour when it was his for the taking.

If he planned to be ruthless—to shoot the works, take on a big war, and gamble everything on a quick blow with what he has boasted of as the finest army in the world—that was his chance.

Czechoslovakia was not yet mobilized. England and France, far from being ready for war, were confused and half-hearted. They had done their bit for him by putting pressure on Prague to accept his demands; confronted by a bold stroke, they certainly would have been unready to make an effective reply.

Suppose, on the other hand, that he wanted a bloodless victory: then that, too, was his for the asking. The Franco-British plan for surrender of the Sudeten territory was a distinct triumph for Germany. It could have been offered to the home folks as one more instance of a great gain made by the fearless Fuehrer, the man who could win whole provinces for the empire without firing a shot.

But Hitler chose neither war nor peace. Instead he chose delay. And that act looks very much like the biggest blunder of his career.

The delay solidified anti-Hitler sentiment in the great democracies. It gave France and England time, not only to mobilize their war machines, but to rally their peoples and clarify their own minds.

It gave Czechoslovakia, also, time to get its army ready and mass its people solidly behind a defiant government. The easy victory Hitler might have had a few days ago vanished forever during the interval.

Furthermore, the delay took the edge off of the bloodless victory that could be had without war. For if, after fuming and ranting for a week, Hitler finally goes back and accepts what he was begged to accept in the beginning, he has to back down—and a dictator who backs down is a dictator whose glitter is sadly tarnished.

Hitler had all the cards in the deck, a week or 10 days ago. It is hard to avoid the conclusion that he has played them like a duffer.

A mathematician says he has proved that a single game of chess can be played forever. Anybody could have proved that for himself in the last few years by making a visit to Geneva.

What Lovely Weather We're Having!

Rifle Carrying By Mexican Cops Ceases

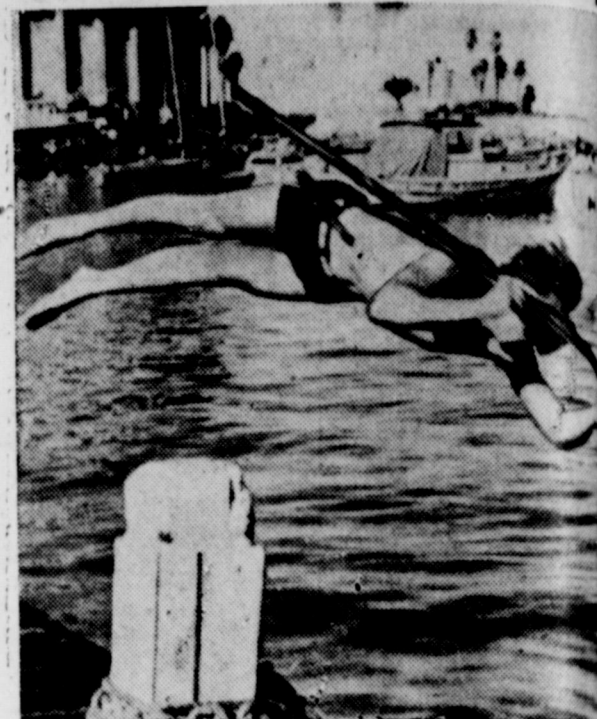

By United Press
MEXICO CITY, D. F.—General Federico Montes, chief of police of Mexico, has initiated a campaign to make the capital's gendarmes look less fierce.

Soon after he was appointed, Montes ordered that the gendarmes cease carrying rifles all the time. Now they use them only for riot duty, to maintain order at the bull ring, etc.

Next step he took was to announce that police-sticks will be issued as soon as they are manufactured, and these are to be used whenever the gendarme's life is not endangered. Only in dealing with dangerous characters are the gendarmes supposed to draw their pistols.

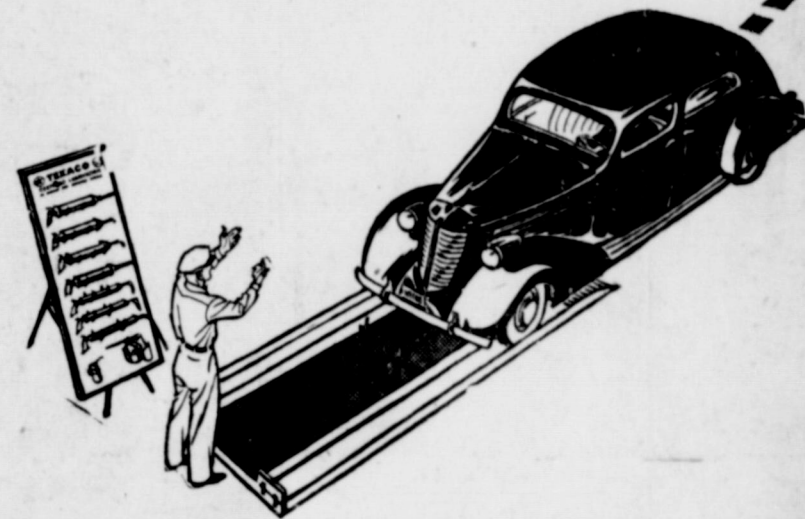

The police in Mexico City are called gendarmes because that word was transplanted when the French troops overran Mexico in the days of Emperor Maximilian. It has remained ever since, and is pronounced something like "hendarme." They drill just like soldiers, carry rifles and bayonets on parade, and in the past have often shouldered rifles for routine duty. Their officers come from the regular army.

Football Fun Now Is In Full Season

SCRIMMAGE LINE LEADS TO "HOT COFFEE AND . . ."

WHETHER you watch the touchdowns from a stadium seat or follow the plays from your fireside football fun's in season! After-the-game parties, picnic lunches, en route to the game in the car, or alumni get-togethers to celebrate victory—they are all social occasions inspired by our favorite fall sport.

Hot coffee and sandwiches are the thing to eat between the halves at the scene of scrimmage. And "hot coffee and . . ." is the thing to serve at home after the game. Did you know that even the husky tackles and halfbacks drink coffee too—not only between the halves of the game as an invigorating stimulant, but actually train on it? Most of the leading coaches recommend it.

If you want your party to reach its goal, then "tackle" your refreshment line in advance. Guard against elaborate foods; let the scrimmage for food bring your cheers as you make every course a touchdown, hot off the gridiron! The following suggestions for fare to serve with that piping hot coffee (have plenty!) will help you to be no drawback.

Now, forward pass!

- Touchdown Doughnuts
- 5 cups sifted flour.
 - 4 teaspoons baking powder.
 - 1 teaspoon soda.
 - 2 teaspoons salt.
 - 1 teaspoon nutmeg.
 - ¼ cup shortening.
 - 1 cup sugar.
 - 3 eggs, well beaten.
 - 1½ teaspoons vanilla.
 - ¾ cup mashed ripe bananas, (about 2 bananas).
 - ½ cup sour milk or buttermilk.
 - ½ cup extra flour.
 - Fat or cooking oil.
 - Sift 5 cups flour with baking powder, soda, salt and nutmeg; beat shortening until creamy; add sugar gradually; add eggs, beating until fluffy; add combined vanilla, bananas and sour milk and blend; then add flour mixture, stirring until smooth. Turn a small amount onto a board floured with the extra flour, knead very lightly, roll out with floured rolling pin to ¾-inch thickness. Cut with floured 2½-inch doughnut cutter. Heat fat or oil to 370-375° F. or until a 1-inch square of day-old bread will turn golden brown in 40 seconds. Slip doughnuts into fat with a spatula. Fry until golden brown (about 3 minutes), turning frequently. Drain on absorbent paper. Serve with hot coffee.
- Winter Salad Bowl
- 1 head lettuce.
 - 1 No. 2 can string beans.
 - 3 tomatoes.
 - 2 cups diced cooked potatoes.
1-7 oz. can flaked fish.
 - 1 peeled onion, sliced.
 - Pepper to taste.
 - 3 shelled hard-cooked eggs.
 - ½ cup mustard pickle.
 - 1 peeled garlic bud, finely minced.
 - ¼ cup cooking oil.
 - ¼ teaspoon sugar.
 - ¼ cup vinegar.
 - ¾ teaspoon salt.

Camera Catches Speeders in the Act

No matter how hard he argues, the driver of the truck in the above picture won't convince a judge he wasn't traveling 60 miles an hour on a 30-mile speed limit highway. A camera on the windshield of the car following the truck photographed simultaneously the truck, a speedometer (registering 60 miles an hour) attached to the left front fender of the trailing auto, and the 30-mile speed limit sign. It's a new device in the war on speeders exhibited at the National Safety Council Congress in Chicago.

Canadian Output of Gold Is Increased

By United Press
OTTAWA, Ont.—An increase of more than $9,000,000 in the value of gold output featured the activities of Canada's mining industry during the first half of 1938, a report issued by the Dominion bureau of statistics discloses.

Canadian gold production totalled 2,219,309 fine ounces, valued at $77,964,325, compared with 1,966,858 fine ounces, worth $68,820,361, during the first six months of 1937. Increases in output were recorded for every gold producing province. The mines of Ontario yielded 61.85 per cent of the total; nebec, 19.15 per cent; British Columbia, 12.68; Manitoba and Saskatchewan combined, 5.12 per cent, and the remainder came from Nova Scotia, the Yukon, and the Northwest Territories.

Canada's mineral production during the first half of 1938 was valued at $209,654,610.

THE CHEERING WORD

Little Charley was the dull boy of his school. All the rest either laughed at him or pitied him. Even his master sometimes made fun of him.

He became sullen and indifferent and took no pains to get on. One day a gentleman who was visiting the school looked over some boys who were making their first attempt to write. There was a general burst of amusement at poor Charley's efforts. He colored, but was silent.

"Never mind, my lad," said the gentleman, cheerfully, "don't be discouraged. Just do your very best you'll be a brave writer some day. I recollect when I first began to write, being quite as awkward as you are, but I kept on and now look here."

He took a pen and wrote his name on a piece of paper in good plain writing. "See what I can do now," he added.

Many years afterward, the gentleman met Charley again. He had turned out to be one of the most celebrated men of his day. And he told him that he owed his success in life, under God's blessing, to his encouraging words.

Choice and Assimilation of Choice

The road of human endeavor is a concise path painted indelibly with the attribute of choice. Choice signifies freedom, which is ill treated and often misconceived. It is the greatest liberalizing gift offered from God to man. Choice means freedom which may make us captives, if captives we choose to be.

The destiny of the human soul lies lingeringly on the brink of eternity awaiting the decision made by choice. We boast of this opportunity to choose. Yet, poor forgetful creatures we are. We forget to weigh the cost and price there may be in choosing.

Life's sentence may be passed by one's choice and the verdict may be rendered by one's decision. Choose wisely, fools choose otherwise, for in every task there is a decision and in every thought a choice.

The concluding remarks I leave to the student body of this school. Through the sojourn life there are but two roads; one we must choose to follow. The rough and rugged road, or the smooth road upon whose paved surface we are permitted to travel beholding the goodness and beauty of God and the sunshine of the blue heavens of hope. It is not this way on the other road, for we experience the thorns and thistles that pierce and blight the conscience that leaves a sting that we must bear as a badge of dishonor to our God, country and home. We are victims of choice.

A Thought

God's great are those, who from everywhere and every condition, live the beautiful, sweet life. They are always true to the highest and noblest things. Rich or poor, learned or unlearned, God's great may be found everywhere. It is not what we possess but what we are that makes us great.

Club News

The Community Literary club met on last Wednesday night. New officers were elected to serve for a period of three months.

The following were elected: President, D. R. Holliday; vice-president, Bob Duggan; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Todd; program committees were divided into two groups with Gid Maddox and Bill Ogden on one committee and Mrs. Odgen and Mrs. Holliday on the other.

The club presented last Friday night "My Little Lonely Liza Lou." A large crowd was present which seemed to enjoy the play very much.

The school organized a Monday morning club this week. The purpose of such a club is to provide entertainment of some type each Monday morning.

This past summer we organized a Musical club which we think was indeed good in its purpose. We have not met for several weeks, but intend to start our regular meeting again soon.

We would like to invite out of community people, who are interested in music to join our band with any kind of instrument you desire to play. If you are interested please correspond with D. R. Holliday, Eastland Route 2.

My First Horseback Ride

When I went to visit my aunt I had never ridden a horse. She had a pretty little horse by the name of Blue.

One day she wanted me to ride the little horse after the cows. As I had never ridden before I was afraid, but I crawled upon her and started off scared stiff.

Soon I was back with the cows and wasn't afraid to ride again.

No Trump

The landlady brought in a plateful of extremely thin slices of bread and butter, which rather dismayed her hungry men boarders.

"Did you cut these, Mrs. Brown?" said one.
"Yes, I cut them," came a stern reply.
"Oh," vent one of the boarders. "All right, I'll shuffle and deal."

Canada's Trade Fleet Scattered to Winds

MONTREAL—Vessels that once belonged to Canada's merchant marine are sailing the high seas under a half-dozen different flags. The Canadian government decided several years ago to discontinue its experiment in public ownership of a merchant marine, and began disposing of the vessels. A survey disclosed that of the 57 vessels once belonging to the fleet that are still known to be afloat, only 14 are registered in Canada.

lobby. The immaculate gentleman at the desk regarded him with suspicion, but Tait ignored him. To the elevator boy he said, "Tenth floor, please." In another moment he was at the door of Leonard Macy, the wealthy dilettante whose hobby was the detection of crime and who loved to make fools of hard-working fellows like Dannie Feeley. It was with a feeling akin to contempt that Bob Tait pushed the bell. A smooth-looking Oriental in a white coat answered the buzz. "My name is Robert Tait," the newspaper photographer said. "I would like to see Mr. Macy."

moment, and Tait waited. "Tait, this murder interests me because of its background. I refer to the phenomenon of swing music. Now—purely for the sake of argument—let us say that Mrs. Dombey killed the band leader. I feel—" "Why do you pick her?" Tait interrupted. "Very simple. She had the most to gain. We do not, of course, yet know the motive. They may have quarreled, although that doesn't seem likely. At the moment I choose to believe that it was pre-meditated."

date, reserving the power to question any policy of the British government in the operation of the mandate. Civil strife and what is believed to be influences from Germany by Adolf Hitler interpretations as well as those of Benito Mussolini of Italy, has kept a series of killings and clashes by Moslems in Palestine. Denied the right to protect themselves by the laws of the British commission, the Hebrews are being killed by raiding parties. Jewish citizens of this nation and the world are urging the American government through Secretary Cordell Hull, to insist that the British government protect the people to whom they made the above agreement. Jewish citizens feel that the aid of their gentle friends are now most needed to bring about favorable efforts in their behalf through their congressmen and United States senators, in order to urge the British government to protect the Jewish people in Palestine according to their promise for valued service rendered without monetary compensation.

their use of submarine craft, food stuffs for the soldiers in the trenches were sunk, the convoy carriers were unable to protect the lives of the soldiers being transported to Europe and the Allies were in great danger of losing the war, a Jewish chemist evolved a high explosive that was capable of blowing up every German submarine out of the waters of the Atlantic Ocean. This meant that American soldiers could reach France and that they would be fed after they got there. The Jewish chemist supplemented a supreme safety defense through his TNT as without it, it is possible that the American soldiers would never have reached the Allied front.

When the British government negotiated with the Jewish inventor as to how much he wanted for his explosive, they were amazed to receive the answer that he did not want any money. Instead he asked that Great Britain, after the war, if the Allies won, to help the Hebrew people to return to their homeland in Palestine. As a result of this humble request, he was given the promise that they would be helped to regain their rightful home. This is all a matter of record and history. Another Hebrew, a French subject, had powerful influences in the Austrian-Hungarian empire. To him the Allies promised again that they would return Palestine to the Hebrews if he would aid in getting Austria-Hungary to quit the Central pact with Germany. This the French Rothschild did. For these two great services the United States and Great Britain agreed to aid the Hebrews regain their homeland. To aid in this agreement the British government after the World War took over Palestine under a mandate. The United States was a party to this man-

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY HARRY GRAYSON Sports Editor, NEA Service ROGERS HORNSBY is right. Half of the major league managers are there only to be bounced when owners require an alibi for their failure or inability to line up required talent. Gaby Street was treated even more shabbily than some of the others. Everybody, including President Don Barnes of the Browns, admits that Street got the most out of the material at hand. There was nothing wrong with the Old Sarge's directorship when he piloted the Cardinals to pennants in 1930 and '31 and to a world championship the latter year. Four of the five pitchers who gained places in the nationwide most popular player poll conducted by a cereal company pent a great deal of time in clinics. Lefty Grove, Carl Hubbell, Tommy Bridges, and Johnny Vander Meer. And now in the world did they miss Buck Newsom, who has been the outstanding finger of the year no contest. Working in 12 games... winning 19 for the incompetent Browns... and battling young Bob Feller for the major league strikeout leadership? TENNIS followers who took in the national singles finals are still chuckling about Ben Dwight's announcement... explaining why the Don Budge-Gene Mako match lasted 15 minutes life. "Please excuse the delay," chirped Umpire Dwight. "Mr. Mako has mislaid his racquets. The funniest part of it was that it was true. There was a precedent for the dull men's final... some 10 years ago... when Bill Tilden beat Francis T. Hunter. They, too, were close friends and doubles partners... utterly unable, when opposed to one another, to work up to the pitch of combativeness that makes a tense struggle possible. A wart on the foot of George McAfee, 185-pound triple-threat, kicked the tar out of Duke's chances. The wart was removed. Infection set in and a pair of operations were necessary. McAfee is out for the campaign. Blue Devil followers say he ran like a deer. He bagged the Southern Conference 100-yard dash championship last spring in 9.9. They claimed that he passed like Sammy Baugh... punted like Ralph Kercheval. SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA'S game with Ohio State in Columbus, Oct. 8, is in the nature of a homecoming for Trojan chiefs. President Rufus B. von KleinSmid is a graduate of Oberlin Preparatory School. Vice President Henry W. Bruce is a graduate of Amherst High, near Cleveland. Coach Howard Jones was born and raised in Ohio and once drilled the Buckeyes. Athletic Director Bill Hunter is a graduate of Oberlin College. Southern California probably will continue the Ohio State series on a permanent basis after the termination of the two-game series beginning next year with Illinois. Pittsburgh opens against Washington in Seattle next fall. Ten husky St. Bernard puppies were born at Col. Jacob Ruppert's brewery two days after their blue-blooded mother arrived from England. With the Yankees and a chain of minor league clubs, beer, and real estate, it's a matter of management. The colonel is a real manager.

Sport Glances... By Grayson

Entirely motorized, it can move anywhere as fast as a truck convoy. PLANES: Marvelous bombing sights and the world's most accurate air force are claimed by the army. Newest types: 1. The "Aircuda," or Bell Fighter, believed able to overtake any modern bomber. Propellers in the rear give gunners a free field of fire. Six gun, include two aircraft cannon, unprecedented on such a ship. Only one plane is on hand; 13 more have been ordered. 2. The "super-flying fortress" XB15, a 30-ton four-engined bomber about 90 feet long, with 150-foot wing spread, four 1000-horsepower twin-row engines and living-sleeping-cooking quarters. ANTI-AIRCRAFT: Coast Artillery is buying 333 more anti-aircraft guns this year to equip 32 regiments. All guns are on wheels so they can be rushed to critical areas. These fire by electrical control in batteries of four guns each, data on planes being transmitted from mechanical computations to the guns so shells will hit in the space where a plane should be when the shells arrive. Fire practice on towed targets has shown them very accurate up to five miles. Although these guns are limited in distance and area, Spanish and Chinese experience has shown hostile aircraft avoid their areas of fire. POISON GAS: No new gases says the army, but much experimentation and development. Gas masks have vastly improved over the old one with the nose-clip and mouth-breather. HORSELESS CAVALRY: For Knox now has two regiments of motorized cavalry, made up of fast radio-controlled armored and combat cars, each one a fighting unit. (Copyright, 1938, NEA Service, Inc.)

Catholics Complete New Translation of Book of St. John

HARTFORD, Conn.—Entire revision of the English translation of the Gospel of St. John has been completed by a group of 21 Catholic scholars after two years' effort, it was announced here.

The revision was distributed to high Catholic churchmen attending the National Catechetical Congress of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine. It was unofficial and subject to change before adoption. The theologians reported completion of a revision of the Baltimore Catechism No. 2. Many changes were made.

The revisors will continue modernizing remaining portions of the New Testament until all books have been gone over, it was said. The changes, when approved, will be the first in 53 years.

Famous quotations rephrased by the scriptural scholars included the phrase: "I am the voice of one crying in the wilderness," which now reads: "I am the voice of one crying in the desert."

Chapter 11, verse 25, read: "Jesus said to her: I am the resurrection and the life; he that believeth in me, although he be dead, shall live; and everyone that liveth, and believeth in me shall not die forever."

This has been changed to read: "Jesus said to her, 'I am the resurrection and the life; he who believes in me, even if he die, shall live; and whoever lives and believes in me shall never die.'"

A commentary by the Rev. William Newton, secretary of the Biblical Association of America, accompanied the new script.

Changes were numerous in the Baltimore Catechism No. 2. There were 421 questions in the catechism, and 492 in the revised version.

The first question was "Who made the world?" and the answer "God made the world." This was revised to read: "Who made us?" and "God made us."

Opening of the fall season was marked Wednesday by the Civic League and Garden Club with a style luncheon held in the Baptist church banquet room, and the presentation of Miss Elizabeth Hardy, style consultant of a Dallas store.

The subject of Miss Hardy's talk was Dressing and Individual. She stated that due to fashion magazines, newspaper advertisements and movies depicting fashions, the mode of dress interest has made a distinct change in the last century. Much interest is manifested now by all classes of women in the current manner of dress.

She stated, in giving points on dressing the individual, that the fundamental rule was to study oneself according to size, temperament and vocation.

A listing of the types found in women was made by her, with the first, the coquette, the sophisticated, the patrician, romantic, gamin and the exotic type. An individual has to determine the type to which she belongs and follow that line in fashion.

Miss Hardy also outlined the figure types starting with the short women. She stated that wide hats on short people are taboo, and also the flat small hat. The best mode in hat is the picked, and the best hairstyle is the up-sweep, adding actual inches to the height. Simplicity in line with no bulk at shoulder is to be sought, and narrow belts are made for the short woman. Longer shirt line is better and high heels add to that feeling of height.

The tall type was next listed in Miss Hardy's discussion. She emphasized large accessories for the tall woman, and stated that flat hats were not good, that a hat with a sweeping movement back or down tends to break that distinct line. A broad shouldered look tends to shorten one and a dropped or natural waist line adds to the effect.

Miss Hardy used the expression "that it is stylish to be a woman now" in her remarks on the angular figure. She stated that this type should not dress in straight tailored lines but make the use of frills and fluffy effect which tends to detract from angular defects.

The large figure type was mentioned next and emphasizes were placed on the neck interest. Flat furs and flat colors with costumes of straight lines are recommended. The tuxedo effect is correct for this type with longer coats doing away with that chopped off look which jackets give.

Tips on the wide hipped figure, Miss Hardy explained that this type should capitalize on the shoulder line with an up sweep in all details. The hair up and turned up or turned back hats are best. Large accessories are for this type.

Miss Hardy concluded her discussion on plans for budgeted wardrobe, and how to achieve perfect grooming on limited income. She stated that one should outline activities and build on vocation. It is good, she said, to have several basic costumes with which to build changes.

She emphatically stated that good accessories are essential for well groomed effect. The maximum of perfect grooming is to wear clothes with distinction and to step out each day in costume that looks as it is intended to be.

Mrs. Earl Conner, toastmaster, extended greeting, and presented Mrs. James Horton, president of the Civic League and Garden Club. Mrs. Horton expressed appreciation and praise to members for cooperation in Civic work and outlined the club plans for this year.

A musical interlude was furnished by Maurice Harkins in two voice solos accompanied by Mrs. Charlie Joe Owen at the piano.

The luncheon of four courses served was one of the most beautifully arranged and carried out of any this season. The long banquet tables were covered with white centered with a novelty arrangement of straw hats filled with all manner of ripened fruits and vegetables and grains using the Thanksgiving "horn of plenty" motive. Long golden tapers in gold holders flanked on either side. Scarlet zinnias were placed around the room. A nosegay of gilted acorns used as favors. The Admiration Coffee company furnished the coffee which was made by Mrs. Burton.

Mrs. F. M. Kenny has charge of the luncheon with Mrs. Cyrus Frost in charge of decorations.

W.P.A. Recreation Project Activity Told by Supervisor

Mrs. Winnie R. Grady, supervisor of the Eastland WPA Recreation project, today issued the following statement, telling of activities in the work:

Each Friday afternoon from 4:30 to 5:30 there will be a "story hour" held at the City Park clubhouse for all Eastland boys and girls interested. There will be no charge.

Interesting programs have been planned for the coming fall months and special directors will be available to direct these activities at various times. The program for Friday, Oct. 14, will be under the direction of Mrs. Mattie Taylor and Mrs. E. B. Grady. Mrs. O. H. Gideon, former member of the Wichita Falls Story Telling League, will have charge of the program October 21 and Mrs. C. E. Moore, teacher at South Ward, will conduct the activities Oct. 28. All boys and girls and any parents who wish to attend are urged to attend.

The fall recreation program is under way at all playgrounds and many new activities are being started. Handicraft classes are held at South Ward school Tuesday and Thursday and at the City Park clubhouse Monday and Wednesday at 3:30 p. m. each day. These are under the supervision of Mrs. Mattie Taylor and instruction will be given to all boys and girls interested in woodcraft, art, weaving, leatherwork, etc., through the winter months free of charge.

Talent clubs for children interested in dramatics, expression and musical activities are held each Monday and Tuesday afternoons. (Monday, South Ward, 3 p. m., City Park Clubhouse Tuesday at 3:30 p. m.).

All children interested in free ukulele instruction or organization of a junior drum corps are
