CIO AND AFL COMMITTEE TO TALK OF PEACE

WASHINGTON, Mar. 7.—Committees representing the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organization were to meet with President Roosevelt to begin negotiations to end labor's three-year-old civil war.

The six members of the two committees, secretary of labor Frances Perkins and the president were scheduled to sit down together at the white house at 2:30 EST.

Mr. Roosevelt was expected to make a new and vigorous appeal for peace and to reiterate his declaration that the people hope for a constructive "peace with honor" quickly.

The meeting, initiated by the president, marked the first time he has participated in a formal peace move or met with an A. F. of L.-C. I. O. committee.

The other CIO-AFL peace conference ended unsuccessfully, Dec. 21, 1937.

$35,000 Project Is Started In Ranger

Work was started in Ranger Tuesday morning on a new WPA project, on which $35,912 is to be spent before the project is completed. Workers are constructing a rock retaining wall and lining on three quarters of a mile of drainage ditch on Blundell and Haig streets, with the federal government furnishing $30,688 and the sponsor, the City of Ranger, furnishing $5,229.

SENATE TOLD NEUTRALITY IS OF NO VALUE

WASHINGTON, Mar. 7.—Senate Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, questioning the value of the neutrality act in aiding world peace, today urged the senate to approve the $358,000,000 army expansion bill to protect America's position in a troubled world.

"It is doubtful whether the neutrality act, whether enforced or not, has contributed to the peace of the world," Barkley said.

He pressed for a final vote this afternoon on the bill authorizing 6,000 fighting planes for the army air corps, strengthening of the Panama Canal defenses and education of industry in production of war materials.

Cook, chief of naval aeronautics, said the Guam improvements would enable the navy to establish a valuable "listening post" in the western Pacific.

"We must have means of learning of the enemy's plans and movements before he can reach any defense line that we may draw," Cook said.

Gandhi Ends His "Fast Unto Death" And Wins Point

RAJKOT, India, March 7.—Mahatma Gandhi ended his "fast unto death" today when the Indian and British governments intervened to assure a settlement of his demand for liberalization of the government of Rajkot state.

Gandhi seemed near the point of collapse when he broke his fast at 2:30 p. m. He had been without food for 98 1-2 hours since noon Friday.

It was understood that Gandhi's fast was victorious and that he won a promise that the original agreement with the ruler of Rajkot will be carried out and prisoners whom Gandhi considers unjustly held will be freed.

The terms of settlement were reported to include an inquiry by the chief justice of India into the charges against Tajkot's ruler.

Texas Tech Plants 2,000 New Trees

LUBBOCK, Tex.—The campus at Texas Technological College has some 2,000 new trees and shrubs, and 3,000 students know how a tree should be planted, as results of Arbor day exercises at the school.

Arbor day, which coincides with Washington's birthday, was observed this year for the second time. Its sponsors had two purposes for it. The first was to beautify the college campus, and the second was to create an interest in trees and shrubs which may lead later to beautification of homes and cities throughout West Texas.

As carried out at Texas Tech, tree-planting also is something of a picnic. Clifford Jones, president of the institution, rode about the campus on a horse, directing the 3,000 students and teachers who did the work, while kettles at various places throughout the grounds provided hot coffee for the workers.

COMMUNISTS IN SPAIN ARE STAGING RIOTS

Republican Spain's new defense council used rifles and airplanes today to end a communist counter revolution and speed negotiations with the nationalists for peace.

In Madrid communists opposing the peace program of the council, headed by Jose Miaja attempted an uprising with the aid of republican troops. Troops loyal to the council opened fire on the insurgents and Miaja ordered republican air forces to fly over the city as a demonstration of strength.

It was claimed the outbreak was suppressed and stern action had been taken to stop military raids on communist headquarters at Valencia and Madrid.

At Burgos, headquarters for Gen. Franco, it was reported that the council still was in danger of overthrow, that communists had seized the Madrid radio station and increased the possibility that nationalist armies soon would attack the city unless they were invited in by the defense council on terms of unconditional surrender.

The republican city of Valencia was reported quiet under strong guard. Belated advices from the military commander of Murcia indicated that disorders might be continuing at Cartagena, where a naval revolt Sunday against the former Negrin government led to outbreaks by nationalist sympathizers.

LEGION POST SCORES BUND AND ITS WORK

Henry Pullman, commander of the Eastland American Legion post, disclosed Tuesday that the members at a meeting in Eastland passed a resolution denouncing the German-American Bund which they characterized as constituting "a challenge to the American people."

A copy of the resolution was sent the state legion magazine at Houston and another copy was forwarded to National Commander Chadwick.

The resolution was as follows: "Be it resolved, by this Dullin Daniels Post No. 70, of the American Legion, at Eastland, Texas, in regular meeting of March 3, 1939, that

"Whereas, in the meeting of the German Nazi Bund, so-called German-American Bund, held February 20, 1939, in Madison Square Garden, New York, N. Y., the German Nazi swastika was paraded above and ahead of the flag of the United States and contrary to all rules and regulations relative to the use of our National Emblem, and

"Whereas, the German Nazi salute was given by the members of said Bund at such meeting and demonstration rather than an American salute to the flag of our country, thus openly and defiantly pledging fealty to the German dictator, Adolf Hitler,

"We, the members of this Post and visiting legionnaires and ex-service men, now publicly denounce said Bund organization and its allies in this country for the following reasons, to-wit:

"It has contradicted every tenet of democracy and overstepped the bounds of right of free assembly and forfeited its right of existence in the United States of America. It has openly pledged its allegiance and fealty to a foreign power and in so doing denounced all allegiance, if any it ever had, to the United States of America. It has made of its meeting an open forum for the spread of hate and intolerance. It has made undisguised attacks upon the principles of our government and has attempted to place itself as a self-righteous head of a nation-wide movement to divide our country into intolerant classes through an insidious appeal to prejudice which placed Hitler in power in Germany, with high hopes to accomplish the same results in America.

"For those reasons we denounce said Bund and say that it constitutes a challenge to the American people and nothing short of a vigorous campaign on every front, subjecting said Bund and its allies to the most scrutinizing publicity, will enable us to meet this challenge and to crush the movement."

SALES TAX IS OPPOSED BY HOUSE GROUP

AUSTIN, Mar. 7.—Opponents of a sales tax constitutional amendment showed unexpected strength in the house today, but they failed in three attempts to order natural resource and income tax bills from the revenue and taxation committee.

All motions failed because two thirds majority was lacking to instruct the committee to report.

Rep. Dewitt Hale of Farmersville, who made the motion on behalf of a natural resource tax bill, said many members of the legislature were committed against sales taxes. The amendment recommended yesterday by the constitutional amendment committee is "fundamentally a sales tax," he said, and "places the burden of taxation on those least able to pay."

Organized labor representatives already had advised their local units of objections to the sales tax amendment.

Modern People and Ancient Superstitions

Could there be any connection between these things: The world today is governed less by reason and more by instinct and momentary feeling than at any time in recent years.

"Superstition is increasing by leaps and bounds," says Rev. G. R. Balleine and Dr. H. L. Goudge, British Church of England divines, who have studied the superstition situation and written a recent pamphlet about it.

Tom Paine, philosophical father of his country, thought he saw dawning, 150 years ago, "The Age of Reason." He believed he could see a day coming when men would regulate their affairs sensibly, sanely, without passion, and in the sweet light of pure reason.

For a while it seemed that this might almost come true as Paine dreamed it. But today it seems farther away than ever. More and more in the affairs of today's world we substitute bluster for brains, impulse for intelligence, jitters for judgment, and rancor for reason.

Whole peoples today are ruled by the idea that to settle human problems by the exercise of cool reason is somehow degenerate; that the really red-blooded way to settle a problem is to work up a temperature of 104 and then grab a club and knock the ears off any body who happens to be standing in the way.

What has all this to do with the growth of superstition envisioned by the learned English divines? Just this: it is in such a world that rank growths of superstition flourish most abundantly. They complement and support the lack of reason as applied to affairs. That is why the campaign of the British clergymen to stamp it out is a timely one.

They believe that all superstitions are "forms of mental disease." We wouldn't know about that, but it is certain that the extremely superstitious live in a world which they have unnecessarily filled with terrors and restrictions. Life is quite complex enough with real and perfectly evident troubles and griefs. To fill it with purely imaginary dangers, threats, menaces, and terrors, or even with illusory omens and portents of good fortune, is to suffer unnecessarily.

Fortunately, one man's superstition is another man's laughing-stock. Nobody believes them all. Why, imagine a man going around knocking on wood, refusing to walk under ladders, sit with 13 at table, do anything on Friday, or shake hands over a threshold. Huh! Such foolishness! Or worrying about spilling salt—

Wait a minute! THAT'S unlucky! Unless you throw a pinch of it over your left shoulder.

BRUCE CATTON IN WASHINGTON

By BRUCE CATTON
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—She was a very nice little old lady, and she flagged me in a corridor of the capitol and demanded to know where the House chamber was. I took her there, and as we walked she talked.

She had just been in the Senate, and she was horrified because there was a bare score of senators in the chamber.

"What are we paying taxes for?" she demanded indignantly. "Why aren't those men in their places?"

I tried to explain about committee assignments and such, which keep senators off the floor except when big things are going on.

"Hmf!" she said. "Young man, I taught school for 25 years, and I'm sure I wouldn't have held my job if I had stayed out of the school room half the time. How can these men vote intelligently if they don't hear the discussion?"

Business that day had been routine, I explained. So many speeches are made which aren't really very important; when such a speech begins, the wise senators duck out and find something else to do. But that didn't help.

"Well," she said, with fire in her eye. "Why do they let them make speeches then, if they haven't got something important to say?"

SENATOR KEY PITTMAN of Nevada, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, is rounding up pictures in his spare time.

He plans to decorate the walls of the committee chamber with framed pictures of all the chairmen of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee since that body was first constituted—back around 1816, or thereabouts—plus photos of all senators who have served at president pro tempore of the Senate.

All of this involves the collection of something like 100 pictures. He has most of them rounded up — photographs, line drawings, paintings, and what-not—but still has half a dozen or so to run down.

WHEN national defense is under consideration, Congress always hears from the extremists on each side but practically never from the middle-of-the-road people.

That is the complaint of Senator Lewis B. Schwellenbach of Washington. He points out that the testimony on defense problems almost invariably comes on one hand from army and navy officers, who naturally are interested in heavier armaments, or from outright pacifists who oppose any and all expenditures for national defense.

The senator feels that Major George Fielding Elliot is about the only authority on the horizon who offers a balanced defense plan, and he thinks the national attention given to Major Elliot's writings is highly significant.

"We've had lots of people making suggestions about defense," he says. "There've been people like Billy Mitchell, advocating a unified air force, and lots of other people with special ideas. But it's an astounding fact that in a nation of 130,000,000 people one lone man should be looked to for a balanced program."

ARDMORE, Okla.—Three hundred "land-locked sailors," Sea Scouts from Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico, are expected to participate in the organization's regatta at Lake Murray, in southern Oklahoma, in April, according to Perry Wiles, who is in charge.

That number is approximately a third of the Sea Scouts in the region.

Dallas, Texas, is expected to be well represented. Crews will be sent from Highland Park and East Dallas, and the Dallas sailors pro-

Corn Has Higher Yield Than Most Other Varieties

By United Press

LONGVIEW, Tex.—From seed which he obtained from a pioneer East Texas planter 45 years ago, Walter Cunyus has developed a strain of corn which produces 35 bushels or more to the acre, in a section where 10 to 12 bushels is the average.

During the past season Cunyus harvested 35 bushels, on the average, from acres which have been in continuous cultivation for 94 years.

The original seed was obtained from a man named Bell, a resident of Harrison county, in 1894. The strain now is known as Bell corn. The grains are large and white. The ears are frequently three inches in diameter, and bear 18 to 20 rows of kernels, compared with 12 to 14 rows on other types. The kernels extend clear to the ends of the cobs.

Cunyus has developed the strain by careful selection of his seed each year from the best ears on the best stalks on his Gregg county farm. He plants the corn in rows six feet apart, with cowpeas between them.

The 200-acre farm, in cultivation since 1845, has had the benefit of crop rotation throughout that period. Legumes and manure have been used to restore fertility for several years, and the land has been terraced for more than 15 years.

Milk Leads Farm Cash Income

The rising tide of farm cash from milk has added nearly $440,000,000 to the dairy farmers' income since the low of 1933. Figures on the milk show total farm cash income for each year in millions of dollars.

MILK led all products as the largest single source of farm cash income in 1935 with a total of $1,420,000,000. This was only 6.5 per cent less than the 1937 figure of $1,530,000,000 according to the Milk Industry Foundation and was $440,000,000 greater than the low of 1933.

"All farm cash income dropped 12.9 per cent, government reports show, from $8,208,000,000 in 1937 to $7,150,000,000 in 1935, excluding government payments," the statement said.

"These figures show the importance of milk as a mainstay of farm purchasing power. They are particularly impressive because milk production was estimated to be from 4 to 5 per cent greater during the year and sales of fluid milk were down approximately 10 per cent from 1937.

"Milk delivered to homes in bottles, which farmers the highest price, would have suffered great assumption declines but for mined efforts by milk districts to push sales.

"Cash income from milk important as it is chiefly a monthly to farmers," the statement points out, "and this that is used in the purchases of merchandise supplies.

"The milk industry is a buyer and milk distributor in many markets for one of the largest single for cars and trucks, feed, tires, groceries and other every-

DICK declared his love in a hundred ways as he and Susie hummed along...

Driving through the wintry streets she'd fought an inclination to lose her new identity...

It was almost 4 when Susie registered at the Rivertown hotel. Driving through the wintry streets...

"You are Suzanne," she told her reflected image in the mirror. "Don't let anyone tell you died."

BEFORE joining Dick she called Mr. Jeff Bowman, Harker's advertising department, Chicago. After a short wait during which...

He and Susie walked to the Waffle Shoppe, students turning to look after Susie...

DRIVING on Dick scoffed at the barren fields, the naked trees and dirty ditch snow...

Entering the Shoppe, Susie saw Dick look sharply at the waffle irons, now presided over by a white-coated boy...

"Dick," she said, when they were seated in a booth, "guess my nickname." "Suzanne—Suzanne—why, Susie, of course."

BRUCE CATTON — IN WASHINGTON

BY BRUCE CATTON

NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—"The chair recognizes the gentleman from Texas. . . The time of the gentleman has expired. . . The question is on the motion to strike out sub-section A, lines 16 and 17, of the amendment to the committee report. . . The vote stands: ayes, 251, noes, 163. . ."

Thus officiates the speaker of the House of Representatives, facing an assembly of 435 legislators who are forever coming in and going out, talking among themselves, shouting out bits of parliamentary jargon—and who, in addition, somehow seem to look exactly alike.

It's a fascinating exhibit. In the mere mechanics of its procedure, the House of Representatives is one of the most efficient institutions imaginable. It is so because about half a dozen experts are in the job.

Chief among them, of course, is Speaker William B. Bankhead, who is enthroned at a high desk facing the chamber. He is known as one of the most capable speakers the House has ever had.

On his desk he has a big gavel and a little gavel, a tray of pens, a sheet or two of notepaper, a glass of water, and a couple of memorandum books. With this equipment he runs something that makes a three-ring circus look simple.

Two men sit flanking him, their chairs slightly lower than his. In front of him, also at a lower level, are four more men behind a long desk. Below and in front of them, is still another desk where the official reporters sit. In that battery of desks is concentrated the expert machinery through which the speaker does his job.

At his right sits Lewis Deschler, parliamentarian, or Assistant Par-

Women From This Vicinity To Learn More About Menus

Women of Eastland and vicinity will hear and learn about menus, marketing, budgeting, step-savers, recipes, baking, frying, labor-savers, vitamins and scores of other interesting things related to food when the Happy Kitchen Cooking School is held on the Connellee Roof on March 16, 18, 18.

The Happy Kitchen Cooking School, a real gold mine of information for every housewife, is to be presented under the auspices of this newspaper, acting in cooperation with a number of national food concerns and local merchants who wish to provide this opportunity for the women to study under the direction of a nationally famous home economist.

The lecturer, Mrs. A. D. French, in addition to being thoroughly familiar with her subject, is one of the most interesting talkers ever presented on the platform in Eastland.

Everything in connection with the Happy Kitchen Cooking School is free. No admission is to be charged, and numerous free attractions have been provided, such as the daily distribution of valuable samples and souvenirs.

Mrs. French will cover the whole subject of food with two main thoughts in mind; first, to make kitchen work more pleasant and efficient; and, second, to make the family's food dollar go further than it has ever gone before.

Women attending the school will be rewarded by gaining new knowledge not only in the preparation of so-called fancy dishes, but also in an abundance of ideas on how to vary the basic foods in such a way that nobody at the table need ever complain that they are eating "the same old thing" every day.

Those who attend are urged to be in their seats early, as it is impossible to reserve seats, and each lecture will start promptly at 2 o'clock so that the lecturer may include her entire program.

Senate Votes For A Director Of Budget

AUSTIN, March 7.—The Texas Senate voted 16 to 15 today to comply with Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel's request that he be allowed to appoint a budget director in the interest of business management of state affairs.

The authority is part of a budget bill which has yet to be passed by the senate and then must be acted upon by the house. The bill authorizes $7,500 a year for the budget director, to be named by the governor.
