

Two Kidnaping Suspects Captured In Ranger

PROCEEDINGS WITH COURT OF CIVIL APPEALS

The following proceedings were had Friday in the Court of Civil Appeals, Eleventh Supreme Judicial District:

Affirmed: International-Great Northern Railroad Company, et al, vs. C. D. Acker, Guardian, et al, Cherokee.

Reversed and Remanded: The Texas & Pacific Railway Company et al, vs. The Citizens National Bank in Abilene, Taylor.

Motions Submitted: Burton-ingo Co. vs. Mrs. B. Morton, et al, appellees' motion for rehearing. National Aid Life Association vs. Mrs. H. D. Driskill, appellant's motion for extension of time to file record. A. J. Smith, Jr., vs. The San Antonio Joint Stock Land Bank of San Antonio, et al, appellee's motion to dismiss appeal. Motion Granted: Jack Tindall, et al, vs. Mammie Richards Tindall, appellant's motion to advance cause.

Cases to be Submitted March 7, 1939: L. H. Flewellen, Trustee, vs. Sig Faircloth, Eastland, Graham Mill & Elevator Co., a corporation, vs. J. U. Johnson, Eastland.

The case of Texas and Pacific Railway Company, et al, vs. The Citizens National Bank of Abilene, reversed and remanded by the higher court, was on appeal from 104th district court of Taylor County.

The railway company had contracted with R. H. Locke for the improvement of tracks. Sums to be owned by Locke were assigned to the bank. Of the total sum earned under the contract $2,591.11 was not paid to Locke or his assignee.

That sum was not paid, it was sought out, because the contract had not furnished written evidence to the railway company he had paid in full the amounts due him to laborers and furnishers of materials and supplies. Then it was brought by the bank to enforce payment of the balance.

The 104th court at Abilene gave the plaintiff judgment for $2,591.11 against the railway company.

EASTER DAY EXECUTION IS IN PROSPECT

AUSTIN, March 10.—The State Texas today faced the prospect of its first Sunday electrocution. The day is the result of a stay granted by Gov. W. O'Daniel a few hours before Ervey T. Nealy, young Dallas gro was to have been executed in Huntsville today. The governor extended Nealy's stay as long as possible. Failure of the pardon board to recommend clemency limited the authority. The 80-day stay places the execution for April 9, Easter Day. The governor had previously signed a similar extension to Inzell Williams, first man to be electrocuted since O'Daniel became governor. That stay also stayed the execution until Sunday, and for that reason, the pardon board granted Williams an additional 24 hours.

Five Happy Indians Found in 'Utopia'

These five people constitute a perfectly happy family in the opinion of Dr. Paul A. Zahl, scientist from Union College, Schenectady, N. Y. They are Indian residents of a "lost world" which he discovered in British Guiana. There, Dr. Zahl reported, everybody lives harmoniously without warfare or strife. He recommended the region as an ideal home for European refugees.

Similar to Great Britain's experiments with a "balloon barrage" for air raid defense are tests of these wire-trailing German blimps at Bad Saarow. The aerial "fence" will be staggered in various altitudes and in successive waves to entrap enemy planes attacking vital industrial centers.

James, was reported resting comfortably at General Hospital today after being stricken with a stomach ailment. Col. Weatherford School Group Start Work On Building Plan

Under the leadership of R. B. Anderson, Vernon, president of the Weatherford Junior College Ex-Students Association, and Sam Morrison, Eastland, past president, a campaign to raise funds for a building program for the college has been launched. Anderson is former State Tax Commissioner. A total of $50,000 will be sought. It is hoped by ex-students aiding in the drive that the sum may be raised by next September. The money would be used for construction of a library and remodeling of the administrative building. At a recent meeting at Weatherford, attended by 250 persons, one business firm promised $500. A plan has been worked out whereby pledges may be made and the sum paid out monthly over a series of years. Several ex-students in this county and area are to be contacted.

ITALY MAKES DEMANDS UPON FRANCE TODAY

LONDON, March 10.—The Italian government formulated its territorial demands on France in a note presented to the French government on Wednesday, a usually trustworthy diplomatic source said today. The note was said to include a statement of Italy's claims to rights in the Port of Djibouti in French Somaliland and the railroad leading from the port of Ad-dis Ababa and also to Italian minority rights in Tunis. Information here suggested that the proposals were less drastic than had been indicated by the demonstration in the Italian Chamber of Deputies last December, and the statements in the Italian press. The information caused a feeling of relief in London and added strength to the belief that Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain intends to sound out opinion in world capitals on holding an arms limitation conference.

Russians And Japs Have Skirmishes

TOKYO, Japan, March 10.—A Domei News Agency dispatch from Harbin, Manchukuo, said today that 12 Russian soldiers had entered Manchukuo near Chilin and that fighting was underway. The dispatch said that casualties had occurred, but their extent was unknown.

Eastland Man's Condition Grave

E. M. McCoy was reported seriously ill Friday at his home in Eastland. Heart trouble was given as the source of the illness.

Our City and Men Like These That Count

Caryle once said, "Instead of saying that man is the creature of circumstance, it would be nearer the mark to say that man is the architect of circumstance. It is character which builds an existence out of circumstance. Our strength is measured by our plastic power. From the same materials one man builds palaces, another hovels; one warehouses, another villas; bricks and mortar are mortar and bricks until the man with vision and character can make them something else." For the past four years Eastland has made an impressive progress that has proven enhancing values to the physical properties of its inhabitants and has in addition added to the happiness, welfare and profit of its citizenship. For all things that result in good there must be a reason and it takes only a slight glance around to see what it is all about. Proper leadership especially in guiding the destinies of a community is not always the lot of every city. Eastland is among those however, that has enjoyed the benefits of the wisdom and practical ideas of its members of the City Commission. They are all men who have devoted their time and interest with unselfish devotion to the trust that was placed upon them by the citizenship at the ballot box. One can travel many miles in either direction and not find a single instance whether large or small that has given the citizenship more for its tax dollar under the direction of our present commissioners than has been received by the people of Eastland during the past four years. These four years have been turbulent times. They have been years filled with anxiety and apprehension. Yet the people have kept relentlessly on, have kept up their faith and have been spurred on in their efforts to improve their conditions, whether business or otherwise, by the constant optimism of its community leaders. Drive where you will in any part of the city and you will find miles of paved, graded and curbed streets within its limits. No matter where you live there is an outlet to where you want to go in any kind of weather. Eastland has enjoyed the comforts of security from robberies and serious disasters by an alert police department as appointed by our city commissioners. It has enjoyed a constant decline in insurance rates by an efficient fire department, and careful watching of fire hazards. It has increased its recreational possibilities for young and old more than in the past twenty years. Its health and sanitary conditions rank with the best in the state. Born in the minds of these men at the city's helm are many more ideas that must be carried out for the good of humanity and the city in general. The present city commissioners selected as their leader four years ago C. W. Hoffmann who has held the important office of mayor. Fortunately their choice was well made and in Mr. Hoffmann the people of Eastland has found a man who loves to serve mankind without one single iota thought of personal gain. To carry on the work that has been done has taken time, personal sacrifices and personal monetary contributions to bring about the desired result. The city was heavily in debt. The water system was steeped in the mire of apparent hopeless bonded indebtedness. The conditions have been such that most any man would almost give up in despair. But C. W. Hoffmann was not built that way and his colleagues were for him to a man and they went to work. The streets, etc. you know about. The city water system is on the road to financial independence and the bonds are paid ahead of schedule. The City's bonded indebtedness is terrible, but there is a slight ray of daylight with the plans the commissioners have in mind. They are needed to carry them out. Today there is an inkling that C. W. Hoffmann will not be a candidate for re-election in the coming election. Since he made these views public several days ago there has been men and women in all walks of life whose voices have risen in protest to his ideas of not running again, and justly so. It is on every side, "We need Hoffmann and his associates to carry on." There is no question but what the citizenship of Eastland is right in this clamor for these men as a whole to carry on. Confidence should please those who receive it. It is a tribute that the people pay to their merit, a deposit they commit to their trust, a pledge that gives them a claim upon us, a kind of dependence to which we voluntarily submit. The people of Eastland have full confidence in the personality and work of C. W. Hoffmann and the present commissioners. It is hoped that Mr. Hoffmann in fairness to himself and to the people of Eastland, that he will give them the assurance that he will again become a candidate for the office of Commissioner and thereby give the people an opportunity to express their full confidence at the ballot box.

POLITICS AND RELIEF MIGHT INJURE PARTY

WASHINGTON, March 10.—Democratic house committee, called to the white house to discuss additional funds for the Works Progress Administration, today told President Roosevelt that charges of political activity in WPA have hurt the party's chances in the 1940 elections. The deficiency appropriations subcommittee that handles relief funds, came from the conference with the impression Mr. Roosevelt will seek the entire $150,000,000 that congress cut from his original budget for WPA. The committee, with whom he talked, were the ones who initiated the cut. From the attitude they took in their discussions with the president it was apparent that his request for restoration of the $150,000,000 will meet considerable opposition. It was learned that Rep. Edward T. Taylor, democrat, Colorado, chairman of the group, told the president the committee's action in reducing his original request was not intended as a "slap" at him personally, but was a "gesture of economy designed to encourage business." Taylor also told the president that charges of political activity in the nation-wide relief agency had injured the democratic party.

Martial Law Is Declared In The Slovak Capitol

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Mar. 10.—Martial law was declared today at Bratislava, capital of the semi-autonomous Slovak government, and Czechoslovak troops were occupying public buildings of four other cities in a sudden government move to crush separatist activities. It was announced that the central government had appointed a Czech General to "aid and counsel" the Slovak government. The central government's action came immediately after the dismissal this morning of the premier, the economics minister, and the labor minister in the Slovak cabinet. Martial law was proclaimed at 11 a. m. by means of a radio broadcast in which the government urged the population to obey the authorities. All of last night and until 9 a. m. today, telephone services had been suspended through Slovakia and to foreign countries.

CAR WRECKED AFTER CHASE THROUGH CITY

Were Wanted By Officers At Weatherford, Fort Worth On Several Charges

Two youths, wanted in Weatherford and Fort Worth on hi-jacking charges, were placed in the City-County Hospital Thursday night by three Ranger officers who captured them after a chase through Ranger. The youths gave their names as Douglas Pettis, 17, and F. T. Chapman, 17, of Ft. Worth.

The Ranger Police Department received a telephone call from Weatherford at 11:40 Thursday night that the two had hi-jacked a filling station there, kidnaped the operator and headed toward Ranger.

Patrolmen Boyd, Love and Pledger waited for the car at the intersection of the old and new Strawn roads, in the eastern part of the city, and had waited but about 10 minutes when the car came by, in a long string of traffic.

As they neared the police car the bandits passed two other cars ahead of them and the police car took up the chase. At a curve in the highway in Ranger the bandit car hesitated as it met traffic, and the police were able to close the gap between the two racing cars. At Prairie Crossing, officers said today, the police car was making 85 miles an hour, but the fugitives were gaining.

At the Lone Star loading rack on the Eastland Highway the bandit car swerved wide on the curve, its left front wheels left the pavement and hit the softer shoulder of the road, then overturned, rolling completely across the highway.

When the three officers arrived the driver was unconscious, though apparently not badly hurt, while the other man, who had crawled into the back seat of the sedan, was found huddled under the crushed top of the car, a .22 calibre automatic pistol in his lap.

At City-County Hospital it was reported that one of the youths sustained a broken back when the car overturned.

The youths said that they had released the filling station operator just outside of Weatherford. Officers at Fort Worth, when notified of the capture, stated that the two were wanted there in connection with car thefts, hi-jackings and kidnappings.

Chapman was turned over to the Parker County sheriff this morning, and was returned to Weatherford.

Pettis, who is still in the City-County Hospital, admitted today that he and Chapman participated in one kidnaping and car theft in Fort Worth, in which they obtained 80 cents, in addition to the car in which they were captured.

At Weatherford, he said, the two youths got $18 from the filling station they robbed. Two boys are also being held in Fort Worth as suspects in the kidnappings, it was reported today from there.

Income Tax Group In House Drafts New Amendment

AUSTIN, March 10.—Amendments to substitute a net income tax for a proposed 2.5 per cent social security sales tax, were being drafted today by a group of house members.

The anti-sales tax forces met in caucus late yesterday and decided to support an income tax modeled after the plan presented by Rep. Leighton Cornett of Clarksville.

It would levy one to three per cent tax on individual incomes and three per cent upon corporate incomes without exemption.

Livestock Show In Ranger Draws Big Number Of Entries

The third annual Ranger Livestock Show got underway at the Ranger softball field this morning, with the largest number of entries any similar show has ever attracted. Ideal weather conditions, larger cash prizes and the fact that many of the entries will go to the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show tomorrow is responsible for the large attendance. Judging of animals had been completed in time to be made available in time for publication today, but will be complete for publication in the Sunday edition. An unusually large crowd was also present to see the animals on exhibition throughout the day, and indications were that many of the entries would rate high in the judging. At the conclusion of the show, this afternoon, a street parade of all entries was scheduled. STILL IN SESSION Members of the 88th district court grand jury, organized Monday, remained in session Friday. Play will begin at 1 o'clock.

Jerry Sadler Sees Federal Control Of The Oil Industry

AUSTIN, March 10.—Jerry Sadler, newest member of the Texas Railroad Commission, today urged oil states to wake up to the dangers of federal control of the petroleum industry. He asserted that coal producing states in the north and east were back of the movement for federal control of oil. "Should it succeed, Texas oil operators and all connected with the industry, at least 300,000 in Texas, will be the victims for the coal barons of the east believe that with federal control, oil will be strangled and their own products pushed forward," Sadler said in a formal statement.

Will Those Who Have Money Take a Chance?

As Economist John Flynn recently pointed out, one of the things that is holding back business recovery is the increasing reluctance of those who have money to risk it except on sure things.

The old cycle of "three generations from shirt-sleeves to shirt-sleeves" has been interrupted by investment devices and also by an increasing timidity among moneyed people.

Perhaps the chances to make money are fewer than they used to be, and perhaps increasing taxation and other factors have loaded the dice against the man who puts up the money. But there is also an increasing timidity, an increasing feeling that "capital is entitled to a return," whereas the principle used to be that "capital is entitled to a chance to make a profit."

As Flynn so well noted, capitalism and free enterprise as a system depends just as much on the losses as it does on the gains, and the continual wiping out of accumulated capital is just as much fuel to capitalism's gas tank as the piling up of new.

That is why a recent advertisement is so fascinating. Oil stock promoters used to advertise sure things. You couldn't lose. Big money was just ahead by risking a pittance, only there was practically no risk.

The SEC and other things have put an end to that. The advertisement in question is entirely frank. A gamble is being offered. The promoter wants to drill an oil well on some land he has acquired. He hasn't the money. So he offers to take in some partners who will take a chance. "If they (geologists) are wrong, I am going to wind up with a dry hole in the middle of just a cow ranch. If they are right, then we are headed for a discovery well..."

"If you are willing to take a gamble where you will either lose every dollar you put in it or win up to very many times what you put in, I am going to ask you" ... and so on.

That's certainly fair enough, and refreshingly honest in comparison with 1928 "come-on" aids for oil stock. But will these be takers?

Don't forget that it was the unsung money tossed into dry holes that built America, no less than the well-lauded pioneers who hit oil. Step up, gents, "you pays your money, and you takes your choice!"

Is the well-known pioneer spirit dead, the spirit of Dan'l Boone and Davy Crockett, of Bill Cody and Brigham Young, the spirit even of Steve Brodie? Hey, dollar! Come out from under that mortgage and take a chance in Texas!

To the three fundamentals of French, patriotism, Fraternity, Equality and Liberty, may be added a pair of junior partners, Curtiss-Wright.

Audiences Are Getting Noisier Expert Declares

AUSTIN, Tex.—Audiences are getting noisier and noisier each year. Such is the conclusion reached by Dr. C. P. Boner, University of Texas physics professor and sound expert, after a seven-year series of sound-meter experiments made in churches, gymnasiums, dance halls and restaurants. The University's sound expert uses public address systems and sound meters as his measuring rods. The noise from the audience, he measures in "decibels," recorded on his sound meter. He cites the University's huge Gregory Gymnasium as the nearest example. Its 25-watt public address system, adequate in 1930, has been "stepped up" to 125 watts since to overcome an audience noise mounting to 80 decibels.

Miss Galloway Gets Teaching Experience

DENTON, March 10.—Practical teaching experience is being gained this semester by Miss Marie Galloway of Eastland, who is serving as a regular member of the faculty of Denton Public School system, while completing work at Texas State College for Women for a permanent teaching certificate. A senior student majoring in Spanish, Miss Galloway has all the responsibilities of a full-time teacher in the city school system. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Galloway, she is a candidate for a bachelor's degree this year and music. Increased street noise are certainly to be considered, Dr. Boner said. A Tennessee gal left her husband because he wouldn't buy snuff for her. 'Snuff for divorce.

Next Generation May Be Last Say College Students

LUBBOCK, Tex.—The next generation may be the last, students in Education 131 at Texas Technological College believe, after making a clinical survey of their own forebears. Comparison of size of their grandparents' families with their parents' families showed the largest number of children in the first generation family to be 19, in the second, 11. More than half the grandfathers' families on the fathers' side had more than seven or eight children. On the mothers' side, more than half the families had more than five children. In the present generation, half the families have four or less children. Total number of children in the grandfathers' families was 235 on the fathers' and 209 on the mothers' side, while the total number of children of the parents of the class was 147.

The bill was passed by a vote of 26 yeas without a dissent, and was sent to the House. The consolidation was one proposed at the state tax commission's report having been with the comptroller's office.

Non-Pro's Will Take Part in Abilene's Rodeo Mar. 24-25

ABILENE, Mar. 10.—West Texas' non professional rodeo stars will exhibit their abilities March 24-25 at the West Central Texas Livestock Show and Rodeo in Abilene, and the boys apparently plan to take full advantage of the opportunity, according to announcement made this week by Dr. M. T. Ramsey, rodeo chairman.

Entries for the events are already beginning to come in, Ramsey said, and the show promises to be one of the best non-professional rodeos ever staged in West Texas. Invitations to enter the contests have been sent more than 100 of the cowboys of the area, and all others who want to compete are asked to notify Ramsey or the West Texas Fair Association in Abilene.

Of particular interest, both to the contestants and the visitors, will be the five man team contest, in which any five contestants from one county may form a team and compete for a $75 team prize which will be awarded on the basis of money won by the team members in the various rodeo events.

The team prize is being offered for the first time, and is expected to be a major factor in stimulating local interest and a friendly rivalry among the contestants. Stock for the rodeo will be the best string of Brahma steers and calves and the wildest group of bucking horses available in the entire Southwest, say sponsors.

Legislator States Only One Cure Is Known to Medicine

AUSTIN, Texas—Almost every phase of Texas life is bound to be discussed somewhere in the course of a regular session of the legislature. When the medical practice act was up for revision in the house, for instance, Rep. Paris Smith of Bay City, a registered pharmacist for more than 30 years, revealed that only one "cure" is known to medicine. Quinine, Smith said, is a 100 per cent specific cure for malaria. There are other medicines that will cure in most cases but quinine for malaria can be advertised truthfully as a "cure"—one that applies to all cases, Smith said.

The point was made while the house discussed a proposal to prohibit advertising patent medicines as "cures for anything." "Why, most of this stuff is just a little sugar and water," said one supporter of the proposal. "Oh, well," replied Rep. Lon E. Alsop of Carthage, "that'll do a lot of them as much good as anything."

Rioting Breaks Into Warfare In Madrid

MADRID, Spain, March 10.—The republican regime opened up with artillery, tanks and airplanes today in a supreme effort to crush a revolt of communists and other units of its own army. Heavy fighting was in progress not only in the outskirts of Madrid, but in the city proper. Troops from Valencia, loyal to Gen. Jose Miaja, the republican commander in chief, arrived in the suburbs and opened artillery fire against the communists.

O'Daniel Tales Are Popular In Austin

AUSTIN, Texas—Latest of the stories on Governor O'Daniel is that he called Texas Highway Commissioners into conference and asked them how they spent $31,000,000 in a year.

Total highway expenditures, including the emergency funds supplied by the Federal government are between $43,000,000 and $50,000,000 a year.

The story that the governor was still considering whom he would appoint state controller (an elective office) still goes the rounds.

Several of the state funds, the governor proposed to abolish in a recent message to the legislature are required by the state constitution, his critics say.

Simple Dishes To Be Discussed at Cooking School

When you attend the sessions of the Happy Kitchen Cooking School, don't do so expecting to hear about only the party dishes. They will have their place, of course, but the main things you will see and hear are the simple, easy little workaday hints and time-savers that create more pleasure and less drudgery in the kitchen.

The Happy Kitchen Cooking School, sponsored by this newspaper and a number of cooperating merchants and national food manufacturers, comes to Eastland on March 16-17-18, and will be held at the Connellee Hotel, lectures beginning promptly at 2 o'clock each afternoon.

The lecturer selected for this event is Mrs. A. D. French, who is widely and favorably known throughout the South as an unqualified authority of the housewife, but she is able to share her knowledge with others through her ability as a lecturer.

Working in a model kitchen specially prepared for this school, she will demonstrate her lessons step by step as she prepares various foods under the eyes of her audience, meantime explaining just what she is doing and why it is best to do it that way.

The range of her lectures is large, and in them she will discuss such problems of the household as marketing, budgeting, preservation and serving of both plain and fancy foods, short cuts to efficiency with less drudgery and more fun in the kitchen, as well as giving many of her famous recipes.

At the conclusion of each lecture, any woman in the audience who has a particular problem that she wishes to discuss with Mrs. French is cordially invited to remain and lay the problem before the lecturer.

There is no charge for admission, and no obligation of any kind is incurred by attendance. The Happy Kitchen Cooking School has been arranged for the convenience of the women of this community, with the thought that every woman will be benefitted by hearing home economy discussed by a practical woman who has gained her knowledge through experience with over 100,000 other housewives.

The characters and situations in this story are wholly fictional. CAST OF CHARACTERS ALAN WARREN—Ambitious country doctor.

CHAPTER I DR. WARREN left the office more than an hour ago, Mrs. Warren. He was going to stop at Carroll's and at the hospital before coming home.

"Thanks, Marjorie." Emily Warren replaced the bone in its cradle, sighed. "The joy of being a doctor's wife," she said, half aloud. "Even if office girl knows more about my husband than I do.

"By the way, have her fix me a table to eat. I'm too early for dinner, I know, but I'll have to have my meal. Get to make a trip in the country. Mrs. Carroll. She could pick a night like this to have a baby.

happy parties were remote now. Alan never drank anything now, a patient might object. And parties—when had that last party been? But Alan's love for her had not changed. He still adored her with the same devotion, still called her his goddess.

"Must you go to Carroll's tonight, darling?" she asked. "Of course, I've got to go. Farrell can't go out in this storm. He's getting too old for this sort of thing. But don't worry your head about me. I'll stay at Carroll's until dawn, if the blizzard holds. Oh Herminia," he added, as the maid paused in the doorway, "fix me a couple sandwiches and some strong coffee. I'll eat here in front of the fire."

"But Alan," Emily went on, "it's important that you be here tonight. A wire came this afternoon from Dr. Peterson. He's stopping off here for a few hours on his return from Florida. Said he wanted particularly to see you." "Nice of Peterson to stop; I'm sorry I'll miss him. But he'll understand. After all, he's a physician first and dean of a medical school second. He wouldn't expect me to stay here just to visit with him."

CHAPTER II "IS the river road still open, Jimmy?" Alan asked as he waited for the filling station attendant to check his gasoline and oil.

"It was at 4 o'clock, Doc, but the men who came down from the dam say she'll be drifted shut by morning. You have to go up there?" "Yes, Jimmy, I've got to go. I guess we'll make it all right. I won't go all the way up to the dam, just about half way."

"But Doc, that's more than 10 miles, and in this storm it'll take an hour or more. Look out for that new fill, up by Price's place. They haven't got the guard rails up yet—you could easily miss the road there and go into the ditch. If you have any trouble, or get stuck, just sit tight and flash your lights and keep your horn going. I know all those farmers up along there; I'll phone and tell them to be watching for you."

Politicians Dream Of Statesmanship And Then Tell Why

By United Press
AUSTIN, Tex.—One of the more familiar sayings around the 46th Legislature has been, "I wish I were a statesman instead of a politician."

The difference between the two apparently is that a statesman votes his convictions without fear of the consequences. If nobody else in the Legislature—or the world—agrees, the statesman votes just as he believes he should for the good of his district, State and Nation.

"If I were a statesman instead of a politician," said one first-term member of the House of Representatives, "I would tell all these people from my own district and others who want legislation just to fatten their own pocket-books that I intend to vote just as I feel."

"I don't think I will run for another term down here, because I have a law practice at home and

I haven't made a nickel out of it since I came to Austin. I had made a living practicing law, but now—for the first time since I started practicing—I'm having to tell my creditors to wait."

"If I should run for another public office, I would make one pledge to myself: Never promise anybody that you will vote for a bill."

This young member, and many more mature, have been harried by proponents—and some by opponents—of bills seeking to improve the lot of barbers, independent merchants, truckers and others. The first two have organizations urging adoption of bills that would allow fixing minimum prices. The truckers want their load limits raised, which is a means toward increasing their incomes.

One of the older House members, in a moment of wishful thinking, told the United Press in discussing "what I would do if I were a statesman instead of politician."

"I rather think that I would favor and endorse the disfranchisement of persons who receive charities from the Government. I don't think the old age pensions, for instance, represent over one-tenth of the State's population, yet they have the most powerful lobbying voice in State Government today."

"People who take gratuities ought not to be able to tell the givers how much the gift should be. Off the record, I think almost all this so-called social security legislation is fundamentally unsound. It places a premium on indolence and shiftlessness."

"Yes, I think the acceptance of an old age pension or any form of dole from the Government ought to bar the recipient from voting."

Orville Carpenter, one-time old age assistance director in Texas, made a similar recommendation to a House committee during Gov.

Apaches Protest CCC Enrollments From Out of Tribe

RUIDOSA, N. M.—Descendants of Apache chief Geronimo have launched a fight against employment of "non-Apaches" on government civilian conservation corps projects at the Mescalero reservation.

They are coupling it with a drive for more self-government, alleging that the benefits of the Indian reorganization bill have not been extended to the Mescalero.

Seven hundred Apaches under the leadership of Sam Kenoi live on the 474,000 acres of rich farming land at the reservation.

The tribal business committee—government body of the Apaches—will meet March 11 to determine whether a formal protest against employment of "non-Apaches" will be sent to U. S. Indian Commissioner John Collier in Washington. Crux of the disagreement is an article in the Apache constitution granted the Indians in 1936 as a result of the Wheeler-Howard Indian reorganization bill.

"This article gives the business committee authority to determine who shall work on CCC projects on the reservation," Kenoi asserts.

H. I. Newman, Indian agent, disagreed. "The government decides who shall enroll in the CCC," he said.

Ninety CCC enrollees now are employed on the reservation in gopher control work, fence building, construction of truck trails, maintenance and landscaping. Six Pueblo Indians and two Navajos are employed as CCC workers now.

"The original intention of CCC projects here was to give labor to the Mescalero Apache Indians on this reservation," a petition to be studied at the March 11 meeting states. "This has been practiced very little on these projects. We strongly oppose the non-civil service out-side labor whether white or Mexican or Pueblo or Navajo."

"We want our own government and respect for our constitution and by-laws," it adds.

Kenoi, who has lived on the reservation for 26 years and who is a World War veteran, charged that benefits of the Indian reorganization bill have not been extended to the Mescalero Apaches.

"We want to handle our own business just like any community," he said. "We have had only a little practice at self-government. We want more."
