House Passes Tax Slash Of 4.8 Billion

Majority Vote For Bill Heavy

WASHINGTON, March 24. (AP)—The House passed today the $4,800,000,000 tax-slashing bill, sending it to President Truman.

The vote was 289 to 66. This is 52 votes more than the two-thirds which would be needed to override a veto.

The measure cuts taxes for all the 52,000,000 income tax payers and drops 7,400,000 low income persons from the tax rolls.

Mr. Truman is expected to veto the bill quickly, perhaps with a message citing needs for more billions for military preparedness in the drive to stop communism.

The question then will be whether the bill's backers in Congress can put it into law over his veto. It takes a two-thirds vote in both Senate and House to do that.

That test may come some time next week. With large numbers of democrats deserting the President on the issue, Speaker Martin (R-Mass) and Senator Taft (R-Ohio) confidently predicted a veto will be overridden with votes to spare.

In the House debate, Rep. Doughton (D-NC) expressed hope a veto, if there is one, will be overridden. Doughton was for many years (when democrats controlled Congress) head of the tax-writing Ways and Means committee. The present bill was written by his successor in that job, Rep. Knutson (R-Minn).

The Senate vote on the bill last Monday was 78 to 11. But some democrats in both House and Senate who voted for the bill might switch and vote to uphold a veto.

The House originally voted last February for a $6,500,000,000 tax cut. The Senate trimmed that down. One purpose was to try to win enough votes to beat a veto.

As finally sent to the White House, the bill cuts taxes 12.6 percent for those with the smallest incomes on which taxes must be paid. The cut ranges down to 5 percent on the biggest incomes.

Under the bill all tax withholdings from wages and salaries would be reduced on May 1. But the tax cut would be figured from Jan. 1. Taxpayers would get refunds next year on overpayments between Jan. 1 and May 1.

Other main things the bill would do: 1. Increase individual exemptions from $500 to $600.

2. Apply to all states the community property principle whereby husbands and wives may split the family income for tax reporting purposes, getting lower rates.

3. Provide special exemptions for elderly persons and for the blind. The House vote came after a debate marked by arguments from some democrats that America's stop-communism program will require expenditure of new billions to build up military strength, and a tax cut may throw the treasury again into red ink.

As the measure to pit American billions and military help against communism in China and part of Europe rolled into a second day's debate, Rep. Jonkman (R-Mich) told a reporter he is for the full amount.

In the past, Jonkman has led battles to slash foreign aid programs. He opposed them, he said, because he was against letting the state department handle business matters.

But the new program, he said, provides for an administrator free of state department control. Rep. Lawrence H. Smith (R-Wis) who teamed up with Jonkman for cuts in other bills, said he hasn't made up his mind on this one.

But members of the foreign affairs committee noted that Smith had made no effort to trim the program while the committee was working on it. Both Smith and Jonkman are committee members, and both are scheduled for speeches during today's debate.

In addition: Secretary of State Marshall was called to a closed door session of the Senate Foreign Relations committee for what members described as a review of the critical world situation (9 a. m. CST).

A Senate appropriations subcommittee took a look at a bill, passed by the House Monday, to provide $55,000,000 in additional stopgap aid for Italy, France and Austria. President Truman has said it is urgent to keep supply lines to those countries filled until the new European program takes hold.

Chances Fade For House Cut In Aid Total

WASHINGTON, March 24. (AP)—Prospects of a House fight to cut the $6,205,000,000 foreign aid bill faded today.

As the measure to pit American billions and military help against communism in China and part of Europe rolled into a second day's debate, Rep. Jonkman (R-Mich) told a reporter he is for the full amount.

In the past, Jonkman has led battles to slash foreign aid programs. He opposed them, he said, because he was against letting the state department handle business matters.

But the new program, he said, provides for an administrator free of state department control. Rep. Lawrence H. Smith (R-Wis) who teamed up with Jonkman for cuts in other bills, said he hasn't made up his mind on this one.

ROME, March 24. (AP)—Yugoslavia backed out today from an offer to trade Trieste for the Italian city of Gorizia.

The Yugoslav foreign ministry voiced regret over the "apparent assumption abroad" that Yugoslavia would insist on obtaining Gorizia in exchange for Trieste.

MODERATE PLAN A SURPRISE

Jews To Set Up Provisional Holy Land State By May 16

JERUSALEM, March 24. (AP)—A provisional Jewish government will be set up in the Holy Land May 16, representatives of Palestine's 600,000 Jews announced last night.

The British will give up their mandate in the Holy Land May 15. Members of the Jewish agency and the Jewish national council (Vaad Leumi) made the announcement after a joint conference in the all-Jewish city of Tel Aviv.

They rejected any plan to establish a Palestine trusteeship, as suggested by the United States, even for a brief period.

Announcement of the plan to form a provisional government was more moderate than some had expected, for there had been indications a flat proclamation of a Jewish state would be made.

This was the joint agency-council announcement: "The Jewish agency and Vaad Leumi have learned with regret and astonishment of the attitude adopted by the United States representatives on the security council concerning the United Nations' decisions on Palestine. The Jewish agency and Vaad Leumi declare that:

"1. The Jewish people and Yishuv (Jewish People of Palestine Homeland) will oppose any proposal designed to prevent or postpone establishment of a Jewish state.

"2. We categorically reject any plan to set up a trusteeship regime for Palestine, even for a short period of time. A trusteeship would necessarily entail denial of the Jewish right to national independence. It would leave Palestine under a foreign military regime.

"3. The failure and disintegration of the mandatory administration, continuation of which was unanimously rejected by the United Nations, necessitates early arrival in Palestine of the U. N. commission (on partition). The Jewish provisional council of government should be recognized without delay by the U. N. commission so that authority may be transferred to it as envisaged in U. N. decisions.

"4. Upon termination of the mandatory administration—and not later than May 16—a provisional Jewish government will commence to function in cooperation with the representatives of the U. N. then in Palestine.

"5. The Jewish people extend the hand of peace to the Arab people. The Jewish state will be glad to cooperate with neighboring Arab states and to enter into permanent treaty relations with them, to strengthen world peace and advance the development of all countries of the near east."

U. S. Demands Czech Coup Probe By U. N.

LAKE SUCCESS, March 24. (AP)—United States demands for fullest inquiry into the communist coup in Czechoslovakia today opened the possibility of an on-the-spot investigation by the United Nations.

American Delegate Warren R. Austin said the security council could not close its eyes to the grave charges that Russia engineered last month's grab of power in Prague. He added sternly that the new Czechoslovak government and the Soviet Union must lay their cards on the table.

Austin did not go beyond this point yesterday in a speech to the council which an aide said was of a preliminary nature. It was quickly noted, however, that past council policy has been to dispatch commissions to the scene of controversy before taking final action.

So far, Prague has refused to enter the case on the grounds that the governmental switch was an internal affair. Russia has skirted the accusations and counter-charged that the U. S. and Britain are following a policy of pressure and blackmail.

"Too much has happened which bears a striking similarity to what happens in other countries for the security council to be satisfied with perfunctory or categorical denials or with further Red herring," Austin said.

At the end of three hours of bitter debate, the council adjourned discussions until next Wednesday. Palestine was on the council calendar today, Kashmir tomorrow and Good Friday is a holiday.

LAKE SUCCESS, March 24. (AP)—Informed quarters said today the United States had decided to delay a request for a special Palestine session of the United Nations assembly.

'Y' Program To Be Studied

Glances at the world and local programs of the YMCA will be afforded at 7:30 p. m. Thursday when the annual meeting of the Big Spring YMCA is to be held.

It is to be a dinner affair at the First Methodist church, and reservations may be made by calling the Y office or tickets may be obtained from any member of the board.

Ned Kemp, Dallas, associate secretary of the Southwest Area council, will speak on the "World Program of the YMCA," and Lee E. Milling, local executive secretary, will speak briefly on "The Big Spring YMCA Today."

Cecil C. Collings will be installed as new president of the local Y, succeeding Dr. R. B. G. Cowper. Other officers also will be installed by Kemp. Musical entertainment, arranged by Mrs. Ann Gibson Houser, will include a vocal duet by Susan Houser and Wanda Lou Petty, accompanied by Mrs. Nell Frazier; a piano solo by Jim Farmer; and an instrumental number by a member of the high school band. Group singing will be led by Bill Davies, and Dr. P. D. O'Brien will serve as toastmaster.

While it was learned that the Senate committee turned down a proposal calling for registration of men up to 45 years old. Gurney said his committee, still awaiting information from the armed forces, "may have a more complete picture by later this week." But he added:

"I don't care if we never get a recommendation from the military. We can draft our own bill."

The South Dakotan, who has said he expects 10 of the group's 13 members to support both UMT and the temporary draft, told a reporter he hopes the committee will recommend them "simultaneously."

The two measures were asked by President Truman to back up this country's stand against the further spread of communism in Europe.

Ballots Are Ready For School Vote

Filing for places on the school board ticket ended last midnight, and ballots are now ready for absentee voting.

Two vacancies are to be filled in the annual school election on April 3, and for these posts there are three aspirants. They appear on the ballot in this order: Marvin M. Miller, Ted O. Groehl and H. W. Smith.

Absentee voting, which may continue up to next Tuesday midnight, March 30, may be done at the office of John Coffee, secretary of the board.

The April 3 general balloting will be conducted at the city hall. Miller, serving out an appointive term, is offering for a full two-year period. The other post to be filled is that now held by Board Chairman Ira L. Thurman, who is retiring after 12 years of service.

School Election Set For Glasscock

GARDEN CITY, March 24.—Saturday, April 3, has been set as the date for the election of Glasscock county school trustees. Four will be elected.

Voting boxes will be set up at Garden City and Lees. Mrs. V. L. Roberts will serve as election judge at Garden City while Mrs. W. R. Hobbs will act in that capacity at Lees.

H. A. Haynes, P. R. Stroud, W. E. Hughes and Henry Hillger have filed for re-election.

WIDE EXEMPTION RANGE

Narrow Limits Seen For Draft

WASHINGTON, March 24. (AP)—Plans to exempt husbands, veterans and men over 27 from any peacetime draft gained fresh backing in Congress today.

While Capitol Hill waited for military chiefs to blueprint the nation's defense machinery, two lawmakers spoke out for keeping manpower demands within narrow limits.

Chairman Gurney (R-SD) of the Senate Armed Services committee, told a reporter he expects any plan to revise selective service to out "all real veterans of the last war as well as all married men."

And Rep. Wadsworth (R-NY), who wrote the World War II draft law, said he thinks the age span should be 19 to 26 or 27. He also suggested exempting veterans.

Wadsworth said Chairman Andrews (R-NY) of the House Armed Services committee has asked him to help draw up new draft legislation.

Meanwhile it was learned that the Senate committee turned down a proposal calling for registration of men up to 45 years old.

Gurney said his committee, still awaiting information from the armed forces, "may have a more complete picture by later this week." But he added:

"I don't care if we never get a recommendation from the military. We can draft our own bill."

The South Dakotan, who has said he expects 10 of the group's 13 members to support both UMT and the temporary draft, told a reporter he hopes the committee will recommend them "simultaneously."

Asks Better Process For Hydrocarbons

FORT WORTH, March 24. (AP)—Diligent efforts to obtain maximum hydrocarbon recovery from oil and gas reserves are desirable not only from the standpoint of increasing life and profits of the petroleum industry, but also to prevent nationalization.

W. J. (Bill) Murray, Jr., member of the Texas railroad commission, made this statement in a paper prepared for presentation at today's session of the Natural Gasoline Association of America.

The 27th annual meeting of the association is attracting approximately 1,000 members of the industry to Fort Worth.

BIG-CITY, CALIFORNIA TROUBLES

Signs Show President May Face Tough Nomination Fight

WASHINGTON, March 24. (AP)—Reports of new big-city opposition and a "serious political situation" in California multiplied signs today that President Truman may face a tough fight for the democratic presidential nomination.

Chicago politicians visiting Washington were said to have brought word that they fear it will not be long before the rash of criticism for Mr. Truman's policies breaks out in their ranks.

Unlike the Dixie complaint against the President's civil rights program, northern opposition is based on the Administration's about-face on Palestine.

Criticism became so hot in New York that three Brooklyn district leaders announced they won't support the President for the nomination. One of these, James M. Power, said last night two party clubs in the 13th assembly district shortly will announce their support of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

At Los Angeles, Democratic State Chairman James Roosevelt summoned 62 prospective national convention delegates to an "urgent meeting" in Sacramento next Thursday. Roosevelt issued the call "because of the serious political situation."

He did not amplify. But there have been demands within the party in California for the expulsion of county central committee members who have announced their support of Henry A. Wallace's third party candidacy. All of this is serious business for democratic National Chairman J. Howard McGrath and his aides who are committed to getting the nomination for Mr. Truman. They had few worries on that score so long as the party flareup remained strictly southern.

McGrath was silent. But there seemed little doubt that if the revolt spreads the President will be caught in a party cross-fire that would be difficult to withstand.

U.S. Controls In Germany Are Shifted Back To The Military

BERLIN, March 24 (AP)—Gen. Lucius D. Clay shifted the emphasis of American control in Germany back to the military today.

Clay, who received orders from Washington last night that he is to stay on indefinitely as U. S. military governor and commander in chief in Germany, announced there would be a slowing up in the process of transferring military government personnel to civilian status.

This new development occurred in the midst of a stalemate on the status of the four-power governing machinery for Germany. The western allies have put it squarely up to the Russians to take the initiative.

The Russians started the fuss by walking out of a control council meeting Saturday. Monday and Tuesday they boycotted other agencies of the four-power government.

Late yesterday they called for meetings of some other agencies and the western powers used the boycott as a boomerang, refusing to attend the meetings until the Russians call another session of the control council.

"It's up to the Russians now," said Clay. "I think it's a desirable thing for all of us to find out just where we stand in this situation."

The Russian-controlled press here has been harping on the theme that the control council authority has been destroyed. Clay shrugged that off with a remark that if the control council is dead, so are its sub-committees.

Germans, particularly socialists and other anti-communists, were vastly encouraged by the stiffened western attitude. The communist papers have been publishing broad hints that reprisals would be taken against certain Germans after the western allies withdraw from Berlin.

The Germans also welcomed the news that Clay is to stay on as occupation chief and that the Army would stay in control. Previous plans had called for the state department to take over with a civilian regime. Germans interpret the new policy to mean the United States intends to stand fast against communist expansion in Germany.

Clay, who will be 51 next month, repeatedly said he intended to leave Germany this summer and retire from the Army. Today, however, he said:

"As a soldier, in view of these orders, I consider my services are needed."

Says Segregated Law Students Ostracized

DALLAS, March 24 (AP)—Negroes enrolling in segregated law courses at the University of Texas are being ostracized by other Negroes, registrar E. J. Matthews declared.

"We now have two students in our law class. One of them asked that his enrollment not be announced. x x x others have made gestures toward enrolling and then dropped the whole thing. With Negro leadership strongly opposing segregation, it's plain to me that those who try to take advantage of the opportunities we offer are being ostracized."

Matthews spoke yesterday at the annual meeting of the Association of Texas Colleges. Nearly 100 colleges are represented at the meeting, which ends today.

Soviet Ambassador Says Czech Coup Was Constitutional Move

NEW YORK, March 24 (AP)—Alexander S. Panyushkin, Soviet ambassador to the United States, said last night that the recent communist coup in Czechoslovakia was an "internal affair" made in accordance with the constitution of the Czech republic.

"It was in these changes that the will of the Czechoslovak people for freedom, independence and democracy found its reflection," the youthful envoy said.

Panyushkin, making his first major speech in this country, spoke at a dinner given by the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship.

Another speaker, U. S. Senator Glen H. Taylor of Idaho, told the Russian ambassador that a "small clique in our country is spearheading a struggle against needed economic and social changes."

Taylor, vice-presidential candidate on Henry A. Wallace's third party ticket, declared that the "forces of reaction" appear willing to turn over to Russia the fight for the common man, adding: "We may not be altogether pleased with the attitude your government has taken at times, Mr. Ambassador, but neither are we willing to accept the premise of our money changers and militarists that you are irrevocably committed to a course of wrecking the peace."

Panyushkin expressed belief that "side by side in peace. He charged side by side in peace. He charged that a "monstrous" slander campaign is being pressed against Russia which he said "has always stood and stands now for peace and international cooperation."

Panyushkin contended that Winston Churchill and American forces of "international reaction" are trying to stir up enmity against the Soviet.

"The Soviet people, who have come to know the joy of peaceful labor after the hard war years want peace in order to work peacefully at their factories, in the fields, at their institutes and laboratories," he said.

Senator Taylor said the American people are not happy about the "small clique in our own country representing special privilege which seems determined to lead in this struggle against the economic and social changes so long overdue in so many parts of the world."

STATE VIEWS

Tidelands Policies Outlined By Giles

BY PAUL BOLTON
Herald Austin Bureau
(Second of Three Stories—Ed.)

AUSTIN, March 24. — Since the question was raised as to whether state or federal governments would handle publicly owned lands to the greatest advantage — in terms of income to the taxpayer — several questions were put to Land Commissioner Bascom Giles.

Giles outlined state policy, and it was compared with proposed Federal policy. On unexplored state lands, a minimum of 12½ per cent royalty is fixed, with bidding on a cash bonus basis. Data is not available in Austin on past policy of the Department of the Interior — Giles says he was not able to obtain it. But data is available on what is proposed in the bill now pending before Congress for Federal leasing of tidelands. This bill proposes exactly the same method: a minimum royalty of 12½ per cent, with bidding on a cash basis.

The state policy (as followed in the big November sale of tidelands leases) calls for a flat per acre rental of $1 per acre. The Federal bill provides a 25c per acre rental starting the fourth year of the five-year primary lease, and 50-cents per acre thereafter. In this comparison, the edge would seem to be to the state.

It has been argued that the federal policy would make it possible for more people to participate in the production, because of limitations upon lease size.

The Federal bill provides for an overall leasing limitation of 128,000 acres to any one company, which may retain not more than 30,270 producing acres of leases. The state policy does not put a top on the number of acres any single company may lease. However, it does put a smaller limitation on the size of the original lease — 1,440 is the maximum.

on the tidelands leases. Each such lease must be separately bid in. To hold the lease, the lessor must drill on it, prior to the expiration of the primary term.

As was stated in a previous article, of the 194 currently producing leases upon which the royalty is one-eighth or more, approximately two-thirds are on a straight one-eighth, the remaining one-third bring more than one eighth. Giles explained in this way:

When a lease is up for a proven area, the land board seeks to get the best bid and may fix the terms so as to bring in a better bid — in terms of both cash and royalty.

For instance, one of the highest royalties was obtained by calling for a fixed bonus of $10,000, and bidding on a sliding-scale royalty, the fixing of the cash amount weeded out speculative bids.

On other proven-area leases, the bidders are told what the royalty will be — say, a fixed one-fourth — and then allowed to compete by an offer of cash. It will be noted that under both methods, a substantial cash payment is involved. This requirement is rooted in a political fight in Texas in the late thirties. At that time many bids were made and accepted on a very slight cash consideration, with an offer of much royalty if and when oil was discovered.

Field Extends PM Publishing Life

NEW YORK, March 24. (AP)—Marshall Field III will continue publishing the newspaper PM until April 9, two weeks beyond the scheduled March 26 closing date. Field had announced on March 12 that he would either sell the eight-year-old tabloid or cease publication next Friday.

Announcement of the extension of PM's life was made in a joint statement issued by Louis Weiss, secretary of the newspaper, Thomas J. Murphy, executive vice-president of the CIO New York Newspaper Guild, and Nathan Aleskovsky, PM guild unit chairman.

The new deadline was requested by Field and accepted by the guild. The publisher, Weiss said, is considering the proposals of "several serious potential buyers."

Sales Force To Take In Area Auto Show

Sales force of the Motor Inn Auto Supply will visit the Southwestern Automotive show in Dallas April 8-11 and will be prepared to trade information on new trade developments with local mechanics and station operators. Dealers interested in attending the annual event can obtain free tickets at Motor Inn's office, 404 Johnson street.

Motor Inn Adds Timkin Bearing Distributor

Motor Inn Auto Supply, a servicing depot for filling stations and garages, has recently become the warehouse distributing center for Timken bearings and Perfect Circle piston rings, two of the most popular brands of merchandise of that kind being manufactured today.

The establishment, which maintains its Big Spring office at 404 Johnson street, also put the famous Fulton automobile sun visor on the market and that accessory is proving very popular with the West Texas motorist.

The best makes of vehicle air conditioners, which have attained a new degree of perfection, can also be purchased at Motor Inn Auto Supply.

Motor Inn's management has been assured that other lines of popular automobile merchandise are being added to the concern's stock from time to time. The mechanic seeking most any make of accessory can usually find it at the store. The establishment specializes in such items as the Lincoln Lubricating equipment, Sioux Valve equipment, Bean Wheel Balancers and Front End equipment and Binks and Devilbiss Paint Spray equipment.

A modern machinery shop, which specializes in cold welding of motor blocks, cylinder heads and other castings, occupies the rear of the Motor Inn Auto Supply building. Motor Inn mechanics employ the famous K-M method, in which cracks in heads can be repaired without the use of heat.

Business telephone of the concern is 244.

Tucker Puts Feed Mill To Operating

Already in production, Tucker Grain company soon will be able to supply almost any type and amount of commercial feeds for this area.

With new and latest equipment, E. T. Tucker, operator of the company, is now marketing ground milo heads, ground threshed milo, ground corn, and 20-80 (cottonseed meal and hulls).

He is turning out a 16 per cent sweet dairy ration, and is to turn out an 18 per cent mixture. These, along with special feeds for chicks, hogs, and other livestock and poultry, will be marketed as soon as government labels are received.

In order to produce these quality feeds, Tucker has gone to considerable expense in installing equipment which includes a big hammer mill, a one-ton dry feed mixer and an automatic sweet feed mixer.

The grinder is in a concrete pit in an annex to the feed building and it possesses ample stroke and power to do an exacting job. The dry feed unit hurls dry ingredients off the tips of a big auger blade into a big drum which slopes the feed back into the whirling blades. Every five minutes it is ready for another ton.

Under heavy and regulated pressure, molasses is sprayed into the sweetfeed mixture according to the formula. Adjustments of dials will insert 10 pounds sweetness per 100 pounds of feed, or to any other level. Tests prove that the mixing is 100 per cent thorough.

Demand for the products have thus far exceeded supply, but now that production kinks have been caught up, Tucker is prepared to turn out feed to meet local needs. Several feed concerns are marketing the products now.

Grain Seed Stocks Ample At Tucker's

Grain seed needs can be supplied promptly and in any amount at the Tucker Grain company.

E. T. Tucker, operator of the concern, has laid in a good supply of sudan, combine maize, goose-neck milo, small grains, corn, etc. All seed he secures are re-cleaned to insure purity and maximum germination. On one carload of Howard county combine maize he has received, the germination tests showed an uncanny 98 per cent.

Commissioners Refuse Change In City Zoning

City commissioners Tuesday declined to take action on an ordinance proposing a change in north side zoning after Charles N. Sullivan, city attorney, reiterated his opinion that such a measure would not remove building restrictions in property deeds.

Sullivan said he had investigated the matter and based his opinion upon court precedent which was established in 1941 by the San Antonio Court of Civil Appeals.

The proposed ordinance would have extended the industrial zone on the north side beyond bounds established in the original zoning ordinance. It was opposed by several resident property owners of the area involved.

Commissioners approved a proposed budget for the city-county health unit for the fiscal year beginning July 1. Under terms of the new budget, the city's expenditures for maintenance and operation of the unit will be increased approximately $79 a month, part of which is accounted for by moderate salary increases for personnel.

After hearing a report from the city attorney on condemnation proceedings, the commission authorized payment of $300 for a street right-of-way to connect the new Banks addition for Negroes with the city.

Merle Stewart, CPA, was awarded a contract to audit city records for the fiscal year ending March 31.

Rancher's Trust Is Divided Among Heirs

BEAUMONT, March 24 (P)—A trust estimated at several million dollars has been divided among seven heirs, Caldwell McFaddin one of the heirs and attorney for the McFaddin trust revealed.

The trust was established by the late W. P. H. McFaddin, Sr., Jefferson county cattleman who owned extensive ranch, oil, rice and business property.

SOIL CONSERVATION

Stubble Is Left Standing By Allred

J. C. Allred, a cooperater with the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District left 55 acres of maize stubble standing this year on his farm in the Knott conservation group. When he put up his stubble land he left all the stubble on or near the top of the soil.

Allred said he liked to leave his feed stubble this way each year because he had found out that it stopped his soil from blowing.

B. O. Brown plowed 45 acres of feed stubble on his farm at Vincent with a chisel type plow this year, leaving all the stubble on top of the soil. When he listed his land recently, crossing the chisled furrows, he said his land was put up in better shape than with listing only.

Crop residue management is one of conservation measures used by district cooperators in a coordinated soil and water conservation program. Besides helping to control wind erosion, the crop residues add needed organic matter to the soil.

Grass plantings for pasture were made recently on the farm of Walter Robinson in the Midway soil conservation group and Frank Loveless' district supervisor of Zone 3, who lives 5 miles northwest of Coahoma. Robinson planted about 5 acres of weeping lovegrass and sand lovegrass on a sandy field. Loveless planted 8 acres of land retired from cultivation to the lovegrass, with yellow bluestem, little bluestem and blue grama added to the mixture.

Robinson and Loveless also made trial plantings of blue panic grass and Lehman's love grass. The grass seed was planted with a grass drill furnished by the Soil Conservation Service.

W. E. Plunkett, district cooperater in the Vealmoor soil conservation group, seeded 6 acres of Madrid clover last week on his farm one and one-half miles east of Vealmoor. Plunkett inoculated the clover seed and planted in 40-inch rows. He is using clover for a soil building and grazing crop as part of his conservation program.

Grazing of Abruzzi rye and hairy vetch started last week on Gene O'Daniel's ranch northeast of Coahoma. O'Daniel planted 105 acres of rye and vetch last fall for cover crop and soil building. The crop has made good growth, stopped the land from blowing and will furnish supplemental pasture for his livestock.

Oscar O'Daniel maintained his terraces this year on his ranch southeast of Coahoma in the Coahoma soil conservation ranch group by plowing to them with a one-way plow.

V. H. Wolf, cooperater in the Vincent conservation group, built up the terraces on his place north of Vincent this year with a whirlwind terracing plow.

Terrace construction started last week on the farms of O. H. McAllister and Roy Shafer. McAllister is completing the terracing needed in his farm at Coahoma. Shafer, who is farming the Andy Brown place four miles south of Vincent, built 6 miles of terraces last year and will complete 6 more miles this year. The terrace systems on McAllister's and Shafer's farms were laid out by the Soil Conservation Service to hold water on the fields and control washing.

Clyde Clanton completed a coordinated soil conservation plan last week on his farm in the East Vealmoor soil conservation group. Clanton built six miles of terraces on one of his fields this year as a part of his conservation program.

Two farm conservation plans were made out last week and a ranch conservation plan was completed this week on the places of Ben Brown, Milton A. Cates and Jim Meador in the Vincent conservation group.

The conservation plans will become a part of a cooperative agreement with the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District when approved by the supervisors.

TEXANS IN WASHINGTON

Beaumont C-C Manager Knows Effectiveness Of Silence

WASHINGTON, March 24. (P)—Beaumont's chamber of commerce manager, Clarence K. Debusk, has been in Washington enough to know one important thing too many people don't know.

That is, that words which are not spoken before congressional committees often are a lot more effective than those which glut the record.

There was a good illustration of this last week before a Senate Appropriations subcommittee considering funds for waterway projects.

Senator Gurney (R-SD) sat in the center on the outside rim of the raised horse-shoe committee table. Down before him for days there had been a steady stream of witnesses, each urging money for this or that navigation or flood control project.

Then came time to consider Texas projects, and on hand to testify were a dozen or more Texans from various parts of the state. An hour tentatively had been allocated by the committee to hear them. In the room were a score or more of prospective witnesses who had come from other states and were awaiting their turn.

Two and a half hours later testimony was still being given on the Texas projects. Some of it was repetitious and some was unnecessary elaboration of details. Finally Debusk was called, after several other witnesses already had spoken for projects in the Beaumont area.

"I haven't got a word more to add," he said. "Thanks."

The patient South Dakota senator, who had been trying tactfully to expedite things, grinned and commented:

"There's an ideal chamber of commerce manager."

The good he had done for his cause was certainly more than if he had taken up a lot of time. Gurney had Debusk's name and identification there before him on the witness list, and it was obvious he would want approval of the Beaumont-area projects.

Those who come here from over the country too often assume that they must start their testimony with a detailed resume of the entire case, notwithstanding the fact that preceding witnesses have gone over the same material.

Sometimes this is done in ignorance of the fact that the committee already has heard the background. On the other hand, some witnesses feel that they should make a lengthy statement in order to justify an expense account.

The man who really does the most good is the one who sizes up the situation before he is called to testify, and acts accordingly.

Around the capital: The black-robed members of the supreme court must have been somewhat jolted the other day when Judge Guy Jackson of Anahuac stood up before them and was formally admitted to practice before the tribunal.

Most lawyers, considering that a red letter day in their careers, wear their Sunday-best. Some even don striped trousers. But Jackson, the president of the Texas water conservation association, was attired in garb of the ranch. He wore a dark red flannel shirt and cowboy boots.

Good News For Folks Who Suffer From

- ✓ STOMACH GAS
- ✓ SOUR FOOD TASTE
- ✓ ACID INDIGESTION

Do you feel bloated and miserable after every meal, taste sour, bitter food? If so, here is how you may get blessed relief from this nervous distress. Everytime food enters the stomach a vital gastric juice must flow normally to break-up certain food particles; else the food may ferment. Sour food, acid indigestion and gas frequently cause a morbid, touchy, fretful, peevish, nervous condition, loss of appetite, underweight, restless sleep, weakness.

To get real relief you must increase the flow of this vital gastric juice. Medical authorities, in independent laboratory tests on human stomachs, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in increasing the flow when it is too little or scanty due to a non-organic stomach disturbance. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps build-up non-organic, weak, watery blood in nutritional anemia—so with a good flow of this gastric digestive juice, plus rich red-blood you should eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better. Avoid "punishing yourself" with over-doses of acid and other alkalisers to counteract gas and bloating when what you so dearly need is SSS Tonic to help you digest food for body strength and repair. Don't wait! Join the host of happy people SSS Tonic has helped. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle of SSS Tonic from your drug store today. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

Womack Completes Wiesbaden Course

WIESBADEN, Germany, March 15 — Master Sergeant Horace Q. Womack of 520 Walnut St., Colorado City, Texas, has recently graduated from a personnel administration school at Wiesbaden Air Field—home-headquarters of the U. S. air forces in Europe.

The course is designed to indoctrinate air force personnel in office or section management. Sgt. Womack is a line chief at the A-26 base.

With Womack in Wiesbaden is his wife, Pat, who arrived from Colorado City in October 1946. Mr. and Mrs. Womack have had several trips to Denmark, Switzerland and France during their stay here.

Autopsy Shows Vet Killed By Knife

BEAUMONT, March 24 (P)—Justice of the Peace Horace Blades said an autopsy verdict showed Obed L. Horne, Vidor veteran, died of a knife wound in the chest.

Horne's body was recovered last night from the Neches river. He was believed to have drowned while fishing Saturday.

Blades said he had issued a warrant for the arrest of a man wanted for questioning in connection with the case. He said the man Saturday had reported he was in the boat with Horne and a Negro, Mitchell Ford, when the boat overturned.

The Big Battle Now Rages In Italy

The next big battle is to be waged in Italy where elections are slated for April 18. Rebuffed a year ago, the communists have revitalized their strategy and have made some gains. They have capitalized upon the shortages of food and fuels, and in turn have made much over aid extended by the U.S.

To be perfectly honest, it must be admitted that a lot of that aid has been given to strengthen the nation in hopes that it will give stable elements strength and courage to resist the communists. Certainly, it is better to give aid on that realistic basis rather than we shall be like the pharisees who were well known for their loud alms-giving.

This is but one of the prongs of the offensive. Apparently the Catholic church is joining the battle, for statements by high church officials in Italy are becoming increasingly pointed.

Another move is the U.S. proposal to give Trieste back to Italy. This suggestion utterly caught the Reds napping. When jubilant government partisans shouted "viva Trieste," they were attacked by their brother Italians in the communist camp. Being Italian, they, too, should have been jubilant. However, no one had anticipated this move and no one had coached them, hence this strange pattern of behavior. Russia complained bitterly that such moves were unethical since she was not put on notice. . . so she could put comintern forces on notice, no doubt. So the big battle rages. The issue is not settled by any means, but anti-communist forces are not going to take it lying down this time.

Reduced Budget And Projected Tax Cut

It is now apparent that a $4,800,000,000 tax-cut measure will be passed by the House and sent to the President.

Moreover, it is agreed that he will veto the bill. Whether it will be enacted over his veto is a matter for speculation. A week ago it would have been virtually certain, on the strength of the votes in both houses of congress, that a veto would have been over-ridden.

Since then the President has addressed Congress in a blunt appeal for action to meet the further spread of Russian communism. Suppose he now comes back with a counter proposal to Congress that additional funds be supplied to implement his requests? What then will Congress do?

Thus, while the odds favor a tax cut at this time, they are not certain.

But whatever happens, there should be no deficit financing. Granting of a tax cut and then failing to balance the budget would be economically unsound if not catastrophic. Indeed, the provision of tax savings to the people—which might easily be inflationary in character—may be offset inflation-wise by reduced governmental spending. A lower net federal budget might, within itself, have a stabilizing effect on the price structure. It has been suggested that this could be further achieved by making the savings in the form of bond payments, redeemable two or three years hence. There is such a little likelihood of this that there is no point consuming time in discussion of it.

Affairs Of The World—DeWitt MacKenzie

Hope Glimmers For United Germany

By SIGRID ARNE
For DeWitt MacKenzie

Russian actions in Berlin the past few days make it look as though another hope may shortly be glimmering—the hope of rebuilding Germany into a healthy, peace-loving nation.

Since the end of the war Berlin has been the place where the four occupying powers—the Americans, the British, French and Russians—have worked together in a council. Each power controls a portion of the city, although Berlin itself lies in the eastern section of Germany which Russia occupies.

But now the communist papers in Berlin are suggesting that the westerners get out.

And Saturday the Russian delegate, Marshal V. D. Sokolovsky, walked out of a council meeting.

Ever since the war ended, the four-power meetings in Berlin have had trouble because the Russian delegate either delayed or refused to agree to plans which the other three approved. The most annoying difference has been over the use of goods which the Germans themselves produced. A definite plan was laid down for them at Potsdam. They agreed that any surplus goods turned out by the Germans should be put into a pool. Those pooled goods were to be sold abroad to pay for things the Germans would have to import.

The westerners waited for some move from the Russians to chip in. But as the months passed no goods ever showed up. The Russians made no reports on what their sector was doing.

And while this was happening British and American tax-payers were asked to shell out hundreds of millions to feed the Germans in their area.

Finally, early in 1947, the British and Americans merged their sectors in all business deals to try to cut down the cost to the folks at home. They left the gate open for the Russians, but no Russian knocked.

Last week the Americans, French and British met in London to talk just about western Germany. American goods will shortly begin to move into western Europe, and western Germany has to be fitted into the picture because it can contribute steel to the general rebuilding of Europe.

Thereupon Sokolovsky read an angry speech to the council in Berlin—and walked out. Yesterday the Russians, being chairmen this month of the council committees in Berlin, called off committee meetings.

The Russians stand to gain if they break up allied control of Germany. Their troops already occupy eastern Germany. If the allied council breaks up they could merely add eastern Germany to the large area of foreign soil they now control.

The Russians could get tough. They could insist, with troops, on what their papers are now saying; that the westerners leave Berlin—which would leave eastern Germany in Russian hands.

There is no official information in Washington on what the United States would do if Russian bayonets suddenly were turned against the handful of American troops in Berlin. But off-the-record statements remind you that Americans don't like to be thrown out of places.

Washington Merry-Go-Round—Drew Pearson

Brass Hats Ignore Alcohol Supply

WASHINGTON — While the brass hats demand the drafting of men for the Army, they continue to let the big distillers pour out more and more whiskey, despite the fact that the nation's industrial alcohol reserve remains dangerously low.

Industrial alcohol was one of the most strategic materials of the late war, being used in producing synthetic rubber, chemicals, insecticides, TNT and munitions. In fact, industrial alcohol was considered so essential that more than 200,000,000 gallons were stockpiled in the year 1943 alone.

Today, however, only about 21,000,000 gallons of industrial alcohol are stockpiled—enough to last 10 short days if war should break.

While the big distillers are ignoring Truman's plea for voluntary rationing by adding to the already growing supplies of whiskey in warehouses, the Army and Navy munitions board is doing absolutely nothing about stockpiling industrial alcohol for defense.

Real fact is that we face a worse industrial alcohol shortage, in event of an emergency, than before the last war—because at that time we had a big grain surplus. Now we have virtually no grain surplus, with foreign aid taking about all we can spare.

Meanwhile, the brass hat-controlled munitions board hasn't even bothered to put industrial alcohol on its list of "strategic and critical materials."

TRUMAN JOB OFFER President Truman has already been offered another job—if the voters retire him in November.

The job was offered him by William McKinley Floyd of Unalaska, Alaska, who is national commander of the regular veterans association, a small organization with about 85,000 members in the United States and its territories.

Floyd informed Truman that he was retiring as national commander and then had nerve enough to add:

"I'm out after a good successor and am sure you can be elected if I place your name in the nominations. The political friends are sometimes unkind and if you should be out of a job in November, this would be a good place for you to land.

"The position has security—it's steady," continued the regular veterans chief. "I've held it for five years. Who knows, it might turn into a lifetime job for you."

Truman looked a little flabbergasted. Then he grinned.

"Thanks very much," he chuckled, "but I'll have to refuse the nomination. I'm going to be very busy on other matters."

MATERIALS CONTROL

President Truman has just received a blunt warning from William M. Allen, president of the Boeing aircraft company, that the government must reinstitute allocations of key materials, such as aluminum, if the U. S. A. is to build airplanes for future emergencies.

Allen, who was accompanied to the White House by Sen. Warren Magnuson of Washington, told Truman that his company now is producing a super successor to the B-29, known as the B-50 at the rate of seven planes a month. The new planes can outstrip both the 3,200-mile range of the B-29 and its 350-mile-an-hour speed. Boeing is also testing a new jet bomber of revolutionary speed and range.

But, Allen told the president:

"We can't begin turning out these new planes in any quantity unless there are allocations of the materials needed to produce them, so we can plan our production schedules at least six months ahead. We can gear up our production of B-50's right now to 40 a month, but not without material allocations."

Truman replied that he was pleased to learn of the new revolutionary planes but sidestepped a commitment on controlling strategic materials. Instead, he reminded his callers that the B-50 pointed up the need for universal military training and selective service.

"I realize the importance of air power," the President declared, "but that alone is not the answer. We must have an integrated and well-rounded system of all three services—land, air and sea. We still can't do without ground troops. To show you what I mean, that new B-50 you are making probably will require triple the ground crew of the B-29."

COAL NEGOTIATORS

Here's the inside story of what happened when hard-working Federal Conciliator Cyrus Ching met with John L. Lewis and Ezra Van Horn, spokesman for the coal operators, in an effort to settle the growing Coal Strike last week.

John L. Lewis not only stubbornly refused to back down on his demands for pensions for coal miners, but even declined to consider a compromise proposal.

Lewis told Ching that his demand for a $100-a-month retirement pension for all United Mine Workers union members who are 60 years old and have worked 20 years in the mines still stands, despite operator protests that only actual employees or coal mines should be eligible for pensions.

Under Lewis' plan, former miners who quit work five or ten years ago or longer would be eligible for pensions, provided they still carried a UMW card.

This would make William Green, now head of the AFL, and Phil Murray, head of the CIO, eligible for pensions, though they haven't mined coal for years.

When Ching asked Lewis if he would be willing to have further discussions with Van Horn in an effort to work out their differences, the mine labor chief flatly declared: "No."

"Further meetings would be a 'waste of time' and 'serve no good purpose,'" Lewis declared. However, conciliator Ching found the coal operator's spokesman equally determined to give no ground. Meeting later with Van Horn, Ching was told that further meetings between the operators and Lewis would be useless.

Ching then asked Van Horn if he would offer a compromise plan to Lewis's pension demands. Van Horn replied that no compromise was possible as long as Lewis stood on his arbitrary demands. He did promise, however, that the operators might have something to offer in the way of compromise in about a week, when a study of the pension question, now being made by the operators by a Philadelphia firm, is completed.

In other words, Van Horn informed Ching that it would be at least another week before the operators will be ready to start negotiating with Lewis.

In Hollywood—Bob Thomas

Garson Will Work Hard

HOLLYWOOD — Greer Garson, who is calling herself "the new Garson" these days, will get something new in film schedules. She is slated to make three movies this year.

Through most of her career the Irish actress has averaged one picture a year.

"Now I have to make up for lost time," she told me, indicating her last two movies. After "Julia Misbehaves," she will probably do "The Forsyte Saga" and then "The Saintly Miss Peters." Planned after that is the "Mrs. Miniver" sequel, which may be made in England.

Greer, by the way, sent a message through me to fellow worker, Lana Turner, who was injured when she was tossed at someone on a movie set. The message: "Anyone who has Lana Turner flying to him and misses the catch is no kind of a man."

Lana hobbled back to work on the "Three Musketeers" picture. Her elbow is cracked, but not broken, and she has to wear a metal brace. Also, her back is kinked and the studio is wondering how she'll do her action scenes. Among other things, she murders June Allyson and John Sutton in the picture. . .

J. Carroll Nash told me an interesting project on "The Kissing Bandit" set. He has an offer from a British outfit to star in a film biography of Gandhi—if he can shelve 40 pounds. The actor says he'd relish the assignment and is consulting with his doctors to see if he can drop the poundage. . .

Linda Darnell and Rex Harrison will have some torrid love scenes in "Unfaithful Yours." A 20th-Fox statistician added up

Phrases That Arouse

Use of the term "widow woman" never particularly aroused me, for it seemed to possess enough local color to take it out of the class of purely redundant or repetitious phrases. It was sort of like "climbing up," superfluous, albeit descriptive.

Now to some, such phrases hold a peculiar annoyance, and to others they are downright obnoxious. It's all a matter of likes and dislikes—and all of us like and dislike different things.

For instance, my pet gripe is "consensus of opinion." It happens to be one of those hackneyed phrases which come automatically when there is nothing else much to say—such as "a better place in which to live," or "I am happy to be here."

Consensus means an agreement of minds, so the "of opinion" is vain repetition. The Latin root word is the same for "consent" and "sense," and it means to "feel" or "feel together." Thus, in the case of consensus (and it isn't consensus, as many seem to believe) the meaning is, according to the dictionary, an "unanimity of general agreement in matters of opinion." Although the phrase has been used so often it is considered permissible in some quarters, we still contend it is no better off than "widow woman."

While my stinger is out about phrases which are simply time-fillers or time-stallers, there is one in the field of public speaking which I should like to expose to public scrutiny.

Reference is to that time-honored passage—"I might say. . ." This is not the exclusive property of poor, indifferent or mediocre speakers, for all seem to indulge in its use. "I might say I am happy to be here. . . I might say that it is my opinion. . . I might say that this has not been possible. . . I might say that the road ahead is rocky."

Well, why not say it without all that speculation about the possibility of saying it? "I might say" simply means "I'm going to say," and if a speaker is going to say something, why sound the warning like a blast of trumpets before each paragraph?

It's the consensus that he ought to just say it and be done.—JOE PICKLE

Hal Boyle's Notebook

Stuck In Gum Business

NEW YORK — Whatever happened to "Bazooka Mouth," the U. S. Army's only native-born calypso singer?

The "mouth" is Maxie Zera, a stocky former New York university football star with a voice like a bull caught on a barbed wire fence.

During the war Maxie, who worked up from enlisted man to captain, sang the glory of the American first infantry division. He did it in the rhythms of Trinidad calypso singers, improvising the rhymes as he went along.

Nervous G. e. r. m. a. n. s., hearing these strange sounds shuddering through the night, sometimes gave up in terror. They had the idea a new American secret weapon was about to be turned on them.

In those days "Bazooka Mouth," who was born in the Bronx, planned when the war was over to open a big bar here and name it after the division's insignia—"The Red One." He was going to provide the entertainment himself.

I ran into Maxie the other day and asked him about the saloon.

Broadway—Jack O'Brian

When Big City's Tired

NEW YORK—Broadway is a gay old harriidan from dusk to four a. m., and even in the daytime, there's a bustle and go that gives it a garish glamor.

But after four a. m., things change. Maybe for the good. Certainly not, though, for artistic purposes.

That's when Broadway—Times Square to Columbus Circle—looks like the tired, bawdy old babe that she is.

Four a. m. is the legal closing time for the bars, night clubs, hotels, anywhere drinks are served. Used to be Lindy's was the last respectable refuge until four a. m., but Leo decided he'd had just about enough of the drunks and worse who stagger through the area looking for one last drink, one last fight, one last anything before they disappear into the subways, the rooming houses, the cheap side-street hotels, maybe even a park bench.

So Lindy's doors are locked at four, the folks inside are served and permitted to converse over cheesecake and coffee as long as they like. As I abandoned Lindy's the other morning at something like 5:30 a. m., a couple of us decided to take a walk down Broadway, just to keep in touch with tawdriness.

Bobby, the news dealer at 50th and Broadway from whom I've been buying "a deck" of morning papers, meaning all of them since the mid-thirties, shook off a drunken peroxide blonde who couldn't see in front of her and handed me my papers, muttering "Murder, ain't it?"

Three girls, dirty-faced bobby soxers, talked with four men at the subway entrance. They turned and walked off with the men, good enough material for sinister conjecture. A few trucks were backed up to restaurants, unloading goods for the next day, when streets would be too crowded to park. A "flusher" inched along, doing its best to wash down the pavement, still grimy from winter storms. Musicians, carrying instrument cases, headed for Kellogg's Cafeteria, the poor folks' Stork Club. Checkroom kids, the lesser press agents, hoofers, band singers, had their goodnight sodas and cokes in Hanson's Drugstore.

The Gaiety Delicatessen was the oasis of neatness and lights. A street cleaner sat at the same table with a man and woman in evening clothes. The rest of the tables were crowded with young kids on the way home from a night of fun. The salamis, pastas, frankfurters, hung appetizingly in the window. Ten feet

"It took too much capital to start one," Maxie said. "I went into the chewing gum business instead."

Zera is general manager now of the Sterling Mint Co., which markets gum through the South. "The gum industry has just got some good news," Maxie confided. "We've finally developed a gum that won't stick to false teeth."

"That's always been one of the big problems. You know how many people in this country wear dentures? Millions! Now they can chew gum just like everybody else. It's a big step forward for us."

Maxie still is ambitious to return to the music world. He would like to get a radio network job singing news announcements in calypso.

"Even financial and market page news," he said, "that would soothe the bulls and bears. The only danger is that I have a tendency to editorialize. Sometimes you have to editorialize to get the right rhyme."

"But I can't take a chance now, I'm stuck with the gum business. The pay is more regular."

Texas Today—

Why Texas Had Such A Bad Winter

Now that spring is here, let's sit on the front porch and talk about what a tough winter we had.

It wasn't Texas' coldest winter. No rainfall or snowfall records were broken. It was tough because of the prolonged periods of bad weather in both January and February.

There was continual freezing weather in North Texas from January 13 through February 2. During the first 14 days of February, daily minimum temperatures for eight days were in the twenties.

Ice covered highways and streets for eleven days of the two months.

Precipitation was below normal in January but it has heavy in February. In the two month period there were seven days of sleet. There were 13 days of snow.

In two months, there were only 14 clear days.

All this added up to a hard winter because there were so many days, day after day, when men were unable to do outside work.

Carpenters, bricklayers, construction men, stayed home. Farmers didn't get into their fields.

In the cities, folks put off doing their shopping and business lagged.

Maybe you think weathermen don't care what the weather is. Perhaps you picture them as puttering about with their records, and instruments, perfectly impassive be it sleet, sun' or snow.

A. M. Hamrick, tall, thin, chief of the Dallas weather bureau is not like that. Hamrick, in the low sixties, has been a weatherman 40 years.

Hamrick didn't enjoy last winter. He considered it tough and unpleasant.

His wife, you see, runs a variety store at Euless, Tex., a small community near Dallas.

"Most of the people in places like Euless," Hamrick told us, "do outside work for a living. They didn't get much work done in January and February. "Business at my wife's store was bad."

The Nation Today—James Marlow

U. S. Attitude Stiffens Against Reds

WASHINGTON, (U.P.)—This country's tough attitude toward Russia is taking another stiff turn.

That's on the shipment of American goods to Russia. There'll be a ban on any goods that could help Russia militarily.

A government official—in the commerce department—said:

1. No shipment of any kind for Russia has been okayed since March 1.

2. This week this government will decide what kind of goods can be shipped.

3. No goods can go if, directly or indirectly, they might help build Russia's military strength. For instance? He mentioned big power-shovels for opening mines. They might be an indirect military help.

But that doesn't mean a ban on harmless goods for Russia.

Why no shipments okayed for Russia since March 1?

On that date the government stopped shipment to any country of anything—if it's worth $100 or more—without commerce department approval.

And it hasn't given approval Monday for a while Catholic war veterans picketed a Russian ship, the Chukotka, which was loading machinery at Jersey City.

A commerce department official explained that the goods being loaded now were on their way to port before March 1.

$149,000,000.

(At present inflated prices, the official said, that $149,000,000 in 1947 wasn't much more, if any, than the $69,000,000 in 1938.)

What we imported from Russia in 1938 was one per cent of our entire import trade. It was about the same in 1947.

Undressed furs made up 56 per cent of the things we bought from Russia last year; platinum for sharpening tools and chrome-manganese for making steel made up another 26 per cent.

Reports Of Grand Lodge In Houston Highlight Meetings Of Rebekahs

Reports of the grand lodge which was held in Houston last week highlighted the meetings of the John A. Kee Rebekah Lodge 153 and the Big Spring Rebekah Lodge 284 on Tuesday evening.

Beatrice Bonner, lodge deputy, and Beatrice Vieregge, first noble grand, presented the Charter to the John A. Kee Rebekah lodge 153. Beatrice Vieregge and Hazel Lamarr received this charter at grand lodge in Houston last week. The local lodge also received honorable mention for its neatness and completeness of by-laws.

Betty White, Ovella Marie Shirley, Clara Jackson, Laura Burrows, Thelma Cook and Lillian Elliott were formally initiated into the order.

Hazel Lamarr accepted the bronze award from the Sovereign grand lodge for her work in bringing into the lodge more than ten members. Jewel Rayburn was recommended to receive this award.

Two letters from the adopted orphan, Patricia Hinds, were read. Members from the Lamesa lodge who visited at the meeting were Millie Patterson, Callie Speck, Linnie Leopard, Grace Kidd, Juanita Sweet, Margie Corbin, Elsie Hope, Bernice Edwards, Arah Applegate, Mamie Sandel and Winnett Patterson.

Approximately 65 persons attended the meeting.

Alma Crenshaw was elected to represent the local lodge in the popularity contest sponsored by the Odd Fellows, at the meeting of the Big Spring Rebekah lodge 284 Tuesday evening.

A publicity committee was appointed to work on the Odd Fellow paper which will conduct the contest.

Mary Greenwood received the Rebekah degree in formal initiation services at the meeting.

An Easter box was packed for Doris Jean Sproull in the orphan's home.

Alma Coleman was installed as ward-woman, succeeding Lucille Jones in an expired term.

Plans were completed for the social night, featuring a Stanley brush party to be held at the IOOF hall March 30. Proceeds from this party will be used in part by the lodge.

It was announced at grand lodge in Houston that the Big Spring Rebekah lodge had been placed on the ARA honor roll for the past year.

Members attending grand lodge were Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Wilkerson and Rosalee Gilliland.

Attending the Tuesday night meeting were Billie Parker, Bessie Cummings, Tessie Harper, Evelyn Roger, Della Herring, Jacqueline Wilson, Naomi Coleman, Lucille Petty, Tracy Thomason, Thelma Braune, Sonora Murphy, Alma Crenshaw, Frances Shanks, Earl Shanks, Judy Keher, Geneva Pick-

Trousseau Tea Is For Miss McEwen

Jonquils and Dutch irises were table decorations at a trousseau tea Tuesday afternoon complimenting Barbara McEwen in the home of Mrs. Obie Bristow with Mrs. Adolph Swartz as co-hostess.

The tea table was covered with a silver tea service and silver candleholders holding white tapers.

Miss McEwen modeled parts of her trousseau and a questionnaire on advice to the bride completed the program of entertainment.

Mrs. Elmo Wason presided at the tea service.

Those attending were Miss McEwen, Mrs. R. R. McEwen, Jr., Mrs. Lucy Sorrels, Mrs. J. Y. Robb, Mrs. Lloyd Wason, Mrs. Elmo Wason, Mrs. Don Penn, Robbie Piner, Mrs. Tommy Hutto, Mrs. Lee Rogers, Mrs. Larson Lloyd, Mrs. Ed Bowes of Los Angeles, Calif., and the hostesses, Mrs. Bristow and Mrs. Swartz.

Dr. Noble Price Speaks At AAUW

Dr. Noble H. Price, of Lamesa was guest speaker at the open forum Tuesday evening under the sponsorship of the American Association of University Women at the Episcopal Parish house.

He discussed the need of the doctor to know psychiatry, as he practices it in his everyday work, that is, he needs to practice it in order to be a more efficient doctor as many times the patient needs the help of a psychiatrist, instead of medical attention.

After the lecture, he called for questions - from the floor on the subject.

A business meeting of the AAUW was held preceding the lecture. Members attending were Mathilde Maier, Nell Brown, Mrs. Mickey Boyvey, Mrs. J. A. Fisher, Mrs. R. W. Thompson, Mrs. A. Ruechart and Mrs. O. Karsteter.

Rainbows Plan Founder's Day

Founder's Day activities were planned for the Order of Rainbow for Girls at the Masonic Hall Tuesday evening.

A tea will be held in the home of Mrs. Clyde Thomas, Jr. at 1604 Runnels from 7 to 9 p. m. April 1. This is to be a silver tea in honor of the founder of Rainbow, the proceeds going to some of the benevolent institutions supported by the Eastern Star and Masonic lodges. All Rainbow Girls, present and former, all Mothers and others interested in Rainbow are invited to attend.

All the Rainbow Girls are required to attend Church services in a body on April 4. Announcement will be made later of the Church to be attended.

A cake party will honor Donnie Roberts, past Worthy Advisor, on Friday afternoon from 3 to 5 in the home of Jean Conley.

Ruth Overton of Forsan was initiated as a new member of the Order.

Comings And Goings Of Stanton Residents Are Reported This Week

By Leatrice Ross

STANTON, March 24 (Sp)—Patricia Riquemore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Riquemore, and Paul Odell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Odell, were married recently in Ballinger.

The Justice of the Peace there, performed the ceremony.

The bride attended school in Stanton, San Angelo and the Lady of the Lake academy.

The bridegroom graduated from Stanton high school in 1947. He joined the Air Corps three months ago and is stationed at San Angelo.

The couple will make their home in San Angelo temporarily.

Larry Turner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Turner of Airport Midland, received a broken leg Saturday afternoon.

Visiting him Sunday from Stanton were Mr. and Mrs. Leo Turner, Mr. and Mrs. Alton Turner and daughter, Sheila, Mr. and Mrs. Forgy Atchison, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Bennett and son, John Terry and Mrs. H. S. Blocker and children.

Martin County 4-H boys who won prizes in the Midland Stock show were John Dale Kelly, R. T. Higgins, Wayne Church, J. C. Newland and Fred Church.

Annual spring services at the Church of Christ began Sunday morning, March 21 and will continue through March 28. R. T. Williamson, minister of the North Side Church of Christ in San Angelo, is conducting the services.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Howard of Lamesa are the parents of a son, Johnny.

Dorothy Renfro, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Renfro, was named to the Dean's Honor Roll at Texas State College for Women. Miss Renfro is a senior Business education major and the honor was merited by her high scholastic record.

The Rev. L. W. Tucker, pastor of the Lenora Methodist church, is conducting a series of pre-Easter services beginning March 21 and continuing through March 28.

Boys from Stanton who joined a bus load of Boy Scouts enroute to the Scout Ranch in the Davis Mountains were Guy Merwin Eiland, James McCoy, Sammy Foreman, Wayne Winters, Charlie Martin and Bill Rhodes.

The Martin County library received 28 new books as a gift from the Stanton Study club recently. Gifts of books were also received from James D. Eiland, county agent of Martin County and from Mrs. J. A. Wilson. Mrs. Velma Haynie, librarian reports that the library has received a loan of 50 books from the Texas State Library in Austin.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Barham and Mr. and Mrs. B. Liles of Colorado City were recent guests of Mrs. Carl Clardy.

Mrs. J. W. Wells accompanied her daughter and son-in-law to Fort Worth Tuesday. She will remain for a short visit.

Carl Clardy and Thomas Morris returned Monday from San Francisco, Calif. where Morris had undergone major surgery.

Mrs. Herbert Stipp is seriously ill in the Western clinic in Midland.

McAden And Stasey Leave For Parley

Dozen Practice Tilts Arranged

Claud McAden and Pat Stasey, general manager and field manager, respectively, of the Big Spring professional baseball club, left for Sherman this morning where they were to confer with Washington Scout Joe Cambria on matters relating to the personnel of the local Longhorn league entry.

The two expect to be gone five or six days, during which time they will take a look at the Sherman rookie crop. The local team will be assigned several of the freshmen in training there.

Spring training gets underway here April 1. The Big Spring Broncs will play at least a dozen exhibition games between April 4 and April 21, when they open their Longhorn league season against the Midland Indians in Midland.

The Hesses blast the lid on their exhibition schedule against Abilene in Abilene Sunday, April 4. They play their first home game Wednesday, April 7, meeting Lamesa. McAden said the lights may be turned on for that one.

As of now, the schedule reads: April 4—Abilene there. April 5—San Angelo there. April 7—Lamesa here. April 8—Lubbock here. April 10—Sweetwater there. April 11—Lamesa here. April 13—San Angelo here. April 14—Lamesa there. April 15—Abilene here. April 16—Lubbock there. April 17—Sweetwater here. April 18—Lamesa here.

The Lubbock dates are tentative. McAden said he was working on a deal to play the House of David team here the second week in April.

Meet Starts April 17

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

Armando Traspuesto and Eusebio "Jimmy" Perez, backstop and pitcher, respectively, of the 1947 Big Spring baseball Bronchos, have breezed into the village, a good ten days ahead of the other Cubans that will wear local liques.

Traspuesto, to refresh the memory of the reader, was just about the best Class D catcher, with or without his temperament, in the country last year. He can throw strikes at second base all day. He can hit—witness the .359 he combed Longhorn league pitching for last season. His big weakness was impatience. When a pitcher couldn't or wouldn't respect his signals, he breathed fire and brimstone.

Perez is an improved model of the Perez that joined the Bronchos late in the season in '47 in that he is a flinger with teeth. When Jim hit town last season, he was a body with troubles. His testy molars even made his toes ache. Dr. Wofford Hardy pulled a bi-cuspid or two. During the winter the Cuban got himself a new set of choppers.

The two obviously were plain hungry, as well as hungry for the sight of West Texas. First thing they did after greeting their bosses, Pat Stasey and Claud McAden was pop into a local beanyery and order the biggest steak in the house.

Both lads are underweight but expect to add the required pounds to their frames before training gets underway April 1.

Joe Cambria, the chief scout of the Washington Senators, likes to tell about the time Traspuesto arrived in this country four years ago to play ball. (Armando was headed for the Appalachian league). He didn't know a word of English, much less any of the people. Immigration authorities at Miami hesitated to let him pass until he was properly identified.

Stasey plans to find out about Moreno. One of the missions of Stasey's trip to Sherman today (he'll confer with Cambria) will be to learn the status of Orlando Moreno, the Bronco's 1947 third sacker. Moreno was originally supposed to return here this year but later was consigned to another Washington farm.

Cambria has intimated within recent weeks, however, that Orlie may be returned to Big Spring. It goes without saying that Stasey will welcome him with open arms.

T & P TEAM SEEKING ENTRY INTO TRI-COUNTY LEOP
The Texas & Pacific railway, which originally planned to field a softball team here, will instead sponsor a baseball club. So says Billy Eggleston, who states the club's personnel will be made up of shop men and motor transport employees.

The Railroaders have made application for entry into the newly organized Tri-County baseball league.

ISAACS FAVORABLY IMPRESSED WITH HILL CORPS
Conn Isaacs, the Big Spring high school baseball coach, is most favorable impressed with his hurling corps. He won't make any guess on the outcome of the District 3-AA race but expects his pitchers to stand up well under fire.

At the present time, the Steers boast six hurlers. Those who will see the most action this year are James Boatman, Donnie Carter and Harold Berry. Carter is a leftie.

The Longhorns probably won't play any out-of-town teams before they launch their 3AA schedule April 6 but may meet Amarillo late next month.

Lepard, Townsend May Dominate Sand Hills Relays Saturday

Big Spring's Leon Lepard and Byron Townsend of Odessa will vie for individual high scoring honors in the Sand Hills track meet at Odessa Saturday.

Lepard will probably enter four events again at Odessa—the 880, 440, mile relay and broad jump.

Townsend will compete in the discus, high jump, sprint relay and 100-yard dash. The Odessa star was off form in the Southwestern Exposition show at Fort Worth last week but he's due to be in fine fettle this time out.

Lepard was voted the outstanding man of the Brady Relays. He set a new record in the 880, ran the quarter mile in 52 seconds to lead in that event, anchoring the Steer mile relay team that blazed around the track in 3:31 minutes and placed second in the broad jump.

His followers expect him to set up a new half mile mark in Odessa Saturday. The old standard is 2:06, set by Lowery of Lubbock, and Leon has already bettered that time twice in competition this year. He covered the half mile in 2:03.6 in Brady last week and would no doubt have bettered that had he had someone to pace him the first lap.

At the present time, Big Spring looks capable of sacking up the quarter, half and mile runs as well as the mile relay in Odessa. They may place in the discus throw and shot put, too, as well as the broad jump.

Meadows And Pupil Entered In Relays
BROWNWOOD, March 24. (U)—Two of the nation's greatest pole vaulters—Teacher Earle Meadows and Pupil Paul Faulkner—will feature the annual Bluebonnet Relays here Saturday.

Meadows, 1936 Olympics champion, will appear in an exhibition. Faulkner, Paschal (Fort Worth) schoolboy who soared 13 feet 1 3/4 inches Saturday to smash records at the Southwestern Recreation track and field meet in Fort Worth, will be competitor in the Relays.

Last year Meadows was assistant track coach at Paschal where he tutored Faulkner in the art of vaulting. He now operates The Book Store at Howard Payne college here.

BUCKEYES WIN COLLEGE STATION, March 24. (U)—Ohio State defeated Texas A. and M., 4-1, yesterday behind the four-hit pitching of Dick Magato and Gene Brown.

Six Loops Open Play in Texas Next Month

By The Associated Press

Texas baseball, bigger than ever before, is about ready to open its 1948 season.

Thirty-six teams will try for championships in six organized leagues this year—ranging from Class AA to Class D.

The Texas League opens first, on April 14. Next to start is the Class C Lone Star league, on April 20. Three other leagues start April 21, the Class B Big State, Class C West Texas-New Mexico and Class D Longhorn. The Arizona-Texas league starts April 23.

All of the leagues except the Arizona-Texas have eight teams. Gladewater, Lone Star League, San Angelo and Del Rio, Longhorn league, are newcomers in the baseball lineup. Gladewater replaced Jacksonville and the other two were added to increase the Longhorn loop to eight teams.

Managers have been named for all clubs except two in the Arizona-Texas league. Here is the lineup:

Texas league—Houston, Johnny Keane; Dallas, Jimmy Adair; Fort Worth, Lester Burge; Beaumont, Chick Autry; San Antonio, Gus Mancuso; Tulsa, Al Vincent; Oklahoma City, Pat Ankenman; Shreveport, Sally Parker.

Big State league—Wichita Falls, Mark Carrola; Paris, Homer Peel; Sherman-Denison, Joe Rodriguez; Texarkana, Vernon Washington; Austin, Hank Oana; Waco, Buster Chatham; Greenville, Buddy Hancken; Gainesville, Babe Peables.

Lone Star league—Kilgore, Joe Keener; Marshall, Harry Davis; Gladewater, Jimmy Dalrymple; Longview, Dixie Parsons; Bryan, Jess Landrum; Henderson, Guy Sturdy; Tyler, Hack Miller; Lufkin, Morris Jones.

West Texas-New Mexico league—Amarillo, Buck Fausett; Lubbock, Jackie Sullivan; Borger, Edwin Carnett; Pampa, Grover Seitz; Lamesa, George Sturdivant; Abilene, Art Bowland; Albuquerque, Herschel Martin; Clovis, John Boatman.

Longhorn league—Big Spring, Pat Stasey; Sweetwater, Clarence Gann; Ballinger, William Atwood; Odessa, William H. Davis; Midland, Harold Webb; Vernon, Lloyd Rigby; San Angelo, Robert Martin; Del Rio, Bill Lacy.

Arizona-Texas league—El Paso, Walter Millies; Phoenix, Arky Biggs; Tucson, Lloyd Brown; Juarez, Manolo Fortes; Globe-Miami and Douglas-Bisbee, managers not yet named.

Cards Look Shaky Afield in Loss
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 24. (U)—The St. Louis Cardinals try to get back into the winning habit today against the New York Yankees.

Looking very shaky afield, the Cards lost their third in a row yesterday, bowing to the Boston Red Sox, 3 to 2. Errors by Del Rice, Tommy Giaviano and Jeffere Cross hurt the St. Louis efforts. Shortstop Marty Marion is still out with a bruised knee.

Cavaretta, Two Mates Leave Hospital List
LOS ANGELES, March 24. (U)—The Chicago Cubs' hospital list is gradually getting smaller, but still it's quite imposing.

Phil Cavaretta, Bob Sheffing and Lloyd Lowe now have their arms working well after treatment at Boyes Springs. But Bill Nicholson still has shoulder miseries and Len Merullo is troubled both with a lame arm and bad back.

Don Carlsen, Hank Wyse and Bob Rush are scheduled to bear pitching duties today against the St. Louis Browns.

KEYS made at Johnny Griffin's.

Brundage Will Referee Texas Meet April 3

AUSTIN, March 24. (U)—The Texas Relays gained a touch of the Olympic air yesterday when Avery Brundage was named referee of the 21st annual track and field show.

Brundage is president of the U. S. Olympic committee. As referee here April 3 he will see some strong Olympic prospects in action.

Only 298 athletes have officially entered the Relays, but entries in the next eight days are expected to shove the number above 1,000.

Preliminaries begin Friday, April 2, and Brundage is expected to arrive by plane in time to witness the qualifying events. Brundage is a sport star of former years, having competed in the 1912 Olympics. He was three times national champion in the track and field event known now as the decathlon.

He will give a score of Olympic hopefuls the once over.

These include the powerhouse discus and shot put man from Minnesota university, Fortune Gordin; three topnotch university of Texas dash men, Charlie Parker, Allen Lawler and Perry Samuels; Weightman George Kaders of Texas A. and M.; Pole Vaulter Harry Cooper and Broad Jumper Loyd LaMois of Minnesota; and Broad Jumpers John Robertson of Texas and Bob Crowley of Kansas.

Texas A. & M.'s relay team, probably the best in the country, will be on hand. The same quartet that set the record of 3:17.8 last year is back again.

Texas sprinters threaten both the 440 and 880-yard field records. Coach Clyde Littlefield can start the same boys he had in 1947, Parker, Lawler, Samuels and Charlie Tatom.

Rice Institute has entered the largest team thus far, a 23-man squad, and its freshman group is favored to cop honors in the freshman-junior college class.

Texas and Texas A. and M. have not yet officially entered.

Out-of-state schools already on the official roster are Drake university with teams in the 4-mile distance medley and two-mile relay; Loyola of Chicago, boasting a strong mile relay foursome; Bradley university of Peoria, Ill., sending a single competitor, High Jumper Heintzman; and Minnesota.

Four high schoolers capable of bettering Dewitt Coulter's 1941 relay record of 51 feet 9 inches with the 12-pound shot put will compete.

They are Darrow Hooper of North Side (Fort Worth), Bill Milburn and Reed Quinn of Austin, and Francis Meyers of Thomas Jefferson (San Antonio).

Kentucky Looks For New Cage Worlds To Conquer

NEW YORK, March 24. (U)—Can Kentucky beat Bartlesville's famed Oilers in the Olympic basketball trials?

The question may be a bit premature but cage customers who saw the wonderful Wildcats from Kentucky rout Baylor, 58-42, for the NCAA championship last night already were discussing the possible duel of these two mighty quintets. And the fans were anticipating an individual clash between two great centers, Alex Groza, 6-7 Kentucky pivot, and the Oilers' seven-foot Bob Kurland.

Before the twain can meet, Kentucky must win two games in its bracket of the trials while the Oilers have to do the same in the independent part of the tourney. Both are heavily favored to come through for the final in Madison Square Garden, Wednesday, March 31.

As a result of Kentucky's one-sided triumph, here's the way the pairings shape up for the Saturday openers:

1 p. m. (CST)—Oakland Bitters vs. Denver Nuggets.
2:45 p. m.—New York U. vs. Baylor.
7 p. m.—Oilers vs. The Prospect Park (Brooklyn) YMCA, National "Y" champions.
8:45 p. m.—Kentucky vs. Louisville, NAIB champions.

On Monday, the semi-finals will be held with the two college victors opposing each other. The two surviving independents also will clash.

With Groza leading the way, Kentucky ran up a big early edge on Baylor and won handily. Husky Alex paced the Wildcats with 14 points, controlled the backboards and made himself a general nuisance to the battling Bears from Texas.

The 21-year-old junior from Martins Ferry, Ohio, played superbly in all three games of the NCAA tourney and his peerless performance earned him the award as the outstanding player in the meet.

Bill Henderson, Baylor coach, believes the Oilers will win.

Henderson saw AAU ball on a western trip early in the season and his own team defeated the Bitters, 57-42, in December.

"I think the AAU champs will beat them. Kentucky won't be able to play as rough as they did against us," Henderson said. "The Oilers are pretty husky too."

The Kentucky coach said he didn't think his team played too good against Baylor but added "I don't care how had they play as long as we win."

Nineteen personals were called against each team in the bruising contest.

Kentucky got off to a whirlwind start and Baylor could never get close. The Wildcats ran up a 7-0 lead and after Jim Owens scored Baylor's first point at the foul mark, the Kentuckians ran up leads of 13-1, and 24-7.

Kentucky hawked the Bears so closely that Baylor didn't score a field goal until the seven minute mark when Don Heathington laid one up.

Baylor was handicapped throughout by the lack of a set shot or an unwillingness to shoot from outside. As a result Kentucky was able to concentrate around the basket and wait for the Bears to close in.

MacArthur Says Reds Forced Entry

NEENAH, Wis., March 24 (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur says he decided to announce his availability for public office after threats of pressure against him by the American communist party.
Attorney Charles H. Velte said that MacArthur had written him outlining the reasons behind his announcement. Velte said he had written MacArthur expressing concern that in a presidential campaign the "idol of a nation would be exposed to political sniping and abuse of every sort."
He added, "what a tragic picture it would present if you came back to your native land as a political partisan when the whole undivided nation wants to welcome you as our outstanding hero."
In his reply, MacArthur said he "long understood the nature of the forces which would be unleashed against me" if he announced his availability for political office. The general added:
"The forewarnings of such a movement against me were reduced to brutal frankness when the American communist party through its leader on Dec. 8 last publicly named me the primary target of the communist attack and called upon all of communism's friends to associate themselves with the movement."
"x x x rather was it because of this very threatened pressure that my decision was reached to make unmistakably clear my continuous readiness for public service."
MacArthur reaffirmed such readiness as "a reaffirmation of a principle of duty and service on which every American citizen can and should firmly stand."
He said that in his announcement "I made clear that I do not actively seek or covet any office."

City Firemen Called Out Twice

City firemen were called out twice Tuesday, once to the airport and once to the north side of town. At 2:45 p. m. a trash fire in a warehouse building resulted in an alarm at the airport. There was no damage.
A short circuit in a poultry brooder was blamed for a small blaze at 8:45 p. m. at 406 NE 12th Street. The brooder, owned by Walter Middleton, suffered slight damage.

Markets

WALL STREET NEW YORK, March 24.—Narrow irregularly ruled stock market today. After a fairly active opening, there was general appreciation with volume well below the pace of recent sessions. Favorable issues pushed ahead without attracting too much following. Fractional changes in either direction were widespread near midday.
Commission houses said some bidding was attributed to belief that market had performed well in absorbing heavy profit-taking in the foreground of this concluding year. Possible rearmament orders and hopes for tax reductions continued an encouraging feature. But considerable concern was expressed over mounting effects of the cost-of-living and foreign situations.
LIVESTOCK

First Dinner Set For Demo Fund Raising

HILLSBORO, March 24 (AP)—Texas democrats will break bread at a fund-raising dinner April 15 at Fort Worth.
But State Democratic Executive Committee Chairman R. W. Calvert said the dinner would not replace the Jackson-Jefferson dinner.
He said it was his understanding the Jackson-Jefferson dinner won't be held this year.
Calvert announced the Texas dinner after a meeting yesterday of representatives of three state democratic organizations. Its purpose is to help raise $25,000 needed to support the three groups for the coming year and for organizational work for the Brownwood state convention May 25, he said.
Governor Beauford Jester will be invited to make the principal address at the dinner.
Price of tickets to the affair and other details have not yet been worked out.
Calvert and Mrs. R. A. Thompson of Goliad, vice-chairman of the state executive committee, were appointed co-chairman of the statewide committee planning the dinner.
The state-wide committee will be made up of the 64 members of the democratic executive committee, 44 members of the young democratic state executive committee and 22 executive members of the Texas Association of Democratic County Chairmen.
Calvert said the democratic party of Texas will receive some of the proceeds from the dinner.
At the meeting here it was also announced W. A. Wakefield, Austin and Corpus Christi, has been appointed director of the state democratic party for the Brownwood convention.
Besides Calvert, those attending the meeting include Jimmy Brinkley, Houston, president of the Texas Young Democrats; Arthur Stevenson, Dallas, president of the Texas Association of Democratic County Chairmen, and Neville Penrose, Fort Worth, finance chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee and Mrs. Bennett Smith, Fort Worth, representing Mrs. Thompson.

Martin County Resident Dies

Mrs. Bettie Hobbs, 89, long-time resident of Martin county, died at 12:10 a. m. today at her residence in Stanton.
She was the widow of W. H. Hobbs and had lived in Stanton 14 years.
Funeral is to be held Thursday at 10 a. m. at the Church of Christ in Stanton, A. E. Johnson, minister, officiating, and burial will be in the Evergreen cemetery. The body was to be taken overland by Eberley Funeral home today to lie in state at the home until time of the funeral.
Survivors include one step-son, F. M. Hobbs, Longview; one step-daughter, Mrs. Joe Hanke, Cross Plains; and one brother, A. C. Eidson, Stanton; two nieces, Mrs. P. G. Smithson, Stanton, and Mrs. Harry Echols, Stanton; two nephews, Brick P. Eidson, Odessa, and Boyce Eidson, Midland.
Palbearers were to be Frank Herrington, Ed Bloomer, Morris Zimmerman, Bland Cross, Walter Kelley and H. G. Hambrick.

Anthems Set For Sunrise Easter Service

Two anthems will be sung by the 12-member choir for the Easter sunrise services at the amphitheatre Sunday morning.
Mrs. L. A. Eubanks, who is directing the music, said that the choir, including members from five churches, would sing "Crown Him with Many Crowns" and "Christ Arose." The choir will join with the congregation in singing the "Doxology" and "Holy, Holy."
Services are projected to begin at 6:40 o'clock, which is shortly before the sun rises. A prelude of transcribed organ music is planned for the period while people are gathering.
Normally, several thousand people from various churches of the city attend the community Easter observance, which this year will feature a brief sermon by Rev. R. Gage Lloyd, First Presbyterian pastor.

Man Fined $75

O. R. Johnson entered a plea of guilty to the charge of driving while under the influence of intoxicants and was fined $75 and costs in county court this morning. Johnson also lost use of his driver's license for the ensuing six months.

Police Investigate Cameron Burglary

Police this morning were investigating a burglary at the William Cameron Lumber Co. which was committed sometime Tuesday night.
A small amount of money, estimated at between $4 and $5, was reported missing.
Zula Reeves, who recently underwent major surgery, is reported much improved.

C-C Chairmen Slated To Meet

A meeting of sub-committee chairmen in the chamber of commerce civic and beautification department is scheduled to meet at 5:30 p. m. Thursday at the chamber office, D. M. McKinney, department head, announced this morning.
The sub-committee leaders, who compose the department's steering committee include Capt. Oivy Shepard, of the north side beautification projects committee; Johnny Johansen, parks, playgrounds and schools; Merle Stewart, cemetery committee; Mrs. W. D. Caldwell, yard beautification; Jimmie Jennings, chairman of the committee on streets and downtown store fronts.
McKinney said the department hopes to develop an active program for the summer months, and actual plans will be drafted at the meeting.
The city-wide clean-up campaign, scheduled for the week beginning April 19 also will be discussed at the session.

Four Plead Guilty To Liquor Charges

Four men caught with 44 gallons of beer, most of it in kegs, entered pleas of guilty in county court Tuesday to charges of possessing alcoholic beverages with no tax seal affixed and each was fined $100 and costs.
They were W. T. Wells, Jr., P. N. O'Brian, Marcell Tindol, and Roy Hopper, all of whom were arrested by Deputy Sheriff C. E. Kiser and Inspector L. W. Smith of the Liquor Control board on the East Highway Tuesday.
Tindol's troubles were not singular. The court also charged him with defrauding by obtaining things of value with a worthless check and sentenced him to 30 days in jail.

Two AWOL Soldiers Taken Into Custody

Two Latin-American soldiers wanted at Fort Ord, California, on charges of taking absence without official leave, were taken into custody by members of the sheriff's office Tuesday and were to be turned over to military authorities.
They were Marvin Sustaita, who said his home was in Minnesota, and Larry H. Rodriguez, a Texan.

Two Men Arrested For Reckless Driving

Two men who were arrested Tuesday night of charges of reckless driving on East Third street were fined $45 each this morning in corporation court.
Police officers said the two men were traveling in separate cars and were passing other vehicles simultaneously, one to the left and the other to the right.

French Market Women Inspired "New Look"

PARIS. — Christian Dior took the common garb of the French market woman, gave it 19th century elegance and thereby created the new look.

That is the opinion of a lieutenant in the Dior organization.

The feeling Dior has for 19th century art and motif has long been known, but the adaptation of the costume worn by strong-backed French peasant women who bring their crates of vegetables to the wholesale market in Paris every morning is a revelation.

"If you go down to the French market at three o'clock in the morning," the young lieutenant said, "you will see the dress. It is a poor dress of coarse, hard-wearing material, but the lines are there. Its tight bodice buttons down the front and flows into a roomy skirt. She even wears a little thing around her neck."

"What we call the new look is not new to her," he said, "she's always worn it for comfort and utility."

Dior is the boss of the organization he has brought to the front of the Paris fashion picture in 18 months.

He designs every dress himself, taking advice only from Mme. Briano Briard, 46-year-old fashion expert who gives him the woman's viewpoint while he is working on a new dress.

Dior's quick thinking has been decidedly in his favor on his sudden vault to the top. The 700 members of his staff are still laughing about the presence of mind he showed when his spring showings opened last month.

It seems the air circulation system in the new showroom hadn't been installed in time and there was no doubt that the show was going to flop if the persons in the packed house had to sit in a stuffy, smoke-filled room for a couple of hours.

The boss himself came up with the answer.

"We'll have fans," said Dior, "nice big black fans with Christian Dior printed on them in gold letters."

The fans not only circulated the air, but circulated the name of Dior in practically every other fashion house in town because they were such a success as souvenirs.

"I'll never forget the sight in the room," a woman fashion writer said. "There were hundreds of black fans bobbing up and down like butterflies and everyone was saying 'Christian Dior... Christian Dior' over and over."

Dior was born in Normandy 43 years ago and he still likes to go back to the country. This year, a month after the spring showings opened, but while the crowds were still jamming his place, Dior took a trip to a small farm he owns just inland from Cannes.

"I'm going to dig in the garden and really enjoy life," he said.

Trained for the diplomatic service, Dior disappointed his parents by changing his mind and opening an art gallery in Paris in 1928. In 1931 he gave that up and went to Russia to study architecture.

By 1935 he was back in Paris "and broke," he remembers. He found a job on a newspaper as a fashion illustrator. It wasn't long until he was designing hats for Agnes and in 1938 he became an assistant of Piquet.

and worked as a day laborer on the railroad. He came back to Paris in 1941 and went to work for Lucien LeLong. Here Dior came into prominence by creating hobbie skirts and rounded drapes.

By 1946 Dior's position in the fashion world was clear. All he needed was the money. It is reported that Marcel Boussac, the French turf king, supplied that.

Dior gave his first showing Feb. 12, 1947, and the fashion world is still rocking from the blow. His success was stupendous.

Starting in a small establishment on the Avenue Montaigne, Christian Dior now occupies three buildings and is trying to get a fourth.

Despite the size of the staff, if you ordered a dress from Christian Dior today you would have to wait six weeks for the first fitting. The same pleasant atmosphere that goes into Dior's 19th century apartment in Paris prevails throughout his business. The furnishings, walls, stairways and all take you back fifty years. Dior ordered it made that way.

His employees know they are on a winning team and all speak of the boss with awe.

Anti Segregation Drive Is Seen By Negro Group

By PAUL BOLTON
Herald Austin Bureau

AUSTIN. — Texans watching the negro education problem in this state may now look forward to:

1. Efforts of additional negroes to enroll in the University for professional or graduate courses not obtainable at negro colleges.

2. Trial of the Hearne case, a date for which may be set at the March term of Federal court in Waco.

Meanwhile those who have observed the litigation in the Heman Marion Sweatt case over a period of some two years now say that the evidence is piled up that the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People are aiming at a breakdown of segregation laws but would accept segregated schools if they are equal. This particularly is true in elementary schools.

It was learned that the same attorneys who prosecuted the Sweatt case are taking part in the Hearne case — W. J. Durham of Dallas and Thurgood Marshall of Washington, the national NAACP attorney. This clearly indicates for the first time that the NAACP has taken up the Hearne case.

The state of Texas, through the Attorney General, will take part in the Hearne case only from the standpoint of the overall problem of segregation. According to Assistant Attorney General Joe Greenhill, the Hearne trustees have employed Wright Morrow of Houston to represent them. Morrow is a member of the state-wide committee now making an exhaustive study of Texas education. It will be up to Morrow and his colleagues to show that "equal educational opportunity" exists.
