THURSDAY IS

By Staff Writer

Thursday night the Connellee Theater assumed the bearing and appearance of a courtroom, and in that courtroom the Little Theater took its patrons through a murder trial under the title of "The Night of January 16. From the first burst of applause which was given in recognition of a masterful job done on the set, to the final curtain, the actors held the audience with their plendid portrayals of the characters assigned them. The play presented to the Eastland people one of the best balanced casts, one of the smoothest running productions that has been given by this organization. It moved rapidly to the culmination and held the interest throughout through its novel way of development. The jury to try this case of murder was chosen from the aulience and rendered an actual verlict on the basis of the evidence presented by the prosecution and The jurors chosen were: Miss Margaret Quinn, Mrs. Carl Springer, Mrs. Brice Taylor, Mrs. Jack Ammer, Sam Morirson A. H. Furse, Joe Stephen, K. B. anner, Curtis Hertig, James

Cheatham, Norris Wilson, and R.

Perkins. It is hard to single out any inlividual performance for special ommendation, for the cast was very well balanced and each characterization blended in and found its place in a manner which is unusual in nno-professional produc ions. The brunt of the play was borne by the two attorneys, John D. Harvey and Maurice A. Harkins, who carried their witnesses along at a rapid clip and carried the play to its climax in excellent fashion. Louise Weaver, as Karen Andre, the defendant, draws special praise for her sympathetic portrayal of a difficult characterization. Mrs. O. S. Black, and Robert S. Searls deserve their way in which they interpreted their characters. Also filling their assignments most capably were: Eura Jones, Patsy Hodges, Bernice Stephen, Vera McLeroy, ouise McCord, R. V. Galloway, Roy Birmingham, Roscoe Stewart. Wade Thomas, Don Russell, Walk-

Tom Earnest, and Bill Moore. Particular mention should given the setting of the play. It was the most effective Little Theater has thus far presented. The courtroom was modernistic in design and was done in vory with copper trimmings, and was striking in its appearance. The set was designed by Don Russell and executed with the assistance of Bill Moore. The organization is fortunate o have Virginia Weaver as its dierctor, and whatever success the play of last evening enjoyed is y responsible for the feeling of the characters, and smooth, wellcoordinated way in which the play went off, observers said.

er Germany, J. L. Cottingham,

The Little Theater is to be congratulated on its production which calls for more of the same high

Portraits of High Court Judges Will Be Hung In Capitol

By United Press

AUSTIN, Tex .- Portraits in oil of all the judges who have been members of the Texas supreme court or of the two commissions to assist the court will soon be presented formally to the present court.

. The portraits are being placed on the walls of the court's hearing room, in the office, and on corridors. The presentation will be made during the meeting of the State Bar Association which will convene in Austin on June 29.

The collection was gathered by Judge Ocie Speer, former member of the supreme court commission. Some of the portraits of early judges were obtained by reproducing pictures of them found in far-away states.

'A Nice War Would Be Good for Business'

Somehow you never actually find the fellow who says, and sticks by it, that "a nice little war would be good for business."

Such sentiments seem to be in the back of some people's minds. You hear such sentiments implied, but you never pin the remark down to any single responsible person who is willing to stick to it.

Just how good for business another war would be is indicated by the tax proposal just launched in the Senate. the most sweeping tax measure ever to gain majority approval in that body. Fifty senators are reported to have signed their approval, though it is likely that many of them never read it.

The bill would provide "steeply graduated income and other taxes," mounting to 98.9 per cent. Up to $4000, the taxes would be held down to 4.5 per cent, but for $10,-000 incomes, taxes would reach 26.4 per cent, and for $20,-000 incomes taxes would be up to 51.2 per cent. And if any person's or any corporation's war profits rose to $10,000,-000 in a year, the government woul dget $9,890,210, or 98.9 per cent of it.

Nobody can object to the principle that at a time when many men are made to give their lives, other men should be made to give their money, any or all of it.

But such a proposal runs into interesting complications. It leaves out of account state and local taxes. For instance, one calculation is that a $500,000 income in New York would not only all be taken by the government, but the man who received it would owe $26,130 in addition. A New Yorker with $100,000 income would have $2030 left after paying federal and state taxes, and one who made $1,000,000 would owe state and federal governments $61,-130 more than his entire taxable income. He might even have to dig down into the barrel for a couple of gilt-edged

What corporations would do to build up reserves against future emergencies under such a regime is not stated.

It is unlikely that such a bill will pass, despite its enthusiastic reception. But it is well that it has been introduced.

It will show to any lackwit who has any lingering idea of profiting out of a "nice little war," that the pickings Makes Clean Streets-Streets are going to be mighty slim the next time, if there are any and alleys are cleaned up, repair- cleaning up and repairing your pickings at all.
