GORDON (OBIE) BRISTOW

The former star full of the University of Oklahoma, familiar figure here several years, last night was selected head coach and director of athletics at Big Spring high school. See story on page 9.

HOMETOWN TALK

BY BEDDY

TOMORROW in a number of the wide-awake stores of Big Spring you will be afforded powerful testimony that merchandise prices are becoming lower.

Another of those popular selling events that are so profitable to Herald readers, a Dollar Day, will be held Thursday.

As usual the merchants will employ Herald space. By this medium they can reach more people quicker and attract their attention to a greater degree, they are convinced.

In today's Herald you will find the Dollar Day advertisements.

Read them carefully. Use them tomorrow when you go shopping. You will in this manner be enabled to buy a number of things you need, and at tremendous saving. Dollars will be worth more in these stores tomorrow than they have been for a long, long time in this section.

The school board finally disposed of the coach problem.

That our new coach, Obie Bristow, knows football is quite certain. That he knew how to play it is the sort of fellow who will "take" with the players is also quite safe to predict. And that he is a good showman, has been proven by several episodes of his life.

The fans who have been clamoring so incessantly for a "big" team, a "good" team etc. should now spend their efforts by supporting Obie. This support should be directed where it will be most useful.

We have already and repeatedly expressed our lack of interest and confidence in one of these "colonization" movements attached to a football team. There is, when measured in terms of educational values, no more reason for moving a family in from some distant point because there is a good football player in it than there would be to move it in to gain a darned good algebra student.

High school football should pay its own way but it should not be depended upon to produce large profits. If you have a great team and a colorful one you will have extra cash piled up at the end.

Two Stores Are Entered By Burglars

Clarence Saunders No. 1 and Tim's Latest Victims

Four negroes were being questioned by Chief of Police E. A. Long today regarding the robbery of Clarence Saunders Store No. 1, Scurry Street, Tuesday night. Two robberies were reported to the police and sheriff's departments today. Tim's Grocery and Market, Runnels Street, being looted in addition to the Saunders store.

Groceries, meat, cigarettes and tobacco valued at $200 to $300 were found in the rear of the Saunders Grocery at 1:30 a. m. An automobile bearing Howard county license, was found in the alley. The car is said to belong to one of the negroes.

The loot had been stacked in the rear of the store preparatory to being loaded in the automobile, police officials declared. Bars covering a back window had been pried away from the inside of the building.

Entrance was gained through a trap transom in the front of the building. The attempted robbery was discovered by night patrolmen, who notified Ralph Linck, a manager of the store.

The negroes were arrested today, fingerprinted and held for questioning by city officials.

Approximately $100 worth of canned goods, groceries, tobacco and cigarettes were taken from the Tim's Grocery. Entrance was gained by breaking a glass in the front door, and releasing the lock. Cash amounting to $150 was taken from a register in the store.

The robbery was discovered when the place was opened for business this morning.

The negroes held in the Saunders robbery denied participation in it.

Entrance to the Saunders store, marked the fourth robbery there since the business was opened.

60,000 At Work After Idleness

NEW YORK, Jan. 7 (AP)—Work and pay for upwards of 60,000 persons beneath the spreading smoke of new-built or rebuilt factory fires is industrial America's new year contribution to employment.

Orders for rails, for rail cars, for steamships, for corn products, for hardware, explosives, for locomotives, for automobiles, plumbing and window glass as well as dwindling stocks of once overproduced textiles are demanding the laying-on of erstwhile idle hands.

Advices from industrial sections, taking no account of construction, revealed in some cases enough factory reconversion to alleviate materially local conditions. Added was the indication of numerous plants about to start or restart in which no estimate was made of the number of men expected to be employed.

Monoplane Makes Bermuda Hop Safely

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Jan. 7 (AP)—A monoplane Tradenwind arrived here at 11:55 p. m. The graceful white ship, carrying Mrs. Beryl Hart and Lieutenant William S. MacLaren, skidded down to a pretty landing in Hamilton Harbor at 12:35 E. S. T.

DONATES $10

Contribution of $10 to the Cemetery Association by T. W. Ashley was announced by John F. Wolcott, treasurer.

Ballots For Selection of 10 C-C Directors Mailed

Ballots were mailed Tuesday night to all members of the Chamber of Commerce—that is all firms and individuals paying membership dues—for voting on ten directors to serve during 1931 and 1932. The nominations number 20, ten to be elected. Ten of the 20 elective directors' terms hold over to January 1, 1932.

The ten men receiving the largest number of votes will be elected. Polls are open now and will close January 15, at 4 p. m. All members are strongly urged to vote and to bring their ballots or mail them to the Chamber's offices so that they will be in that place before 4 p. m. January 15.

Those nominated are: T. W. Ashley, The Texas company; Carl Blomfield, Texas Electric Service company; Cecil Collings, justice of the peace; J. B. Collins, Big Spring Building & Loan association; C. W. Cunningham, druggist; Joseph Ed-

Conservation Of Fuel Topic Of T&P Meet

Safety Also Discussed Before Engineers, Trainmen

Headed by L. E. Dix, fuel supervisor, a group of Texas & Pacific Railway company officials were met here Tuesday evening by more than 85 engineers, trainmen and mechanical department supervisors in a fuel conservation and safety session in the special instruction car of the fuel supervisor.

Speakers were Mr. Dix, Ollie B. Webb, assistant to the president; O. F. Ellington, general claim agent; A. P. Prendergast, mechanical superintendent; A. E. Pistole, division superintendent.

Mr. Dix disclosed that a 99 per cent record of efficiency was made last year on operation of hot boxes.

He predicted an upturn in business of the company in the next 60 days.

The men were called upon to join in a determined effort to save 5 per cent in fuel this year. This would reduce fuel consumption 300,000 barrels of fuel oil, or 1,250 car loads. Mr. Dix pointed out the unusual record established during the past year, when the Texas & Pacific ranked second in fuel conservation among all roads in the country doing more than $25,000,000 in business annually.

Ellington Heard
Mr. Ellington urged the men to continue their splendid work toward promotion of safety of employees and passengers. He said that in 1931 the safety section of the American Railway Association called on all roads to reduce injuries to employees 35 per cent by 1930. This goal was met and a new call for additional reduction of 33 1-3 per cent by 1933, has been issued.

Mr. Prendergast, veteran mechanical superintendent and one of the outstanding authorities on locomotive maintenance and operation, said that efficient maintenance and operation of locomotives on the T&P was being effected not only through proper upkeep of the equipment but also because of the high standard of efficiency reached by engineers and trainmen who operate the trains.

The Texas & Pacific's fine record is recognized by chief mechanical officers of other lines and the bureau of locomotive inspection and maintenance of the Interstate commerce commission.

The commissions' inspection bureau recently wrote President John L. Lancaster that for the six months of its fiscal year, ending January 1, the commission's corps of inspectors did not find a defect in T&P locomotives.

Mr. Prendergast
"I believe we shall continue to operate our trains in safety to our men, economy for the road and in promotion of the comfort of our passengers and shippers," said Mr. Prendergast.

A feature of the meeting was a motion picture exhibition which included safety pictures of various types and a feature, the motion picture record of the Centenary Exposition of the Baltimore & Ohio, held last year. Mr. Prendergast started his career on the B&O, the pioneer in the industry in this country.

The pictures showed the development of transportation in the United States from the crude devices used by Indians through the various

Buffalo Trail Leaders To Hold Annual Session

Annual meeting of the Buffalo Trail Area Council Boy Scouts of America, will be held here Tuesday afternoon and evening, January 27, according to an announcement by A. C. Williamson, area executive.

J. P. Fitch, regional director for Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico, will be principal speaker.

A nominations committee to recommend officers for the year is named as follows: Roy W. Thompson, Sweetwater; chairman; W. W. Porter, Colorado; Calude O. Crane, Midland; W. B. Hardy, Big Spring.

An auditing committee has been selected, with C. E. Paxton, auditor of the Gulf Refining Company, Sweetwater, chairman, and W. W. Davis, and J. W. Butler.

Group and committee meetings will be held in the afternoon and a banquet in the evening.

C. S. Holmes, Big Spring, is the retiring president.

Marshal Joffre Laid To Rest In Les Invalides

PARIS, Jan. 7 (AP)—The body of Marshal Joffre, hero of the Marne, rested today in Les Invalides, hall of French immortals, whose massive dome shelters the bodies of Napoleon and Foch.

Two million Parisians braved freezing weather to stand outside Notre Dame and along the route to Les Invalides for hours while the funeral cortege in sombre ceremony, proceeded from the cathedral to the temporary resting place of the man who saved France from the invaders of 1914.

In front of the Invalides war veterans who had "suffered" wounds while serving under "Papa" Joffre were given seats of honor while Senator Louis Barthou, minister of war and personal friend of the marshal, extolled his services to his country.

State Loses Attempt To Acquire Humble Field Land

AUSTIN, Jan. 7 (AP)—Definitely ending litigation brought by the state to establish claim to 237 acres of the Humble oil field, the supreme court today denied a motion for rehearing in the so-called "Blaffer case" brought by the state against R. L. Blaffer and others.

After gaining a judgment of $129,705 in district court, the state lost its first battle when the court of civil appeals reversed this judgment. The supreme court denied a writ of error and today's action overruled a motion for a rehearing of that denial.

While it was not known whether Attorney General Allred would ask a second time for a rehearing, or attempt to carry the question to federal courts it was pointed out that no questions of federal law were involved, thus minimizing the possibility of an appeal to the United States supreme court.

The supreme court set for oral arguments January 21, the Blaffer case, involving "Rule 37" of the state railroad commission. This rule prescribes distances which oil wells must be from each other. Aside from the specific question, the authority of the commission to promulgate such rules was raised.

Long Muscle Shoals Fight May Be Ended

House Conferees Agree To Government Building Lines

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 (AP)—The long-standing deadlock between the house and senate on Muscle Shoals legislation was broken today when the house conferees agreed to government building of power transmission lines.

This was the major point in controversy between the two houses. Conferees said they believe it may open the way for final disposition at this session of the 10 year old problem of what to do with the government's $150,000,000 power plant on the Tennessee river at Muscle Shoals, Alabama.

The agreement was reached when three of the five house conferees capitulated to the senate demands for government construction of transmission lines from the power plant without further congressional action.

Representatives Wurzbach, Republican, Texas, made the agreement possible when he joined Representatives Fisher, Democrat, Tennessee, and Quinn, Democrat, Mississippi, in accepting the senate terms.

Representatives Reece, of Tennessee, and Ransley, of Pennsylvania, Republicans, voted against the compromise.

Separators McNary, Republican, Oregon, and Norris, Republican, Nebraska, voted for the agreement, with Senator Smith, Democrat, South Carolina, opposed to it.

S. E. J. Cox On Trial Again

Roger D. Mooney Co-Defendant In Mail Fraud Charge

FORT WORTH, Jan. 7 (AP)—A half dozen witnesses took the stand in quick succession in federal court today in the mail fraud trial of S. E. J. Cox and Roger D. Mooney to identify letters allegedly sent out by the defendants to attract investments in the stock of the Original Developers Pool.

The government charges that representatives of Cox and Mooney in regard to the pool were false, painting pictures of handsome returns when in reality the chances of profit were slight. The indictment names Cox, Mooney and L. E. Aven in promotion of the Original Developers Pool and an enterprise conducted under the name of Clay Wilson.

The trial of Aven was continued by Judge Ritter when a defense attorney presented a physician's certificate showing the defendant is ill.

Witnesses who testified they received promotion letters from the company were J. Askeland of Fresno, Calif., H. J. Guyer of Brownwood, L. E. Jamison of Chicago, L. L. Life of Amite, La., J. R. Randall of Chicago, and F. J. Zeller of Chicago.

L. S. Bolling, employed at the time of the promotion in the office of Clay Wilson, testified that the literature of the concern was prepared by Cox, Wilson was indicted in 1928 with the three defendants of the present case, but was not brought to trial.

Plane Crash Kills Three

Everett Williams, Art Brown, Ralph Wilson, Fall Near Marshall

MARSHALL, Tex., Jan. 7 (AP)—Three persons were killed when a Wedell-Williams passenger plane crashed eight miles west of here today.

The dead: Art Brown, pilot. Everett Williams, of New Orleans. Ralph Wilson, 15, of Fort Worth.

The accident happened in an isolated section, roads to which were almost impassable and it was difficult to get details of the crash. A farmer reported the accident and persons who went to the scene had not returned at 2:30 p. m.

The plane left Dallas this morning with New Orleans as its destination.

It was the second airplane accident in this section this week, a ship having crashed near Overton Sunday morning killing the pilot and two passengers. It was flying from Shreveport to Dallas.

Revival Draws Larger Crowds

The Methodist revival being conducted in the Nazarene church's building on the east side by Rev. W. M. Whitley and Rev. J. W. Bickley of Garden City, is progressing nicely. Congregations are increasing in size, with good singing and fine music. Mr. Hartman, local bandmaster, is assisting with the music. "Fighting For God" is the subject announced for this evening at the service beginning at 7:30 up a point, then lost its gain.

Stock Market Has Strong Tone, Sales of 2,200,000 Shares Made

NEW YORK, Jan. 7 (AP)—Share prices advanced further today, and the market closed with a strong tone. Transactions approximated 2,200,000 shares. Good-year rose 6 points on declaration of the regular dividend. Rails were strong. Atlantic Coast Line shot up 9, and such issues as New York Central, Baltimore & Ohio, Southern Pacific, Missouri Pacific preferred and Atchafalaya gained 2 to more than 4. Industrials and utilities, gaining 2 to more than 3 included air reduction, National Steel, American Power & Light, Byers, Vanadium, and Republic Steel preferred. U. S. Steel sold at the service beginning at 7:30 up a point, then lost its gain.

SPORT SLANTS

By Alan Gould

Business conditions will accomplish what the Carnegie Foundation's report failed to do in respect to some features of alleged over-emphasis in college sports.

Lack of funds, for example, will force many an institution to curtail or eliminate altogether the spring junkets of baseball and track squads into warmer climes. The same influence, likely will bring about economy in the spring football practice program. In short, the luxuries that accompanied the boom days of big surpluses in the college treasuries will be conspicuous by their absence this year.

Training tables, coaching staffs, and equipment requirements all will be scanned a little more closely by those who handle the athletic funds.

In the main essentials, business on the campus will be going on as usual, but with a few exceptions it will take more juggling in 1931 than in any recent year to make the collegiate budget balance.

More than one loyal alumnus of the dear old college must have felt a twinge or two when Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler proposed alumni endowment of athletics to do away with the "harmful influence" of gate receipts.

The good doctor must be aware that at his own institution, Columbia, only the most generous sort of "endowment" by prominent alumni has made it possible for the Blue and White to engage such coaching talent as the late Percy Houghton, Young Dick Glendon, Lou Little and several years ago, to make an offer that had Knute Rockne all ready for a jump from South Bend to New York.

All over the country alumni have been taking the blame for many of the alleged collegiate athletic ills, also footing many of the bills. They monopolize the tickets for the "classics," such as those involving the old eastern Big Three, thereby furnishing much of the "endowment" for sports at Harvard, Yale and Princeton.

It is because of the virtual isolation of the general public from the ticket sales for the most traditional of the big football games that other enterprising institutions have been able so successfully to ballyhoo their games for fandom at large. Some colleges have attempted at times to discourage the publicity given to individual performers; but, generally speaking, they welcome the headlines and the cameramen, consequently stimulating public interest. Without this interest big stadia would be a curiosity and athletic plants would be far from furnishing the student advantages they do today.

Speaking of the old Big Three, there is a distinct movement on foot to patch up the differences between Harvard and Princeton, which broke off relations after their memorable football battle of 1926 at Cambridge.

Alumni groups have been busy for some time trying to smooth things out, and a conspicuous figure in the latest peace move is

NEW YORK—From England has come a champion to run away with American laurels. It may result in nothing more than some polite conversation for the time being, but Milburn has a habit of seeing things through. Certainly it seems that many of the animosities of four years ago have vanished, stirred up as they were by undergraduate jabs, so that the moment may be ripe for reconciliation.

Standard To Buy Distress Crude

CHICAGO, Jan. 7 (AP)—Edward G. Seibert, president of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana announced it has arranged to purchase a quantity of Kansas and Oklahoma distress oil through its subsidiaries.

"Without waiting for termination of negotiations for relief of oil well owners, subsidiaries of Standard of Indiana have arranged to make their own physical connections with leases adjacent to their lines," Mr. Seibert said. "As a result Stanolind companies soon will be taking 12,238 barrels daily from wells in Kansas and Oklahoma cut off by Prairie in December and on January 1."

Similar action by other purchasers, Mr. Seibert said, will provide a market for 15,000 barrels daily from stripper wells, leaving 15,000 to scattered and too distant from the lines of purchasing companies seem to like auto plates numbered to be marketed except through the Prairie gathering line.

"While purchasers have done much for distressed producers in providing outlets for all but 15,000 barrels of oil from independent wells cut off by Prairie, President Seibert said, "it is difficult to do more unless Prairie can cooperate."

Wilbur Out Against Oil Tariff Move

Majors Would Only Open
Wells, Boosting Output
He Says

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 (AP)—Secretary Wilbur has declared himself against a tariff on oil.

Such a tariff, as proposed by some of the leading producers and recently by E. B. Reeser, president of the American Petroleum Institute, would be of little value to the small producer, the secretary asserted.

"The chief result," he said, "would be that the big companies, which now have many wells shut in and not in operation, would open them up, adding to the production. Overproduction is the bane of the industry."

"Besides this," he added, "our imports of petroleum are negligible, forming only about 10 per cent of the production. Our exports account for 15 per cent of the total production."

The secretary, who is chairman of the federal oil conservation board, said in his opinion America should import most of its oil, and save its own supply for some future day.

"In the future," he asserted, "the country with the oil will dominate civilization. In it will be centered the wealth. America must conserve her supply."

Utilization of oil fields, if adopted several years ago, he said, would have solved many of the problems of the industry.

Governors of the leading producing states have been called to meet in Washington January 15 by Governors Holloway and Reed of Oklahoma and Kansas, to seek relief for the industry. Governors of Texas, Louisiana, Arkansas, Colorado, Wyoming, New Mexico, Montana and California have been invited.

Although the oil conservation board intends to assist the governors wherever possible, Wilbur pointed out it lacked power to take authoritative steps. He called attention to the action of the "same governors" at the Colorado Springs oil conference called by President Hoover in June, 1929, in rejecting his proposal for an agreement between the states on strict enforcement of conservation.

"The governors will be reminded of that when they assemble," Wilbur said.

Another Cut In Oil Output Is Registered

54,637 Barrels Lopped
Off; Dropped 100,000
In Two Weeks

TULSA, Okla., Jan. 7 (AP)—Another sharp decline—54,637 barrels—was registered in the country's daily average crude oil production last week with California again setting the pace, the Oil and Gas Journal's estimate shows. Production totaled 2,089,437 barrels.

In the last two weeks the daily average output has dropped more than 100,000 barrels, reaching the lowest level since the summer of 1926.

California's decrease last week was 27,750 and carried that state's production down to 538,500 barrels. A new rationing program went into effect in California fields recently.

The midcontinent area contributed 20,647 barrels to the downward movement. The area's yield was 1,074,828 barrels. The largest declines in the area were in Oklahoma, where production was down 9,020 at 43,745 barrels, and in West Texas, where a drop of 5,839 barrels carried the output to 240,155. Kansas production was 108,210, a decrease of 10 barrels.

Eastern production totaled 109,000 barrels, or 1,000 under the preceding week's figure, while the Rocky Mountain area showed a gain of 2,095 barrels with an output of 102,119.

The Old Order Changes

WHEN the Census Bureau announced recently that more than 50 per cent of the nation's inhabitants are now considered as "city folks," it merely stated a fact which has been going on for a good many years.

A predominantly rural nation for most of its existence, the United States in late years has taken to moving off the farm and into the cities at a great rate. In one year the typical American was a man from the open country, a man familiar with growing things and wide fields and the smell and feel of the warm earth. A few years hence he will be a city man, to whom all of these things are strange; a man used to artificiality and clutter and pretense and business, whose notion of a fine and home-like sight is a glimpse of the tops of skyscrapers outlined against the morning sky, instead of a vista of rolling countryside stretching up from a yellow-lined stream.

And when that change is completed, the American that we are used to will be gone, and a different kind of nation will be in existence. Very likely it will be quite as good a place to live, but it will be different, and some of us will probably feel rather out of place in it.

Of course, there is a connecting factor: the Census Bureau is exaggerating a little. In its list of city dwellers it counts all people who live in towns that have as many as 2,500 inhabitants, and some day you might just try telling a New Yorker or a Chicagoan that a man from a town of that size isn't a city man and see what he says to you.

However, the trend is there, and the important thing right now is to try to figure out what it is going to mean.

There will be less isolation in it, for one thing. Every man will have more neighbors. There will be less simplicity and more sophistication. There will be more people who know what the big, big, big trick of the year is, and fewer who know what the song of the meadow-lark sounds like; more people who can remain unembar-rassed in the presence of a lordly headwaiter, and fewer who can tell how to treat a hen that wants to "nest" when there is no call for any more young chickens.

More people, who can drive skillfully in city traffic, and fewer who know what it is like to lounge at ease on an odorous load of newly-mown hay. And whether these things will total up to a net gain or a net loss is something that we can only guess at now.

At any rate, there is no change in waiting about it. The change is going on, whether we like it or not.
All we can do is make up our minds to get used to it. The reign of rural America is over. Eventually we shall be predominantly a nation of city folks.

OPINIONS OF OTHERS

The Life Blood of the Country

By Harrison National Bank
IT IS MOST CURIOUS to read time and again, especially in connection with the steel industry's future prospects, that the railroad booming shortly give an uplift to that industry. If one surveys the tremendous handicaps the railroads are struggling under in the way of taxes, rates, bus, truck and barge competition, etc., resulting in increased earnings—the question is to where they are to ultimately get the credit for this big purchasing power remains a mystery.

We might well assume that in many cases railroads have been unjustly discriminated against, because the State, needing revenue, traveled along the line of least resistance, and imposed upon the railroad corporations the burden of supplying this revenue, and thus avoided the clamor that would arise if other sources were tapped.
This has eaten into the railroad finances so vitally that the Interstate Commerce Commission would be entirely justified in revising the rates fixed for the carrying of freight and passengers, so that the tax over and above the fair amount properly chargeable against the corporation would be absorbed in its charges. In order to help the railroads carry the burden of continually mounting costs, new legislation, if necessary, should be brought, so as to bring within juisdiction of the Commission, if it is lacking in power, interstate buses and trucks carrying freight, so that the unfair competition which now works so strongly in favor of these short-haul carriers and results in taking away from the railroads the more profitable business, leaving it only the less profitable long-haul, might be remedied. It is impossible for a railroad that has bought and paid for its roadbed, the up-keep of it, and the expensive terminals in important cities, upon all of which it must, in addition, pay enormous taxes, to successfully hold its own against the competitor who has no such conditions to meet, and on the contrary has the right of way, namely, the public highway, donated to its use, and whose terminals are the public streets. Highways, to be of full service to the users thereof must be maintained in a high degree of effectiveness.

Those who pay taxes for the maintenance of the highways are bewildered with the fact that they pay for the actual use of the highway, and are, more or less, "free-riders" in their particular line. Prosperity in the country cannot ensue unless the railroads are treated fairly. It is not a case of "Dog Eat Dog" but rather one of "Live and Let Live."

How Is Your HEALTH?

Edited by Dr. Isaac Goldstein for the American Academy of Medicine
FOOD VALUE OF MILK
A series of experiments recently was conducted at the University of Illinois in which the food values of raw milk were compared with those of pasteurized milk.

The value of these experiments is to be found in the following:
Health authorities are agreed that with the exception of breast milk fed by a healthy mother to a nursed infant, all milk to be used for human consumption should be pasteurized.

In certain quarters, however, it was objected that heating milk destroyed a portion of its food value, and under the influence of this impression raw milk has been considered as more healthy than pasteurized milk.

The experiments were undertaken as a test of these assertions.
Two sets of comparable experimental animals were fed—one raw milk, the other, pasteurized milk.

They received no other food, but to guard against the possibility of vitaminous yeast and mold being mixed in with the milk.

Both sets of animals were compared on the basis of general physical appearance, health during the period of the experiments, weight and growth as well as chemical composition of their bones.

The experiment was repeated three times. In none of them was it found that the animals fed pasteurized milk were in any respect less healthy or less well-developed than those fed on raw milk.

On the contrary during one experiment all animals fed on raw milk became ill and most of them died of an intestinal disturbance.
Pasteurized milk, then, has no less food value than raw milk. It is, however, much more safe. The heating process does destroy some of the vitamin quality of the milk. This may, however, be overcome by including in the diet cod liver oil, fruits, and vegetables.

Hollywood Signs

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD—If America really requires a good five-cent cigar, Clara Bow has had a great vehicle
—a movie vehicle.

giving her opportunity to display
what she has in the acting line.
Now, at last, the studio for which she has been a coining machine money these several years has heard her plea, and soon a "new Clara" will be on the screen.

The story, yet untitled, will have Gary Cooper
in a co-starring role, which indicates the sincerity of the studio's effort to give her a chance. For Cooper has been rising steadily in ability and popularity.

CLARA GETS HER CHANCE
Clara, despite or because of the publicity given her various recent difficulties, has remained a money-maker at the box-office even with weak vehicles. She long has wanted to do something better, and this apparently is her chance.

Another actress, whose desire for better roles led to a protracted dispute with her studio, has achieved her aim in "The Man Who Came Back," in which Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell are together again.
Janet had rebelled at the light musical assignments given her, and this was her first picture since her return. Her role is that of a sweet young girl who goes to the depths and rises again with the man she loves, who has sunk equally low.
It will be interesting to see how the fans accept her as a bedfellow.

at long intervals, Leona's said so-

"I've been going over in my mind how your Aunt Amelia used to come up here when she was a little girl. Kinda careless and happy-go-lucky Amelia were, but awful tender she was always standing up for everybody she felt sorry for—your, mama specially. She were awful fond of your mama."

"Sheila sat up and shook her hair out of her eyes.
"Leona, if I wrote to Aunt Amelia would she tell me?"

"I can't rightly say," answered Leona cautiously. "But if she wanted to tell you, she wouldn't pay no attention if your grandma told her she wasn't to. She never told your grandma too serious, like your papa and all the family do. If Amelia felt your grandma were in the wrong she's just as soon lay her out as anybody. But I should not want you should say that I put you up to writing her."

"I won't," Sheila promised happily.
An embryo resolve, long gestating in Leona's heart and brain, finally took shape and form.

"If you should happen to write your Aunt Amelia," she said slowly and portentously, "you put this in exactly same as I'm telling you.
Your write, Leona says she aren't one for interfering, but to tell you you ought to know Miss Fanny ain't never been treated right."

"I'll write it down right away, before I forget," Sheila promised.
In London, 10 days later, Amelia found a letter from her mother at the top of a heavy breakfast mail.
"Sheila's tried to run away again—wanted to spend Christmas with Fanny," Amelia told her husband. "They headed her off, but Mother's terribly upset and bitter.
Serves her right—David too. I don't care what Fanny did, it's an outrage not to let her see her own child occasionally."

She worked slowly through her mail. At the bottom was a small pink envelope addressed in a childish hand.
"Dear Aunt Amelia," she read.
"Will you please tell me what my mother did? It's terribly important for me to know. Grandmother says my mother is a bad woman.
Amelia told me to tell you she aren't one for interfering, but you ought to know Miss Fanny ain't never been treated right. Daddy says Leona thinks you are the smartest person in the world, and I guess maybe she knows. Your loving niece, Sheila Frost. P. S. Love to Uncle Clark."

Having no children of her own, Amelia's heart was especially tender for David's little daughter.

"Why, you're crying. What's the matter?" demanded Clark. Amelia threw him the letter.

"Poor kid," said Clark. "This is a good deal of a poser. What are you going to write her?"
"I'm not going to write her anything," sniffed Amelia. "I never have been altogether satisfied about Fanny. Now that Leona has sent for me I'm taking the first boat for New York."

A Romance of Radio

MASKED LONGING

BY HOWARD ROCKEY

From behind the scenes of the stage, radio and art worlds comes this vivid drama of romance, hopes and intrigue.
The careers of two charming sisters, one an actress and the other a model, are wrecked just as both are within sight of fame

Out of this tragedy emerges an alluring, mysterious woman, hiding behind a porcelain mask the anguish and longing for what seems beyond her grasp.

Her brilliant struggle against misfortune and intrigue is an intensely modern, realistic and fast-moving story.

Starts Sunday, January 10

CLUBSMrs. Joye M. Fisher Chosen To Head City Federation
For Coming Term

Organization Begins to Plan for District Meet of Women's Federated Clubs to Be Held Here in Spring

The City Federation completed its roll of officers yesterday for the coming year.

Mrs. Joye Fisher was elected president; Mrs. E. O. Ellington, vice-president; Mrs. Robert Finer, recording secretary; and Mrs. L. L. Freeman, corresponding secretary.

The emphasis for the next six months, says Mrs. Fisher, will not be laid on paying the club house debt, as it has been for the past few years, but in cooperating to make the district meeting of the federation of Women's Clubs, which comes here in the spring, a success worthy of the city.

North Ward
P.T.A. Meets
This Friday

The North Ward P.T.A. has decided to hold its social meeting on Friday instead of Thursday.

The meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Ben Carpenter.

Members are asked to bring with them scissors, thimble, a nine-inch square of printed material and a six-inch square of plain material to harmonize with the print. They will work on the Dutch Doll quilt which the P.T.A. is making for sale.

RADIO

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD
Associated Press Radio Editor
NEW YORK, Jan. 7. (AP)—Description of the third annual American air races at Miami, Fla., and the first of a Sunday symphony concert series for the benefit of unemployed musicians to enliven the week-end on the radio.

The air races will go on from 3 to 4 p. m. (EST) Saturday to listeners of the WABC chain, with Ted Husing at the microphone. Ted is to tell about the five races and other exhibitions which will take place in the hour.

Several speakers are to be heard, including Rear Admiral William A. Moffatt, chief of the bureau of aeronautics of the Navy.

The symphony concert, to be transmitted by the combined WEAF-WJZ networks from 10 to 11 a. m. (EST) Sunday, will be presented by 200 musicians from the stage of the Roxy theater, New York before a visible as well as a radio audience.

The concerts have been arranged through the cooperation of S. L. (Roxy) Rothafel and the National Broadcasting company, the purpose being to provide help for unemployed musicians. Sunday's program, the first of several such broadcasts, is to be sent from coast to coast.

Try these on your radio tonight: First of a new WJZ series at 8:45 (EST) to include an orchestra and two male vocalists, going also to KDKA, WGAR, WJR, WIBO, KWK, WREN.

Toscha Seidel playing French violin selections of a seventeenth century via the WABC hookup at 1:30.

William A. Jones, president of the National Electric Light Association, as speaker with the old counselor, WEAF chain, at 8. Ruth Ething as guest artist in the pleasure hour, WJZ set-up at 1:30.

"The Thriller," the third experimental radio play on WABC and stations at 9.

Luella Melius as soloist with the Columbia concert program to the WABC chain at 9:30.

Rut Goldberg, cartoonist, being interviewed by Grantland Rice, WEAF and hookup at 9:30.

Called Meeting
Of Study Club
Held Yesterday

The Big Spring Study Club met for a called meeting yesterday afternoon at the Settles Hotel.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. Charles Koberg presided.

The roll call was answered by current events in Texas.

Texas' own declaration of Independence was read by Mrs. W. J. Riggs.

Mrs. C. S. Ditts gave a reading, "Daughter of Mendoza" by Marabeau Bonaparte Lamar.

Mrs. J. C. Lane prepared a paper reviewing the outstanding men and events while Texas was a republic.

She was unable to attend.

Mrs. Shelton Smith read the paper for her.

Mrs. J. B. Delbridge gave a talk on literacy now in Texas.

The club will meet in regular session again next Tuesday.

Those present were: Mesdames C. S. Ditts, J. B. Delbridge, Charles Koberg, L. S. McDowell, O. H. McAllister, Ada Ramsey, Shelton Smith.

It has been about 20 years, she said, since Big Spring entertained a district meeting. In that time the number of club women has increased, just as the town has grown.

The meeting will last for two or three days only, but several hundred women will attend, if the weather is good. It will be an advertisement for the town that the women, as well as the men, must make worth while.

Mrs. Fisher has not yet appointed her committees for the year. One of the most important on her list, she considers, is the committee in whose charge will be the planning of the district meeting. She intends to appoint women from as many of the study clubs as possible. She asks that they be willing to work with her and the chairman.

In the meantime the study clubs of the city, who will share the responsibility with the federation of being hostesses to the district visitors, are asked to elect representatives to attend the federation meetings. In this way they can learn what is expected of the town.

Mrs. Fisher expects to go to Abilene Saturday, with other officers, to attend a meeting of the clubs of the district. At this meeting the date of the spring convention will be decided.

Relatives of Woman Found Dead Sought

PAMPA, Tex., Jan. 7. (AP)—Authorities here today are seeking to communicate with relatives of a woman known here as Mrs. Carrie Cardwell, but believed to be Mrs. Clyde Felker, formerly of Seminole and Three Sages, Okla., who was found dead in an automobile parked on a street here yesterday.

STINNETT—Grading work begun on new Highway No. 117 pavement north of here to county line.

Mrs. Walter Mann, of Sterling City, who has recently undergone a brain operation in Temple, is said to be doing very well.

CLAUDE TATUM WILL BE THE NEXT HOSTESS FOR THE CLUB

When the family gathers about the hearth at the close of the day, what do you have to offer them? challenged Miss Earle. "Spotless floors, and all the claims carefully set at just the right angle? Better a chair just a bit away—and even a speck of dust!—than that in the accomplishment of this perfection there has been no time or thought for your hair, your figure, your clothes, your complexion and most important of all, that inner you which means so much to them if you could only find the means of expressing it.

"A chemically clean house," she insisted, "with its mistress fallen into a tired rut of nervousness, dullness, indifference, grooming, that deadly sameness of thought and appearance, is not a home. Brooms are important, but the most diligent broom wielding goes not make the most efficient wife and mother.

"And the same principle applies to the attainment of success in any field of woman's work," Miss Earle continued. "The stenographer writes a better letter, the clubwoman delivers a more brilliant address, the saleswoman has a more convincing approach, the teacher makes a surer presentation of her subject, if there is in the background of her mind, that subtle consciousness of her own charm.

"Her look, even though it is inexpensive, is that color which she has learned is most effective for one of her personality. Her eyes she knows appear larger and more brilliant because of that wise discriminating touch. Her coiffure, what a difference it made just to do this little and that little thing! And the most exciting waiting for was it the padding on of a few needed pounds? how sure of herself she is now in that new close fitting gown!

"And the best part about it," Miss Earle gloved, "is that this consciousness of outer charm in some way releases dormant possibilities of mind and personality. New ideas spring, wits are sharpened, there is a keener play of thought in short, with her increase of exterior charm, she has become more efficient."

But how, asks the modern busy woman upon whose time the duties of home or office or schoolroom or club are making such constant demands—how may I learn about these things? What, after all, is charm? Just what, specifically, can I do to develop it in myself?

The answer is to be found in the Herald Charm School. Women who attend it will hear from a woman of exceptional charm the manner in which this most desirable feminine attribute may be cultivated and made to yield a greater happiness for beautiful women and plain women, for business and home women, for young women and old women.

Remember the place, Settles Hotel, set aside dates, Jan. 20-23 on which Miss Earle is to conduct the Herald Charm School in Big Spring so that you too may bear these entertaining and helpful talks.

Let's remember Venus and cease counting our ribs so proudly.

But Venus has not changed. Is she not still beautifully, perfectly, proportioned? Is her figure not the sculptor's ideal? Does she not embody every detail of mathematical perfection of body? Certainly not if the indictment of our drawing room guests is correct? She can't be "fat" and be the world's most perfect specimen of physical perfection.

The discrepancy lies in our own distorted conception of beauty. We have come to regard as "fat" any figure upon which the gauntlets do not hang as from a clothes hanger. Our ideal of beauty is an almost pathological thinness. More than thinness we desire. We yearn for complete emancipation.

I am at a loss to understand this admiration for a body utterly devoid of hips and arms and legs and any other appendances. Certainly it violates every esthetic concept of bodily beauty every artistic concept. It makes the wearing of clothes a more clothes-rack affair; such a thing as fit is impossible. And certainly it places the health in extreme jeopardy.

Now I hasten to protest that I do not yearn for billows of fat. I do not think that pads upon pads of fat are lovely. Excessive fat likewise jeopardizes the health.

But I do maintain that the body which is softly rounded, gently curved, delicately padded with adequate flesh is more beautiful than the angular rail with only one dimension.

Aside from the artistic implications, there is a sweetly feminine quality about the soft curves of the figure that is "in the one dimensional straight up-and-downness."

Clothes are more effective moreover upon the delicately "in" figure. The character of a gown is lost when it hangs limply upon the usual bony shoulders, with no "Tush" to hold it in shape. The contour of the gown, the design, the individuality, is shrouded in a maze of loosely hung folds and creases and sags.

Venus wouldn't be "fat" in her new eastern frock. She would be her own beautiful self. It's only the skeletons who would rattle their bones and creak "She's fat."

Charm Secrets

Herald to Sponsor School Taught By Famous Beauty Expert

Within the heart of every woman there is an instinctive desire to be charming. Probably no adjective in the English language inspires so distinct and spontaneous a feminine thrill as that which a woman experiences when she hears the phrase "What a charming woman!"

This is one of the principal reasons why the Herald has arranged to have Miss Nancy Earle come to Big Spring to conduct one of her widely known Charm Schools that will consist of a series of five talks on health, charm, beauty, and the art of homemaking, personality and kindred subjects, to be given in the Settles Hotel Crystal ballroom from Jan. 20-23.

Miss Earle's Charm Chats have attracted such favorable attention while they have been appearing as a feature in the columns of this newspaper, that it was decided to bring her to this city as a service to the women of the community.

"The woman who does not yearn to be charming and who does nothing to enhance her charm is either abnormal or has a distorted sense of values," Miss Earle said.

"That woman is not quite normal," she said, "who dismisses her own loveliness as keeping the charm as one of life's frivolities not worth the effort. It is as natural and as worthy a desire as the urge of the lark to sing, or the rose to unfold its petals to the sun.

"And if she believes that the time, thought and energy which would be expended in the tending of her own loveliness should be directed solely toward keeping the piano, her sense of value is not accurate.

"Certainly one's house should be well ordered. Food must be well chosen and attractively served. Small ears must be washed behind. Intolerable socks must be darned. But in the multiplicity of these duties the successful housemaker does not forget the important contribution which her own appearance, her mental qualities, her poise—in short, her charm—make to the success of her task of homemaking.

When the family gathers about the hearth at the close of the day, what do you have to offer them? challenged Miss Earle. "Spotless floors, and all the claims carefully set at just the right angle? Better a chair just a bit away—and even a speck of dust!—than that in the accomplishment of this perfection there has been no time or thought for your hair, your figure, your clothes, your complexion and most important of all, that inner you which means so much to them if you could only find the means of expressing it.

"A chemically clean house," she insisted, "with its mistress fallen into a tired rut of nervousness, dullness, indifference, grooming, that deadly sameness of thought and appearance, is not a home. Brooms are important, but the most diligent broom wielding goes not make the most efficient wife and mother.

"And the same principle applies to the attainment of success in any field of woman's work," Miss Earle continued. "The stenographer writes a better letter, the clubwoman delivers a more brilliant address, the saleswoman has a more convincing approach, the teacher makes a surer presentation of her subject, if there is in the background of her mind, that subtle consciousness of her own charm.

"Her look, even though it is inexpensive, is that color which she has learned is most effective for one of her personality. Local Woman
Wins Recognition
For Her Poetry

Mrs. E. R. Watts, who signs herself Ellen Wilson Watts, one of our local poets, is making a name for herself with her poetry.

In the winter number of the Indiana Poetry Magazine, a quarterly published in Mrs. Watts' home state, two of her poems appear.

She is recently sold two poems to the El Paso Herald.

The following was printed in the Indiana Poetry Magazine.

Red Cross Has Huge Fund For Winter Relief

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 (AP)—The Red Cross has an emergency fund of $4,500,000 with which to administer relief to drought sufferers throughout the winter.

This the senate appropriations committee learned today from Chairman Payne, of the organization. He said $440,953 had already been spent.

If its funds are exhausted, he said, the Red Cross will appeal to the American people.

The chairman denied reports of a food riot at England, Ark., last Saturday and related officers of the organization reported to him that 40 men "with some excitement" came into England. He said these men were fed.

Steamship Rams Craft In Harbor

NEW YORK, Jan. 7 (AP)—A Long Island Sound steamship rammed a car float, a freighter sent traffic from liners to ferries in out a distress call, and maritime New York harbor inched its way along today in a heavy fog which followed a January drizzle.

The passenger ship George Washington, bound in from Boston, struck the car float in the East River, pitching three box cars into the water, making the float helpless, and punching a hole in the steamer's bow. Tugs took the float in tow, and the George Washington crept on toward her pier. Several other New England steamers anchored just below Hellgate until the weather cleared.

The William N. Page, bound for Norfolk to Boston with coal, sent out an SOS saying she was aground off Southampton, Long Island, with twenty-five men aboard. Coast guards went to help her.

OBIE BRISTOW NAMED STEER MENTOR

Cosden refinery's cage contingent is ready now to take on the best that Midland has to offer in the loop line. The red and white clad court warriors managed to defeat the Lomax Hornets Monday night. We say managed to; and managed to, is what this department means. Miss Arah Phillips' aggregation wouldn't budge an inch of that hardwood floor the tilt was played on. They work under the correct assumption that one of the ways of winning basketball games is to start fighting the minute the whistle blows, and keep it up until the final blast is blown. Perhaps that is the reason the Hornets dropped the first tilt in twenty-one contests last night. It was a good basketball game, between two crack aggregations; no doubt about that. The Cosden unit was heavier and fitter and taller than the products of the Lomax community, but against the odds the youths staged a brilliant offense and defense, and we think the defense was the greater of the two, against the Cosden gasoline mixers.

However, the victory over Miss Phillips' contingent assured the customers that Spike Henninger, John Bode et al have a strong 1931 cage collection. So far the Cosden unit has not been defeated. Perhaps they can still say that after Thursday night when they migrate to Midland to take on a team selected from the ranks of various Midland loop brigades. Steelman is one of the best forwards in this section, with West not far behind. A little more defensive tactics, and the team that can beat the Cosden outfit will have to be a good one.

Sometimes one wonders how a community the size of Lomax can construct a huge gymnasium, while a city the size of Big Spring cannot. We do not refer to the local high school gymnasium. It is one of the best in the state. However, the high school gymnasium is devoted to high school sports and should be. What Big Spring needs is a community gymnasium where industrial teams, Sunday School aggregations, and other contingents can work out and play their games. The Lomax gymnasium is open to the public. There is no charge for games. As many as three and four games are played there in one night. It is a community gathering place. And do they gather? They do. Last night, which marked this scribble's first but not his last visit to the school, it took a search warrant and patience to find a seat. In the words of Mr. Lomax, "We built the gymnasium to be used by the people." Any time this department is wanted urgently, and said department is likely to be located at the Lomax gymnasium watching the Hornets do battle with the basketball.

Incidentally, we noticed two of the Hornets that would be good men on any team. We refer to a young man named McGinnis, a forward, and another named Ledbetter, a center. McGinnis is a clever goal shooter, with Ledbetter being dangerous at any angle near the loop board. The work of Wood, Williams and Cook, at guards, also was responsible for the wonderful showing made by the Hornets against the Cosden aggregation.

Basketball fans will get more of the same Friday and Saturday nights when Bill Stevens sends his Star cagers against Jew Keeling's Lathbeck courtiers. Those who haven't seen Stevens' collection of loopers should do so. It is soothing to one's turbulent brain, as it were.

The Big Spring cagers are handicapped, perhaps, by being so far from the middle of District Two. Down in that section a crack loop league has been started, and from information reaching the pink ears of this chronicler, the boys are having a right nice time doing things with the oval. Organization always makes things more interesting. When the element of a championship enters the realm of sports, things start picking up immediately. There is something that makes one want to win a title, and collect all laurels that may go with same. High school football would never have been what it is in Texas today, had it not been for the Interscholastic League. The body organized things and tossed in the ring the state championship as the prize. We entertain no doubt but what the Stevens cage collection could take on each of the members of the Oil Belt league and crank it with regularity. Big Spring residents, however, turn better for basketball than is the case in the majority of towns. That is probable, because a winning football team has not been in evidence here in several years. The games we have attended have been conclusive proof that no money will be lost this year on the court attractions; that is if all of them paid their way.

They play basketball in Ranger just because there is a gym. Down in that town where the gridiron is the daily talk, the fans eat, sleep and talk football, twelve months out of the year, night and day, in the springtime and in the fall. It is equally true in a number of other Texas towns. Every once in awhile one hears some say something about "over-emphasis" in football. Perhaps so, but what's a dumb bunny going to do about it? The answer will be welcomed.

Former Sooner Fullback Is Selected

San Angelo Man Has Impressive College Athletic Career

Big Spring high school has a new football coach and director of athletics today.

At a meeting of the school board held Monday night, at which a quorum was present, Obie Bristow, 29, former University of Oklahoma backfield flash, was named coach to succeed Bill Stevens, mentor of the past three years, who resigned some weeks ago.

Bristow, son of J. E. Bristow, well known oil man of San Angelo, will assume his duties at the beginning of the 1931-32 term.

His salary was placed at $3,000 a year, according to a report.

Started Early

Bristow has one of the most outstanding athletic records of any native Oklahoman. He started being athletic-minded when he was thirteen years old, and has been doing things along that line ever since.

When he was 13 years old he took all-around honors at the Mayes County, Okla., track and field meet. He attended the high school of Pryor, Okla., for four years, participating in football, basketball, baseball and track.

Later he attended an Oklahoma teachers' college for one year, carrying his athletic record along with him.

His reputation as an outstanding athlete took concrete form when he entered the University of Oklahoma.

"Bad News"

CHICAGO, Jan. 7. (AP)—Bad news for golfers:

The period of the golfing business man is over and the New Year will see the appearance of more modern executives who don't go in for golf. Dr. Fred E. Clark, professor of economics at Northwestern University, Evanston, told the United Furniture Industries holding their first annual rally.

homa. He played football, baseball and entered the track division there for four years. He also affiliated with the Sooner wrestling team, but did not letter in that sport.

For two years he was all Missouri Valley fullback, and was declared one of the greatest backfield men ever to step upon a gridiron in that conference.

He was captain of a Sooner eleven. In his last year, as fullback of the Oklahoma contingent, he was given All-American rating by a number of the pickers.

Following his departure from the University of Oklahoma, Bristow joined the Kansas City Cowboys, a professional grid eleven. He played with this aggregation for two seasons.

At the local high school, Bristow will be director of all divisions of athletics, and will coach the football aggregation.

Since Bristow quit professional football he has been associated with his father in the oil business. The highlight of publicity was focused on him last year when he succeeded in getting his father released by a band of Mexican bandits who had kidnapped him in Old Mexico.

First Step

Election of Bristow as mentor of the high school is the first step in a rehabilitation program which is planned in the local high school. Bristow has had no coaching experience.

NBA Proposes To Enforce Ruling

Six Months Measure To Have Salutory Effect On Boxers

By A. J. GEN. JOHN V. CLINNIN

CHICAGO, Jan. 7. (AP)—The National Boxing Association proposes to strictly enforce the six months rule on all champions which will have a salutory effect upon those who prefer to work the vaudeville circuit or earn an honest living in the moving pictures. It is unfair to the public to permit champions to live a life of ease in the championship chair.

At the present time the national association has a questionnaire ballot out to the membership on the question of vacating the heavyweight, junior welterweight, junior lightweight and flyweight championships, and has requested the International Boxing Union to concur in vacating these titles. Returns from this questionnaire so far have indicated a majority of state commissions favor withdrawal of recognition of Max Schmeling as heavyweight champion.

Professional wrestling has ceased to be a sport, and is now classified with the circus and other like attractions. In some of the states the commissions have designated all wrestling contests as exhibitions.

This, no doubt, is the proper application to apply to wrestling, as a sport, inasmuch as the outstanding contestants, in the different classes, are more interested in barnstorming and acquiring the coin of the realm than to bother with real competition for the so-called honor of a championship.

The outlook for 1931 is hazardous from the standpoint of the promoter, as business conditions, unemployment and hard times have continued to decrease the gate receipts at all theatres and other amusement centers. This reaction is bound to affect the boxing and wrestling situation before long. The managers of professional boxers should take heed from the situation now existing among the heavyweight wrestlers. If they lose the confidence of the paying public, they will be "killing the goose that lays the golden egg" and when through avarice, they seek to increase the cost of admission to the paying public, in the face of hard times and depressed conditions, they will strangle the boxing game.

It is apparent that there will be a heavyweight boxing championship contest during the coming year. Schmeling, through his manager, has been jockeying for position and the New York state commission attempted to force Sharkey into the contest. The National Boxing Association is determined to make Max Schmeling live up to the rules of the National Boxing association or vacate his title. Should this association vacate the title, it, no doubt, will call upon the outstanding boxer in this class to compete with a suitable opponent for the championship thus vacated.

COSDEN BEATS LOMAX

Steelman High Looper Of Evening

Fighting Hornets Hold Result of Tilt Ever In Doubt

By BOBBY CAMPBELL

When a second half attack fell short the Lomax Hornets broke a winning streak of 20 games Tuesday night, when the Cosden Refinery quintet took a 28 to 22 affair at the Lomax gymnasium.

Fighting every inch of the way, the Hornets never did allow the Cosden cagers to pile up a safe lead. Always they were trailing from two to six points, with the margin usually nearer the two-point marker.

Again Steelman, flashy forward of the Cosden aggregation, was the outstanding player in the tilt. He shot six field goals during the evening, and made his two free goal tosses good, to amass fourteen points for high honors.

McGinnis, diminutive Lomax forward, with nine points, including three field goals, and three out of five free shots, was second, with Ledbetter, Hornet center, stepping on his heels with four clean cut field markers.

The Cosden unit had a height advantage that worked well in their favor. Despite this, however, the scrapping Lomax contingent, playing before a crowded house, kept coming back.

To illustrate the tight battle, the score at the end of the quarter was 10-7, Cosden; at the end of the half it stood 17-13, Cosden; at the end of the third quarter, the tally was 20-16, Cosden; and at the last, 28-22, Cosden.

The conflict was the 21st game for the Hornet aggregation, and the first defeat. The Cosden aggregation has a clean slate so far.

Miss Arah Phillips' contingent, composed for the most part, of little fellows, was shifty, and boasted of a clever passing attack, presenting an eternal danger to the Cosden loop.

Chicago Owes New York Vote of Thanks for Snatching Title of Champion from Max Schmeling

By HERBERT W. BARKER

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK, Jan. 7. (AP)—Chicago it appears, owes the New York State Athletic Commission a rising vote of thanks. The commission, by stripping the heavyweight title from Max Schmeling, virtually has assured a title match between Schmeling and W. L. (Young) Stribling in Chicago next June.

Nor is that all the commission's action accomplished. It left, or so it would appear, Jack Sharkey in the role of "outstanding contender" in New York state but with no one in sight for him to fight.

Although other boxing centers, Detroit, Jersey City and Philadelphia, for instance, have plunged in with offers for the serious consideration of Joe Jacobs, manager of Schmeling, it was understood that Chicago held the inside track for the title bout and would get it.

Nate Lewis, Chicago promoter, several days ago offered Schmeling $500,000 to meet Stribling, with the title at stake and, at the moment at least, there seems no reason why the Teuton slugger should not accept. As for Stribling, he already has come to terms with Lewis.

As the situation stood today, it would take a complete about-face on the part of the state commission to save the bout for New York and there appears no prospect of that.

The boxing rings declared the heavyweight throne vacant when Jacobs, on Schmeling's behalf, declined to sign immediately for a return bout with Sharkey. Jacobs offered to sign Schmeling to a contract calling upon him to meet the winner of a Sharkey-Stribling match or against Sharkey if Stribling declined to meet the Boston sailor.

The commission has insisted that Sharkey, having beaten Stribling once, should not be called upon to meet him again, yet, after declaring the title vacant, the solemn announced they would accept as champion the winner of a match between Stribling and Sharkey.

Thus the commission stuck to its guns in support of Sharkey's eligibility as outstanding contender but the net result seems to leave Sharkey holding the bag. Stribling, with a Schmeling bout virtually assured him, in all probability will decline to meet Sharkey and there's no one else for the Boston sailor to meet.

Tyler Lions Given Token By Henderson

TYLER, Texas, Jan. 7. (AP)—Victors over the Amarillo high school football team in the finals of the interscholastic league contest of 1930, the Tyler high school Lions received a token of their championship last night when oy J. Henderson, director of the interscholastic league, presented them with a silver football, full size, mounted on a gold base, in the presence of guests at a banquet here. The banquet was given by the Kiwanis and Rotary clubs of Tyler. Each member of the team was presented with a wrist watch and a small gold football.

Southwest To Open Cage Season

Only One of 'Scoring Twins' Back With Rice Quintet

By GAYLE TALBOT, JR.

Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Jan. 7. (AP)—Only half of last season's "scoring twins" remain to carry on for the Rice Institute Owls in the 1931 Southwest Conference basketball campaign starting Thursday.

In Jake Hess and Ray Hart the Owls last year had the circuit's two high individual scorers, with 113 and 107 points, respectively, but only Hart survives of the crack forward combination. Hess, who is one of the conference's outstanding tennis stars, became scholastically ineligible for competition this season.

Other high scorers of the 1930 race, who were lost by graduation, included Roy Eury, Texas Christian center, who was third in the conference with 104 points; Schoonover, Arkansas, 90 points; Rose, Texas, 89 points; Prewitt, Arkansas, 88 points.

Raymond Alfors, forward and captain-elect of the Baylor Bears, placed fourth in the 1930 scoring race with 88 points. He and Hart, two sure shots, may be expected to wage a battle for individual honors this year. The offense of both teams has been built around the two stars.

Through a conflict in the conference schedule first agreed upon and since revised, there has been some confusion as to the opening program this week-end.

The correct line-up calls for the University of Arkansas and University of Texas to clash Thursday and Friday nights at Austin; Rice to play Texas Christian Friday night at Fort Worth and then hop to Dallas for a bout with Southern Methodist on Saturday.

Dallas Capitalist Leaves Son But $1

DALLAS, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Leaving to his son "the sum of $1 and no more," and bequeathing the bulk of his estate to a home for unfortunate girls conducted by the Sisters of Our Lady of Charity, the will of the late C. A. Keating, Dallas capitalist, was filed in probate court here yesterday.
W. A. Crawford, Keating's attorney for many years, estimated that the estate was worth $500,000 but told the court that final inventories were expected to double or triple that amount.
Aside from the $1 bequest to Cecil Keating, his son, the financier stipulated that affairs should be handled by a Dallas bank in trust until the death of his son-in-law, Smith H. Latta, of Hollywood, Calif. Latta and Keating's daughter, Eliza Latta and their children were left substantial monthly allowances from income of the estate and numerous smaller bequests were made.
St. Matthew's Episcopal home for children in Dallas and the Berachah Rescue home in Arlington were willed $1,000 each.
Mrs. Agnes Nichols, Knott, is a patient at the Big Spring Hospital.

Sarcophagus Of Mary Of Scots' Husband Rifled

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Jan. 7.—(AP)—The romance, intrigue and tragedy which tangled the life of Mary, Queen of Scots, was recalled today as Danish police sought to unravel the mystery surrounding the rifling of the sarcophagus of the Earl of Bothwell, Mary's third husband.
Whether a desire for jewels once belonging to Mary and said to have been buried with Bothwell or a feeling of revenge maintained through four centuries by descendants of those he wronged motivated the violation police would not say, pending investigation of the incident.
Police yesterday found the sarcophagus, containing the remains of the Earl, who was the fourth of his line and who died insane in a castle in Zealand on April 14, 1578, broken open and its contents disappeared. There was no evidence that any jewels were found by the disturbers, or indeed that anything of great value was buried with Bothwell.
The life of the Earl of Bothwell was hardly less tempestuous than that of Mary, who finally was beheaded by order of Queen Elizabeth of England into whose power she fell.
Bothwell fell in love with Mary and after her marriage to her cousin, Henry Lord Darnley allegedly confined Darnley's murder on the night of February 9, 1567, to make way for himself in her favor.
His first wife divorced him on May 3, on grounds of infidelity with a maid servant, and on May 15, after having become Duke of Orkney and Shetland, he was married to Mary. Their life together lasted little more than a month, the Scottish nobles, both Protestant and Catholic, uniting to effect his destruction.
After Mary's downfall Bothwell was placed in solitary confinement in a castle in Zealand. He died insane in 1578.

Bandits Rob Climbers Of Mountains Near Capital of Mexico

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 7.—(AP)—High up amid the snow and ice of Popocatepetl and Ixtaccihuatl, the two volcanoes which do eternal sentry duty outside the valley of Mexico, bandit gangs have taken to robbing mountain climbers.
A party of tourists arrived here yesterday and told of being held up as they toiled up the snowy sides of the crater of Popocatepetl. They lost all their valuables. Another party recently was victimized on the slopes of Ixtaccihuatl.
The climbers claim that the robbers have placed guards at the approaches to the mountains to notify confederates of likely prey. The climbers then are trapped in inaccessible spots.

Funeral Held For Gunshot Victim

Funeral services for Marshall Woody Kerby, 14, who was accidentally shot and fatally wounded Monday night while duck hunting near his home, Center Point, were held at 11 a. m. today at the Eberly Chapel.
The Rev. S. B. Hughes, pastor of the East Fourth Street Baptist church, conducted the rites. Burial was in the new Mt. Olive cemetery.
Pallbearers were Roger Miller, Bruce Bishop, Warner Robinson, Bill Howard, Roscoe Buchanan, and Houston Robison.
Among the out of town relatives here for the funeral were A. B. Carter, Atlas Carter, and Artley Carter, uncles of the accident victim.
The youth was mortally wounded about 8:15 p. m. Monday when a shotgun, said to have been in the hands of Lewis Loftin, close companion of Kerby, was accidentally discharged. Birdshot penetrated Kerby's right shoulder, penetrating the lungs. He died at 1:55 a. m. Tuesday morning at a local hospital.
Besides his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Kerby, the youth is survived by four sisters and three brothers.

Shawnee Indians Claim Texas Land Under Old Treaty

AUSTIN, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Texas land valued at millions will be claimed by the Shawnee Indian tribe of Oklahoma if an investigation now under way shows the tribe entitled to the property. The land, which includes Smith and Cherokee counties and a tract along the Brazos river 40 miles square, was claimed by the tribe under treaties made with the Texas provisional government and the Republic of Texas.
A delegation of Shawnee Indians led by Chief Caspar Alford, was in Austin today checking over records with J. H. Walker, commissioner of the general land office. Walker said he believed the Indians had a valid claim to the Smith and Cherokee county lands under treaty executed in 1835 with the Indians by General Sam Houston, John Forbes and John Cameron.
Walker said he found no record of a treaty relative to lands along the Brazos river.
The opinion has been expressed that claim to any of the land would be barred by the statute of limitations. The Indian delegation, however, said it expected to present a claim to the legislature for compensation in event it found the land had been ceded to the Shawnees.
Delegation was started on its investigation by Chief Little Axe, reputed 126-year-old sachem of the Shawnee tribe. Little Axe, according to Alford, was residing with the tribe in Texas when the treaties were made.

Soviet Policy Cuts Celebration of Usual Russian Christmas

MOSCOW, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Today is Russian Orthodox Christmas but it was not celebrated with the enthusiasm of former years because the Soviet campaign aimed against all religious festivals is keeping the people out of the churches.
Many churches held services but their congregations were slim. Millions of workers who used to observe this holiday at least as a day of rest voted this year to stay on the job and censured all those who took a day off.
The so-called anti-religious museums were crowded and the theatres offered special programs under auspices of the Atheists Society. There were no Christmas trees and no toys. The children went to school just as though it were an ordinary day.

11-Year-Old Boy Given Five Years In State School At Gatesville

A five year term in the state juvenile training school at Gatesville was assessed against Talmadge Jackson, 11, by a jury in county court Tuesday afternoon. The boy was charged with delinquency.

It was alleged that on Halloween night, 1930, the youth shot Dottie Mason in the leg with a rifle.

The trial consumed all of Monday afternoon for the defense sought a suspended sentence for the youth, but it was alleged he received a suspended sentence in Mitchell county for robbery for a hardware store.

Armour's Faith In Oil Process Reaps Millions

CHICAGO, Jan. 7 (AP)—A romance of big business in which one of the fondest dreams of the late J. O. Armour came true, was revealed today with announcement that the controlling interest of the Universal Oil Products Company had been sold for $25,000,000 of which $8,216,058 went to Ogdens widow, Mrs. Lollita Sheldon Armour.

The Shell Union Oil Company and the Standard Oil Company of California were the purchasers. The deal involved 1,000 shares of the Universal company, which sponsored the Dubbs oil cracking process, in which Mr. Armour invested $5,000,000 to $4,000,000. He always had faith that it would yield a profit, but he died in London, without the dream being realized. Today his widow knew his faith had not been placed in vain.

Mrs. Armour received her share of the purchase price for 400 shares of stock in the Universal company, which was a part of her husband's estate and which his creditors at one time had refused to accept as a valuable asset. The stock was given to her by Armour as security for a loan of $1,000,000 she made him in 1926. Armour was the founder of the Universal concern and it was announced that the company will be headed by H. J. Halle of New York, who was made its president by Armour in 1921.

A year ago the Armour estate was closed in probate court, showing an insolvency of $1,805,000, which was a sad contrast to the $120,000,000 Armour was reputed to have been worth in moneyed war times. But last night the woman who had been stripped of much of her wealth was very happy. "I guess this shows," she said, "that Mr. Armour was justified in backing that inventor's process. And those bankers who called my stock a liability, well, I can laugh now at them the same as they laughed at the stock."

A.T.&S.F. Approves $13,800,000 As Capital Improvement Total

NEW YORK, Jan. 7 (AP)—The Atchafalaya, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad has approved a capital improvement budget of $13,800,000 for the year.

The principal items of improvement expenditures will be $1,400,000 for increased weight of rail and track material, $1,000,000 for bridges, trestles and culverts, $730,000 for elimination of grade crossings, $2,100,000 for additional yard tracks, $1,200,000 for signals and interlocking plant, $925,000 for station and office buildings, and $800,000 for water station and equipment.

In addition to this capital outlay the company already has ordered $5,000,000 worth of equipment for the year.

The total cost in connection with the capital work just approved is estimated at $21,000,000. The difference between this amount and the capital budget being chargeable to operating expenses.

Bobbie Trout In Air On Birthday Seeking Record

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 7 (AP)—Bobbie Trout, who with Edna May Cooper is out to break the masculine monopoly of endurance flight records, was celebrating her 25th birthday anniversary in the air today.

In honor of the event the girl flyer will have a party at noon. Her only guest will be her co-pilot, but she will have a birthday cake candles and all to eat off the gasoline tank which serves the girls as a table in their plane, the Lady Ralph.

Yesterday the feminine endurance team broke the existing women's sustained flight record of 42 hours, 15 minutes, and sailed on toward the 64-hour record of the men, held by Dale Jackson and Forest O'Brien.

Mrs. Lola B. Trout, mother of Bobbie, busied herself in her kitchen last night making the birthday cake.

"It won't be much like a lot of her birthday parties," Mrs. Trout said, "but Bobbie will enjoy it. I've made a cake for every one of her birthdays and just because she is flying around is no reason why this one should be an exception."

Co-Op Officials To Appear Here

Earl L. Morris, who now is in charge of the local office of the Texas Cotton Cooperative Association, which is the cotton agency in the state for the federal farm board, announces again a meeting to be held in the district court room here at 2 p. m. next Monday, January 12.

Officials of the organization will speak to farmers and business men, paying special attention to criticisms being directed at it.

Farmers and business men, irrespective of their individual opinions relative to cotton marketing, are urged to attend.

Five Additions Follow Baptist Revival Service

Services at the West Side Baptist church resulted in five additions to the church yesterday. The meeting continues throughout this week at 10 a. m. and 7 p. m. with Rev. H. G. Richbourg doing the preaching.

A large crowd heard the evangelist speak last night on "How I May Know That I Am Saved." Tonight Rev. Richbourg will speak on "The Priesthood of Christ." Other subjects are announced by the speaker as: Thursday, "Why We Are Baptists"; Friday, "Will the Saved Under All Circumstances Continue Saved Thru Life."

The public is cordially invited to attend these services at 1200 West Fourth street.
