Consolation Match Is Finally Played Larson Is Winner

The annual Ranger Invitation Golf Tournament, which was held last week-end, was not finally completed until Thursday afternoon, when the last consolation match was played, with A. N. Larson winning.

Jack Mooney, A. N. Larson and B. E. Garner, in the seventh flight consolation, were unable to get together earlier for their match, and played it off in one round Thursday afternoon. Pitas Moore accompanied them to complete the consolation.

The match, originally scheduled for 18 holes, was cut to nine holes by mutual consent of the three participants, who played much better golf in the consolation round than they did in match play during the tournament.

Mooney and Larson teed off for the ninth hole even, with Garner leading and out of the running. Larson won the hole by one stroke to win the last prize of the tournament, three golf balls.

Good Deed Door Is Landed In Lockup

EL PASO, Tex. - Asking for permission to deliver a package of cigarets to a prisoner in the county jail was enough to get the good deed door in jail, himself.

Suspicious officers found that the cigarets contained marijuana.

Mobilize Morals Against War

Distinguished Americans and foreigners gathered at meeting for moral rearmament in Washington, heard Senator Harry S. Truman of Missouri, right, read message from President Roosevelt declaring that the movement cannot fail to lessen the peril of war.

Long Session, "Long Count" and the Long Filibuster Recall Other Famous Ruses and Legislative Happenings

By Gordon K. Shearer United Press Staff Correspondent AUSTIN, Tex. - Over 115 sessions of 46 Texas Legislatures have been held, but the bag of parliamentary tricks never seems to be exhausted.

The 1939 session has been no exception. It will go down in remembrance as the session that developed the "long count," the long filibuster and the long reading.

The "long count" occurred on April 10, when announcement of the vote on submission of a sales tax-constitutional amendment was delayed near half an hour to permit arrival of Sen. Clay Cotten of Palestine, whose affirmative vote was the 21st-needed to carry the measure.

Sen. Weaver Moore's filibuster against a Senate vote on the "fair trade" merchandising bill was a new record only in length of time it was conducted. Filibusters have been used on frequent occasions in the Texas Legislature.

The long reading was something new. Rules require each branch of the Legislature to notify the other of its proceedings by messenger. This rule has been complied with by a messenger appearing at the Senate door or House door, and, after admittance, announcing by number and short title the bills or resolutions acted upon.

When Moore was badly in need of a rest during his filibuster, Clerk Jess Irwin of Dallas arrived at the Senate door. He read the complete caption of a bill.

Senators trying to tire out Moore to get a vote protested in vain. Stevenson could find nothing in the rule book permitting the Senate to say how the House should convey its message.

Best-remembered stunt pulled out of the legislative bag of tricks in recent years was the placing of a rider on the appropriation bill for the Department of Agriculture, that permitted parimutuel betting on horse races in Texas for several years.

Rules in force then were also searched without finding anything to prevent such procedure. Breaking a quorum used to be the resort of a minority when driven to a last stand. It has been used infrequently in recent years.

Most famous incident of this sort occurred in the first called session of the 32nd legislature in 1911. Congressional and Senatorial redistricting under the 1910 census had precipitated a bitter rivalry for control between prohibitionists and anti-prohibitionists. Senators broke a quorum three times in three days to prevent redistricting.

The same session was marked by two fights in an Austin hotel. Combatants in one were Tom Love of Dallas and the late Jacob Wolters of Houston. The other was between Wolters and the late Sen. J. C. McNall of Dallas. Love later became state senator from Dallas.

Next celebrated violence during a session was during the 43rd Legislature in 1933, when Rep. Gordon Burns of Huntsville (now Senator Burns) was beaten up in an Austin hotel by oil men celebrating their victory in passage of an oil proration law.

Legislation in 1933, when Rep. Gordon Burns of Huntsville (now Senator Burns) was beaten up in an Austin hotel by oil men celebrating their victory in passage of an oil proration law. Burns had been a bitter opponent of the measure. Injuries which he received in the fight sent him to a hospital.

The oil men who participated in the attack on Burns were brought before the House to apologize. Hall Youngblood of San Antonio, later a member of the State Planning Board, avoided a contempt citation by remaining out of the state until adjournment of a legislature whose members had been incensed by reported statements that it took "money on the barrel head" to get things done at Austin.

Gen. Jacob Wolters also was cited for contempt in 1911, denied the right of the legislature to call him, and won his contention by a court appeal.

KING, QUEEN ARE GREETED BY OFFICIALS

WASHINGTON, June 9.—King George and Queen Elizabeth of Great Britain today shook hands with members of congress under the dome of the capitol building, half of which British soldiers destroyed 125 years ago.

Their handclasp capped a pledge of Anglo-American friendship, toasted by the king and President Roosevelt last night.

A few last-ditch Irish-blooded dissenters stayed away from the reception, together with others who, for various reasons, did not attend. Between 75 and 100 of the 435 U. S. Representatives were absent and 22 of the 96 U. S. Senators failed to appear for the handshaking ceremonies, so familiar to veteran politicians.

The day was another typical Washington scorcher. Before it ended there was no doubt that the British couple, accustomed to damp and chilly English summers, would welcome their one brief respite, a cooling yacht trip with President and Mrs. Roosevelt down the Potomac river to Mount Vernon.

There the king will place a wreath at the tomb of George Washington, who led a revolution against an earlier King George.

The king and queen rose early, despite their crowded schedule of yesterday. The official program of yesterday did not end until a few minutes after midnight, when the last guest left the white house after a dinner of state and a musicale. Then, the king at least, did not retire, as he and President Roosevelt sat down in the quiet comfort of the second floor oval study, where several American presidents have pondered over British-American relations.

The king and President Roosevelt talked until 1 o'clock in the morning.

Japanese Demand British Concession In Tientsin City

SHANGHAI, June 9.—Japanese authorities moved today to isolate the British concession at Tientsin, and it was indicated that Tientsin soon might be made a test case in the Japanese campaign to exert control over all foreign areas in China.

It was reported that the Japanese had given British authorities at Tientsin an ultimatum, ordering them to deliver in 48 hours the men who assassinated Cheng Si-keng, Chinese controller of customs under the Japanese administration, at a movie theatre in the British Concession last April 9.

Neither Japanese or British sources would confirm this report and the expiration hour of the reported ultimatum was not given.

Roosevelt Talks With King About Foreign Affairs

WASHINGTON, June 9.—President Roosevelt revealed today that he had reviewed the international situation in general terms in discussions with King George VI of Great Britain.

Mr. Roosevelt did not specify when the conversation occurred, but it apparently was when he and the British monarch sat down in the president's study on the second floor of the white house early this morning after the state dinner.

Mr. Roosevelt said they discussed the international situation just as any two persons would in such strenuous days as the present.

Nazi Press Scores Mrs. Roosevelt

BERLIN, June 9.—The DNB, official Nazi news agency, today attacked Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt leading the German press in sarcastic comment on the visit of King George and Queen Elizabeth to Washington.

The agency said in a dispatch given to newspapers: "Mrs. Roosevelt, who had 'worthily' prepared herself for the visit of the British monarch by speaking at a Washington communist meeting, remained true to form by allowing a negro to sing at a white house concert in honor of the royal couple. For today Mrs. Roosevelt arranged a tea reception at the white house, at which she hopes to bring about a conversation of all left radical members of the federal government with the royal couple."

After striking her, she said, he warned her not to rifle his pockets again. She said she got only $2 from the pockets, and used that to buy food.

AMERICAN IS CONVICTED BY RUSSIA TODAY

MOSCOW, June 9.—Mrs. Ruth Marie Rubens, an American involved, with her husband, in a sensational passport fraud and espionage case, pleaded guilty in municipal court today to entering Russia on a false passport and was sentenced to 18 months imprisonment.

Because of the time she has spent in custody since her arrest the sentence was considered served and she will be freed tomorrow.

Mrs. Rubens was tried on a charge of illegal entry instead of espionage which would have involved a hearing before a military tribunal with the death sentence a possibility.

She said she had met Rubens in America. He offered to take her to Europe and Russia, she said, and told her it was necessary to use a false document. They entered the Soviet Union under the name of Robinson, she testified.

GIRL ADMITS KIDNAPING OF YOUNG BOY

SAN FRANCISCO, June 9.—A pretty, 19-year-old brunet, who calls herself Graham Gaylord, but admits that is not her right name, appeared in court today to answer a charge of kidnaping and holding for $1,600 ransom the five-year-old boy for whom she was nursemaid.

She insisted that she would do the same thing again if circumstances were such that she needed the money to protect "the life of one very dear to me."

Miss Gaylord refused to say whose life she was protecting and how the $1,600 would do it. If she is convicted of kidnaping the mandatory sentence in California is life imprisonment.

The young woman and her charge, Kreche Osborn, were found late yesterday in a San Jose hotel, 30 hours after they had disappeared. The child was unharmed and did not seem to have missed his mother. Miss Gaylord, in a ransom note, had threatened to kill the boy, if the mother, Mrs. Mabel Osborn, notified police or the newspapers.

When arrested, however, she said she had no intention of harming him.

Ranger Fishermen Make Big Catches At L. Brownwood

Catfish are biting at Lake Brownwood. If you don't believe it ask Onis Mills of Ranger, who spent Thursday night down there fishing.

Mills returned to Ranger this morning, after one night of fishing, with one 28-pound catfish and 32 pounds of smaller cats, for a total catch for the night of 60 pounds. Raymond Turner of Ranger, who is spending his vacation at the lake fishing, caught 150 pounds of catfish the night before Mills did his fishing. Mills reported today.

But catching fish in those quantities is no small task. Mills had out half a mile of trotline, which required two hours of hard work to run.

Clydebank Yard Builds Motor Liner

GLASGOW.—In the record time of 28 weeks an 11,000-ton ship, 530 feet long, has been built at Clydebank.

She is the New Zealand Line motor passenger liner Essex. Construction was speeded up to make way for naval tonnage.

Special apparatus will suck in 13,000 cubic feet of sea air every minute and distribute it among fruit for cooling and preservation. Apples, bananas, and the gases they exude will be trapped, cooled and wafted through the holds to prevent fruit tainting.

DIVORCE GRANTED Divorce has been granted Louise Brabham from J. H. Brabham. Her former name, Louise Newman, was restored.

Takes Steps to Satirize Surrealism

See that bare arm? That symbolizes "nudity." See that big eye, staring at the bare arm? That symbolizes "Looky, looky, looky!" See those goggles? They probably symbolize the fact that the spectators go goggle-eyed when they see Pauline Komer, American concert dancer, perform this "Study of a Nude," a satire on the current vogue of surrealism among painters.

FLOYD PRETZ SENTENCED TO LIFE IMPRISONMENT

BAIRD, June 9.—Agreement by prosecutors and defense attorneys that his mind was unbalanced gained 20-year-old Floyd Pretz a life term in prison Thursday.

Sentence was passed by Judge Milburn S. Long after a 42d district court jury had found Pretz, a Cisco printer, guilty of the murder of his mother, Mrs. Annie Pretz, 45, last Nov. 16.

Dallas Scarborough, Abilene lawyer, advised jurors of the compromise and recommendation for a life sentence. He told the jury that if young Pretz was found to be of unsound mind after being committed to the penitentiary he will be transferred to a state institution where expert care is given the insane.

Also addressing the jury, District Attorney J. R. Black announced a life sentence would be acceptable to the prosecution but insisted that a 99-year term would not be accepted.

Jurors were told by Judge Long that Dr. T. B. Bass, head of the Abilene state hospital, had examined the defendant recently and found him able to tell right from wrong. The court said, however, that Dr. Bass expressed the opinion Pretz was of abnormal mind. Judge Long added that the fact the youth had slain his mother convinced him Pretz must be unbalanced.

Pretz, evincing little interest during his trial, was emotionless when the verdict was received. It was read by R. O. Baum, jury foreman, only a few minutes after jurors retired.

Trial of Pretz began Wednesday morning, and selection of jurors lasted until mid-afternoon Wednesday. Eight witnesses described events immediately before and after Mrs. Pretz' death before the agreed verdict was recommended.

Automobile Plants Are Battleground Of Union Factions

DETROIT, Mich., June 9.—The plants of General Motors Corporation today became a battleground for the two factions of United Automobile Workers, one led by R. J. Thomas and affiliated with the Congress of Industrial Organizations, the other led by Homer Martin and aligned with the American Federation of Labor.

Martin, whose union only this week completed its AF of L affiliation, called a strike at General Motors plants late yesterday, barely 24 hours after the Thomas faction had signed an agreement with the Briggs Manufacturing Company, and three days before Thomas' union was to draft a request to General Motors for a supplemental agreement.

Martin said that the strike was ordered in protest against General Motors' failure to negotiate with what he described as "legitimate" committees.

He demanded collective bargaining rights for his union.

MEXICAN RIOT INSTIGATED BY NAZI AGENTS

MEXICO CITY, June 9.—Allegations were made today that student demonstrations against the United States in connection with the airplane death of Juan Sarmiento had been fomented by Nazi and anti-Jewish agitators.

Gen. Frederico Montes, chief of police, said that investigation disclosed that the students did not hold the demonstrations of their own accord. He sent out an order for the arrest of an anti-Jewish leader as having been responsible. The man sought was alleged to have aided in organizing an anti-Jewish riot Jan. 26.

Vicente Lombardo, head of the Mexican Confederation of Labor, asserted that Nazi agents promoted the demonstration and said that "Nazi spies" were working in cooperation with Italian and Japanese agents as well as members of the Spanish Falangist (fascist) organization.

He asserted that agents were operating as part of the Nazi propaganda network, working among reactionary elements, and especially students, to cause bad feeling between Mexico and the United States. He charged that, not only the Nazi party, but the German legation was active in propaganda.

Developments in aviation will be described by O. M. Mosier of Chicago, vice president of American Airlines.

Victor H. Schoeffelmayer, agricultural editor of The Dallas Morning News, will speak on farm chemistry, and the possibilities of developing both industry and agriculture by developing industrial uses for farm products.

The chamber managers also will spend considerable time exchanging ideas on their own particular work of civic organization.

C. V. Wallis, manager of the industrial department of the Dallas chamber, will have the subject "Industrial Contacts—How?" As the title suggests, his address will cover the question of obtaining new industries.

Earl J. Smith of Detroit, Mich., a specialist in fund-raising campaigns, will speak on "How to Increase Membership Strength and Income."

The theme of the managers' convention will be "Civic Efficiency."

States Can Get Together if They Will

People who deplore the extension of federal power usually have trouble in answering the question: "Well, who's going to take care of those things which affect two or more states, if not the federal government?"

Offhand, one might say there was no other answer. But there is. And gradually the states are finding it in the technique of interstate agreements and joint operations.

Compacts to control sewage flow in four of the country's major river basins have either been approved or are pending today between 16 states and the District of Columbia. The Council of State Governments, that invaluable agency which is working to co-ordinate the work of states in legislative and administrative problems, reports that the valleys of the Ohio, Delaware, Potomac and Red River of the North are the major rivers affected.

Each flows through territory in many states. Clearly, each state has rights and interests. None can be selfish about its river-control measures without affecting the others. They might have all stepped aside and asked the federal government to take charge. But they did not.

Instead, they got together. Nine states are included. For instance, in the Ohio River Valley Water Sanitation compact. Indiana and West Virginia have ratified the agreement. It is pending in Illinois, New York, and Pennsylvania. Ohio, Kentucky, Tennessee and Virginia are the other states affected. The agreement becomes operative when five states have ratified.

North and South Dakota and Minnesota have approved a compact for pollution and conservancy control of the Red River of the North. The Delaware basin is already under joint control of New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Delaware.

For many years the Port of New York Authority, a joint creation of New York and New Jersey, has handled a vast business in connection with navigation between these states, and handled it effectively and well. It is gradually "paying out" both states on the money they entrusted to it.

Possibly one reason for federal "encroachment" on such fields is the general helplessness of the states themselves. They forget their sovereignty except for oratorical purposes.

It is when states step up and demonstrate their ability to grapple with their problems that the cry for federal aid dies down.

Pennsylvania has put through an anti-fireworks law. A safe law—for the administration. Kids can't vote.

Spurred by the Pulitzer prize play, movie studios are rushing pictures on the life of Lincoln. Imagine the sight of three Lincolns eating lunch together at the Brown Derby.

BRIDE ON A BUDGET BY JANET DORAN

CHAPTER I AT first, when she saw the powder blue gabardine suit, Iris did not think about Bart Whitaker.

secretly, her mind was winging back to the new suit, spread out on the bed, and the new fur scarf and gloves, the handmade linen blouse. After supper, she'd put them on, to wear to the movies.

So he hadn't bought the suit. But secretly, Iris speculated on what she could do to improve him. He was really quite handsome. Not quite so tall as some of the glamor boys she had known from Fraternity Row, but well-built.

THE evening paper was folded on the smoking stand, and Iris stood behind the new chair, wearing the new slipper satin house coat that zipped to the very floor, and made her waist look not an inch more than 20 inches. Bart flung open the door and grinned.

Laminack Buys Poland China Boar for 4-H Club Work

E. W. Laminack, Jr., member of the Morton Valley Boys 4-H club purchased a Poland China Boar for use in his community. This animal came from the herd of Mark Morgan of McKinney, and is a highly bred Registered boar of the medium-boned Poland China type. This type of hog has been gaining in favor as it is a meat type hog and does not produce an excess of fat.

The boar was purchased primarily for use by Morton Valley 4-H Club boys who have Registered Poland China sows. However, he will be used throughout the community and will do much toward improving the hogs in this community, says Assistant Agent Sam E. Rosenberg. This animal is owned by E. W. Laminack and he charges service fees for its use.

The Morton Valley Boys 4-H club has been doing some excellent work with their swine demonstrations. At the present time six boys, Raymond Beck, Billie Crouch, Paul Embank, Trautt Gregory, Shelton Tankersley, and Thomas Huling, own Registered Poland China sows of very good type. These sows have been bred to the boar owned by E. W. Laminack, Jr., and will farrow early in September. These boys are taking very good care of their sows having good pens, equipment and grazing patches for their sows. Each of them are feeding balanced rations as they are sure this will aid them more than anything else in getting stronger and healthier litters of pigs. These boys plan to show their sows and pigs at the Fall County fair and will also show them in the spring shows next year.

Several boys in this club have grade sows of good type. They will keep these sows until they can replace them with better animals. Boys owning grade sows are Harlon Harbin, Bobby Moore, Rex Ramsower, Vernon Ramsower, Doyle Tow and E. M. Speed.

Mr. Lonnie A. Smith is leader of this 4-H Club and has been very active in promoting good 4-H Club work in the Morton Valley community.

Club Boys Working For 4-H Trip Funds

Eastland County Boys and Girls 4-H Clubs are busy raising money to send representatives of their clubs and of the County to the Annual Junior Short Course which will be held at College Station on July 5, 6, and 7. Many of these clubs are working together in plans to raise money for their representatives.

The Morton Valley Boys and Girls 4-H Clubs are working together in their plans. They also have the assistance of the Morton Valley Home Demonstration Club which is very active in that community. The Gorman Boys Club and the Girls Club are co-operating in their plans to raise money. These clubs will also have the cooperation of several of the Gorman business men. The New Hope boys and girls club have already raised the necessary money for their delegates. Other boys and girls 4-H clubs in the county are active in making their plans and raising the necessary money to send delegates to the Junior Short Course.

The opportunity for these boys and girls who are finally selected to attend the Junior Short Course is a great one and is regarded by the club members as a distinct honor. In the Girls 4-H Clubs each club selects a delegate from its members who attends the Short Course and represents the respective club while there. In the boys work the method of selecting representatives is a little different as boys must be members of County Judging Teams and attend the Junior Short Course to participate in State 4-H Club Judging Contests. Boys who become members of the County Judging Teams value the distinction highly as it not only gives them an immediate honor in representing the County in this manner but is highly valuable to them later in life as a reference of good experience and is highly recognized.

New Texas Sweetheart Sought

Who will be their successor as Texas Sweetheart No. 1 for 1939 at Fort Worth's Casa Maxana this summer? At left is Fay Cotton of Berger, glamorous in a gown of gold, and at right, Grey Downs of Temple, captivated in lovely finesses, tulle and plumes. Lou Wolfson, executive director, and Lauretta Jefferson, dance director, will visit numerous Texas cities, including this city in a search for the most beautiful and talented girls. The winner in each local contest will take part in the final competition in Fort Worth and she will be eligible for a place in the cast of Casa Maxana. The huge musical show opens July 21, and runs through Labor Day.

Persistent Members of House Have Pet Bills They Urge

AUSTIN, Texas.—Most persistent members of the Texas House of Representatives probably are Reps. Weldon Burney of Evans and W. J. Galbreath of Wharton.

Burney is crusading for a higher truck load limit, particularly on farm products. Bills for a general increase in the truck load limit were killed in committees in both House and Senate early in the session, after Rio Grande Valley fruit growers had threatened to exceed the load limit if more than 7,000 pounds were not legalized.

The committees' actions and refusal of the House of Representatives to override the unfavorable recommendation did not deter young Burney. He began introducing resolutions, making motions to require committee reports on other load limit bills, and generally managing to keep the question before the House.

He asked by resolution that the Texas Railroad Commission and Public Safety Department be instructed not to enforce the laws as it affects farm trucks carrying not over 14,000 pounds. That failed, and Burney presented another resolution to "request" that the load limit not be enforced on farm products, except wheat and cotton, until some action is taken to permit larger loads.

A factious rule in the Public Safety Department's handbook for automobile drivers puzzled a San Antonio woman, and doubtless many others. The rule says: "To make the finish on a car last longer it should be parked between two new cars."

The object, of course, is to point out that owners of new cars are more likely to avoid scraping their auto's fenders than persons to whom another dent would make little difference.

Castor Bean May Become Source of Revenue In Texas

By United Press
FORT WORTH, Tex.—The castor bean, heavy and despised plant, may prove to be the means of a new prosperity for the folk along the lower Trinity river, home of much poverty and want, if the plans of "Commodore" B. M. Hatfield work out.

The "Commodore" came into town to tell of his new idea which he believes will aid immeasurably his poor friends in their efforts to achieve a higher standard of living. He has helped them to organize the "First Liberty County Castor Plant Association," with headquarters in Romayor, Texas. About 60 farm families make up the organization, which has planted 10 acres in castor beans. Together they will harvest and market the crop, and share the profits—if any.

And, if things go well, there will be many more acres of castor beans next year—to be made into oil, insecticide and paper pulp.

"Commodore" Hatfield is the one man "responsible for it all," Pete Lawson, secretary of the Beaumont Chamber of Commerce and one of the state's leading chemurgic enthusiasts, says.

"He sought a means of doing something for the farmers by teaching them to do something for themselves," said Lawson. "The business is the Commodore's own baby, and if you doubt the sincerity of the movement around Romayor, you have only to go into that section of the river country and see for yourself."

There was quite a ceremony at the official planting of the ten acres. The river folk even had a minister on hand, who ended his prayer for the enterprise's success with: "God, it's up to you now."

The "Commodore," a rotund, coatless man with a Moses-like beard and a mass of shoulder-length hair, is more or less a man of mystery. Where he came from is not known definitely hereabouts, but by piecing together the stories he has told, it is brought out that he is something of a soldier of fortune. He speaks with apparently first-hand knowledge of Mexico, the Boer war, the Philippines, and far-off spots of wonder. His age, at the best guess, is around 70.

There is no doubt as to his present occupation—pioneer navigator of the Trinity, sanitation engineer to the wilderness, chemurgic farm advocate, cross-country store orator, and roving county-agent-at-large for the lower Trinity watershed.

Besides helping the river folk bury their dead, cook their meals, and build water filters and such, he helps and advises in the selection of seed for planting, preaches the gospel of terracing, and goes about encouraging a spirit of individual industry, even if it is nothing more than gathering Spanish moss as a sideline. He tries to encourage his poorer friends to rise above their squalor and seek a new standard of living.

The "Commodore" at present is living in a little camp, headquarters at Romayor and in answer to questions he explains that he gets "nothing at all" for his efforts to help his friends. Lots of people don't understand, he says, but those of the lower Trinity do. They seem to know that the "Commodore" really means it when he expresses his simple philosophy: "There are but two prime requirements for existence—food and shelter."

Before making castor beans his main interest, Commodore Hatfield gained national notice by piloting a boat from Fort Worth to Chicago to show the possibilities of Trinity river navigation.

The Yankees went into one of their slumps up at Boston on Memorial Day. They dropped the first game of a double-header.

Research Finds Cats And Dogs Equal In Their Mentality

CINCINNATI, O.—The only difference in the intelligence of a dog and a cat is that a dog is "something of a socialist while a cat is an individualist," according to Dr. Charles M. Diserens, assistant professor of psychology at the University of Cincinnati here.

Dr. Diserens, who has made a life-long study of cats, says that persons who favor dogs over cats or who believe dogs have a higher degree of intelligence just don't know their cats. He believes one animal is about as intelligent as the other and that there is little difference in their nerve centers.

Although classifying cats as rugged individuals, Dr. Diserens wants it understood that felids have a genuine capacity for gratitude. He says this fact may often be noted during and after medical treatment, when they become deeply grateful and very often more affectionate.

She said to preserve all of the vitamin C, to can all fruits and vegetables as soon as possible after gathering. Also to cook fruit with a cover on the container and stir as little as possible, so as not to get too much air in the product and destroy all of the vitamin C.

Food punch and cookies were passed to visitors, Mmes. D. C. Weckes, W. H. Weckes, C. E. Sullivan and Miss Marybecca Sullivan, and Gertrude Griffith and club members, Mmes. E. O. Taylor, J. B. ### Study Started To Find Power Loss In Plane Engines

By United Press
NEW YORK—Prof. George B. Karelitz, of Columbia University hopes to increase the power of air-planes by investigating the physical phenomena that takes place between two rubbing surfaces at high pressures and high temperatures.

Karelitz has been examining the surface phenomena on worn parts of machines and by measuring the surfaces of worn metals to a depth of one-thousandth of an inch he seeks to determine the differences between soft metals such as bronze and hard metals such as steel with respect to changes caused by wear.

"In the near future information should be obtainable which will allow a speeding up of high pressure machines," he said. "Engineers will immediately incorporate the findings into machine designs and continue research on the new problems which inevitably arise from such modifications."

The performance of rotating machinery, Karelitz said, depends entirely upon the reliability of a steady film of oil from one to several thousandths of an inch thick separating the surfaces of a bearing from the shaft that runs in it.

"This clearly demonstrates the importance of as smooth a surface as is possible," he said, "since it means that imperfections which are one-thousandth of an inch above the 'ideal' surface of the bearing or journal do not receive the benefit of the lubricating medium."

Male Of Species Really has Sense of Humor, Man Says

EL PASO, TEXAS.—It's the male of the species who has that "reflex of suffering," a sense of humor—according to Laszlo Schwartz, who describes himself as an authority on racial humors.

Schwartz, lecturer, caricaturist and writer, said on a visit here that only one woman in a thousand has the capacity to laugh at herself.

"Fashions show that woman hasn't the capacity to laugh at herself," he said. "She wouldn't let fashions make a monkey out of her if she had."

"Lack of sense of humor means a lack of a sense of proportion, according to Schwartz, a native of Hungary who now is on his fifth trip around the world.

"Look at the dictators today. They have no sense of humor, no sense of proportion. They bark with egotism."

But despite their "humoristic shortcomings," women are learning, and the machine age has contributed a "new woman with the tragic aspect, and therefore a real feeling for humor," Schwartz said. "That woman is the aviator's wife."

Schwartz describes her as the "new product of the machine age. She is married to the man she may lose at any moment."

Professional golfers, along with polo players and aviators, are also in the ranks with women, lacking a sense of humor, he said.
