SYNODICAL PRESIDENT OF DALLAS MAKES ADDRESS AT PRESBYTERIAL PARLEY

Mrs. George Sprague Discusses Importance of Auxiliary Work in Presbyterian Church

The high peak of the Woman's Presbyterian Auxiliary meeting today was the address given by Mrs. George Sprague, of Dallas, synodical president, before the assembled delegates and town women, this morning.

Mrs. Sprague's subject was "Women's Work in the Presbyterian Church." She gave a brief review of the growing interest of the women in auxiliary work, saying that during the past year the women of Texas had given $12 per capita through their auxiliaries.

She then stressed the importance of not allowing the strain of meeting the financial budget overshadow the spiritual side of the work.

Most of her talk was devoted to the need of spiritual training, spiritual ideals and a spiritual background in the home. The Christian work in the home was the exercise and exertion needed to build Christian characters in the auxiliary work, she declared. Family altars were still the foundation of a Christian home and children who had been brought up around these made the most successful men and women in the business world. She asked the women not to let anything interfere with this side of their work and to regard Christian education in the home as a primary function of auxiliary members.

Mrs. Sprague also spoke on White Cross work; the revival of interest in sewing garments, birth-day contributions to women and children which amounted to a quarter million during the past year; religious work among the Indians. She stressed the fact that four-fifths of the spiritual power of the church lay in the women's work.

Pastor Speaks

The meeting proper commenced Monday evening with a talk on home missions by the Rev. J. M. Lewis, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Lubbock, who reviewed the work of the past in missions, called attention to the neglected condition of home missions today, due to a falling off of contributions, and where the most crying need of the present home mission field lay.

There was a musical program consisting of numbers on the pipe organ by Mrs. Omar Pitman, who will be organist for the entire meeting, and a duet by Mrs. N. M. Melner and Miss Elsie Janet Barnett, Mrs. W. C. Barnett, president of the Big Spring women, extended greetings to the visitors from the local auxiliary.

Campaign To Have Palo Duro Canyon Opened Underway

CANYON, April 14 (AP)—A two-year campaign to have the Palo Duro Canyon thrown open to the public has borne fruit in the announcement of the local chamber of commerce that a section of land, comprising one of the most beautiful parts of the canyon, will be available to the public as soon as a highway can be built from this point to the canyon rim.

Five tributaries of the canyon converge at the point where the canyon will be accessible to the public, and although it falls short of the campaign to make the canyon the Panhandle's outstanding scenic attraction—a state and national park, the plan makes a cross-section of the big canyon available to tourists and F. handle citizens who have not seen its wonders.

"For color, depth, formations and view, it is the most beautiful spot in the canyon," said Ray V. Davis, local photographer, who has studied and explored the canyon thoroughly. "Miles of canyon can be seen every direction and the gigantic formation known as the 'lighthouse' lies to the south."

The Canyon and Amarillo chambers of commerce will cooperate in advertising the canyon, and in directing traffic in that direction.

A formal opening will be held as soon as the highway is completed to the canyon rim, a distance of 11 miles. It will require about 20 days.

Four Million For Pipe Lines In New East Texas Sector

HOUSTON, April 14 (AP)—Four million dollars, according to local officials' estimates, is being spent for oil pipe lines in the new East Texas oil fields.

The Texas Pipe Line Company is running a ten-inch line from Douglas, 21 miles west of Nacogdoches, to the Joiner and Kilgore field. Competition is expected by May 1. The cost was estimated at $500,000.

The line will tie in, said R. E. Hull, president of the company, with the eight-inch connection between the North Texas and Louisiana trunk lines at Corsicana and at St. Augustine.

The Magnolia Pipe Line Company has completed an eight-inch feeder from the Kilgore area to Longview.

More than 20 short gathering lines, and a number of short lines to loading racks, have been run.

King Alfonso Abdicates Throne

MADRID, Spain, April 14 (AP)—King Alfonso abdicated this afternoon. The abdication followed an ultimatum from Niceto Alcala Zamora, republican leader, who expected to become president formally of the accepted republic within an hour, that "republicans would not be responsible for consequences."

Earlier today republicans controlled virtually all major cities of Spain outside of Madrid.

Although abdication was unquestioned today, it was not until 6 o'clock tonight, when the ultimatum expired, that the king quit.

The Republican government with Zamora president immediately took charge.

Mother Nature In Thick Of Battle Of Texas Oil Boom

HOUSTON, Texas, April 14 (UP)—Mother Nature seems to have taken a hand in the East Texas oil production fight.

Salt water was reported in two wells today and if it increases and spreads will permanently settle the question of how much the field shall be allowed to produce. Salt water in sufficient quantities will drastically cut an oil field's production.

Magnolia's No 1-Florey near Kilgore was reported to be making 65 per cent salt water. The Burton well, which offsets the Florey, and which came in at 30,000 barrels and was pinched down to 200 barrels, reported 15 per cent salt water.

Both wells are shallower than the usual wells in the field, being high on the sector.

Discovery of salt water in these two wells sharply reduces the value of 35,000 to 50,000 acres of land formerly thought to be first class oil territory, Houston oil experts said today.

A temporary injunction has been issued preventing the state railroad commission from fixing the East Texas daily output at 90,000 barrels. The injunction was obtained by former Governor Dan Moody, acting for Carl Estes of Tyler and other East Texas citizens. The potential of the East Texas field is said to be 500,000 barrels daily.

Texas Tech Youth Is Given Sentence

SWEETWATER, Texas, April 13 (UP)—Alfred Holman, 29, senior at Texas Tech, today pleaded guilty to charges of stealing an automobile in an effort to get to Fort Worth to see the Texas Tech-Texas Christian University football game last fall and was given a two-year suspended sentence.

The car was found abandoned at Abilene and Holman was arrested at the edge of town attempting to catch a ride to Fort Worth. T. H. Holman, father of the boy, testified that he had given his son $10 with which to ride a special train to the game.

Truck Ruling

The truck regulation bills recently passed in the house were expected to have a bearing on the outcome of the bond amendment. The provisions of the trucks' bills, according to one of the leading advocates of the bond issue and vigorous opponents of the truck bills, this, he said, would leave the highways to the use of joy riders. He claimed this would be a "too high-priced luxury."

The member, who asked that his name be not mentioned, said he probably would vote against the amendment unless an agreement could be reached whereby the provisions of the truck regulation bills could be liberalized to allow a reasonable use of the highways by motor freight carriers. The truck bills have been given a favorable report by a senate committee.

Next Round of Bond Fight Is Set Wednesday

By CHARLES E. SIMONS (Associated Press Staff Writer) AUSTIN, Texas, April 14.—To bond, or not to bond; that is the question.

And whether it would be better to bond the state to reimburse counties for money expended in the state highway system and speed up construction, or repay the counties from current revenues and go along with building at a more moderate pace was a source of great anxiety to members of the Texas legislature.

The anti's fear the proposed amendment, to authorize the state to issue bonds, will pass; the pro's, or at least some of them, have an idea that perhaps it won't. The result is that both were endeavoring to hold their lines to accomplish their views.

Bill Due

The next round of the fight will start in the house Wednesday when the Woodul-Williamson resolution comes up for consideration. It was passed by a ring and week and would permit issuance of $12,000,000 in state bonds. That the fight would be very bitter and mayhap long drawn out, was predicted by both sides. It was expected to undergo the same barrage of amendments hurled at it in the senate.

Despite the acknowledged closeness of the vote, leaders of both factions predicted victory.

As adopted by the senate, with one vote to spare, the resolution would allow the voters to ballot on a double proposition. One would be to issue $12,000,000 to reimburse counties for funds used in state construction and to retire outstanding bonds. The other would be to issue $100,000,000 in bonds to accelerate new construction and complete the primary road system with the least possible delay.

Many legislators figured the voters would adopt the reimbursement proposition and turn down the construction bond feature. According to several, this would not be so bad, since a majority are in favor of reimbursing the counties. Many, however, have expressed opposition to state bonds in any form or for any purpose short of a dire public calamity.

Some proponents of the bond issue feared this was just what the people would do, with the result the state would have to pay off the counties' road bonded indebtedness and be left in the lurch as far as increased funds for construction was concerned.

The reimbursement proposal, opponents, admit, has a strong appeal and may win over several who otherwise would have voted against submission of the straight amendment.

Gasoline Thrown On Two and Ignited; Boarder Is Slashed

WOOSTER, Ohio, April 14 (AP)—Ellis McGregor, 65, ran amuck on his farm home near here today, poured gasoline on his wife, 50, and her son by a former marriage, Harold Riddle, 25, and set them on fire. He fatally stabbed his boarder with a butcher knife, and hanged himself with a long chain.

Mrs. McGregor and her son died later in a hospital.

The slain boarder was Clayton McAfee, 50.

Harold Riddle later died in a hospital before becoming conscious. Mrs. McGregor said her husband became insane and threw a kettle of gasoline on her and her son as they sat on a davenport.

He then set them afire before they could escape.

A coroner's verdict of suicide and murder by McGregor was rendered.

Man Files Suit Against Mexico City Woman, Man

DALLAS, April 13 (UP)—Morris Goldfine, 22, today filed a breach of promise suit for $25,000 against Rose Ackerman, Mexico City, and her brother, Ben Ackerman, Dallas.

Goldfine charged that the brother promised to buy the engagement ring and start him in business if he married the sister and secured her admission to the United States as an American citizen.

Goldfine said that he was introduced to Miss Ackerman by the brother when she came here for a visit. The plaintiff said he had courted her, gave her a ring and introduced her to his parents and friends as his future wife and that the girl's picture was printed and their engagement announced in the Dallas News.

When they discussed where he and Miss Ackerman would live after their marriage, Goldfine charged Ackerman announced that they would never live together as man and wife but that their marriage would be only a subterfuge to evade immigration laws.

On March 25, the petition charges Ackerman returned the ring which Goldfine had given the Mexico City girl and announced that the engagement was at an end.

Goldfine states that because of the actions of the girl and her brother, he has been "humiliated, shamed and embarrassed" and that his social life has been impaired.

"We'll tell our side in court," said Ackerman today.

ASPHYXIATED

CISCO, Texas, April 13 (UP)—Funeral arrangements for Buer Dawson Phipps, 11, who was found in the bathroom of his home here last night by an older brother, Troy, as he returned from church, were not completed today pending the arrival of the youth's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Phipps.

The boy was found by his brother with his head close to a gas water heater in the bath room. His back had been severely burned. Coroner J. H. McDonald announced asphyxiation by fumes from the heater was the cause of the youth's death.

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor)
NEW YORK, April 13.—It's fair and warmer along the baseball fronts for the grand opening of the major league season today.

Far from feeling any pinch of the times, the sixteen American and National league clubs have marshalled reinforcements, increased the wages of many of their star performers and otherwise set the stage for a gala getaway as well as a brisk campaign and big business all summer long.

Old Customs Retained
Approximately 230,000 fans are expected to turn out for the eight opening games, prepared to give the great American sport an appropriate send-off and attack the fresh supplies of peanuts, popcorn and soda pop with patriotic enthusiasm.

President Hoover heads the list of notables who will figure in the opening ceremonies, featured, according to time-honored custom, by formal parades, floral tokens and the hoisting of flags.

The president, who saw the Philadelphia Athletics clinch the world's series in the final game last October, will be on hand to watch Connie Mack's champions start the defense of their title against the Washington Senators, generally regarded as the outstanding rival for the American League honors this year.

There will be no special attraction, except for the annual debut of the one and only Babe Ruth, but the New York Yankees and Boston Red Sox expect to draw an opening day crowd of 50,000 to the Yankee stadium, this was the top figure in advance estimates of all the openers.

Cubs Greet Pirates
More than 40,000, including Commissioner Landis, may see Roger Hornsby and his Chicago Cubs start the National League campaign against the Pittsburgh Pirates at Wrigley field, Chicago.

This affray brings together two of the five clubs picked to wage a merry scramble for the championship now held by the St. Louis Cardinals, who play the Reds at Cincinnati.

John Arnold Heydler, president of the National League, planned to see the New York Giants open the season at Philadelphia, while the rampaging Brooklyn Robins journeyed to Boston to trade heavy wallops with the Braves.

The Detroit Tigers will play the Browns at St. Louis, featuring a souped-up duel between early Whitehill and Walter Stewart while the Chicago White Sox oppose the Indians at Cleveland in a game involving two "dark horse" contenders for American League honors.

Nearly a score of newcomers will be closely watched as they trot out on the field tomorrow to hold down regular jobs. With the exception of the Athletics and Washington in the American League, the Cardinals and Cubs in the National League, every club has rearranged its lineup for the 1932 campaign.

While standing at on their regular lineups, the Cardinals and Athletics, outstanding favorites to repeat their 1930 pennant victories, both have strengthened their pitching prospects by acquiring sensational youngsters. The Cards, however, came up to the barrier temporarily without the services of their slugging outfielder, Chick Hefey, the last of the holdouts.

League Solons Meet Tonight
City League officials and managers will meet tonight at the Herald office at 7:30 p. m. for a short business session.
All officials are urged to be present. The season opens Sunday.

The Water Bucket

BY BOBBY CAMPBELL

The Bankers, a member of the City League, are back in town, attending to various and sundry duties. Some are counting hundred dollar bills, and others are trying to figure out whether it would be wise to save that penny or drop it in the chicle machine. Regardless, the Bankers are back, endeavoring to improve their batting stride. Sunday the Banking department moved into Fairview and lost a 13 to 0 game. They didn't get a run! they didn't register a hit. The name of the no-hit, no-run game artist evaded this department. It would.

The City League schedule, incidentally, gets underway Sunday. The first firm to contribute a gift to the league is Montgomery Ward & Co. Mr. L. A. Hirsch, generalissimo of the firm, voluntarily stuffed off a bat today to the first player clouting a home run. The bat, we presume, can be selected. Or maybe it can't. We never wear a bat in our heyday. Tonight the solons will congregate in this sanctum and talk. Talk about this and that, select the ball, arrange a few other matters, and call it quits for awhile. The president's chair, if he is lucky enough to get here early, will be filled by Wofford B. Harby, himself.

Our friend, Jinx Tucker, is rampaging. In the general direction of this department he lets loose a tirade. Tucker, besides being other things, is off on the wrong tangent. He knows not whereof he speaks. To demonstrate the limitations of his knowledge, he says Class B school do not deal in importing football players. Offhand we can name plenty of Class B schools that were suddenly under a hot shower last year. McCamey, Spur, Colorado—name 'em and take 'em. There is no distinction it seems. Tucker favors making a rule whereby a player must continue to play for the school where he first became eligible or else. There is no arguing point to the rule. Later Tucker amended the ruling whereby a youth wouldn't be ineligible if he went over into the next county and attended a box supper one night.

Even Boyce House, Ranger Times word artist, is against the proposed one-year ruling as designed by M. H. Duncan of Lubbock. House, speaking along the line says:

"Because one man takes a pistol, goes forth and kills a fellow man, there are those who advocate

000 to see him drop his title on a close decision to Jack Delaney in Ebbets Field, not a great distance from where he fought the other night.

Berlenbach's "come back" showing was rather pathetic. Clark, a negro veteran, had little to offer. The swarthy, black-haired Berlenbach crawled through the ropes and took the same corner that he occupied for his tenth professional fight with Jimmy Darcy. A touching gesture. And, by a strange coincidence, Eddie Forbes, who refereed his bout with Darcy, was again the third man in the ring. Berlenbach was seconded by Dan Hickey, the veteran trainer who made a champion of Paul. After Berlenbach had "k.o.'ed" Clark in the third, old timers recalled that he had "k.o.'ed" Darcy in the third, too. The Darcy bout was staged less than two weeks before Berly's sensational four-round defeat of Jack Delaney in the old Madison Square Garden.

But the Berlenbach that exchanged leather with Clark the other night was just a groping ghost of his old self. The old Berlenbach would have put Clark away in less than a round. Clark seemed ready to flop throughout the bout. He went down from a hard above in the second round and was on the rosin when the bell rang. He came out with a third with an apprehensive look on his pan and while he was backing away Berly let go one of his

Berlenbach, After Absence Of Five Years, Returns To Ring To Engage In $40 Fee Battle

NEW YORK—Five years ago Paul Berlenbach, the "Astoria Assassin," was the light heavyweight champion of the world. He was riding the crest of fame, a "big shot" in his chosen profession. Everywhere he went friends slapped him on the back and told him he was a great man.

Whenever he fought big crowds went to see him deal his famous knockout left hook.

Today Berlenbach is a pathetic "has been"—trying to hid Father Time and stage a "come back" in the grueling and heartless business of hustling benches. It isn't that Berlenbach is broke. He still has a substantial bank roll but he thinks he needs ready cash and, besides, the lure of the game is calling him.

Berlenbach was paid a paltry $200 in Brooklyn the other night for knocking out "Six Finger" Eddie Clark in the third round of a preliminary bout at the New Broadway arena. This was quite a financial comedown for Berlenbach who, in his last appearance in Brooklyn, was guaranteed $125,000. Just $2,000.

Only a small turnout of fans witnessed "Oom Paul's" achievement. If, indeed, it could be called a fight, they scarcely could have paid more than $2,000. And yet less than five years ago, on July 26, 1926, a vast crowd paid $478-show for the half million he earned in the ring. But he needs ready cash. Most of his fortune is tied up in municipal bonds which have decreased in value. He is a clumsy, likeable chap, afflicted with a stolid determination that prevents him from realizing that the chances are 100 to 1 against that he will ever be more than a "has been."

Bob Nunn visited friends in Abilene during the week-end. Wisconsin has 2,245 cheese factories. Seven of its counties have more than 100 each.

Still Good
And so, from time to time, you may read of Berlenbach going in against other "haw and egg" fighters. For, until some one knocks him out, he will be convinced that he still is a "go" fighter. His manager, Hickey, insists that Berly is well preserved despite his three years absence from the ring, and that he is anything but a punch-drunk specimen.

"In twenty-one fights he never got hurt," Hickey insists. "It will be four-round fights for him for awhile. He can't start at the top. But he's got plenty of stuff left. Just wait and you'll see."

Berlenbach hadn't fought before since May, 1928, when he retired. In his day he fought some mighty good fellows. He gave William Lawrence Stribling a terrific pasting in New York in 1925. He had Strib holding on for dear life throughout fifteen rounds and, of course, Berlenbach's hands were raised at the finish. He could hurt with that terrific left hook to the body and Stribling found it out in the first round.

The irony of it is that while Berlenbach is today getting $40 for a fight, Stribling will soon meet Schmelzing for the heavyweight championship of the world, a bout that should net the Atlantan a small fortune.

Berlenbach is only 30 years old. He says he has about $125,000 to old-time left hooks. The blow caught Clark on the button and it was curtains.

Well, sir, old Berly appeared to be as happy in his dressing room after the fight as if he had knocked out Max Schmeling. Eagerly he inquired: "How did I look?" The bangers on in the helmet-smelling room didn't have the heart to tell him "terrible."

Mayor Walker Asks Nothing

No Apology To Offer For Acts In Office

NEW YORK, April 13.—(UP)—Mayor James J. Walker, whose removal from office has been asked by political opponents and reformers, will ask "no quarter" and "no apology" for his acts. This much he revealed last night in his most forcible reply to the numerous charges which have been piled at his conduct, official and private, within the past year.

In his statement, made at a dinner given in his honor by the Jewish Historical Guild, brought thousands of new listeners.

"I come to you with no brief for myself," said the mayor. "I come to you with no apology for my public life. I come to you asking no quarter. I come to you for sympathy, and without ill will for any one."

"I am guilty of many shortcomings, as man goes, but when the day is completed there will not be included selfish political ambition. Twice Named

"I have been mayor of the city of New York, twice, elected—once of no further honor—that will come to me. But there are some things I want. I quarrel with no citizens, but I do have a quarrel with the man who would abuse or depreciate my services—the people I am devoted to in the city of New York."

It is scarcely two weeks before the Walker and Tammany will be called upon to defend their records in the broadest scrutiny ever made in the city's public offices. Samuel Seabury, who will conduct the investigation, and Senator Samuel H. Hofstadter, chairman of the legislative committee which will hear the evidence, are meeting today to speed plans for the start. By Wednesday, it is believed, Seabury will have completed his inquiry into the incompetence

Sterling Issues Pardon to Youth In Attack Case

AUSTIN, Texas, April 13.—(UP)—Governor Ross Sterling today formally issued a full pardon for James See, who had been convicted and given a 15 year sentence on a charge of attacking a girl in Dewitt county. Testimony at the trial was later admitted to have been false.

A general parole was issued for Josie Gonzales, negro, who was given a ten year term in Dallas County on a charge of killing her husband. The governor was told she understood she had arranged with an attorney for an appeal of the case, which was not made.

Paroles were issued also for J. L. Harmon who has served half of a 20 year sentence from Harris and Cherokee Counties as an accomplice to robbery with firearms and to Clifford Box who received a two year burglary sentence in Llano County.

The general parole of A. B. Daventport from a six year theft sentence in Bandera County was revoked on report that he had violated terms of the parole.

Why
let a paltry saving of 50c to 75c per gallon blind you to the big saving in Quality Paint?

FIGURE it for yourself. "Ordinary" house paint frequently costs 50c to 75c per gallon less than Acme Quality NEW ERA, the Quality house paint. But, only 13 gallons of NEW ERA House Paint give you a beautiful job that lasts 5 years. To do the same job requires 17 gallons of ordinary paint—and it lasts only 3 years. In other words, NEW ERA House Paint, at slightly higher price per gallon, costs less by the job and less by the year. It saves money for you every year and keeps your house looking better. Come in and let us figure out what this saving will be on your house. See the actual figures before you buy any house paint or let out any job.

that the ownership of pistols be prohibited—although such a proposal ignores the sacred constitutional provision which guarantees every man the right to possess weapons for his own defense; and further, the reform would leave the law-abiding citizens at the mercy of criminals who would obtain pistols smuggled into the country.

"Much the same situation exists. It seems to this writer, with reference to the importation of football players. Because an occasional transfer is due to the feet of some town to place a strong team on the gridiron, it is strongly urged that a rule be passed that would require all transfers in foreign football for a year.

"Let us consider some of the consequences of the one-year transfer rule. If a school teacher is offered a better position elsewhere than the one he now holds, his son couldn't play football his first year in the new town, though the transfer was entirely proper. If the administrative authorities assign a minister to a new pulpit, his son would be deprived of the opportunity of playing football that fall. If a man living in one part of the county were elected to a county seat and moved to the county seat, his boy would be barred from football. Or if a man were chosen for a state office and moved to Austin, his son would not be permitted to play. There is no one who will contend that this is right. And there will be more rigorous transfers, falling in these classes alone—the sons of school teachers, preachers and public officials—who will be prohibited from playing than all the improper transfers who would be barred.

"The one-year transfer plan provides that any boy can play after attending the new school a year. If he is there improperly, he shouldn't be allowed to play at all. The advocates of the rule should be consistent and go the whole distance in the matter. Furthermore, their rule would not remedy the situation. It would be an economical to bring a boy to a town and let him attend school a year as it would be to bring the boy AND HIS PARENTS (as is required now). This is no imaginary case either but at least one such instance where the boy moved in alone and went to school a year in order to be eligible is known.

"No new rule is needed. All that is necessary is for the district executive committee to ENFORCE THE PRESENT RULE. This provides that where a boy is induced to transfer for the purpose of football, he is ineligible. The power is already in the hands of the district committee to prevent improper transfers from playing and it is not necessary to pass a blanket rule that would place the "sheep" and the "goats" in the same category."

Collier Parish, Lubbock Avalanche-Journal sports editor, pays nice tribute to Cecil Reed, Bill Stevens distance runner. The Stevens won third place in the medley relay, their sole placement. "Though his team," remarks Parish, "placed only one event, the medley relay, Coach Bill Stevens of Big Spring High School entered a man that made the stands gasp. MYSTERIOUS WAVE

MYSTERIOUS WAVE
SYNOPSIS: John Wayne, who had been first to tell Dr. Charters of the murder of the physician's wife, is now in a "Spidee" Schütz, relates how he planted a confession implicating another. Safe from the law in Charters' nursing home where he has demanded asylum, Wayne defies him. Dr. MacAdoo and Mr. James to report him to the police. Charters and MacAdoo know that Wayne has learned of the promised payment to them of a large sum conditioned on certain developments in the illness of Marjorie Lauderdale, attractive patient. He knows too much generally to please them, but there are difficulties in the way of his "removal." In their presence, Wayne maneuvers from Dr. Studley the opinion that he is a sane and healthy patient; whom Wayne asks if Studley would be surprised should Wayne be found dead in bed.

NEUROUS INDIGESTION—II
As the title, nervous indigestion, implies, nerves as commonly understood have a definite bearing on digestion.

A tired brain, a fatigued body; worry, aggravation, anxiety and many other similar emotional and nervous states can and do affect the digestive process. This has been demonstrated many times over, clinically, that is, on patients, and experimentally on animals.

Getting worse, Doctor? he said again, suggestively.
"No," replied Dr. Charters. "Better."
"Getting better?"
"Steadily improving. Quickly getting better . . . and better."
Dr. MacAdoo smiled, as one to whom a nod is as good as a wink. "Ah! You want my help, eh, Doctor?"
"One of my private, particular, and peculiar 'drugs,' eh?"
"No, I think not, my dear Manoel. I fancy I can cure my patient myself, without any help whatsoever."
"In fact, under my treatment, she is making enormous strides."
"Getting better?" asked Dr. MacAdoo in some bewilderment.
"Fast. And she's going to get well."
"Going to get well?"
"Sure. So make no mistake about it."
"Why this change in your plans, Doctor? I mean in the medical history—the, er, 'the future medical history—of this case?'"
"Too risky," was the curt reply. "Simply because this man Wayne knows as much about it as we do, and hasn't shown his hand. He goes to work with hints, and shows that he knows the price, but he hasn't come to me with any talk of a rake-off for himself. . . . I don't like it. I tell you. He's got me guessing, and I'm worried," and again the Doctor sat in deep and anxious thought.

Where Genius Fails
IN a day when authors of the most banal of our popular song hits are richly rewarded, when their compositions are "plugged" and sung over the radio by special permission of the copyright owners, it is indeed strange to read that the composer of an enduring melody, and one probably destined to immortality, should die in poverty and obscurity.

High School History Club Has Interesting Museum Which May Be Put In Separate Quarters
By JOHN H. HUTTO
Something of the activities of the Current Events History Club of the Big Spring high school is well known, at least to the local readers of the Herald. This organization was perfected in October, 1929, under the sponsorship of Mrs. Mary Bumpas, teacher of history in the high school. At no time during the two years of its existence has the wisdom of its organization been in doubt. The extent of its usefulness and scope of its activities have surpassed the dreams of those that had to do with its organization. For the two years the club has been presided over by Jarrell Pickle, the first president, and J. H. Smith, the present incumbent.

By JOHN H. HUTTO
Material for the programs of the Club has been secured from cumulative concerns throughout the United States, such as mills, factories, mines, and from twenty-one United States ambassadors and ministers in foreign countries. This literature and information secured, supplemented by material from the school libraries, has culminated the student's interest in history and enables him to understand and appreciate the growth of history. The study of history, therefore has been vitalized to the student to such an extent that his horizon has been enlarged and he has been made to feel that he was a world citizen, making.

Chatter Here, Moreso There About Things
(By Lucille Rix)
Three cheers for the Latin team and an extra big one for their instructor! We didn't know, and we surely didn't realize what an excitingly bright Fish, Sops and Juniors we had going to our school. But it's very disappointing to the Seniors—As I have said before this is a world of disappointments. I have heard that such things are character builders—my character should be strong, but is it? How's yours today?

After ninety-nine one-hundredths of the student body had asked Kitty Wingo—the P. T. instructor—how her mumps were, two very prominent young ladies came to her rescue and with pencil and paper, made use of their ability for writing announcements and as a result the following announcement presented itself on the bulletin board. "Kitty Wingo did not have the mumps." Wasm? (that the very heights of "kindness"? Evidently someone didn't like the liberty they had taken because Wingo fore-it had been up fifteen minutes it suddenly disappeared. Who was the villain or villainess? We hope Miss Wingo wasn't bothered anymore.

Yeah—I've never known it to fail—the last month of school has always been the longest. And to make it worse the days are getting just a dab too warm about three fifteen to take the good exercises. Well, those of us who are Seniors can at least look forward to the week that we get off—but may the Heavenly Bodies have mercy on the others. "Beings as how" this sound cynical as far, I may as well add that there is future misery to go through—the wearing of the caps and gowns. By the way—have you been measured?

There shouldn't be so many more weeks pass before we get our coveted El Rodeo's, and then the rush will begin. Everyone will probably stay at school a couple of hours longer because he just can't get home and write some "little white lies" in his notebook. Well, even if some of the things are as Hamlet says, "Words, words, words," we like to believe that someone out of the mob told the truth.

My, my, what a siege of mess our school was hit by last week! Poor little Evelyn Merrill, widely known as "Eddy," has had a terrible cold, and isn't quite over it yet but she is bravely facing the trials and difficulties of school. Mattie Louise Hayes has also been at home with a bad cold and a plaster of something-or-other on her poor overburdened chest. And Mrs. Sligh's little girl, Valera, alias "Boney," was in bed with the same malady as the other two. This report sounds as though I am trying to fix them up in good standing with the teacher, doesn't it? But honest I am not. Not that I wouldn't try it if necessary, but they all three have been in bad shape, but perhaps I should say condition. I am quite sure that there is nothing wrong with their figures. Saturday I journeyed over to see the blondest of the trio and she was acting very peculiarly. I wonder what kind of medicine she had been taking. I'll bet a nice big chocolate ice cream cone, my favorite fruit, that "Hymie" Barney gets embarrassed when someone asks her to buy them some ice cream and she doesn't have the do-re-mi to perform the purchasing act. Do I win or don't I?

Well, the tennis ball swatting ability of our teams turned out fairly good. Page Miss Ruby Smith—congratulations Ruby, "old dear." We all expected something of you. In case everybody didn't know that Ruby won the District Championship for girls singles, I'm telling you. Now aren't we proud? In that loving cup will look nice beside the Latin cups. High School should be able to throw a regular stinger with all of these cups. Tommie Hutto, who so bravely struggled for boys singles, was beaten by—well, by someone—someone whose name was "Thwait"—believe I was being kidded when the helpful young gentleman in H. R. 211 was giving me his name or else, they were tongue-tied. Zillah Mae Ford and Dorothy Driver who compose the girls doubles team also went to the semi-finals, but the boys weren't any better than the boys doubles—Tom Hutto and Joe Edward Davis—trotted right on up to the semi-finals hanging onto the girls shirts. Pretty good—these kids and ladies.

These teachers up here—I mean at High School. Just can't figure them out. One time they tell our poor reporters absolutely nothing and the next time the reporter tries to find out about their past records—criminal or otherwise— they shoot such a line that it gets the reporter's brain in such a whirl that she can't tell what the all about; therefore, as far as "info" about some of our teachers is concerned, I am afraid that we will just have to use our imaginations. Oh well, anyway we can do that—let's try!

THE RESPONSIBILITIES in connection with the maintenance and growth of the museum have so increased that Mrs. Bumpas requested the club to appoint a nominating committee to take over its management. The report of the committee was unanimously accepted and the following trustees were duly elected at the last meeting of the club: For Coaches, Louis Hutto; for the Lomax community, R. C. Lomax; for the Chalk community, Mrs. Odis Chalk; for Big Spring, Judge J. T. Brooks; attorney, Miss Verba Baines; Mrs. B. F. Willis, Mrs. Albert Fisher, Mrs. L. L. Freeman, Miss Clara Pool, Prof. George Gentry, H. S. Faw, Miss Clara Cox, Dr. C. C. Carter, Mrs. E. H. Happle and Wendell of the city schools, Mrs. Pauline Brigham, superintendent of the county schools, and J. B. Pickle, mayor of Big Spring, are ex-officio members of the board of trustees. It is planned that the museum will be chartered at an early date and that a building will be constructed to house its valuable collection.

RITES ARRANGED
CORPUS CHRISTI, April 13 (UP)—Funeral services will be held Wednesday for E. H. Eldridge, district manager of the Central Power and Light company, who died of a heart attack while attending a week-end company party at Woodboro.

week by the house of the bill to take up outstanding county highway bonds from current revenues would have on the bond amendment, also was a moot question, many claiming its passage sounded the death knell of the bond amendment.

The bill, steered through and drafted by Representative Brooks of Bakwell, would set aside one-fourth of the gasoline tax receipts to create a fund to retire county bonds outstanding on the effective date of the bill. The vote on final passage was 77 to 29. Under the Brooks bill, the fund would be prorated according to the amount of gasoline taxes collected.

Brooks Bill

No action will be taken on the Brooks bill in the senate until the bond issue has been disposed of in the house. It was generally believed. Bond advocates claimed passage of the Brooks bill would paralyze the operation of the state highway department as far as construction of roads, other than federal designated highways, was concerned. They argued that the state would be unable to match the federal aid appropriations and improve state roads at the same time if it was forced to fund county bonds from current revenues.

Representative Dewey Young of Wellington, bond opponent, claimed there was less demand for the bond issue now than two years ago.

Representative Hubbard of New Boston, floor leader for the bond amendment and one of its authors, predicted it would have five votes to spare.

That efforts would be made by opponents to pair off their absent members with present members who would support the bond issue was predicted. One supported of

Many Visit Huge Traveling Show Of Kuppenheimer

Many Big Spring residents saw the famous Kuppenheimer Juggernaut--powerful playhouse on wheels--as it was displayed here Monday night. A free picture show was given on the old central ward school grounds, Fourth and Scurry streets.

The mammoth machine, said to be the greatest piece of automotive engineering and construction ever attempted, was brought here under the auspices of Albert M. Fisher Company department store, local Kuppenheimer clothes dealer.

In addition to being an ideal outdoor picture house, the bus is completely furnished as living quarters. The machine cost over $50,000.

Mother Finds Body Not That of Son; Other Relatives Seek Way Of Getting Funeral Money Back

FORT WORTH, Texas, April 12. (UPI)—A mother's joy Monday at finding that the body of the man tipped here Saturday night was not that of her son, was incomplete with longing to know the whereabouts of the son.

Meanwhile other relatives are preparing to bring suit, if necessary, against a Cairo, Ill., undertaker, to redeem $200 sent there for the return of the body supposed to be C. E. Dickerson, to Fort Worth.

The Illinois undertaking firm... the body of a man they believed to be Dickerson, 25, Fort Worth tailor, to his brother here. Arrangements had been made to hold the funeral Sunday.

Saturday night a brother-in-law, E. A. Franz, Waco, went to the Shannon's Funeral Home to view the body. When the casket was opened, Franz saw the face of a man about 45 years old instead of that of his brother-in-law.

Although relieved at knowing her son is not dead, Mrs. Dickerson is reported to be hysterical over not knowing her son's whereabouts.

According to Mrs. H. H. Dickerson they first received word of C. E. Dickerson's death Friday. A description was wired to them by the Cairo undertaker, she said, but she did not fit that of her brother-in-law. A card near the body of the man bore the name of Mrs. E. A. Franz and H. H. Dickerson.

A description of Dickerson known here as Pete, was wired back to Cairo, and the undertaker then wired that it fitted the description of the man.

Relatives forwarded $200 for expenses to send the body here, Mrs. Dickerson said Monday that a no-distance telephone call Sunday night brought no results in getting back their $200 or of the undertaking company reclaiming the body.
