SENATE GETS CLEAN POLITICS BILL TODAY

WASHINGTON, July 21.—The senate receives the Hatch "clean politics" bill for concurrence in minor house changes today. Then it goes to President Roosevelt for his signature or veto. Mr. Roosevelt's position on the bill is not known. It is designed to separate politics from relief and prohibit all federal government employes, except the president, the vice president, cabinet officers and other policy-making officials, from all political activity, including participation in presidential nominating conventions. It could cripple a national political machine. The bill was passed by the house late last night after its opponents had used every parliamentary maneuver they could think of to defeat it. The vote was 242 to 133.

Senate Committee Cuts Lending Bill Urged By President

WASHINGTON, July 21.—The senate banking committee lopped $400,000,000 off President Roosevelt's $2,800,000,000 lending program today. Then it added $90,000,000 for reclamation projects in the west. The committee, striving to complete work on the program before the week-end, trimmed the proposed outlay for toll roads, highways and bridges, from $750,000,000 to $500,000,000. It reduced the proposed lending authority for railroad equipment purchases from $500,000,000 to $350,000,000.

SMALL BOOM IS KILLED BY SENATE FAILURE

HYDE PARK, N. Y., July 21.—President Roosevelt said today that refusal of the senate to act at this session on neutrality has killed off a nice little business boom and will have an adverse economic effect until next January. Mr. Roosevelt, speaking at a press conference, again emphasized that full responsibility for refusal to revise the neutrality law must be accepted by the senate. The senate, he said, is gambling against the possibility of war this year, and the result of its refusal to act will have an adverse economic effect. The president described a conversation he had with a prominent business man this week. The business man, he said, discussed the effect the senate postponement may have on business, and they concluded that the postponement probably cut short a nice boom. With the international situation and its effects on this country highly uncertain, the president said, business men will hesitate to make commitments because they can have no idea of what form a neutrality bill will take if congress acts on the issue when it meets again next January.

Woman Asks That Death Of Former Husband Be Probe

FORT WORTH, July 21.—Frank Roberts, prominent local insurance agency chief, said today he suspected that Ronald S. Reynolds, his brother-in-law, was "poisoned for his money" at Macon, Ga. Roberts, speaking for his sister, Mrs. Reynolds, about 50, added that they both were sorry Mrs. Reynolds had received publicity because she asked the district attorney at Macon to investigate Reynolds' death, which occurred last May. Mrs. Reynolds had heard that a Macon coroner's jury tentatively ruled that Reynolds had died from poison after she had written the district attorney at Macon suggesting that an investigation of her estranged husband's death be made. Mrs. Reynolds and her husband were separated about four years ago.

Nearly One-Fourth of WPA Workers to Be Affected By Act

SAN ANTONIO.—Approximately 22 percent of the workers on WPA projects in Texas will be affected by the provision in the current appropriation act which requires that all workers except veterans who have been employed continuously by WPA eighteen months be dismissed for at least thirty days, according to H. P. Drought, state administrator. "Of the 80,918 certified workers currently employed on WPA projects, it is estimated that 17,600 have been employed continuously as long as 18 months," said Drought. "The law requires that such workers be dismissed and that any vacancies thus created below quota limitations be filled by other persons awaiting assignment to projects." At the expiration of a 30 day period those workers who have not been able to obtain private employment and are in need are eligible for re-certification to WPA. Re-certification does not imply that the returning workers will be reassigned to work immediately, Drought stated, but only that those re-certified will join the group awaiting assignment to projects. Reemployment depends entirely upon the availability of jobs, he said.

GERMANY DOES NOT WANT WAR OVER DANZIG

DANZIG, July 21.—The second Danzig-Polish border incident within two days was reported today by official Polish circles. They said that a Danzig customs official, Eugene Lipski, was arrested last night while trying to cross the frontier into Poland and was held pending investigation. BERLIN, July 21.—Germany expects a peaceful solution of the Danzig problem, probably within a matter of months, and does not intend to resort to war, a government spokesman said today. "We reject a warlike solution of the Danzig problem 100 per cent," the spokesman said. At the same time, he declared the Reich considered yesterday's shooting of a Polish custom man on the Danzig frontier, "is now liquidated." The repetition of the government's wish and intention to achieve a peaceful solution of the Danzig issue, came about in connection with discussion of the border incident, which the spokesman said the Germans have no desire to magnify.

Drivers Licenses Can Be Renewed In Ranger Next Mon.

Announcement was made here today that the Ranger Chamber of Commerce has secured assurance from the Texas Highway Patrol that Bill Angus, member of the patrol stationed in this section, would be in Ranger Monday for the purpose of issuing new automobile drivers' licenses and to stamp old licenses to make them valid in other states. It was pointed out that anyone who does not have a license must take a short driving examination to secure a new license, but where licenses are held by the driver, they must be stamped before driving in any other state. Those who anticipate going out of the state on vacations, or who will have occasion to drive in other states should have their licenses stamped, and thereby save themselves much trouble and delay. The licenses were issued three years ago for a three-year period, but the recent legislature failed to renew the act, extending the licenses. The attorney general has ruled that one must have one of the old licenses before driving a car, and that they should be stamped before going to some other state. Angus told Chamber of Commerce officials that, in addition to being in Ranger for that purpose Monday, he would be back on other occasions for the same purpose, if it was found there was a demand for this service. No charge is being made for new licenses or for having the old licenses stamped.

O'Daniel Faces A Problem On Return

AUSTIN, July 21.—Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel, back today from a week's visit at Mineral Wells, faced an important appointment decision, most of which likely will be deferred until next week. With those out of the way he will, at once, start on the plan to industrialize Texas, which he announced in his campaign. This the work which he said recently will prevent him accepting invitations to the various old settler conventions this summer. Early selection is expected for membership on the new public welfare board, which is to begin functioning on Sept. 1.

Oil Compact Has Completed Session

A Free City in South America Proposed

At the very moment when Europe is dimly contemplating the possible collapse of the perfectly sensible plan of a Free City of Danzig under League of Nations auspices, a somewhat similar plan has been proposed in South America.

Senator Oscar Valenzuela Valdes, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee of Chile, has proposed that his country's most northern city, Arica, be turned into a free port to serve the interests of Peru, Bolivia, and Ecuador.

This is a conception quite similar to that which at Versailles prevailed about Danzig. Danzig, predominantly German in population and tradition, stood in a location where a free Poland had to have access through it to the sea. Therefore, said the Versailles negotiators, let us give it neither to Germany nor to Poland, but let us make it a Free City through which both Germany and Poland may trade, and let us name a League of Nations commissioner to live there and see that the rights of both countries and their citizens are observed.

That was the theory, and a perfectly sensible, sane theory, too. What happened was that neither Poland nor Germany wholeheartedly accepted the theory. Each tried to increase its influence and power in Danzig, while the decay of the League made it impossible for the commissioner to halt the opposing ambitions of the two countries. Now these animosities have flared into such an incandescence that they may well ignite all Europe.

But all this does not discourage Senator Valenzuela. He believes that sanity may yet prevail in the world's affairs. So he proposes that Arica be made a Free City, believing that the loss of customs duties to the countries involved would be more than repaid by the great increase in trade which he believes would follow the opening of such an impressive gateway to the three countries.

Arica was the scene of as bitter fighting as ever raged in Danzig. On the great Morro headland that frowns above the sandy beach, Peruvians and Chileans fought it out in 1879 in as bitter a battle as the western world ever saw. The controversy over Arica and its neighboring Peruvian city, Tacna, remained unsettled until 1929. Chile got Arica.

How practicable the plan may be, and whether it stands a chance of adoption, is hard to judge at this distance. But it is significant that once again a proposal for a sane, peaceful, mutually-beneficial arrangement between three countries has been made in the western world, the only part of the globe which seems at the moment able to make them.

"OUT OUR WAY"

Gasoline Tax Rebate Provisions Are Explained

AUSTIN, Tex.—Farmers and gasoline dealers—as well as all others who under the law are entitled to a refund in gasoline taxes—were urged by Comptroller George Sheppard today to study the terms of a new state law making several material changes effective September 1.

Farmers are among largest users of gasoline upon which the tax is paid; and after September 1, Sheppard pointed out, the Comptroller can pay refunds only to those who purchased their fuel from licensed dealers. Hence it is important from the users' standpoint that they make certain the dealer is licensed.

The departmental analysis of the law showed that these changes were made:

1. Beginning September 1, 1939 the Comptroller is prohibited from issuing warrant in payment of a refund claim on any motor fuel not purchased from a licensed dealer.
2. All dealers in motor fuel for refund purposes must obtain licenses from the Comptroller authorizing such dealers to sell such motor fuel. Failure to obtain license subjects the dealer to criminal prosecution.
3. Licenses and invoices of exemption will be furnished the dealer, free of cost, by the Comptroller's Department when application is made therefor.
4. All invoices of exemption will be serially numbered, and each supply furnished a dealer by the Comptroller's department will be charged to such dealer, and an accurate account of all such invoices of exemption must be kept by the dealer. No other form of invoice of exemption may be used than that furnished by the Comptroller.
5. The dealer is required to keep accurate record of all motor fuel sold, for a period of two years.
6. Blank invoices of exemption not transferable or assignable unless authorized by the Comptroller. Dealer is not authorized to lend or give away invoices of exemption, as he must keep accurate books, records and account of all invoices of exemption issued to him.
7. Invoices of exemption must be issued at the time of delivery of the motor fuel. Heretofore such invoices have been issued at the time of sale.
8. Unless the users of refund motor fuel and the dealers who sell refund motor fuel are advised of this change in the law a great deal of confusion will result and a lot of refund claims will not be payable. It is, therefore, important that each user of refund motor fuel who expects to file claim for a refund of the tax acquiesce himself with the new provision of the law.

Factory Opens In A New, Windowless Five-Acre Plant

By United Press

FITCHBURG, Mass.—Believed the world's first windowless factory, the Simonds Saw & Steel Company's new plant is in full operation here.

Everything from forging and heat treating of steel to the sharpening of saws, machine knives, files and other cutting tools manufactured by the 107-year-old company is done in a single five-acre room.

Some 700 employees who previously worked in plants here in Chicago now work at the factory in two eight-hour shifts five days a week. Shadowless illumination is provided by 1,400 100-watt fluorescent tubes.

Air-conditioning units in the building extensions adjoining the huge room circulate 400,000 cubic feet of air a minute. In summer the air is cooled by being forced through sprays of water while in the winter it is heated.

Gases are drawn off by the underground flue exhaust system while 30 dust removal units clean the air of steel particles and dust. Walls of acoustic blocks and cork-filled ceiling absorb sound.

"There ain't much more a feller could ask for than this..."

There's a heap o' goodness in each bottle

There's a calm sort of satisfaction about a shady bank, a good companion and SOUTHERN SELECT—a sort of solid friendliness that grows with time. That's the way most folks feel about SOUTHERN SELECT. We don't claim it's the best beer made, because that's a matter of personal taste. But we do know that it's a fine beer and that after most folks have tasted a couple of bottles of SOUTHERN SELECT they are mighty partial to it and mighty hard to switch to any other brand. We think you'll feel that same way, too.

CLEANERS IN VICTORY OVER VISITING TEAM

By WENDELL SIEBERT
A slugging bunch of league landing Modern Dry Cleaners pumped to an easy victory over De Leon to the tune of 19 to 0 after the murderer's row from the cleaning factory rocked Allison and Woods out of the park. Troy Taylor continued his usual game by limiting the visitors to a single hit, while Modern batsmen continued to unwrap the cowhide by laying the ole hickory bat against Slugging Johnny Hart, a new addition to the Modern aggregation, has already proved his value by rapping out a homer in each of the two games he has worn a Modern uniform. The cleaners jumped away to a clean lead in the second inning which they failed to relinquish for the remainder of the game.

RANGER IS TO PLAN FEATURES FOR LABOR DAY

A meeting of all the merchants and all citizens interested in promoting the interests of Ranger, has been called for Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock by Mayor Hall Walker. The meeting will be held in the offices of the Chamber of Commerce.

The purpose of the meeting is to plan a big celebration to be staged in Ranger during Labor Day.

It was pointed out that other towns in this section of the country had celebrations during the summer, most of them on July 4th but that Ranger had nothing of the kind planned. Eastland and Cisco had big celebrations on the Fourth of July. Gorman is now staging an Indian Trail Festival, and early in August Desdemona is to have its annual homecoming and reunion.

It is thought that Ranger should have some kind of entertainment during the summer months, to attract crowds, and since no nearby town has anything planned for Labor Day, it is expected that it could be made a big occasion, and become an annual event.

Every merchant in town was urged to attend the meeting Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock in order that they might hear the tentative plans for the celebration, and to offer any suggestions that they might have.

Those making the trip were Jim Smith, Bob Smith, Willis Clark, Byron Gordon, Dan Davenport, Jack Pearsall, Mack Morris, J. J. Don Meroney, Frank Johnson, Travis Bynum, Leldon Martin, Buster Kribbe, Richard Cox, Morris George, Wayne Richardson, James Mitchell, Carrol Boon and Perry Yancey.

Rev. Tally was made an offer to become pastor of the Baptist church there, but he said today, he felt that he could be of more service by remaining at his present position, though the Childress offer was very attractive.

Pittsburgh Man Is Elected President Of Country's Lions

CHICAGO—A new King Lion was crowned today in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, when the international convention of Lions Clubs unanimously elected Alexander T. Wells of New York City president of Lions International. Wells, who is a lawyer, served the past year as first vice president and was United States representative upon the International Council of Lions Clubs. He succeeds retiring president Walter F. Dexter, state superintendent of public instruction in California.

The voting concluded a four-day convention climaxing the association's greatest year of growth. In the past twelve months charters were issued to 557 new Lions Clubs, an all time high, and more than 17,000 net gain in membership was reported to the convention by Secretary General Melvin Jones of Chicago. Lions Clubs are now the most numerous service club in the United States and Canada. There are 3,500 in the association, with a membership of 125,000.

The new president is a native of New York city, where he has always lived. He was educated in the public schools and at St. Lawrence Academy, New York; Dwight Preparatory School and the New York Law school. He has been a member of the Bar of the State of New York for the past thirty-three years.

Wells has held many offices both in his own Lions Club and in the International Association. He is a past district governor of New York state, has served on the board of directors, was chairman of the committee on international relationships for one year, and in 1936 was elected third vice president. In succeeding years he has been unanimously elected to fill the second and first vice presidencies.

Doc Townsend plans radio broadcasts for funds. He might get results—if the programs he cuts off are more speeches, not entertainment.

College Men Win At Bridge With Co-eds

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn.—Men, it seems, are better players than women, according to a University of Minnesota bridge tourney, where men players carried off all top honors at duplicate contract. Co-eds attributed their complete rout at the hands of the male players to "too much talking at sorority bridge parties, which spoils our game." The men students said they played less frequently but made more a science of it.

"Tarzan" Fad threatens as pulling railroad cars becomes craze.

Men display brawn by towing cars 1,000 times their own weight—Roller bearings, not spinach, turn the trick.

PULLING railroad cars around is the latest fad. It seems the new trains are being equipped with roller bearings which make them roll so easily that almost anyone can now turn Tarzan and amaze his friends by walking off with a railroad car in tow. Would-be strongmen all over the country are hitching themselves up to cars weighing 1000 times their own avoirdupois, and the old complaint that machines take work away from men may be upset as manpower threatens to do railroad locomotives out of their jobs.

Professional strongman Charles Atlas started it all a few weeks ago in New York City when he towed the 145,000 pound observation car of the Broadway Limited 112 feet in a demonstration of what roller bearings are doing for railroading. Then Rudolph Pestalozzi read about the stunt out in Milwaukee and became incensed at the attention Atlas's feat attracted. Mr. Pestalozzi, it seems, pushes a streamlined car around every so often in the course of his job as switchman at the Milwaukee depot, and never thought very much about it. So the other day he staged a little tug-of-war of his own with a 110,000 pound car. Railroad officials and reporters cheered as Mr. Pestalozzi marched down the track, his car in tow, without so much as a grunt from either of them.

Since then, reports of a minor epidemic of car-pulling have been coming in from all over the country. It reached the contest stage recently when he-men in Detroit, Chicago, Los Angeles, and even Atlanta began issuing claims to the car-pulling championship of the world. Now the craze is either going to receive fresh impetus or be nipped in the bud, as the result of a picture which the Timken Roller Bearing Company of Canton, Ohio, produced. The picture shows no brawny man towing a mere 72-ton car, but a full-blown six-wheeled 160-ton locomotive as it was pulled along a track at Canton over a year ago by three small boys. There is a report that three girls duplicated the stunt at a later date.

Inside story on how the trick is possible comes from W. F. Sanders, prominent bearing engineer. "The old style friction bearings offer tremendous starting resistance," he says. "When a series of tapered metal cylinders—roller bearings—are inserted in races between the axle and its stationary support, the wheels turn so freely that starting resistance is reduced 85%. It then becomes possible for a man to pull a railroad car 1000 times his own weight."

Farm Purchases To Get Federal Help

DALLAS, Texas—The United States government will put $1,369, 298 into Texas within the next year to help 542 families to purchase farms, according to word received from Washington by C.

There's just one thing the public would like to know about the farm situation. If there is a line between drought and flood condition, when does it ever come, and where?

The Unkindest Cut Of All

Regardless of whether Mrs. Patricia Dean fogged a lamp at him, whether he got it by scraping his left arm against the corner of a glass bedstand, here is the six inch cut that caused Dizzy Dean to be sent home by the Chicago Cubs. Dr. John F. Davis, club physician, called it a superficial wound.

CHAPTER XIII

A MAN can grow a very good beard in three to five months. Mr. John Sawyer, formerly known as Carl Quait, No. 32283, spent almost four months growing his after he got a job with the Imperial Feldspar Corporation near Kingman, Ariz. The Imperial was handling 600 tons of feldspar and silica per month, and John, Carl, worked with 20 other men in an isolated canyon with scarcely no chance to come to town.

Sawyer's top hair grew too; it had been cut very short in January, but by summer it was scraggly again. Both his long hair and his beard combined to make him a very different man from what he had appeared at, say, Christmas time.

On a day early in the summer the town boss rode out with a few "comforts" for the men up in the canyon. Included was a batch of newspapers. Sawyer was keen to read them. When bedtime came he was suddenly excited. In one of the Sunday papers more than a week old was a full-page feature article, with five good photographs of a most interesting tale. Oddly Sawyer went right then and gave it to his boss and told him he'd have to quit.

"Um, hit you all at once, didn't it, Sawyer?" the boss asked, curiously.

"Yep. But I got to go for a spell. I might come back later, if you need me."

"Well, you done all right here. I'll have to put on another man now, but I could write you if you want me to, when there's another spavin'. Where you from? Your address? You never did give me a place, when you come here?"

"Reckon I'll be around Tucson," Sawyer suggested. "Home country for me, there. Never been out of Arizona, matter of fact."

Mr. Sawyer had to walk in to Kingman that night, so impatient was he. The old newspaper had disturbed him.

NEXT day at Kingman he bought papers from Phoenix, Albuquerque and Los Angeles. One of them was a Sunday paper again, later than the first he had read.

And by George if it didn't have some more news that excited him! One picture this time, of a lot of college students in New York City, and a short article underneath.

Mr. Sawyer promptly rented a car in Kingman and drove out on Highway 66. He was considerably worried and he wasn't sure what to do. Riding along, it occurred to him that he had best begin with being extremely careful. True, six months changes a man, makes people forget a lot of things and even makes officers of the law become negligent about an old man-hunt; but then a man who had robbed a payroll and killed a man would have to be cautious all his life.

He pulled up after an hour or so at a small roadside stand in the Joshua forest country. Back of the stand was a large signboard saying:

Turn here to GOLDCREST ARIZONA'S PICTURESQUE GHOST TOWN

He read that and the smaller lettering under it, and pulled up to say good morning to the old man who was in charge of the stand.

"Got any cold drinks?" he asked. "Soft drinks. Goin' in to Goldcrest?"

"Plain lemon. No, can't spare the time. What's going on up there?" Mr. Sawyer eyed the old timer shrewdly.

"Why plenty, friend! Four young people've opened it up for showing. Cost you a dollar, and with it, 'This is a genu-wine—'

"I know about it. I've seen it, years ago. They opened up everything, eh? The old hotel, stores, jail, bank and everything, no doubt?"

"Nope, not yet. They ain't opened the jail yet. It has to be repaired some to be safe. Likewise the mine shaft itself."

"Opened the business houses? All of 'em?"

"Couldn't open the bank vault, I heard 'em say. Locked. Rusted. Two, three old cellars, too. Mostly dirt."

"Um," said Mr. Sawyer. "Interesting place. Hope they make money out of it."

"Them kids is smart, mister, mme tell you. They'll do well."

"Kids, eh? They live up there? All the time?"

"Yep. Mrs. Maude Hogan, she cooks for 'em, sees to 'em. They stick to business. It's a lot of tourists comes in. Hundred—"

"onec due here day after tomorrow. Here comes a car in now, too."

Mr. Sawyer paid the old fellow, but loitered a half an hour longer chinning. Then he got in his car and drove on. Down the road two miles he halted and waited an hour. Then he turned back, driving fast. He didn't think the roadside vendor would recognize his car if he just sped on by, returning to Kingman. Mr. Sawyer had done a deal of thinking. He had evolved a definite plan and he regretted having to wait two days to put it into operation.

WHEN he got back to Kingman he turned in his rented car, took a quiet hotel room, then went to a barber shop.

"I'm getting too gray," he mentioned, in the chair. "Can't you just—uh—"

"I can touch it up and take 15 years off," the barber said. "What about the whiskers? They got some white ones."

"Tevch them up, too. Make it good."

The barber wasn't rushed. He did a good job. Mr. Sawyer, or Mr. Quait, looked even reasonably handsome when the job was done.

He bought a new suit of clothes and other articles to dress himself inconspicuously. Then he set out to buy a few books. But in a town the size of Kingman there are no bookstores. He did manage, however, to acquire plain spectacles and an umbrella and a suitcase.

He went back to his hotel and sat down to be patient. When opportunity offered he informed the clerk and other guests that he welcomed the chance to get back to civilization, since he had been out in the fields doing some special mineralogical studies for several months. In a day or two, he said, he would be ready to head back east again.

Then he wished he hadn't talked so much. Somebody would likely remember that he had posed and worked as a mine laborer at the Imperial Feldspar. Why, he was almost a fool! It wouldn't do to get careless now.

The thought worried him all that night and into next day when he kept to his room pretending to be reading. So the second afternoon he set out abruptly to go buy himself a pistol and some shells.

He was already in the hardware store before he remembered that, in his present pose, he would look conspicuous buying a gun. He lied diplomatically and excused himself. He had seen a heavy .44 calibre pistol under the hotel clerk's counter anyway.

The second night he slipped downstairs at 2 a. m. and got the clerk's pistol, being careful to see that it was fully loaded. The clerk hadn't even discovered his loss when Mr. Sawyer departed on the regular bus at 8 the next morning.

CHAPTER XIV

FRANKLIN LARRAWAY, under protest, was standing on a rock at the highway turnout, singing in a genuinely good baritone: Ho-o-o-o-o, for the days on the range! Blinking days, blinking days, blink on the open range! Sing you the wail of the lariat's loop, sing you the wail of the lariat's loop, sing you the wail of the lariat's loop! The jubilation whoop--- of the cowboys whose daring and generous sharing work and of pleasure bring joy to the range. Ho-o-o-o-o, for the western range!

He finished with a dramatic flourish, a high note and the applause was enthusiastic. A dozen or so travelers waited with Roselee, Christine, Dick and the three all-time cow hands whom they had hired as part of the "atmosphere" for Goldcrest. As were the three, Franklin was attired this morning in cowboy costume. He had borrowed a gun from one of the cowboys to accompany himself and Christine Palmer had gazed happily at him while he sang. It was her idea that he help entertain the waiting crowd, and it had proved to be an excellent idea.

A coupe slowed down and stopped. Roselee greeted the two women who were in it.

"Good morning. Were you interested in seeing Goldcrest?"

"No, ma'am. But if you will please wait for a few minutes--- we are having a lot of fun--- we will all go in together. You see, we have all our guides here this morning to greet a special bus party at 10 o'clock. They're due any time. We're having songs."

Roselee smiled at them, and her blue left dimple flared, and the two women in the car smiled back and said they'd wait.

"More than a hundred college students and some faculty members from a New York university are coming." Roselee went on. "Buses of them, on a coast-to-coast tour."

"How lovely! I'll bet they read about you in the papers. We saw your write-up several places, my dear. I think it's marvelous. We can hardly wait to see your ghost town."

"Thank you," Roselee smiled again at them. "Mr. Larraway here is our advertising man. He's the one who was singing when you drove up. He worked on college publications, and sent a lot of material in to the newspapers and all."

"Did you have to pay to get it published? I should think--"

"Oh no. We did buy some advertising, and it helped a lot. But then the news writers and the picture magazines seemed to discover us and they gave us far more attention than we ever expected, really."

"I'm sure you deserved it." Christine called out then. "Here come the buses, Roselee!"

THE five large buses took 20 minutes in arriving because they had been separated on the highway. Two or three more private cars pulled up during that interval, too. Dick Bancroft greeted them. Franklin and the two girls were busy with the college crowd, but when the last bus came Dick and Roselee, riding in their light service truck, led the caravan car the rough two miles to the ghost town. Franklin and Christine rode with the visitors, trying to show as much hospitality as they could. For one thing they enjoyed being hospitable, especially since this was a group of collegians approximately their own age, but aside from that was the salient fact that this morning's callers represented a money take--- which would approach $200 all told.

When they had all alighted again at the edge of Goldcrest, to walk slowly through the now routine routing worked out by Dick and Franklin and Roselee and Christine, the crowd was more like a picnic assembly or a youth before a football game. Youth dominated the guests this morning. Boys and girls were making the inevitable wisecracks and asking upward of a million questions. More sedate adults could only follow and look on, but the good spirits there were contagious.

They saw the old abandoned residences. The corrals and blacksmith shops. The feed stores---one with a bell which they rang and heard echo powerfully in the great rocky canyon where the interesting old graveyard, and other business places were all visited.

When the four owner-managers had escorted the guests at last to Mrs. Hogan's place in the Ace Hotel for lunch, ordered in advance, one elderly member of the New York college faculty approached Roselee and shook her hand.

"I must say, Miss Dale," he smiled, "that you may find some places to disappoint us on this western tour, but your ghost town surely lives up to the publicity."

No Stamping Fee Required on Licenses

AUSTIN, Tex.—Automobile drivers need pay no fee for having their drivers' cards rubber-stamped to show that they are good until April, 1941. Stamping the extension on the cards was ordered when the legislature refused to pass a new licensing law. The stamping is not necessary for travel in the state as all officers know of the extension. To travel out of the state, however, it is desirable because patrolmen elsewhere may question validity of the cards, which on their face expired last April. Notice of the extension will be rubber-stamped at any patrol office.

No State Tax to Be Fixed At Meeting of Board Thursday

AUSTIN, Tex.—The state tax will not be fixed at the initial meeting of the State Automatic Tax Board which is scheduled for July 20. At that time the board will have to recess. It will be impossible to go ahead with the tax rate levy though there is no doubt that the constitutional maximum of 77 cents on $100 valuation will be levied. Technically the board will be unable to levy the tax before July 24 because the State Board of Education will not set a state apportionment until July 24. The law requires the tax board to levy a school tax sufficient to meet the apportionment. Another cause for delay is the lack of tax assessment reports from many counties. About half have not been received.

Huge Livestock Show is Planned At the State Fair

DALLAS, Texas—Plans are being made to have one of the largest livestock shows ever held in the entire South at the 1939 State Fair of Texas, Oct. 7 to 22, it has been announced here by Frank P. Holland, director in charge of livestock. Premiums have been increased in practically every classification of livestock. Beef cattle alone has been increased to more than $20,000, and one of the features of the livestock show will be the Hereford classification for which $10,000 in awards will be made. Due to the increased herds of dairy cattle in Texas premiums for this classification has been increased to $7,500, as have the awards offered in the various swine classifications. Texas has rapidly forged ahead during the past few years as the outstanding beef cattle state in the entire union, and are selling many animals of registered stock to farmers of the South and the Southeast for breeding purposes. State Fair officials plan to invite many officials and visitors from Southwestern states to visit the Hereford and other livestock shows at the Texas Fair. The governmental cotton program of the past few years has necessitated the change of cotton acres to feed stuffs and farmers in former cotton belts are turning to livestock to dispose of these crops. "The Breeder-Feeder movement has thoroughly demonstrated the fact that beef cattle can be bred, fed and finished in Texas or any other cotton state," Mr. Holland said. "The government program has helped in this and Texas and other cotton states will be finishing more livestock each year."

CHICAGO.—Old Man Accident let no moss grow under his feet last year (1938) as he peddled his deadly wares. The National Safety Council in its annual yearbook, Accident Facts, just off the presses, records that accidental deaths occurred as follows during 1938: 1 every 5 1-2 minutes. 17 every hour. 260 per day. 1,800 each week. 94,000 killed for the year. Non-fatal injuries suffered in accidents occurred at an even more startling rate: 1 every three seconds. 17 per minute. 1,000 every hour. 24,000 each day. 170,000 each week. 8,900,000 injuries for the year. The Council audited the cost of last year's accidents at $3,300,000,000. This sum covers the cost of all accidental injuries, plus property damage from motor vehicle accidents and fires.
