Kiel Canal: British Bomb Target

German warships like the "Hessen," pictured passing through Kiel Canal, were targets of first British bombing raid of war. British planes reported two hits in initial attack on naval bases at Wilhelmshaven and Brunsbuttle, the latter at North Sea entrance to the canal.

Roosevelt Studies Plans For Session Of Congress Soon

By United Press
HYDE PARK, N. Y., Sept. 9.—President Roosevelt, ostensibly spending a quiet week-end at his family home, considered plans for a special session of congress which will be asked to repeal the neutrality act arms embargo that has blocked further shipments of airplanes and war materials to Great Britain and France.

Seeking respite from the job of preserving neutrality, he retired to almost complete seclusion.

He was in communication with the state department, receiving latest reports from Europe, and with his white house aides, who forwarded background and information in connection with the special congressional session, which he will call.

Mr. Roosevelt, in position of broader powers than any president since Woodrow Wilson, was expected to bide his own time in calling the session.

ENGLAND SAYS NO PEACE UNTIL NAZIS REMOVE ALL TROOPS

NAZIS CLAIM POLISH ARMY'S BACK BROKEN

By United Press
By JOE ALEX MORRIS
Nazis claimed, Saturday night that Adolf Hitler's armies had broken the backbone of Polish resistance against the German invasion.

Marshal Goering informed the German nation that the reich expected to crush Poland within a week, releasing more than 1,000,000 troops for service against Britain and France.

He put up a case for Germany, however, by declaring that Germany would not attack France, but would fight to the uttermost against invasion.

Goering's statement was calculated to go down in the historical records to absolve Germany of the "war guilt" pinned on her by the Versailles treaty, which has ever been a thorn in the side of Germans.

Poland was putting up a desperate fight against the German invasion, but indications so far were that it was a losing one. Reports were that German troops have occupied about one-third of Poland, towards the west, which includes three-fourths of the country's industrial area and most of its fertile farm regions.

By United Press
LONDON, Sept. 9.—Great Britain made known Saturday night in advance through an official spokesman that it refuses to negotiate peace with Germany until the reich forces are entirely withdrawn from Poland.

The spokesman's statement constituted a reply to the address earlier in the day of Marshal Hermann Goering, second in command to Adolf Hitler, in which Goering indicated Germany is ready for an "honorable" peace.

The spokesman described the withdrawal of German troops from Poland as Britain's minimum condition for cessation of hostilities.

The British war cabinet has decided to base its policies on the assumption the war will last three years or more, the ministry of information announced.

The cabinet made its decision at a meeting Saturday morning.

It instructed all government departments to make certain plans for the future shall be prepared on the assumption that the war would last three years.

Meanwhile, the information ministry said, measures for which preparations have been made are being brought into active operation.

The official spokesman lent emphasis to an intensified British drive to control "contraband" and cut off Germany's supply of essential war materials.

Explaining Britain's unwillingness to talk peace with Hitler now, a responsible British authority declared that Britain went to war to right the wrong inflicted on Poland, and that the government of Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain is determined to insure that such attacks as those on Czechoslovakia and Poland will not be repeated on the remaining independent European states.

The conviction was expressed in quarters close to the government that peace parleys now would mean at best a short breathing space, after which German aggression would be loosed on Hungary, Rumania and probably Jugo-Slavia.

14th Session Of Ranger College To Start Monday

With the largest enrollment in its history anticipated, Ranger Junior College opens its 14th annual session Monday morning, September 11th. A new college bus has been purchased and it will be operated from De Leon through Gorman, Carbon, Eastland, and Olden, to Ranger.

With two new departments added new opportunities are opened to the young people of the territory around Ranger. The fine arts department will offer work in piano, voice, and violin under the able direction of Elwood Priesing, who is an able musician and an experienced teacher.

The shop work will be under the direction of H. A. Tillett, W. J. Barr, and C. M. Fuller. Young men seeking vocational training in either woodwork, metal work, mechanics, or radio engineering will be afforded an opportunity that has no equal in the State of Texas.

Registration in the college will continue all day Monday and the opening exercises for the year will be held Tuesday at 10 a. m.

The public is cordially invited to this opening.

Game Warden In Move To Breck.

BRECKENRIDGE, Sept. 9.—O. F. Etheredge, formerly of Brownwood, where he was game warden in two counties in that section has moved to Breckenridge and will have charge of seven counties in this section.

These counties will be Stephens, Shackelford, Eastland, Callahan, Haskell, Throckmorton and Young.

The greatest trouble being experienced by wardens at present, he said, is road hunting. When any one road hunts he usually breaks two laws, he said. Hunting from an automobile and shooting in the road. It is also illegal to stand on one side of the road and shoot game on other side.

Government Rests In "Scandal" Case

By United Press
NEW ORLEANS, La., Sept. 9.—The government rested its case today against five men being tried on charges of mail fraud in connection with the current Louisiana scandals which caused the governor and president of LSU to resign.

The defendants are Seymour Weiss, millionaire hotel owner an done of the group Huey Long left to run his political machine; Monte Hart; James Monroe Smith, former president of LSU; J. Emory Adams, Smith's nephew by marriage; and Louis C. Lesage, former oil company executive.

Eastland School Students Due To Register Monday

Approximately one-fifth of Eastland's population will go to school Monday.

Approximately 1,000 students are to enter school.

Injunction Granted Against Injunctions By District Judge

By United Press
AUSTIN, Sept. 9.—The Texas Supreme Court, in a special session today, granted a temporary injunction against H. Fountain Kirby of Groesbeck, judge of 77th district court, to prevent him from enjoining operations of the state truck load limit law.

Attorney General Gerald C. Mann was granted permission to file for a writ of mandamus to enjoin Judge Kirby permanently, from granting injunctions to any and all persons who may apply to him to have the law known as "the motor truck law" nullified or to have its enforcement restrained.

Pedestrian Deaths Claim Attention Of Safety Department

AUSTIN, Tex.—Department of Public Safety officers today prepared to combat pedestrian deaths with renewed activity as schools opened over the state, shopping increased and public gatherings became more numerous.

Recalling that the pedestrian death toll rose disastrously to 291 from last September to June while 1,335 others were seriously injured, state police warned that a repetition of that toll is likely unless walking precautions are taken. Seventy-four school age persons were injured fatally when struck down by vehicles in that period. This, safety officials pointed out, shows the need for pedestrian drills among students, more precaution on the part of parents and increased pedestrian and driver vigilance.

Preliminary to its autumn, winter and spring campaign for pedestrian safety state police offered rules for the walking public, violations of which have caused the greatest number of deaths and injuries. The rules are:

1. Cross only at intersections and then only when the signal light favors you and vehicular traffic has cleared.
2. Look in all directions while crossing streets and highways.
3. Discharge passengers at curbs and have them alight from the side of the vehicle nearest the curb. Discharge school children at the curb on school sides of streets so they will not have to cross streets.
4. Do not stand off of curbs but remain on sidewalks.
5. Face oncoming traffic when necessary to walk on streets or highways.
6. Pedestrians should carry flashlights at night to warn approaching vehicles of their presence.

France Continues Her Advance On Western Front

By United Press
PARIS, Sept. 9.—Continued progress on the western front despite local enemy counter attacks was reported in an official war communique tonight.

"Important heights were taken through the brilliant action of one French division," the communique said.

German artillery was most active in attempting to stem the French advance, the war office continued.

It announced, also, that French aerial reconnaissance continued, despite the efforts of German chasers.

Eastland county continued its steady increase in oil production this week as location for 2,700-foot test was announced.

The new location is Dobbs Oil section No. 1 B. Pierce, 330 from the south and east of the Hiram Walker survey, and one-half miles southeast of the well. The well lies east of Dobbs No. 1 Greer, completed four months and given a 60-potential, by one-half mile. Work was rigging up on the location.

Activities in this section include:

GERMANS BOMB DEFENSELESS POLISH TOWN

By United Press
(EDITOR'S NOTE: Edward W. Beattie, Jr., United Press correspondent, who spent the opening days of the war in Warsaw, has reached Bucharest, Rumania, and has filed the following, uncensored dispatch).

By Edward W. Beattie, Jr.
BUCHAREST, Rumania — On the road from Warsaw to the Rumanian border there is a little market town called Tomaszow, and tonight half of it is in ashes and 30 of its inhabitants lie dead.

The town and the dead—including the village doctor—are the victims of a German air raid against a village that seemed to be of no military value whatever.

I rode into Tomaszow five hours after bombardment and saw what explosive and incendiary bombs can do to a town built of wood and plaster.

The terror from the sky struck Thursday, a day on which big two-motored German bombers turned their attention to Poland's agricultural center.

Aside from the fact that Tomaszow lies across the wide road from Lemberg to Lublin, one of the best in Poland and important in the transportation of troops, the town has no military value.

But the Germans struck from the sky, and when they winged away flames were leaping from the houses, 30 were dead and a score wounded. There was no hope for the seriously wounded. The village doctor, only man who could aid them, lay dead, too.

The Germans were able to penetrate so deeply into Poland, because the Polish army, on advice of British and French general staffs, retreated in good order. The strategy was to try to keep as many troops as possible massed in Poland until France and Britain could strike a telling blow on the western front.

Apparently it was successful. There can be little doubt the Polish army is largely intact. Much of it never went to battle at all against the Germans, and in all cases that I observed, the morale of the Poles seemed excellent.

Ranger Schools To Open On Monday

The 1939-40 session of the Ranger Public Schools will open Monday morning, September 11 at 9 o'clock. A delightful year of learning and pleasant association looms ahead for each student and each faculty member.

The buildings have been renovated and the interior appearance of each school has been improved. The Board of Education is making some important changes in drinking fountains and lavatory facilities in the ward schools which will be for the health and safety of the children.

Each of the Ward Schools will register the pupils Monday morning and hold their opening exercises, and begin regular work on Tuesday morning at 8:30.

In the high school registration will continue all day Monday and Tuesday morning at the high school. Tuesday morning at 10:00 the opening exercises will be held in the high school auditorium, and the public is cordially invited to this program.

Class work for the high school will begin Tuesday afternoon at 1:00 o'clock.

Moving Lighthouse Intact Is Success

By United Press
WARWICK, R. I.—Despite a trying experience, Warwick Light continues to warn mariners of the dangerous rocks over which its green beacon flashes.

Although moved 50 feet from its former site, the lighthouse has not missed a day's operation. The New England hurricane of last fall had badly undermined the heavy iron tower's foundation and the U. S. Lighthouse Service decided it was best to move it to higher ground.

Workmen first lifted it with heavy jacks and logs, and when a heavily planked runway was ready, the light was rolled to its new foundation—one of heavy concrete and eight feet high.

Since the 500-watt beacon operates on privately supplied electric extend the wiring so that the light current, it only was necessary to would shine at night. This was an easier task than the one confronted for 12 nights after the "big wind," when Edward Murphy, keeper, operated the light with a portable generator.

The light formerly glowed from a height of 51 feet, but now will gleam from a height of 63 feet above the water.

Warwick light was constructed only seven years ago, but its predecessors had functioned since 1826.

Carnegie Show Of Art Now Assured

By United Press
PITTSBURGH — This year's Carnegie International Art Exhibition will go on, war or no war.

This is the verdict of John J. O'Connor, assistant director of the Carnegie Museum here, scene of the annual world-wide art exhibit, scheduled to open on Oct. 19.

Many of the 250 paintings from European countries are in transit and some already are in the United States, O'Connor explained. The first shipment was dispatched Aug. 4 on the steamship Bremen, and consisted of the work of German artists.

O'Connor emphasized, however, that the museum has made no special effort to have European entries arrive early this year, even in view of European tension.

The museum, he said, pays the cost of transporting paintings "from wall to wall." Only a few companies are willing to insure articles with a value so indefinite as paintings. War, therefore, O'Connor explained, would naturally multiply the risks and cost of shipping works of art.

O'Connor is particularly anxious to avoid a repetition of what happened during the World War. At the outbreak of hostilities, the museum had to hold some paintings and had them on their hands for the duration of the war.

It Is Now the Time for Performance... One hundred per cent of the electric power facilities of the state of Tennessee are now publicly owned.

Public ownership of power, for 50 years a dream of the comparatively small coterie of its backers, is today a reality throughout one of the 48 states.

And so it is. The TVA was created May 18, 1933. For six years the twin struggles have been going on—the struggle against nature in building the great dams across the Tennessee river system, and the struggle against human nature as the privately owned utilities fought to keep their place in this gigantic field.

We shall see. Wilkie, whose stubborn defense of his corporation against what is to him "unfair and subsidized government competition," won praise even from his opponents, says no. He is skeptical of the government operation, especially if the government will operate under the rules it has laid down for private utilities as to bookkeeping, tax charges, and financing.

WHAT HAPPENED IN 1914-18?

This was the period of the great World War. Prices on all commodities shot upward out of all reason, and now as another world conflict seems imminent, we can see signs of another abnormal situation in cost prices in most everything we buy and use. Many of you remember that real estate prices rose in every city and hamlet, trading was brisk, and fortunes were made over night.

Our companies have notified us that there will be no advance in our real estate prices, war or no war. The prospective home owner, or the man who is looking for investments, has an opportunity to buy our properties on a sure rising market at our regular list price.

Texas University Looks for a New Deal in Football

By William J. Jurens

United Press Staff Correspondent AUSTIN, Texas—Athletic directors, players, students—all believe there will be a "new deal" at the University of Texas as far as football strength is concerned—and many think will come this fall.

Lady Luck has failed to favor the university with even a smile for several years, leaving the school to finish in or near the Southwest Conference cellar position.

Not since 1930 has the institution, one of the richest in the country, won the coveted Southwest Conference title. Last year it lost eight of its nine scheduled games and then partly redeemed itself with a 7 to 6 win over its rival of long standing, Texas A. & M. College.

Dana X. Bible, friendly veteran of football coaching who came to Texas from the University of Nebraska in 1937, has declined to hazard a guess as to how his team will finish this season. He merely says:

"We all hope to start the way we finished last year."

The "new deal" is expected to take the form of outstanding players which Longhorn coaches hope to win now from the long list of sophomore prospects. Sophomores will make up two-thirds of the 1939 squad, and the team will be lighter and faster than last year's.

Texas, weak on passing combinations for several years in a conference noted for its aerial plays, might well be stronger in this department, and there are hopes around here that it will be. Pete Layden of Dallas and R. E. Patrick of Olney, two promising sophomores are expected to join "Beefus" Bryan and Gilly Davis in tossing passes.

Receivers, also, will be plentiful, as many of the lettermen are fair ball snatchers and they will be supplemented by an array of newcomers such as Preston Flanagan of Longview, Jesse Hawthorne of Port Arthur, Malcolm Kutner of Dallas, and Joe Schwartzing of Waco. Jack Crain of Nocona and Raymond "Wild Horse" Mayes of Austin are other sophomores who stood out on the freshman squad for fast and tricky running.

Besides all the new blood, third-year lettermen, also, will be plentiful, as many of the lettermen are fair ball snatchers and they will be supplemented by an array of newcomers such as Preston Flanagan of Longview, Jesse Hawthorne of Port Arthur, Malcolm Kutner of Dallas, and Joe Schwartzing of Waco. Jack Crain of Nocona and Raymond "Wild Horse" Mayes of Austin are other sophomores who stood out on the freshman squad for fast and tricky running.

Missouri Town Is Joining The Ghosts After Labor Strike

By United Press

OSKALOOSA, Mo.—This sleepy little community in Southwest Missouri goes on with unconcern at the thought that it rapidly is taking a place among the ghost towns that once were prosperous and booming and had prospects of becoming large cities.

Toll came to Oskaloosa in 1916 and established a large brick plant. At that time it was little more than a cross-road community named Dickinson. Toll renamed the town because there was another Missouri town named Dickinson, then began to make revolutionary changes.

He started by putting in the latest modern equipment at the brick plant and by constructing dozens of new modern bungalows for his workmen. Because of poor roads, the town was almost isolated from other larger communities and therefore virtually without amusement. So Toll built the Toltec, a $10,000 structure that ranked with the best theaters in the Middle West.

A modern hotel attracted travelers going to and from the Ozark resort country and prompted the establishment of several modern shops and department stores. A light and ice plant served not only Oskaloosa but the neighboring community of Mulberry, Kas.

For several years the town prospered, residents came from all parts of the state and obtained steady jobs. It was in the heart of the rich red clay country and Oskaloosa's bricks went into the pavements of some of the nation's biggest cities. Then, when it appeared to be on the threshold of its greatest prosperity, the boom collapsed.

There was labor strife and a prolonged strike paralyzed activities at the brick plant and at a coal field surface mine which also was operated by Toll. Finally the strike was ended, but the settlement was not satisfactory to Toll or to the workmen. Later, he suffered a breakdown in health and apparently lost interest in the prosperous community he had created.

He seldom visited the town and in 1920 he retired from active business. Shortly afterward, the brick plant closed and other activities ceased. There was a general migration to other communities and the few who remained kept up a skeleton trade for the farm folk in the community.

Toll leased his palatial home in Kansas City to the Kansas City Art Institute and moved to a farm in Greenwood, Mo., where he spent the rest of his life raising livestock and studying the culture of roses. He died in 1929, suffering a heart attack while teaching Sunday school class.

Today, Oskaloosa, the town that once hoped to make a city of concrete and steel, is rapidly integrating. Two years ago, half of the town was sold to satisfy a half million dollar judgment which was promptly dismantled.
