WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Administration leaders today claimed 56 assured senate votes, seven more than a majority, for President Roosevelt's arms embargo repeal.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—The National Republican Club, at its monthly meeting last night, voted 46 to 6 in favor of the proposed neutrality law revision.

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—The American Legion foreign relations committee presented its recommendations to the 21st annual Legion convention today without committing itself on the arms embargo issue. The issue was expected to bring a fight on the convention floor.

The report recommended that congress remain in session during the present "grave crisis" that President Roosevelt and congress pursue a policy that will prevent involvement in the conflict and that the armed forces be expanded immediately to maintain neutrality.

Stevenson Silent After His Visit With Governor

AUSTIN, Sept. 27.—After a conference with Gov. O'Daniel here today, Lieut. Gov. Coke Stevenson of Junction was silent on the question of a special session of the Texas Legislature.

A number of senators have been in Austin since the announcement that old age pensions should be reduced $6 each in October.

Resignation of Rep. Marvin London of Montague, the fourth representative to resign since the legislature adjourned its regular session was placed before the governor today.

The governor has called no special elections to fill the vacancies, which will be necessary if a special session is held.

Communion Rites Slated On Sunday

Officials of the Presbyterian church at Eastland announced today that communion services will be held at 11 a. m. Sunday with Rev. Glenn of Winters, presiding.

Fear Swiss Lie in Nazi's Path to France

Swiss fear Switzerland may become a German war path into France. In his first press interview since the war, Nazi Propaganda Minister Goebbels said that the neutrality of Holland and Belgium will be hid involuntarily. Significantly, no mention was made of Switzerland, so far as press reports indicate. Maps shows possible Nazi routes to France and indicate the Swiss plans of defense.

Ranger Girl Given A Student Position At John Tarleton

Genie L. Bartrug of Ranger has been given a student position at John Tarleton College where she is enrolled as a student.

Dean J. Thomas Davis has always operated the many enterprises of the college by student labor, selecting outstanding boys and girls for the positions and placing them at jobs related to their studies.

Known as a school "run by the students", Tarleton has boys and girls operating the College dairy which has a herd of one hundred registered Jerseys, the 500 acre demonstration farm with all the fine live-stock, the college dining hall where eight hundred students are fed, the poultry plant and the many other enterprises of the college. "While the financial aid has enabled many worthy students to obtain an education," said Dean Davis, "the experiences these working students obtain is invaluable."

Photographing Of Rabies Is A Hobby

FORWORTH, Tex.—Harry Stiefel, X-ray operator at Methodist Hospital, has developed a hobby of making standard photographs of new-born babies in his spare time.

Safety Belt Plan Pushed At Meeting

Paris, Sept. 27.—The Polish Transcontinental Press today published a Warsaw army communique saying that both the Polish capitol and the nearby Modlin fort "continued to defend themselves, despite violent German attacks."

"Warsaw is entirely in ruins," the communique said. A German announcement that Warsaw had offered to surrender was explained "in view of the lack of water and food the defenders proposed at 24-hour armistice."

SURVIVORS OF TCU WRECK ON WAY TO COAST

SWEETWATER, Sept. 27.—A special train carrying the T. C. U. football team, the band and fans, left here at 6:45 a. m. today, bound for Los Angeles, where the team plays the University of California at Los Angeles Friday night.

The team, which arrived here yesterday afternoon, worked out for two hours last night.

MILLSAP, Sept. 27.—Two train crew men were dead today and six persons were injured as a result of a wreck five miles east of here last night of a special Texas and Pacific train carrying T. C. U. fans and the band to a football game in Los Angeles.

The dead were Leonard J. Perry, 51, Fort Worth, engineer, and Neely McClell, 69, Fort Worth, conductor. Miss Vivian Smith, 17, of Fort Worth was killed a few miles east of Weatherford when the automobile in which she and two friends were riding to the scene of the train wreck overturned.

Passengers who required hospital treatment were C. D. Reimers, prominent Fort Worth business man, and Mrs. D. T. Swint, of Fort Worth. Several other passengers were treated for minor injuries.

Four of the most seriously injured were railroad employees. They were J. B. Hammer, of Fort Worth, fireman, who suffered severe burns; A. F. Pistole, of Big Spring, district T. P. superintendent; a negro porter and a negro cook, both from Fort Worth.

Two persons were injured in the automobile wreck in which Miss Smith was killed. They were Jean Cox, 19, and Paul Parks, 20, both of Fort Worth. Young Parks, a junior student at T. C. U., whose parents were killed in an airplane accident seven years ago, was unconscious today in a Fort Worth hospital.

The train left Fort Worth shortly after 6 p. m. yesterday, carrying 131 passengers, including 40 members of the T. C. U. band. More than an hour later, according to the fireman, there was an explosion in the engine. The locomotive was almost demolished. Six coaches careened from the track, and only the lounge car remained on the rails.

After a six-hour wait another train picked up the band and most of the passengers and continued the journey west.

Commerical Mines In Central Texas May Be Studied

AUSTIN, Tex.—Commercial mining possibilities of Central Texas, particularly "war materials" of which the United States lacks sufficient known deposits, will be studied this fall by University of Texas geologists.

Dr. V. E. Barnes, research geologist, will survey mining possibilities in the "Llano area" which includes Gillespie, Burnet, Mason and Blanco counties. Most important known deposits in the area are granite and marble—reported by the nation's largest supply—but surveys have shown traces of chromium, nickel, copper, lead, graphite, gypsum and gold in the area.

Dr. E. H. Sellards, director of the university Bureau of Economic Geology, said that a $5,000 appropriation by the legislature remedied one handicap in determining the mining possibilities.

Development of electric power on the Colorado river will make possible the industrial development of the minerals if any are found in commercial quantities, he added.

BRITAIN DENIES NAZI PLANES SINK VESSELS

Great Britain and Nazi Germany made conflicting claims of success today in the first battle between warships and war planes.

The Nazi high command announced a British aircraft carrier had been destroyed and a battleship damaged by a swift aerial attack against the British fleet in the North Sea.

The British government, through first lord of the admiralty, Winston Churchill, announced that two of 20 attacking Nazi planes had been shot down and that the British fleet suffered no damage.

The dramatic story of Warsaw's defiance to the Nazi war machine neared its climax. From Berlin the Nazi high command announced the Polish commander had offered to surrender after 19 days of siege. The German embassy in Washington said that Warsaw had surrendered.

But almost at the same hour the British Exchange Telegraph reported the defenders still were holding out.

Of still greater importance was a series of diplomatic developments that took the foreign ministers of Germany, Turkey and Estonia to Moscow.

Conferences there were expected to result in drastic re-alignments in Eastern Europe. Estonia appeared most directly in the path of Soviet expansion, and her government protested that Russian war planes had violated Estonian neutrality.

In London Sir John Simon, chancellor of the exchequer, announced that Britons would pay heavily for their war to crush Hitlerism. The income tax will be increased to 35 per cent. There will be a 60 per cent war profits tax and higher levies on beer, wines, whiskey, tobacco and sugar.

GERMAN U-BOATS SHELL AMERICAN CITIES

87 U. S. SHIPS SUNK BY ENEMY SUBMARINES OFF ATLANTIC COAST DURING WORLD WAR; NOW THE STORY CAN BE TOLD!

When American waters were invaded for the first time by U-boats in 1918, seven submarines sank eighty-seven ships within sight of the American coast. The first to go down was the Hattie Dunn, sunk off Winter Quarter light-ship, in May. The U-151, first of the hostile craft to be sent into American waters, sank twenty-two ships in 53 days.

A U-boat entered the mouth of New York harbor, laid mines, cut two important cables, one to Europe the other to South America, and then scuttled to safety with American subchasers in hot pursuit.

On the sultry afternoon of July 2, 1918, from the guns of one of these U-boats, there rained on American soil the first foreign shots of history. These fell on the shores of Orleans, a hamlet on the southeastern elbow of Cape Cod. Thousands of spectators watched in amazement from the shores of Hyannis, Falmouth, Harwich, Yarmouth and Dennis as Orleans villagers were sent scurrying into cottage cellars.

These U-boats, bigger than any that have been built since, were three hundred feet long, had from five to seven torpedo tubes, carried fifty mines and two were double-decked. The subs had a cruising radius enabling them to cross the Atlantic both ways, and to roam the New England coast for three months.

When the U-152 attacked the navy transport Ticonderoga, Lieutenant Commander J. J. Madison leaped to the bridge and swung his helm desperately to ram the submarine. He missed by only twenty five feet, and paid dearly for the miss. Infuriated at the attempt to ram his submarine, the raider captain attacked without mercy. Of the 237 men who had sailed with the Ticonderoga there were less than fifty alive when Lieutenant Commander Madison, desperately wounded, gasped out the order, "Save the poor devils who are left."

The slaughter continued after a white blanket had been nailed to the topmast in signal of surrender. A torpedo broke the Ticonderoga's hull in half. Rafts built out of the debris, were blown to bits as they were launched. Only twenty-two men escaped in an open lifeboat. Four days later, delirious and weak from loss of blood, they were picked up.

The Americans answered the U-boat challenge with the heroism of untrained volunteers who went out in 110-foot subchasers. These replied to U-boat guns and torpedoes with depth bombs, fired two at a time one hundred yards into the sea from Y-guns, or rolled overboard behind the zig-zagging chasers. These bombs, each containing 300 pounds of TNT, eventually turned back the raiders. Four of these identical subchasers were used in the filming of the picture, "Thunder Afloat," which stars Wallace Beery, with Chester Morris and Virginia Grey and is now playing at the Lyric.

It is a story of those thrilling and little-known days of the World War, when a sudden emergency was met with untrained men and raw, sacrificial courage. It is a glorious if seldom told true chapter of American naval history.

WIFE'S ATTITUDE SPURS CONFLICT OF 'IN NAME ONLY'
How a wife's mercenary interest in her husband restrains her from giving him his freedom so that he may marry the woman he really loves is the thematic basis of "In Name Only," the Lyric Theatre's forthcoming hit co-starring Carole Lombard, Cary Grant and Kay Francis.
When Grant meets Miss Lombard, a young widow, they fall in love with each other. He appeals to his wife to give him his freedom. But Miss Francis has cleverly endeared herself to Grant's family, who think she is an ideal daughter-in-law, and she refuses to give up her position. Further, she threatens Grant and his family, Miss Lombard and her five-year-old daughter with scandalous notoriety if Grant dares to take any steps. The consummation of Miss Lombard's romance with Grant springs from a series of pulsating dramatic episodes which speed "In Name Only" to a heart-punching denouement.

AMERICAN SUB-CHASERS ENGAGE GERMAN U-BOATS IN GREAT SEA BATTLE!

The first American boat to go down was the Hattie Dunn sunk off the Winter Quarter Light-ship.

American crews found themselves helpless against the superior armament of the fast-charging and long-range cruising tactics of the German submarines and were forced to surrender!

The Navy transport, Ticonderoga, attacked and its crew was literally shelled into the sea!

Of the 237 men who had sailed with the Ticonderoga there were less than 50 alive when Lieutenant Commander Madison, desperately wounded, gasped out the order, "Save the poor devils who are left."

The German submarines were 300 feet long, had from 5 to 7 torpedo tubes and carried 50 mines. Two were double-decked. They had a cruising radius enabling them to cross the Atlantic both ways.

Citizens Seek Cover In Unprotected Cottages!

NEW YORK, N. Y.—American people were horrified to find themselves attacked by a hostile German fleet of submarines simultaneously along the Massachusetts coast and in the New York City harbor.

Terror and pandemonium reigned while helpless men, women and children sought safety in flimsy cottages and homes. The American tug, Perth Amboy, towing barges filled with women and children, was a few hundred yards offshore.

Creeping up under the cover of a seaward fog, a submarine charged at full speed with 3-inch guns blazing. The burge folk, screaming with the agony of burns and wounds, leaped into the fiery sea. U-boats were launched from shore to rescue the forty-one victims.

Homeless Boy, 10, Gets Many Offers

By United Press
COLUMBUS, O.—There is still some good will in the world as the experience of a homeless little boy of 10 demonstrates. A little fellow named Buddy, orphaned at the age of 3, had to be taken to the county juvenile detention home from the residence of his foster parents because the illness of his foster mother precluded her caring for him longer. Within a few hours after his plight had been recounted in a newspaper 20 families had volunteered to take him into their homes. One woman wanted to take him to her ranch home in New Mexico and begged the court to grant permission before she had to leave for the West. All applicants and their homes must first be investigated, but it appeared that Buddy is assured a new home.
