Stunt Man Trains For Flaming Wall Act By Dieting

CLEVELAND, O.—Walter Kovak, 21, left his home here to become a stunt man instead, and returned to be driven, head first, through a flaming wall.

Young Kovak, who studied civil engineering before the historic surge seized him, has splintered his way through more flaming walls than he can remember.

Before a demonstration, he skips two meals, eats nothing but orange juice and melba toast. Wearing a fiber crash helmet, he fastens himself to the automobile's hood, his feet in the driver's face and his head on the radiator's ornament. In this position he is driven at a fast clip through the wall.

Holland's Dikes Guard Frontier

LONDON.—Holland has prepared a watery grave for even the tallest Nazi. If German troops start to cross the Dutch frontier, cascades of water from the dikes and the Zuider Zee would sweep them off their feet, even if they were over 6 feet tall.

The famous Dutch "water line" is known to run from the neighborhood of Weesp, slightly to the southeast of Amsterdam, almost due south to the outskirts of Utrecht and beyond.

Along this line, a five mile wide water barrier would be raised by breaking dikes and opening sluices to let in the waters of the Zuider Zee.

America Should Keep Her Eyes Steadily on Building

If conditions ever called for a long view of things, they call for it today. The future always depends in some degree on the present; but today, in an especially emphatic manner, the future of the United States and its people depends on decisions that are made now.

It is the good fortune of this people that the possibility of making decisions still exists. Most of the peoples of Europe had come to a point where they had no choice. Their decisions in 1939 were the almost automatic result of the positions into which they had gradually been driven during the past 10 years.

But there are still choices open to the United States. They should be made with the longest possible vision into the future. Certain things may be foreseen. One is that the European war, no matter how terrible or how destructive, will not go on forever. Some day it will stop, whether that cessation is an armistice or a genuine peace. What then?

First, the United States does not want to find itself with an economy closely geared to supplying Europe's wartime deficiencies. That would mean an immediate and disastrous business slump, the shock of which the country is ill-equipped to stand.

Second, the European nations which have been at war will make a desperate and immediate drive to regain such foreign trade as has been lost. Machinery geared for war will be switched to make goods for export, which may be practically dumped.

That is why it is good news to hear from Secretary Hull that, despite the war, he is continuing in an orderly manner to try to expand the reciprocal trade agreements just as he was doing before war broke out. Every such agreement concluded means a stable basis on which to stand, war or no war—a means and a technique of carrying over into peace times such expanded but mutually profitable trade relations as have matured in wartime.

Third, whatever happens, America will have resources to face it in exact proportion to the extent to which this "breathing spell" enables us to build up our domestic economy.

We must build while others destroy. No matter what efforts are made to expand foreign trade, we must not forget our own market, which is 10 times as great. Price rises, not made absolutely necessary by changing conditions, should be resisted, in order to let that domestic market expand to the full, make work for more men and cut unemployment and government deficits.

By such measures should the course be set—by trying to build slowly on a broad, solid foundation, instead of setting up a towering scaffolding on rickety foundations of temporary war prosperity. To build as solidly for the future is the only course that promises any possible gain from the present chaotic situation.

• BRUCE CATTON IN WASHINGTON

BY BRUCE CATTON
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Out of the present work of the Dies Committee on Un-American Activities there will eventually come the most determined move yet made in this country to drive the Communist party out of existence. With it there will be a companion move to destroy the German-American Bund as well. But the main program is aimed at the Communist party, if for no other reason than that its activities and influence have been greater.

Congressman Martin Dies, chairman of the committee, has been putting together an amazingly detailed picture of Communist work in the United States. With all of this as a background—and it makes a far more factual and effective background than anything the committee has dug up in previous years—legislation will be introduced in Congress early in January which, if passed, would either destroy the party in the United States or reduce it to impotence.

In substance, according to present plans, this legislation would compel any organization affiliated with any international organization to file periodical reports with the secretary of state, giving the true names of all its members and officers and presenting a complete statement of its finances.

With such a law on the books, and with the publicity which would result from it, it is believed that the party would be pretty thoroughly crippled. Present indications are that such a law could be got through the House of Representatives without much trouble. It would have more difficulty in the Senate.

Chairman Dies' much talked-of list of "Communists in government" amounts to it is doubted that he will be able to show that anything like the 2500 government employees claimed to be on that list are actually members of the party. Communist sources insist that the party's total membership in the entire Washington-Baltimore area does not exceed 1000.

That Dies does have a tolerably accurate list of government employees who have been active in various Communist-led "front" organizations is certain. In addition, he has a list of senators and congressmen who have been receiving the Daily Worker, official party newspaper.

The only trouble with such lists is that by no means all of the front-organization people are Communists, and that the Daily Worker recipients include a number of stout anti-Communists who read the paper merely to see what the party is up to—to say nothing of some who have been receiving the paper without having subscribed to it and who toss it unopened in the wastebasket.

For instance: a copy of the Daily Worker has been going to Senator Nye regularly. His secretary recognizes it in its wrapper, by now, and drops it calmly into the wastebasket without opening it. Another who gets an unsolicited copy regularly is Senator Capper; he occasionally reads it to see what the radicals are up to. Still another who gets it is Congressman Jerry Voorhis, who is himself a member of the Dies committee and who is about as confirmed a foe of Communism as Congress contains.

So that to publish a list of congressional recipients of the Communist newspaper, with the inference that people on the list were Communist sympathizers, would be to convey a completely misleading impression.

Ranger B Squad Beats Breck B Team By 12 to 0

A Patriotic Englishman once described the unwept, unbonored, and unsung predicament of a man who refused to designate any particular locality as his permanent headquarters.

The uncheered, unsung, and almost unwitnessed Bull Pups established their headquarters across the Breckenridge goal line twice Saturday afternoon to defeat the Buckaroo B team with a score of 12-0.

Neither the terrific heat nor the lack of game atmosphere and color kept the Scruggs-coached Pups from steaming through 60 minutes of impressive football. The Ranger line consistently opened nice holes and almost complained at the ease with which blocking assignments were carried out. As to the backfield, "Chick" Ford's spins into a quick opening line characterized a first quarter drive that took the Pups to the Breck 12 yard line where the ball was lost on downs. The first quarter ended with neither team scoring. Midway in the second quarter J. Rust took R. V. Cole's pass on the Breck 40 yard line and ran the remaining distance untouched. There was no more scoring until late in the fourth quarter when Leroy Jacoby started off tackle, broke into the open and raced 30 yards for the other touchdown.

The Pups' alert defensive play held the future Bucks in almost constant check. However, Wolford, a speedy little Breck back, broke loose for several nice gains. The Breckenridge punting was also a very effective weapon against the Ranger boys.

Especially outstanding on both offense and defense were: James Rust, Durwood Hatley, James Wheat, Alwyn Williams, R. V. Cole, Leroy Jacoby, "Chick" Ford, James Cox and Lawrence Kidwell. Other boys showing up well in the game were Fonzo Brawner, V. W. Rust, Kenneth Cole, Jimmy Houghton, Clifford Floyd and Al-

Bulldog Pups To Play Comyn Team On Thursday Night

Thursday night at Bulldog Stadium the Bulldog Pups will open their home season, after defeating the Breckenridge B team at Breckenridge last Saturday by a score of 12 to 0. The game will be played Thursday night with Comyn, a Class B consolidated school near De Leon.

Not much is known about the Comyn team, but the Pups, after one win in as many starts, are expected to give a good account of themselves at the game.

A number of fans have already shown much interest in the future Bulldogs, by buying tickets for the game Thursday night. Gate receipts from the game are to be used to buy equipment for the team.

Tickets are to be sold to those who want to help the team get good equipment. A family ticket, good for every member of the family, will be sold for 50c. Admission price for adults, at the gate, will be 20 cents and school children will be admitted for 10 cents.

Coach Scruggs of the Pups today urged every Bulldog fan to come out Thursday night and to back the future Bulldogs in their first home game of the season. Other games are to be matched later with nearby teams.

len Snyery. Sidney Hughes, of the Ranger N. Y. A., was one of the officials of the game and his efficient work kept the game moving at a satisfactory pace.

More Power at your finger-tip than in all the world's horses

● That little electric switch is a symbol of a power greater than the strength of all the world's horses. You use any part of this mighty force when you need it and as long as you want it.

Flip a switch and the light comes on. Plug in an electric appliance and electricity does a host of things for you. Yet this modern miracle is almost commonplace, so accustomed are we to the many uses of electric service.

But behind this ever-available electric service there is an organization of skilled men, operating modern generating machinery and other electric equipment to provide you with this service.

Good electric service doesn't just happen. Trained man-power and high-grade equipment working 24-hours a day, make your lights burn when you snap a switch.

Y. W. A. Session Held

Meeting in the home of Miss Rama and Florence Barber Monday evening the Young Women's Auxiliary were guests of Miss Josephine Rick. The period opened with song service with prayer by Miss Lillian Coldwell.

Following the business session, at which time the president appointed chairman for the standing committee. The resignation of Miss Irene Williams as program chairman was accepted and the appointment of Miss Alice Mae Sue to fill the vacancy was made.

An interesting program on Power was directed by Miss Williams with devotional brought by Miss Sybil Holder on the subject theme, "L'Envoi," by Rudyard Kipling.

A talk on Power was given by Miss Mae Taylor closing the evening's program. The period closed with the assembly singing of "O Zion Haste," the Auxiliary song.

A dainty refreshment plate was served with tiny white scrolls announcing the coming marriage of Miss Williams used as plate favors.

AGED PREACHER GIVES OHIO RIVAL TO TOWNSEND, HAM 'n' EGGS PLANS

Church Closes When Pastor Has 'Anything to Fight for'; Backs Scheme to Guarantee Income to Elderly Unemployed

CINCINNATI—A 69-year-old preacher who thinks the Townsend plan is "futile" and says California's "Ham and Egg" proposal would never work, has given Ohio the "pension fitters" over his own theory of old age assistance. He is the Rev. Herbert S. Bigelow, embattled crusader

By NEA Service
originally was largely responsible for writing the initiative and referendum into the Ohio constitution. He is using the initiative now in a fight to put over at the Nov. 7 election his plan to guarantee an income of $50 a month for every Ohioan over 60 no longer gainfully employed. He would make it $40 each for married people living together.

The Bigelow plan is so indefinite in its wording, according to his enemies, that few agree what it provides. Estimates of the cost range from the Rev. Bigelow's prediction of $60,000,000 for the first year to $310, 000,000, forecast by the state tax commission. The expense would be met by a 2 per cent tax on land valued at $20 000 an acre or more, and an income tax.

"GUARANTEED INCOME" NOT PENSIONS
An abandoned church hall in a downtown fraternal temple is the sanctuary from which the Rev. Mr. Bigelow carries on his fight.

Half a dozen elderly women work and stand guard in an outer room.

He sits at a roll top desk, his white head near a map showing the "battle zones" of his campaign workers.

When mention is made of "pension," his slow drawl quickens and abruptly he shakes his head over his eyes. He says the wordage is bad.

"Not pensions, exactly," he says

Rev. Herbert S. Bigelow: Closes his church "when we have anything else to work for."

PAINLESS EXTRACTION

Spending money is like pulling teeth, for a lot of us folks.

This newspaper tries to make the process as pleasant and painless as possible.

Every issue, all year round, we bring you news about the things you need—news that will make your money buy more.

This news is in the advertising pages. And it's just as important to you as any of the world news on page one. Maybe more so.

Good buys in shirts, shoes or sheets? An easy, inexpensive new dessert? A soap that makes dishwashing faster and cheaper?

You'll find the first news of them here. They're advertised by merchants and manufacturers who give good values at good prices—because they know that's the only way to get and keep your business.

If you pre-plan every shopping trip in our advertising pages, you won't have to go so far, and your dollars will go much farther!
