Eastland Leads The Deep Oil Producing Counties

TOP OF CENTRAL WEST TEXAS FIELDS

Far Reaps Benefit From New Wells In Brown County.

Producer, five wells with two dry holes and a few operations—such, in the weekly drilling report of the county.

Brown Bros. No. 1. Producing 1,000,000 feet of three New Wells In Brown County. This well is north of the two "dusters" were Woods of Adamson & which was drilled to a depth of 734 feet, and the McCorporation's No. 1, which went to 3370 feet. The well, which was eight miles from the nearest production, is the extreme eastern edge of the county and it encountered favorable showings in shallows. Consequently it is another test will be put out these shallow pays. The wells that encountered should yield a harvest of oil by the close of the county, where all the depths are shallow, reached a total for recent weeks, operations, 14 of the tests completed as oilers. Completely was next with 65 which five came in as oil. Coleman in shallow county. Shackleford shallow county, with seven new oil wells behind Eastland county operations. This county is among the deep-counties of Central Texas.

Notable include: Stephens No. 14, Palo Pinto 11, Erath 3, Comanche 1, Burnet 1, Hood 1. The field over the line in Brown County, southwest of Rising Star, three new producers, Belle Oil company's No. 1, 12-6 Kilgore, 75 barrels, 157-70, and Phillips Petroleum's No. 14 Hickman, 12,400-57 feet.

Interest is a well in McCounty—No. 1 West of Jamison, shut down for 794 feet, to of the sand, light oil showing.

Wagon No. 1 being drilled by Robert D. Gordon, eight miles northwest of Eastland, has oil at the top of the originally that section was there, a producer was likely. This pay will be up for the time being and will go on to the Ranger well several wells in the area obtained production as 1,500 to 2,200 barrels a day. The Ranger pay is inadequate. Reagan will plug back Caddo and it will be shot with expectation of getting a well.

900,000-foot gas flow was a shallow depth in this and this gas, breaking a number of times, has slow progress in drilling.

DELEGATION TO GO FROM HERE FOR SPEAKING

Grisham Rally In Abilene Tuesday Night. Weatherford Editor Praises Candidate.

Quite a number of Eastland citizens will go to Abilene to hear Judge R. N. Grisham of Eastland Tuesday night deliver the opening speech of his campaign for Congress. He will speak at 8 o'clock on the Federal lawn there.

Many of the most noted citizens of Abilene will occupy places on the platform and several will speak briefly. Delegations from various parts of the Congressional district will attend the meeting. The pledges of support that Judge Grisham is receiving from all parts of the district and especially in Abilene are highly encouraging.

He spent two days last week in the extreme southern section of the district and is confident of a splendid vote in that territory.

The candidacy of Judge Grisham is attracting interest even beyond the borders of the district is evidenced by the leading editorial in the Weatherford Democrat, which declares: "If Judge Grisham is elected to Congress, not only his own district but all Texas will have a representative on whom they can depend and who will give real service."

URGES JOINT AIRPORT FOR TWIN CITIES

Eastland and Ranger Should Join, Says J. M. Weaver, In Giving Vivid Account of Aviation.

That Eastland and Ranger, by arranging an airport between the two cities, could maintain a better landing field than by each city having a separate port was suggested by Joseph M. Weaver, president of the Eastland Rotarian Club, who made an interesting address at the noon luncheon of the Eastland club today, on the subject of aviation.

He told of a journey by air that he had an oil man of Ponca City made from Tucson, Ariz., to Los Angeles. The plane used was a new Ryan, the same in every particular as the one now being used by Colonel Linbergh except that Lindy's plane has a wing spread of 44 feet as compared to 46 feet for the one that Mr. Weaver traveled in.

As they neared their destination, they passed over a flying field and a number of planes "stunted" around them and when you are up among them, it looks a lot more thrilling, according to the speaker, than if you were watching them from the ground.

Arriving in Los Angeles, the two oil men met L. H. Wentz, the world's greatest individual producer of high gravity oil. The world invited him to fly with them to San Diego, which he did after making a few minor changes in his will. They went through the Ryan factory, then flew back to Los Angeles.

Mr. Weaver flew back to Tucson, a distance of 500 miles in five hours and 15 minutes, "and I can truthfully say," he said, "with a smile, "that the greatest pleasure of the entire trip was when I stepped back on the ground at Tucson. I returned to Eastland on our old friend, the Sunshine special."

He expressed the opinion that passenger flying will not supplant other means of individual transportation but that unquestionably Eastland should have a flying field. A motion was adopted that Mr. Weaver be chairman of a special committee with J. E. Lewis and Jack Williamson as the other members.

Another committee was named to cooperate in the plank-selling campaign of the Boy Scouts. This committee is composed of Earl Francis, O. D. Caldwell and Harold Smith.

The Rev. William Johnson of the Ranger Rotary Club and Ed T. Cox of Eastland made talks.

New Serial Story Will Start Tuesday

"Can a wealthy girl afford a poor man?" is the question discussed in the serial story, the first number of which will appear in these columns Tuesday afternoon. It is the story of a girl accustomed to wealth who suddenly finds herself penniless. While wealthy she had become engaged to a poor man. With the shift in her personal fortunes comes a problem, the solving of which provides one of the most interesting yards that has appeared in a long time.

The new serial, entitled "When a Girl Loves," begins tomorrow. Do not fail to read the first installment and subsequent issues and learn how Virginia Brewster solved her problem.

WRESTLER PUTS UP FORFEIT TO APPEAR HERE

Henderson Guarantees To Report in Eastland Tuesday Noon. Match Tomorrow Night.

Tommie Henderson, who will take part in the headline match at the Elks' arena, has posted a forfeit to be in Eastland by noon tomorrow.

The "Arizona Wildcat" sees a bright future for the wrestling game here if handled by such a man as Ted Hinton, who has made many friends here with both wrestlers and fans because he is a square shooter.

Henderson has a splendid record as a middleweight and very frequently has to step into the light heavyweight division to get matches.

Tom Stracener, the pride of the Oil Belt, will face Henderson. Bert Willoughby, Dallas wrestling promoter, declares that Henderson is going to give Stracener more than he is looking for.

However, Stracener's friends are certain that he will win over Henderson.

Ted Hinton states that he has seen both men in action and would be at a loss to try to pick the winner. Mr. Hinton is assisting the Elks in putting on good, clean wrestling bouts here and has arranged a contract and forfeit system so there will be no more disappointments. He plans to bring to Eastland the very best wrestling talent in the country, if the fans will only stand by him and give him their support.

Raids Over County Result In Arrests

FOUR arrests were made in raids in various parts of the county, conducted by Sheriff John Hart and deputies late Saturday.

A raid north of Eastland resulted in the confiscation of 172 bottles of beer; a raid in the Mexican section of Eastland netted 22 gallons of beer; a raid in Ranger produced 10 gallons of beer and a visit to a farm west of Eastland resulted in the seizure of 61 gallons of red whiskey, officers stated.

Police Chief Ingram of Ranger took part in the raid in Ranger. Other officers who were active were Sheriff John Hart and Deputies Bradford, Reid and Boland. Assistant County Attorney Holloway aided in two of the raids.

CRIME WAVE IS DISCUSSED BY JUDGE IN CHARGE TO JURORS

Discussing crime conditions, Judge George L. Davenport delivered a highly thoughtful charge in empanelling the grand jury in Eastland today. He went somewhat at length into the younger generation's actions and discussed both sides of the problem of rearing children.

There was delay in empanelling the grand jury and it was necessary for members of the sheriff's department to go to Desdemona and Rising Star to summon two additional members.

Gentlemen of the Grand Jury: The purpose for which you are called together is an important one, and we could spend some time pointing out the important work in connection with your duties. Time, however, will prevent us doing so.

For some years we have all been wondering what could be done to suppress the crime wave, as we have been pleased to call it, all agreeing that conditions were most serious and that something should be done to relieve the situation. I believe the citizenship of Eastland county have made an honest effort, through the assistance of the peace officers to enforce the laws and suppress crime, but needless to say our efforts have not been what we had hoped for, and while conditions may have improved, some conditions are now anything but satisfactory. We now realize that it is going to require years of conscientious efforts on our part before conditions are normal. The trouble seems to be that we are unable to agree as to the cause of the crime wave, and of course until its real cause is determined it will be quite difficult to find a remedy.

Quotes Magazine Writer. It has been a popular expression among many that the trouble is with the younger generation, that is the boys and girls, and that that is the whole trouble. I have not been able to agree with this theory and have often given expression to my views, which is that the trouble is largely with the parents, and the older citizenship. I have been giving this matter considerable thought and study, and where possible taking advantage of the views of our writers, and have recently read with a great deal of interest an article appearing in the June number of the American Magazine by Honorable Albert Payson Torhune, entitled "They Are Hell Bent." This writer says in part "Back in those same eighteen eighties we youngsters were expected to obey, when we did not or when we transgressed any of the countless rigid rules for conduct we were whaled right unmercifully, most of us, or had other severe punishments meted out to us. We were taught to respect and follow the dictates of our elders. Usually we did so. When we didn't we were whipped or otherwise penalized."

"When some twenty years or more ago came the inevitable reaction I remember it well. I read and heard everywhere the new doctrine of bringing up children. It ran somewhat like this: "Encourage, don't drive. Let the tender young mind and the tender young impulses shape themselves as nature intended, without coercion. Don't brutalize your child by punishment. Don't seek to form his character. Let his budding ego develop along its own heaven-directed line. Severity may crush dawning genius. Let him find self-expression, unchecked, unpunished, unthwarted. Make him love the good for the good's sake, not through fear of punishment."

With the Bridle Off. "All of which is sweet sounding and beautiful and inspiring, and all of which to my low brow way of thinking," says the writer, "is about the same as to say, 'Here is a splendid young thoroughbred colt. Let him enter a stake race tomorrow without the humiliation of carrying a jockey upon his back, and above all without the cruelty of the whip and spur and rein. His naturally fine impulses will teach him to win.'"

The same writer continues: "No, there is nothing new in the new youth except that it is allowed to do things we were forbidden to do. It is the same old youth with the bridle off. Whether or not it is better without its restraining bridle is one of today's most argued questions. Personally I believe it is no better off than would be an untrained colt or an unhouse-broken pup. The colt or the pup would do a certain amount of damage to the world around him, but in the end they themselves and not the public would be the chief sufferers from their so-called freedom."

The same writer continues: "We oldtimers from thirty to seventy are largely what our parents and our early training made us. Childhood environments and daily precepts and example have more to do with one's later life and character than most of us realize. We are what we are because of what was ground into us, and spanked into us, and lectured into us when we were young. This new generation that is waiting now too courteously to step into our shoes will be largely what its own childhood and youth are making it. It will be to a big extent what was taught it and when it saw and did and what was tolerated in it when it was at the age of character formation. This is simple logic isn't it? Train any animal, human or otherwise along a certain line and he is likely to stick more or less to that line all his life. An undisciplined puppy will grow into an undisciplined, worthless dog, an ill-broken colt will not develop into a reliable work horse."

More Optimistic. From the above quotations you will notice that this writer attributes the difficulties we are experiencing with our young people largely to that class. Another famous writer, however, Honorable Harold Bell Wright, in the same issue of the American Magazine, under an article entitled "They are Not," expresses a quite different view to that of the writer just quoted. This writer says in part: "I believe the worst that is re-

Visitors' Night Tonight At The Baptist Revival

Monday night has been designated as visitors' night at the Baptist revival services. Invitation has been extended to all Eastland pastors and their congregations to visit the revival.

In his message tonight, Pastor W. T. Turner will discuss some common traits of humanity with which all who are in religious work must deal.

The attendance at the revival services has been very fine during the first week. While extended invitations were not pressed the first week, there have been twelve additions to the church, ten of these joining for baptism.

Mr. Camp will meet the Booster's Band at 7:00 o'clock. From 7:30 to 8:00 Mrs. Turner will give a Bible story for boys and girls, and a prayer service will be held for the young people and adults.

The time of the day services for this week has been changed to 10:30 a. m.

ARCHIVES COLLECTION

DENTON.—Seven hundred and fifteen pieces of material are now included in the archive collection of the College of Industrial Arts which has been organized under the direction of Dr. J. K. Greer of the history department. This does not include journals, diaries, photographs, donations of books, and photographs of individuals.

The largest group is the Barry collection which composes four-fifths of the entire collection. Although more than eighty per cent of the material is typed, there are still enough originals to make clear the meaning of manuscript collections. The number of pages has not been estimated, but one journal is fifty typewritten pages, and another includes 109 typewritten sheets.

All of the material has been secured without formal effort and without organization. Manuscripts in the collection have never been published in any form, and as far as has been known, have never before been examined.

Miss Amber Jane Dabney, daughter of Attorney General Edwin E. Dabney, of Oklahoma City, will be married tomorrow morning at the residence of the pastor of the Methodist Church in Oklahoma City, to Mr. Thomas Caruthers of that city. Mr. and Mrs. Caruthers will visit Dallas on their wedding trip, where the bride will be the honoree, Thursday afternoon, of a reception and bridge, tendered by Mrs. W. A. Waldrop, and will be assisted by Miss Geraldine Dabney, of Eastland, who left Friday afternoon for Dallas, for a ten days' visit with Miss Flo Marlick. The bride to be has visited the Dabney family here on several occasions, and has a large number of Eastland friends.

Jim Henry Gilliland of Weatherford arrived Sunday evening for a week's visit with his aunt, Mrs. Joseph B. Leonard.

MRS. FAGG'S NIECE

The San Antonio Express of May 29th, carries a charming picture of Mary Elizabeth Fagg, and Louise Fagg of Greenvilles, with the statement that they are two of the youngest future clubwomen in attendance at the Nineteenth Biennial Convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs. Their mother, Mrs. C. A. Fagg, is president of the Third District. Mary Elizabeth, the older girl, will serve as a page during the convention. These two young girls visited here last summer, and were guests of Mrs. T. L.

Fagg on South Seaman street. They are nieces of Mr. Fagg.

HORNED TOAD STILL AGITATED

We learn from the Fort Worth Press, of Saturday, that El Paso, has a real enterprising firm, called the Horned Toad Novelty Company, with J. R. Eichelberger, as proprietor, who is sending thousands of horned toads to merchants all over the country for $1.00 each, and with each shipment, a story of the famous Eastland, Texas, horned toad.

ANNUA LINSTALLATION OF EASTERN STAR

The Masonic Temple was transformed into an Alladdin's Palace Thursday night, for the installation of officers of the Order of the Eastern Star, which took place beneath an arbor of roses, that arched overhead, and with latticed screens shutting out the gray walls, brought it seemed, by a magic carpet, indeed.

Bands of roses and foliage were strung, and stations massed in gladiolas and roses. Pink and white blooming oleanders formed the background against which the white dresses of the drill teams, and their colorful regalia, made a splash of brilliant hues.

The retiring officers led by Marshall Ann Hardin, formed the name "Miller," in their drill, put on by seventeen officers.

Mrs. Outward made an impressive and splendid talk in farewell. Music by Mrs. A. F. Taylor with reading, was interpolated.

The District Deputy Worthy Matron, Mrs. L. J. Lambert, made the presentation of the Past Matron's Jewel, an onyx dinner ring, engraved in platinum, gavel and star, set with diamonds; and to the past Patron, a fountain pen of handsome design.

A magnificent basket of flowers was presented by Mrs. Guy Patterson, Miss Sallie Morris, Mrs. L. J. Lambert, and Mrs. W. F. Miller, to the retiring Worthy Matron, Mrs. W. Z. Outward, and a floor pillow on behalf of her appointed officers, Mrs. J. W. Thomas.

Mrs. F. Miller, the incoming Worthy Matron, in a graceful eulogy, gave Mrs. Outward a gorgeous bouquet of gladiolas.

Miss Rosa La Mae Brammer was pleasing in a violin number with Miss Ruth Bagby at the piano.

"What the Eastern Star Meant," was a reading given by Mrs. Howell of the Ranger chapter.

Mrs. W. Z. Outward called for Marshall Ann Hardin, to present the officers to the East, and then graciously made her parting souvenir gift, a set of book ends to each of the departing officers, and lion head paper weights to the men.

Mrs. Outward, the installing officer, conducted the ceremony for the incoming officers, featured by six Rain-Lo Girls, dressed in white, and standing in double rows, with canopy formed by crossed flags, the incoming Worthy Matron being conducted under the arch to the installing officers.

Twenty Rainbow Girls were in a beautiful drill, gracefully terminated with a gift of a basket of sweet peas to both incoming and outgoing matrons with presentation speech by Miss Madelle Sikes, Worthy Advisor.

Notable and outstanding features were the charming response made by Mrs. Outward, who used an Edgar A. Guest verse, as each gift was received, and another that this is the only time in the history of local chapters, that the installation and entire ceremony was conducted through memory, and not through reading the manual. This feat has been presented in the Grand Lodge, and then but once.

Installations were held for Green G. Hazel, Worthy Patron, Mrs. G. A. Cross, Associate Matron, Mrs. D. J. Fiensy, conductress; Mrs. Karl F. Page, Associate Conductress; Mrs. R. L. Young, Secretary; Mrs. Hannah Lindsey, Treasurer; Mrs. B. L. Mackall, Chaplain; Mrs. J. A. Beard, Organist; Mrs. C. E. Sikes, Marshall, Mrs. George Utz, Ada; Mrs. Guy Patterson, Ruth; Mrs. R. J. Raines, Esther; Mrs. J. W. Thomas, Martha; Mrs. Clair McCormick, Electra; Mrs. Harry T. Johnson, Warden; Mrs. Harry T. Johnson, sentinel.

The Worthy Matron's, Mrs. W. F. Miller's appointments were announced: Finance committee, Miss Sallie Morris, with Mrs. L. J. Lambert, and Green G. Hazel; refreshment committee, Mrs. W. E. Fairbairn, with Mmes. Luther Bean, J. W. Miller, and B. L. Mackall; committees to visit and report the sick, Mrs. Clair McCormick and Mrs. C. E. Sikes.

Refreshments of delicious punch from a block of ice in which was frozen a star, and cakes, were served by Mmes. Luther Bean, H. L. Brammer, and W. C. Baker.

The Order of the Eastern Star appreciated the gift of the Crystal Ice Company in the sparkling beauty of their punch bowl. At least two hundred guests were entertained.
