Preventing War in 1964

Something that never happened during those long years between 1914 and 1918 is happening in Europe today. People are asking their statesmen what they intend to do to the continent AFTER the conflict is over. The man on the streets of London and Paris is interested not only in having his country win the war, but in punctuating the fight with something better than a Versailles Treaty.

During the last war, virtually the only objective of any allied nation was to hang the kaiser. That accomplished, everyone believed everything else would take care of itself. Democracy would be rescued, workers could go back to their factories, farmers to their fields; joy and peace would reign. It was as simple as that.

Today, one of the principal war aims advocated is the federalization of western Europe. The chief champion of this idea is Julian Huxley, British novelist, who feels that instead of trying to balance power, the European nations should consolidate it. Huxley would set up a United States of Europe, based upon the successful American system.

Clarence Streit, American author, carries this idea a step further in the book he wrote sometime before war was imminent. Streit, in "Union Now," proposes a federation of world democracies. Under the American plan, Germany, Italy, and Russia would be ineligible until they adopted democratic forms of government.

Loudest demand for a concrete declaration of allied war aims comes from H. G. Wells, British writer, who doesn't care particularly what the British and French have in mind—as long as it's something a little more solid than merely clipping Herr Hitler's ears.

There is some hope, if the people are sufficiently aroused by the spread of these ideas, that Europe's troubles can be disposed of for periods longer than 25 years at a time. Whether the next peace conference will meet after a long, harrowing war or before too much blood has been spilt, the results should be much better than they were after the Wilson-George-Chateaubriand huddle in 1919.

No matter who wins the war—if anyone wins it—the loser can't be expected to remain permanently on his knees. Economic expansion is important, and international trade is doubly essential to nations that have just gone through long years of military profligacy.

A truck crashed in California, and 10,000 pounds of sugar were strewn over the highway. Spectators stood around waiting for a strawberry truck to come along.

Alabama's pig crop this year is the biggest in years. We're going to get our ham and eggs after all.

Each golfer in a friendly foursome in Illinois turned in an 89 on his card. Maybe they were too friendly.

Society Notes

Harrell-Walters

Marriage Announced

Mr. and Mrs. B. O. Harrell announce the marriage of their daughter, Frances, to Mr. Billy Walters, in a single ring ceremony performed in the Cornelius Apartments Saturday evening.

Rev. Philip W. Walker, pastor of First Methodist Church, officiated. Members of the two families and Miss Margaret Blount, Mr. James King of Breckenridge, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Castleberry and Mrs. Luther Bean were present.

The bride, a graduate of Eastland High School and Ranger Junior College, wore a dusky rose wool sheer with burgundy accessories. Her corsage was of pink dahlias.

The bridegroom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Walters, is a graduate of Eastland High School and attended John Tarleton College in Stephenville.

Following the ceremony a reception was held. The young couple are at home in the Cornelius Apartments.

Martha Dorcas Class Report

Mrs. Mac O'Neil conducted the opening session of the Martha Dorcas Class of the First Methodist Church at the Sunday morning period, which was opened with song service. Prayer was by Mrs. Campbell.

Mrs. Jack Ammer read the scripture lesson which was taught by Mrs. W. P. Leslie.

Present: Meses. Leslie, Ammer, Quinn, Ed Cox, Jr., Robert Farrell, Jack Dwyer, Young, Hoffman, Looney, Ligon, Burkhead, A. A. Edmondson, Lane, W. O. Tyson, Campbell, O'Neil, Harris, Hague, Parrish, W. H. Mullings, Clint Jones, Brock, Cooke, A. E. Ashley, James Matthews, Ben Matthews and visitor, Mrs. C. W. Geue.

Home for Thanksgiving holidays this week are Travis Cook and Buck Perrine, students of East Texas State Teachers College at Commerce.

Miss Clarine Marsh, student of Hardin-Simmons University at Abilene, spent the past week in Eastland.

Judge B. W. Patterson was a visitor Monday morning in Cisco. Milton Perdue, Cisco police chief, was a business visitor Monday.

Socii Lingarum Club Meets

The Socii Lingarum Club of RJC met at the home of Frances Ussery, Tuesday night, November 21. An interesting talk was given by Prof. L. B. Cherry of the Mathematics department of RJC. Refreshments were served to the following members: Katherine white, Muri Wilson, Mary Weaver, Opal Ramsey, Pickens Weaver, Beatrice Reagan, Edith Mae Taylor and Frances Ussery and Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Cherry. The sponsor, Miss Ruth Black, was unable to attend, due to illness.

C. R. West, Cisco, was an Eastland visitor Monday.

Poles Erected For Christmas Lights

Poles which will be used to maintain Christmas lights around the courthouse square were being erected Monday at Eastland.

Under plans adopted by Eastland merchants, lights will be strung from each corner of the courthouse to the poles and a garland of lights placed around the courthouse square.

It will be some time, however, before the lights are turned on for the Christmas season.

Eastland Group At Cisco Session

Mr. and Mrs. B. E. McGlamery, Mrs. F. L. Drago, Earl Bender and Rev. P. W. Walker of Eastland were in Cisco Monday for a Cisco district Methodist church meeting.

the Home Economics department, and the Library. Dr. Hereford commented favorably to the Dean and the President on the facilities. He gave indications that he was well pleased with our many new courses, the Fine Arts Department and the appreciable increase in college enrollments.

Dramatic Club

The Masquers met November 21 in the home of their sponsor, Mrs. Hunter. Plans for two plays, which are to be presented December 13, were discussed. These two plays should prove to be quite entertaining to outsiders as well as all students and at the price offered for both plays the attendance should be 100%.

So plan to attend Ladies Alone and Saturday Evening when they are presented.

Also plans for a Christmas social were discussed and the night of December 19 was decided upon. The program of this week proved to be an interesting one with D. A. Robertson reporting on "Prospectus for this Season's Stage," Charlie Hicks discussing the drama "The Man Who Came to Dinner," Priscilla Miller discussing Noel Cowards "They were Dancing and Virginia Beach another of Noel Cowards plays "Red Peppers."

The next meeting will be December 5.

Mr. Cherry Speaks To Language Club

Pickens Weaver "Texas should develop laboratories and institutions to keep her engineers and technicians at home," says Prof. L. B. Cherry of the Mathematics department of RJC.

Mr. Cherry, who was employed by the General Electric laboratories of Schenectady, N. Y., in 1937, gave a very interesting informal discussion of his work in the east and his visit into Canada before the Socii Lingarum Club of RJC.

Mr. Cherry said that many of the most brilliant engineers and chemists in the world are Texans who were forced to go to the industrial east due to the lack of laboratories and scientific institutions in Texas. He told how many of these men would like to return to Texas, but can't due to lack of facilities.

Upon graduation from the University of Texas, Mr. Cherry and a friend of his, were employed by the GE company and moved to Schenectady, fifteen miles west of Albany, the Capital of New York. The engineers employed by GE are given $1.00 for every discovery they make and even after leaving the employ of the company, if they make a discovery, and it is proven that it was first thought of while in GE employ, the company gets the invention.

Mr. Cherry and his friend made several trips down the Hudson to New York City to see all the sights but this soon got old. So he persuaded his friend to accompany him to Canada in his friend's car. This car was a gift from the boy's father, and he had no registration papers, so after passing the U. S. customs and stopped by the Canadian Customs, they were not allowed to enter Canada without the proper papers. They returned to the U. S. customs, and got a forty-eight hour pass to see the sights.

Ever before entering Canada, the houses and villages were distinctly French, and the highway signs were in both French and English. Approaching Montreal, it seemed to be at a low level. The buildings were all of French architecture and the entire surroundings were all distinctly French.

An amusing incident occurred when the two men asked for a parking lot to put their car. They asked the French hotel manager for a parking lot so he told them of a place, and when they reached their destination, they found the most beautiful public park they had ever seen.

"It is like a world of yesterday," says Mr. Cherry. "They still have their buggies, hansom, and other horse-drawn vehicles."

Mr. Cherry said that the Canadian girls were the only girls anywhere comparable to the beautiful Texas girls. In all Schenectady, there was not a so-called good looking girl.

Incidentally, Mr. Cherry, went to school, and as a child played with Mary Martin, the now famous Broadway and Hollywood star.

Patter by Percy

Step into the reading room sometimes and you'll hear about half of the collegians either whistling or singing "Scatterbrains" or "South of the Border." Yes, we call it a reading room but some people wonder upon entering it for the first time. The CAA permit to RJC has brought several new students to our college who want to earn their wings. Speaking of airplanes, you "ain't seen nuthin' yet" until you see our own Tommy Strong's model airplane perform. He recently was a winner in a model contest at the local airport. At the opening of the semester everyone was weeping and mourning because our dear friend and playmate "Beartracks," would not be with us this year. He departed from our halls of learning for parts unknown. But behold! the Gods were with us for they sent us one to take the original "Beartracks" place. He answers to the name of R. C. Howell. He is an Olden product and has everything including weight, that the original had, excepting one thing; that Yankee accent.

Our idea on how to end the World War II Send "Beartracks" over and let him do his Indian dance in "no man's land," and while the Nazis were recovering their wits, let the Allies capture them all and win the war. Master thinking on our part, eh, What?

Our congratulations to the school board for getting a science professor we can find no objections against.

A suggestion is made to Mr. Priesing that he give a program in assembly sometimes, of songs we all know. We appreciate the classics but would appreciate them more if something we all knew, for instance, "Indian Love Call," "Song of India," "In An 18th Century Drawing room," etc., were played.

"Hello, Babe, let's go places." "O. K., Butch, where to?" "How about the reading room?" "Naw, I don't have any reading to do."

"I don't either, but it's a place where we can sit and talk." (Ain't it so).

Mode Haute Lumiere
By Doris Beach

"The days of our youth are the days of our glory"—indeed is this true in our dress. Remember that first evening dress? You know you fixed your hair different that night. You dared to be different. Then you were at the age where you selected your own clothes, oh how you laugh today at some of your selections. Of course today it is different, your first evening dress comes when you are quite a young thing. But still you are in your glory when it comes to your wardrobe. These college days will never be replaced when it comes to the gaiety of our present fashions. What girl doesn't sigh and ohh when she carefully looks through the latest Vogue or Made-moiselle. By the way those are two of the most popular magazines with these R. J. C. girls. Now don't get it in your head that they just look at these magazines, they take mental notes all the time and even though they aren't buying at the present they remember these things they read when they do sew or buy. Now I don't say any one up here is a Vogue fashion plate but nevertheless no one is behind the times. No certainly not. You have all seen these adorable little jackets with the hood, naturally some of our own co-eds are going to include them in their college wardrobe this winter. The first on our campus is our little dark eyed friend Louise Huckaby. She chose one of the winter shades of red, the lining being tan.

Jackets always have been good but never so popular as this season. Short jackets or the longer ones will do. Either buttoned up to the collar or the one or two buttoned type with a variety of shapes in lapels. Color, oh how rich and gay are our colors this year. Anyone can find a suitable color. One of the special color combinations is the burnt sugar with a touch of orange and green. Makes a dandy combination with different colored skirts. Still a favorite with our girls is the simple bush jackets in plain colors. We mustn't omit these gay little jackets of knit and other fabrics. We find every type and color. Especially that gay orange, yellow, brown and white knit affair that Katherine White wears and that neat light rust that Huberta Mitchell sports around. Not to mention all the other fifty ones.

Low heels seem to be the trend and by the way our girls seem to prefer the ankle length socks in Hunter of her nuts she has every now and then a matching bracelet not to mention those other bracelets and shoes she has.

Sweaters in any color or combination of color will make you head the parade, but be sure they have that straight neck line which will enable you to wear that must have ornament around your neck, whether it be one chain or a dozen chains, a strand of pearls, an heirloom locket or a bunch of bubbles please don't omit them, they are an essential part of this year's dress. If you have none just add that old string of beads you've laid away, they may prove to be a novelty this year.

Of course we all envy Mrs.

ONLY GOOD NEWS IN THESE PAGES

A modern newspaper must report all the news, both good and bad.

But there's one part of this paper where you'll never find anything but good news. That's the advertising pages.

Clearances of winter coats. A low-priced Caribbean cruise. A new cereal, crammed with health. An amusing movie you've been waiting to see.

Such advertising is news just as truly as a European cabinet crisis or a neighborhood bridge club. It keeps you alert and up-to-date. It posts you on foods and fashions. It helps make your home more comfortable. It saves you money.

Read the advertisements regularly and get all the good news.
