Explosion, Fire Gut Local Home

Mr. and Mrs. Nick Manzanares and their children were homeless Friday night after an explosion and fire virtually destroyed their large home at 111 Quincy Street.

Manzanares said he was across the street from his home visiting outside with a neighbor and Mrs. Manzanares was in the home watching TV when a 'pop' was heard toward the back of his home.

Flames immediately shot into the sky and Mrs. Manzanares exited the home.

By the time the fire department arrived a few minutes later, virtually no part of the home had escaped the fire. The only part not burned out were a portion of two bedrooms, a den, the dining room and the kitchen. At least two other bedrooms, ceilings in the baths, another bedroom and the kitchen, along with the utility room were destroyed. Also destroyed was a tool room and workshop at the back of the home.

Vandalism

At presstime, the Muleshoe City Police were checking vandalism on the golf course at the Muleshoe Country Club.

Details were sketchy, but it is known that golf carts

Tolk Power Station Construction Goes On

Nearly 600 workmen and women have moved onto a location some 10 miles east of Muleshoe and are in the process of constructing a mammoth electric generating plant.

Within nearly a year and a half gone by on the construction, a massive tower is reaching into the sky. However, that is not all to be seen at the site of the plant.

By the time Phase One, or the first unit is completed, in excess of $200 million will have been spent.

In June 1982, the first unit is expected to be completed and operational. When it is fired up, it will have a rating of 543,000 kilowatts with steam at 2400 pounds per square inch.

It will take around 150 permanent workmen when

2 Burglaries, Stolen Truck Are Reported

Two burglaries were reported this week to the Muleshoe City Police. From one burglary, Yellowjacket Inn opened Tuesday for business, and on Tuesday night, a burglar or burglars removed a large amount of candy from the building.

Late Wednesday, around $100 in candy was recovered from where it had been hidden near where the burglary occurred.

A second burglary was reported from Calvary Baptist Church. Taken between Sunday and Wednesday were two large speakers and a small tape recorder.

Also, a door was splintered at the church.

Reported as stolen Thursday morning was a gasoline delivery truck owned by Herman Morrison Oil Co. The truck was reported to have been taken from Roy Whitt Chevrolet.

The truck was recovered

the plant is completed to operate the plant.

Bob DeLoach, of Southwestern Public Service Company, said the single heaviest piece of equipment is the generator stator which weighs 636,000 pounds. Under construction at this time is the stack, which will reach a height of 400 feet when it is completed.

According to calculation, the turbine rotor whirls at such great speed that if it were placed on the highway it would travel from Amarillo to Lubbock in about six minutes.

Also, at the speed the main steam travels through the pipes, it could finish the Boston Marathon (26 miles) in about 12 minutes.

Since the initial stages began with a water well drilled in the middle of a ranch pasture, construction has been maintained at a steady pace.

First, roads were cut to the location and then paved. Huge steel beams of various colors were stockpiled, and very large equipment started digging deep holes in the ground.

'Horns-Hornets Start Season In Tie Game

The Lazbuddie Longhorns and Sudan Hornets were a yard apart in rushing Friday night, and the score reflected the close contest at Lazbuddie as they battled to a 6-6 tie.

Lazbuddie's only TD came when 'horn Randy Cantrell recovered a Sudan fumble and the team took seven plays to cover the 42 yards to the end zone. Steve Monreal made it in to the end zone with 10:04 left in the first.

Also, Sudan's score followed right behind as Joey Bellar took a kickoff 62 yards to paydirt.

Sudan had nine first downs and 132 yards rush-

Jail Escapee

Still Eludes

County Officers

At presstime, no trace of jail escapee Janice Bate Holmes, 25, has been found.

She disappeared through a window at the jail sometime during early morning hours of September 1. Officers speculate she must have had outside help in the escape, as heavy mesh had been cut or torn and rolled back enough to provide the means of escape.

Ms. Holmes had received a 60 year sentence in District Court in Bailey County some three weeks ago for her part in an armed robbery of a local jewelry store.

Her two companions, Jimmy Jordan and R.C. Willard, received 90 years and 50 year terms, respectively. Willard is serving his sentence with the Texas Department of Corrections. Jordan is in the Lubbock County jail awaiting the outcome of an appeal of his sentence.

Hopscotching

Rain Clouds

Tease County

Hopscotching rain clouds deposited varying amounts of moisture in the area Friday night, varying from one inch reported in the Pleasant Valley Community for the largest amount.

At Needmore, a half inch was recorded, with only a sprinkle four miles north of that location.

In Muleshoe, .11 was the official rainfall, although residents of the far eastern section of town reported only a light shower.

National Weather Service predicted additional rainfall for Saturday evening.

City Police Caution All Drivers

"School is started, and once again, we would like to urge all drivers to exercise the utmost caution," stressed Lt. Jerry Hicks of the Muleshoe City Police Department.

"Although the streets are clearly marked, and sometime you may think you have the right of way around schools, the children are not watching where they are going, and could easily step or run out in front of you," he added. "Thus far this year, drivers have proven to be cautious, and have respected the school zone speeds and regulations. We would like to thank the driving public for helping to keep our youngsters safe while they are around the school."

"Also, since three young people were struck by a vehicle while waiting for a bus in northeast Muleshoe, we would like to again caution drivers to keep a close watch for youngsters who are waiting for the buses. Young people are often playing and do not pay adequate attention to oncoming traffic."

All three of the youngsters received slight injuries in the accident Tuesday.

'Mule Mania' Fans Thrill To Victory

What makes a football hero? Would it be a tough defensive line that holds a team to only one first down in one half of a game, and scoreless for the entire game? Or, could it be an unrelenting offensive line, who made small openings for equally small, but tricky and fast runners to scoot through for consistent yardage.

Or could it just be 126 and 133 pound cornerbacks, who showed not one bit of hesitation in going against tall receivers -- and invariably bringing down an interception, or a linebacker who also brought in an interception.

And, when it comes right down to it, it just might be the entire Muleshoe Mules team, who showed the local Mule Mania fans they could do it, and defeated the Portales Rams 19-0 for a season opener.

It was a turnaround from the 2-7 loss to the Rams in the opening game last year, and the poised Mules exhibited a seasoning, and put on a show for their fans in Muleshoe.

Portales took the opening kickoff in the game, and in their first two carries, had 0 yardage, followed by a 13 yard sack of the quarterback on their third carry.

Booting the ball away, the Mules took over, and 11 plays and 46 yards later, Muleshoe quarterback Monty Hysinger skittered over from seven yards out for the Mules first score. However, he failed to make the extra point when his kick was blocked by the Rams. The Mules led at 4:26 of the first quarter by 6-0.

In desperation, Ram quarterback Johnny Poe, substituting for his injured brother, Eddie Poe, lofted a pass that was brought down in a spectacular one-handed catch by Bobby Perez.

The interception by Perez set up the Mules' second touchdown, when Hysinger again found paydirt, this time from one yard out. Perez then attempted to run the extra point and the effort failed. At 6:05 on the clock, and again at half-time, the Mules were leading 12-0.

A tightened up Ram defense kept the Mules from the end zone in the third, and although George Vela intercepted a Ram pass, the Mules failed to score.

School Offers

Special Service

To Handicapped

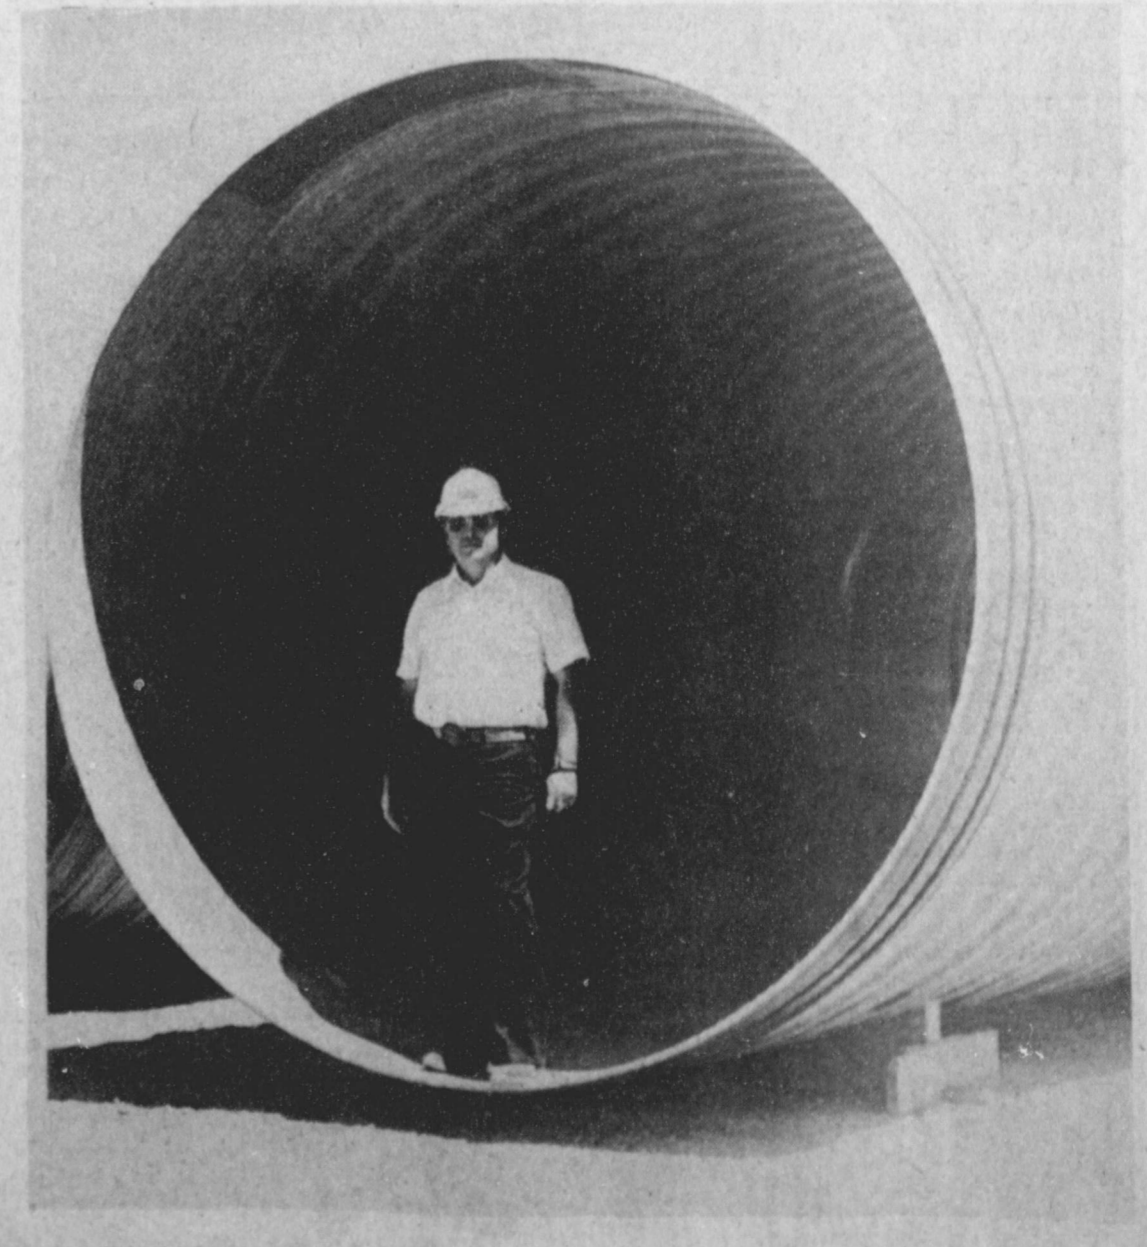

"The Muleshoe Independent School District provides comprehensive education services for handicapped children living in the district," said Carol Horne, director for special education.

"Speech handicapped, learning disabled, emotionally disturbed, autistic, mentally retarded, orthopedically or other health handicapped children who are three years of age or older on September 1, 1980 may be eligible for these free services. Visually and hearing impaired children may be eligible from birth," she added.

Children referred to the special education department receive a comprehensive assessment to determine the needs of the student, she added. The school personnel responsible for the student will develop and follow an individual educational plan.

Muleshoe Independent School District is in compliance with Public Law 94-142, as well as the State Board of Education and Texas Education Agency, stressed the director.

THOMAS S. FREEMAN

Open Letter To The Public

This election year, like so many others, is important to our nation in terms of cost to the individual citizen, the family unit, and to business. This cost is not measured in monetary or material loss alone, but in the gradual erosion of our constitutional rights and freedoms as well.

Over the last several decades, the American citizen has lost control of his identity and laid it in the hands of his government; the government he is obligated to control and has neglected to do so. We are now feeling the impact of our laxity in high taxes, runaway inflation, costly government regulation of large and small business, energy problems, worthless money, loss of national prestige ---- the list of our sad state of affairs is long, but it is not insurmountable.

We have slipped away from the basics that make our country great. Individual effort, involvement and sacrifice will make this nation greater than it's ever been. Do we dare waste the fine ideals that established this, the greatest country in the world? What about the lives given by our forefathers so they could govern themselves? They gave us the basics. We are over taxes, over regulated, overruled and over anything else you can name, just as the American colonists were.

What did they do? They revolted against the largest empire the world had ever seen and crushed it on this continent. They used weapons to win that war and gave us the vote, which is just as devastating. With that vote, we change the course of our nation and improve our state and local government.

Question the candidates whenever you can. See that they are genuinely interested in serving for the sake of giving that service. To be elected to public office is a privilege bestowed upon a candidate by the voters.

The candidate becomes a public servant, not a ruler. He must dedicate himself to the trust he has been given and not be influenced by special interests.

His service is to benefit the majority of the people and to protect and preserve our rights and our constitution. This is an awesome responsibility and is tenant in every public office. This responsibility ultimately rests with the voter. Do you want this country back on its feet? Then vote. Make the candidate earn your trust.

Many of you know I am the Republican candidate for County Commissioner, Precinct One. I request your wholehearted support and your vote. In return, I pledge to serve you with honor, loyalty and dedication.

Respectfully,
Thomas S. Freeman

Catching cattle rustlers by computer is the end result of an application of computer technology being carried out today by cattlemen's associations around the country. These forward looking beef businessmen have set up identification systems which can spot a rustled calf faster than it used to take to drop a noose over a cottonwood limb. Because of the intricacies of the system used, the producers would rather all the secrets not be known. Basically, however, the system involves direct inspection of the cattle being sold at auction rings around the country with a field report made on each animal. This information is filed with association offices at the end of every day and matched by computer with any information on stolen cattle. If there's a match, the appropriate law enforcement officials are notified and an arrest very often follows.

Student drivers learn to save fuel

COLLEGE STATION — Many Texas high school driver education students are learning to improve their gas mileage 15 to 20 percent as an addition to traditional driving instruction. The curriculum guide for the unit on conservation, developed by the Safety Education Program of the Industrial Education Department at Texas A&M University, teaches students fuel economy measures. The program also makes extensive use of electronic simulation and multiple car instruction.

"Texas driver education programs were presently saving a substantial amount of gasoline per year by using driver simulators and by teaching students to improve their gas mileage," said Dr. Maurice E. Dennis, director of the Safety Education Program.

The Consumer Alert
by Mark White
Attorney General

AUSTIN—Since 1945, Texas State law has provided for creation and regulation of Perpetual Care Cemeteries. As the name would indicate, the idea behind such provisions is that those cemeteries would be cared for forever and the consumer would not have to worry about the cemetery becoming run down after a loved one had already been buried there.

As a consumer in the market for a burial space, one should not be misled to believe that the perpetual care status automatically means that the cemetery will always be kept beautiful. The only real requirements provided for by State law of a perpetual care cemetery is that a certain amount of money per square foot of land sold must be put into a perpetual care trust fund and that the income from that fund must be used exclusively for the maintenance of the Perpetual Care Cemetery.

There is no effective enforcement tool provided for under the Act to insure that the cemetery will put forth the effort necessary to efficiently spend the income from the trust fund in such a way as to properly maintain the cemetery. Therefore, one should carefully consider the reliability of the cemetery owner and make an evaluation as to the probability that the owner will properly maintain the cemetery.

Another potential problem which not only exists in the Perpetual Care Cemetery but in any privately owned cemetery which is run for profit is that the only real financial incentive to keep the cemetery looking presentable is to help the cemetery sell additional lots. Once all the available lots are sold, therefore, there is no financial incentive to perform the difficult task of maintaining the cemetery. One great advantage of the Perpetual Care Cemetery has over other privately owned cemeteries run for profit is that even when all the lots are sold, there is at least income from the perpetual care trust fund which is available to the cemetery to continue maintaining the cemetery. Some consumers have also had disappointing experiences with regard to markers purchased from the cemetery. One should be careful to make sure that the marker placed at the burial space is of the type and quality that he ordered and paid for. Also, as a general rule, the consumer should not be forced to buy a marker from the cemetery, but should be able to purchase a marker wherever he desires as long as certain minimum standards set by the cemetery are met.

Even though there is no specific maintenance requirements other than maintaining a trust fund and using the income therefrom for maintenance, if you are aware of a Perpetual Care Cemetery which is in noticeable disrepair, there is a good chance that those funds are not being properly spent and some investigation might be necessary. If any consumer should have a complaint concerning the condition of a perpetual care cemetery, he should contact the Department of Banking, 2601 North Lamar, Austin, Texas, telephone number (512) 475-4451 or the Consumer Protection and Antitrust Division of the Texas Attorney General's Office at P.O. Box 12548, Austin, Texas 78711, telephone number (512) 475-3288.

Cystic Febrosis

"Kiss Your Baby" Week

Mayor Charles Bratcher declared September 21-27, 1980, as "KISS YOUR BABY WEEK" in Muleshoe by signing an official proclamation today.

"Kiss Your Baby Week" will be part of National Cystic Fibrosis and the local CF Breath of Life Campaign.

Stressing the need for greater public health education in Muleshoe, the Mayor said that "Kiss Your Baby Week" is designed to help parents recognize the symptoms of Cystic Fibrosis in their children.

One of the signs of CF is a salty taste to the skin. Mothers have sometimes alerted doctors to the possibility of CF when kissing their babies and tasting salt, explained Mayor Bratcher.

Cystic Fibrosis is inherited by approximately one of every 1,600 American babies. It occurs when a child receives a gene for the disease from each parent. So far, there's no cure for CF, but early diagnosis and treatment are helping to lengthen lives. Today, 50 percent of CF patients can be expected to live past age 19, where once few survived to school age.

The signs of Cystic Fibrosis include: recurrent wheezing, persistent coughing with excessive mucus, pneumonia more than once, excessive appetite with poor weight gain and clubbing (enlargement of fingertips). Cystic Fibrosis signs also include a salty taste of the skin, persistent bulky diarrhea and nasal polyps.

Story Hour At Library

Story hour for pre-school age children was held Wednesday morning from 10-11 a.m. in the basement of the library. Mothers registered the children so that the library has the child's name, age, birthday and phone number to call if needed.

Jan Colby Miller and Brandon Bush held the flags and led the Pledge of Allegiance.

Good foods was the topic for this session, with emphasis on milk, each child was given a milk bottle to remind them to drink it daily.

Anne Camp led the children in songs and two films were shown, "Let's Be Friends" and "Wilber's Story".

Each child received a treat and a "going fishing" poster to record their visits to the story hours.

Story hour for all children 3, 4 and 5 will be held the first and third Wednesday morning of each month.

The Muleshoe Young Homemakers will help the third Wednesday as they have for several years, and the Epsilon Delta Chapter of E.S.A. will help on the first Wednesday of each Wednesday of each month.

Anne said, "Appreciation goes to both of these fine organizations for this community wide service project."

No Place But Texas

"No place but Texas!"... it costs less to live! a family resource management specialist says.

In other states, families need $20,517 to maintain an "intermediate level" of living, but in Texas, they need less, Nancy Granovsky reports.

Mrs. Granovsky, on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, cites recent family-budget figures released by the Bureau of Labor Statistics for the "latest-Texas-brag" material.

This brag is no joke, either, she says.

According to the report, Dallas families can buy that same "intermediate level" of living for $18,301, and Houston families can get it for $19,025.

Doctor Talk

By Dr. Harold B. Ligon

The most severe form of heat disorder, a condition we have been discussing in the last two columns, is heat stroke (sun stroke, heat hyperpyrexia or thermic fever).

This condition is defined as a profound disturbance of the heat regulating mechanism, characterized by high fever and collapse, and sometimes by convulsions, coma or death.

There have been approximately four thousand deaths related to the various heat disorders so far this summer. Some contributing factors are poor ventilation, poor housing, old age or cardio-vascular, pulmonary or chronic disease.

Onset of heat stroke may come suddenly or may gradually follow a steady process of weakness, headache, nausea and loss of appetite. The skin—unlike in heat cramp cases—if flushed, hot and dry. There may be muscular twitchings and cramps. The patient may be only semi-conscious. Pulse rate is fast, greater than 160 per minute. Respirations are fast and the temperature may be as high as 106 F or higher.

Complications which often cause death are kidney and heart failure, excessive potassium buildup, convulsions, projectile vomiting, profound shock and ultimate circulatory collapse.

Urgent and extreme measures are immediately mandatory in heat stroke cases. These include an ice-water, tub-bath, vigorous skin massage, and constant attendance by a nurse or physician to avoid lowering the temperature too rapidly.

If temperature is lowered too quickly, heat must sometimes be applied. Once temperature is stabilized at a satisfactory level, routine convalescent measures are indicated.

These budget figures are derived from what it would cost an urban family of four—that is, an age 38 husband, employed full time, a non-employed wife, a boy age 13, and a girl age 8—to buy specific goods and services for a whole year at autumn, 1979 prices.

Dallas and Houston are the only two areas in Texas for which specific data were collected.

There's even more "brag" to the report: Texas costs less at lower- and at higher-budget levels, too.

At the lower-budget level, families in other states would have to spend $12,585.

However, Dallas families would pay only $11,687, and Houston families would spend only $12,100 to maintain the same level of living.

On the "high side", families in other states needed $30,317 to stay in that living standard. Dallas families who wanted to live at these higher-budget levels only had to spend $27,004, and Houston families needed $27,686.

Why? Absence of a state income tax is the major reason.

But what if you aren't part of a four member urban family?

Other report figures the same story.

For example, single people (under age 35) trying to maintain an intermediate level of living in Dallas would pay $6,405. In Houston, they would pay $6,659.

However, in any other state it would cost $7,180.

A one-parent family with two children trying to maintain the lower level of living would have to spend $8,882 in Dallas—and $9,196 in Houston. But in any other state it would cost $9,564.

What do these "made-up" budgets really tell us, though?—and what do they not tell us?

Mrs. Granovsky says they do not tell us what it really costs people in Texas to live.

Instead, they say what a "standard" marketbasket of goods and services costs in two areas of Texas and in other regions of the United States. This marketbasket includes items ranging from food and housing to toothpaste and taxes, but it certainly does not cover everything Texas residents or those of other states really buy, the specialist adds.

However, the "made-up" budgets do provide one thing: a way to compare budget costs across the United States, and, no matter how they do it, the answer is still the same.

It costs less to live in Texas.

Start Now! Make A Big Change This Fall

Losing 92 inches cut my weight problem down to size

"When I bought these size 18 jeans, I weighed 202 pounds," says 5'4" Sandy Camp of Dangerfield, Texas. "I managed to take off 20 or so on my own, but then I was stuck. That's when I went to Pat Walker's."

No-sweat exercise is the secret

After her introductory treatment on Pat Walker's Symmetricron passive exercise unit, Sandy knew that she'd come to the right place. She felt rested and relaxed—not sweaty and exhausted. She didn't even have to change into exercise clothes. And before many weeks went by, she could see how her figure was being toned and firmed up. Sandy eventually lost 13 inches from her waist, 12 inches from her tummy, 11½ from her hips, and several inches in other areas.

Complete privacy is your privilege

If wearing a leotard embarrasses you... if you don't like revealing your figure problems to a roomful of strangers, then Pat

Walker's is your kind of place. Every aspect of your weight loss program—from counseling sessions about sensible eating habits, to Symmetricron treatments—is totally private. We think you deserve that.

Today, even Sandy Camp's husband loves to buy her new things to wear, now that she's down to 124 pounds and size 8. Sandy's success story could be yours. Make an appointment for a free, no-obligation consultation at Pat Walker's. We'll tell you how much you need to lose, how long it will take—and the total cost of your complete figure correction, based on four dollars per thirty-minute treatment.

When the coal trains start, 110 cars will be dumped at Tolk Station daily. Stockpiled will be 750,000 tons in dead storage, with an additional overhead storage for over a three months supply.

Settling ponds have been dug and sealed. The pond has been sealed with clay to eliminate seepage.

As construction continues, Phase Two of the railroad will start. This will include completing the 'teardrop' or turnaround for the coal cars. At this time, the grade is completed, and the tracks are expected to be laid in November.

Little to no stoppage has occurred at the plant site due to wet or adverse weather, and construction at this point is running a little ahead of predicted schedule.

Harvey and Jewell Pool of Levelland and Lee and Jewell Pool of Muleshoe attended an old settlers reunion in Roaring Springs the last weekend in August. It was a joint reunion for Motley and Dickens Counties. They moved to Afton in Dickens County in 1910.

Also attending were Larry and Terry Winkler of Muleshoe and Tommy Sanders of Ft. Worth, formerly of Muleshoe.

However, the Rams had the edge in the air as Ram QB Johnny Poe made it good on six of 11 attempts for 52 yards and Hysinger had two of seven passes for 23 yards.

The Mules had 55 yards in penalties to 60 yards for the Rams and the Rams held a definite edge in the punting department. The Rams punted five times for an average of 41.6 yards per punt, while the Mules punted three times for an average of 23.3 yards per punt.

Also the Mules had 16 first downs to six for Portales. The Mules lost no ball on interceptions to four for Portales and the Mules lost one fumble.

Next Friday, the Muleshoe Mules will travel to Morton to take on the Indians. Morton formerly was in the Muleshoe district, but fell back in action. They will still be a Mule foe in pre-district action.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS
By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — The Brilliant trial of House Speaker Billy Clayton will open this week in a Houston federal court, after a week of pretrial hearings on about 50 defense motions.

Clayton is charged with taking a $5,000 bribe in exchange for his influence in awarding a lucrative state employee insurance contract. Clayton, himself, is optimistic he will be found innocent, and, in fact, he pushed hard for this early trial date to clear his name before the general election on Nov. 4. He is seeking an unprecedented fourth term as Texas House Speaker.

The millionaire farmer-businessman from the Panhandle does not lack for supporters in the Legislature. If he is cleared early, he can probably count on that support and nail down his fourth term.

Should the trial linger on, Clayton may become a political liability to those supporters. Clayton's opposition may well try to make him an issue in the last few weeks of the campaign season.

The Texas House seems to have recovered from the initial shock of the indictment announcements, and business goes on as usual. Speculation on the trial's outcome is not a wide or loud topic. Clayton's faction fully expects him to be acquitted, his opposition expects him to fail.

Medicaid Dispute

The dispute over who will receive the state's lucrative Medicaid contract will cost the taxpayers an additional $100 million. The Texas Department of Human Resources board will spend that much on an independent consulting firm to evaluate controversial bids.

The Medicaid saga, short but not sweet, began this summer when the board voted to give the contract to low-bidder Bradford National Co. of New York instead of Texas millionaire H. Ross Perot's Austin-based company (which held the 1980 contract).

Perot then met privately with each board member and asked the bid be reconsidered. The board did reconsider it, but Bradford threatened to sue and took full page ads in several major newspapers in a public plea. Perot's company threatened a lawsuit and the board found itself between a rock and a hard place. The independent consulting firm it hopes to hire should supply data the board will need to avoid a lawsuit from either direction.

Tuition Hike Sought

A legislative panel last week recommended higher faculty pay and double minimum tuition rates for college and university students.

If approved by the 1981 Legislature, the recommendations would raise faculty salaries by 40 percent and raise tuition at medical schools by 900 percent — from $400 to $3,600 a year.

The Special Committee on Higher Education Financing in Texas, which formed the recommendations, is headed by Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and Clayton. Texas ranks 46th in the nation in tuition rates.

State and Religion

A Texas House committee upheld the state's Child Care Licensing Act, the main bone of contention in the running battle between the state and evangelist Lestor Roloff over regulation of his children's schools.

The committee found no constitutional problems with the act which requires all such school facilities to be licensed by the state. Roloff had refused to seek the license, calling it a state invasion into the domain of his church. He was forced to temporarily close his facilities.

The committee did recommend the Legislature clarify its intent with respect to religious liberty and religious education.

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Sandy Creek comes up with an idea for football fans.

Dear editor:

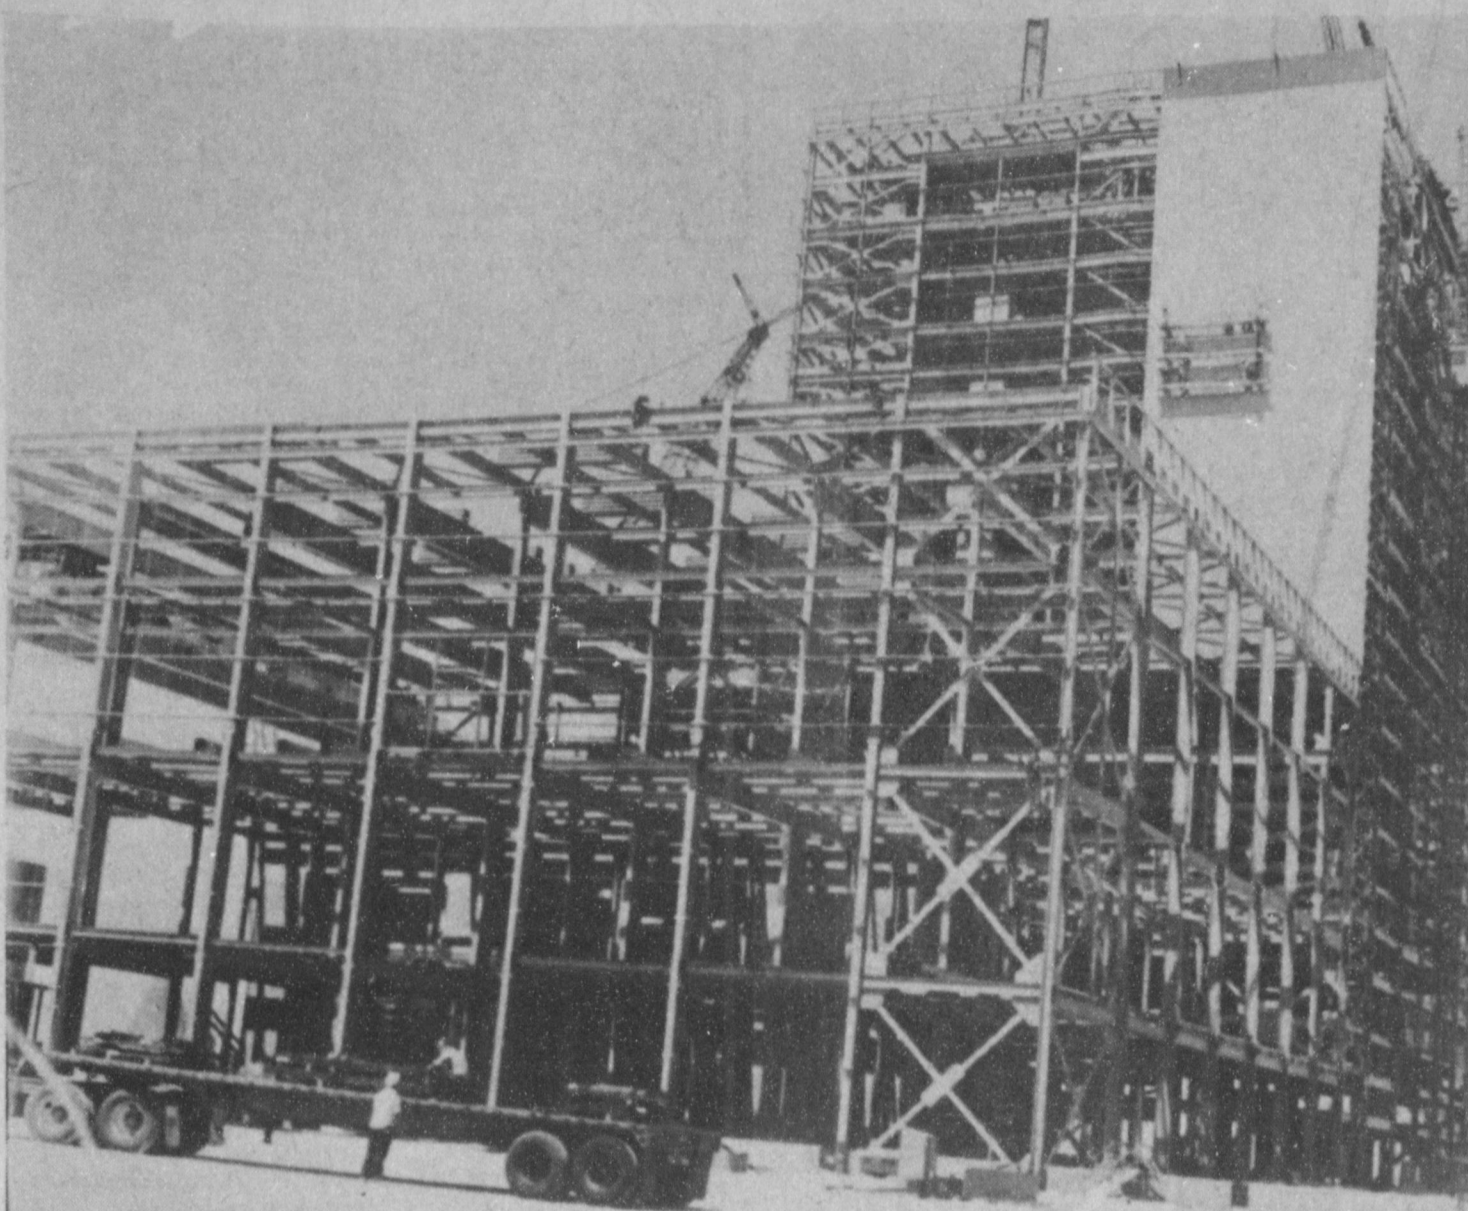

Some people think everything's been invented that we need and a good many things we don't need, but it isn't so.

For example, when Russian officials hear a radio broadcast from outside their borders they don't want the Russian people to hear, they jam it. I don't know how it works but instead of news the Russians hear something that sounds like a buzz-saw.

This presents a golden opportunity for some American inventor. There's a big market for a small hand-held jamming device, something you can turn on when Howard Cosell is interrupting Monday Night Football. Push a button and he's drowned out with a buzz-saw sound, which many people would prefer over what he's saying. It could be used also on those embarrassing commercials TV is now running.

Speaking of Cosell, I got to figuring up how many words he speaks during a football telecast, detailing endlessly the background of all the players and their kinfolks. Assuming that about 100 plays occur during a game, and allotting him say 100 words between each one, although frequently he tops that and is still going while a play is unfolding down on the field that comes to 10,000 words per game, not counting what he can work in during half-time.

If some inventor can get that jamming device on the market, he'll get rich and make football fans happy as they sit back, push that button and watch the game in peace.

REACHING TO THE SKY... Visible for miles, this skeletal tower is reaching the sky as construction constantly goes on at the Southwestern Public Service Company Tolk Station 10 miles east of Muleshoe. Day to day change can be noted at the electric generating plant site as the nearly 600 workmen put the massive construction together.

Speaking of talking, there's a lot of it going on about the proposed Presidential debates. I'm opposed to them. Debates are too formal, too stodgy. What they ought to have are Presidential arguments. Instead of debating, with each candidate given so many minutes for speaking, so many for rebuttal, let them face each other on TV and argue. Throw out the moderator and let them have at it. It's a lot more fun and the results are about the same.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

Seed varieties are dwindling, scientist warns

COLLEGE STATION — Some species of food crops are threatened with extinction as a result of a dwindling variety of plant seeds, says a genetic scientist at Texas A&M University.

"Scientists have been narrowing the gene pool through hybridization, making it difficult to find the old genetic varieties that could be used if the modern seed strains become diseased or are changed by the environment," said Dr. Homer Blackhurst, professor emeritus of horticulture.

Blackhurst explained the newer food crops have been developed to make mechanical harvesting easier to permit the highest possible output for large-scale production.

The horticulturist said it's not advantageous to narrow gene pools of plant species, because as time, the environment, the economy and people change, there may be future need for plants that are at present looked upon as weeds.

Many crop plants were weeds a short time ago, he said.

Job satisfaction is declining, sociologists say

COLLEGE STATION — In these times, you should feel lucky to have a job, right? Not necessarily, say sociologists at Texas A&M University.

Between 1973 and 1977, Americans experienced a 2 percent drop in worker and job satisfaction. The decline was particularly high among college graduates and workers under 30.

The Foreign Policies

The tragedy for Americans in this election year is that neither major-party candidate offers much innovative hope or expertise in the field of foreign policy, so vitally important today. President Carter certainly has a mixed record at best.

Our Secretary of State has resigned in protest and Secretary of State Edmund Muskie almost resigned the week before the Democratic convention. That's because amateurs (primarily state politicians) have wielded the power in basic, fundamental foreign policy issues and policies—often at a high cost to the nation. Mr. Carter himself had no experience in this field before taking office.

After viewing the record of the Carter years, when the U.S. flag and U.S. interests were treated with greater disrespect than at any time in this century, and after Billy Carter, Ham Jordan, Zbigniew Brzezinski, the president himself, and others have left something to be desired, what about Reagan's policies?

Several cause concern. His emphasis on achieving nuclear superiority over Russia is disturbing. That is desirable in one sense but the cost of such an effort would be enormous and a massive nuclear arms race might ensue. Mr. Reagan says this course will enable him to negotiate an arms reduction with Russia. One hopes so. And certainly the U.S. must do something to restore today's military imbalance.

Mr. Reagan, in a transparently political gesture, has come out in favor of Israel's permanent retention of Jerusalem as its capital and as its territory. One could hardly think of a more provocative policy—certain to inflame the entire Arab world, including Saudi Arabia, which in mid-August announced that if Israel persists in this, a holy war is justified against her.

The official U.S. position has long been that of the U.N. and the rest of the world, that Jerusalem must be an international city, since it is the spiritual home of several major religions. Any other solution almost guarantees future wars. This Reagan approach is disappointing, and dangerous.

Mr. Reagan also makes long-headed noises about Taiwan, about establishing new official diplomatic ties between Washington and Taiwan. He presumably would not disturb much more important ties with China—but some worry about this approach, including the Chinese, who are a potentially critical ally of the U.S. in the advent of further Russian aggression in Asia. Of course, this Reagan posture pleases all those old Taiwan supporters who liked to think of Taiwan as the real China, which it wasn't and never can be—and never was.

The consolation in all this is twofold. First, Mr. Carter has inevitably learned something in four years. Should he be reelected, one presumes he will do better. Secondly, Mr. Reagan is employing campaign rhetoric to win votes—just as Carter did in 1976. His policies in the White House, if he's elected, would likely be tempered with reality, professionalism and expert advice.

Those who get emotional when one disagrees with their viewpoint limit their learning capacity.

Laws necessary to keep the unprincipled from taking advantage of others.

WASHINGTON NOTES

ON TAX CUTS

The Senate Finance Committee, rushing to complete action on tax cut legislation unanimously agreed recently on about $22 billion worth of tax cuts for individuals in addition to faster tax write-offs for business.

ON NITRITES

There is insufficient evidence to conclude that nitrite causes cancer and no need to ban nitrite preservatives, widely used in bacon, ham and other food products, the government said recently.

ON CRASH TEST

The Transportation Department reported that 10 of 11 foreign-built 1980 small cars failed a safety crash test and concluded that American sub- and mini-compacts are structurally stronger and safer than most imports.

PROFITS DOWN

The Commerce Department reported that corporate profits in the second quarter plummeted at the sharpest pace in 25 years as the recession pushed down the nation's economic output at a near-record annual rate of 9 percent.

ON MORTGAGE

The interest rate on government-backed home mortgages will rise from 11.5 percent to 12 percent, the Carter Administration announced.

ON HOUSING STARTS

Housing starts rose 4.8 percent in July, following a 33 percent jump in June, the government said. But builders and economists said that a sudden surge in mortgage rates threatens to deflate the industry's recovery.

ARMY & WOMEN

In another blow to the all-volunteer military, women Army recruits are failing to finish their first enlistments at a much higher rate than male volunteers. An Army study estimates that the dropout rate for women will reach 46.7 percent this year—13.5 percentage points higher than for young men.

Successful living depends upon simple things.

NEWS NOTES

CLOSES EMBASSY

LONDON -- Britain announced that it had temporarily closed its embassy in Teheran, the scene of recent large and angry demonstrations. The decision to lock the gates of the well-fortified embassy compound in the heart of the Iranian capital was the latest indication of a serious deterioration in relations between Britain and Iran.

$16.8 MILLION!

MIAMI -- Federal officials here announced plans to spend $16.8 million for health and educational services for Cuban and Haitian refugees in south Florida.

SEARCH OFF

NEW YORK -- Thwarted by bad weather and dwindling supplies of food and fuel, a group searching for the sunken liner Titanic turned toward land, cutting off their effort until at least next summer.

ON NESTING GROUNDS

ANCHORAGE -- The nesting grounds of the rare Tule goose have been discovered in the marshes of Redoubt Bay 80 miles southwest of here, ending six decades of scientific mystery. The white-fronted bird first was described in scientific literature in 1917 but has generally eluded scientists' efforts since to learn more about it.

ON POLISH STRIKE

GDANSK, POLAND -- Poland's crippling labor crisis spread and militant workers demanded anew that the communist government enact sweeping economic and social reforms.

ENDORSES CARTER

CHICAGO -- Leaders of the AFL-CIO endorsed President Carter for re-election recently and then sought to fire up enthusiasm within the labor community for the campaign against Ronald Reagan.

It's amazing how much work some people do to avoid work.

The Secret War: Begun In Poland In 1929, It Defeated The Nazis

By Edward H. Sims

WASHINGTON, D. C. -- Ironically, the true story of how Germany was defeated in 1939-45 began to be revealed only in 1975. And fascinating books detailing the Allied triumph in reading secret German communications have told the story. They became possible only because official secrets laws expired thirty years after the end of the war.

It began with a small book, The Ultra Secret and has continued with Bodyguard of Lies, and The Wizard War and Ultra Goes to War—among others. But now comes a small book (The Enigma War) which tells the story of how the Poles, French and British began their long effort to break the Enigma codes in 1929.

It's written by Dr. Jozef Garlinski (Charles Scribner) and is the first inside account which begins from the beginning, in Poland, when Polish intelligence officers, cooperating with the French (who had netted a German traitor who revealed to them various secrets—he was finally caught and shot only in 1943) began to build their own duplicate enigma machines.

The enigma transmissions were thought to be unbreakable, because the machines had so many different settings and possible combinations (reaching into the hundreds of millions). First the German Navy bought and adopted the enigma machines (which interestingly, until then, had been for sale on the open market).

The German Navy, Army and Luftwaffe all finally utilized the machines, making certain additions to the commercial models in order to make their transmissions more difficult for a potential enemy to decode.

The Poles bought one through a German contact and by 1932 had broken their first transmission! The French had helped, with data supplied from the German spy inside Germany.

When war became imminent, the Poles sent a machine to both France and Britain and in both countries teams of experts began long hours of work on breaking the various combinations (there were many and the Germans periodically changed the keys).

France was over-run in 1940 and then work was concentrated in England, where in June of 1940, the code-breakers finally reached a point where they were regularly reading Luftwaffe secret signals almost instantaneously.

This critical breakthrough came just two months before the Battle of Britain, later that summer. All during that pivotal struggle, the R.A.F. knew where the Germans were coming, and when, and in what strength. It was a decisive advantage.

Deregulation bill could mean savings for urban consumers

COLLEGE STATION -- Deregulation of the trucking industry will mean consumers in large cities can expect a reduction in costs to ship freight across the state as well as the country, says a Texas A&M University economist.

"Deregulation will mean more competition among regulated and non-regulated carriers in the country," says Dr. Thomas R. Saving, who has been studying the value of service pricing in the trucking industry.

Saving explained the trucking industry is a form of cartel similar to OPEC because the Interstate Commerce Commission permits regulated firms to set prices among themselves by using rate bureaus.

The proposed deregulation bill will increase competition by allowing firms to serve more routes, he said.

U.S. & BOLIVIA

The United States has ended all cooperation with Bolivia on narcotics control because of allegations that officials of that country's new military Government are involved with drug running, the State Department said.

COLLEGE STATION — Some Texas drivers are slowly learning to live with the 55 mph speed limit, perhaps in time to save the state some federal highway money, says a Texas A&M University researcher.

Many drivers still exceed 55 mph "but overall we are getting closer to the 55 mph mark," said Dr. Quinn Brackett, research specialist with the Texas Transportation Institute at Texas A&M.

"Several factors contribute to the better showing," explained Brackett. He cited the price of gasoline, smaller, more energy-efficient cars which people tend to drive more conservatively, and public awareness of the effect of high-speed driving on fuel conservation and safety.

"Increased emphasis by enforcement agencies is also important," Brackett said.

A DAILY INCIDENT!

Hardly a day passes without the newspapers reporting an automobile accident. Lives are lost and bodies maimed due to careless driving on our streets and highways. Another daily incident which the newspapers often do not report, and to which others are indifferent, is the ruining of lives and character in the wretched, uneducated, and poverty-ridden parts of the great cities in our land. There are those who despair of ever getting out of their situation and so despondency sets in and a lack of desire to strive for worthy goals enters the spirit.

A loving God would have us aware of these whose lives, self-respect and character could be saved — if we were interested enough.

God often impresses the needs of His children upon those who attend His church. It is His will that we should show forth the love of God for mankind by helping all who are suffering.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Adverse Effects Of Soil

Results of two years of testing of a new irrigation system which minimizes adverse effects of soil and climatic conditions of West Texas will be explained at the 71st annual Field Day of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Lubbock and Halfway.

This year's program will be from 12:30 to 5 p.m. Tuesday, September 9, at the Halfway research site, 14 miles west of Plainview on U.S. Hwy. 70.

The demonstration of the low energy precision application (LEPA) irrigation system, developed and tested with furrow diking to increase rainfall retention, will be one of four featured stops on the field tour of the research station.

The LEPA system minimizes soil and climatic variables which adversely influence irrigation efficiencies on the Texas High Plains, said Dr. William M. Lyle, research agricultural engineer.

"After two years of testing," Lyle said, "application and distribution efficiencies are significantly higher than with either furrow or traditional sprinkler systems. This, coupled with the very low operating pressures, could potentially result in annual savings of up to $50 per acre, if pumping two ac-ft per year from a 300-foot well."

Application efficiency of 99 percent and distribution efficiency of 95-96 percent have been achieved with the LEPA system, regardless of climatic conditions, Lyle said.

The system, developed by Lyle, replaces the large number of stationary orifices of a conventional drip system with a small number of moving orifices. It can operate as a pivot or as a linear move system at pressures below 10 pounds per square inch.

The motorized unit propels itself across the field and is equipped to unroll its supply pipe as it advances.

The nozzles are designed to place the water at low pressure beneath the crop canopy, allowing it to more effectively reach plant roots.

Visitors to the field day will have an opportunity to see the system in operation and discuss it with Lyle, said Dr. Bill Ott, resident director of research at the Lubbock-Halfway center.

Other major stops on the tour will demonstrate and report on research being conducted at the center on crop varieties, water management, crop insect control and weed control.
