

MOORE about... EASTLAND

by Virgil E. Moore

Eugene Baker, The Gorman Progress editor, is always calling someone's hand on something. Now he has called ours. In his Thursday edition Kernel Gene ran a two column front page box with the following invitation: "For the past several weeks Virgil E. Moore, editor of the Eastland Telegram, and Ray Swindell, editor of the Ranger Times, have been talking about Eastland County being 100 years old and nobody doing anything about it."

"Kernel Gene has extended an invitation to the editors of Eastland County newspapers to be his guests Saturday afternoon at 4 p.m. for the purpose of formulating plans for this gala affair."

"Carbon, being near the center of the county, would be an ideal place. Now we will have a chance to see what the citizens and businessmen of Eastland County will do in a joint civic affair."

Someone lost a nice black sweater on a recent windy day. Mrs. Wanda Hood, Chamber of Commerce secretary, is holding the sweater for its rightful owner. Identify it and it's yours.

If you haven't purchased your ticket to the Senior Play yet, it's time you did. We always enjoy watching student plays, and the production of one is real educational for the students. Eastland always fills up the High School auditorium for the Senior's play, and we know that they will again be the case this year.

Rainy weather has slowed down—in fact, it has halted work on planting grass at Little League Park. City officials have agreed to haul in some top soil, but so far haven't been able to. Little League officials are worried about the situation now, because something needs to be done, and fast, if the field is to be planted this year. Here's hoping for some sunshine.

It's all over town that Jon Tate and Elvis Presley are stationed at the same camp. We don't know, but that's what we hear. And speaking of hearings, no one we know has had a line from Tate, who is serving six months active duty.

We noticed a report the other day that more than half of this year's graduates from Texas State— (Continued On Page Three)

Eagle Awards To Be Given Local Scouts

Two Eastland Scouts will receive their Eagle Awards during the Court of Honor to be held Monday, at 7:30 p.m. in the District courtroom of the Eastland County courthouse.

Scouts Tommy Humphreys and Mike Potts will receive the highest award in Scouting during ceremonies at the Court of Honor. The Eagle Award is made to those Scouts who have met all Scouting qualifications and earned a minimum of at least 21 merit badges as a part of their advancement program. Scouts Humphreys and Potts are both Explorer Scouts and members of Troop 103 under the leadership of Scoutmaster M. G. Cartwright.

GOLF CHATTER

By HAL SIMMONS

The monthly meeting of the Club Board of Directors was held in the Pink Room of the Lakeside Country Club. The results of the meeting have not been made public, therefore we have no idea how much was consumed.

This week being wet and miserable there is very little we can say about local golf activities, however many tournaments are being held and by all means of communications we will try to keep you posted on the dates and results of these events.

We would like to extend our sincerest thanks to One Vaker for services rendered to the Lakeside Country Club. In the very near future Mr. Vaker will receive a fur lined golf bag. It may be well to mention that no more valuable dead property will be destroyed at the Lakeside Country Club.

Let us all be reminded that club facilities are available and free to all EHS. Students. We must encourage our youth to participate in All Athletics.

Former Olden Resident Dies

A former Olden resident, John Pickens, 75, died Dec. 30, friends in Olden learned this week.

Mr. Pickens was a retired Humble Oil Co. employee. He suffered a stroke and was bedfast for several years.

Survivors include his wife and a son, Tommy. The Pickens lived in Olden from the time Tommy was a boy until he was grown, and he later taught in schools there.

History of Texas Is Traced by Seaberry

Judge Virgil Seaberry, Sr., spoke when the Thursday Afternoon Club met for a tea Thursday in the Woman's Club. Hostesses for the tea were Mes. Grady Pipkin, D. L. Houle, Harold Durham, J. C. Caraway and Iral Inzer.

Mrs. Cecil Collings acted as program leader and introduced Judge Seaberry who gave an enjoyable and very informative talk.

Judge Seaberry has been a practicing attorney in Eastland since 1919. He obtained his legal education at the University of Texas Law School where he received his bachelor of law degree in 1915. He was elected by the lawyers of the 17th Congressional District as a director of the State Bar Association in 1952 and served as board chairman in 1954-55. In 1955-56 he served as vice-president of the State Bar of Texas and in June 1957 was elected president. He will serve as the head of this legal organization which is composed of 12,000 members until July 1958.

Judge Seaberry talked on "The Role of the Lawyer in Texas History." He stated that March 6 is Alamo Day and it was 122 years ago when the Alamo fell. During his speech Judge Seaberry reviewed the book "Thirteen Days to Glory."

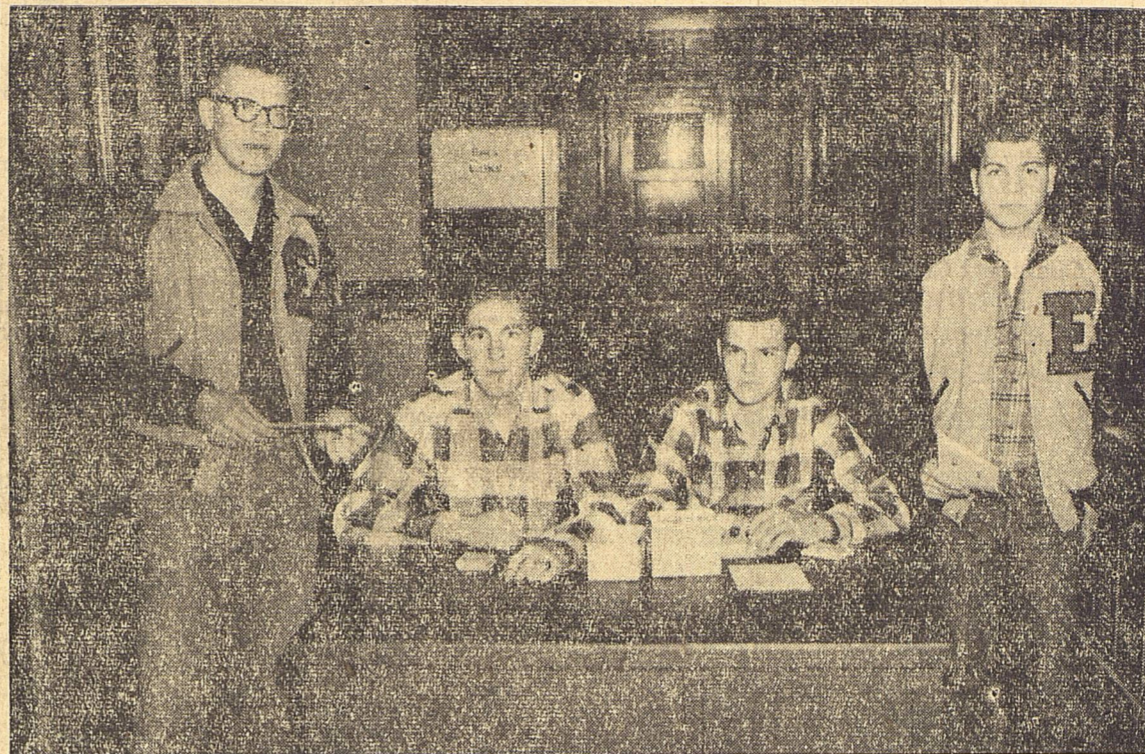

He told how Texas has been under six flags: France, Spain, Mexico, Republic, United States and Confederacy. His speech included a review of the Reconstruction after the Civil War and the Expansion and Growth of Texas from 1876 to 1900.

He stated the county lawyer is more unique now than ever before since so many lawyers have moved to the cities. Judge Seaberry gave the story of the State Bar of Texas Association which now has 13,000 members. The present objectives of the Association are to revise the Texas Constitution, have

Gray Matter

When the Army took on Jess Seibert's boy General it almost took on more than it could chew. And it wasn't General's fault either, it was the Army's system of red tape that almost wrecked itself. General was as good a soldier that ever put on his country's khaki. But the military couldn't appreciate him.

Right after the Japs made the mistake of jumping on the United States, General volunteered for service. He even went so far as to take himself at his own expense all the way to San Antonio to enter his country's service. Arriving at San Antonio's Missouri Pacific station he phoned up the base at Fort Sam Houston. Some sergeant answered the phone and General spoke his classic lines: "General Seibert reporting for duty."

"Where are you, General?" the sergeant asked. "M. P. Station," he answered. "Stay right where you are, sir, till we can come after you," the sergeant implored.

"Will do," the anxious young man answered. In fewer minutes than it takes to tell about it the Army arrived on the scene. First there was a brigadier general, a full colonel, two lieutenant colonels, three majors, five captains, three first lieutenants, four second lieutenants, and one private to carry the baggage.

All this array of high brass marched into the station like Napoleon's army passing in review. There sat General as peaceful and quite as a sleeping baby. General seeing all this high brass expanding himself for his welcome was a little pleased with himself. He gently broke the news to the brigadier general that he was General Seibert who had caused so much commotion in headquarters.

The high-ranking officers and all of his aides and their aides turned redder than the Russian flag. Their faces flushed so hot that, although it was in the dead of winter, Fort Sam didn't have to have any heat for three days and nights.

At first military authority thought they were going to make some sort of an example of Mr. Seibert, but when he pointed out to them that "General" was the name given to him by his parents, that he intended to keep using it, and that every soldier in the United States had a right to the name his parents gave him, the commanding officer had to start looking through the book again.

It's a good thing the Army was able to dispose of the Germans and the Japanese when they did. If they hadn't General would have gotten the army so mixed up in its own red tape it would have gotten (Continued on Page Two)

That means that last year on the county's bare and thinly covered range land 80 to 90 percent of the rainfall was lost in runoff. At the same time ranges with good cover (over 2000 pounds of litter per acre) absorbed 80 to 90 percent of the rainfall.

E. E. McAlister, head of the county SCS office, said, "We now have a moisture stored in our soil which can do much to 'drouth proof' our land by growing grass cover."

Father-Son Banquet Is Big Success

"The closest friend any man can have is his father or his son."

With those words Dr. Douglas Jackson, Southern Methodist University theology professor, defined the importance of close relationship between father and son. The occasion was the 27th annual Community Father and Son banquet, sponsored by the 9:49 Bible Class of the First Methodist Church. Some 150 fathers, sons and grandsons were on hand for the banquet, which was held in the Fellowship Hall of the Methodist Church.

M. H. Perry served as master of ceremonies for the traditional affair, which was first held back in 1931. The banquet has been held each year since that time. Perry introduced all men who attended that first banquet, then had the father with the most children present, the oldest father and the youngest father stand to be recognized.

Dr. Jackson was introduced by Rev. Richard Smith, Methodist pastor. He told his listeners that there is nothing as exciting as being a father. But he warned his listeners that in this fast-moving day and time too many fathers and sons never get to know one another.

The guest speaker also urged fathers attending the banquet not to try to run their sons lives. He said it was natural for fathers to want their boys to do all of the things that they themselves couldn't, but he also recommended that fathers try not to over-influence their youngsters, warning that it could mean unhappiness in later years.

The SMU professor pointed out to his listeners that it is hard enough to understand oneself, and even harder to understand another. But he urged close relationship between fathers and their sons, saying it would pay off in the closest friendship possible.

The Martha Dorcas Class served the dinner and entertainment was provided by Jennifer Pryor and Mary Ann Turner, who played a piano duet.

Teachers Attend District TSTA Meeting Friday

Teachers and school administrators from Eastland and other Eastland County school districts joined others from 23 counties Friday at the 17th annual District BII convention of the Texas State Teachers Association.

The convention will continue through today (Saturday.) Highlights of the Friday meeting was an address given Friday night by Frank McIntyre, director of public relations for the California Teachers Assn.

Eastland schools closed for the day Friday so faculty members could attend the convention.

At Carbon...

Rain Hampers Orchard Day

An estimated fifty persons braved the weather Thursday to attend the annual Eastland County Orchard Field Day in Carbon during the morning sessions.

The afternoon program, which was to have included pruning and orchard planting demonstrations had to be called off because of the bad weather conditions.

Outstanding horticulturists from throughout Texas presented an interesting program to the handful of people who were present.

J. V. Laird, instructor of horticulture at Leighton State College, and owner of a large orchid of his own, spoke briefly on marketing peaches.

Among the things to consider, Laird pointed out, was to make sure the peaches look good to the eye. With no eye appeal, they will not sell. He also noted that the fruit should be placed on the market at a time when it will stand up best.

Go to Church Sunday

By REV. ROBERT HAYNES

Gorman Methodist Church Pastor

"Last Sunday I voted to close the Church; not intentionally, nor maliciously; but carelessly, thoughtlessly, lazily, indifferently, I voted. I voted to close its doors that its witness and its testimony might be stopped. I voted to close the open Bible on its pulpit. The Bible that has been given to us by years of struggling and the blood of martyrs who did not let us have it to read. I voted for our minister to stop preaching the glorious truths of the gospel of Christ. I voted that the children of the Sunday School no longer be taught the stories of the Bible and no longer lift their tiny voices in singing. "Gone goes me, this I know, For the Bible calls me so." I voted for the voice of the choir and the voice of the congregation to be stilled, and that they no longer sing in united praise.

"All hail the power of Jesus Name;

Let Angels prostrate fall;"

I voted for every missionary of the church to be called home, every native worker of the church to stop preaching, every hospital, every school and every dispensary in its foreign mission field to close. I voted that its colleges close its doors and no longer bother to train its youth for Christian service. I voted for every Home Missionary project to be abandoned, every influence for good, right, and truth in our community to be curtailed and finally stilled. I voted for the darkness of superstition, the degrading influence of sin, the blight of ignorance and the curse of selfish greed again to settle their damning load on the shoulders of an already over-burdened world. I voted all this. I say, and more too — things that the human mind cannot grasp and the human mind cannot find words to express. Carelessly, thoughtlessly, lazily, indifferently, I voted. For you see, I could have gone and I should have gone, but I didn't. I stayed away from church on Sunday. I could have believed I should have divided a part of what God has given to me with His church, but I didn't. "I voted against the church; God help me."

Heart Attack Is Fatal For Marvin Hood Late Friday

A heart attack claimed the life of Marvin Hood late Friday afternoon.

Mr. Hood, a resident of Eastland for 29 years, died in his home following the attack.

Funeral services will be held Sunday at 2 p.m. at the First Baptist Church with Rev. Harvey Kimbler, pastor, officiating.

Mr. Hood was born Feb. 12, 1888 in Lott. He is survived by his wife; two sons, Marvin Hood Jr. of Fort Worth and Evans Hood of Odessa; and one daughter, Mrs. C. M. Daniels of Germany. He was a member of the Baptist Church. Burial will be in Eastland Cemetery.

Good Grass Cover Again Proves Value In County

Eastland County range land which has good grass cover is "wet all the way" but mixed land range which has only thin needle grass and weed cover still hasn't soaked up much water.

That's what Eastland County Soil Conservation workers concluded after spot checks around the county this week.

Water penetration is good grass cover where there is as good as good as one could expect. In May, 1957 Soil Conservation workers made tests on two ranges (see pictures) and found that rangeland with little cover had only 10 inches of penetration. That was after six inches of rainfall. By June of last year, after 18 inches of rain, the soil was wet only 24 inches. And even now, after continued good rains of last year and the first three months of 1958, the same land shows penetration of only 42 inches.

That doesn't compare very favorably with mixed land range with good cover near the range with little cover. The land with good grass cover is now wet all the way. There is free water deeper than nine feet and the SCS workers said it was probably wet 15 feet down. In May, 1957, a check showed that the same soil was wet only 42 inches deep. That was after six inches of rain. By June, after 18 inches of rain, the soil was wet over eight feet. Workers said the soil at that time had kept at least 14 of the 18 inches which fell on it while the land with needle grass and weed cover had kept only four of the 18 inches which fell on it. The pictures shown were actually taken in Eastland County and show the two types of range tested.

That means that last year on the county's bare and thinly covered range land 80 to 90 percent of the rainfall was lost in runoff. At the same time ranges with good cover (over 2000 pounds of litter per acre) absorbed 80 to 90 percent of the rainfall.

E. E. McAlister, head of the county SCS office, said, "We now have a moisture stored in our soil which can do much to 'drouth proof' our land by growing grass cover."

Identification Of Cisco Body Made Saturday

The Eastland County Sheriff's Department announced Saturday that identification of a body found near Cisco earlier this week had been made.

Sheriff's officers said the man was Angelo Caruso, 47, of 916 Cranford Drive, Fort Worth. Identification was made by his widow, Mrs. Caruso, a native of Italy, had been missing since Oct. 9, 1955. Effects found on the body aided in making the identification.

Rising Star Deserves Credit For New Lions Club and So Does Pop

(An Editorial)

Monday 25 Rising Star business and professional men will meet to be initiated into Lions International.

That Eastland County town is to be praised for recognizing the benefits which can be derived from a Lions Club, and certainly deserve recognition for having 25 charter members in the club.

The Telegram likes the way Rising Star feels about its club too. Benny Butler, editor of the Record, put it this way, "We're going to have a Lions club let's make it a good one!"

And while on the subject of deserved praise, we are here to raise the flag for District Gov. H. R. (Pop) Garrett. When Pop was put forth by Eastland, Cisco and Ranger Lions clubs for the high office, everyone seemed to recognize that here was a good leader. He was elected unanimously. Now he has proved himself. This will be the sixth new club that Mr. Garrett has helped organize in his district this year. That makes Pop's district lead the state in new clubs.

The army prides itself on offering an opportunity for advancement for talented young men. It didn't work that well too well for General.

General was much better equipped for advancement in training and experience and natural aptitude for soldiery advancement than the 2nd lieutenant in his outfit. His own 90-day wonder was so slow in the head that it took that shavetail all week to be officer of the day. General could do it in 30 minutes, but they wouldn't give him the chance.

Finally, though, by assiduously applying himself to duty and self-sacrificing service to the good of the military service another second lieutenant was one day looking over his military record and his previous training and experience. This lieutenant recommended to the captain that Siebert be allowed to compete for training in one of the many officers' schools the Army was then conducting.

The captain looked over Siebert's record and recommended him to the major. The major, though, wasn't up to the occasion. He must have been one of those officers who were at the station to meet General.

"I' not do it," he stormed at the captain. "Man alive, don't you understand what this would do to the Army? Do you see what this would do to the service?"

The amazed captain admitted that he didn't see what the major was all worked up about it. If the boy was worthy of going to officers' school it looked to him as if they ought to recommend that the boy be sent to officers' school.

"Good gracious alive," the major continued. "I can just see him row, answering the phone at some military installation in that nice silky, sryrupy voice of his. If he were to do that it would wreck military courtesy all the way up and down the line, can't you understand that, lieutenant?"

The lieutenant admitted that he couldn't see the major's concern for military courtesy as opposed to giving a man a fair deal.

"Look, captain, suppose that fellow were to make second lieutenant. Suppose he were to be setting at a desk somewhere in this service, and suppose he were to be called on to answer the phone at some time or other, don't you see what would happen?"

"No, sir, I don't," the captain meekly replied.

"All right, I'll spell it out for you. "If that fellow were to make second lieutenant he would be answering the phone as: "This is Lieutenant General Siebert. I'm not going to have that happen to this army if I have to courtmartial the boy."

First Methodist Church Services For Remainder of Week Announced

Following are services to be held this week at the First Methodist Church:
 Church School begins at 9:45 with classes for all ages.
 Morning worship service begins at 10:50, with Rev. Richard R. Smith preaching.
 The choir will present the anthem "O Divine Redeemer" by Coudon. The organ music will include the prelude "Invocation in B flat" by Guilman. The offertory by Spindler will be "Forever" and the "Postlude" by Cramer. The M. Y. F. meets at 6:15. The evening worship service begins at 7 o'clock. Rev. Smith will again bring the message. Wendell Siebert will conduct the youth choir followed by the Altar Prayer Service.

 The Official Board will meet at the church Monday evening at 7:30. Harold Durham, choir man urges 100 percent attendance, if possible.
 Tuesday morning the prayer meeting of the Woman's Society of Christian Service will meet at 9 o'clock in the Susan Steele room, followed by the Bible Study "The Gospel according to Mark" under the leadership of Mrs. W. I. Leslie at 9:30 in the church parlour.

The choir is well into the Easter Cantata rehearsals "The Man Of Nazareth" by James H. Rogers. It will be presented at First Methodist Church Easter Sunday night, April 6, at 7 o'clock. Al Lotspeich, director, Virginia Lotspeich, organist.
 The choir rehearses each Wednesday evening at 7:30.
 There will be a district meeting of the WSCS in First Church, Cisco, Thursday, March 13 beginning at 9:30. Mrs. W. F. Davenport is to be the delegate from the local Society and Mrs. H. L. Hassell as a director officer, representing the Children's work. It is open to all members. Each person will take a small sack lunch.
 "We hope to have a good representation from this church," a church spokesman said.

Supper, Review Honors Group of G.A.'s Recently

The Sarah Henley G. A.'s of First Baptist Church met recently in the home of Mrs. Bruce Butler for a supper and a study of the book "A Roving Report."

Mrs. K. D. Kelley gave the opening prayer followed by a delicious meal of barbecue hamburgers, potato chips, deviled eggs, olives, pickles and coconut cake was served after Judy Blevins said the blessing.

After the meal the book review was presented by Mrs. Horace Buddin, one of the missionaries who is home on leave from Brazil. Those present were Judy Blevins, Nona Butler, Jona Eldridge, Kay Poe, Mrs. Buddin, Mrs. Butler and Mrs. Ola Eldridge and Mrs. Kelley, counselors.

Sandra Kirkland Gives Program at Flatwood HD Club

Miss Sandra Kirkland, home demonstration agent, presented the program on "how to plan and buy successfully" at the meeting of the Flatwood Home Demonstration Club in the home of Mrs. Marcus Greiger Thursday afternoon.

The roll call was answered with a "new shrub or flower I plan to plant." Twelve members answered the roll call. One new member, Mrs. Corine Wood was welcomed to the club. Mrs. Ann Justice was a visitor of the club for the afternoon.

During the business session tickets were bought and plans were made to attend the banquet in Cisco March 24. Mrs. Clinton McCain read the minutes of the previous meeting. A report of the council meeting held in Eastland Wednesday was given by Mrs. Greiger.

After the club adjourned to meet with Mrs. Wiley Harbin on March 20, Mrs. Greiger served refreshments.

Presbyterian Church Services Are Announced

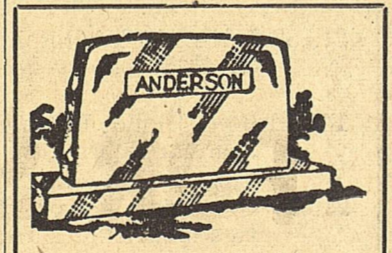

Morning Worship at the First Presbyterian Church begins at 11 o'clock. The subject of the Sermon by the Rev. Eugene H. Surface, minister, is "A Prayer for the Church". The Scripture Lesson is Colossians 1:1-23a. The Text is Colossians 1:9-12.

Regular meeting of the Church Session will be Monday afternoon, five o'clock, in the Minister's Study.
 KERC Radio Devotions, from 8:30 to 8:45, will be conducted this week, Monday through Friday by the Rev. Surface, under the sponsorship of the local station and the Eastland Ministerial Association.

Convention to Be Held in Cisco

All Garden Club members are reminded of the Texas Garden Club convention to be held in Cisco at the Cisco Junior College Wednesday beginning at 8:30 a.m.

A coffee will begin the day and afternoon tea will conclude the day. Elizabeth Weir of San Antonio will be guest speaker. A luncheon will be held in the Lutheran Parish Hall at noon. Following the luncheon, Mrs. David H. Buchanan, president of Texas Garden Club Inc., will address the group.

It is rather amazing to drive around town and note the number of new homes which are under construction. Just about everywhere you drive someone is building. Local contractors have been kept mighty busy.

We can't remember when sunshine looked any better to us than it did Friday afternoon. And from all indications everyone felt about the same way. Thursday night's thunderstorm caused no damage that we could find out about. The area got heavy rain and small hail, however.

Witnesses to Attend Fort Worth Meeting

The 22 delegates of the Eastland congregation of Jehovah's witnesses will be among the 1,000 expected at the Exhibit Building in Fort Worth, for a three-day conference.

Mrs. Zetty Parrack, presiding minister of the group said, "the purpose of such a conference is to analyze the work of Jehovah's witnesses in this vicinity and to offer remedies and suggestions as to effectively 'Fulfilling Our Ministry,' which is the theme of the conference."

Kenneth R. Savoy, district supervisor from Brooklyn, New York will highlight the conference in a public discourse, "Facing the Future Without Fear" Sunday, March 9, 3 p.m.

This semi-annual circuit conference is composed of 20 congregations. "The Watchtower Society, our directive agency, provides regular instruction from the Bible for our improvement, and the traveling representatives and assemblies are a great aid for improvement in preaching the 'good news,'" Mrs. Parrack stated.

Mrs. Russell's Home Is Setting Of Afternoon Tea of Music Club

A fire burning in the spacious fireplace welcomed members of the Music Study Club into the home of Mrs. Don Russell with a note of cheerfulness for a tea and special program on "Musical Hits from Broadway."

Members and their guests were greeted by the hostess, announcing the tea hour, which began an enjoyable afternoon. Mrs. Russell's home was beautifully decorated throughout with lovely flowers. Silver appointments grazed the tea table laid with a lovely lace cloth. Mrs. Art Johnson poured tea while Mrs. Frank Sayre served sherry of rainbow colors, sprinkled with toasted shredded coconut. Cake and mints were arranged in attractive containers scattered over the table, carrying out the color scheme.

The program, following the tea was given from recordings of music and plays. Mrs. Russell, the narrator, gave the history of each record, making a vivid mental picture, before playing the recordings.

Mrs. Russell related the interesting history of "Oklahoma" by Rodgers and Hammerstein, from 1942 through 1957. Others in this peculiar group were "South Pacific" and "The King and I." "Brigadoon" was made into a light opera and played in Scotland. "My Fair Lady" by Lerner and Lowe was very interesting due to the fact that several had the privilege of seeing the play.

Freced by the playing of records mentioned above and various requests, Al Lotspeich made an interested talk on music in show business. He explained the interest of practicing and the enjoyment of it.

Mrs. Frank Sayre gave the welcome and closed the meeting.

Those present were Meses. A. E. Taylor, R. L. Carpenter, A. D. Dabney, Art Johnson, David Fry, Marguerite Welch, J. H. Lee, Frank Sayre, Grady Pinkin, Neil Hart, Arthur Murrell, Fank Sparkes, Lynn Adams, and daughter, Susan, Billy Frost, W. P. Leslie, Milburn Long, Clyde Grissom, W. E. Chaney, Miss Marjorie Vaa Hoose, Mr. and Mrs. Al Lotspeich and the hostess, Mrs. Russell.

The next musical program will be presented in the Methodist Church with Mrs. Art Johnson as leader.

Record Attendance Is Recorded at First Christian Church Last Week

Record attendances were present last Sunday at the First Christian Church during the Church School and morning worship hour. "If you are not already attending services elsewhere you are invited to visit this vital church," a spokesman said.

Church School will open at 9:45 a.m. with classes for all ages. The uniform lesson is titled: "The Church Confronts Society," and is based on Matthew 5:13-16; James 2:14-17; and I Thessalonians 5:4-8. Four adult classes are provided: Men's Fellowship Bible Class taught by Carl Garrett, Willing Workers taught by Mrs. Thelma Turner, Friendship Class led by Mrs. N. L. Smitham and the Sallie Bee's (a leadership training class) taught by Rev. Roy M. Turner.

WMU of Bethel
Church Observes
Week of Prayer

"Faith Working Through Love" was the theme throughout the week of prayer, observed by the W.M.U. of Bethel Baptist Church.

Rev. E. Crow from Fort Worth Seminary brought the devotional each morning with Jackie Frayer, educational director from Diamond Hill Baptist Church in Fort Worth, leading the music accompanied by the pastor, Rev. James Fleming.

Mrs. Allen Brim, president, expressed her hearty thanks to the ladies "who have been so faithful in the Lord's Work."

Next week the W.M.U. will meet at regular time with Mrs. Gene Boney at the church for another series of studies on Africa.

The G. A.'s will meet under the leadership of Mrs. Felton Holloway. The Sunbeams are under the leadership of Mrs. Dennis Allen at the church at the regular time.
