WORKERS NOT BE EXEMPT FROM SERVICE

JOHN A REICHMANN

Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—No deferment will be given to men in industry regardless of essential part that industry plays in national defense.
Selective service officials inquiries about conscription in industry that industrial deferment of the most discussed questions of registration day approaching are being considered. Inquiries come from not only business men, but persons employed in defense industries who would like to get out of them to escape the draft.

In the wake of the furor during the World War over many husky men finding refuge in shipyards and other essential plants, selective service officials hope to avoid a similar situation this time.

Every registrant who is called before a local board for possible deferment to the army will be asked to explain why he is essential to operations of the industry in question.

Present plans provide for digging up an unexploded 500-pound
German bomb from a London street. Recent exploit of Royal Engineers in safely removing a 2000-pound unexploded bomb from St. Paul's Cathedral focussed attention on desperate bravery of these units.

British 'Suicide Squad' Flouts Danger

VOLCANO SITTERS—Literally squatting on destruction are these members of one of Britain's famed "suicide squads," pictured just after digging up an unexploded 500-pound German bomb from a London street. Recent exploit of Royal Engineers in safely removing a 2000-pound unexploded bomb from St. Paul's Cathedral focussed attention on desperate bravery of these units.

HAPPY ENDING—Danger for Britain's bomb removal squads is not over until delayed-action missiles are removed to safe place and destroyed. Above, one has been exploded harmlessly in a field.

English Are far from Defeat as Strawn Man's Brother Revealed In A Letter from Manchester, England

YOUR ARMY

A Series Describing the Arms and Services of the Regular Army

THE ORDNANCE

The Ordnance Department of the Regular Army plays a major role in the drama of National Defense—during both peace and war.

This highly skilled Service is responsible for the design, creation, supply and maintenance of both weapons and ammunition for the fighting forces.

It is their job to solve the tremendous problem today of providing modern arms for the rapidly expanding U. S. Army.

Trained men are in great demand—and thousands of young men are learning skilled trades in this work.

It is one of the most interesting of all the Arms and Services. The Ordnance soldier, after sufficient training, may choose his specialty—from rifles, mortars and cannon—to the highly technical range finders, ammunition, fuses or mechanical repair and maintenance.

During the time of war, the Ordnance is charged with ammunition supply and field repairs from Mobile Machine Shops. There is no more thrilling or heroic work than the steady lines to the front, often braving the heaviest kind of aerial and artillery bombardment.

During the World War, there was never a time when the front lines of the A. E. F. lacked adequate arms and ammunition supplied by the field forces of the Ordnance Department.

The Ordnance covers every Arm from the small .22 rifle to the monster coast defense guns that hurl a projectile weighing more than a ton up to distances more than 25 miles. Its service ranges from Government arsenals to field posts wherever the Army goes—at home or to overseas possessions. Wherever possible, an Ordnance soldier is permitted to choose the work or station that interests him most.

Because of the highly skilled nature of the Ordnance, opportunity for promotion and higher pay is unusually attractive. About fifty per cent of all Ordnance personnel are graded higher than privates—and, in addition, department specialists receive extra compensation (over regular pay grade) of from $3.00 to $30.00 per month.

The Ordnance maintains a Field Service School at Raritan Arsenal, New Jersey—where enlisted personnel who qualify may receive nine months of intensive training in the specialty chosen.

Today, with military arms reaching a greater degree of mechanization than ever before, the Ordnance offers young men a remarkable chance for advancement and training, both for Army careers and future civilian life.

TAKEN TO HOSPITAL

Bill Thomas, employee of the States Oil Corporation at Bryson and who for a number of years resided in Eastland, is in a Graham hospital, according to word received here by friends. He suffered a relapse from the amputation of one of his feet several months ago. His condition is reported as critical.

Democratic Leader Says Business Is Above 1929 Boom

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Edward J. Flynn, Democratic national chairman, said last night on his return from Washington where he conferred with President Roosevelt, that many of the larger industries were making greater profits under the new deal than they did "at the height of the boom which preceded the Hoover depression."

His statement was in reply to the speech of Wendell L. Willkie, Republican presidential candidate, in Los Angeles this week.

"Statisticians give me such details that where Chrysler earned $4.94 a share in the big year of 1929, last year the share profit was $8.48. The Du Ponts earned $7.12 a share in the boom year and $7.66 last year. Montgomery Ward earned $2.60 at the height of the boom and $4.91 last year. According to the National City Bank of New York, net profits of American business as represented by 2,480 companies rose from a little over $2,000,000,000 in 1938 to $3,500,000,000 last year."

Worn Camera Aids Him Pay Tuition

LUBBOCK, Tex.—With a capital stock of $15 and a worn camera, Rollin Herald of Austin expects to make expenses for his senior year at Texas Technological College by taking identification pictures as students enroll.

A bed sheet tacked to a wooden frame is used as a background, a study lamp with carboid and tin foil reflector as a spotlight, and a piece of chicken coop cello-glass as a diffusing screen. He has equipped his five-year-old camera with a film container holding 100 feet of spool film and mounted it on a tripod.

Herald took 714 pictures the first day of preliminary registration. Average time for each picture is 30 seconds.

Youth Waiting for Ride Gets Fast One

BOSTON.—A young fellow here thinks he thumbed the fastest ride on record.

He was standing on the Southern Artery one afternoon when Dana Fitzgerald, a radio announcer, spied him.

"Where are you going?" asked Fitzgerald, stopping his car.

"Hyannis," replied the youth.

"But it looks as though I won't make it tonight. Been waiting at this corner for almost an hour."

"Hop in," Fitzgerald said.

The youth did so.

Fitzgerald sped across Neponset Bridge to nearby Dennis Airport. His private plane was waiting for him, and he told the pop-eyed hitch-hiker:

"Get in and we'll be at the Hyannis Airport before 5 o'clock."

Cat Counts Chickens As She Catches Them

CLARENDON, Tex.—If you don't believe a cat can count, here's evidence that one can.

A cat belonging to John Bugbee and mother of six small kittens raided a neighboring chicken coop and made away with some prize fowls.

Fort Worth Man Named Chairman Of An Oil Meeting

FORT WORTH, Texas, Sept. 21.—W. A. Moncrief, Fort Worth oil operator, today was named general chairman of convention arrangements for the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association's annual meeting here Oct. 31 through Nov. 2.

The announcement of Mr. Moncrief's selection to head the group planning the Texas Mid-Continent's twenty-first annual convention was made by E. L. Smith, association president. Also named today by Mr. Smith as members of the general convention committee are F. J. Adams, A. J. Armstrong, R. A. Brewer, Clarence Burk, Gaylord Chizum, H. S. Cole, Jr., R. C. Dulaney, John Farrell, William Fleming, R. C. Gee, J. C. Halbert, R. E. Hardwick, Houston Hill, Bert Honea, Edward Hudson, Ed Landreth, A. M. McCorkle, Paul McDermott, R. W. Melvain Jr., John Naylor, Harold Neely, J. R. Penn, S. W. Richardson, P. W. Riggins, Charles Roeser, J. P. Shannon, J. H. Snowden, Rice Tilley, Roy Westbrook, Marshall Young and Harold S. Foster, all of Fort Worth. Others may be added later, Mr. Smith said.

Plans for the convention are now being worked out by Mr. Moncrief and Mr. Smith. A feature will be an oil anniversary celebration to commemorate the 45th anniversary of the discovery of commercial petroleum production in Texas. Arranging this part of the convention will be a special Oil Anniversary Committee to invite old-timers of the Texas oil industry, plan for their entertainment and collect an exhibit of equipment famous in early Texas oil history.

Other committees to be named by Mr. Moncrief will arrange the general entertainment, annual golf tournament, attendance, reception and publicity.

America Warned She Has No Voice In a New Europe

BERLIN, Sept. 21.—The authoritative Hamburg newspaper Fremdenblatt today said that "a new order in Europe and Africa" now is being created at Rome. It said that the United States must become reconciled to the fact "that this will be exclusively a European affair in which America will have no say."

Commenting on Rome conversations between Premier Benito Mussolini and German Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop, Fremdenblatt said:

"If America wants to be reserved for Americans then certainly it is in place for it to regard the new order as that of Europeans and the peoples immediately concerned."

The newspaper said that apparently the new order in Europe and Africa was a main topic of the Rome talks.

(The German wireless broadcast in a Rome dispatch that the Rome talks referred also to Far Eastern problems and the United States attitude. "Belief was expressed that the United States is more inclined to accept facts in Europe rather than look with disinterest on developments in the Far East," the broadcast said.)

The Fremdenblatt editorial was regarded here as developing the idea of a "Monroe Doctrine for Europe and Africa."

"So far as the Old World is concerned, America naturally now is confronted with a new situation in that Europe's source of the wars and revolutions of yesterday is being transformed into a unified bloc with ideals extending to American soil as well," the editorial said.

"The United States is replying with an extremely sober and businesslike policy which already had taken the World War as occasion to get rid of British naval domination. This American imperialism has been removed as far as can possibly be imagined from the true ideology of Woodrow Wilson, who really believed in the democratic redemption of the globe."

Part In Fair To Be Planned by HD Club

The Ranger Home Demonstration Club will meet Tuesday, Sept. 24, at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. J. H. Wallace, Spring Road.

Plans will be completed for the club's participation in the Eastland County Fair to be held in Eastland the latter part of October.

All members have been urged to attend this important meeting, and visitors will be welcomed.

Queen May Look at a Cat, Too

"Pussy cat, pussy cat, where have you been? I've been to London, to visit the queen."

Mother Goose's old rhyme was prophetic of the meeting pictured above, where Queen Elizabeth stopped to pet a cat—and a black cat at that—as Her Majesty entered an air raid shelter. She and the king were inspecting bomb-blasted south London when siren's warning forced them to take cover.

RAF BLASTING STEADILY AT GERMAN BASES

By JOE ALEX MORRIS

United Press Foreign News Editor
British bombers blasted with mounting fury at German and Italian war bases from Europe to Africa today to offset steady Nazi air raids on the British Isles and axis hits that Spain might soon enter the conflict.

Daylight raids on London and other targets in Southeastern England, continued at a slackened pace following a night in which bombing of 35 districts in the London area was carried out so sparsely that the harassed population got a chance to sleep for the first time in two weeks.

But British bomber pilots got little rest. Throughout much of the night they showered high explosives on German "invasion" bases across the calm but foggy English channel, and blasted Nazi airports, harbors and communications lines as far as western Germany, one of their most powerful counter-blows of the war.

Dispatches from Berlin admitted for the first time that steady, powerful British raids had been made for weeks on the French side of the English channel where the Germans have been reported massing boats and men at Calais, Dunkirk, Ostend, and other ports for a possible invasion of Britain.

The raids have been more intense in recent days, German reports said, but the high command asserted that little damage had been done to military objectives by British bombers that flew over western Germany and were turned back from Berlin at Hamburg.

German attacks on Britain were described by the Nazis as successful in smashing—with the aid of new fog-piercing apparatus—at British industrial and communications objectives, especially railroad centers in the London area which are vital to British defense.

In Africa, the Italians admitted that British planes which have been bombing fascist concentrations in the Sidi Barrani area had again attacked the big Libyan port of Benghazi, but said that Italian pilots had "intensely" replied by bombing railroads, storehouses and defenses around Marsa Matruh. The British base at Aden also was again reported attacked and British convoys were bombed in the Red Sea.

Official communiques, however, indicated that the Italian offensive into Egypt was momentarily in a lull, with the fascists holding Sidi Barrani. Fascist newspapers, which had previously been seeking to persuade the Egyptians not to enter the war, reported that King Farouk of Egypt, was virtually a prisoner of the British.

The African campaign and the role of Spain in the war appeared to have been of greatest importance in the discussions of Nazi Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop with Italian Premier Benito Mussolini at Rome.

The fascist press, led by the newspaper Il Telegrafo of Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano, asserted that in the decisive phase of the war, Spain would line up with Italy and Germany.

The day's communiques, without necessarily decreasing the possibility of a German attempt to invade England, added to recent indications that the next important axis thrust may be against some British empire outpost such as Gibraltar or Suez rather than the British Isles.

In the Balkans, Bulgarian troops began taking over the South Dobrudja area ceded by Rumania without incident.

In South America, the Uruguay government arrested a number of Germans charged by a recent investigating committee with activities against the state. One of those reported arrested was described as the leader of a Nazi movement throughout South America. Others were reputed German agents or propagandists.

Blind Girl Writes A Winning Fantasy

SEATTLE, Wash.—In Marion Anderson's world of darkness there is no room for butterflies. She is blind.

Yet the 18-year-old girl won a short-story contest sponsored by the Braille Searchlight Magazine. Her story was a fairy tale, entitled: "How the Butterfly Got Its Name," a gentle fantasy on nature which she has never seen.

With her prize money, Miss Anderson contemplates purchase of a cello, for her interests also extend to music.

Riverbed Well To Go Down 9,000 Feet

NEW ORLEAN, Sept. 21.—An oil well soon will be sunk in the bed of the Mississippi River at Belle Chasse.

The California company received a permit yesterday to drill the well. The derrick will be erected on the bank, but through the directional drilling system, the bit will be driven 850 feet out into the river.

Plastic Armor Is Urged for British

LONDON.—Soldiers wearing helmet-proof armor made from compressed fiber, paper or other plastic materials, may be part of Britain's army, if suggestions made by Dr. Kenneth Walker, a London surgeon, are adopted.

Dr. Walker produced samples of light-weight "armor" materials, of the weight of aluminum, which he said would prevent helmet wounds.

It would be simple, he said, to make a two-ounce shield to be worn in the pocket as a partial protection.

While Stalin Smiles—

Europe at death grips now whirls dizzily down the very edge of the vortex of destruction. Can anybody win a war of the kind that is now convulsing Britain and Germany? What sort of prize awaits the victor?

The prize will be a Europe robbed of its best youth in France, Poland, Italy, Germany, and Britain. It will be a starving continent whose crops have been destroyed or fed into the maw of the insatiable military machine. It will be a continent whose best productive facilities have been bombed out of existence, a continent condemned to lower standards of living from which it must again crawl painfully upward. It will be a continent filled with raw wounds and hatreds fanned and made eternally bitter by memories which will not vanish. It will be a continent in which revolution has been made inevitable.

Hitler chooses to jest lightly before delivering his "all-out" strike. Churchill grimly prepares his people for worse to come. Petain wanders among the fragments of shattered France, picking up a piece here and there in mournful abandon.

Only Stalin smiles—

In the cauldron of Europe there is cooking a stew exactly to his taste. At minimum expense of blood and gold, Stalin has already aggrandized his "Red Reich" by thousands of square miles.

He can afford to wait. He knows that Hitler can scarcely rule the countries he has conquered. He has watched their governments and their social institutions smashed to dust by one who can scarcely expect to replace them.

Paris is concerned by its 300,000 unemployed—more than all France had in pre-war times. They are restless, they are hopeless, they are meat for the Communist agitators who industriously work among them to cash in on defeat, frustration, despair. To release the French war prisoners held in Germany, to demobilize the remaining French army, can only add to this mass misery. France once freed of German armies of occupation, might easily fall into hideous internal strife.

Danish agriculture is ruined, Norway broods sullenly, Poland groans under oppression. Italy, even as victor, may well be ruining itself.

Who can smile at the witches' cauldron in which Europe is now stewing? Only one man: Stalin.

John Barrymore says his latest rift with Elaine is "final and irrevocable," which sounds as though it ought to last a week this time.

When Dies gets through with Hollywood he might take a look at the Cleveland Indians, who appear to be in the clutches of a workers' group headed by a gent named Trotsky.

The Reality

Contrast Between World War Flying And Present Shown

FORT WORTH, Texas.—Modern flying instructions are contrasted with those of the "flying jenny" world war days in the case of C. C. Johnson III and his father. The elder Johnson, then 20 years old, enlisted in the air corps one month after the United States went to war with Germany in 1917. After 30 hours instruction, he was commissioned as a pilot at Kelly Field, San Antonio. When the world war fledgling had 50 hours' flying time to his credit, he became an aviation instructor.

The son, now at Randolph Field, the army's "West Point of the Air" at San Antonio, took primary instruction last year in a class of 30 chosen at North Texas A. & M. College, Arlington, under a private instructor, he qualified for his private pilot's license a year ago and followed that with advanced instruction that gave him a commercial pilot's license with 115 hours' flying instruction. When his father had been flying for 115 hours, he had been an army instructor for three weeks and had taught 18 youngsters enough to make their solo flights! The son now is considered to have enough instruction to begin training in the complicated war birds at Randolph Field. The elder Johnson, now executive of a printing company, advanced to the post of commanding officer of primary solo work at Kelly Field and later taught in a ground school at Princeton University. His son is training to be an aeronautical engineer.

Press Agent Helps Mexican Candidate Then Enters A Suit

AUSTIN, Texas.—Frank Gibler, named in Mexico City dispatches as having secured an execution "main" property of Gen. Juan Almazan for $2,600 for services as press agent of the Mexican candidate for president, is a former Texas Ranger and was for many years engaged in newspaper work in Texas.

He was at one time suggested for appointment as Adjutant General of Texas by those who looked upon such an appointment as a friendly gesture toward Mexico where Gibler has resided off and on at various times.

Gibler is credited with dubbing Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson "Ma" in her first campaign for governor and also with creating the campaign slogan in use then: "Me for M." Later he was active at Houston in the campaign that resulted in James V. Allred becoming governor.

Harmony Guaged By a New Device

CAMBRIDGE, Mass.—Lovebirds, beware! The machine age is catching up with you. Dr. E. D. Shapple, Harvard anthropologist, has invented and perfected a mechanical device for measuring human relations. Subjected to its analysis, you might be told that, as a couple, you were emotionally incompatible and that your marriage more likely than not would end on the rocks. Equally as likely, this innocuous-looking machine might report that a couple fairly hummed with harmony. At any rate, it is designed as a time-saving instrument that will discover in a few minutes what it takes some people years—and tears—to discover. Namely, that they just can't get along.

Here is a way of scientifically measuring the emotional interactions of people. In other words, a yardstick has been whittled out of exactly applied science which may be laid on the hitherto indefinable ways one person adjusts himself to another in harmony or discord. The clash of personalities tells the story.

The couple submitting to the analysis are placed in a small room where they sit and converse. Hidden by a one-way screen, Dr. Shapple records their physical reactions by pressing the keys of his instrument, crystallizing them in jagged ink-lines on a slowly-moving tape. When the test is over these markings can be analyzed with mathematical precision, and with simple formulas are interpreted in terms of human and social behavior.

Ford and Mercury Cars Go On Public Display On Friday

DEARBORN, Mich., Sept. 21.—Motorists will get their first view of the 1941 Ford and Mercury cars next Friday, September 27, when the new cars are put on display in dealerships throughout the United States.

There are two lines of Ford cars for 1941, the company has announced. These are the DeLuxe and the Super DeLuxe. Both are longer, wider and much easier riding than ever before, and incorporate more improvements than have been made in a single season since the V-8 engine was introduced in the Ford line nearly eight years ago.

The Mercury cars are also longer, wider, and easier riding. Of especial interest to many show-room visitors will be the new station wagon, added to the Mercury lines this year. There is also a new body type in the Ford line. It is the Super DeLuxe sedan coupe, a six-passenger close-coupled body type which promises to be very popular.

Most School Fires Are Extinguished Without Much Loss

AUSTIN, Tex.—A large number of fires occurring each year in school buildings throughout the state are extinguished without loss of life and with small property damage, but there is the ever present possibility that a fire, no matter how small, may result in a disaster. Marvin Hall, state fire insurance commissioner, reminded school officials today.

Hall recommended that inspection be made each month by a representative of the local fire department accompanied by the school custodian and a member of the teaching staff.

"There will be no expense to this type of survey," the commissioner said, "and it will serve to remind school officials of the necessity of keeping their buildings free of dangerous hazards. Good housekeeping is of prime importance in the prevention of school fires, but all too often the teachers themselves are not qualified to inspect a building for fire hazards. Local firemen, trained in this type of work, will conduct inspections upon request."

Heating equipment, being the cause of a large portion of school fires, should be given careful attention. The clearances between

A Modest Beginning Bespeaks a Successful Ending—

... or saying the same thing in a different way, it is better to start at the bottom and work up than to start at the top and work down. We hear college education sometimes criticized on the ground that the college graduate expects and demands places of trust and responsibility in the higher brackets immediately upon graduation. This would seem to be an indictment of the graduate himself rather than the training system, for education has no such aim nor purpose.

And the thinking processes of some of us grown-ups are no different from that of the youngster who is just out of college. We want the finest rent house in town or the latest model car when really a very modest house or a second-hand car would be more in keeping with our income and our standing in the community. A few people buy homes unwisely. They simply let the realtor oversell them. That's bad too!

She simply couldn't stand that bedroom any longer," she told him while he listened, his face expressionless blank. "After all, I've had so much time with Natalie at the hall, and I work for Vera, who is Natalie's best friend."

and you go around with Nick, who is the fourth in the quartet," she added quickly.

She flushed. "He's a friend of mine, of course. They all are. And I'm tired of hearing you say that they are Reds. If you know how silly that sounds. Just because they paint, and write, and are interested in politics you make them sound crazy. Good heavens, there aren't any more Red than there are—or you are. Why, the party is always warning against going over American freedom; but you, how some groups are going to control the press, the police, kill freedom of speech, out the right to unionize."

"The YP group is truly American, Joe. Just because they aren't and to the mistakes being made, and because they see the government, you—and others who don't know the Youth Progress group—say it's Red, or it's Blue. How silly!"

"You're learning the lesson," she said.

He was taking her to a ball game and he wore his team uniform. Joe was a member of the team nine, and today two of the apartments were playing a sandlot game.

Sue Mary sat on the grass with the boys and children watching the game. She couldn't let Joe know just how much he upset her when he criticized the YP group. He was so big, so strong, so level-headed, that each time he said such things she was overcome with doubts. He and these boys and men were Americans, too. That was what confused her. How could two such groups, both American, have such entirely different standards?

All she had to fall back on was the lessons that Vera and Nick and Natalie had taught her. These people were workers, blinded, under-privileged, downtrodden, stupid. They had to be helped since they didn't know how to help themselves.

Around her welled the traditional American baseball spirit. "Hit the old horsehide!" yelled little Tommy Slovac. "Strike 'em out! Kill the umpire!" screamed good-natured Mrs. Mahoney.

It was like being back in a remote but familiarly dear past. Like high school days in Springville, where no one thought of saving the workers, or safeguarding American ideals from warmongers, munitions makers, capitalists. Where everyone knew his neighbor and went to the polls to vote for the candidate because he was a man they had all known for years and years, and because he was honest.

"It was in that mood that she left Joe that evening and went back to the apartment. She felt clean and healthy with the wind and the sun lingering in her hair and on her face, and the voice of the fans ringing in her ears. Sitting there on the grass after the game, eating some of the peanut butter sandwiches Mrs. Mahoney had insisted she share, and drinking beer that Joe had brought along, she had captured again that feeling of family unity, of safety.

She climbed the stairs to the apartment. The door was open so the cross-ventilation could cool off the room and Sue Mary heard Vera and Natalie talking.

Suddenly she wished she was back in her old room. Back where she knew no one, but where she could have privacy, where she could settle these doubts, these conflicting ideas alone.

"Well, I'm not worried. And I'm not going to let you get me started," Vera's voice came to Sue Mary against the background of music from the radio. "He's no more serious with her than I am with that fool Ross Clark, Jr."

"Of course I'll use him. I'll find out everything I can. That was the plan in the beginning; I mean in going to that office to work."

And it's fortunate that he's simple enough to be interested in me. I don't know how much good he'll do, but we must consider every angle. I'll pump him, and do as much undercover investigating as I can without tipping my hand.

"And as for Nick—well, I know he's doing the same thing. It's not serious."

SUE MARY leaned back against the wall. Her mind refused to function. It seemed that she had listened to those voices from a long distance. But they were real. They were the voices of girls she knew, worked with, called her friends.

"You may be able to handle your work. I don't doubt but that you can play this Clark guy for all he's worth," Natalie's voice was amused. Then it sobered.

"But remember this, Nick is a man with emotions, with a heart, and I tell you he's not doing all this just because of the work. I've watched his face when he's not conscious of anything but her. When she's there, he goes into a fog. Maybe he's tired of our sort. Maybe he's had too much feminine intelligence and wants a little old-fashioned feminine love."

The radio played on and the voices stopped for a while. Sue Mary tried to get her thoughts in order, but her mind was as helpless as her body. She knew she couldn't have moved if anyone came along.

"She's pretty. I suppose you've noticed that," Natalie said at last. "A man would notice it long before you would. And rather helplessly. I've seen him react to that. Nick always has wanted to be needed, and this is a natural."

"Old-fashioned feminine love," Vera repeated softly. "Well, that's what he'd get. She's a child. A perfect child; as naive as they come. A typical American office girl impressed with our talk, with what we are doing, glib and pretty. Nick sees that."

"She offered you an in at the office and any one of us would have enough sense to take it. The way things are now with war orders, defense appropriations, and national hysteria, you can't tell me but that these big guys aren't making money hand over fist. It would help the party to uncover a little dirty work between the politicians and our big business men. It would mean our candidate would walk in office."

"That's why I'm in this campaign. That's why Nick's in it, and for heaven's sake try not to worry me about his falling in love with that little innocent."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES

"Matter" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, September 22.

The Golden Text is: "Little children, keep yourselves from idols" (1 John 5:21).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And it shall come to pass in the last days, that the mountain of the Lord's house shall be established in the top of the mountains, and shall be exalted above the hills; and all nations shall flow unto it. . . And the idols he shall utterly abolish" (Isaiah 2:2-18).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Divine Science deals its chief blow at the supposed material foundations of life and intelligence. It dooms idolatry. A belief in other gods, other creators, and other creations must go down before Christian Science" (page 535).

NEW ARMY ROOKIES WILL BE TRAINED BESIDE OLD HANDS, TURNED INTO SPECIALISTS

By Bruce Catton
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—The new army which will come into being as a result of passage of the Burke-Wadsworth bill will take shape in a way entirely different from the formation of the World War draft army.

There won't be any great training camps for new recruits, on new units composed entirely of rookies. Instead, the new men will be fed into existing formations—some with the regular army, some with the national guard. Point is every rookie will have an old-timer at his side all the way.

Assume, for instance, that the present strength of an infantry company in the regular army is around 110 men. Approximately 85 new men would be assigned to this company. The percentage of veterans in the company would be somewhat lower than those figures would indicate, however, since on an average about 50 of the 110 already in the outfit would be comparatively new men who had enlisted within recent months.

TWO MONTHS' BASIC TRAINING
THE whole course of sprouts which the rookie is put through rests on the general staff's assumption that (a) it takes at least 12 months to make a soldier, and (b) that most soldiers nowadays are specialists of one kind or another.

So the new soldier spends the first two months of his army career getting his basic training—learning how to roll his blankets and shine his shoes and handle his rifle and do all of the other things which rate so high in the mind of the top sergeant.

Best estimate right now is that when the draft becomes effective there'll be around 300,000 men in the regular army and 230,000 in the national guard. About 400,000 drafted men will be filtered into these two organizations this fall, with perhaps 400,000 more summoned for service in the spring. Next fall, of course, the national guard will finish its year's tour of duty and go home; 600,000 new draftees will be called, and the regulars will be given the job of training the lot.

MODERN MENUS

BY MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Service Staff Writer

SOMETHING just a little different for luncheon or the Sunday night supper—that's always a problem in the economy budget. Here are two sprightly answers.

TOASTED LUNCHEON SNACKS
(Four Servings)
Eight slices bread, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons orange marmalade, 6 ounces prepared ham and pork (1/2 can), 2 cups cooked fresh peas, parsley, pickle slices.
Cut bread into round with large biscuit cutter. Spread thinly with butter and marmalade. Mash ham up until it spreads smoothly, and cover rounds of bread with ham. Arrange on a 15-inch heat resistant glass platter and toast in a hot oven (400° F.) about 20 minutes or until well browned. Pour peas onto platter between rounds. Garnish with pickle slices and parsley. Serve right in the glass platter which keeps the snacks hot.
This recipe uses beef kidney which is comparatively cheap and of course also important from a nutritional angle.

KIDNEY CREOLE STYLE
(Four servings)
One large beef kidney, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 slice bacon,

TOMORROW'S MENU
BREAKFAST: Orange juice, fried Philadelphia scrapple, buttered toast, currant jelly, coffee, milk.
LUNCHEON: Toasted luncheon snacks, soft rolls, fruit cup, sponge cake, tea, milk.
DINNER: Creamed codfish with potato balls, broiled tomato halves, lettuce and vegetable salad, plum pie, cheese, coffee, milk.

chopped; 2 tablespoons chopped suet, 2 onions, chopped; 1 sweet pepper, chopped; 3/4 cup catsup, juice 1 lemon, 1/4 teaspoon curry powder, 1/2 teaspoon cayenne, 1 1/2 bay leaf, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons minced parsley, 1 cup water, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, buttered toast.

Trim fat from kidney, cut in 3/4 inch slices and dredge with flour. Fry chopped bacon and suet, add kidney slices, onion and pepper and turn until meat is thoroughly seared and coated with rich brown gravy. Add catsup, seasoning and water, cover closely and simmer 3/4 hour. Just before serving add Worcestershire sauce. Serve piping hot on narrow strips of toast.

Heavy Debts Will Face Legislators In Next Session

By United Press
AUSTIN, Tex.—Heavy state debts will confront the next legislature when it begins its session in January. Beside the more than $20,000,000 deficit in the state general revenue fund, the state's moral obligation to provide school teachers retirement has risen above $7,000,000 and there will be approximately $1,000,000 due to counties for unpaid salaries of county officers.

Fearful that continued lapse of time will work a hardship on school teachers and school districts, the Texas State Teachers' Association is making an appropriation of taxes for the retirement fund a major legislative objective.

Teachers already are contributing their share of the fund but two legislatures have failed to provide the state's share. School boards are continuing employment of old teachers who should retire because the school trustees feel it would be an injustice to dismiss the old teachers before the retirement plan is made effective by state appropriation. How long the school boards will wait is what is particularly disquieting to the teachers.

The debt owing to counties grows out of the state decision a number of years ago to abolish the fee system of paying officers. It was enacted that in counties over 20,000 population and in counties under 20,000 that voluntarily adopted the salary plan in lieu of fees, the state would contribute 14 cents per capita toward payment of the salaries.

The payments have not been 14 cents because of lack of state funds. An average between nine and 10 cents has been paid. To the end of 1939 the accumulated

"Look Out for Deer" A Timely Road Sign

By United Press
SPOKANE, Wash.—Signs along Washington's highways saying "Look Out for the Deer" mean just exactly that, State Game Commissioner Thomas Lally found out.

Lally was driving in the northeastern corner of the state and no sooner got by one such sign than a big buck leaped out of the underbrush directly in front of his automobile.

The game commissioner had to swerve the car into a ditch to avoid the animal.

amount due various counties had risen to $935,000. By the time the next legislature can make provision for payment, it is estimated the overdue amount will be at least $1,000,000.

A legislative committee of the county and district clerks' association is making plans to change the law so that payment will be mandatory.

-TEXAS CHRISTIAN-

Coach Leo R. ("Dutch") Meyer of Texas Christian University reports that the 1940 Horned Frogs will be potent enough to deal out some real misery to the 10 teams on the current schedule. In six years Coach Meyer has placed his elevens in three bowl games, winning them all (Sugar Bowl twice; Cotton Bowl once). His teams have played 65 games, winning 47, losing 18 and tying four, for the best percentage in the Southwest Conference during the period 1934-39, inclusive.

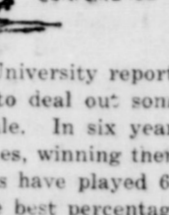

"We've got some pretty good boys this year although we rate down in the middle of the conference race," Meyer comments. "I think we have at least a chance of springing a surprise on somebody here and there!"

Pontiac Sales For September Are Up

Pontiac got away to a big start in September with retail deliveries for the first ten day period at 3845 compared to 1341 for the same ten days of 1939, a gain of 186.7 per cent, according to D. U. Bathrick, general sales manager. Deliveries also were 27.8 per cent above those of the last ten days of August.

Stocks of new cars dropped 369 units during the ten days, while unfilled orders more than doubled since August 31 and stood at 4.2 times the number that were on hand a year ago.

Used car sales continued to pile up new all-time records for the year with 10,008 sales for the ten-day period, a gain of 99 per cent over the first ten days of September 1939.

Used car inventories dropped 2599 cars during the ten days and 9,544 since August 1, and showed only a 22-day supply on hand compared with 33 days a year ago.

Bathrick points out that these ten-day figures look particularly good, because they represent sales that were made even before the 1941 Pontiacs were announced.
