Lend-Lease Bill Is Passed By The House

ENGLAND EXPECTS U. S. PLANES WILL ARRIVE IN TIME FOR SPRING DRIVE

Uses Tear Catcher to Bid Boys 'Bye'

Honest, Peggy Dunn of New Orleans wears these "tear catchers" to save her makeup when bidding goodbye to boy friends entering army.

Great Britain today declared her confidence that American fighting planes will cross the Atlantic in time, and in sufficient numbers, to meet the challenge of an Axis spring offensive, which appears to be gaining momentum already.

The British assertion was made by Air Minister Sir Archibald Sinclair, who said Britain's air strength is now greater in relation to Germany's than at the start of mass air attacks upon Britain last August.

Sinclair said German propagandists claimed that aid from the United States would arrive too late to help Britain in the coming battles.

"But," said Sinclair, "I tell the House of Commons these formidable aircraft will get here in time."

Meanwhile Berlin, Rome and Tokyo declared in a chorus today that an answer to United States passage of the lend-lease bill would be afforded by a visit to the Axis capitals of Japan's foreign minister, Matsuoka.

Berlin talked frankly of military plans to be discussed by Matsuoka, Hitler and Goering.

The Balkans were quieter today, but some observers believed that it might possibly be just the lull before the storm, which is expected to break out at any time.

West Texans Convince Legislators They Need More Consideration In State As Solons Make Junket

By RICHARD M. MOREHEAD United Press Staff Correspondent
AUSTIN, Tex.—El Pasoans and citizens of Brewster County did a good job of convincing members of the House of Representatives that Far West Texas deserves greater consideration in state government.

Thirty legislators, most of them members of the house appropriations committee, took a three-day trip to El Paso, with a side trip into Big Bend Park.

One immediate reaction was passage in the house of a general bill to permit counties to use part of their ad valorem tax receipts for advertising. El Paso County had such a fund under a local bill, which the attorney general declared unconstitutional.

El Pasoans pointed out the value of the tourist trade to their area and entreated the legislators to permit counties to use part of their ad valorem tax receipts for advertising. El Paso County had such a fund under a local bill, which the attorney general declared unconstitutional.

The visitors also were taken to the Texas College of Mines and the El Paso Valley farming district, for which a farm experiment station has been authorized but no appropriation made.

At Alpine, the legislators were shown through Sul Ross College, supporters of that school asked for several improvements, including money for an animal husbandry building. Livestock for the department already has been donated by ranchers in the highland country around Alpine.

Sul Ross began as a teachers' college, and later was extended into a general liberal arts school. But the two departments with the most apparent future are animal husbandry and art. The Big Bend area and western country attracts artists from as far away as New York and Philadelphia, and legislators were surprised at the quality of the students' work, particularly that of a senior girl, Sarah Tennant, from Shafter, Texas.

Speaking for the animal husbandry building, one rancher told the committee: "Us fellows want to send our kids to Sul Ross, but a guy on a cow ranch don't want to make his boy be a school teacher."

Alpine citizens took the legislators by automobile on a 250-mile

O'DANIEL SEEKS ACTION AS HALF-WAY POINT IN LEGISLATURE REACHED

Off to See the Wizards

By Harry Benge Crozier
AUSTIN, Texas, March 11.—Governor W. Lee O'Daniel, who fugitive from the world of trade to twist the tails of professional politicians with such success that he became chief executive of the state—and entitled, perhaps, to a union card as a working politician—has thrown the fat slap-dab into the fire. It's a sort of halfway station this week in the 120 day life of the legislature and the governor chose the occasion to precipitate or pose at least a possible deadlock conflict between the legislative and executive branches of the government. The legislature can keep on keeping on after the lapse of 120 days if it chooses by vote so to do but at a salary per member reduced from $10 to $5 a day.

Governor O'Daniel wants immediate, responsive and favorable action in the legislature on his proposal of an appropriation of $26,800,000 to pay the old folks and sundry others entitled under the Texas spirit of benevolence to grants from the state. He wants too a tax producing measure that will return to the state treasury something like $50,000,000 a year. He made all of this plainer when he addressed the people of Texas over the radio Sunday morning in the curiously enchanting O'Daniel blending of God, mother and state.

The legislature, in which only the House of Representatives is empowered to initiate revenue producing legislation, until Sunday at least was bent on a course of applying the squeeze to a few natural resources and industries to supply around $15,000,000 of new revenues. They believed that social security benefits could be extended and economical government be achieved by such a step. They were as of that moment determinedly opposed to a sales tax or a transaction tax such as has been proposed by Governor O'Daniel in both of his inaugural addresses.

For all of the fact that it has consumed nearly half of its allotted time, this Forty-seventh Legislature is still a young institution. It is a virile institution. There are some road signs that have come to visibility that may indicate that some men with the ment every year in gasoline taxes alone. An ordinary out-of-state tourist, he said, would travel 1,500 miles in Texas, buy 100 gallons of gasoline (state tax), and spend $5 to $10 a day for each member of his party.

El Paso's Sheriff Chris P. Fox provided one of the trip's humorous highlights when he served as master of ceremonies at a luncheon given in that city. Fox asked all visiting legislators to stand.

"All I can say is: God save America," Fox commented.

Ernest Boyett, house sergeant at arms, decided at one step that he would improve his international relations by bidding farewell to his host in his native language.

"Adios, amigos," said Boyett. Replied the Latin-American: "So long, Buddy."

Foreign Minister Matsuoka of Japan, above, is training across vast Siberia toward a meeting with Hitler—and possibly Stalin—that the axis is touting as world-shaking.

qualities of leadership have decided forthrightly to enlist as professional politicians in a contest with an amateur politician—but a politician if Texas ever saw one. And a politician with more cunning and better devices than these professionals ever encountered before.

In all candor, that is the situation the governor's Sunday morning session threw the state into.

If the cries of conflict over paying out and getting in set off by Governor O'Daniel do not drown it out, there will be other considerations of politics in the legislature this week. In its infancy and adolescent days, Texas was committed to two two year terms of offices. With the single exception of state senators, office holders had to confront the electorate every two years. Then came the era of bureaus and commissions and the thought of overlapping terms. Men began to use the offices they held—whether elective or appointive—as ladders to gain other and higher offices.

From the Railroad Commission, Oscar Branch Colquitt became governor. Earle B. Mayfield, in an off year gained a term on the United States. A host of others have tried unsuccessfully to use these multiple term offices for spring boards. Last summer, everybody knows, two members of the Railroad Commission sought the office of governor in the very midst of duties they had asked the people of Texas to give them for six year terms. Next Wednesday night a House committee will consider a bill by Representative Price Daniel of Liberty that would stop this practice. The Daniel bill does not apply to legislative and judicial offices. Those exceptions may give it a chance because it is not likely that the Senate of Texas would vote for a measure that would restrain its members from running for congress, attorney-general, governor or what have you in the off year that their four year tenure provides them.

BOMBERS ARE POISED FOR A QUICK FLIGHT

Tanks and Machine Guns Are Expected To Be Included in Initial Shipment of Arms.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 11.—Congressional action on the British lend-lease bill was completed today as the house finally passed the senate-approved measure. The senate had previously voted on the house version of the bill, adding some amendments, which the house quickly adopted.

President Roosevelt was prepared to ask for $7,000,000,000 with which to carry out the initial phase of help for Great Britain, it was reported today.

The president is expected to sign the bill late today and to give clearance for an undetermined number of American bombers, now poised for flight across the Atlantic for delivery to the Royal Air Force.

Well informed sources said the administration is preparing to release a large number of American bombers within the next few days, though the number was not revealed. This was expected to be the first phase of the lend-lease program as advocated by President Roosevelt, and for which the lend-lease bill now provides as soon as it is signed.

The immediate program of British aid is expected to involve also, transfer of a large number of light tanks and machine guns for use by the British forces.

House Sends Tax Bill To Senate For Action There

AUSTIN, Mar. 11.—The Texas House of Representatives sent to the State Senate today an omnibus tax bill which is estimated will raise more than $20,000,000 a year additional revenue, mostly from taxes on natural resources.

Stung by Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel's criticism of the omnibus tax bill as reported from a house committee, the house rejected the governor's proposal to act first on social security appropriations. He has asked that $26,000,000 in state assets be frozen for social security purposes.

Young People Now Have Advantages Formerly Unknown

ABILENE, Texas—Youth gets a break. Young people have one more advantage over the youth of past generations. Specifically, they have advantage under the Federal old-age and survivors insurance system established by the Social Security Act. Young persons just entering covered employment are included in the system during their entire working life. From the beginning, they build toward a future income through the crediting of such wages to their old-age survivors insurance accounts, according to W. O. King, manager of the Abilene office of the Social Security Board.

"Many a parent who buys insurance for his child and who carefully preserves the premium receipts does not realize their financial value in the child's social security account number," King continued. "Parents whose children were employed for the first time during the recent holiday season should see that their children keep their account numbers. Many of these same children will be employed again during the summer vacation and will need that same number."

All wages in employment covered by the law are reported by the employer who is required to indicate the account number. However, in computing benefit payments in old age, only the time from age 22 is counted. "That is how youth gets a break," King explained. For illustration, a 14-year-old boy works extra as a delivery boy while attending high school and college. At $15 per month, upon graduation from college just as he reaches age 22, he will have received $1,440. Should he die a year and a half later, leaving dependents, their benefit would be calculated on the basis of his average monthly wage, which, although counting only two months since age 22, will include all wages regardless of when earned.

Thus, the $1,440 paid before the youth reached age 22 would be added to wages subsequently paid prior to death and divided by the 18 months elapsing after age 22 to find the average monthly wage on which all benefits are computed.

"When parents realize the substantial value of their children's social security account number," King added, "they will endeavor to impress upon their children the importance of keeping them."

"We shall be glad to have any questions referred to us at 215 Alexander Building in Abilene," King said.

Methodism's Cradle In Texas Will Be Rebuilt This Year

SAN AUGUSTINE, Tex.—Historic McMahan's Chapel, the cradle of Texas Methodism, is to be rebuilt.

Through the contributions of Methodists throughout the eastern part of the state, a church structure to serve "as a fitting memorial to pioneer Methodists" will be constructed soon at the site of the chapel, nine miles east of San Augustine.

In addition, a summer encampment ground adjoining the chapel is under consideration. Twenty acres of land for the purpose were donated by Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Noble of San Augustine.

The original log structure, one of the oldest Protestant churches in Texas, was founded in 1838 by the Rev. Littleton Fowler, presiding elder of the Methodist Episcopal Church, who also helped lay the foundation for free schools in the state.

The rebuilding program will not disturb one of the strangest tombs in Texas, a tall marble slab that rises through the floor of the old church. The body of the Rev. Fowler lies buried beneath. The slab will not be moved.

The original log building was replaced in 1870 by a new wooden church structure, and the planned memorial will replace it.

The building of McMahan's Chapel in 1838 followed the organization of a religious society at the home of Col. Samuel B. McMahan in 1833. At that time Mexican authorities kept vigilant watch over the Texas colonists to keep them from organizing Protestant churches. But there was little restriction, however, on camp meetings and religious societies were permitted to be organized.

The Rev. James P. Stevenson came to Texas in 1833 and was a guest of McMahan for several days. It was he who organized a small group of worshippers with McMahan as their class leader. It is believed that this was the first organized Methodist unit in the state. About five years later McMahan's Chapel, 30x40 feet in size, was built on land donated by Col. McMahan.

The man is Herschel M. Duncan, president and founder of the company, who is recognized by the trade as being one of the world's foremost experts. From the dictates of his palate have come the formulae that have placed Admiration coffee and tea among the leading brands in the Southwest.

Millions of pounds of these coffees are blended and roasted annually in the Corpus Christi and the two Houston factories of the company, and the Duncan enterprises support a labor roster of approximately 400 employees with an annual payroll of $650,000. While the bulk of production is consumed by Texas coffee drinkers, an appreciable amount is also marketed in the remainder of the Southwest and in the South. A tribute to the quality of Admiration Coffee is the fact that it is served exclusively in the House of Representatives and the Senate at the National Capitol.

The first coffee roasted by the Duncan Coffee Company was the famous Admiration blend. The Cup of Southern Hospitality. So pleasing and successful was this original blend of expensive coffee that after 23 years this same blend is hailed as one of the world's finest coffees.

Always a step ahead in pioneering coffee roasting and packing improvements, the Duncan Coffee Company was the first in offering coffee lovers of the Southwest such refinements as tailor-made grinds. In order to insure the goodness of Admiration Coffees in all types of coffee-makers, the Duncan Coffee Company spent thousands and thousands of dollars in research and experimentation, seeking to determine the grind best suited for each coffee-making method. In 1932, the Duncan Coffee Company startled the coffee industry in announcing the creation of the patented Dripkut. This distinctive grind met with such immediate response all over the Southwest that soon other companies attempted to market a similar grind. Then, just seven years later in 1939, the Duncan Coffee Company again matched the progress made by manufacturers of coffee making equipment when it announced the perfection of Glassdrip—the precision-cut coffee for aluminum and glass coffee-makers. This grind today stands alone as the only perfect grind for glass coffee-makers available in the Southwest.

Thermo-roasting—a scientific method of heat application which roasts the beans thoroughly and evenly to bring out all the fine flavor of the superb Admiration blend . . . represents still another "first" for Duncan.

Dedicated to the purpose of offering the public the finest coffee and teas obtainable and determined to maintain its independence as one of the Southwest's own industries, the Duncan Coffee Company proudly looks forward to the future.

Smile Cake Contest To Be Staged By Mrs. Tucker At Cooking School

Smiles will surely beam on the faces of the two prize winners in Mrs. Tucker's "Smile" Cake Contest at the Cooking School, while the families of all entrants will smile as they enjoy the cakes made for this event. The winners will proudly use their prize chrome steel cooking sets to make even better foods to create more smiles among their loved ones.

This contest is a part of Mrs. Tucker's 1941 "Smile" campaign. The Dear Old Lady of Shortening fame, in considering a world filled with wars, political strife and selfishness, thinks that "What this country needs most is a good old-fashioned SMILE!" so she is urging everybody to smile more and spread happiness throughout 1941.

A good cake can go far in creating smiles. Therefore, during the cooking school, Mrs. Tucker is conducting a contest for the cakes made with Mrs. Tucker's Shortening that create the most smiles for appearance, texture, taste and health. Mrs. Tucker will give as the first prize a 5 piece set of famous Everedy Chrome Steel Cooking Ware and a three piece set of the same high quality cooking utensils as the second prize for the two cakes judged the No. 1 and No. 2 smile producers of all entered. This Everedy cooking ware is not aluminum but is heavy chrome steel. The first prize set consists of chicken fryer, skiddle and a dutch oven, while the second prize is a set made up of chicken fryer, skiddle and skillet. You may enter any kind of cake you wish, but it must be made with Mrs. Tucker's Shortening, which is known as the "Smile" Shortening for cake making as well as for all other purposes.

The cooking school expert recommends Mrs. Tucker's especially for cakes because it is so creamy-smooth. She advises that this Shortening has been featured in over 250 cooking schools each year for several years and that the experienced demonstrators have found Mrs. Tucker's creaminess the most desired quality in a Shortening. These experts say that Mrs. Tucker's is multi-creamed at the factory so that it mixes easily with other ingredients at any temperature. "Besides this ease of use," continue the famous cooks, "Mrs. Tucker's is most desirable for cakes because it is made exclusively from choice vegetable. There is no animal fat in this Shortening, which di-gests quickly and easily. Then, Mrs. Tucker's is packed in airtight "Cellophane"-lined cartons and in 3-lb. airtight cans so that it keeps sweet, pure, factory-freshness. And, finally, Mrs. Tucker's Shortening goes farther for real economy."

Mrs. Tucker's is also fine for frying and all other shortening purposes, according to these cooking school demonstrators who have tested it for every kind of use. They feature Mrs. Tucker's lack of moisture, which assures no popping, its high burning point, and the fact that it does not absorb odors or flavors of foods fried in it. These women say you can strain Mrs. Tucker's and use it over and over for economy.

Attend the cooking school, learn how Mrs. Tucker's creamy-smooth Shortening makes cake-baking easier and how this pure vegetable product makes more delicious foods that digest quicker. Enter the "Smile" Cake Contest, try for one of the valuable prizes, and fill your home with more smiles of cooking and eating satisfaction.

Views of the Press
On Safety Needs

"The Senate of Texas has an opportunity to promote the safety of every person using Texas roads and highways, and to cut down materially the frightful loss of life and the terrible toll of property damage occurring annually from motor traffic accidents. . . . By enacting the measure, Texas will join the lengthening list of states placing in effect a uniform traffic safety code. . . . As the Bill was approved by the House, the fee for drivers of privately owned and operated cars would be only 75 cents. . . . The equivalent of five gallons of gas, of gasoline, and cannot fairly be construed as a tax upon the poor. . . ."—Austin Daily Tribune.

"If the Texas Senate will just follow through now that the House has passed the more stringent driver's license law, and if both houses will do something about giving the Highway Patrol enough men and money to do its gigantic job properly, then this state will be getting somewhere at long last in the matter of traffic safety."—Waco Times Herald.

"One of this state's primary needs is enlargement of the Texas highway patrol. In recent years accidents on Texas roads have shown a close relationship with the size of this force. When the number of patrolmen was increased, serious accidents were lessened. If the force was cut, accidents would increase. If the legislators place a high value on Texas lives, they will have to double the patrol from its present reduced strength."—Dallas Morning News.

"A number of reasons can be given for this tremendous casualty list in Texas but the underlying cause is the antiquity of our traffic regulations. . . . Texans are paying for the refusal of the legislature to correct this situation with broken bodies and baskets. . . . Texas needs a standard driver's license law with teeth in it. A license law which will sort out the unfit from the fit to drive and one which can be enforced. . . . At least 200 additional patrolmen are needed in the state to assure anywhere near adequate enforcement of highway laws. Twice that many are needed to bring the Texas highway patrol personnel on a par with those of other states."—Howe Messenger.

"Some of the members of the Legislature apparently believe that the protection of the reckless, careless, incompetent and drunken drivers from punishment for their acts is more important than the protection of the careful, capable and sober drivers from death and injury at the hands of the other kinds.

"Unless the people themselves take a hand in the matter, the hand of their Representatives and Senators the enactment of a traffic law that has teeth in it, begins to appear that for at least another biennium we shall be struggling along with the old law under which in 1936 any moron could obtain a driver's license with a court conviction the only possible means of revoking it. . . . By and large, the pending bill, drafted by those whose single interest in the matter is increased

It Won't Happen Here

The fact that definite hemisphere defense measures are being taken jointly with Mexico is the best news for a long time.

For two years, one country after another in Europe has been mowed down simply because it would not join with others for defense. If Norway, Sweden and Finland had stood firmly together—? If Czechoslovakia, Poland, Hungary, Yugoslavia, Rumania, Bulgaria and Greece could have formed a joint defense—? If France, England and Russia had stood firmly behind Czechoslovakia—?

But no. Poland refused to help Czechoslovakia; picked pieces from her carcass instead. The Finns made their stand alone. France and England were not ready to support Czechoslovakia. Nobody cared when Albania was invaded. Belgium and Holland insisted on standing alone. Nowhere was there any of the coherence which small nations must have if they are to defend themselves in these blitz-days. One after another they went down; countries which, if united, might have made a stand, and might be free today.

This is not going to happen to America. Already Canada and the United States have joined in defense plans which redouble each country's defensive strength. Now Mexico indicates that it will also join in such plans.

It is unlikely that there will be formal treaties. There is none in the case of Canada. But every mother's son and daughter in the United States knows that an attack on continental Canada is an attack on the United States, and that it will be resisted in precisely the same way. That is a more powerful force than any treaty. So it will be with Mexico.

It is true that defense arrangements with Mexico may be harder to make than with Canada. The history of these relations in the past is not so happy. There is a greater distrust to be overcome. Nevertheless it can be overcome, and it is being overcome.

The United States has given a clear demonstration in the past 10 years that it has no desire for Mexican soil. The remarkable forbearance shown by the United States in recent disputes is clear evidence of deed, not word, that this is so.

We have a better way, we believe. We believe that strong, free Canada, and a strong, free Mexico, are better defenses in war, better friends and neighbors in peace, than any "protectorate" or satrapy. This goes for all Western Hemisphere countries.

Europe's free countries were divided—and one by one, they fell.

The free countries of the Americas are uniting, and united, they can stand confident and unafraid.

Big Bend Mountain Named By Indians

MARFA, Tex.—Chisos, name of the rugged mountains where the proposed Big Bend National Park is to be located, south of here, means ghosts in Indian dialect.

The name comes from a curious legend of the ghost of an Indian chief whose haunting of the range adds touch of supernatural belief to the picturesque scenery of the region.

The Indian chief supposedly ruled a mighty tribe, but marauding Indians from across the border captured him. After years of imprisonment and torture the chief escaped and fled to the mountains.

He searched through the mountains for years but never found a trace of his tribe.

Bones found in one of the deserted canyons years later were reputed to have been his.

The belief lives among remaining Indian tribes of the sector that the lost chief still strides the mountains in the wind, searching for his lost tribe, wailing through the canyons and screaming from the tops of the peaks into the wind.

Co-eds Win Right To Go Stockingless

"Any woman who wishes to cheapen herself and the appearance of this institution," Dean Conrad said, "by not wearing stockings will be permitted to be a cheapening element in the college."

Promoter Out To Put Dignity Into Wrestling Game

By United Press
MONTREAL, — Despite the late Rudyard Kipling and his opinion that the female of the species is more deadly than the male, Promoter Eddie Quinn says that women wrestlers are out as far as Montreal and eastern Canada is concerned.
Quinn came out flat-footed and asserted that even if the police morality squad was not willing to frown upon the pastime, he was. "Women wrestlers do nothing but give the sport a black eye," announced Quinn. "They neither enhance the beauty of the town nor give a demonstration that can really be called wrestling. Sure it's true that they attract a certain clientele, but those people go just to see something different, not to see first class sport. I know a couple of fellows who are paying alimony who enjoy it for another reason. In their mind they see the ex-wife being tossed for a loop.

"It has been a tough task," he went on, "to bring wrestling in Montreal up to the standard it has attained and as far as I am concerned I am in no mood to promote anything that uses the name "wrestling" as a camouflage for something that really belongs in a sideshow."

Asked what he thought of grapplers strutting their ability in rings filled with mud, Quinn granted, "If people want to see

Current Events Have Bearing On Making Some State Laws

AUSTIN, Tex.—When legislators gather over the coffee cups or sip something a little stronger, they like to tell of the time a blizzard struck Austin during a legislative session and resulted in passage of a law requiring vestibules on street cars.

Something similar happened for the pending bill to strengthen the driving license law at this session.

that kind of thing they will go to a picture show where a couple of slapstick comedians are strutting their stuff. As far as the wrestling fraternity in this part of the world is concerned, "mud bath" wrestling also belongs in the sideshow category and I don't think for one minute the sport's loving public has any more desire for it than I have."

THE NATION'S NO. 1 HIGHWAY IS THE NATION'S NO. 1 DEATH TRAP AT NIGHT,

THE BALTIMORE-WASHINGTON BOULEVARD 27 MILES

EVERY YEAR THE 27 MILE HIGHWAY HAS AVERAGED ABOUT 33 PEOPLE KILLED—ABOUT 22 AT NIGHT

IN 1940 THE HIGHWAY KILLED 44 PEOPLE—29 AT NIGHT

Why? Because nothing has been done about the real problem? Adequate lighting could be expected to save 15-20 lives, 100 personal injuries and thousands of $ a year!

Just as a senate committee had finished a hearing on the bill and members were leaving the capitol they heard a resounding series of crashes.

Around the capitol drive whizzed a water truck, zig-zagging from side to side, crashing against parked cars and curbs at high speed. The truck sped Corrigan-like down a one-way drive and into Congress Avenue, where it barely missed two pedestrians.

Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., director, and Fred Hickman, assistant director of the Department of Public Safety, leaped into a taxi and pursued the truck, but lost it in traffic. They returned to the capitol to get their own car, only to learn that the truck had played a return engagement in another whirlwind tour of the capitol drive, smashing into more cars. A few minutes later Garrison and Hickman found the truck almost overturned in a ditch with the driver pressing the starter button.

Resolution Of Respect Passed By Texas House

The following resolution in memory of the late Geo. A. Davison of Eastland was passed by the Texas House of Representatives:

H.S.R. No. 116
Whereas, on the first day of November, 1940, the Great Architect of the Universe called from the walks of men George Allen Davison, a former resident and State official of the State of New Mexico, who stood high in the councils of Democracy in that State; upon moving to Texas in 1918, he became a prominent contractor, oil operator, and civic leader; he was the father of George Allen Davison, Jr., a former distinguished member of the House of Representatives in the Forty-fourth and Forty-fifth Legislatures; and

Whereas, in his passing, his community and State has lost a good and patriotic citizen, who was loved and respected by his legion of friends in all walks of life, and his memory will be cherished by all who knew him; and

Whereas, his service to his community was of the highest order as a civic leader and he was one who took part in every enterprise for the public welfare; and

Resolved, that when the House of Representatives adjourns today, that it do so out of respect for the memory of this splendid citizen of our State and Country.

Frank Crossley Bell Huddleston, Speaker of the House.
I hereby certify that H. S. R. No. 116 was unanimously adopted by a rising vote of the House on February 17, 1941.

Salesmanship Not Navy Need Except For the Recruiter

Salesmanship is not one of the professions advertised as taught in the U. S. Navy but Navy recruiters must now be good salesmen in order to fill their rapidly expanding monthly quotas of voluntary enlistments for six-year periods against competition with the one-year Selective Service Act and expanding industry, C. L. Wylie, in charge of the U. S. Navy Recruiting Station at Abilene said today.

Navy recruiting is now based on selling the prospective applicant a desire for a career which affords opportunity to learn a useful trade or profession with good pay and frequent promotions and retirement on half pay at an early age, Wylie said.

K. C. Two-Tone Cake To Be Featured In Cooking School

Ingredients:
 1/2 cup butter
 1 1/2 cups sugar
 4 egg yolks
 3 cups flour
 3 teaspoons K. C. Baking Powder
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 1 cup milk
 1 teaspoon vanilla
 2 squares of unsweetened chocolate
 4 egg whites

Method: Sift together five times, the flour, baking powder and salt. Cream butter, add sugar slowly, add egg yolks carefully beaten, then milk and flour alternately. Divide in two parts.
 To part 1, add 2 egg whites, beaten stiff.
 To part 2, add chocolate (melt over hot water, not boiling). Let cool, then fold in the whites of two eggs beaten stiff.
 Bake in separate pans at 350 to 375 degrees, 20 to 30 minutes.

der recommended on the can or in the recipe book issued by the manufacturer. Because of the high strength of K C Baking Powder which she is using in the cooking school, only one level teaspoonful should be used to a cup of well sifted flour for most recipes. This is equivalent to one heaping teaspoonful to a quart of flour.

Careful measurement is very necessary as using more or less than a recipe calls for will not produce best results.

Another secret of good baking is to be sure that the baking powder is thoroughly mixed with the flour and other ingredients. The more thoroughly the baking powder and flour are mixed before you add moisture, the better your results are likely to be. Sift three or four times.

For biscuits, make a smooth dough that can be handled without sticking, and bake in moderate oven. For cakes, have your oven slow to moderate at first, until the cake is fully risen then increase heat so as to just brown lightly.

K C is manufactured by baking powder specialists who make nothing but baking powder. It is always uniform in quality and can be relied upon to produce for you, the kind of bakings you will be proud to serve.

Additional helpful information and a great many practical, tempting recipes will be found in the K C Cook's Book. You will receive a copy, postage paid, by mailing your request, with a slip taken from a can of K C Baking Powder, to Jacques Manufacturing Co., Chicago, Illinois.

"Bill for Schools" Is Worked Out By A Regional Group

LONGVIEW, Texas.—"The Bill for Schools," a comprehensive statistical study of the important facts about schools and their cost in Texas, compiled by the Tax Department of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce, has just been published in booklet form, and is available for distribution to interested persons on request to the Chamber's Longview office.

The report gives a comprehensive picture of the financial and other pertinent figures of the Texas public school system, and the higher educational institutions of the state, over a period of several years. It shows the current operating expense, average enrollment and attendance figures, value of the school plant, source of school revenue, division of revenue between State and local sources, and per capita income payments, and compares each of these items in Texas with corresponding items in other Southern states and with the average for all of the States.

It also includes a summary of the recommendations offered by the Governor's special commission for reorganization of the State school system, after an exhaustive study, including such changes as appointment of the State Superintendent by the State Board of Education, with a division of policy-forming and administrative duties; appointment of County Superintendents by County School Boards; division of financial support between State and local sources; merger of small school districts into countywide districts; and an improved budget making procedure for local school districts.
