Coke Stevenson Who Will Soon Become Governor of Texas, Is a Paradox

HARRY BENGE CROZIER
AUSTIN, July 25.—When the... of fortuitous circumstance... likable human is about... of his native... correspondence is likely... volume that he never... before. Certainly it has been... case of Lieutenant Gov... Coke R. Stevenson, who has... somewhat in the limelight in... of his love of human com... prefers the long... that come down of an... from the hills that over... 35 minutes with a 19 year-old boy who wanted a job. Weary secretaries waited to close the day's business. Stevenson had a grin on his face and almost apologetically he said to his secretaries, "That boy was so damned interesting." "Danged" is about the extent of the Stevenson glossary in profanity.

It begins to look like I can no more get rid of Stevenson in this essay than he can of visitors.

What I was trying to say is that the Stevenson volume of correspondence is all out of hand again and anew. They are writing now not to congratulate him but to implore him to call the legislature to do something about the highway bond assumption act. He can't begin to answer the letters with his limited force. Coke Stevenson is not governor yet—and he is more keenly aware of it than anybody. He has positive views about the bond assumption act and he is likely to answer all the letters in a newspaper statement but it will not be in the role of an about-to-be governor. He will merely declare what he as a citizen of Texas and Lieutenant-Governor thinks about the issue.

Stop Two-Wheel Accidents, Begs A Safety Expert

Fifty percent of the persons killed in bicycle accidents are children between the ages of 5 and 14, Paul W. Kearney, noted safety expert, points out in the current issue of the Rotarian magazine. Over 51,000 injured in such accidents in the last three years, he reports.

The fault is not entirely that of the bicycle rider. The fault is largely lack of stress on what Mr. Kearney calls "The three E's—Enforcement, Education and Engineering." Few cities and towns, only about 150, have studied the "bike problem" at all, and these have been rewarded by an immediate drop in accidents.

The third "E," Engineering, is of necessity slow and expensive, but enforcement and education can be readily put into practice. Requiring registration of bicycles is a helpful practice, but only if it is used to enforce the laws pertaining to bicycles and used to report infractions of the law and common sense. Many towns that require taillights or reflectors for bikes ignore the ordinance and permit bicycle riders to pedal after dark with no sort of light to protect themselves—or to protect the motorist who cannot easily see a dark object against a dark field.

Safety lanes in schools have disclosed that few bicycles are up to mechanical safety standard. The first day of the test lane at Steinmetz High School in Chicago, only three machines passed. Most rejections were for lack of lights or horns.

Several communities have bicycle traffic courts, administered by youths themselves with the cooperation of the authorities. Many of these use the police to serve summonses, but the actual trial and admonition is by youth of high school age. Penalties are usually attendance at a traffic school for riders conducted by the police or safety engineers working with the police.

George R. Jordan of Dallas Named As Lions International President At a Meeting in New Orleans Today

George R. Jordan of Dallas Named As Lions International President At a Meeting in New Orleans Today

CHICAGO, (Special)—George R. Jordan of Dallas, Texas, was unanimously elected president of the International Association of Lions Clubs at its 25th annual convention in New Orleans, La., which closed July 25. Jordan succeeds retiring president Karl M. Sorrick of Springfield, Michigan. According to the report by Melvin Jones, founder and secretary-general of the association, the convention in New Orleans concluded one of the most successful years in the history of Lions International. He reported the establishment of 453 new Lions Clubs and the addition of 9,680 members for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1940, and ending June 30, 1941, which raised the total number of clubs to 4,082 and the membership to 147,407.

In accepting the presidency, Jordan said that 4,082 well-organized and functioning clubs in eight countries, comprising 147,407 representative business and professional men, would meet, with precision and a definitely outlined course, their responsibilities as good citizens and Lions during the year ahead. He stated that these Lions accept with optimism the challenge for leadership in their respective cities and communities during these perilous times.

In outlining the policy of the Lions association, Jordan said that it would be to continue its expansion program, stress the Objects of Lionism which are to promote the theory and the practice of the principles of good citizenship, and to take an active interest in the civic, commercial, social, and moral welfare of each community.

Jordan was born in Kemp, Texas, and received his public school education and college training in his home state. He is married and has two sons. One of his chief interests is his farm, where he grows cotton and corn. Jordan's first official appearance before Lions International was as chairman of the resolutions committee at the International Convention held in Los Angeles in 1932. Since that time he has served a number of times as sergeant-at-arms at international conventions. During the 1933-34 fiscal year, Jordan served as district governor of the Lions of district 2-X, Texas, previously having served as deputy district governor. He joined the Lions association first as a charter member of the Forney, Texas, Lions Club in 1925, being elevated to the presidency of that club in 1929. He transferred to the Dallas club in 1933.

COUNTER MOVE AGAINST JAPS EXPECTED NOW

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Joint United States, British and Australian economic moves against Japan was shaping up today as President Roosevelt indicated that the nation would take the initiative tomorrow in the first counter-move against Japanese aggression in Indo-China.

The initial action was expected to be an economic order freezing Japanese credits in the United States. President Roosevelt indicated that such steps would be announced by Saturday. The president coupled discussion of probable retaliatory action against Japan with the statement about Tokyo's latest aggression saying it might awaken Americans to realize fully the deadly peril of the international situation. Meantime one senator predicted that the United States Navy and Air Force would help to defend the Dutch East Indies from Japanese attacks. His forecast was offset by insistence of other senators that reprisals against Tokyo would be limited to the field of economics.

County Judges Are Unwavering In A Stand Upon Bonds

AUSTIN, Tex.—County judges exhibit little disposition to compromise in their battle with the state legislature for re-enactment of the road bond assumption act, so payments can be continued after Sept. 1. At their recent committee conference in Austin some of the judges were quite outspoken. One judge told his associates that the state senator from his district had told the commissions that he voted against the road bond assumption act to assure construction of certain roads in the county. The county judge added that the senator admitted his understanding applied only to his stand at the regular session on bond assumption and leaves him free to change his attitude at a special session of the legislature. Some of the county judges accused highway officials of activity on the road bond assumption problem that went beyond proprieties of their administrative functions. Others said that the blame also was attached to bond dealers.

One said counties had been urged by a man "from Wall street" to vote a road bond issue, with assurance that the bond men would see that the issue is included in bond assumption by the state so the local taxpayers will not have to finance the bonds.

"Marihuana bonds" was the name by which some of the judges referred to bond issues that were put out by counties recently with expectation that the state would include them in serviced bonds. "I don't blame the highway department for fighting the bill if the policy of adding bonds to those already serviced by the state is to be continued," one judge said.

Morale Officers Of 45th Are Busy

CAMP BARKELEY.—So-called "morale officers" are at work to prevent the collective spirits of the 45th division from going into a slump next month. That's when the troops will participate in Army maneuvers in Louisiana, and there's expected to be plenty of dust and heat. The officers, a sort of "chins up" corps, announced a "between battles" recreational program. A principal feature will be swims in Louisiana bayous. Civic and business leaders in Mansfield, La., about four miles from the 45th bivouac area, will add other entertainment items.

Burning Live Dogs Denied In Ft. Worth

FORT WORTH, July 25.—A prominent manufacturer today joined a delegation of eleven incensed women with charges that "live dog s" were thrown into the flaming city incinerator while the police flatly denied the "brutal practice."

Funeral For Billy Joe Noble Held At 4:30 Pm Today

Funeral services were conducted at 4:00 o'clock this afternoon from the Eastland First Baptist church for Billy Joe Noble, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carrol Noble of Eastland, who died Thursday night. The services were conducted by Rev. Jones W. Weathers, pastor of the Eastland Baptist church. Burial was in the Eastland cemetery.

Hammer Undertaking Company had charge of the body. The deceased is survived by three sisters, Misses Virginia, Norma Jean and Carolyn Noble in addition to his parents. Billy Joe was the grandson of Jess Noble of Cisco and the great grandson of the late Uncle John Noble, an early day sheriff of Eastland county. He was a member of Eastland Boy Scout Troop No. 6. Boy Scouts acted as pallbearers and the entire membership of both Troop No. 6 and 103 attended the funeral in uniform.

According to the best information obtainable regarding the accident that cost him his life, Billy Joe had been cutting grass and weeds about the home using a garden rake in which a piece of one-half inch iron pipe had been fitted for a handle. It was late in the evening when he cut, dropped the rake and climbed upon his father's truck where he remained for sometime and then jumped down onto the rake, the handle of which entered the body between the legs to the length of 24 inches passed through the abdomen and penetrated the chest, fracturing ribs, injuring the bladder and the liver in addition to numerous intestines. The end of the pipe lodged just under the skin near the heart, it was stated.

Billy Joe removed the piece of pipe from his body before anyone could get to him.

Norwegian Sailor Can't Understand Position of the U.S.

PORT ARTHUR, Tex.—Eric Erickson, Norwegian sea man, thinks some Axis Navy Commanders are pretty "decent." Erickson was a mate on the freighter "Loch-T" when she was stopped by an Italian submarine, two days out of Ireland. He said the commander allowed the crew 55 minutes to take to the life boats, gave them five bottles of rum, several cartons of cigarettes and set them on the right course for Scotland. The Norwegian said he previously thought that Axis submarines torpedoes ships without warning, machine-gunning the passengers.

All Erickson wants, he said, "is a chance to make a living for me and my mother, who is in Norway." He didn't know "what the war is about" and couldn't understand, especially, the United States part in it. "It's easy to understand why you don't want to send an army anywhere," he asserted. "But with its big fleet, why doesn't the U. S. send its Navy to clear submarines from the sea—or quit talking?"

NAZIS ADMIT GOING NOW IS GETTING HARD

BERLIN, July 25.—A Nazi spokesman admitted today that Russian troops had launched counter attacks on the advanced German spearheads beyond Smolensk and the German high command confirmed the statement in part by admitting that "severe fighting was in progress in the area."

The spokesman said that the counter attacks had been expected and had been repulsed with heavy losses, however. German forces in the Smolensk-Mogilev area are still mopping up large Soviet forces which, it was revealed, were still fighting despite former reports by Nazi sources that they had been encircled by the Nazi panzer forces. The spokesman revealed that the Finnish force operating around the eastern shore of Lake Ladoga had not yet cut the Murmansk-Leningrad railroad as had been assumed from previous reports but he said they were "constantly bringing a greater threat" to that rail line.

A military spokesman said that the Nazi columns were bringing great pressure to bear in the direction of Kiev through the bend of the Dnieper river and were "bringing the Soviet troops there into gradually untenable positions."

Armed Fugitives Are Caught Today By Peace Officers

AMARILLO, July 24.—Four heavily armed fugitives from the State Penitentiary at Harlem, near Sugarland, were trapped today by 16 peace officers waiting at a highway barricade. No shots were fired in making the capture. The captives had been at large since Monday when they armed themselves with a butcher knife and stole the prison chaplain's car in which they escaped.

Members of the present committee are: Mrs. A. L. Wood, Kokomo; Ann Marshall, Pioneer; Betty Lou Sutton, Gorman; Mrs. E. Barron, Gorman; Johnnie Lee Broom, Gorman; Varda Maltby, Desdemona; Mrs. Odell Lemaster, Desdemona; Mrs. Timmons, Flatwood; Ima Little, Kokomo, and Mrs. T. E. Robertson, Flatwood.

Army's Retention Bill Is Redrafted To Tone It Down

WASHINGTON, July 25.—The Senate Military Affairs Committee today ordered a modification of the proposed war department resolution for declaration of a national emergency by congress to permit retention of National Guardsmen, selectees and reservists for the duration of the emergency. The committee instructed the drafting clerks to rewrite the proposed bill so its effect would be limited to the problem of keeping the civilian soldiers in service.

Paris Calls Upon Vichy To Protect Dakar From U.S.

VICHY, France, July 25.—The Paris press called today for a French agreement with the "European powers" for "protection" of Dakar against American aggression and charged the United States with following a policy of "political blackmail" in the far east.

THE WEATHER

man Stevenson is nothing but a paradoxical person. He has a genuine affection for the friendship of people. If he had "druthers" he would take those whose minds are stimulating. His close friends aver that he has more patience with the bores, and the ones who go through life playing one mental phonograph record, and job seekers than any probable man of their acquaintance. The other side of the Stevenson paradox is that he finds the Henry David Thoreau philosophy alluring to his liking. It has often been remarked and wondered that Stevenson finds himself in good company if he has tools with which to work and books with which to beguile the resting moment. A porch-like arrangement, containing his combination barn, garage and workshop. No pillar or post holds the roof up. He wanted it so that a truck or automobile could back up under the roof and he contrived, just as Thomas Jefferson would have at Monticello, a way for the roof to be supported. And Stevenson did not learn his physics in a school-rop.

But let us leave the curious and compelling personality of Coke Stevenson to another day. We are writing about the Stevenson correspondence. Because of Mrs. Stevenson's illness he has remained in Austin for the past week, being out from his office, with stenographers working in relays attempting to stem the flood of letters that have come down. Everyone apparently brings the slight of a personal visit from a writer.

Congress Must Face Responsibility

Nothing is harder or more unpleasant than to look a grave situation in the face squarely, decide what needs to be done and do it.

Congress is just like the rest of us in that respect. If it passes an occasional buck, why that is no more than the rest of us do. But now the President and the chief of staff come to Congress and tell it that in their judgment the national safety requires that many men now in service for what was to have been a year must remain longer.

Either this is necessary or it is not necessary. Congress must decide, and must bear the responsibility for its decision. It is not a question to be decided on sentiment. It is not a question to be evaded. It is a question to be faced and decided.

If it be true, as some critics have averred, that the U. S. Army has not a single division ready for combat on the European scale, then Congress must decide how many such divisions it will have when from some of the regular army divisions as many as 600 reserve officers are sent home at the end of their year. It must decide how well defended will be the outposts when units which have been sent thither are decimated by men and sent home.

General Marshall, in his biennial report, says, "Whatever we do for the national defense should be done in the most efficient manner."

Perhaps it would be the most efficient way to persuade large numbers to remain in service voluntarily, offering inducements in pay and conditions.

Perhaps it would be best to send home only those above 28 years of age.

Perhaps it would be best to send all home at the end of the year, though it does call to mind the federal troops marching up to the battle of First Bull Run, who actually passed on the road companies marching away from the impending battle toward Washington because their three-month enlistments had expired. Washington, whose Continental troops were always melting away through expiration of enlistment, also knew the problem.

Today's situation must be squarely faced. The people are prepared to accept any decision made by their elected representatives.

They will not tolerate any passing of the buck, any failure to explore all aspects of the problem, any wavering in deciding it resolutely on the basis of the national safety and welfare. That is the kind of clear-cut decisions which free countries must make to survive in today's world.

The old world seems worse than it really is because you hear so much about the bad things that never happen. Keep looking down and you'll find the world the limit. Keep looking up, and the sky is.

Stephenville Is To Play Here On Tuesday Night

White Motor Co. Girl soft ball team from Stephenville will be here to play the Maroons next Tuesday night. The White Motor girls were not entirely satisfied with the 4 to 1 defeat given them on their last trip here and have asked for a chance to prove that the score was an upset.

Last night the Maroons played the Dr. Dann girl team from Sweetwater and had little trouble taking the long end of a 13 to 3 score. Sweetwater's pitcher, May, was not hit very hard, but passes and errors by her team kept her in hot water most of the evening. Violet Drake returned to the mound after an extended absence due to an injury and pitched a steady game and held the enemy scoreless in all but the 6th, when three hits and two close plays at first, which went against the local team, netted three runs. Nell Watson, playing center field for the Maroons, went back and took a long fly off the bat of Ammons, the Sweetwater third baseman, to rob her of what looked like a sure home run. It was a beautiful play and got a large hand from the stands.

Strike-outs were 3 to 1 in favor of the Sweetwater pitcher but Violet held the edge in bases on balls by 3 to 6.

Vitamin Value Of Peaches Stressed In New Campaign

Tasty appetizing peaches... good to eat and so good for you, will be the central attraction of most tables during the period of July 24th thru July 30th.

During this period the Georgia-Carolina Peach Marketing Board, and other organizations of the Peach Producing Industry, and the Food Trades Industry, and the U. S. Department of Agriculture in a public-spirited campaign to increase consumption of fresh peaches by everyone.

Grady Pipkin, Chairman of the Eastland County Food Industry Committee, pointed out that while rationed in war-torn Europe, we in America are faced with a different but serious problem.

"We are not eating enough of the basic health-protecting foods which there is an abundance of in this country," he said. "More than 40 per cent of our people are actually suffering from malnutrition in this land of plenty. And today, more than ever before, America needs strong, red-blooded men, women and children.

"We have always relished peaches and this delicious fruit takes a new rank as a health-protecting food.

Recent vitamin research has revealed that peaches are rich in vitamins A, B, C and G (B2) to name a few, and are necessary for good health.

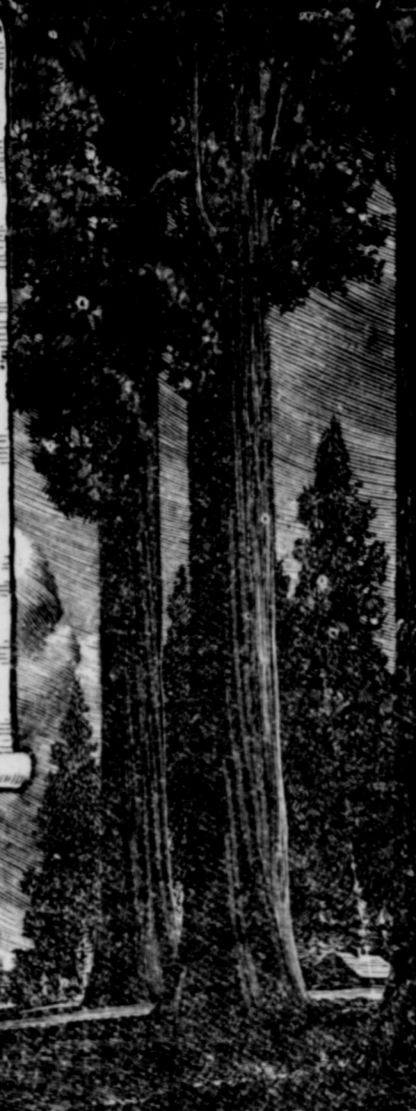

In urging all homemakers to eat more peaches at this time, Mrs. A. Heatley, Area Superintendent of the Surplus Marketing Administration, pointed out that the National Defense Conservation and Nutrition program calls for more home canning and preserving. Home-canned peaches

Eat Watermelons For Health Urged By Texas A. & M.

By United Press
COLLEGE STATION, Texas.—Texans have been advised by the A. & M. College Extension Service that they can improve their health by eating their own watermelons.

One serving a day is not too much during July and August and constitutes a "pleasant fulfillment of fruit diet needs," according to J. F. Rosborough.

Rosborough, horticulturist for Texas A. & M. College, remarked that about 1,000 carloads of surplus melons are shipped out of Texas every year. The present outlook, he said, is for large yields of high quality melons, although maturity will be later than usual.

Largest producer last year was Nacogdoches County, which shipped 17 carloads in addition to "many truck loads which went to various cities in the state." Rivals of the Nacogdoches area in carload shipments were Henderson and Leon Counties.

Waller and Austin Counties once depended on rail outlets but have shifted to trucks, it was said.

Rosborough said breeders of late have improved melon quality by reducing the number and size of the seeds and making the flesh more crisp and tender.

Dixie Queen and Cuban Queen are two newly developed varieties, designed to make so-called "end cuts" as large as those taken from the center. Melons of the new varieties do not taper at the ends.

New tongue-twisters crop up in the war news daily, such as Dvinsk, Przemysl and Plotchetrovsk. No trouble at all for sports page readers who have followed the grid fortunes of the "Fighting Irish" of Notre Dame.

Men In Uniform Are Enjoying New Mobile Vaudeville

Men in uniform in Texas camps are enjoying the mobile vaudeville units which the Citizens Committee for the Army and Navy, Inc., are sending to entertain them. Letters describing the delight which the men in service have greeted the performers have been received by Thomas J. Watson, Chairman of the Citizens Committee from camp commanders, moral officers and others.

The mobile unit which is touring Texas for the Citizens Committee has already appeared in ten Texas camps playing before a total audience of 100,000 men. The unit which is known as Unit C, being one of five which is touring the entire country, comprises Harry Savoy, entertaining Master of Ceremonies; Toni Lane, charming swing singer; Janis Williams, graceful and rhythmical tap dancer; Tommy Trent, with his hilarious, tough Punch and Judy show; and Marjorie Gainsworth, talented singer.

The Citizens Committee has received at its national headquarters, 590 Madison Ave., New York City, hundreds of letters and postcards praising the Committee for the excellent entertainment which the Committee is bringing to the men in the service. Among them are letters from Major General William S. Key, Commanding Officer of Camp Barkeley; Brigadier General W. H. Simpson, Commanding Officer at Camp Walters, and Captain Roy T. Falkenberg, Chief Morale Officer of Camp Walters.

Major General Key in his letter to Mr. Watson, stated that some of the men went to see the show for a second time, thus swelling the attendance at the performance to a figure larger than the number of men at the camp.

COOKS TO BE BRITISH OFFICERS

By United Press
LONDON.—The British soldier won't be able to tell the cook what he thinks of him in the future—cookie" will be an officer. The army catering corps is the newest formation—so new it hasn't decided yet whether its cap badge is to be a pot or a kettle. First hint of its formation was when the appointment of three officers to the new corps was published in the London Gazette.

Only Governor Is Allowed To Buy Fancy Stationery

By United Press
AUSTIN.—The only state office that is permitted to buy embossed or engraved stationery is the governor's office.

A rider prohibiting expenditure of any of the departmental appropriation for embossed or engraved printing is a part of the appropriation act. Specific exception is made for the governor's office.

There is a rider also that prohibits expenditure of any of the appropriated funds for travel outside the state until the purpose of the trip has been approved by the attorney general.

Here, too, exceptions are made. The exceptions are trips by members of the attorney general's staff to Washington to appear before the U. S. Supreme Court; trips by the attorney general to appear before the War Department; and trips of the railroad commissioners or their designated employees to attend hearings or arguments before courts or government commissions involving rates and transportation matters.

Occupational Nerve Disorders

AINKertain professional people lists stenographers, book-keepers, linotype operators, mechanical workers and others frequently have what we call occupational disorders, caused in keeping their heads and necks in unnatural positions for long periods of time, while doing their work.

These unnatural positions often cause strain of the neck, upper part of the spine and shoulder, causing pressure on nerves and pain generally in the neck, upper part of the back and often down into the arms and hands. Many cases are attributed to this. We had quite a number of cases that responded nicely to adjustments.

It went until complications.

SERIAL STORY

MURDER IN CONVOY

BY A. W. O'BRIEN

COPYRIGHT, 1941, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY: Rollins, em-... ticed by his experience with J... tain his whole story to the...
equal, seeks no mercy for...
previously having concealed certain... facts. The colonel tells him he is...
too valuable to be lost to a court...
martial, extends his sympathy to...
Greg for his ill-fated romance.

At Aldershot Camp, Greg was assigned to the toughest organization chores.

TO THE "WELCOME SNAIL"

CHAPTER XI

DELIBERATELY or not, Lieuten-... tenant Rollins was given the...
toughest organization chores upon... arrival at Aldershot Camp. Assigned... to the Divisional Headquarters...
Staff, he had been rushed...
immediately upon arrival at a...
Scottish port to the nearest rail-... way terminal and sent, with a... number of other officers, directly...
to Aldershot to handle endless...
detail work associated with the...
battering of the Canadian soldiers...
due to follow on troop trains.

But Rollins was glad of the 20-... hour-a-day job. It helped take...
his mind off other thoughts that...
creased into his brain at every...
mile moment. Besides, the... logic experience on "T 9" had... taken the edge off the glamor to...
be expected at the end of the zig-...
zaggy Atlantic odyssey. The zip... had gone out of the whole drama...
and his soul was haunted by a...
"memory"—the soft light in a pair...
of blue eyes as he glanced fleet-...
ingly in Joan's direction that... awful night in the O. C.'s cabin.

That he had followed the stern... duty didn't ease his pain. There...
are emotions that rise above...
patriotism, and in the softness of...
those blue eyes—even after his...
"betrayal"—Greg had read for-... giveness. He could have sworn...
that she had given him a kindly...
smile, as much as to say that she... understood. But he felt every... moment he had spent with the...
girl would remain forever with...
him.

That night before landing had... provided many thrills. In the late... afternoon, the troops had plainly...
heard intensive gunfire in the...
distant southeast and, strangely...
enough, the convoy had immedi-... ately veered off an oddly irregu-... lar course in the direction of the... action. An hour or so after sun-... set, the booming noises had ended...
and the ocean expanse had as-...
sumed the mantle of awesome...
tranquility that comes with night.

It was nearly 1 o'clock when a... lonely winking light off the...
starboard bow made the night...
young. Outside, the ship remained...
its same gloomy blacked-out self...
but, inside, it was pulsating with...
life and good fellowship.

That lonely light meant the con-...
voys had actually come within...
sight of land—most likely North-... ern Ireland—and although the...
ships were obviously in dan-... gerous waters the thrill of seeing...
a lighthouse after so many days...
at sea dominated all other sensa-... tions.

NEXT morning, Greg and his... fellow staff officers reached...
Aldershot Camp. Army transport...
autos rushed them from the rail-... way terminal through typically...
English lanes, bordered by well-...
kept green hedges, quaint little...
villages, endless parade grounds...
level as a billiard table, pretty...
streams and dense wooded areas.

Now, three days after arriving... at Aldershot, the hectic prelimi-... nary work had been completed.
Headquarters Companies of the... various units would now take...
over, and Rollins found himself...
reading a notification from his...
O. C. that would ordinarily have... brought a cheer to his lips. He... had been granted his 48 hours'...
leave effective immediately in-... stead of having to wait for the...
expected 10 days.

With a grim smile, he fingered... the brisk army note. A look-see...
at London would have been a new... high for him if... He...
shook his head.

SEATED in a London-bound...
train, Greg read with interest...
a delayed newspaper report of...
the landing of "another contingent...
from Canada—this time a com-... plete division—at an unnamed...
Scottish port."

Another headline caught his...
eye: NAZIS BLITZED IN CON-...
VOY ATTACK. Under it a heading read: U-BOAT TRAP BACK-...

FIRMS WITH HEAVY LOSSES.
"It was announced today by...
the Admiralty that a major as-... sault on an incoming convoy was...
repulsed with heavy losses suf-... fered by the Nazis. At least five...
U-boats were destroyed," the ac-... count stated, "and 12 enemy...
bombers and fighters downed in...
one of the fiercest engagements of...
short duration seen in the war to...
date.

"No indication was given of the... size of the British escort or of...
the whereabouts of the attack, but...
it was stated that some of the... planes shot down carried R. A. F... markings which is alleged to have...
been the reason for the sinking... of a liner some weeks ago. It... would appear, therefore, that the...
R. A. F. has devised a signal... system that has checkmated the...
latest Hitlerian device.

"Except for one fighter which...
failed to return from the engage-... ment, the only loss suffered by...
the British forces was some dam-... age to a destroyer and the sink-... ing of a trawler, the Loch Lomond.
The gallant skipper, whose name...
had not yet been ascertained as...
this edition went to press, found... himself near a U-boat that had...
apparently been driven to the... surface by depth-charges."

Rollins smiled sadly to himself.
He was recalling the ruddy-faced...
Scot who had stood on the bridge...
and waved merrily as he passed...
the troop ships back in the Ca-... nadian port while the men sang...
the song suggested by the paint-...
over name on the bow.

It was evening when Greg... landed in Waterloo Station. For...
the first time, the lieutenant found...
himself in something of a quan-... dary. Where would he go? Lon-... don was cloaked in its nightly...
blackout shadows, and there was...
nothing to be seen by pedestrians.
A roast beef dinner at Simpson's... might be the best bet. He felt...
his way gingerly into a cab.

"To Simpson's," driver, and...
there's no hurry." He settled back... in the darkness, then leaned for-... ward again, tapping the glass.
"Could you drive me, instead, to... a restaurant on Greek Street in... the Soho? It's called the 'Wel-... come Snail'."

In the gloom of the cab, Rollins'... face was lined with a whimsical...
smile. This would have been a... glorious night if he had been on...
his way to a meeting with Joan.
He mentally pictured the scene, and...
even imagined how she would...
look, what they would talk about...
and... He shook his head. This... was tearing open wounds that had...
cut deeply into his very being.
