All Can Serve-Including Lindbergh

It is not a time to harbor past grudges, to brood over past mistakes, to moon over might-have-beens. A lot of slates were wiped clean on December 7, 1941. In a sense everything began from the beginning on that day. It is what we do now and hereafter that counts. What we thought or did not think, did or did not do, before that day when actual war came, is all tinged with unreality.

In this war for our existence, every man and woman must bear a share; every hand will be needed.

A man named Charles Augustus Lindbergh trained 17 years ago as an Army flyer. Later the holder of a reserve commission which he resigned April 28, 1941, he now wishes to be of service again. Though this man was against American involvement in war, so were many others. Yet since war has come, they wish to serve. Though this man repeatedly said that the war could not be won, and that to send military supplies to the Philippines was to strip American home defense, he probably realizes now that the war MUST be won. CAN be won, and WILL be won.

It would be a mistake to reject the services of any man today who can prove by action that he is willing to help. It is today's action, not yesterday's word, that is the measure.

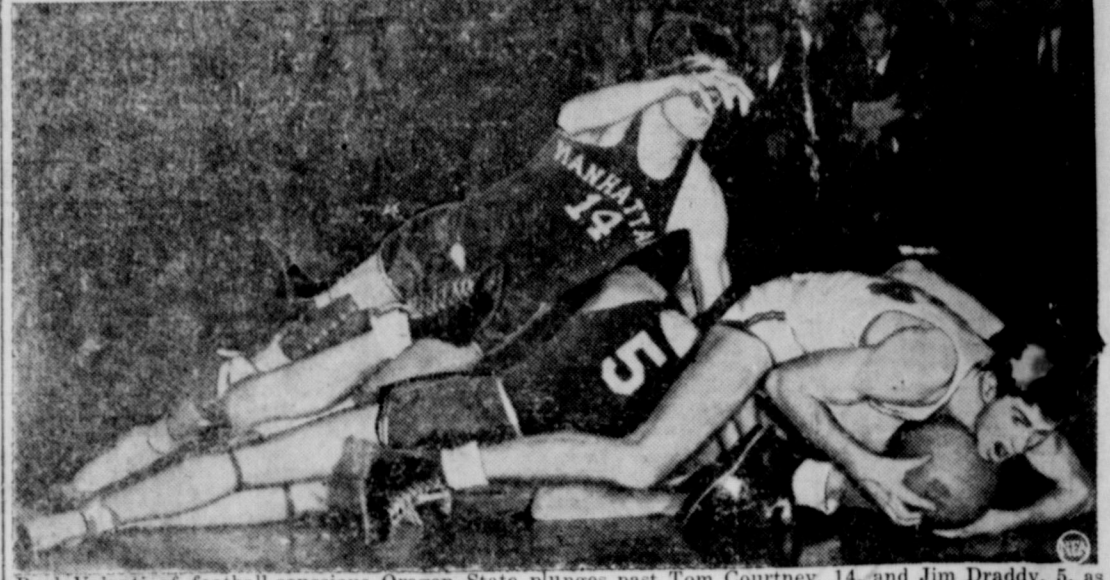

Nothing would be gained by making an issue of Lindbergh's case. As a matter of fact, it is not highly important.

Lindbergh trained as an Army flying cadet at Kelly and Brooks fields 17 years ago. He flew the mail briefly. He became a captain in the Missouri National Guard. After his civilian flight to Paris he was given a colonelcy which was largely honorary. He served brief tours of active duty in 1925, 1927, and 1939, the last largely insubstantial. He has never done the refresher flying required of reserve officers, since his civilian flying was regarded as an equivalent. He learned much of European air forces, did considerable valuable exploratory work on routes abroad, all of which has been reported on and is presumed to have been available to the Army for several years. He is 39 years old, too old to fly actively in combat or to assume field command, for which he is not trained anyway. The Army has plenty of officers who trained as cadets at the same time as Lindbergh who have the whole intervening 17 years to the air service.

Lindbergh's experience, unique as it is, should be used, and used in whatever way the Army authorities believe it most serviceable. The day war came, Lindbergh became just another man like all other men, with certain qualifications which the country should use to the best advantage.

Year Of Service Is Urged For Youths

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (UP) A noted New York educator and sociologist agrees that compulsory service is necessary to maintaining democracy—but he does not believe that military training provides the whole answer. Dr. Henry Neumann, head of the Brooklyn, N. Y., ethical culture society, told Utah educators: "No mere daily drill or obeying orders can compare with the self-training which people give themselves heartily when they prepare for their life work."

"Rather than military training, the lasting need for discipline as citizens in a democracy could be met better by athletics and a program of hard work in homes, schools, shops and fields."

Neumann advocated a year of work-service for every American youth—boy or girl.

HIS CHRISTMAS CAROL

BY ADELAIDE HAZELTINE

COPYRIGHT, 1941, NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: The terms of Andrew Dearborn's will specifying that his secretary Carol, and five other employees, shall judge whether or not his playboy son Andy is running the business according to his father's policy of "service to the people," put Carol, who has loved Andy since girlhood, in a difficult spot. Her heart sinks when Andy, currently involved with sleek Linda Julian, turns management over to unscrupulous Mr. Herrick, whose only idea is to make money. She knows that unless Andy mends his ways and takes over he will lose the store to charity by a vote of the strange "jury" the lost will provides for. Buck-passing Herrick blames employe Bill Reece for the toyland elevator accident that injures newshy Nicky, although Nicky discovers that Bill had reported the elevator's condition and was not to blame. Herrick also takes credit for cash adjustments made to customers in an effort to save the store's reputation. At the annual store party Andy kisses Carol, indicates he is through with Linda. Next day Carol finds the will's envelope in the vault, but the will is gone. Herrick then fires her for writing a resignation check for an employe he has dismissed, although again she was only following the Dearborn policy. She is at home that evening when Andy calls.

She had supposed he would be indifferent. He should be saying Mr. Herrick was right. Instead he followed her into the living room of her small apartment and said, "We can't be without you. We won't hold the check against you. Everybody makes mistakes." "It wasn't a mistake," she said quickly. "I did it because you wouldn't!" "You're exaggerating the importance of it. I told Mr. Herrick you meant well. I've fixed it up with him. You're to come back." "Fixed it up with Mr. Herrick? That's just it, Andy Dearborn! Why should you have to fix things up with him? Who's running the store, you or Mr. Herrick?" He tried to answer. She rushed on. "There's no use." The words fell over one another in their urge to be said. "It's not just me. One person doesn't matter. It's everybody! It's Mrs. Milligan and Mrs. Grover." Go on, look up their checks, she thought wildly. You'll find out who wrote them. Aloud, she continued, "Dozens and dozens of others you know nothing about. It's Mary Todd and Bill Reece. It's Miss Fanny. Mr. Herrick is ruining the store your father spent fifty years building!"

ANDY PLEADS

CHAPTER XIV

ANDY was standing in the dimness of Carol's porch, hat in hand. He was unsmiling. "This is like drowning," Carol thought, her head whirling with the memories that passed in mad parade through her mind in the moment between her opening of the door and Andy's first words. "This is the way they say people feel when life is slipping away from them and they try to hold onto it with remembering."

She didn't intend to eavesdrop but Andy's angry words held her attention. She listened, instinctively concealing her presence. "The game's up, Herrick!" Andy was saying. "I've found out enough today to convince myself that you're wrong. Wrong in every policy you ever advocated." "You can't say that, Andy," Mr. Herrick answered. "You don't know anything about running a store."

It was not just Andy Dearborn, playboy-executive, that she saw before her. She saw, too, a shy boy returning from military school and giving her a half-smile as he passed through the store when she was working there on Saturdays. She remembered a blue dress she had worn and her eyes laughing back at her in a mirror as she smoothed her hair before a store party—ever so long ago. She recalled a dance with an earnest young Andy Dearborn, and a secretary's anger with an indolent Andy Dearborn, hundreds of miles away, as his checks for sums twice her yearly salary passed into her hands for filing.

"I trust you, Carol," the father had said. And remembering the words, the kindly, quiet tones in which they were spoken, she remembered, too, that she had sensed in them a warning of heartbreak. Was it fair, her heart seemed to cry, that any girl, any weakly human creature, should be given a greater responsibility

"Oh, no, I'm not. I'm taking Bill Reece's word for it. I went to him myself and got the whole story out of him." (To Be Continued)

WE-ALL

The Japanese attack on the United States instantly changed our trend of thought in this country.

Before that attack some of us thought in terms of "I", others in terms of "we". Neither of those terms expresses our feelings today.

"I" represents only one person.

"We" may mean only two or a few persons.

Our slogan now is WE-ALL, which means every loyal individual in the United States.

We are facing a long, hard job, but when the United States decides to fight for a cause, it is in terms of WE-ALL, and nothing can or will stop us.

President Roosevelt, our Commander-in-Chief, can be certain that WE-ALL are back of him, determined to protect our country, our form of government, and the freedoms which we cherish.

California Auto Taxes Are Lowest

SACRAMENTO, Cal. (UP) — Frank W. Clark, director of public works, has drawn up a list of nine reasons why California is the motorist's "Eden."

Those already here, he declares, are the luckiest in the country.

He has ascertained: That the cost of the individual motorist for the state highway system was only $13.75 last year, the lowest in the nation.

That the average cost per vehicle for fuel tax and registration fees was $22.99, again the lowest of the 48 states, Florida, which tops the list, had an average of $67.70.

In motor vehicle registration, California led the list of states with 2,810,566, topping New York which had 2,778,312.

California is one of the 10 states which has a gasoline tax of only 3 cents. Only one state, Missouri, has a lower tax, while 37 have taxes ranging from 4 to 7 cents.

Despite this, California ranked third in total net revenue from state gasoline taxes with $51,960,000, surpassed only by New York and Pennsylvania. Of that amount the division of highways was allotted $34,640,000 for the further improvement and construction of still more roads.

In motor vehicle receipts, California ranks ninth with $12,647,000. This does not include the so-called "in lieu" tax.

In combined revenue from motor vehicle fees and gasoline taxes, California ranks fifth, with a total of $64,607,000, led only by New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Texas.

Woman Authority On Machine Guns Gives Girls Advice

CLEVELAND (UP) — Women are now being employed in war industries, but the experience is not new for Miss Julie Resick here who went to work on machine guns in 1917 and has remained as a first class mechanic ever since with the National Machine Tool Company.

Miss Resick, now 40, has this advice for girls starting out on a factory job.

"Don't try to show the men how well you can do the job. That arouses resentment. Just do your work and don't bother anyone and don't talk too much."

As for the job itself she says: "A machine shop is usually the last place a girl would think of working but for the mechanically minded there is a great deal of satisfaction in a job like this."

"The work is clean and well paid and seems to get easier each year. I remember when I first went to work on a hand milling machine back in 1917. Now I operate as many as eight power machines and grinders without being overworked."

Bee Sting Blamed For An Auto Crash

By United Press TULARE, Cal. — Highway Patrolman L. R. Van Gorden asserts a honey bee wrecked two cars on the Golden State highway, main San Joaquin Valley thoroughfare between northern and southern California.

Van Gorden said Russell Small, 29, San Francisco, was stung in the eye by a bee as he was driving south on the highway and swung his car over the center line, causing Paul Aelis, 46, of Bakersfield, who was driving north, to swing his car to the right and crash into a culvert.

All Unpatriotic Plans Condemned By Legion Post

The following resolution was passed by Dulin-Daniel Post No. 70 of the Eastland American Legion.

WHEREAS, the state of war now existing between the United States and Japan, Germany, and Italy, has united the people of our great country as they have never been united before, creating in their minds the wholehearted willingness to serve in any capacity called upon, with their materials, money, and even lives, and

WHEREAS, said peoples, in their willingness to help with their materials and money, may be persuaded to support unworthy causes, organizations, projects, and institutions, which doubtless will be presented for their consideration from time to time during the present emergency, and

WHEREAS, it has come to the attention of the American Legion that such unworthy causes, organizations, projects and institutions have already sprung up over the country, and are now operating in certain localities, soliciting funds and other materials, seemingly for the benefit and profit of the promoters only, and

WHEREAS, The American Legion believes that such promotions and schemes to fleece the American people by appealing to their patriotism, the love of country, sympathy of down-trodden people of other nations, and the unfortunate and underprivileged, are un-American, un-democratic, and criminal in intent and purpose.

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that Dulin-Daniel Post No. 70, The American Legion, Department of Texas, go on record as condemning such practices as being un-American, un-democratic, and criminal, and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that Dulin-Daniel Post No. 70, The American Legion, Department of Texas, take such steps that are deemed necessary to curb any and all such selfish and criminal promotions, as above mentioned, should they be presented to the people of the City of Eastland, and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that a copy of these resolutions be incorporated in the minutes of this called meeting of the Dulin-Daniel Post No. 70, The American Legion, Department of Texas, and also that copies of these resolutions be presented to the newspapers of Eastland for publication, so that the people of the City of Eastland may be duly warned against the above mentioned practices, and that cooperation by the citizenship may be invited so as to properly deal with any such promotions when and if the occasion arrives, and that other copies be mailed to the National Headquarters, and to the Departmental Headquarters of Texas of the American Legion.

The foregoing is a true copy of the resolutions passed by this Post in called meeting of December 12, 1941.

Herbert Reed, Adjutant, Dulin-Daniel Post No. 70, The American Legion, Eastland, Texas.

Certificate Will Be Needed Before Car Is Registered

Tax Assessor-Collector Clyde Karkelite, today warned all motorists, again, that they must obtain a certificate of title to their automobile before they can be registered this year.

Applications for certificate of title can be made through the assessor-collector's office, upon submission of proof of ownership of the automobile.

The application then is forwarded to Austin, and it has taken from two to four weeks to get them back, approved. Until this is done no automobile may be registered for the year 1942. Karkelite warned.

With last minute rush there likely will be many who will not have title, Karkelite stated, and it may, in the future, take even longer than the two to four weeks necessary in the past, so those who wait will be out of luck, and will be unable to register or operate their automobiles.

There are still many in the county who have not obtained this certificate, and who must do so between now and the time for registering their cars. This, no doubt, will cause a rush which will result in delays and inconvenience.

Eastland Legion Called To Meet Wednesday Night
