FRENCH PREMIER PROMISES HELP IN LABOR'S DEMANDS

Witnesses Assert Minister Carried Guns With Him

State Rests In Eskridge Trial After Presenting Testimony About Pastor's 'Arsenal' When Arrested

HOUSTON, June 5. (AP)—The state rested today in the murder trial of Rev. Edgar Eskridge, after introducing in evidence a small arsenal witnesses said the preacher had in his automobile when Louisiana officers arrested him for the shotgun slaying of Ed O'Reilly, chief of police at Orange.

Dutch Lacaze, DeRidder, La., police chief, testified the minister had ammunition for each weapon.

The defense, although hinting self-defense in cross-examination of state witnesses, opened with testimony that a number of relatives of Eskridge were insane.

Opening their case yesterday with testimony that Eskridge became a self-appointed, two-gun law enforcer, state attorneys later called witnesses who told of seeing the tall, gaunt preacher shoot O'Reilly to death with a shotgun on the streets of Orange May 29, 1935.

The defense, subjecting witnesses to severe examination concerning asserted threats against the preacher's life, strongly indicated a basis for a plea of self defense coupled with temporary insanity.

The state called a number of witnesses who testified that Eskridge had panned peace officers from the pulpit and the streets and that the day before the shooting O'Reilly took a pistol from him.

James Neff, Orange county attorney, testified that on the day before the killing, O'Reilly took the minister to the county attorney's office for a conference concerning the carrying of pistols.

Neff said Eskridge asserted that he had a deputy's commission from the sheriff at Newton and that when the minister was told the commission had expired and had never given him authority in Orange county the defendant agreed to quit carrying pistols.

Discussed Lunacy Charge Under cross examination Neff said officials had talked with Dr. Wynne Pearce of the possibility of filing lunacy charge against Eskridge but that no action was taken.

While the state dealt mainly with the disarming of Eskridge after he assertedly helped two Texas rangers raid the Silver Slipper, a night spot near Orange, the defense centered questioning on alleged threats against the minister's life.

Louis Sholars, Orange druggist, who said he talked with Eskridge the day of the shooting, quoted the minister as saying:

"The officers plan to kill me. In the morning I am going to give Ed his card. He told me he'd shoot my brains out if I didn't give up my guns."

Sholars said Eskridge had complained of being "dehorned, disarmed."

Both of the local women won their quarter-final matches with ease. Mrs. Hicks defeated Mrs. Charles Worley, 8-6, and Mrs. Phillips showed much improvement in beating Mrs. Stalcup, 7-6. She meets Mrs. Vernon tomorrow.

Mrs. Hicks will take the role of the favorite Saturday when she and Mrs. Worrell tee off for the right to go into the finals. The local woman has been shooting consistently well, hovering around par throughout the meet.

Mrs. Worrell stepped through their quarter-final match by stopping another Clovis woman, Mrs. Hugh Skiles, one up on 19 holes.

Mrs. Travis Read was the victim of Mrs. Vernon in her quarter-final match. The Abilene woman won out, 5-3.

Championship consolation matches included Mrs. Obie Bristow's 3-2 win over Mrs. Guy McAfee of Lubbock and a 3-1 victory by Mrs. M. H. Bennett over Mrs. C. Brown.

In the first flight battles, Mrs. Bill Miner of Abilene defeated Mrs. E. V. Spence, 6-5, Mrs. Carl Mahan of Abilene won out over Mrs. E. O. Ellington, 2-1, and Mrs. W. F. Helwig of Lubbock defeated Mrs. Charles Akey, 2-1.

In the second flight's only match, Mrs. Val Latson won out over Mrs. A. Swartz, one up on 19 holes.

The strange combination of rain and sun has seriously damaged crops in some sections of the county during this week.

While most of the county was seeking to prevent blows from a strong southwesterly wind, a strip across the northwestern corner of the county was hardest hit by rain and hail.

Apparently a part of the storm which caused considerable damage in Midland Wednesday night, the rain covered a five-mile belt across part of Martin county and spanned the northwestern part of Howard county.

Rain, accompanied by a generous dose of hail, pommelled crops into the ground. The fall in this county averaged three inches in the strip.

Wind was doing its worst damage in the deep sandy sections but was not as much of a menace as formerly since many crops are not yet up.

Midland Will Vote Saturday On Bond Issue For School

MIDLAND, June 5.—Property tax paying voters of Midland Independent school district No. 1 will go to the polls Saturday to vote on a proposed bond issue of $75,000 for construction of a new building to replace the present north elementary school.

The election was ordered recently upon submission of a petition signed by the required number of voters.

Polls will be open at the high school auditorium between the hours of 8 a. m. and 7 p. m. with John P. Butler manager of the election.

Will Support Short Week, New Contract

Makes Appeal Against Disorders; Strike Continues To Spread

PARIS, June 5. (AP)—Premier Leon Blum broadcast an appeal today to a half million of France's workers to avoid disorders, promising he would try to pass a 40-hour week law.

Blum also promised to ask parliament to vote authorization of collective contracts and paid vacations, the three principal reforms "demanded by the labor world."

While the new premier was speaking, strikes closed the large food stores and meat establishments of Paris.

Blames Employers Blum intimated he considered employers largely responsible for the strike chaos. His speech brought a rush of buying orders on the Bourse (stock exchange).

Apparently out of control of the men who started them, the strikes fast were becoming general. Paris was without newspapers because employees of all distributing agencies struck. A strike of gasoline and oil distributors halved the number of taxicabs on the streets.

Delivery truck men of the Nord railway joined the strike also.

More than 400,000 workers in more than 360 factories were idle—many of them in "siege" strikes in which they remained camped day and night in the plants.

They struck even though they knew they were causing grave anxiety to their own leaders, in order to make it plain that, with the trend toward the left wing shown in the recent general election, they were determined to wring from employers at any cost higher wages, a shorter working week and a closed shop.

Workers in the highly unionized civil service, which includes men in the government operated telephone, telegraph and railway industries, were considering whether to join them.

So, China Forces Are Mobilized For A March On Japs

CANTON, China, June 5. (AP)—The Southwestern political council tonight ordered the South China combined provincial armies to mobilize in an anti-Japanese expedition into the North.

The council's mandate directed that the troops of Kwangtung and Kwangsi provinces be merged into a "people's revolutionary anti-Japanese national salvation army" for the expedition.

A number of persons were arrested for discussing the political situation in public. Food prices were soaring.

Reports from Hsinhsiang, Honan province, said seven Chinese spies in the pay of Japan were caught and summarily executed.

TWO COONS DONATED TO THE CITY PARK

Two coons—or raccoons, if you prefer—will grace the city park animal cage henceforth.

The city obtained a pair of coons from Joe Wood, who made the capture near San Saba.

Both are young and the male member of the family is a very scrappy fellow. They will be placed in the squirrel cage at the park.

FIREMEN CHOOSE BIG BULL SNAKE AS PET

City firemen have some queer ideas on the subject of pets. Their latest love is a five-foot bull snake which has the full range of the patio in the city hall.

As a companion, the big eating serpent has a small chicken snake, first to strike the fancy of the firemen.

CHESTER C. DAVIS IS NAMED TO PLACE ON FED. RESERVE BOARD

WASHINGTON, June 5. (AP)—President Roosevelt today nominated Chester C. Davis of Maryland, present farm administrator, to be a member of the board of governors of the federal reserve system for an eight-year term.

COMMITTEES RUSH PLANS FOR ENTERTAINMENT ON JULY 4TH

Reports by two committees Friday indicated that plans for the July 4th celebration here were rapidly taking shape.

Preliminary plans for a softball tournament and a bathing revue were submitted to the control committee by M. K. House and J. Y. Robb, chairman of the sub-committee in charge.

The report by House outlined plans for a 16-team tournament if that many teams can be interested with prizes for the three winning teams and individual awards to the team

Colleagues In Congress Pay Byrns Tribute

Fellow Members Honor Memory Of Late Speaker At State Funeral

WASHINGTON, June 5. (AP)—Joseph Wellington Byrns, lying in state before the rostrum from which he guided the house of representatives through history-making times, was honored by President Roosevelt and the nation today.

William B. Bankhead of Alabama, the new house speaker, spoke of Byrns' deeds and sudden death, saying "there was no little in this man."

Rep. Bertrand Snell of New York, republican leader, spoke of the dead legislator as "my personal friend and colleague, Joe Byrns."

The president arrived shortly before noon. Members of the house and crowds in the gallery stood, and heads were bowed as Dr. James Shera Montgomery, the house chaplain, opened the service.

His voice breaking, the chaplain said, "Our beloved speaker has left us."

Following the state funeral here, the body was to be taken to Nashville, Tenn., for burial rites Saturday.

President Roosevelt and other high officials will attend the funeral at Nashville.

Congress To Be In Recess Through GOP Convention

WASHINGTON, June 5. (AP)—The house and senate today adopted a concurrent resolution providing that when congress adjourns next Monday, it will stand in recess until June 15.

The recess was agreed upon because of the republican national convention opening in Cleveland next week. Hopes of adjourning the session before the opening of the convention were shattered with the death of House Speaker Joseph W. Byrns.

MARATHON RACE DRAWS PROTEST OF HIGHWAY OFFICIALS

AUSTIN, June 5. (AP)—John Wood, member of the state highway commission, and J. B. Early, chief maintenance engineer, today protested to Governor Alfred D. Atorney General McCraw and the Dallas Humane Society against the marathon horse race from Lampasas to Dallas.

They declared the race inhumane and that the highways should not be put to such uses.

The race, a 185-mile run from Lampasas to Dallas, was planned as a Centennial opening feature.

TO ATTEND REUNION Cecil Collins, district attorney, left Friday afternoon for Meridian to attend a reunion of ex-students of the old Meridian (Methodist) college. The school, which operated for about 20 years, has been defunct for the past decade. It was a junior college.

Injunction Of Utility Firms Is Dismissed

Federal Judge Holds Projects Carried Out Under Emergency Statutes

WASHINGTON, June 5. (AP)—Chief Justice Alfred Wheat of the District of Columbia supreme court today upheld the constitutionality of the Public Works administration's $203,000,000 power program in dismissing an injunction suit against 10 municipal projects in four states.

His ruling held that the plaintiffs, the Alabama Power company, the Texas Utilities company, the Oklahoma Utilities company and the Iowa Light and Power company, had the right to bring suit to question the validity of power projects, but held that the statutes under which the projects are being carried out—the national industrial recovery and emergency relief acts of 1935—are constitutional.

The suits affected in the ruling involved PWA allocations in 10 cities in Alabama, Texas, Oklahoma and Iowa.

Suit On Texas Projects Postponed To Dec. 1

WASHINGTON, June 5. (UP)—Attorneys have agreed to postpone until Dec. 1 trial of the constitutionality of federal allocations for two Texas flood control, irrigation and hydro-electric projects.

Justice Oscar Lubling of District of Columbia supreme court signed a new temporary injunction blocking any move to install power features of the $20,000,000 Lower Colorado river and $30,000,000 Brazos river system, but permitting flood control work to proceed. The document superseded a temporary restraining order which originally called for the trial to begin last month.

Both federal and power company attorneys said the postponement was sought in the hope that the supreme court might decide major issues in this and similar cases in a suit filed by the Duke Power company to block a power project in South Carolina.

"What we're trying to do is to co-operate with the government as far as flood control is concerned but protect our rights to challenge the validity of this subsidized power program," said John P. Bullington, Washington representative of seven Texas power companies which brought suit here several months ago.

Bond Payment Plans Talked

Bonus Money Ready For Distribution Here On June 16th

Postmasters from eight towns in this area heard L. O. Taylor, post office inspector, explain details of distributing bonds covering the payment of adjusted service certificates here Thursday afternoon.

According to Taylor, the bonds will be dispatched from Dallas on June 15 and may be ready for distribution here the following day.

Nat Shick, Big Spring postmaster, said that one window would be reserved for issuance of the bonds to those who called at the office while two desks will be maintained for those who desire to cash their bonds.

The local office will certify the bonds and transmit them to Dallas where the owner will have a check mailed him in full payment.

Attending the meeting here Thursday were Ida Bell Mashburn, assistant postmaster at Stanton; Sam H. Stamps, Martin county rural mail carrier; Mrs. Pauline Rutledge, Vincent; Vera Harris, Foran; S. J. Foreman, Lenora; W. T. Henderson, Odessa, and John P. Howe, Midland.

ELABORATE KEY TO OPEN CENTENNIAL GATES

The most gorgeous and expensive key ever manufactured, of solid gold and inlaid with diamonds and precious stones from the different countries of the world, will be used by Secretary of Commerce David C.

Roper to spring the lock of turnstile No. 1, main entrance of the Texas Centennial exposition, on noon, June 6. The key carries a crystal flint stone from the homestead where David Crockett was born, 10 miles from Greenville, Tenn. In addition to the gems from all nations the key carries four festoons of pearls valued at $35,000 and is bordered with closely set pure white diamonds.

Local Woman Succumbs To Bullet Wound

Mrs. T. B. Hoover, 24, Dies Instantly From Effects Of Rifle Shot

Tragedy struck with stunning swiftness in Big Spring early Friday when Mrs. T. B. Hoover, wife of a local physician and member of the nursing staff at the Big Spring hospital died in the couple's hotel apartment from effects of a bullet wound in the head.

Mrs. Hoover's body was found in the living room of the apartment by her husband, who had been awakened in the next-door bedroom by the sound of a gun shot. Nearby lay a 22 calibre rifle. A shot had entered the head above the bridge of the nose, and ranged upward to the rear of the head. Death was instantaneous.

Occurred About 5 A. M. The tragedy occurred shortly after 5 o'clock. Mrs. Hoover apparently had arisen, as was her custom, to go on duty at the hospital at 6 o'clock, investigating authorities said. Dr. Hoover told officials he had roused slightly when his wife got up, dozed again and was awakened by the sound of the shot.

Justice of the Peace J. H. Hefley, after a coroner's inquest Friday morning, said a verdict of suicide would be returned. No motive for the act could be established.

Word of Mrs. Hoover's death evoked general expression of grief over Big Spring, the couple being widely and popularly known here.

Dr. and Mrs. Hoover would have been married one year on June 15. She was 24 years old.

Born In Louisiana Floyce Jules Ellis Hoover was born March 25, 1912 at Hammond, La. She came here to join the hospital staff about two and one-half years ago, coming from New Orleans, where she had been associated with the Touro Infirmary.

Mrs. Hoover was a member of the Methodist church. Recently she had been elected parliamentarian of the local Women's Medical auxiliary.

Funeral arrangements, under direction of the Eberley Funeral home, were incomplete, pending word from relatives. Burial will be in Big Spring, however, and rites probably will be said Sunday.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Hoover is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Ellis of Hammond, La., and five brothers, J. M., Jr., Carre, Clyde, Joe and Stanley Ellis.

CITY OFFICIALS AT ANGELO CONVENTION

City Manager E. V. Spence, accompanied by Commissioners J. W. Allen and Leo Nall, left Friday morning for San Angelo to attend the regional meeting sponsored by the Texas League of Municipalities. The meeting is one of a series being staged by the league over the state.

Elaborate Program On Radio To Mark Dallas Event

DALLAS, June 5.—With the addition of 2,000 men yesterday, 15,000 laborers worked rapidly today to put finishing touches on the mammoth Texas Centennial exposition, chief celebration of the state's $25,000,000 birthday party which opens Saturday.

Like magic, unfinished structures were hurried toward completion; landscaping given its final touch and last coats of paint daubed on buildings over the 200 acres.

General Manager William A. Webb beamed at the progress and said the show would be ready. Officials even predicted the entire exposition grounds, caked with mud a week ago, would be "a green lawn by daylight Saturday."

Finishing Interiors Huge exhibit halls were beshelved, with carpenters, painters and electricians scurrying back and forth to lend finishing touches to the interiors. Cleanup squads washed pavements, mowed grass not yet 12 hours in the ground, cleared away timbers and retouched soiled surfaces.

Exhibitors and showmen were given final warning they must have booths and buildings ready by 7 a. m. Saturday or board them up. Further construction work would be done after gates are closed each midnight.

Roper Due Saturday Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper, President Roosevelt's representative at the opening, sent word from Washington he would arrive early Saturday. Plans for the opening ceremony, including a world-wide radio broadcast, in which Spanish, French, Mexican, Confederate, Lone Star Republic and United States representatives, speaking for the governments under which Texas has served, will participate, were completed.

The radio program will be one of the most elaborately complete ever arranged. Ted Husing, CBS ace, and a crack announcer from NBC will be here to handle two of the programs.

First opening news of the world's fair of 1936 will be a bird's-eye view, broadcast to the world from

Sale Of Port Taken Up By Bondholders

Security Owners Meet To Arrange Final Transfer Of Property

Final arrangements for the transfer of property of the Big Spring Airport corporation to the city of Big Spring were to be made in a meeting of the port stock and bondholders at 4 p. m. in the Settles today.

Officers in the corporation were making an effort to have a large majority of the stock and bondholders present since 80 per cent of the stockholders must be represented. Several proxies were turned in during the morning.

The city, in accordance with a vote of the people on May 15, will take over the airport at a figure of $36,000, about 50 cents on the dollar of the original investment.

Friday C. R. Smith, president of American Airlines, wrote the chamber of commerce expressing pleasure in the outcome of the election here and offered the service of the company's engineers in helping design any improvements to the port.

The ballot in the election carried $6,000 in addition to the purchase total for improvement purposes.

Spratt Quits State Race

Withdrawal Leaves Metcalfe Unopposed In District Contest

Announcement was made in San Antonio yesterday that Jack Spratt of that city is abandoning his campaign for state representative from the 91st district, to become associate editor of the Southwestern Sheep and Goat Raiser, official publication of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' association, published at San Angelo.

His withdrawal from the campaign leaves Penrose B. Metcalfe unopposed for the office of representative. Howard county is included in this district.

Spratt had made two trips to Big Spring in recent months in the interest of his campaign. Metcalfe also has been a visitor here several times recently.

In a statement, Spratt said he had come to the conclusion, after several months of debate, that he could be of greater service to West Texas in connection with the magazine than he could as state representative.

"I regret very much to disappoint my friends who have given me every aid and encouragement in my campaign for representative, but I feel that the conclusion I have arrived at is best for me, and I hope I will prove of greater service to this section of the country through the Southwestern Sheep and Goat Raiser."

ON THE GOLF BEAT:

This telegram came this morning: "Chairman Golf Tournament Committee:—We extend to you a cordial invitation to attend our third annual New Mexico and West Texas open tournament June 26-28. A special flight for ladies. Attractive prizes for medalist, winner and runner-up in the championship and consolation flights. Entertainment galore. Come and see us for a big time."

"Shorty Hornbuckle," Chairman Tourney Committee. There has been a great deal of discussion about grass greens at the country club. Obie Bristow, former country club president, does not believe the club can finance the installation of grass putting carpets. However, he admits they would be nice.

Mrs. Chas. Worley, wife of the country club manager, was a mighty proud golfer after her first round match yesterday, and she had a right to be. She defeated Mrs. Guy McAfee of Lubbock, 5 and 4. Mrs. McAfee was seven down at nine holes.

Mrs. Obie Bristow had a good golf yarn to tell after making a round with Mrs. Theron Hicks. They were approaching on No. 2 and Mrs. Hicks' shot went in the cup. Mrs. Bristow was also unusually accurate, but her ball bounced out.

Mrs. Helwig of Lubbock, playing Mrs. M. E. Tatum of Big Spring, staged a big rally Thursday. She was three down with three to go and won the next four holes to take the match.

The Lubbock Country club, so advises Mrs. Guy McAfee, is installing grass greens, and the new putting surfaces will be ready for use about August 1.

Rally In Seventh Frame Gives Odessa Broncos 2-1 Win Over Oilers

WORRELL DEFEATS H. SKILES

Mrs. Chas. Worley of Big Spring, who pulled a mild upset Thursday in the first round of the women's invitation golf tournament by defeating Mrs. Guy McAfee of Lubbock, a veteran tournament golfer, was an easy target in the second round this morning for Mrs. Theron Hicks, who won the match 8 and 6. Mrs. Hicks was medalist and had been shooting consistent golf.

She was five up on Mrs. Worley at nine holes. Mrs. Hicks had a 43, four over par. She scored a 4-5, one over women's par, before the match ended on the 12th.

Mrs. Gordon Phillips, who had a struggle yesterday with Mrs. Ed Bove of Fort Worth, looked good in winning her second round match from Mrs. Harry Stalcup, 7 and 6. Mrs. Rhea Vernon of Abilene was still in the running. At the nine-hole mark at noon today she was 2 up on Mrs. Travis Read of Big Spring.

Mrs. C. E. Worrell of Clovis, N. M., won her second round championship flight by defeating Mrs. Hugh Skiles, also of Clovis, 1 up 19 holes.

In championship consolation matches, Mrs. Obie Bristow of Big Spring was 2 up on Mrs. Guy McAfee at 9 holes. Mrs. M. H. Bennett was 2 up on Mrs. C. L. Browning and Mrs. Ralph Rix was 4 up on Mrs. Ruth at the turn.

Mrs. Hicks breezed through her first round match Thursday with ease, defeating Mrs. Obie Bristow 6 and 5.

AAU Lightweight Champ Turns In 20 Consecutive Victories As Pro

ST. LOUIS, June 5 (UP)—A year ago Billy Beahnd of St. Louis won the lightweight championship of the National A. A. U.

Today, slightly more than 12 months later, Billy has turned in 20 consecutive victories as a professional.

Beahnd turned pro in 1935 immediately after winning the amateur crown, went east and chalked up 19 consecutive triumphs—seven by way of knock-outs.

He met Lorenzo Lovings of Chicago in his home town debut as a pro, May 8, and so effective was the ex-amateur champ that Referee Harry Cook gave him 10 rounds, one judge six, and the other five.

Neither of the judges gave Lovings a round as the Chicago negro absorbed a terrific beating.

Likes Slugging Opponents Beahnd is a fighter who likes to meet the punching type of opponent.

"They was all punchers in the east and look what I done to them," he remarked before the Lovings fight.

To Get More Seasoning Beahnd, 20, will get plenty of work before his manager, Johnny Connolly, makes any attempt to put him against the first 16 fighters in the lightweight division.

Billy makes his own fight, refusing to take his manager's advice before ring time. The only time he seeks out Connolly with a question is when he wants to refresh his memory in the matter of dates on past fights and similar data.

It may not be such a good system for some fighters, but Billy appears to be doing all right, 20 victories in 20 fights, 19 of them in New York and New Jersey.

Yates Will Defend Title Against Fast Field

By VICTOR F. HAAS

United Press Staff Correspondent OMAHA, June 5. (UP)—When Charley Yates of Atlanta steps up to the first tee at the Happy Hollow country club to open his defense of his Western Amateur golf title here July 14-19, he will face some of the strongest fields in the history of the tournament.

A Walker cup performer himself, Yates will have to fight off the challenges of four other Walker-cuppers if he is to retain the crown he won at Broadmoor last year. The Walker cup selections who will battle with Britain's finest at Clementon, N. J., include Johnny Goodman, Omaha; Walter Emery, Oklahoma City; Reynolds Smith, Dallas and Ed White, Bonham, Texas. All these stylists have informed Western officials that they intend to enter the No. 2 amateur event of the country.

The records of these men are outstanding. Goodman was runner-up in the National Amateur in 1932 and National Open title-holder in 1933; Yates, in addition to his Western crown, held the intercollegiate title in 1934; Emery was runner-up to Lawson Little in last year's national amateur and is also a former college champion; Smith won five-extra-hole matches in the 1935 National Amateur, and White is the present college titlist.

Scotty Campbell May Play Nor do these five compose the only competition for Yates. Rodney Bliss, Omaha, will be in the field, and there is a possibility that still another Walker-cupper, Albert (Scotty) Campbell may play. Bliss was medalist and finalist in the Western last year and is a three-time winner of the Nebraska Amateur title which he holds currently. Campbell is ranked over Johnny Goodman as the nation's No. 1 amateur.

In addition to Bliss and Campbell there'll be Spec Goldman, Jack Westland, Denmar Miller, Leland Hamman, Paul Jackson, Johnny Lehman, Gus Moreland and Fred Haas. One of the "grand old men of golf," Chick Evans is going to take one more crack at the tournament he has won eight times. And, to add a bit of the cinematic, Richard Arlen, Hollywood, may en-trouble during the round before she put Mrs. M. H. Bennett of Big Spring out, 3-2.

Mrs. Hugh Skiles, Clovis, N. M., showed strength in her 7-6 defeat of Mrs. H. B. Harkrider, Midland, as did Mrs. Travis Read in putting out Mrs. C. Browning of Big Spring, 5-4.

Mrs. Hicks Faces Test Mrs. C. E. Worrell, Clovis, N. M., eliminated Mrs. Carl Blomsheld of Big Spring, 6-5, and Mrs. Harry Stalcup walloped Mrs. Bob Hamilton of Midland, 7-6, to complete first round play in the championship flight.

First flight results, players from Big Spring unless otherwise noted: Mrs. E. C. Ellington defeated Mrs. L. C. Greager of Mineral Wells, 4-5. Mrs. Carl Mahan, Abilene, won from Mrs. J. Y. Robb, 3-2.

Mrs. W. F. Helwig, Lubbock, beat Mrs. M. E. Tatum, 1 up, 20 holes.

Mrs. Charles Akey won over Mrs. Bob Parks, 1-2. Mrs. Minter, Abilene, defeated Mrs. Lee Rogers, 6-4.

Mrs. E. V. Spence won over Mrs. F. A. Stacy, Midland, 3-1. Mrs. L. C. Shropshire, San Antonio, defeated Mrs. J. L. Rush, 1 up, 19 holes.

Mrs. H. L. Ellis won from Mrs. Ralph Rix, 1 up, 19 holes.

Labmen Beat Off Threats For 15-9 Win

Continental Pipeliner Defeated Thursday In A Wild Slugfest

Ernie Richardson's Chemists survived early inning uprisings and beat off late innings threats to defeat the Continental Pipeliner, 15-9, in a wild slugfest Thursday evening on the Mundy diamond.

The Conoco aggregation led until the fourth frame, due mainly to a four-run outburst in the first, and managed to stay on even terms until the seventh when three doubles and a brace of singles gave the Labmen three runs and the lead.

Frank McCleskey's three bingles took batting honors while Chambers stole the show for the oil field team with a home run and a single.

Grove Malone gave up 10 hits and survived a troublesome first inning to win, while Cleo Wilson was touched for 15.

SCOTTY USES LITTLE BERTHA

Campbell 'Oils' Club For The Walker Cup Matches

By FRANK GORRIE SEATTLE, June 5 (UP)—The British had better take to cover when Albert (Scotty) Campbell starts pulling the trigger on "Little Bertha" in the 1936 Walker cup golf matches.

"Little Bertha" is a niblick, the first steel-shafted club Scotty ever owned, a Christmas gift from his mother four years ago when he launched his competitive campaign. The 21-year-old Walker cup "freshman" carries so many sticks he ought to hire a horse instead of a caddy. But this niblick does all his fine and fancy work around the greens.

"Let me get within 100 yards of a hole and my troubles are over," says Scotty. "Little Bertha" will take care of the rest. He never misses—at least not often. If I lost her I'd have to quit."

The greatest shot "Little Bertha" ever sent to a green was in the Canadian amateur of 1934. "I was playing in the finals with Sandy Somerville and we came to the last hole all square," Scotty recalls. "With his third shot Sandy rolled up within six feet of the hole. I had a bad lie and 90 yards to go. I picked up Little Bertha and fired. My ball dropped dead 12 inches from the pin, laying Somerville in a stymie—and the match was over. That shot won me my second Canadian title."

American farmers own and operate 6,000,000 motor vehicles, 1,000,000 tractors, 300,000 lighting plants, 5,000 diesel engines, and large numbers of stationary engines, pumps and other machinery.

ter the tourney. Arlen will be on his way from picture-making in England and may stop in Omaha.

Course Is Exactng The beautiful Happy Hollow layout is an exacting course. The outgoing nine, which Bliss has consistently played in par or better, will be strengthened to the extent it may be more difficult than the in-coming nine which is a bug-aloe for many. "Happy" is young Bliss' home course so he is expected to make his greatest bid for the crown that has twice eluded him in the finals.

Par on the course is 36-36-72, but that doesn't tell half the grief it harbors in its sand-traps, narrow fairways, treacherous dog-legs and plain "marathon" five-par holes.

The layout starts with a 375-yard dog-leg and ends with an 18th hole on which anything can happen. The par-four 16th hole has been called one of the finest dog-legs in the country.

The course has every possible troublemaker from trees, a creek, an elevated green and a fairway so narrow the galleries are in danger if they don't wait until after all second shots are made. The hole measures 410 yards.

Blundering Bosses Of Baseball Give All-Star Game Back To Fans

NEW YORK, June 5 (UP)—Baseball's blundering bosses have given the all-star game back to the fans, but with reservations.

The major leagues broke faith with the public and press in previous inter-league all-star games, and they won't be given an opportunity to do it again in a hurry.

Commissioner Landis and Presidents Harridge and Erick of the American and National leagues continue to deny the customers one day and one contest in the season that they can call their own.

They have decided that the patrons can elect 16 of the 21 members of each of the clubs which are to collide in the Boston Bee Hive on July 7. Managers Mickey Cochrane and Grimm each is to pick five athletes for the array he heads.

The short-sighted directors of the big leagues evidently consider this a great concession on their part, although just why they refuse to let those who pay the freight have their fun is a mystery to showmen in every line.

Why not let the fans select all the players and managers, too?

And again the bigwigs have failed to make it mandatory for the managers to play the players named by the fans. This has been the customers' biggest complaint since the all-star game's inception in 1933.

Baseball Told Patrons To Mind Own Business

The baseball moguls made the concession only because they realize that perhaps it isn't such a bad idea to have 125 newspapers and other agencies gather 800,000 votes as was the case when the contest was played at the Polo Grounds in 1934.

Because the managers paid little or no attention to the voice of the trade the two previous summers, newspapers last year were less interested in conducting the campaigns and the fan lost his nerve for balloting.

In effect baseball put the chill in for its following, and its following didn't care to butt in where it was not wanted. It was plain that all baseball wanted from its patrons was what they paid at the gate.

For the past two summers, one great daily has devoted the space it gave to the all-star baseball game of 1933 to an early fall football meeting between all-star college graduates and a professional team. Similar grid-iron games are being played in two other large centers this autumn which means so much more loss of space for professional baseball.

Its refusal to let the fans have a hand in the pie resulted in the loss to professional baseball of columns and columns of free advertising and an in-computable amount of good will.

Solid Ivory Is Not Confined To Players

Just how much of this professional baseball can regain by its current half-hearted gesture is problematical.

Certainly the same newspapers which tried to be helpful before scarcely can be expected to steam up another of the polls when the results of previous ones have been meaningless. Surely, the fans hardly can be expected to rush to ballot boxes with votes for favorites, when experience has taught them that election is no assurance that they will have places in the line-up.

National Loop Wanted To Walk Out On Own Charity

Following the game at the Polo Grounds in 1934, the National league wanted to cancel the entire business, and probably would have done so but for the fact that it would have been guilty of walking out on its own charity.

Practically all of the net proceeds go to the Association of Professional Ball Players of America, designed to furnish financial assistance to sick and indigent players and umpires.

The games have been grand successes, the three of them playing to a total of 167,375 paid admissions and receipts of $306,574.

They have done much to increase interest in the business, despite the fact that the National League thus far has taken little interest in them with the result that the senior loop thrice has been beaten.

Solid ivory in baseball is not confined to the players.

HILL AND McDONALD IN TUSSLE

(By HANK HART) John Hill faltered in the seventh inning here Thursday afternoon to allow the Odessa Broncos to get men on bases and his mates did the rest as the visitors eked out a 2-1 victory over the Big Spring Oilers.

The Oilers committed two errors, but the mistakes proved more than enough to offset the great five-hit pitching of the youngster. The two Odessa runs came as a result of wild throws and bad judgment of ground balls.

Hill and "T-Bone" McDonald, ace of the Odessa pitching corps, had hooked up in a pitching duel that saw eighteen men go down in a row in the first three innings, but the Big Spring boy took the advantage when the Cosdenites earned their only run in the fifth.

Miller Harris was put about to begin that stanza and went around to score on Horace Wallin's base hit and "Mileaway" Baker's ground ball. The Oilers continued to make trouble that inning when Moffett and Spikes were issued free tickets to first and Hill got on as the result of a badly played ball, but Pepper Martin, whose beacon light swings had given him a hit in the fourth, failed to come through under pressure and whiffed at the third strike to end the uprising.

Hits by Terry, Parsons and McDonald enabled the visitors to count runs in the seventh.

Top Notch Golfers To Play In State Tourney

Golf Meet At Santone Starts Next Wednesday

(By United Press)

Leading golfers of the state will see off June 10 in the Texas Golf association's 30th annual tournament. Matches this year will be at the San Antonio country club.

For the first time in the history of the event, each Texas city will be permitted to enter two golfers. The new rule is expected to bring forth the largest as well as the best field ever to seek the Texas Golf association championship.

Harry Todd of Lakewood country club, Dallas, will hasten to San Antonio from the United States open at Springfield, N. J., to defend his title. Todd, Jack Munger and Jimmy McGonagill of Dallas, and Ben Hogan of Fort Worth are playing in the U. S. open.

Reynolds Smith, Dallas, one of two Texans who will play on the Walker cup team against England, Sept. 2 and 3 at Clementon, N. J., will be another favorite at San Antonio. Three other Dallas sharpshooters—Dave (Spec) Goldman, Don Schumacher, and O'Hara Watts—also stand high in the pre-tourney rating.

Captain Ken Rogers, the flying army officer, will carry the support of fellow San Antonians for the title. Rogers, a comparative unknown, mowed down all opposition in the recent Houston country club invitation mee. He beat Ed White, Bonham, in the final match. White, former University of Texas ace, is national intercollegiate champion and the second Texan selected for the 1936 Walker cup team.

Black Willford, San Antonio, is considered an outside contender for the championship. Others placed in a "dark horse" status include Hap Manning, Fort Worth; Willie McGuire, Jr., Houston; Leland Hamman, Paris; and Biley McCray, Denton.

Chickens!

(How Many?)
Fried chicken — nothing says it better served hot or cold and we have some of the best milk fed fryers in town, or for that matter, in the country. If you (Commissioner) Rutherford raised these so you know they're good and tender with the real milk-fed chicken flavor.

Roasting Ears

A tastier bit will never pass your lips than the excellent sweet, full grain roasting ears that we have secured for you and they are selling five for a dime.

Special

For Friday and Saturday we have lots of things that can be used in preparing one of those meals where there's not much cooking, such as Blue and White pork and beans for 5c; Sun Spun salad dressing, a quart for 35c or a pint for 25c; peanut butter that you can get a quart for a quarter. Then there's always pimentoes, ours are Red and White insuring goodness. You know they not only add to the taste of a dish but make it look simply swell. These sell 2 for 25c.

Staples

Naturally there's a time when every housewife has to buy the more staple merchandise so here's your chance to get a 48 pound sack of Red and White flour for $1.65 and eight pounds of compound for 55c.

Meats

This week in our market we are offering our wide assortment of cold sliced meats for 25c a pound. Creamery butter is going for 25c and sliced sugar cured bacon is a bargain for 25c. Dry salt jowls can be had for the measly sum of 15c. Some bargains, what?

Patty Has Too Many Clubs!

British Golfers Discuss Number Of Clubs Carried By Berg

LONDON, June 5 (UP)—An announcement by Patty Berg that her golf bag contains 21 clubs has revived an attempt by St. Andrews authorities to limit the number of clubs which may be used in championship play.

Patty, who has become extremely popular with British golfing fans, has had her picture taken numerous times showing all her clubs. Her equipment has been commented about in many British sporting columns.

Caddies, naturally, are solidly in support of limiting the number of clubs which may be used. They say American players as a rule carry more clubs and balls than British players.

In 1933, Olin Dutra, Spanish star from Santa Monica, Calif., while playing at St. Andrews, had 25 irons in his bag. He had difficulty in getting a caddy, and willingly paid an extra fee because of the size and weight of his bag.

Archie Compston believes too many clubs are a sign of "weakness."

"I use 11 clubs, two wooden ones and irons numbering one to nine," Compston said.

Alex Herd feels limitation of the number of clubs is a sound idea. "If I had my way," he declared, "I should not allow more than 10 clubs. If you cannot play with that number you cannot play with 20."

W. G. Oke, another professional, believes the minimum number of clubs required is six. He carries 14 in his bag, but two clubs are reserves.

States' Best Cagers Play For Coaches

SIoux CITY, Ia., June 5 (UP)—A battle between state championship high school basketball teams will feature Morningside college's annual coaching school at Spirit Lake next August.

Ames, winner of the Iowa title, will test its slow-breaking attack against the driving offense employed by Huron, winner of the South Dakota championship.

Ward (Piggy) Lambert, coach of Purdue's co-champions, will conduct the basketball coaching staff at the school.

Eclipse Study Planned For 19th Of June

Zone Of Totality Extends From Caucasus To Pacific Ocean

MOSCOW, June 5 (UP)—Preparations are making completion in Soviet Russia for the observation of the total eclipse of the sun which will be seen June 19 in a zone extending from the Caucasus across the Southern Urals and Siberia to the Pacific ocean.

Foundations for coelostats and other complex up-to-date installations have been erected in 18 main observation points in this zone.

Days before the eclipse, 25 Soviet and 11 foreign astronomical and geophysical expeditions will arrive in the zone. Some now are installing instruments and completing preparations for photographing all phases of the eclipse and studying the spectrum of the solar corona, the microstructure of the chromosphere of the sun and its corona.

Plans for Harvard Party
The chief astronomical observatory in Pulkovo is sending its expeditions to Siberia and the Southern Urals. They will be joined by expeditions of the Harvard university and by Italian astronomers.

A group of Soviet astronomers headed by V. G. Fessenkov and Prof. I. A. Kazansky and also expeditions of the American Geographical society and of the Paris observatory have left for Kustanai (east southern Urals). Another group of staff members of the Moscow Astronomical institute, headed by Prof. A. A. Mikhalov, has departed for Kulibayev (Far East).

The program of this expedition is of exceptional interest, as it includes the checking of Einstein's theory of relativity by measuring the deviation of the ray of light in the zone of gravitation of the sun. The special instrument for observing Einstein's effect has been designed by Prof. A. Mikhalov.

Leningrad astronomers are leaving for Kalmykovo, near Urals, and for Krasnoyarsk, where an expedition of the Tashkent observatory also will arrive. Astronomers of the Kharkov observatory are leaving for the village Belorechenskaya, where an expedition of the French Astronomical society also will work.

Zoologists to Make Study
Eight geophysical observatories and institutes of the Soviet are sending expeditions to the zone of the total eclipse to carry out studies in actinometry, dynamics of the atmosphere and its electrical properties. The Siberian Physical and Technical Institute will study the ionosphere by means of radio signals. The Institute of Physics of the Academy of Sciences is sending scientists to the Caucasus to study the expansion of radio waves in the atmosphere during the eclipse. In the Urals, a party of zoologists will conduct biological observations.

In Krasnoyarsk and near Orenburg, Soviet scientists intend to make high altitude flights in airplanes to study the cosmic luminosity of the sky and the optical properties of the atmosphere during the eclipse. The Moscow Planetarium is making preparations to photograph the eclipse from the ground and air.

Dirt Track Makes Goshen 100-Miler Free-For-All Race

GOSHEN, N. Y., June 5 (UP)—The quick transformation from brick to dirt track racing is expected to turn the 100-mile auto derby here June 13 into a hair-raising free-for-all.

Racing drivers who competed at Indianapolis over bricks will flash into action over Good Time park's mile dirt track here.

Ira Vail, manager of the 100-mile event, and himself a veteran of both dirt and bricks, forecasts that the vast difference between the two surfaces will cook up a spicy variety of action never seen in the east before. Added to this is the fact that none of the competing drivers has ever driven at Goshen.

"On dirt, you've got to drive with your throttle, instead of the wheel," Vail explains. "At Indianapolis, the boys avoid sliding their cars around the curves if they want to survive. Here it will be a case of sliding or skidding the cars around the curves, or they won't finish until the next day. That means a complete reversal of technique."

Mexico Acclaims Youth For Daring Flight In Flimsy, Handmade Plane

Miguel Carrillo, self-taught pilot, is shown clambering from the cockpit of his home-made plane after a flight over rugged mountain ranges at 40 miles an hour to Mexico City.

MEXICO CITY, June 5 (AP)—Mexico, increasingly air-minded, is proud of young Miguel Carrillo. A self-made aviator if ever there was one, the 27-year-old pilot flew to Mexico City recently from his home town, Zitacuaro, Michoacan, in a tiny airplane he built out of odds and ends and learned to pilot himself.

No Atlantic crossing, surely, was Carrillo's 80-mile flight across

Mexico's rugged mountain ranges at an average speed of 40 miles an hour, but his feat captured public fancy.

Ignorant Of Aeronautics
Throughs gathered at Balbuena airport to shake his hand, and hear him express the modest hope the government would "help me in some serious study of aviation and mechanics, so that I may do what-ever I can to further aviation in Mexico."

That was the surprising thing about Carrillo's exploit; never in his life, he said, had he studied or read about aeronautics, draftsmanship or mechanics.

He just "got the bug" and set to work on his plane.

Worn Truck Motor Used
A four-cylinder motor from an ancient truck, that already had seen six years and 85,000 miles service over mountain roads, furnished his power plant. From another truck he got his radiator. The cooling apparatus he devised from tin plate. Light, tough native woods went into the ship's frame.

As he carried forward the work, his funds ran out. He sold his house. When those proceeds were gone, he borrowed from friends until the ship was ready.

Carrillo christened it "Pinocho," after Spain's long-nosed equivalent of Mickey Mouse. A few test hops, and he was off for the capital.

With the departments of communications and war decidedly interested in Carrillo's obvious bent for aeronautics, it seems fairly likely he will get his chance to learn about flying from books. A movement has started to give him the "Emilio Carranza" gold medal for achievement in aviation.

BUTTE, Mont. (UP)—The 383 members of this year's high school graduating class have figured out that they have a combined age three times greater than that of Methuselah, or 6,732 years; a combined height 18 times taller than the high school building, and a combined weight of 24 tons.

Mexican Tigers Defeat Rebels, 7-4

The Mexican Tigers tallied five runs in the fifth inning to come from behind and defeat the Big Spring Rebels Thursday on the T&P diamond, 7-4.

Martinez was hit hard in the early innings and was bested by Joe Pickle, on the hill for the Rebels, but the Bengals solved the enemy pitcher in the big frame and chased him from the hill.

CONTRACT AWARDED TO ERECT MONUMENT AT SAN JACINTO

JOLIET, Ill., June 5 (AP)—Exactly one hour after a jury received the case of 21-year-old convict James Day, charged with murdering "thrill killer" Richard Loeb, Day was freed last night to go back to his cell and complete his prison term for larceny. A jury of 12 men acquitted him of the penitentiary razor playing.

Oil Industry Finds Texas Costs Heavy

Fourth Of All Wells Drilled In State Result In Failures

By H. J. STUBBS
 Petroleum Economist

Headlines in the daily newspapers make much of new oil strikes and so-called "gushers," but seldom, if ever, does the drilling in of a dry hole make headlines in the news. This is natural, since human interests react more readily to the successful side of life. Yet, figures prepared by the Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association of Texas show that one-fourth of all the wells drilled in Texas result in failures.

The oil business is far from being all "milk and honey" for it is fact that last year the Texas oil industry spent $100,000,000 for drilling about 3,000 wells which failed to be productive of oil or gas. This is a lot of money and it naturally must come out of surplus funds of oil companies. Still, when financial statements of the oil companies show substantial surpluses, there are individuals who immediately seize upon such information as a talking point in support of their contention that increased tax revenue may readily be obtained by further assessments upon the Texas oil industry.

Reserves Needed

While there has been remarkable scientific progress in recent years in exploration methods of finding new sources of oil supply in Texas, the fact remains that the companies engaged in this extremely hazardous business, must of necessity maintain adequate reserve funds to provide for the contingency of dry holes. Even in the ordinary routine of oil field development, where every precaution is taken to reduce the dry hole hazard in the minimum, it is utterly impossible to avoid this costly toll. Thus, for every three "gushers" you read about, there is a fourth dry hole, costing just as much as a producing well, which you don't find in your newspaper headlines.

One out of every four dry, is the experience of drilling for oil and gas in Texas. In "wildcat" developments, such as are pursued in the territory surrounding the famous East Texas field, nine out of every ten wells drilled are dry holes. In the prolific East Texas field, itself, however, only three wells in every hundred are dry holes. In North Texas, the oil industry brings in a dry hole for every producing well completed. In West Central Texas, the experience is 54 dry holes in every hundred wells drilled. In West Texas, one out of five wells drilled are dry. In the Gulf Coast, every third well drilled is a dry hole.

These are facts which the oil industry must face in its day to day operations. While every method known to science is employed and no effort nor money is spared to obtain accurate information concerning subsurface structures, the dry hole hazard continues to be one of the many burdensome tolls exacted from the oil companies. Exploration, by geological and geophysical methods, drilling for oil and gas and building a new pipeline are all risks which carry no guaranteed return on the heavy investments of capital involved. Costly exploration of leased land may not reveal an oil field; drilling results in a definite percentage of failures; building a pipeline to a new oil field hinges upon the productive life of its wells. Thus, it is evident that the oil companies which are building for permanency in Texas must, of necessity, maintain adequate financial reserves in order to survive these and many other hazards of the oil business.

'STREETS OF PARIS' OUTSTANDING SHOW AT THE CENTENNIAL

DALLAS, June 5.—The "Streets of Paris" with its sensational picture of Gay Paris bids fair to be the most popular spot on the entire Texas Centennial grounds. Fashioned after the Latin Quarter of Paris, with a replica of the SS Normandie as the central piece in the place, it is attracting more attention than any other attraction on the grounds.

Located aboard the SS Normandie is the Centennial club where royalty will be entertained. If royalty attends the Centennial exposition. Three decks of the Normandie are devoted to Centennial club room, two of these being air conditioned.

Famous for its peep shows, its grilles, its sidewalk cafes, its casinos and dance pavilions, the Streets of Paris opens the Centennial with a bang. Featured as the stage show in the attraction is Andre Lasky's French Revue, with 45 continental artists, and 24 Parisienne models. Another feature will be Francis Dittich's art institute, where living models will be sketched by visiting artists. Room will be reserved for spectators who seek to see how an art institute is run. Thirteen prominent artist models from Chicago have been brought here for this feature of the Streets of Paris.

Sham Battle To Mark Birth Of Free Texas

US And State Commemorate Fall Of Santa Anna At San Jacinto Aug. 9

HOUSTON, June 5 (UP)—Gen. Sam Houston's defeat of Santa Anna, the Mexican "Napoleon of the West," at San Jacinto 100 years ago to gain Texas independence will be commemorated August 9 in a sham battle by 2,500 soldiers and national guardsmen.

The mock fight will be held on the old battleground 12 miles east of Houston as part of the Texas Centennial celebration. Permission for the spectacle was granted by the war department upon request of officials of the San Jacinto Centennial association.

Col. E. A. Eversberg, commander of the 141st Infantry, 36th Division, will be in charge of the sham battle. The date coincides with the 100th anniversary of his regiment.

Motor Unit To Be Used
Colonel Eversberg said a regiment of national guard artillery and several units from Fort Sam Houston and the motorized 69th Coast Artillery anti-aircraft regiment from Fort Crockett, Galveston, would participate.

The soldiers will be encamped at Palacios early in August and will arrive by motor on August 8 for a parade in Houston before going to San Jacinto battleground.

"Negotiations are under way to have several hundred national guardsmen from Virginia, Gen. Sam Houston's native state, and from Tennessee, where he was governor before coming to Texas," Colonel Eversberg said. "These may take part in the parade in Houston."

Battle To Last 18 Minutes
"In all there will be some 2,500 soldiers in the sham battle. We will re-enact the 18-minute fight which resulted in the defeat of the Napoleon of the West, Santa Anna, freeing Texas. In this we will use only such weapons as the actual heroes of the day had."

"Then we will show what modern weapons would have done to change the history of the world. We will have hundreds of rounds of blank artillery ammunition fired, there will be airplanes overhead and an elaborate system of modern military communications,

766 Projects Finished By State WPA

Whole Program Represents Expenditure Of Over 3 Million

SAN ANTONIO, June 5.—Sponsors and the federal government expended $3,404,635 on 766 projects first reported completed from the 20 Works Progress administration districts, State Administrator H. P. Drought has announced. At the same time he estimated that more than 1,500 projects have been finished and said he expected to receive completion reports on the remainder shortly.

Federal expenditures of $2,258,396 on these completed projects were closely followed by contributions by sponsors of $1,151,239. "Counties, cities, independent school districts and state departments, actively sponsoring these projects, have displayed an eagerness to assist in our work," said Drought. "Their large financial participation indicates a gratifying faith in the integrity of this program."

The state administrator said more than 3,000 projects have been operated throughout Texas in providing employment for 120,000 persons, former occupants of the state's relief rolls which now are largely dissipated.

"It is significant," Drought continued, "that $1,445,073 of the WPA expenditure on these completed projects went to workers in the form of semi-monthly security wage pay checks. This is the gratifying figure of the analysis. Our job has been that of keeping this stream of small but all-important checks moving steadily into thousands of homes in order that destitute Texans might be able to provide for themselves and for their families."

"Stimulation of trade by the purchase of materials and equipment and the construction of permanent, worthwhile public improvements are essential by-products of this program, but we have not lost sight of the fact that the giving of employment to persons formerly on relief rolls is our fundamental objective."

Next largest WPA expenditure on these completed projects, $307,794, was for equipment used by workmen. About one-third of this equipment cost was in the form of wages to truck operators, many of whom came from Texas relief rolls. It was pointed out.

Materials were procured at a cost of $301,536. Non-relief workers, including project superintendents, field workers and other supervisory personnel, received $183,667, the analysis disclosed.

Travel and other incidental project expenses amounted to $15,324.

Women Girding For Political Wars; Leaders Differ On Major Policies

WASHINGTON, June 5 (AP)—Democratic women, says democratic Representative Caroline O'Day, from New York, want 1936 projects planks advocating preservation of the social security act and further elimination of child labor.

Republican women, asserts republican Representative Edith Nourse Rogers of Massachusetts, are concerned with government spending and "many are writing me they would like to see responsibility for relief expenditures turned back to the states."

A Convention Veteran
Both legislators, actively gathering data for their respective parties, believe the approaching campaign will see more women engaged in political work. Both feel that women will wield a greater influence at the party conventions and in the campaign.

Mrs. O'Day, although she is completing her first term in congress, has attended all democratic conventions since women were given the vote in 1920. She believes each convention has seen the women taking a more effective part in proceedings, although the progress has been slow.

"However, whenever women have anything worthwhile to suggest I notice the men listen and usually act," she says.

Asks for Views
"But politics for the average woman citizen is still pretty much like church work where women give the strawberry festival, take in $500 and then turn the money over to the men to spend. It's amazing, however, what faithful work women are doing in the home precincts without hope, or even expectation, of reward."

Mrs. O'Day is preparing for the democratic convention at Philadelphia in June by writing all democratic national committeewomen to learn what planks they wish to

Farm Council Is Organized

Group Will Assist In Operation Of Soil Conservation Program

COLLEGE STATION, June 5.—A state agricultural council was recently organized here composed of representatives of the 12 extension districts. Each member of this council came from a county farm demonstration council.

V. C. Marshall, Heidenheimer, Bell county, was elected chairman; L. P. Cooke, Corpus Christi, Nueces county, vice chairman; and J. H. Watson, New Castle, Young county, secretary.

The function of this council is to cooperate with the Texas extension service in an advisory capacity, in all of its extension activities, including the administering of the new soil conservation and domestic allotment act.

During the first organized meeting recently at College Station, the members of the state agricultural council unanimously passed a resolution favoring all farmers filling out work sheets in the soil conservation program on the grounds that such cooperation does not obligate the farmer in any way, that it is needed to make the program most effective this year, and that it will help in the 1937 program.

Members of the council who met here with the extension staff and with the soil conservation committee are: V. C. Marshall, chairman; L. P. Cooke, vice chairman; J. H. Watson, secretary; L. R. Conner, Perryton, Ochiltree county; C. H. Day, Plainview, Hale county; L. F. Johnston, Arlington, Tarrant county.

Appetizing Dishes For June

By MAITHA LOGAN
June days are lazy days. Our feet seem to be the heaviest part of us, the air feels as if it had just bubbled out of a tea kettle, the flies sound like buzz saws, and the tinkle of ice in a chilly lemonade is music.

No matter where we are, on the beach or in the home, we have to eat. We wonder exactly why we must eat at all. Our appetites have become jaded. They need some pepping up in spite of the weather.

Let us imagine we have a huge cook book, all gloriously filled with brightly colored pictures of good things to eat. Lick your thumb well and let us go adventuring for good summer dishes for our future meals.

Here is a grand looking salad—green, crisp and crunchy, for the next terribly hot day. There is something for the men to "set their teeth in," so they will like it, too. It is a fresh vegetable salad with cheese and hard cooked eggs.

Spring Vegetable & Cheese Salad
2 heads lettuce,
4 tomatoes,
1 onion,
2 cups diced celery,
1-2 lb. American cheese, cubed,
1 bunch radishes,
4 hard cooked eggs,
1 cucumber,
French dressing.

Cut lettuce into eighths, peel tomatoes and cut into quarters. Cut onion very fine and slice eggs. Slice radishes and dice cucumber. Toss all together in a large salad bowl and pour French dressing over the mixture. Garnish top with sliced eggs and cubed cheese. Serves eight.

Eat your crusty roll with this. Have your salad as cold as an icy blast and your roll as hot as hot.

And here are two grand ways to serve eggs to tempt the appetite:

Baked Eggs With Cheese Sauce
6 eggs,
3 tablespoons butter,
2 tablespoons flour,
1-2 teaspoon salt,
1-4 teaspoon paprika,
2 tablespoons bread crumbs.

1-2 cups milk,
1-2 cup American cheese, grated,
2 pinches salt,
Melt butter, add flour, salt and paprika. Gradually add milk, cooking until smooth. Add half the cheese and the chopped pinches. Carefully break eggs into a well-buttered baking dish. Pour the sauce over the eggs, sprinkle with remaining cheese, and crumbs. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 12 minutes. Serves six.

Asparagus and Eggs au Gratin
1 cup buttered crumbs,
1 cup grated American cheese,
1-2 cups medium white sauce,
4 hard cooked eggs,
2 cups cooked asparagus cut in inch lengths.

Salt and pepper.
Sprinkle one-half of the crumbs over the bottom of a buttered baking dish. Mix grated cheese with the well seasoned white sauce. Place alternate layers of sliced hard-cooked eggs, asparagus and sauce in the dish, sprinkling salt and pepper to taste on each layer and covering the top with crumbs. Bake 20 minutes in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.).

Now let us turn the pages of our big imaginary cook book to gelatin desserts. We can always make such tempting surprises for the family with gelatin. Ah, here's a recipe for fresh strawberry chiffon pie. Doesn't that sound good? It is good too.

Fresh Strawberry Chiffon Pie
1 level tablespoon gelatin,
1-4 cup cold water,
1-2 cup boiling water,
3-4 cup sugar,
1 cup strawberry pulp and juice,
1-4 teaspoon salt,
2 egg whites, beaten.

Marshmallow Party Favors
Delight Youthful Guests

Easy to Make—Good to Eat
"Happy birthday to you, happy birthday to you"—and what could be a nicer way to say it than to give this young "him" or "her" a birthday party?

There'll be cake 'n' ice cream, of course, but why not make it a circus birthday party? Why not decorate the table with make-them-yourself, good-to-eat marshmallows, ducks, cats, elephants, bow-wows, etc.? They are so easy to make that both you and the young host or hostess will have lots of fun making these queer little marshmallow animals.

First of all, let's review the working rules for turning these versatile, fluffy marshmallows into party favors: (1) Use scissors for cutting the marshmallows and dip them in cold water frequently. (2) Dip fingers in cornstarch when they become the least bit sticky. (3) The marshmallows are secured with toothpicks—remember to dampen the toothpicks before inserting them. (4) Always use fresh, moist marshmallows; use jelly strings, gumdrops, and whole

1-4 cup sugar,
1 cup cream, whipped (measure before whipping).

Soak the gelatin in the cold water for five minutes. Add the boiling water, sugar, strawberry pulp and juice, and salt to the gelatin. Cool the mixture until it begins to thicken. Fold in the whipped cream. Then fold in the egg whites to which the sugar has been added. Fill a baked pie shell, put into a cool place, and before serving, garnish with whipped cream and strawberries.

And now for just one more idea—A Peach Charlotte Russe. How's that? The name may be fancy but the recipe is really quite simple.

Peach Charlotte Russe
1 level tablespoon gelatin,
1-4 cup cold water,
1 cup mashed peaches (fresh or canned),
1-4 cup lemon juice,
1-2 cup sugar,
1-4 teaspoon salt,
1 cup cream, whipped (measure before whipping).

Lady fingers or stale cake.
Arrange three or four lady fingers (halved) or stale cake, around the sides of sherbet glasses and fill them with the above mixture. Place the filled glasses in the refrigerator, allowing the dessert to become thoroughly chilled. Just before serving, top dessert with small amount of whipped cream, if desired.

cloves as finishing accessories to make the favors illustrated.

These marshmallow favors are very easy to make. Once you get the hang of making them, you can readily make all of them. To make the elephant, for example, moisten the tops (large ends) of two marshmallows and secure them together with two toothpicks which have been dampened (you may have to break off the ends of the toothpicks). Set aside for the body. Then take a marshmallow and cut it through the center, then cut a thick slice from each half. Cut each slice in half, lengthwise, making four square oblong pieces; these are the legs. Insert toothpicks (dipped in water) in them, leaving a short end projecting to attach to the body. Roll in cornstarch and set aside.

Next comes the head—trunk and all. To make this, hold a marshmallow between thumb and finger (large side or top toward you). Start below the center front and cut around the edge of the marshmallow almost to the top, leave attached—this is the trunk! Next make two large slashes along either side of marshmallow for ears. Also leaving them well attached. Then turn upside down and fill these three cuts with cornstarch. Cut away the lower half of the marshmallow, leaving ears well below it. Shape head and trunk by snipping away small pieces of marshmallow with scissors. Make holes for eyes with a wet toothpick and place tiny squares of gumdrop in these holes. Pat head with cornstarch and stick two wet toothpicks in the neck to use later for attaching head to body. Allow to dry.

Back to the body. Cut a tall in the second marshmallow and dust with cornstarch. This then brings us to the business of assembling the animal who "never forgets." Attach the legs to the body by pushing the projecting (dampened) toothpicks into the marshmallow body. Using the tip of the scissors, carefully push the toothpicks (dampened) which have been inserted in the head into the body. Make tuks of jelly strings which have been cut in small strips and insert in the proper place with short toothpicks. Lastly dust the elephant with cornstarch, press into shape, and allow to dry.

Girl Students Lose To Boys
BUCYRUS, Ohio, (UP)—A popular belief that girls are more studious than boys was blasted here in scholastic examinations offered by the state board of education. Only three girls out of 32 taking the examinations were in the upper brackets. Ten boys out of 39 in the test won high grades.

Italy Turns To Problems Closer Home

New Campaigns Of Il Duce Are Against Communism And Capitalism

ROME, June 5. (UP)—Cessation of military activities in East Africa and dethronement of Haile Selassie were the signal for inauguration of another tedious fascist march "on the path of revolution."

In this advance there obviously will be no recourse to bayonets or hand grenades. No banners will be flying. Shouts of soldiers locked in hand-to-hand struggles will be absent. For it will comprise an attack not against communities protected by anti-aerial guns and heavy artillery, but against fascism's hated enemies—Capitalism and Communism.

Italy's army of more than 1,000,000 officers and men must stand aside, being held in readiness, however, to repel any threat to safety of the homeland or the vast expanse of territory obtained by force in Africa.

Benito Mussolini, working diligently in his office at Palazzo Venezia, feels the arch foes of fascist principles are weakening. "Corporatism," born Nov. 10, 1934, when machinery of the Italian corporative state was set in motion by inauguration of the 22 corporations, will be the watchword of this new social "revolutionary movement."

"Harmony is harmony," says Il Duce; "discord is another thing."

First indication that a complete revision of the Italian parliamentary system was contemplated by the fascist government was given by Mussolini on Nov. 14, 1933, in an address before what then was known as the National Guild council.

"The chamber of deputies presupposes a world we have demolished," said Il Duce; "it presupposes the plurality of parties and not infrequently the help of the ministerial delinquency. Since the day on which we annulled this plurality, the chamber has lost the essential reason for which it was formed... we are burying economic liberalism... we are taking a further step forward on the path of revolution."

It is on recommendation of various corporations, which represent every branch of Italian life, working with fascist confederations to combat the dilemma of industrial exploitation and non-productive possession, that the government issues its regular decrees regulating national affairs.

Limit Not Predictable
What "corporatism" ultimately may lead to in its attempt to solve the problem of distribution of wealth, even high fascist authorities hesitate to predict. The known standpoint of Mussolini, however, is that the problem is to be solved and the corporative system must be perfected to solve it.

While the colonial office is busy planning the exploitation of conquered Ethiopia, the fascist corporations, given increased power, is expected to place into active practice Mussolini's theory that the government must maintain careful control of economic categories.

In line with the program of placing Italy on an impregnable war footing, major industries which are working directly or indirectly for the defense of the nation and whose capital is held by shareholders, gradually will be drawn into the government network, with the state as the actual operating unit.

Line to Be Drawn
Fascism, however, has no thought of reducing the national economies to a common state denominator, or of transforming into state monopoly the entire economic life of Italy, it is emphasized.

In the words of Mussolini, "The state will absorb only that portion of economy which concerns national defense... the fascist regime does not intend to place under state control, or worse still, bureaucratize the whole economy of the nation... small and medium sized industries shall remain within the field of private initiative and responsibility, harmonized from a national social standpoint with the self-discipline of the corporations."

There is some speculation regarding whether Mussolini may not intend to relax to a certain extent the firm hold he now exerts over the economic life of the nation as minister of corporations and president of each of the 22 corporations. It is considered possible that, feeling the corporative state has advanced sufficiently under his direct supervision, Il Duce may decide to place the corporations on the road to self-discipline.

CENTENNIAL SALES CONTEST SPONSORED BY BUICK COMPANY

DALLAS, June 5.—The Dallas zone of the Buick Motor company has just announced to its dealers in Texas and Oklahoma an interesting sales contest known as "Buick's Centennial Round-Up." According to L. B. Strayhorn, local zone manager for the Buick Motor company, this contest will be climaxed by a Buick meeting and party to be held in Dallas early in July for all Buick dealers and salesmen of Texas and Oklahoma, and at the same time all dealers and salesmen will be given an opportunity to inspect the Texas Centennial exposition at Dallas, which will be going at full blast at that time.

Strayhorn further stated that Buick's business in Texas and Oklahoma had increased approximately 120 per cent this year over the same period of last year and that with the recent rains the business outlook is extremely bright.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hornbarger are visiting Mr. Hornbarger's niece in El Paso.

SPECIAL TRAIN TO TAKE TEXAS DEMOS TO NATL. CONVENTION

According to Ira P. DeLoache of Dallas, the great number of reservations that have already been made indicates that the special trains leaving Texas points on June 20 will carry even greater crowds of loyal friends of Roosevelt and Garner to the national democratic convention in Philadelphia June 23 than attended the inauguration of the president and vice president in 1933.

"Never has there been such a spontaneous rush on the part of Texans to demonstrate pride in their state, an honored citizen of the state and great first and second executive officers of the United States," said DeLoache.

DeLoache, general chairman of transportation in Texas for the national democratic convention, attributes the great interest in the forthcoming mass movement to Washington and Philadelphia to three factors: First: Improved business conditions enable vast numbers of Texans to finance such a trip. Second: the Centennial spirit is converting the trip into a Centennial booster parade as well as an event of political significance. Third: the ardor of Texas democrats has reached such a high pitch of enthusiasm that every party member who can possibly attend is making plans to go on this pilgrimage.

The Texas and Pacific from North Texas and the Missouri Pacific from South Texas, the line of the internationally famous Sunshine Special, has been selected as the official route.

NEARLY 300,000 WORK SHEETS FILED FOR SOIL PROGRAM

COLLEGE STATION, June 5.—Approximately 300,000 work sheets have been filled out by Texas farmers to participate in the Agricultural Conservation program, it was estimated recently by the State Agricultural Conservation committee upon surveying reports from county agricultural agents up to June 1.

Members of the state committee further pointed out that the 300,000 work sheets represent about 75 per cent of all Texas farm acreage. They said that out of the 500,000 farms in the state, some 400,000 should be eligible to receive grants. It was for the purpose of giving farmers more time to sign up work sheets that June 10 was set as the final date in Texas.

STATE GETS MORE IN LIQUOR REVENUE

AUSTIN, June 5 (UP)—Audits of the accounts of 21 wholesale liquor dealers during May added $7,775 to state revenues, it was announced today by Liquor Administrator Charles R. Miller. Three-fourths will go to the old-age assistance fund and one-fourth to schools.

Mrs. M. K. House will leave Saturday noon to join her sister, Mrs. Bernard Hanks of Abilene, for a motor trip to New York, Washington, D. C., and Charlottesville, Va., where Mrs. Hanks is taking her daughter to enter school. They expect to drive the northern route and return the southern.

FINDS ALL-BRAN BETTER THAN PILLS, SALTS, AND OILS

This Natural Food Relieves His Constipation

We quote from his letter: "... I decided to make a fair trial of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, with the result that I felt much improved. I have quit all laxatives since 1935."

"For 34 years, I had to take pills, salts, oils, teas, or other fluids, which did more harm than good. ALL-BRAN now is our breakfast cereal for the whole family."—Mr. Martin Wroblewski, 201 Church Street, Highland Park, Mich.

Meals low in "bulk" often lead to constipation. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides generous "bulk" in effective form. This "bulk" absorbs moisture, forms a soft mass, and gently exercises and cleanses the system. ALL-BRAN also furnishes vitamin B and iron.

Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. How much better to use this natural food in place of patent medicines.

Use as a cereal with milk or cream, or in cooking. ALL-BRAN is much more effective than part-bran products. It is sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

*Constipation due to insufficient "bulk" in meals.

A VICTORY FOR RUGGED INDIVIDUALISM

The rugged individualism of which Mr. Hoover is the protagonist won a great victory in the United States supreme court Monday amid the resounding cheers of the Liberty league and the United States Chamber of Commerce. The right of an employer of women to hire them at starvation wages was solemnly upheld. The rugged individualism among women who choose to work for less than $12.40 a week—or who, perhaps, choose the lesser wage rather than go hungry—can be sustained now by the knowledge that it is entirely constitutional for them to do so.

A majority of the court declared, two weeks previously, that the federal government cannot undertake to improve the lot of the coal miners because that is a task for the states alone. And now the same majority says that the states cannot undertake such tasks because the freedom of contract is thereby abridged. The effect of the two decisions considered together is to deny to any authority the right to legislate for better working conditions.

It is impossible to believe that the final word has been said on the subject. It was hard enough to accept as final the rule laid down in the Guffey case, because it ran counter to so many social trends. That decision, however, did seem to leave the way open to remedial action, not by the federal government, but by the states. Monday's decision closes that route. By implication, it sets at naught the undertaking embodied in the Wagner-Connery bill.

It should be interesting to see how the Republican party expresses itself on the question raised by these decisions. A few months ago it was proclaiming "save the constitution" as its campaign slogan, taking the position that any move to amend the constitution so as to unshackle liberalism in this country was a profanation of the temple. We shall presently see if it is brave enough to write such sentiments into its platform. Whether it does or not, the victory that rugged individualism has gained is going to prove a pyrrhic one.—(Wichita Times).

★ Man About Manhattan ★

By George Tucker

NEW YORK—Air-hostess:

She's on all the great airlines that zoom out of New York towards Chicago and San Francisco and the other important cities in America.

She's slight, and pretty, and never weighs more than 118 pounds. Usually she has so much personality it hurts. Question her and she'll confide that she is between 21 and 26. And another thing—she is a registered nurse. Not because the air companies anticipate a ship full of sick passengers—people are rarely troubled with air sickness any more—but because a girl who has passed through the rigorous apprenticeship of graduating from a hospital or a nursing school knows the value of discipline. . . . She doesn't become panicky in emergencies.

You might think that winging from one important metropolis to another—at high noon or at midnight, in the face of changing weather conditions—would be a highly exciting and glamorous life.

But that thought gives Helen Thayer a laugh. It is a gratifying and pleasant experience, but it is not what the movies and the fictionists have made it, she insists.

Helen is air-hostess on one of the big TWA planes between New York and Kansas City. When she is at home she shares an apartment with two other hostesses on west 46 Terrace. The rest of the time she is making up her required 110 hours per month in the air.

"I have read some funny things about hostesses," she explains, "and they aren't quite right. The rumor that we spend our spare moments having dates with the pilots is pure fiction. And each day isn't crowded with adventure. I've been a hostess since the company first put them on, and I haven't encountered anything out of the ordinary. The plane goes aloft each day, and I talk with the passengers and prepare their lunch or ask them if they want a magazine to read. Sometimes, Gary Cooper is aboard. The next day it will be Johnny Weissmuller. But the plane lands safely, and then we begin all over again. It's a lot of fun, but hardly the stuff from which novels are made."

Helen received her nursing experience in Chicago's Presbyterian hospital, but she is a Morris, Ill., girl. She is brunette and slim and looks like a picture in her grey uniform with pert grey cap, red silk blouse, and suede shoes to match. Usually she has two days off between flights and then she and her roommates swim and ride and play a lot of tennis and golf.

The Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—What is probably the first case in history of a Nazi naval vessel saluting a Jew occurred in the Virgin Islands recently.

The vessel was the German training ship Karlsruhe on a trip through southern waters. Arriving at St. Thomas, Virgin Islands, at a time when Governor Lawrence Cramer was in the United States, it found Morris F. de Castro, who is Jewish, as acting governor.

The visit of a foreign naval vessel in any American territory requires that the commander first pay his respects upon the governor, then the governor visits the ship and pays his respects to the commander.

This protocol was carefully carried out. And as Acting Governor de Castro steamed out in the governor's barge to the Karlsruhe, it fired seventeen guns in an official salute.

New Brain Trustee
On the door of a tiny two-room suite, tucked away in an obscure corner of a downtown Washington office building, two words appear in plain black letters—Stanley High. This is the office of the latest addition to the president's brain trust.

High is a new type of brain trustee. Social worker, preacher, lecturer, newspaperman, magazine editor and radio commentator, he makes no claims to being an intellectual or leftwinger. But when it comes to pep and personality he has it in a big way.

He bubbles over with persuasiveness. And that is where his job comes in: to sell Roosevelt to the "split ticket vote"—the people who vote democratic one year and republican the next.

Toward this High already is speeding in high gear. He is publishing a weekly magazine called "The Roosevelt Record," snappiest and most attractive campaign publication so far in the field; has organized the Good Neighbor league, featuring a series of radio broadcasts by prominent men and women who sing the praises of the new deal.

High's salary and that of his small staff is paid by the democratic national committee. But he works directly under the president and confers with him at frequent intervals.

Ex-Hoover Man
High's accession to the new deal is an interesting story.

He was active in the Hoover campaign in 1928 and 1932. Last year, in his capacity as director of programs of the National Broadcasting company, he had a talk with the president about radio. Several weeks later the whispering campaign about Roosevelt's health came to High's ears. That night in his regular weekly broadcast, "Religion in the News," he told his listeners of his own first-hand observations regarding the president's health and mental attitude. He vigorously denounced the whisperers.

This was the first open mention of the subject. Subsequently the president himself referred to it at a press conference. From this contact came High's present close association with the president.

High prepared some of the material the president used in his Baltimore address to the Young Democrats. Simultaneously Roosevelt asked him to devote his full time to the campaign. The new brain trustee is a native of Ohio, attended high school in Douglas, Wyoming, graduated from Nebraska Wesleyan, and rounded out his education at the School of Theology of Boston university. He is 41 years old, looks much younger, and has two daughters, Patricia and Francis.

Recently, in a magazine article under the caption, "A Republican Takes a Walk," he gave his reasons for becoming a new dealer.

What Price Professors?
Senator Key Pittman, of Nevada, proposes a yardstick to measure professors.

He came across a new brain trust the other day—the national committee on monetary policy—containing no less than 82 professors. And what was worse, they all attacked his silver policy.

"The reason this matter becomes particularly important," said Pittman, "is that there are 82 professors in this group. I do not believe we have over six professors in our brain group in this administration. I understand, however, the republican national committee has thirteen professors in its brain group."

"We shall have to find some method by which we may weigh the value of this expert influence, some natural measure that we may understand, whether by the bushel or the pound or the number or some other way."

"Personally, I think professors accomplish a good purpose. In fact, in their own line they accomplish just as much good as any other artisan, such as a plumber or a brick mason."

Big Count
The biggest specialized job of counting heads ever undertaken in the U. S. A. is now in the final stages of preparation at the social security board.

The census will cover 25,000,000 workers—the entire payroll of private industry and commerce. Only farm labor, domestic servants, and a few other special classes will be excluded.

Purpose of the check is to list all wage-earners and assign them identification numbers for old-age pensions under the social security act. After January 1, 1937, every worker will have a number.

In charge of the head-counting is Murray W. Latimer, old-age pension expert. During the three months necessary for the census he will have 11,000 persons working under him.

A preliminary survey of the job shows that approximately 75 per cent of American industry is located in about 200 counties. This concentration will aid in expediting the count.

Science Ends Age-Old Fear Of Volcanoes

Eruptions Now Forecast Accurately Two Years In Advance

HONOLULU, June 5 (UP)—The science of predicting volcanic eruptions has become so accurate, that Dr. Thomas A. Jagger, Jr., volcanologist with the United States park service in Hawaii, has been called to the West Indies to ascertain when the next eruption may take place on the island of Montserrat. The trip, investigation and prediction is being made at the request of the Royal Society of London. Dr. Jagger expects to complete his work by late summer.

For more than a year earth tremors have alarmed the people of Montserrat and the Royal Society of London sent Dr. Jagger to survey the scene and to recommend any precautions that might be taken for the safety of the population. It happened that the invitation came at an opportune time, for Dr. Jagger declares he is certain the volcanoes of the Hawaiian group will remain quiet for the next two years. His qualifications for making such a statement are attested by his previous uncanny accuracy in forecasting eruptions.

Mauna Loa Sleeping
Hawaii's latest display of volcanic activity started Nov. 21, 1935, and ended March 15 of this year. During the period, lava flowed from the side of Mauna Loa in the national park until early in January, after which the activities consisted of smoke pouring from the mountain's crater.

Almost two years earlier, Dr. Jagger had predicted this eruption. Not only did he fix the time, but he set the point where the lava would burst from the side of the mountain and the direction it would take. As activity started and continued, it bore out the truth of the scientist's prediction.

in full detail. The latest volcanic disturbance also testified the volcanologist's far-sightedness. On March 26, 1934, he stated in a public address that when activity started and lava began to rumble and tumble down the mountainside "our aviators and bombers will rejoice at the opportunity to show their prowess."

At this time, nobody knew what the scientist had in mind. Yet, when lava threatened to dam up the water supply 30 miles from the city of Hilo, Dr. Jagger suggested to the U. S. army in Hawaii that planes be sent to drop bombs upon the lava, thus diverting it to a section where it could do no damage.

Lava Flowed 3 Days
His suggestion was carried out. Tons of high explosives were dropped on the river of lava near its source. Three days later the lava ceased to flow. It was the first time a volcano had been made a bombing objective.

It was only because of the faith which Dr. Jagger has in his own science and predictions that he accepted the invitation of the Royal Society to leave his post and undertake the Montserrat investigation.

"Since I am sure the volcanoes in Hawaii National Park will be inactive for the next year or two I feel it is safe to leave my post long enough to accept the invitation to study the problem of the West Indies," he said.

The scientist bases his predictions upon the duration of past flows, the intervals between flows during the past century and a mathematical table showing an 11-year cycle between major eruptions.

SQUARE DANCES AND FIDDLERS' CONTEST TO FEATURE RODEO

STAMFORD, June 5 — The cowboy square dance at the cowboy bunkhouse each night and the old fiddlers' contest of the closing day will be two of the entertainment features of the Texas Cowboy Reunion here July 2, 3 and 4 which carry out the general purpose of keeping alive traditions and pastimes of the early-day cattle country.

Oldtime cowboys as well as active cowhands of the present day and large numbers of visitors enjoy the square dances at the reunion each year. The committee in charge is composed of oldtime cowboys, C. E. Coombes of Stamford, former cowhand and now prominent West Texas attorney and past president of the West Texas chamber of commerce, as chairman.

The fiddling contest will be held in the city auditorium, downtown, beginning at 8:30 a. m. on July 4, last day of the reunion. No entry fee is charged and cash prizes totaling $250 are awarded the winners. First prize is $15, second $10, third $5, fourth $2.50.

To be eligible for the contest, fiddlers must be not less than 50 years of age and professionals are barred. Each contestant is allowed to select the two tunes he plays, but only "break down" tunes are permitted. Fiddlers may play alone or choose their own seconds, but only one accompanist is allowed for each player. Jim Stell is chairman of the committee in charge of the contest.

WHITE HALL, Ark. (UP)—The moot question of proper spelling of the name of the Cross county town has been settled. Citizens of a mass meeting voted 150 to 2 in favor of White Hall instead of Whitehall. They thereby legitimized the mistake of an old time Methodist minister.

Bigger Wheat Crop Forecast

Increase Of 134 Million Bushels Cited By Private Experts

CHICAGO, June 5 (UP)—Private crop experts estimated today that the nation's 1936 wheat crop will total approximately 737,000,000 bushels, a gain of 134,000,000 bushels over last year.

First estimates of the 1936 spring wheat crop averaged 236,000,000 bushels, 66,000,000 bushels larger than the final yield last year.

The crop predictions were made by five private experts representing important Chicago grain firms. They placed the prospective winter wheat yield at 501,000,000 bushels, 68,000,000 bushels more than was harvested last year but still under the average.

Dust storms and drought this spring hampered the growth of the winter crop.

Estimates on spring wheat were only 10,000,000 bushels below what is considered a normal crop.

JEWELS—RETURNED

Hope spelled out the motto. "Hilarious! Merry! I like that, too... Is that this house?"

"As it used to be," said Dirk.

"You see Hans Joris wanted to do something big, so he copied the town-hall back home, and called the place 'Schlatterhaus'."

"Big enough!" she smiled.

"Too big for English. Admiral Lowrie, when he married a Joris and became head of the family, he didn't like Dutch things anyhow, so when a fire destroyed part of the castle he rebuilt it... in good colonial fashion. Gothic towers and a colonial wing. We're an awful hodge-podge, inside and out. Your room now... it has all the Dutch furniture that's left in the house. The old kas."

"The kas?"

"That old painted wardrobe is a kas. There were kases in all the bedrooms. Almost everything was Dutch to start with. But the generations came and went, throwing out, bringing in. That mantle there, for instance, is Italian. And the tapestries in the hall are French. And the drawing-room you may have noticed, is all Chinese Chippendale."

"The only generation that hasn't changed anything is mine and Rupert's. All we've done is shut up most of the rooms. It took a platoon of servants to run the place. Somewhere around here," pointing to the colonial wing, "there used to be a secret stair."

"A secret stair?"

"Dirk nodded. 'Some canny old Joris built it, either to escape from his intimates, or to let them in. It wasn't discovered by his descendants until the fire, and then Admiral Lowrie tore it out in shocked surprise. But he did something much worse when he built the wing.'"

"It's all beautiful," said Hope. "It looks as if there might have been a moat and a draw-bridge once, and a dungeon and a keep."

"A dungeon, at any rate," Dirk answered. "We call it a basement. I'll show it all to you some day, the old ballroom, and the Dutch chapel... and the very top of the tower where they used to watch for the boats. It will take some climbing."

"She was looking at another crest, a shield, a hand that held a broken sword. She read the Latin words."

"My shield is scarred."

"She closed the book. Presently she said,

"That's the motto I choose."

"Dirk said, 'Can't I sell you Merryly? Or Favorable Winds? They suit you better.'"

"No, they suit you. My shield is scarred."

"She rose, the book in her arms. 'I'm taking it upstairs. May I?'"

"Of course. Aren't you... aren't you a Joris, too?"

"Perhaps. That's why I want to read it. It's... something to live up to."

"Dirk went upstairs with her, carrying the book. He was disappointed. He had thought they would have the evening together. At her door he said,

"Don't forget lunch. The Lawyers' Club."

"He gave her the address. She would remember, she told him, and they said good night."

"When the door was closed she laid the book on the table beside the bed. The bed had been turned down, and one of her own nightgowns folded on the pillow. After a moment she moved noiselessly to the door between the two rooms, and pressing her cheek against it, listened."

"There was a sound now and then of papers stirring, and once a sharp noise as if Rupert were knocking on his pipe."

"She stole back, and moving the lamp, settled herself in the big gilded chair, the 'History of the Joris Family' propped against the table. She began to read the fine, uneven print."

"Reading, she fell asleep, and woke when the great clock in the hall was striking midnight. She rose then, and creeping to the door, listened again. Still the soft rustling of paper..."

"She undressed and crept into bed."

"Dirk met Hope at one o'clock at the Lawyers' Club. She had attended to her deposit at the bank and had already done a bit of shopping."

"Dirk was conscious that the black dress looked somehow different, less demure—saw that the change in it was due to the hat, a rakish scrap with a curving feather."

"'Stunning,' he said."

"She sparkled. 'Look under the table.'"

AT THE LYR

Ann Rutherford and Gene Autry, in a scene from Autry's new musical western picture, "Comin' Round the Mountain," which is the Friday-Saturday feature at the Lyric.

Musical Western Film At The Lyric Stars Gene Autry

One of the new type western stories—one balanced with equal parts of music, comedy and action—is the picture, "Comin' Round the Mountain," new Gene Autry musical action feature which is billed for Friday and Saturday at the Lyric.

Two spectacular action sequences—Autry's dare-devil battle with a wild horse which he subdues without rope or bridle; and an exciting cross-country horse race—are the outstanding thrills. Equally entertaining are the Spanish fiesta scenes and Autry's new song number, "Chiquita."

Autry as a pony express rider, in addition to playing his usual hard-riding, quick-shooting cowboy role, is a romantic figure. This is shown in the love scenes in the fiesta settings, with Ann Rutherford as the girl of his dreams.

Others in the cast are Smiley Burnette, in a comedy role; Roy Mason, Raymond Brown, Ken Cooper, Tracy Lane and Bob McKenzie.

HERE'S THE PLACE I RECOMMEND THAT YOU STOP, AND IF YOU'LL WAIT A MOMENT I'LL SEE THE MANAGER AND MAKE ARRANGEMENTS FOR YOU.

B-BUT--THIS IS THE BEST HOTEL IN HOLLYWOOD! I--I--

White, he said.

It might be Rupert's color, at that, since Elinor so often wore it. He reflected that a box had come for Rupert that morning. He himself had signed for it, and carried it up to Rupert's room, Rupert having already left for White Plains.

He dreaded the moment when Rupert should find the box, dreading it for Hope. She with her anxiety as to Rupert's choice in color!

"White," he said again, for after all it mattered greatly to himself what she should wear. "White, and for daytime, brown—that sort of rusty brown."

She thanked him gravely, stepped into the elevator, and smiling a goodbye, disappeared.

Rupert found the box on his arrival home. It contained the jewels he had given Elinor during the six years of their engagement.

He opened it, looking at the strand of pearls that had been his mother's, the twin bracelets he had bought at Cartier's, the brooch, the ring, the necklace...

Their very touch, he had thought, would be like touching the flesh of Elinor. He would have thought, too, that, receiving this box from her, he would have sat down to an evening's steady drinking.

He looked at his watch. Hope would be in her room, he reflected. He had telephoned her two hours before that he would not be home before eight, that she was to have dinner without him, and be dressed for their evening together. She was dressing now, Nora assisting her. He had met Nora going to her room on his arrival.

Rupert lifted out the strand of his mother's pearls, and, opening a small, inner drawer of his desk, dropped them within. Then, the box of jewels in his hand, he knocked on the door of Hope's room.

Probe Extortion Plot Directed At Aimee McPherson

LOS ANGELES, June 5 (UP)—Postal inspectors today investigated an extortion plot against Aimee McPherson after a man identifying himself as Valentine McAuliffe told San Diego police he sent the evangelist a note demanding $10,000.

McAuliffe, who said he was an ex-convict, was quoted by officers as confessing he threatened to distribute photographs of Mrs. McPherson and a friend "made in the nude" unless he received the money.

Pending federal action, McAuliffe, who hobbled about on crutches, was being held in San Diego on a theft charge. Postal Inspector C. D. Lowe reported he was preparing a complaint against McAuliffe with sending five "extortion letters" to the red-haired evangelist.

Mrs. McPherson started a federal investigation of the notes prior to McAuliffe's purported confession. Last Tuesday she turned over to the postal inspector a post card

'Show Boat' At The Ritz

Outstanding Musical Film Is Booked For Sunday And Monday

Accepted as one of the most ambitious of musical film productions to date is the 1936 version of "Show Boat," featured attraction at the Ritz theater on Sunday and Monday. It also will be shown at a Saturday midnight matinee.

The picture retains all the romance and drama of Edna Ferber's famed story, the melody and rhythm and melody of Jerome Kern's music, and the glamor and appeal of Oscar Hammerstein's play.

Noteworthy is the stellar cast in the new picture. It includes Irene Dunn as the star; Allan Jones in a romantic singing role; Charles Winninger, the original Captain Andy, as the river showman; Helen Morgan, another member of the original cast, as Julie; Paul Robeson, noted baritone who sings his famous "Old Man River" and other songs; and others.

The picture tells the love story of Magnolia and Ravenal on a Mississippi show boat. The plot is handled in such manner to permit introduction of the popular "Show Boat" songs, and many dance sequences. In addition to the numbers introduced in the stage play, there are three new Jerome Kern-Oscar Hammerstein tunes.

LOWDEN DRAFTS A G. O. P. FARM PLAN

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 5 (UP)—An Illinois republican declaration on agriculture, said to have been drafted by Gov. Frank O. Lowden, may be the blueprint to guide the national party in formulating a farm platform plank at the Cleveland convention next week, it was disclosed today.

The declaration, embodied in a declaration of principles approved by the republican state convention, was drafted, according to State Sen. Simon Lantz, after a conference with Lowden.

Governor Lowden believes that farm land should be divided into two classes, Lantz said. "The first class would consist of land devoted to raising crops. The second class would consist of land devoted to pasture to allow the soil to be rebuilt."

Almost a century ago, according to facts gleaned in the survey, an early writer originated the nickname as a "joke," adding: "Who knows but, a hundred years from now, some 'learned commentator' may puzzle his brain to furnish some ingenious explanation of the origin of the national appellation."

A picture of the original "Uncle Sam" (Samuel Wilson) tentatively was traced by the WPA workers to California and from there to Kansas City, where it is believed to be in the possession of the great-grandson of Wilson. It probably will be published this fall, embodied in the American Guide, as the story of "Uncle Sam and His

Experts have not decided whether the picture should be an early tin-type or a portrait by a contemporary artist. They are certain, however, that the original "Uncle Sam" will not be wearing the high hat, long-tailed coat and striped trousers so familiar to present day newspaper readers.

WASHINGTON, June 5 (UP)—WPA workers are on Uncle Sam's trail and they believe they have removed all doubt as to the identity of the venerable gentleman of the high hat and striped trousers.

A score of research workers throughout the nation, directed by the Federal Writers' Project headquarters here, traced the legend from coast to coast and pinned "Uncle Sam" upon Samuel Wilson, a Yankee meat inspector during the war of 1812.

Black-Draught's Good Reputation

The confidence people have in Black-Draught, built up from satisfactory use so many years, is shown in its being handed on from one generation to another. It must be good to have such a strong following.

Here is a typical reference to Black-Draught by a satisfied user: "We have used Black-Draught for twenty years," writes Mr. Fred Richardson, of Harborside, Okla. "My mother has used it for fifty years. It is the best medicine I know anything about. I take it for sour stomach and constipation, or when I feel sluggish and bad. Black-Draught is splendid to regulate the bowels, cleansing them of waste matter, ridding them of constipation. I expect to use it twenty-five more years if I live and give satisfaction as it has always given."

Will Seek Record Time On Centennial Opening Message

With the four-word message, "Texas Welcomes the World," Postal Telegraph company will seek to establish a new world's record for transmission around the world soon after 11 a. m. Saturday.

Starting from the central exposition grounds in Dallas, the message will be sent to New York, relayed to London, thence to Russia, by wireless across Mongolia to Shanghai and to San Francisco. From that point it will be relayed to Dallas via Big Spring.

This city is an important point in the circuit because it has direct repeater equipment. H. H. Hannah, manager of the office here, said that all equipment had been put in perfect working order for the attempt at a record.

Strangler Lewis Wants Another Crack At Title

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., June 5 (AP)—Ed (Strangler) Lewis wants one more crack at the heavyweight wrestling title.

The 44-year-old matman disclosed that in his ambition after finishing off young Karl Davis in a match here.

He has worn the crown five times in his 24-year wrestling career, but that makes no difference to him.

"I want it again," he said. "I am old for the game. I'm not kidding myself about that, but I have experience and have kept in shape."

Lewis still effectively uses his famous strangling hold in his matches around the "ham-and-egg" circuits.

Alcohol can be produced cheaply from gases emitted in refining crude oil, and can be made non-intoxicating.

LAUNCH CAMPAIGN TO REDUCE SUMMER'S TRAFFIC FATALITIES

CHICAGO, June 4.—W. H. Cameron, managing director of the National Safety council, said today opening of the vacation and heavy summer motoring season had precipitated a crisis in the nation's five-year campaign to reduce automobile traffic deaths and casualties.

"Each year," said Cameron, "the nation has seemed helpless to arrest or reduce the monthly increase in highway accident tragedies that begins in April and reaches a peak in October. In 1935 the month of April saw 2,500 persons go to their deaths in traffic accidents on American streets and highways. In October, after a steady increase through the summer months, the total was 3,850."

Congested highways, strange roads and the ever-present high speeds and recklessness, he said, largely explain why the summer months are a critical period in any drive to control traffic accidents.

Cameron used what he called "the splendid records of many cities in cutting down traffic accidents" to support his statement that the summer of 1936 will witness remarkable reductions in accidents and thousands of lives saved if automobile drivers, whether vacationing or driving to business, will religiously adopt "safe, sane, sensible" driving methods and courtesies.

BOULDER DAM'S GIGANTIC LAKE SPREADS DAILY

WASHINGTON, June 5 (UP)—The world's largest artificial lake is in the making behind Boulder Dam, which stems the Colorado river as it roars through Black Canyon between Arizona and Nevada.

The body of water, named Lake Mead in honor of the late Federal Reclamation Commissioner Elwood Mead, already contains 5,000,000 acre feet, about eight times the total capacity of all 24 reservoirs supplying New York City.

An acre-foot of water is the amount necessary to cover one acre of ground to the depth of one foot. When Lake Mead is entirely filled it will contain 30,500,000 acre feet. With the Colorado river's flood season barely underway, the lake is filling at the rate of about 119,400 acre feet a day. It now is 85 miles long, about half the length of Lake Ontario, is 303 feet deep and covers 42,000 acres.

RECENTS ARE SUED BY BANK RECEIVER ON MCDONALD STOCK

DALLAS, June 5 (AP)—Members of the board of regents of the University of Texas were named respondents in a suit filed today by Grover C. Wagner, receiver for the First National bank of Clarksville, in federal court.

The suit arises from a trust fund created from the estate of the late W. J. McDonald, set up for the purpose of building and observatory for the university.

Part of the estate was 50 $100 shares of the Clarksville bank stock on which an assessment of $3,000 was made when the institution went into receivership.

The plaintiff contends the university regents, trustees of the McDonald observatory fund, have failed to pay the assessment and asks the court for the amount he alleges is due the bank, plus interest.

NEGRO IS MEMBER OF FEDERAL COURT JURY

EL PASO, June 5 (UP)—For the first time in the memory of El Paso court attachés, a negro today sat on a federal court jury.

Federal District Judge Charles A. Boynton ordered the names of "good negro citizens" placed on the list of veniremen, and Frank A. Chalmers, negro laborer, was selected for jury service today.

He and 11 white jurors are hearing the $50,000 damage suit of M. E. Niederhorn, administrator, for the estate of J. W. Crowder, against the Paramount Pictures Distributing Corp., and W. M. Williams, driver of a Paramount automobile which allegedly hit and killed Crowder.
