Candidates' Bills To Date Over $3,700

Total Larger Than Former Years; Average More Than $50

Candidates seeking office in Howard county have spent a total of $3,716.08 in pushing their cause for election in the democratic primary of July 25, first reports filed with the county clerk showed today.

This is the largest total shown by candidates in several years on the first report and is due in a large measure to the early start of the political race. Many of the candidates have been carrying on a concerted campaign long before the usual time for "opening up."

Second filing July 17. Consequently second expense reports are expected to be somewhat lighter than in former years. They must be in by July 17. Third and final report is due after the first primary.

Amounts expended by candidates range from $148.75 to $90 with the average well above $50.

As state local political observers estimated that the amount listed by candidates on their expense accounts represents about one-third of actual expenditures.

FREEZERS DEFEATED 14 TO 5

(By HANK HART) Staking Roscoe Van Zandt to a three-run advantage in the opening stanza and adding five runs to that in their next time at bat, the Codden Chemists breezed through the Frost Freezers, 14-5, Tuesday night in their fight for first place in the Munny softball loop.

The Soda Skeets scored in each of the first three innings, but the big right hander, pitching easily, was never in serious trouble. He gave up another two runs in the sixth frame when he forced Smith across by walking Garcia with the bases loaded, and Scott went home as Duley rolled out.

Former Heavy-Weight Fighters Underrated

Experts Study Muddled Fight Picture By HARRY GRAYSON NEW YORK, July 1.—Trained observers called Joe Louis the first worth while heavyweight since Gene Tunney. Those in-between fighters—Schmeling, Sharkey, Carnera, Baer, and Braddock—were phonies who chisled and elbowed their way to the top. They were the best of a sorry lot—the maximum of mediocrity.

Your opinion is as good as mine, which is that the best busting business is softening up. As though Max Schmeling exploding the myth that was Louis wasn't enough, the 33-year-old Jack Sharkey gets off the floor to trounce young Phil Brubaker in Boston. Brubaker came out of California heralded as the prize prospect of the period. Such a schooled instructor as Robert Edgren, the famous sports writer and cartoonist, vouched for him. Before Louis turned out to be the Dark Duke, Pacific coast critics said that Brubaker could whip any white heavyweight. When Louis discovered that a fighter couldn't be taught how to take a smack on the chin, authorities of the golden slope visioned Brubaker as the next champion.

So what? So Sharkey shows more aggressiveness and viciousness against Brubaker than he ever exhibited in his heyday. Inspired, no doubt, by the victory of the Schmeling whom he fouled into the championship and from whom he won the title two years later, the former got created a perfect setup for an old home week among the heavyweights. If Schmeling could flatten Louis, there is no reason why the Max Baer, who stopped the German, can't get back in a sort of consolation tournament. If Sharkey could outgallop Brubaker, the Primo Carnera who ironed out the synthetic Irishman, ought to get out of that hospital bed. Johnny Risako wants in, and maybe Paulino Uscudun should be included too. After all, the championship is in the hands of James J. Braddock, who has been beaten so often that statisticians have lost track of his reverses. Mike Jacobs, who inched in as the foremost promoter of pugilistic productions while the Garden was sleeping at the switch, pro-esses to be in a quandry in regard to an August attraction. But the problem really is quite simple, as a matter of fact. The solution is to make four matches out of the group of Irishy has-beens, Schmeling, Sharkey, Baer, Carnera, Paulino, Risako, Loughran, and Lomski. The survivor of that wouldn't have suffered half as much as the customers who then would have to watch him fight Braddock. A meeting between Braddock and the survivor of the suggested tournament also would decide the waiting championship. All hands waited long enough before they got hot. The washed-up used to be bridge eagerness to fight Johnny-Come-Lately's just for the exercise is a sad commentary on the current class of peagreens. Schmeling asserted that he wasn't interested in the money when he arrived to meet Louis. The German proved that he was sincere by passing up another fortune to hurry back to the Fatherland. Now that they are worth $500,000 and $250,000, respectively, Schmeling and Sharkey have decided that, after all, boxing is a lot of fun. It now is plain that their inspections of the present talent did not tend to make them take fighting any more seriously. This appears to be a great year for the rehabilitation of broken-down heavyweights. Why, late reports have even my old pals Heywood Brown and Rodney Duicher wincing decisions. They had been Jim Jeffries to that Burbank ranch. Nothing counts any more. Anything can happen.

Manero Rises, 4 LOCAL TEAMS TO COMPETE

Harry Classed As One Of Unluckiest Big-Time Golfers By LAWSON LITTLE DAVENPORT, Ia., July 1.—The open championship which was held at famous old Baltusrol is now past history. It like all championships, carried along with it both sorrow and joy to little Tony Manero of Sedgfield Country club, Greensboro, N. C., extreme joy and happiness was the result. To Harry Cooper of Chicago, the tournament represented another string to his unlucky golfing career.

Manero, when it seemed the best he could do was second place made Cooper's last stand on the final round, but unlike Cooper, he won out doing a marvelous 67, five under par, that fitted into his earlier rounds of 73, 69 and 73 to give him the record winning score of 282, and of course, the championship. Cooper's 284 Looked Good Before the shadows of the afternoon had become very long, Harry Cooper finished his fourth round in the fourth open championship of the United States in 73 strokes. This added to his rounds of 71, 70, and 70 gave him a record-breaking score of 284 for the 72-hole round of the tourney. Hundreds of friends and thousands of golfing fans cheered and congratulated him as he came off the final hole as the winner of the open. Harry and his beautiful wife were happy. They had every right to be. He has a better medal average over a period of five years than any of his brother-professionals. And he thought for once that he had the championship, that had so long eluded him tucked safely in his pocket. In 1927 at Oakmont, he finished early and the championship seemed his when out of a clear sky Tommy Armour came in with a hot round and tied him. The next day Tommy won the play-off.

A few months ago the same thing happened to Harry at Augusta. He again was the apparent winner with four sensational rounds that were claimed by critics as great golfing feats under very trying conditions. Then Horton Smith with the putting touch of an inspired genius came in to snatch victory from Harry. Has Faced Many Disappointments In the press rooms of Oakmont in 1927, at Augusta, and a few weeks ago, Harry had the honor of being named as the apparent winner of these tournaments and all the press correspondents had their stories ready for the wires. Each time something happened. Harry didn't win. This sort of medicine is hard to swallow, but Harry has a stout heart—many other players would undoubtedly have been broken by his new disappointment to his brilliant career, but not Harry! Light Horse Harry Cooper can take it. He has taken it in the past and he is big enough to take it this time. Cooper has the best game of all those now engaged in competition, he has the determination and the heart. Some day, he will win the open championship and establish a new record. My solution for him until he should start out last in the championship, then no one could beat him out when he finished as the apparent winner. Going back to Tony Manero, I do not intend to detract from his win. Tony broke the 20-year-old record of 286 held by Chick Evans when the latter won the championship at Minikahda in 1916. Manero, like Sarazen, is another of Italy's favored sons. He started his golfing career as a caddy at the Westchester club near metropolitan New York. He first came into prominence when he won the Catalina open in 1929.

Manero Long Off Tee For His Size He is slight of build but his long tee shot for his size. His short game is one of envy, however. His iron is usually of the left to right type that so frequently leave the ball quite close to the pin. This is the style of play used by Sarazen and Joe Turnesa when they are at their best. Tony uses a slightly abbreviated backswing, but it is fairly upright. His wrist action is strangely rather limited, so the distance he gets comes from the strength he puts behind the shot, and not from an uncocking of the wrists. Manero will probably play a series of exhibition matches in the near future, and to those who may have the opportunity of seeing him, I would like to suggest that benefit may be derived from carefully noting how still he holds his body while playing the short shots. Another tip is his not too slow backswing. But above all are his like manners and his winning smile. "Congratulations and good luck, Tony!"

Stars Galore In 400 There are two other spectacular negroes, Archie Williams and Jimmy LaValle, from the west coast, to support Syracuse's Eddie O'Brien in the 400. Williams has beaten the world record with a 461 performance. There's Ben Eastman, another world record-breaker, for the 800. With England's 1932 champion, Tom Hampson, out of competition, Eastman will be the Olympic favorite. America has at least a fighting chance in the classic 1,500, if Gene Venzke or Glenn Cunningham can reproduce some of their great races. Indiana's Don Lash, by shattering Perlo Nurm's world 2-mile record, projected himself into the battle for distance-racing honors, hitherto monopolized by Finland.

Britain and her far-flung empire, from all advance indications, will furnish the main opposition for America in the middle distances. This includes the 400, 800 and 1,600 meters. The Olympic champion, Italy's Luigi Beccali, will be back for the "metric mile," but it's significant that Jack Lovelock, the world's most accomplished milier (in the opinion of most American observers), has decided to train for the 5,000 meters instead of risking all chance for Olympic victory in another duel with Stander Wooderson, newest British ace. Wooderson has beaten Lovelock twice so convincingly that he looms as the man for them all to beat in the 1,500.

Distances Debatable Finland's distance runners will be challenged not only by Lash, but also by Juan Carlos Zabala, the Argentine who won the 1932 marathon, and a group of Japanese. Zabala will bid for 10,000-meter honors, besides trying to repeat in the marathon. Lehtinen and Iso-Hollo, 1932 winners in the 5,000 and steeplechase, head the strong Finnish array. Unless the games unfold some surprises, America's only real opposition in the hurdles will come from England's Don Finlay, an accomplished performer over the high sticks. The frequency with which such Americans as Forrest Towns of Georgia and his California rivals have been knocking over world records has increased U. S. confidence, but it is well to remember that accidents can upset any and all calculations in this specialty. Glenn Hardin's return to form, for the 400-meter low hurdles, fortifies the Yanks in this event, won four years ago by Ireland's Bob Tisdall. The Louisiana star likely will have strong support. For the steeplechase we have the veteran Joe McCluskey, a point-winner in 1935. Nevertheless, the Finns seem to have control of the steeplechase situation, judging from European reports.

In 1927 at Oakmont, he finished early and the championship seemed his when out of a clear sky Tommy Armour came in with a hot round and tied him. The next day Tommy won the play-off.

A few months ago the same thing happened to Harry at Augusta. He again was the apparent winner with four sensational rounds that were claimed by critics as great golfing feats under very trying conditions. Then Horton Smith with the putting touch of an inspired genius came in to snatch victory from Harry. Has Faced Many Disappointments In the press rooms of Oakmont in 1927, at Augusta, and a few weeks ago, Harry had the honor of being named as the apparent winner of these tournaments and all the press correspondents had their stories ready for the wires. Each time something happened. Harry didn't win. This sort of medicine is hard to swallow, but Harry has a stout heart—many other players would undoubtedly have been broken by his new disappointment to his brilliant career, but not Harry! Light Horse Harry Cooper can take it. He has taken it in the past and he is big enough to take it this time. Cooper has the best game of all those now engaged in competition, he has the determination and the heart. Some day, he will win the open championship and establish a new record. My solution for him until he should start out last in the championship, then no one could beat him out when he finished as the apparent winner. Going back to Tony Manero, I do not intend to detract from his win. Tony broke the 20-year-old record of 286 held by Chick Evans when the latter won the championship at Minikahda in 1916. Manero, like Sarazen, is another of Italy's favored sons. He started his golfing career as a caddy at the Westchester club near metropolitan New York. He first came into prominence when he won the Catalina open in 1929.

Manero Long Off Tee For His Size He is slight of build but his long tee shot for his size. His short game is one of envy, however. His iron is usually of the left to right type that so frequently leave the ball quite close to the pin. This is the style of play used by Sarazen and Joe Turnesa when they are at their best. Tony uses a slightly abbreviated backswing, but it is fairly upright. His wrist action is strangely rather limited, so the distance he gets comes from the strength he puts behind the shot, and not from an uncocking of the wrists. Manero will probably play a series of exhibition matches in the near future, and to those who may have the opportunity of seeing him, I would like to suggest that benefit may be derived from carefully noting how still he holds his body while playing the short shots. Another tip is his not too slow backswing. But above all are his like manners and his winning smile. "Congratulations and good luck, Tony!"

Stars Galore In 400 There are two other spectacular negroes, Archie Williams and Jimmy LaValle, from the west coast, to support Syracuse's Eddie O'Brien in the 400. Williams has beaten the world record with a 461 performance. There's Ben Eastman, another world record-breaker, for the 800. With England's 1932 champion, Tom Hampson, out of competition, Eastman will be the Olympic favorite. America has at least a fighting chance in the classic 1,500, if Gene Venzke or Glenn Cunningham can reproduce some of their great races. Indiana's Don Lash, by shattering Perlo Nurm's world 2-mile record, projected himself into the battle for distance-racing honors, hitherto monopolized by Finland.

Britain and her far-flung empire, from all advance indications, will furnish the main opposition for America in the middle distances. This includes the 400, 800 and 1,600 meters. The Olympic champion, Italy's Luigi Beccali, will be back for the "metric mile," but it's significant that Jack Lovelock, the world's most accomplished milier (in the opinion of most American observers), has decided to train for the 5,000 meters instead of risking all chance for Olympic victory in another duel with Stander Wooderson, newest British ace. Wooderson has beaten Lovelock twice so convincingly that he looms as the man for them all to beat in the 1,500.

Distances Debatable Finland's distance runners will be challenged not only by Lash, but also by Juan Carlos Zabala, the Argentine who won the 1932 marathon, and a group of Japanese. Zabala will bid for 10,000-meter honors, besides trying to repeat in the marathon. Lehtinen and Iso-Hollo, 1932 winners in the 5,000 and steeplechase, head the strong Finnish array. Unless the games unfold some surprises, America's only real opposition in the hurdles will come from England's Don Finlay, an accomplished performer over the high sticks. The frequency with which such Americans as Forrest Towns of Georgia and his California rivals have been knocking over world records has increased U. S. confidence, but it is well to remember that accidents can upset any and all calculations in this specialty. Glenn Hardin's return to form, for the 400-meter low hurdles, fortifies the Yanks in this event, won four years ago by Ireland's Bob Tisdall. The Louisiana star likely will have strong support. For the steeplechase we have the veteran Joe McCluskey, a point-winner in 1935. Nevertheless, the Finns seem to have control of the steeplechase situation, judging from European reports.

New Lockers Installed At Bath House

Swimming Pool Layout Is Now About Complete In Equipment

The recent addition of lockers to the dressing rooms of the Big Spring municipal swimming pool was another step in local officials' drive to give the swimmers who click the turnstiles the greatest comfort while swimming.

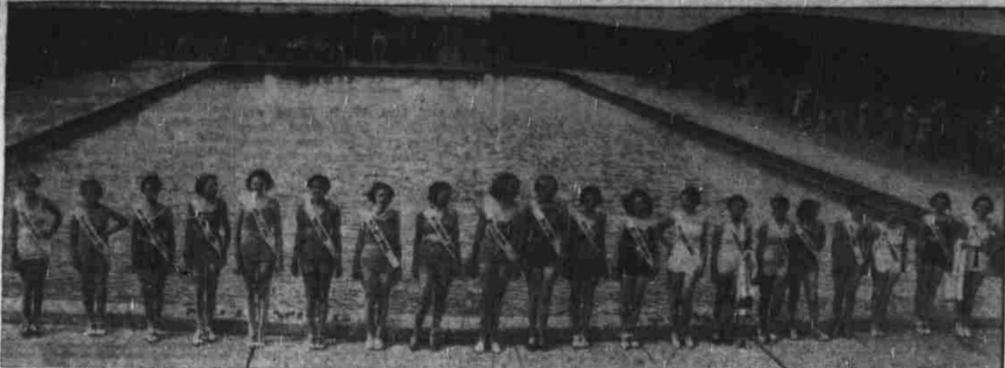

From locker room to diving board, the natatorium is just about complete. Number of lockers now totals 47 and these are being used both by the swimmers and the golfers.

All of the equipment around the pool, including the diving boards, framework, the lighting fixtures and the life guard's seat, is of steel construction, built for lasting service.

Both diving boards were put together in several pieces, differing from the old style. The double jointed boards afford more freedom in springing into the water.

Life Guard On Duty
On duty throughout the day is A. W. Crocker, a sun-tanned Lufkin boy who has been called into service several times already. Crocker worked for a time in a boys' camp around his home town.

SCENE LIKE THIS WILL BE REENACTED ON SATURDAY

Bathing beauties will appear again at Big Spring's municipal swimming pool on the evening of July 4th, when a West Texas wide elimination in the "Queen of the Centennial" contest will be staged. Fifty girls will be chosen to represent the area in a final at Dallas. This picture was taken when a similar event was held last month, to select Big Spring's representative in the Frontier Follies contest at Fort Worth.

Water In Pool Is Sanitary At All Times

Modern Methods Employed To Insure Cleanliness For Swimmers

Many compliments have been received by the people of Big Spring concerning the recently completed swimming pool, its modern beauty, and water that is forever fresh and clear.

Other pools in this part of the country can boast of their appearance but few would measure up to the local one when the question of the freshness and cleanliness of the water arises for the water is forever being circulated, filtered, cleaned, and run in again.

The water is taken out of the pool by booster pumps, run through sand and a solution of chlorine to kill all bacteria and foreign substances. From there it is pumped back into the pool.

Chlorine Used
A certain amount of chlorine is circulated in the pool at all times. The bottom and sides are cleaned by suction pumps and are given periodical treatments by what is known as the Algae Water Pump.

The irrigation system is not completed as yet but is scheduled to be in readiness in the near future. Automatic pumps will pick up the water and carry it to the park or to hydrants near the Mundy golf course greens.

before assuming his duties here. Manager Charles Arkey and his wife are on duty most of the time but on rush days are forced to employ help to handle all the business.

Concrete benches on the embankment around the pool will enable the spectators to sit in comfort while witnessing the coming beauty pageant. People will be forced to leave their automobiles in order to get a view of the show since parking space is several feet below the level of the pool.

LOOKS LIKE SWELL FUN

These divers seem to be enjoying a plunge into the municipal swimming pool—and all West Texans are invited to participate in the same fun on July 4th. One view is from the springboard, snapped as the diver cleaves the water; the other, a spectator's view of a diver in mid-air.

Each bather is required to take a shower and foot bath before entering the water. Showers are equipped with both hot and cold water while foot baths at the entrances to the steps contain a solution of chlorine.

The benches and walls of the bath house, too, undergo treatment daily to kill any possible germs that a person might bring.

Chlorine tests and temperature readings are taken twice daily and services of a laboratory are called upon once a month for complete examination of the plant.

One need not worry today as he once did upon going to a public swimming pool for the local natatorium is now one of the best health-giving forms of recreation in this part of the country.

Townsendites Meet July 15

Cleveland Convention Will Be Asked To Take Stand On Party Lineup

CLEVELAND, July 1. (UP)—A flag will creep up a pole on Cleveland's public square and a band will play on the morning of July 15 to open formally the second annual convention of the followers of Dr. Francis E. Townsend.

Confronting the five-day meeting of 15,000 delegates from every state will be the invitation to join with the Union party.

Taking their cue from Dr. Townsend, founder of the old age pension organization, the vanguard of leaders here to close arrangements for the convention in public auditorium make no prediction as to action on the third party proposal.

The leader of the 330-month-old age pension organization has said the convention must decide whether to affiliate with the N. U. S. J. and possibly other progressive groups.

Holds New Interest
The Townsend convention, consequently, takes on new significance and interest for Clevelanders who relaxed with the departure of republican national convention delegates to the stride of the summer-long Great Lakes exposition.

Hundreds of householders prepare to open their homes to the representatives of some 5,000 Townsend clubs who will find hotel rooms unavailable. The daily

Aviation Thrills, Comedy Combined In Queen Picture

Power dives in a naval pursuit plane headed straight down at the camera will give theatergoers a new type thrill in "Navy Born," a hilarious naval aviation comedy which brings William Gargan, Claire Dodd, Claudia Coleman, Douglas Fowley and others to the Queen theater Wednesday and Thursday.

Climbing 3,000 feet into the sky, an official test pilot put his plane into the power dive toward the camera. He was only 100 feet above the open lens when he straightened out.

"Navy Born" is a swift-paced story of bachelor naval aviators who inherit a two-week-old baby, having pledged themselves to adopt and train it into an eventual admiral. Miss Dodd, as the child's wealthy aunt who tries to get the baby boy into her possession, provides complications which create many amusing situations.

Lubbock, a hot-bed of tennis activity, will enter twelve players, according to word received by the tourney directors.

The city park courts were completed this year after a movement had been started about two years ago to replace the worn high school courts which were torn up recently.

Play will start Friday at 9 a. m. Preliminaries and quarterfinals will be run off on the 3rd and 4th sem-finals and finals on the 4th. A small entry fee will be charged, 25c for singles and 50c a team for doubles.

City To Be Decorated With Flags And Bunting For Holiday; Some Business Houses To Be Closed

Big Spring will be gaily bedecked in national colors for the July 4th celebration here Saturday.

Red, white and blue bunting will be strung along the fronts of business houses in the downtown section while streamers will be hung across intersections of principal streets.

An appeal will be made to have each business house place its flag in its stand in front of the store in honor of Independence Day and the celebration here.

The American flag will be unfurled from public buildings here, the post office, courthouse and senior high school displaying the colors during the day.

Decorated Cars
As has been a custom in the past, scores will decorate their cars with flags and appropriately colored crepe paper streamers, many accomplishing the red, white and blue also effect on wheels of their car.

Residents are asked to join in the festivities by displaying a flag or bunting at their home during Saturday, both to celebrate July 4 and to welcome hundreds of visitors to Big Spring.

Many of the stores will close but a few will remain open due to the holiday falling on Saturday. Included in the list of stores planning to close are the following: La Mode, The Vogue, Omar Pitman jewelry store, Waits jewelry store, Hollywood Shoppe, Victor Mellinger, Sam Fisherman, The Fashion, Levine's, The Army Store, Albert M. Fisher, Kimberlin's, O'Rear's Bootery, J. C. Penney company, Dr. Amos E. Wood, Lee Hanson, Ladies' Salon, Modern Cleaners, Cornelson Bros., Settles Cleaners, Mrs. Roy Green, J. & W. Fishers, Montgomery Ward company, United Dry Goods, G. F. Wacker, F. W. Woolworth company, Burr's, Elmo Wasson and L. C. Dudley.

will center at the city park but amusement at the local theaters will be offered for those who wish to escape the heat of mid afternoon. At the Ritz Edward G. Robinson's latest picture will be shown. Entitled "Bullets and Ballots," Robinson is highly praised for an excellent performance in a play that is highly exciting and entertaining. Western shows are playing at the Lyric and Queen for the western fans.

High spot of the day and culmination of the day's celebrations will be the dance to be held from the Crystal ballroom of the Settles hotel. Jimmy Ross' orchestra, very popular in this section, will play from nine until twelve to Big Spring dance lovers, and bring the happily opened Fourth to a glorious close.

Oilers Face Angelo Nine

Hottly-Contested Baseball Game On Tap Here For Independence Day

Fitting in with the gala July 4th celebration to be held here Saturday, Manager Spike Henninger has lined up tough competition for his Cosden Oilers.

Back in the old days of the top West Texas semi-pro baseball league, probably no two teams played more hotly contested games than did San Angelo's Sheep Herders and the Big Spring Cowboys. Those teams clash again Saturday. Most of the players will be back, but the Angelo team is known as the Ellis Parts club and is entered in the Concho Basin circuit, while the independent Big Spring team is backed by the Cosden Refinery.

John Hobough, skipper of the Tom Green county team, is expected to have the pick of the Concho Basin team players to pit against Spike Henninger's experienced crew.

Ace Hurric's Ready
Henninger has promised to have his best line-up on the field, and will have his three mound aces on hand so as to have a fresh flinger ready for service if the Cosdenites get in a pinch.

All members of the hurling staff will be ready to go against the visitors on the 4th, according to Henninger, but the starting assignment may fall on the shoulders of Allen Wiggins, Foran speedster, who at times has shown amazing versatility in his pitching. John Hill and Pap Payne will also be ready for duty.

Flashing out the signals behind the plate will be "Mileaway" Baker, who has caught all of the Oilers games to date. The veteran Oklahoman is one of the trio of .300 hitters on the squad.

Others in the lineup
Jake Morgan, Milton "Speedy" Moffett, Charley Spikes and Horace Wallin will compose the infield array, while Pepper Martin, Miller Harris and "Skeets" West will handle the outfield posts.

Cosden sluggers batting at the rate of .300 or better are Jake Morgan, Logan Baker and Pap Payne. Others are in striking distance and

HOLIDAY PRECAUTIONS

With celebration time rolling near, the press is very properly urging mothers and fathers to caution their children against the dangers that may be encountered.

Year after year the newspapers, on the morning after the big Fourth of July observances, are filled with stories of tragic accidents caused from fireworks, air rifles, cap pistols, slingshots, darts and other devices which children love to own and believe in their young hearts are necessary for a good time on the Fourth.

But Lewis H. Carris, managing director of the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, has issued an appeal to American parents to lend their whole-hearted assistance in making this year's celebration safer for children.

Increasing numbers of cities and states are regulating the sale of explosives and making every effort to cut down the number of accidents. Despite the agitation by safety organizations for a ban on fireworks and allied dangers, these agencies cannot prevent accidents among children whose parents are willing for them to take a chance.

About 70 children in the United States last year were made totally blind through accidents, most of them occurring around Independence Day. An even larger number, about 750, had their eyes injured in varying degrees of seriousness.

Not large figures, one might argue, for a nation with such a great population and which counts its traffic and drowning deaths by the thousand; but think of the sorrow in the homes of these boys and girls. It might easily have been in one's own home, and then the tragedy, coming closer to the heart becomes more appalling.

Man About Manhattan

By George Tucker

NEW YORK—Among other swains who have been romantically attracted to Paulette Goddard, whose marriage to Charles Chaplin often has been rumored, is a young fiction scribbler who became infatuated with her dark type of beauty long before he ever saw her.

Dining alone in a Miami Beach hotel, he was pleasantly startled when the young actress drifted in. The point that concerned him most was how to effect an introduction without obtrusively thrusting himself upon her.

Mildly amazed, he glanced up and beheld his old friend, George Wright (who was the father of organized baseball), dining alone at a nearby table.

"This is delightful!" she enthused, after mastering her amazement. "How did you know today is my birthday?"

Most daily I receive inquiries from various sections of the country—from a Connecticut industrial town, a Mississippi prison, a Texas ranch, a California fruit farm, a North Carolina factory.

Well, that's a tough one and frankly I can't answer it. But I can remind them: That Edgar Allan Poe never became discouraged, even though "The Raven" brought him only $15.

That Zane Grey (who has made more than $1,000,000 by writing) never lost faith in the face of repeated rebuffs. At one point in his career he nearly starved.

And that not even prison could ally O. Henry's inexorable determination to succeed. They had what it takes, and when you've got it, they say, you'll get there—if you're willing to take a chance.

Next to producing a Broadway show, Eddie Dowling would rather lead a political rally than anything else. Leaping to the stump and giving spirited orations is his definition of having fun.

The Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

This is the fourth of a series of articles on the Roosevelt family. The next, on Elliott Roosevelt, will follow next week.

WASHINGTON—Anna Roosevelt Boettiger is the apple of her father's eye, and she deserves to be. Vivacious, frank, straight-from-the-shoulder, she has the charm of both parents, her mother's energy and a surprising amount of common sense.

The other Roosevelt children have a long way to go before they wear off the rough edges, but Anna makes up for a lot of their shortcomings.

Probably the best criterion by which to appraise any woman, whether she lives in a tenement or sits in the seats of the mighty, is her children. Raising children in the White House may lack the physical advantages of a tenement, but in some respects it is harder.

How well Anna succeeded will not be known for years to come. But she worked at it hard. No school morning passed during those very busy social days, without Anna, no matter how late she had been up the night before, coming down to breakfast with her children at 8:15, driving them to school herself.

Now that they have left the White House and gone to live in New York, Anna has laid down the rule that as far as she can control it, Sistle and Buzzie are to sink completely out of the public eye and become normal, everyday children, caring far less for the fact that their grandfather is president of the United States than for chocolate ice cream with marshmallow sauce.

That is why she will not even let her mother mention a word about Sistle and Buzzie in press conferences.

The two years which Anna Dall (her name at that time) spent in the White House were not particularly happy ones, although on the surface they seemed to be.

She was, naturally, the most sought-after young woman in Washington, and there were few functions of any importance to which she was not invited. She attended many, always made friends, remembered names, was never shy. Hbuteur was not in her make-up. She had no airs or affectations.

At the age of 19, Anna had married Curtis B. Dall, a very polite and pleasant young man, who made a good appearance and worked reasonably hard. It was one of those adolescent infatuations that did not take.

Even before her father was elected, a divorce obviously was in the offing. Anna took the campaign trip with her father, but without Dall. And after the Roosevelts entered the White House, Dall came down for only an occasional weekend visit.

In making her own life, Anna has made considerable money through radio broadcasting and magazine articles. But she has a most frank and naive way of admitting when she is broke.

Embarking on a train from Boston to Washington, she found that the conductor had set aside a drawing room for her.

"The president's daughter can't ride in a lower berth," he said, feeling certain there had been a mistake.

"I've got exactly $4.53 here," she said. "If you want to give me a drawing room for that, I'm perfectly satisfied."

"Makes up lower four," the conductor told the porter. The reason Anna was so anxious to earn extra money by writing and broadcasting was not generally known.

John Boettiger, while reporting for the Chicago Tribune, was Roosevelt's severest critic. His future father-in-law always treated him with the greatest consideration, however. It was understood that Boettiger wrote the stories under orders from The Tribune.

Boettiger obtained a job with Will Hays, the movie czar, at a reported salary of $30,000. Sistle Dall now prefers to be called "Eleanor" (her real name) after her grandmother.

Anna Boettiger is a great daughter of the Roosevelt family. She is living a relatively quiet, very normal life, very much in love with her handsome husband. And the reports are that there is just one thing Anna will not permit him to do—entertain any aspirations for taking her back to the White House.

Chapter 17
SUDDEN TRAGEDY

Hope and Dirk went together to the gray stone house in Twenty-second street. At its door she hesitated, then asked, "Could you let me have some money?"

"He took $30 from his bill-fold, of forced to write a check if she needed more."

"No," she said, and thanked him. "This will do."

She took the money and went inside, asking him to wait on the step. After about twenty minutes she came out.

"I'm ready," she said.

"She was taking nothing back with her but the guitar."

Snow, spew falling infinitely, steadily, without hurry.

Dirk stood at his bedroom window in his dressing-gown, and watched the snow. He had tried to read, but made no headway. Rupert had been home a week. He was recovering certainly, though he still looked shaken and pale. He had gone this morning, roughly bundled in rugs, for a ride with Hope, Martin driving them. The nurses had been discharged.

What Rupert's sudden turning to his wife might signify, Dirk could only conjecture. Whether it was, as he had suggested to Hope, the mere vagary of a sick man, or whether the new mood involved a definite change of heart, Dirk saw too little of either Hope or Rupert to determine. Husband and wife had their meals together upstairs, and on those occasions when Dirk had visited Rupert in his room, Hope had withdrawn.

Dirk knew of course that Hope was only marking time, only waiting till Rupert was well again, when she would leave. But he would know this time when she went. She had promised to tell him and she would keep her word. He, too, would keep his word. He would not stop her, or try to stop close to the old kas. A small dark stain was spreading on his back, dyeing the familiar brown dressing-gown. The bullet had gone through. The pistol lying there had sent its bullet clear through.

Something like a wound went through Dirk's own breast. My God, and we were playing backgammon not an hour ago.

He took a handkerchief from the pocket of his dressing-gown, dropped it over the pistol. Then he her. He would merely go with her. Nothing could prevent him.

He started, thinking he heard a cry. A woman's cry. And now, almost instantly, a shot—a stammering shot, like backfire from an engine. Yet it had been too close for backfire, and from the wrong direction.

He was in the hall. He listened. There was no sound anywhere.

It should not be so still behind Hope's door. He tried that door. It was locked. He tried Rupert's door. It opened. The light was on, but the room was empty.

Hope's light burned, too. The door stood open. Dirk was in Hope's room before he knew.

Hope stood in her nightgown, leaning against the column of the bed. Her eyes were dazed as if she were walking in her sleep. Rupert lay face down at her feet.

The pearl-handled revolver was on the floor between them.

Dirk rose from kneeling beside his brother, and confronted Hope. Close to him now, her dazed eyes stared back, seeming not to see him. Suddenly she crumpled, was in his arms. He lifted her, carried her toward the door.

Timothy, pale, half-dressed, hurried before him, turning back for directions.

"The south bedroom," Dirk said. Distinctly he remembered that the south bedroom had been made ready for the Rev. Devine. Somehow, Mary, too, was in the room, turning down the bed. Dirk laid Hope within it. Her eyes were half-shut, her lips parted. She seemed not to breathe.

Timothy had gone out. Dirk met him coming from the tower-room. Timothy's voice was almost inaudible.

"Shall I call . . ."

"Call Dr. Rann across the street," Dirk said. "That's the quickest."

Rann came at once. Rupert, he said, had died instantly.

Dirk telephoned to Connolly, Rupert's friend, and chief-of-police. Connolly, he knew, would bring the coroner. They must come, of course, as they would learn nothing from Hope tonight. Rann, who was with her now, had said at once that she must not be questioned.

Rupert lay just within the room.

picked the pistol up and broke it open. One shot was gone. The pistol had been fully reloaded, and one shot only had been fired.

Strange. Strange, that he wiped the weapon carefully, and laid it down again. But he did not lay it where it had been—close to the spot where Hope had stood.

He laid it beside Rupert's hand. The pearl handle close to Rupert's hand.

"Forgive me, old man."

It wouldn't matter now. Nothing mattered now to that prone body in its monk-like robe. The very gesture of the out-flung arms showed that nothing mattered now.

"I was afraid of this," Connolly said when he arrived.

He and Bassett, the coroner, had at last come out of the tower-room. They talked with Dirk in the hall.

"I was afraid," Connolly repeated. "When he didn't come back from Big Moose I got worried. Things he said once or twice, the way he acted. He made his will last month, I suppose you know."

Dirk said that he had not known, but since Rupert had just got married.

"I know. And he seemed more cheerful yesterday when I called. And his wife talking care of him so well. Even in his note he left no reason."

"You had a note?" Dirk asked.

"The note on his desk," Connolly said. "The note addressed to you."

He took the note from his pocket and handed it to Dirk.

"I supposed of course you'd found it. It was not even folded—just lying open on his desk."

They were standing near Dirk's door. Dirk went into his room to read his brother's note.

CONTINUES ATTACK ON USE OF CONVICT OIL DRILLING CREWS

BEAUMONT, July 1—Carrying his fight against the use of convict drilling crews into the twin petroleum industrial centers of Port Arthur and Beaumont, W. H. (Bill) McDonald of Eastland County, candidate for state land commissioner, declared Tuesday in his speeches that he would carry the two cities over his South Texas opponent.

"There are 140,000 persons employed in the oil industry and they are going to vote against any man who favors displacing citizens with convicts," McDonald said. "This would be the opening wedge to use convicts to deprive workers of jobs in other industries."

Sentiment ordinarily to be expected on behalf of his opponent in South Texas has not developed

$1,200,000 Hall Of State, Soon To Be Open, Will Stand As Permanent Memorial To Pioneers Of Texas

DALLAS, July 1. (UP)—Gleaming white under the Texas sun stands the $1,200,000 Texas Hall of State.

This huge structure, most magnificent building on the Texas Centennial exposition grounds, is a permanent memorial to the pioneers who won Texas independence in 1836.

Soon to be open to the public, the hall of state represents an expenditure of $1,000,000 for construction and $200,000 for decoration and equipment.

The building will house a collection of historical relics and articles during the exposition period—afterward it will stand solely as a monument.

The visitor entering the main gates of the exposition can see the shining whiteness of the beautiful structure at the far end of the Esplanade of State.

Niche of Heroes

The great reflecting pool, extending down the center of the esplanade, mirrors the tall central portion of the building—designed as the niche of heroes.

This semi-circular opening, the roof of which is supported by six 80-foot columns, is the axis of the building which has three wings extending right and left to the rear from the central unit.

Colonnades with plain, square cut columns supporting run the full length from the center niche to the two extremities of the structure.

Outer walls are of cream-colored limestone. The base of the walls is trimmed in Texas granite.

The inner wall of the niche of heroes, which serves as the outer wall of the semi-circular hall of heroes, is faced with ceramic tile.

Five bronze doors open into the hall of heroes. Intervening between the niche of heroes and the joining of the three wings is the semi-circular hall of heroes, measuring 20 feet wide and 140 feet along its curved length or arc. The two front wings together with the space occupied by niche of heroes, present a total frontage of 360 feet. The rear wing extends back a distance of 160 feet.

The hall of heroes serves as an entrance foyer through which visitors reach the regional rooms, the great hall of Texas, the gardens, lecture room.

Bronze Statues

Six life-sized bronze portrait statues of great Texas revolutionary figures stand on marble pedestals in the hall of heroes. Figures include those of Sam Houston, Mirabeau Lamar, Thomas J. Rusk, Col. J. W. Fannin and William Barrett Travis.

The great hall of Texas, occupying the entire rear wing of the building, is a monument in itself. It is 96 feet in width and extends 90 feet in length. The ceiling of the vast room is 45 feet above the floor in contrast to the 22-foot ceilings in the regional halls.

The room is a monument to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the birth of Texas. The floor is composed of blocks of antique marble interspersed with decorated squares, depicting principal species of flora and fauna indigenous to Texas.

Walls are lined with wainscoting of marble eight feet high above which are great murals painted on canvas, treating of various subjects in the history of the state.

At the far end of the hall is an immense bronze disc, 24 feet in diameter and weighing several tons. It is symbolic of Texas.

Regional rooms are beautifully decorated, and contains displays of historical Texas documents and relics, gathered from all parts of the Lone Star state.

New Uses for Bacteria

LONDON (UP)—New industrial uses for bacteria are being sought by experts at the newly-established microbiological department of the government chemical research laboratory. Already bacteria provide vinegar and help plants produce food. They also are credited with making the Black Sea black by producing "hydrogen sulphide" in the mud of its shores.

Annual Pecos Rodeo Recalls The First Contest Held 53 Years Ago

HENRY C. SLACK

When the cowboys gather in Pecos, Texas, this fourth of July to celebrate National Independence Day, they will also celebrate the 53rd anniversary of the first rodeo ever held in America. Henry C. Slack, one of the original contestants, will lead the parade.

Tax To Cost Stockholders

Will Force Payment Of Dividend Earnings, Accountants Say

By RAYMOND BROOKS

AUSTIN, July 1—The next federal tax law will achieve the purpose of its authors, to compel corporations to pay out the net earnings in dividends, according to Texas accountants and income tax exports. It will save most of the corporations a part of their tax load, but will add taxes on the individual stockholders, who receive dividends. The corporation itself will pay if it holds back large undivided profit reserves.

The base tax on the taxable income of corporations starts at eight per cent on the first $2,000; includes 11 per cent on the next $12,000; 13 per cent on the next $25,000; and 15 per cent on the rest. Added to this is the surtax on undistributed corporate incomes; seven per cent on the first 10 per cent of retained income; 12 per cent on the next 10 per cent; 17 per cent on the next 20 per cent, and 27 per cent on all the rest.

Present upper bracket taxes are retained on excess profits.

The present exemption of dividends from the normal individual income taxes is withdrawn. The taxpayer will not be given credit for the four per cent normal tax heretofore allowed on corporate dividends, but these will be taxed the same as other income, although the corporation already has paid a tax of from eight to 15 per cent on this income.

Banks and insurance companies will pay a flat 15 per cent on their earnings, and will not incur the penalty on retaining earnings undistributed to stockholders, as will other corporations.

A two-fold object was found in the forced-dividend tax provision. One is that the individual, receiving his dividends, must make provision to spend or invest it, and thus cause an increased volume of trade. The other was that it is easier to get taxes on money actually changing hands, rather than hidden away in undistributed profits, and at the same time the power of the major corporations, through tremendous financial reserves, can be limited.

Out-of-town folk will be happy to spend the day July Fourth. City officials have announced that all visitors who have their own suits and towels may swim free of charge on the holiday. The pool will be open at any time when swimming and diving contests are not scheduled.

Officials said it would be impossible for the city to provide suits for the large crowd expected, but that those who have suits, or towels may use the pool at no charge. This is one of the city courtesies to holiday visitors.

STATEWIDE OIL AND GAS HEARING FIXED AT AUSTIN JULY 16

AUSTIN, July 1. (UP)—The railroad commission has called a statewide oil and gas proration hearing here July 16 and docketed the bi-state Rodessa oil field for first consideration.

E. O. Thompson, chairman, said Louisiana conservation officials would be invited to attend the hearing at which technical evidence will be presented by Texas engineers on the Texas portion of the field. Well spacing, drilling regulations and a casing program will be considered.

Inclusion of the Rodessa problem in the statewide hearing docket caused abandonment of a previous plan to hold a special hearing in East Texas. Commission engineers have been at work for some time preparing data from the 15 wells on the Texas side.

Nominations for purchase of oil and gas during August were called by the commission for use as a guide in readjusting production schedules. The July proration order, effective June 20, slashed 56-713 barrels daily from the Texas output in trimming the total to 1-127,843 barrels.

UNITED WILL OPEN SWEETWATER STORE

SWEETWATER, July 1.—Work is to be started next week on the Simmons building on the west side of the square, here, remodeling the place before occupancy by the United Dry Goods Co., Inc., which maintains headquarters in El Paso.

Closing of the lease with the United Dry Goods Co. was announced by C. R. Simmons, laundry operator and owner of the building. Jess Hemby, local contractor, has been awarded the job of remodeling the place.

It is estimated that the work will require 30 days, with the company planning to open the store about Aug. 1. A modern front with 15-foot show windows and planned.

This is to be the fifteenth store in the group headed by Harmon Krupp, prominent El Paso citizen, whose son, M. B. Krupp was here Tuesday making arrangements for opening of the Sweetwater store. Mrs. Krupp is here with him.

GOVERNMENT GIVEN PERMISSION TO PAY RAILROAD PENSIONS

WASHINGTON, July 1. (UP)—Justice Jennings Bailey of District of Columbia federal court yesterday gave the government permission to pay railroad pensions in a formal decree clarifying his recent decision invalidating portions of the 1935 Railroad Retirement act.

After a four-hour conference with government and railroad lawyers, he signed an injunction forbidding collection of a 3 1/2 per cent payroll tax and an equal levy on employes' wages.

He also enjoined the railroad retirement board from requiring railroads to furnish personnel records at their expense, but added that the board might obtain the records at its own expense.

Murray W. Latimer, retirement board chairman, said that $46,000,000 in pensions might be paid from the general revenue funds under this decree.

Since Chrysler interests have designated the revue here as one of four zone elimination contests in Texas, efforts to have a large field entered have been doubled.

Responses from softball teams and tennis players of this section have indicated that phase of the celebration will be a success.

Roosevelt May Go To Canada Soon

WASHINGTON, July 1. (UP)—President Roosevelt said today he might pay a visit to Lord Tweeddale, governor general of Canada, at Quebec some time early in August.

He said he might go to Canada after a two weeks' cruise along the coast of Maine, but his plans as yet were uncertain.

The president's present program is to board a 45-foot schooner "somewhere to the eastward" of Portland, Maine. He declined to state the name of the port. The schooner in which he is to sail during the last two weeks of July is about five feet longer than the Amberjack, on which he made a similar cruise in 1932.

The president said the name of the schooner was Sewanna. He said it was not Susanna—apparently a reference to "Oh, Susanna," republican campaign song.

Calf Sold for $75

SPENCER, Ia. (UP)—The Spencer Red Cross chapter held a unique sale recently to raise funds to aid tornado victims in the Iowa lake region. A calf was sold over and over by two auctioneers, each purchaser sending it back into the sales ring. When the auctioneers halted the sale, $75.75 had been forwarded to the Red Cross.

Deficit Nears Five Billions

Income Estimate Includes $529,000,000 Expected In Process Taxes

WASHINGTON, July 1. (UP)—The government closed its 1936 fiscal year last night with the latest tabulations—for June 27—showing receipts of $4,086,425,554 and a deficit in excess of $4,723,000,000.

The income compared with President Roosevelt's budget estimate of $4,410,000,000, a calculation which, however, included $529,000,000 in expected processing taxes subsequently invalidated by the supreme court.

The 1936 income, records showed, was $293,000,000 greater than that collected a year ago, despite the loss of the processing levy.

As of June 27, the government had spent $8,809,923,537 as the gross public debt stood at $33,813,590,295. The year's final totals will be given by Secretary Morgenthau in a radio address tomorrow night.

Current year receipts showed big gains in virtually all categories of revenue. The total officials said already was in excess of revenue collected in such years as 1928 and 1929 when the treasury's income aggregated $4,042,000,000 and $4,033,000,000, respectively.

Sanderford Would Make Poll Taxes Free For Texans

COLEMAN, July 1. (UP)—Senator Roy Sanderford, candidate for governor, declared here last night "No good and worthy citizen should be denied the right to vote because he cannot afford to pay money for a poll tax."

"I favor the right of suffrage being extended to any citizen on the payment of a small registration fee to take the place of our present poll tax," he said.

Former Governor James E. Ferguson will speak for Senator Sanderford at Brady July 4.

Sanderford planned a speech Wednesday at Jackboro, Gainesville Wednesday night, Gilmer Thursday afternoon, Tyler Thursday night, Terrell Friday afternoon, Corsicana Friday night and Ranger, Saturday afternoon.

Italian Family Tills One Farm 918 Years

FLORENCE, Italy (UP)—Giuseppe Pierantoni, descendant of a family which has lived on the same farm for 918 years, has been awarded a prize by the government.

Records show that in the year 1018, when barbarians still were over-running the Italian peninsula, a peasant named Pierantoni claimed a plot of marshy land in Montelabate, which has remained with and been cultivated by his family ever since.

Last year the "Fedella Alla Terra" prize, as it is known, went to Antonio Castellani, who, surrounded by his 19 children and grandchildren, was proved to be working the same land at Querciola, which his ancestors had worked for 709 years.

Throngs Expected For Holiday Celebration

Events Included On Program To Suit All Tastes

Dedication Of Swimming Pool, Beauty Revue, Water And Sports Contests Open To Visitors Saturday

Thousands of people are expected to throng Big Spring Saturday to witness the first annual sports and water carnival, formal dedication of the new $32,000 municipal swimming pool, and a gigantic beauty revue which will result in the selection of at least 50 winners to represent West Texas in the Centennial queen contest at Dallas.

Confirmation of Big Spring as one of the sites in the state for zone contests in the Chrysler sponsored competition for title of "Queen of the Centennial" likely will result in making it the largest bathing revue ever held in West Texas. Fact that 50 girls will have their expenses paid to the Centennial in Dallas is expected to attract a large number of entries.

Designed primarily as an affair to afford every person an opportunity for fun and frolic on Independence Day, the sports and water carnival includes events catering to almost any taste.

All Types Sports
Among activities scheduled for July 4 are swimming, diving, golf, baseball, softball, rifle and pistol shoot, tennis, croquet, wrestle royal, special shows, fiddlers contest and old timers' reunion, and senior and junior bathing revues. With the exception of the wrestling match and other side attractions, everything will be free.

As a gesture of courtesy to out-of-town visitors, the municipal swimming pool will be thrown open to them for use without cost during the day. Suits and towel rentals will still hold good, however.

Pool Dedication
The swimming pool, open to the public for little more than two months, will be formally dedicated in exercises starting at 6:30 p. m. Saturday. George Mahon, congressman from the 19th district, and Julian Montgomery, state PWA engineer, will deliver short dedicatory addresses and the entire ceremony will last no longer than 30 minutes.

Immediately following this phase of the celebration, the junior bathing revue, open to misses from ages of three to 10 years (inclusive), will be staged, the title of Miss West Texas of Tomorrow going to the winner.

At 7:30 p. m. the feature attraction—the senior bathing revue—will get underway. Chrysler, Dodge, Plymouth and DeSoto dealers from all adjacent towns and the larger cities of West Texas will send representatives here for the contest. If 50 towns are not represented, alternates from several towns will be selected to complete the West Texas entry list to Dallas.

SOFTBALL DIAMOND, SCENE OF GAMES

The lighted softball diamond shown above is one of the popular gathering places at Big Spring's city park, for here games are played almost nightly. The diamond has been put in readiness for the July 4th tourney here.

Here for the judging will be Miss Fairfax Nesbitt, dramatic critic for the Dallas Journal; an expert cameraman; and a representative of M-G-M films. Competent out-of-town judges will select winners on the basis of beauty, grace, poise and charm.

Concluding scheduled feature of the evening is the wrestle royal at the downtown open air arena with half a dozen topnotch professional grapplers on the card. Of course there will be dances and a world of other entertainment.

Golf players and fans of this section will find plenty of activity in the first annual invitational municipal tournament to be staged on the nine-hole grass green many courses starting Thursday and ending Sunday. For the visitors there will be special matched golf play on the Fourth beginning at 9 a. m.

Other Events
An invitational tennis tournament is to be held on the city park courts, starting Friday at 9 a. m. with finals the following afternoon.

Likewise, leading softball teams of this section are to compete for prizes in a tournament opening Saturday at 9 a. m. and continuing through to Sunday afternoon.

San Angelo Shepherders and the Cosden Oilers will mix in a feature baseball game Saturday at 2 p. m. on the diamond on the highway just east of town.

Sharpshooters and their fans will find plenty to occupy their interests in the contests to be launched at the rifle and pistol range two miles southeast of the city park at 9 a. m. Saturday.

For those who go in for milder sports, there will be a croquet tournament and other sports. In addition, facilities of the city park and the Scenic Mountain state park will be available to picnickers.

In all contests there will be prizes awarded to the winners, the awards ranging from individual balls to star players in softball to loving cups in several other events.

City of Big Spring is giving the city park a thorough "house cleaning" in preparation for the thousands of people due there for the major Independence Day attraction of this section.

Waste Made Into Bricks
LONDON (UP)—A process of making bricks of all colors from slag and waste products of the mining industry has been discovered by Lyndall Forsee, of Yeovil. Government departments have taken an interest in the discovery, and a plant is soon to be opened at Radstock in the Somerset coal fields.

Softball One Of Features For Holiday

Crack Teams To Meet In West Texas Elimination Tournament

Softball, the neighborhood sport that attracts millions of spectators in the United States each year, will draw hundreds of fans here July 4th when crack teams from various sections of West Texas meet here in an elimination tournament.

Culwell Packers of San Angelo and the Colorado all-stars will be two of the toughest outfits here, with "dark horse" entries from other points. Also included in the entry list will be teams from the local softball circuit.

Day and Night
Softball, designed especially for crowded cities where it is impossible to find enough room for a regular baseball diamond, spread across the country like wild fire, and youngsters and older folk alike play it each day in thousands of cities throughout the country. It is especially attractive at night, and games here will be played both in the day time and under the lights.

The Big Spring softball diamond, located in the city park, is one of the best lighted fields in the state. Numerous improvements were made at the start of the current season. Some of the lights were refocused and outfield poles were moved back to make it possible to use the small ball. Additional lights were installed around the edge of the field.

Many Teams Invited
The field will be kept in the best of condition at all times. The infield will be scrapped, foul posts erected and lines marked, and a cable will be put up to keep cars off the diamond.

Teams were invited from Sweetwater, Breckenridge, Colorado, McCamey, Lamesa, Wink, Abernathy, San Angelo, Stanton, Midland, Merkel, Lubbock, Abilene and Slaton.

Softball will have one of the most attractive prize lists of any of the July 4th sports. An 18-inch trophy will go to the winning team with miniature gold filled balls to the 16-inch trophy with sterling silver balls for the players. Third place team players will be awarded miniature bronze balls, and awards will be made to the outstanding player and the player with the most home runs.

The tournament will be run according to the Texas Amateur Federation rules.

Entries in the July 4th meet will be lined up for the district tourney to be held here sometime in August. The winners in the district meet here will play in the state meet at Fort Worth in September. Softball tournament committee members are M. K. House, C. E. Henninger, Jim Recknagel, Whit Whittington and Hank Hart.

INDIANS INVOKE ANCIENT RITUAL IN DEATH CRASH

MENASHA, Wis. (UP)—An old Indian ritual was invoked by tribesmen here for victims of the modern motor car.

When Mrs. Andrew Swamp and Gratton King, both Indians, and Lawrence Haas, were killed in a collision of three automobiles, ancient Indian ceremonies were held so that "the spirits of the dead might be set at peace."

After the accident, relatives and friends of Mrs. Swamp and King assembled at the victim's homes. The Indians believe that a dead tribesman's spirit remains in his home for 10 days after his death and that if the ancient rituals are not invoked, the dead Indian is doomed to eternal suffering.

The victim's favorite food was placed before a vacant chair in each home. The first person entering after the tenth day, was asked to eat the food. If he declined, it was left hidden in a flower bed and precautions taken so that no animal could reach it. Prayers were recited throughout the day.

The day before the accident, relatives had met at King's home to sing. A dog, owned by his sister, turned over on its back and pointed its feet in the air. King remarked it was a bad Indian omen—that it meant a sudden death in the family. The next day he was killed.

Road Improvements Scored
SACRAMENTO, Cal. (UP)—The principal effect of decreasing traffic hazards would appear to be the increasing of traffic risks by the driver. Roy Ingella, director of the state motor vehicle department, says the widening of highways and elimination of curves has been accompanied by an increased accident toll.

Many Assist In Arranging Day's Events

Committee Chairmen Direct Plans In Each Division Of Celebration

Credit for well-arranged plans for Big Spring's first annual water and sports carnival, scheduled for July Fourth when the city's new swimming pool is formally dedicated, must be divided among a large number of local citizens.

For since first plans for the Independence Day celebration were discussed, chamber of commerce leaders, business men and others have joined wholeheartedly in promoting the program.

In the chief directing roles have been W. T. Strange, Jr., manager of the Big Spring chamber of commerce, and E. V. Spence, city manager. Spence has charge of the pool dedication program and Strange has been a guiding hand in planning entertainment events for the day.

FROM LUBBOCK

Betty Lee Lindsey will be a Lubbock representative in the Centennial Queen event to be presented in Big Spring Saturday evening.

They have been aided by many committees, the work of each of which has been guided by a chairman; and it is these chairmen who have labored overtime to provide holiday attractions of interest to West Texas.

Chairmen of the various events are as follows:

Dedication program, Garland A. Woodward; Queen's revue, J. Y. Robb and J. L. Russell; swimming and diving events, Bob Schermerhorn and E. V. Spence; golf tournament, Ira Thurman; rifle and pistol shoot, Dr. F. W. Malone; softball tournament, Marvin K. House; baseball, Spike Henninger; tennis, Harold Harvey; croquet, J. B. Collins; fiddlers' contest, Jim Winslow; old timers' reunion, W. G. Hayden; wrestling, Dave Tobolovsky and Herman Fuhrer; publicity, Joe Pichle and Tom Beasley; advertising, Grover Dunham and E. M. Wasson.

Town on Auction Block
MONTREAL (UP)—The town of St. Michel de Laval, on the outskirts of Montreal, has been offered for sale to highest bidder. The town has a debt of more than $5,000,000, and to date there have been no offers.

California Likes Own Wine
SACRAMENTO, Cal. (UP)—California boasts not only of producing 90 per cent of the wine consumed in the United States but also of consuming more than any other state. It drank some 20,000,000 gallons last year.

Mahon And Montgomery To Speak At Pool Dedication

Addresses by two men, both familiar with the progress of the municipal swimming project, will feature the formal dedication of the pool here July 4.

They are Julian Montgomery, state PWA engineer, and George Mahon, congressman from the 19th district.

Few have been closer to the project than have Montgomery. As state PWA engineer he examined initial plans, gave approval to the project, rushed them to Washington and lent the prestige of his office to final approval in Washington. There was hardly a time when Montgomery did not keep city officials informed of the slightest development.

Well Known Here
Montgomery, a hydraulic engineer in the Wichita Falls firm of Montgomery & Ward, is well known here, having done much work in this area. His firm, from which he is now on leave of absence, made the survey for a lake site here last year.

Pressure in Washington in behalf of the Big Spring project has been applied diligently by George Mahon, Colorado, serving his first term as first congressman of the new 19th district. Mahon kept in close touch with the project plans after they reached the national capital and worked to expedite final approval and allotment of funds.

On two occasions when it was necessary for City Manager E. V. Spence to be in Washington, both on the swimming pool and lake project, the congressman provided him an entree into offices of high officials.

Mahon is also a familiar figure here, having served several terms as district attorney before winning a seat in congress in the elections of 1924. As a "freshman" member of congress, he has won recognition. His associates made him secretary of the first-year congressional members and as a member of the foreign relations committee, he accompanied Vice-President John N. Garner and other notables to the Orient for the inauguration of Manuel Quezon as first president of the Philippines.

Girl, 8, Qualified Driver
LONG BEACH, Cal. (UP)—Beverly Eloise Lancaster, 8, claims to be the youngest owner-driver of the smallest registered automobile in the United States. Her father built the car, which weighs 220 pounds and can travel 35 miles an hour.

July Fourth Event Well Advertised

Publicity Material, Personal Visits Cover All West Texas

When the first annual sports and water carnival is held here July 4, it will be one of the best advertised events in the history of West Texas celebration.

Local leaders who are promoting the affair purely from a community standpoint have left nothing undone to thoroughly publicize the affair.

Starting with a local newspaper build-up campaign, publicity efforts were subsequently directed in other channels.

Folders Sent Out
Thousands of attractive folders describing Big Spring and its recreational facilities were printed and promptly distributed over a wide area.

W. T. Strange, Jr., chamber of commerce manager, and Bob Schermerhorn, a director, opened the out-of-town advertising campaign by spreading hundreds of the folders along the way to Fort Stockton where they boosted the local attraction during the opening of that city's fresh water swimming pool.

Little more than a week later 16 men in six cars spread out over an area from Wink, Grand Falls, Fort Stockton, Crane, McCamey, and San Angelo to Ballinger, Winters, Abilene, Brownwood, Cisco, Coleman, Sweetwater, Snyder, Post, Lubbock and Spur.

Use Sound Truck
Added to this far-flung publicity net was the booming announcements coming from a sound truck. And all along the routes, the boosters reported encouraging response.

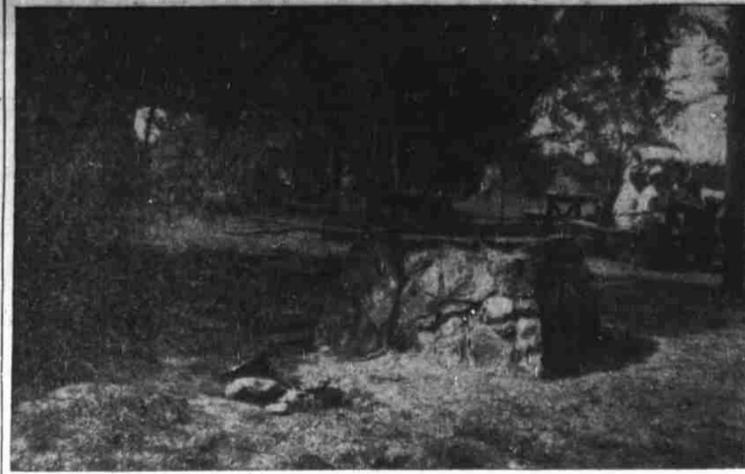

In cooperation with J. Y. Robb, manager of three local theaters, a series of trailer announcements were arranged and shown in theaters of this section.

During this phase of ballyhooing the occasion, the newspaper publicity was gradually stepped up with stories being mailed to large and small publications of this territory and to several of the state papers.

Armed with mats and news releases, boosters made a practice of calling at newspaper offices in every town they visited.

Should the fun carnival fail to live up to the high expectations set

Fish Commit Suicide

ANACONDA, Mont. (UP)—Apparently the ordinary trout simply can't stand the sight of the albino or light colored trout. When four of the latter were placed in a hatchery tank of the Montana state fishery, the ordinary trout began committing suicide by jumping against the top of the tank until 17 out of 35 were dead. The four albinos locked on undisturbed,

All Main Drives At Park Are Surfaced

Dust will be at a minimum during the first sports and water carnival here Saturday, thanks to an extensive paving program completed at the city park during the winter.

As a result of a WPA-city project, all main drives have received a two or three course rock aggregate asphalt topping.

Portions of the road in the park which get heaviest traffic have to 80 feet long and 20 feet wide, with a six-foot insert across the corner. The arches were made more rigid and reared the size of the ball. The mallets were improved, now having a soft rubber end, the handles were shortened, and only four balls were used, played by two or four players.

Roque soon became such a scientific game that in 1916 the American Roque League was formed, and has affiliations in all parts of the country.
As a lawn game for light exercise it has no equal, and practically every hamlet of any size has public roque courts.
Three well built roque courts are located in the city park, and all will be put in condition for the tournament. Although Big Spring boasts of few outstanding players, seldom a night passes but what one of the courts is in use.
The tournament here is expected to attract entries from various parts of West Texas, and suitable awards will be made to winners.

548-Acre Park Developed As One Of City's Major Assets

Many Sports Attractions Are Offered

Former Picnic Ground Is Beautified, Made Recreational Center

Smooth green lawns, spacious beds of beautiful flowers of every color and hue and hundreds of shade trees cover the acres of Big Spring's city park, one time sparsely grassed picnic ground of Big Spring.

Covering a space of five hundred and forty-eight acres, the park is routed with curving drives that pass a newly completed swimming pool, one of the West's best; a softball diamond, lighted for night games; a croquet court, tennis court, a wading pool for children and other playground equipment. On the west it is sided by a nine-hole grass green golf course.

Start in 1930
Major steps toward converting 167 acres of picnic ground into a city park were started in 1930 by Mayor J. B. Pickle. Until this time this spot had been chosen by the people because it was here that first water wells of the city were located and it afforded greater convenience for the picnickers. Soon the water supply was exhausted and the tract of land was left unused for many years.

On a tour of inspection with the city manager and several commissioners, Pickle conceived the idea of the park—but lack of funds proved a drawback. Donations from oil companies and others provided cable and pipe for fencing and material for other labor, and work was stepped up and in May the park was formally opened. That opening was made a gala affair with band music and group singing.

Donations
Since the opening the park has steadily improved with donations from civic clubs and individuals. At a cost of $4,000 the city recently purchased a 288-tract of land adjoining the original 167 acres to provide the scouts of the Buffalo Trail council with a permanent jamboree ground. Enlargement of the park was made possible by a government loan of $47,000 for ground improvement. The Rotary club donated a squirrel cage, the Lions club a fish pond, the Kiwanis the wading pool and the latest, a monkey cage, will soon house four or five of the lively animals.

Flowers and Trees
Due to the lack of trees, flowers and shrubs in the city proper, the abundance of these in the park causes much comment. Arranged by the head gardener, C. P. Farker, side and put the fire out. He had gone to sleep on the couch while smoking.

"I saw him later, too, and he told me practically the same thing. He said it was just a little smoke, and that I should have attended to my own business."

Blackbirds Can Dunk, Too
TOLEDO (UP)—Blackbirds know how to dunk, too. A bird picked up a piece of bread on the rim of Patry Sayen's bird bath, and finding it too hard to eat, dipped it in the water between pecks.

Accused Indian Stands On Old Treaty Rights

HART, MICH. (UP)—Old Indian treaties may be used to aid the defense of Leo Smith, a full-blooded Indian, who was arrested on a charge of illegal trapping. Smith is not a citizen of the United States, but he insists that all Indians were given the right to hunt and fish under old treaties which the government made with their tribes.

POPULARITY OF POOL SHOWN BY EARLY SEASON REVENUES

With Golf Links, Has Netted Over $2,700; Project Soon Will Pay For Itself

Initial popularity of the municipal natatorium has proven the wisdom of plans which made possible the construction of one of the outstanding swimming pools in the state.

Together with the golf links which it is operated jointly, the pool yielded a total of $2,763.10 through June 24, revenues from less than three full months of operation.

In that time a total of 7,863 persons paid for swims in the pool. Of this number 4,629 were adults and 3,234 were children.

In the few days of April that the pool was open to the public, revenues from the pool and links amounted to $366.85. During May they jumped to $1,013.98 and for the first 24 days of June they had increased further to $1,383.40.

More Than Estimates
When application was made for a PWA loan grant to construct the pool, City Manager E. V. Spence estimated total revenues per annum to be less than $6,000. With the pool open for little more than two months, almost half that amount has been received.

"Thus it would seem that Big Spring's new $32,000 swimming pool will pay for itself sooner than the ten years expected and without one cent of ad valorem tax going to its support.

The pool was first proposed two years ago as a self-liquidating PWA project after city commissioners had ceased toying with the idea of constructing a natatorium out of tax funds.

Peters and Strange were employed as architects for the pool and drew preliminary plans for a PWA application. Then followed the slow and tedious process of having the project approved, first by the state office and then in Washington.

Gets Big Majority
Following approval an election was held to authorize the city to go ahead with the project. Supported on the assumption that the pool would be paid for solely by those who used it, the election carried by the widest majority ever given any proposal in the history of the city.

Siggs Construction Co. of Abilene was given the contract and work was started in the summer of 1935. On Nov. 27 it was formally accepted by the city and Pettus Hemphill, PWA engineer, placed his stamp of approval upon it, praising it for its completeness and for quality of construction. He said it was one of the most thorough PWA jobs in the state.

The pool is 150 feet long and 60 feet wide, is equipped with chlorinators and filters, has ample diving equipment and ranges in depths from 2 1/2 feet to nine feet. In connection with it is a modern bathroom and caretaker's quarters. And the entire project will not have cost taxpayers one penny.

Play Equipment Is Available To Young Visitors July 4th

Kiddies will find plenty of things to entertain them while here for the July 4th celebration Saturday.

Playground equipment at the city park has been put in order for the youngsters.

They will be able to make a choice between a wading pool with slide, any of a number of seesaws, many swings, and a merry-go-round.

And tiring of all this, they can trolle on a perfect grass cover under solid shade of the triangle in the center of the park. They may also find pleasure in watching animals scamper in their cages or fish carting about the fish pond.

POSTMAN GETS ONLY REBUKES AS LIFE SAVER

DEARBORN, Mich. (UP)—Edwin Probst likes to whistle on his mail route, and affords others pleasure, but when he really tries to be of help to people he doesn't come out so well.

Most women on Probst's route in Dearborn can start their dinners when they hear the postman whistling, but one varied the procedure. "The lady heard my whistle," Probst explained. "She came out on the porch and called to me: 'Good bye. I'll be dead in 10 minutes.'"

"I thought it was a joke, and she went back in and shut the door. But then I began to worry and called police. They broke a window and found her working a jig-saw puzzle. Gas was pouring from a stove. I saw her just the other day. 'After this, you mind your own business,' she yelled. 'It's none of your affair if a person wants to die.'"

"Soon after that I took a letter to a house and saw the living room full of smoke and flames. I tried to rouse somebody, and then I ran and turned in an alarm."

"The fire department crashed the door, because the owner wouldn't let them in. They had to push him

FIRST SCORES POSTED IN GOLF TOURNEY QUALIFYING

Muny Course Put In Top Shape For Shot Makers Due Here For Holiday Play

Twenty-three golfers, including four out-of-town players, stroked their way Sunday over the carefully conditioned nine-hole greens Municipal course here to turn in the first batch of qualifying scores for the first annual Municipal golf tournament. The players then set back to mark time until Thursday, the regular qualifying day.

Brushed and combed for the last ten days, the course is at its best for the onslaught of West Texas link stars. Although the tournament may not attract the section's best, it will be a large field and fairly fast.

With regular qualifying day Thursday, match play will get underway Friday and continue Saturday with finals on Sunday.

In between time will be a barbecue, caucutta pool and other entertaining features.

Morgan Has 74
Eddie Morgan, youthful champion of the Big Spring country club, has set a mark for the qualifiers that will be hard to beat. He toured the rolling, difficult course in 74, even par. Two under regulation figures for seventeen holes, Eddie slipped on the 18th and took a six.

"Dubs" Welcome
Pro Charles Akoy and his corps of workers have left no stone unturned in their effort to see that the tourney goes off without a hitch. The course has been carefully conditioned. Top-dressing of the greens was finished last week, and traps have been gone over and fairly fast.

Obie Bristow, hard-driving Big Springer who was finalist in the recent Hamlin tournament, qualified with a 76.

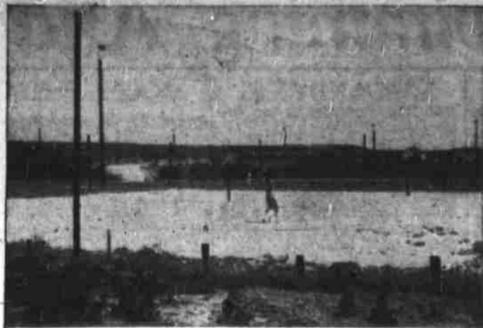

Here's par on the course:
444 453 454-37

The tourney will be especially attractive to local players, and Akoy anticipates a record number of Big Spring golfers.

The dubber is just as welcome as the par breaker, according to the tournament committee, although Old Man Par was given a severe scorching Sunday by the early

A new method of awarding prizes will be used. Winners will be given their choice of ten merchandise awards.

Zoo In The Making At Municipal Park

Visitors to the city park Saturday may be surprised to find the beginning of a small "zoo."

By accepting gifts of animals, mostly native, the city has had to make arrangements for another animal cage at the park.

Among animals to be seen are a pair of raccoons, a porcupine, squirrels, and monkeys.

Texas Girl To Win Honor As State Queen

Winner To Be Crowned By Ginger Rogers At Dallas On July 31

DALLAS, July 1.—Some Texas girl, now behind a store counter, in a classroom, or in a kitchen, will be crowned Queen of the Texas Centennial exposition by Ginger Rogers the night of July 31 in the cotton bowl at the exposition.

In addition to this honor and its attendant distinctions, the winner will be awarded a trip to Hollywood as guest of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, and will be granted screen tests which, if successful, will find her a place in pictures.

Appearances of the contestants in this official selection will be presented in four night reviews of Queen's Night, electrical extravaganza, in the Cotton Bowl at the Centennial exposition, the first of which will be held the night of July 4. Rudy Vallee and his Connecticut Yankees will be featured in this presentation, and the radio crooner will announce and escort the winner in this first semi-final selection.

Other semi-final winners will be announced at presentations of Queen's Night on July 10, 23 and 31, the last named date also to be the time of the final selection. Jean Harlow and Alan Jones have been tentatively booked to appear on the first two dates.

Afternoon previews of the contestants will be held in Chrysler Gardens to decide the winner, but announcements will not be made until that night's presentation in the Cotton Bowl.

The evening presentations will be held in connection with the elaborate electrical pageant, Queen's Night. Contestants will appear on the ten floats of this mammoth show, and will be featured with the guest star of each of the four evenings.

Any Texas girl, who has been a resident of Texas for at least six months, may enter the competition. In addition to the exposition, the selection has as its sponsors the Dallas News and the Dallas Journal, Hollywood Electrical Pageant company, Inc., radio station WFAA, and Chrysler Motors.

Application blanks and rules and regulations governing the selection may be obtained from any Chrysler Motors dealer in Texas.

ELECTRIC 'EYES' TO GUARD GEMS AT EXPOSITION

JOHANNESBURG (UP)—Hidden detectives will guard precious stones worth millions of dollars at the Empire exhibition to be staged at Johannesburg in September.

The stones will be displayed in the Hall of Jewels which is being converted from one wing of the Transvaal Chamber of Mines building.

The strictest precautions are being taken by authorities to assure the safety of the gems on show. In addition to detectives, concealed at vantage points, there will be alarms operated by photo-electric cells, as well as other ingenious devices designed to baffle thieves.

Another "safety factor" is the absence of any windows. Ventilation is provided artificially. Entrance to the chamber will be by turnstile, allowing "one-way traffic" only.

WADING IN THE PARK FOR THE KIDDIES

The swimming pool is not the only water attraction at Big Spring's city park. Above is shown a wading pool at the park which provides plenty of fun and entertainment for the smaller youngsters.

Big Wrestle Program Set For Saturday

Six Tough Ones To Mix It In Wrestle-Royal; One Of Holiday Events

The first "rassle royal" ever staged in Big Spring will be a July 4 feature attraction at the athletic club when six tough leathernecks enter the ring at the same time for a knock-down freeze where every man is on his own and the battle waxes warm.

Here's the cast:
TEX WATKINS,
PRINCE OMAR,
JACK HAGEN,
ERNIE ARTHUR,
DICK TROUT,
BUCK LIPSCOMB.

There's nothing more exciting than a "rassle royal," and the management hopes to top off this all-star card by having the old mascot of the ring—Dutch Mantell of Amarillo—here to add to the excitement in the role of referee.

No Time Limit
Dutch is very old for a wrestler, and most of his ring activity is confined to making the boys observe the rules, but he's tough enough to handle any situation and doesn't mind slinging knuckles with the more excitable bone-twisters.

There will be no time limit in the "rassle royal." They fight each other until two men are down and they are matched for the prelim.

The next two to slap the mat get the semi-windup, and the two left will be the main attraction.

There are four very tough men in the line-up—Watkins, Hagen, Arthur and Lipscomb. The other two, Omar and Trout, are a little more gentlemanly while in the ring.

There is no limit to the mean stuff Watkins and Lipscomb can dish out. Watkins will stop at nothing and the Hoosier sparkplug will all but commit murder.

Every man in the line-up is well known here, and each will have his following of fans.

The athletic club will be able to accommodate three thousand fans for the big July 4th card.

Light Bulb Damages Auto

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (UP)—Police of the Kalamazoo department were amazed when a motorist reported an accident between his automobile and a light bulb.

He was driving along the city streets when a bulb dropped from a city light, damaging the gasoline tank and cracking the windshield glass. The driver was unhurt.

It is not only replacing the alarm clock, subscribers say, but is proving much more satisfactory. This is due to the fact that the dulcet-toned "hello" girls have instructions to keep on whispering insistently but softly until the subscriber is not only awake but he promises to actually get up.

The peak hour of the service is between 6 and 7 a. m., after which comes a fairly busy period between 8 and 9.

Junior Revue On Saturday Program Here

Younger Girls Will Compete For Title Of 'Miss West Texas'

The spotlight will not be focused solely on those young women who compete in Big Spring July Fourth for the right to advance in the "Queen of the Centennial" contest. It will be thrown for a time upon the queen candidates "younger sisters," a group of West Texas children from three to 10 years of age, inclusive, who will compete in the junior bathing revue.

Promoted as one of the features of this city's full program for observance of Independence Day, the junior event will be to select "Miss West Texas of Tomorrow," a young miss who will be awarded a cash prize.

The junior revue is scheduled for 7 p. m. Saturday at the municipal swimming pool in the city park, immediately after ceremonies marking dedication of the pool and just preceding the climaxing Queen's revue.

Names of several entrants already have been received by the Big Spring chamber of commerce, and a great many more were expected before Saturday. Children are entered not only from this city, but from Sweetwater, Lubbock and other points.

Entries may be filed with the chamber of commerce here any time this week.

Bleachers Erected At Swimming Pool

Spectators at the softball games and swimming and diving events here July 4th will be able to see the contests comfortably from bleachers, city officials said today.

Arrangements have been made to house the candidates in the Hockaday school buildings at Dallas. The girls will be given admission tickets to the Centennial exposition, and will be honor guests for the "Queen's Night" event on July 10. At this time, Alan Jones, singing star of the movies, will be present.

Girls desiring to enter the contest are instructed to secure entry blanks from the Chrysler, DeSoto, Dodge or Plymouth dealers in their own towns, or from the chamber of commerce here.

A motorcade of 15 cars will carry the West Texas winning contestants to Dallas, where one principal and two alternates will be chosen. These will return to Dallas on the night of July 31 for the final contest which will result in the selection of the official Queen of the Centennial. Ginger Rogers, movie star, will be in Dallas on that night, to crown the exposition queen.

The winner not only will receive honors at Dallas, but will be awarded a trip to Hollywood as guest of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios. M-G-M is one of the sponsors of the contest with Chrysler, others being the Dallas News and the Dallas Journal, Radio Station WFAA and the Hollywood-Electrical Pageant company.

The West Texas entries, to be honor guests during the July Fourth celebration here, will appear in bathing suits for a promenade at the municipal swimming pool at 7:30 p. m. Girls, who must be between the ages of 16 and 26, will be selected for beauty, grace, poise and charm. There are no limitations besides that of age, and no entry fees.

Representing the Dallas sponsors here at the Saturday event will be Fairfax Nisbet, dramatic critic of the Dallas Journal; a representative of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, and a cameraman for Dallas newspapers and studios. The Queen's revue will be free to all visitors here for the city's July Fourth celebration.

Old Timers To Gather Here On 4th; Fiddlers Contest Slated

Heads will sway and feet will pat to the music of a string band when West Texas' old timers gather at the city park on July 4 for a real old timers' get-together.

Beginning with the registration at 10 o'clock Saturday morning the day will be kept lively with music, contests, speaking and other things that the oldsters like to do.

Most of the morning will be taken in registration, meeting newcomers and patting old friends on the back. Music will be furnished throughout until noon by the Center Point string band. There will be talks by the oldest comers.

In order to get in a full day of visiting, many of the families will bring their basket picnic lunches to be eaten beneath the shade of the park trees. Those who prefer to barbecue their own meat have access to the barbecue pits and there will be plenty of tables and benches to accommodate the crowd. Those who do not choose to bring their own lunches may purchase food from the concession stands. Sandwiches, cold drinks and coffee will be on sale at these places.

After lunch when every one feels like loafing, a check will be made and prizes will be given to the oldest timer, the largest family present, to the owner of the oldest automobile there, and to the newest comer.

At four o'clock things will begin to pop when the fiddlers tune up and start on a breakdown and the fiddlers' contest gets officially underway. Jim Winslow, who is in charge of the entrants for the contest expects to have ten or twelve of the best-known fiddlers in this section of the country in the competition. Prize winners of last year's Old Settlers' reunion contest will be on hand; Mr. Whittington of Midland, who took first place and J. J. Curlee, second money winner. Curlee is probably one of the best known of the contestants in the group that will gather here. He has been playing with Jim Winslow for the past forty years and their three or four-piece string bands have furnished the music for many an old settlers' gathering and for square dances. Curlee lives in Christoval and will be on hand early. Others who have signed are Wm. Thompson, "Dad" Miller and Sanders. Invitations have been sent to all surrounding towns. Prizes of ten, five and two and a half dollars are being offered to the three best "bow-scrappers." Early in the evening the commis-
