Eastland Accident Claims Moran Man's Life

That reminds me...

There is a long time between 1776 and 1936. . . One hundred and sixty years. . . But not so long at that. . . Time passes swiftly. . . but what remarkable changes have come over a nation in those 160 years which started with 13 stripes. . . Now there are 48 stars in the flag and 13 stripes. . . The stripes will always remain the same but we are wondering about the stars. . . There has been lots of talk about dividing Texas into four states. . . If that ever happens that will add three more stars. . . and then there is Canada. . . maybe some day it will be annexed to these United States. . . that would mean many new stars. . . anything is possible.

Tomorrow we celebrate the Declaration of Independence. . . July 4. It is a gala day from Maine to Brownsville. . . from San Francisco to Miami. . . Millions of people will take the day off for celebrating purposes. . . thousands of people will never see the light of day again after July 4. Deaths. . . accidents and tragedy will close their earthly careers forever. Millions will live to see another day and have a full day of enjoyment.

Frankly. . . our own folks at home can well use the utmost care in taking their week-end joys Saturday and Sunday. . . An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure in any instance. Parents should caution their children about being careful. . . careful and more careful.

It is hoped that all will enjoy the day to the full limit. . . and be back on the job Monday morning with new ideas and a new lease on life. . . There are so many places to go. . . Cisco will celebrate. . . Ranger will celebrate. . . then there is the Centennial at Dallas. . . many special entertainment features in Fort Worth. . . Then the best of all there is the city lake. . . Ringling lake and the Leon lake for good pleasant fishing.

Friends of Nick Yotis will be glad to know that he has fully recovered his health and is back on the job in his business of serving folks something good to eat and drink. Nick will be open and ready for business Saturday. He has remodeled the entire interior of the cafe and made it new and spick and span. . . regular meals will be served but there will be all kinds of beer in bottles and draught beer. Light wines also are featured. If there is any kind of sandwich that folks want Nick will have it for them. Good coffee will also be featured. Nick has changed the name of his place from Court Cafe to Coney Island Stand.

R. L. Ferguson, popular local manager of the N. C. Burr Department Store, has changed things around in his big store. The complete line of ladies' ready-to-wear and millinery has been moved downstairs and is now most conveniently located for the benefit of the customers in the left hand rear of the store. On the right hand rear the shoe department has been remodeled in latest display lines and the entire arrangement adds much to the attractiveness of the store as well as giving the customers the full advantage of pleasant shopping.

Three More Held In Murder of a Night Club Dancer

CHICAGO, July 3.—Police held three more persons for investigation today as the body of Mrs. Florence Castle was taken to Hammond, Ind., for burial.

Two of them, Mollie Mansola, 19, and Millie Crawford, 18, were residents of the hotel where Mrs. Castle was beaten to death as she slept by the side of her son. The two failed to answer questions, police said.

Joseph Richert, 40, was detained when it was reported he inquired at the hotel for a woman named "Mickey"—the name by which Mrs. Castle was known to her intimates. Richert said the woman he sought was another Mickey.

Dallas Puts Over A Fast One On Fort Worth Group

FORT WORTH, July 3.—The battle of the Centennials is still on. While 200 fans waited at the airport here today for a look at Robert Taylor, film actor, Dallas Centennial officials shot a shrewd plan to Abilene and "snatched" the star from a plane due in Fort Worth this morning. The plane, behind schedule, reached Abilene and Taylor was hustled aboard the chartered ship for a non-stop hop to Dallas.

TWO ESCAPED CONVICTS BACK AT HUNTSVILLE

HUNTSVILLE, July 3.—Luke Trammell and Forrest Gibson, convicts who killed a prison guard in a break for freedom two weeks ago, were brought to prison here today after their capture near Groesbeck.

The two were taken as they slept in the car after Limestone county officers had been tipped off by a former friend of Gibson. Six officers participated in the capture shortly after midnight. The desperadoes were put into a car of the Texas Prison System and hurried to Huntsville under heavy guard.

There they waited action by the Brazoria county grand jury. Felix Smith, a guard at the Retrieve prison farm, was shot to death June 19, as Trammell, Gibson and a third prisoner, T. B. Atkinson, escaped.

Atkinson is not considered dangerous though he faces a life term as an habitual criminal. Trammell, slayer of a constable, was the most dangerous of the three.

Jack Ellingson said the two captives refused to talk to Limestone county officers. In the past two weeks Trammell and Gibson have been reported in several places—near Brenham, Sweetwater and in Southern Oklahoma.

Candidate From Eastland Files Expenses Report

Concern that William H. McDonald, candidate for the commission of the general land office, did not file his expense account with the secretary of state was relieved Friday morning when the candidate phoned from Houston that he was given by mistake to the state Democratic executive secretary at Austin.

Law provides that candidates must have filed their reports at Austin by July 1. Since McDonald's were in the mails before midnight July 1 the arrangement will be satisfactory, it was said.

Cold Steel Cows Belgian Strikers

In striking contrast to the American tear gas and "billie" method of subduing unruly strikers, helmeted Belgian police are pictured above as they awed two demonstrators into submission with cold, menacing steel sabers, and drove them to jail at Verviers, Belgium. Scenes such as this were common throughout the country during the nation-wide strike.

WPA Is Ready To Start Two New Projects In Eastland and Ranger

Work on the projects, said Hoppe, will begin as soon as school officials at Ranger, who are sponsors of the stadium project, and city officials at Eastland, sponsors of the pool job, agree on a date for inauguration of work with G. C. Looney, district fieldman for WPA with headquarters at Eastland.

How Union Party Candidates Are To Get Their Names On Texas Ballots Is A Puzzle To The Texas Election Officials

By GORDON K. SHEARER
UNITED PRESS STAFF CORRESPONDENT
AUSTIN.—How William Lemke, presidential candidate of the proposed Union Party will get his name on the ballot for the Nov. election, is puzzling Texas officials.

There are numerous ways to place a candidate's name upon the general election ballot. The puzzle is to find a way that will fit Representative Lemke's case.

Several articles of the election law name methods for filing candidacies. These articles distinguish between independent candidates and party candidates. Those that replace to party candidates say the person must be the candidate of a "political party as defined by law."

Miyazaki, lieutenant-commander in the Japanese navy, was indicted with Thompson on the espionage charges. He was reported to be in Tokyo. He left the United States shortly after the Baltimore seaman was arrested.

DROUGHT IN NORTHWEST IS KILLING CROPS

CHICAGO, July 3.—Drought in the northwest cost farmers 100,000,000 bushels of wheat in June, private crop experts reported today.

Chicago's five famed private grain statisticians in their reports on wheat conditions as of July 1, estimated the spring wheat yield would total 134,000,000 bushels, 102,000,000 bushels less than predicted a month ago.

The report emphasized drought damage in the Dakotas and Montana, where wheat fields have baked under scorched sun for three months.

Vagabond Americans Know How to Loaf

Now that the Republicans and the Democrats have temporarily had their fill of viewing with alarm and pointing with pride, the ordinary citizen can relax a little and start thinking about where he is going on his vacation.

And, until he has attended to that little matter, the rival politicians might just as well hold their breath. July and August are bad months in which to try to make an impression on the American people. They're too busy traveling about and having a look at their country.

There never was a land in which the vacation habit was as strong as in this one. Perhaps that is partly because Americans have a tradition of restless movement—a legacy from the early days, when men were forever moving westward in pursuit of the receding frontier.

But there is more to it than that. At heart, for all his tremendous energy and his capacity for hard work, the American is a loafer and a vagabond—a trait which will ultimately be his salvation.

Solemn thinkers write learnedly about the Age of Leisure which is about to dawn on our restless heads, and wonder if the ordinary man will be able to use his leisure wisely. Their very choice of words gives them away.

"Wisely"—the ordinary American may be no mental giant, but he does have the sense to know that, if he gets a good time out of his leisure, he is doing all right. The wisdom of the ages could no more for him.

What happens during the vacation season? The American has an unlimited choice of pleasant places to go to, and the means of getting to them is almost invariably delightful.

He can tour through New England, sprawl on the beaches of the Great Lakes, look into the great parks of the West, climb any of 200 assorted mountains, camp in the Great Smokies or the Rockies, fish in the wilderness, or dance in the ballroom of an ocean beach hotel.

He can harass his tender loins in the saddle at a dude ranch or invite his soul on the veranda of a farmhouse in the Berkshires. And as he does these things, he gets a kick out of life which shows that no one ever needs to tell him a thing about the way to use leisure time.

Through depression and boom one tendency is increasingly evident these days; a tendency to take less and less of a man's life for his job, and to leave more and more of it for him to use as he chooses.

As this trend increases, the American's instinct for loafing and vagabondage will become one of his most valuable possessions.

He has a continent for his playground, he has unrivaled means of getting about in it, and he knows how to use both to the best advantage. If you doubt it, watch him during the next couple of months.

In California two college students were kept awake 54 1/2 hours. It must have been difficult pulling them thru the class periods.

It's a bit early yet to decide whether the Boston Bees are workers or drones.

Q. What were Richard Ellis' qualifications for presiding officer of the Texas constitutional convention? E. D. Nixon.

A. Although it has been stated that he was a poor presiding officer and failed to keep order in the convention he had been a member of the Alabama Constitutional Convention in 1819. He was a lawyer and for four years was a member of the Alabama Supreme Court.

Q. What is the largest food crop produced in Texas? F. F. D., Kilgore.

A. Sweet potatoes, the crop running from 4,000,000 to 8,000,000 bushels annually.

Q. Where is McAnally's Bend and for whom was it named? A. D. T., San Angelo.

A. It is a fertile bend of the Colorado River in San Saba county and is especially noted for its pecans; named for R. McAnally, one of the five first settlers of that section.

WPA Embarks On New Fiscal Year

SAN ANTONIO.—Works Progress Administration embarked officially on a new fiscal year in Texas July 1, the first program legally having been ended with the close of business Tuesday, June 30.

H. P. Drought, state administrator, back from a conference with regional officials at New Orleans, announced that he will call the 20 Texas district directors to meet here Monday, July 6, to receive instructions for operating the program during its second year.

In line with the national plan, operations during the second program will be on a somewhat reduced scale, Drought said. Texas, where 125,000 workers formerly on relief rolls were engaged on WPA projects in February as the program reached its peak, begins the new program with an initial employment quota of 81,000.

"During the first program," Drought said, "WPA invested approximately $28,000,000 in its Texas program. For the second year of our work, we have been granted an initial allotment of $8,858,000."

Although it is expected that many new projects now in the process of formulation will be undertaken, workers will continue on projects now operating until they are completed and in many instances will be transferred from these to projects already approved but never started under the old program.

Another Kansan Seeks Presidency

By nominating Earl Browder, the Communist party gave Kansas two presidential candidates from within its borders, the other being Governor Alf M. Landon, Republican standard bearer, of course. Browder, fist clenched in the leftist salute, stands beside the Kansas standard at the Communist convention in New York. James W. Ford, Alabama Negro, was named for the vice presidency.

The method of operating the program is the substitution of the prevailing wage for the security wage for all project workers. Officials in the division of employment faced the task of establishing these prevailing wage rates in communities throughout the state immediately, since all payrolls on old or new projects for payroll periods beginning on or after July 1 must be calculated on the prevailing wage basis.

The staff with which Drought undertook last July to carry out the Works Progress Administration program in Texas goes practically intact with him into the new program. Remaining on the state office staff in addition to Robert J. Smith, deputy state administrator, and C. Z. Crain, administrative assistant, are the following division directors: E. A. Baugh, operations; E. E. Hale, employment; Mrs. M. K. Taylor, women's and professional activities; and S. S. Tucker, finance and statistics.

Likewise, the original 20 district directors are retaining their positions with the organization.

The GLORIOUS Go FORTH

No one can deny they've taken their place in the sun—these brilliant American women. A week-day finds them, as a matter of course, light-heartedly assuming a full share of the work and responsibility of this busy world. But a holiday sees them off with equal enthusiasm for a carefree playtime. Fresh—relaxed—youthful—they hail the freedom of field and road and beach—and the pursuit of happiness.

Gone are the green veils and the timid gestures of other days. Gone the dull complexions—and the dragging old-fashioned grind of duty that kept them prisoners from the sun. Nowadays woman's work IS done—and done in time for a wave and a beauty treatment.

How? By keeping herself posted on the newest ways to do things—the time-savers, beauty builders, feminine aids and allies. By reading, studying, comparing and experimenting—in the advertising pages of this very newspaper. Advertising is writing a great share of the modern woman's independence program.

The glorious go forth to buy, as they go to play, with assurance and the resolve to make the most of life. They know what they want and where to find it, and the right price to pay. The time and money saved are beauty aids in themselves. READ THE ADVERTISEMENTS!

DALLAS. — Paving of 55 miles of Highway 77 will be asked of the Texas Highway Commission in petitions which are to be drawn up at a meeting of the Highway 77 Association in Giddings, Highway Engineer R. A. Thompson of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce said.

Milam, Fayette and Lee counties contain the gaps that exist in the present paving of the highway, which extends from Winnipeg, Can., through Sioux City, Iowa, Lincoln, Nebraska, Kansas City, Oklahoma City, Gainesville, Dallas and Waco. With closing of these gaps and completion of the Brownsville-Mexico City Pan American Highway, this international thoroughfare is expected to become one of the heaviest traveled traffic arteries in the nation.

and character of the future men and women of this state. The child need not be directed in each little act that he performs. Let the summer vacation season be the time when the child has a chance to develop his own individuality. Many an artist, statesman, or competent executive has come from humble surroundings. But looking back of this, we probably will find that this outstanding individual had a chance to develop his natural talent.

"It has been observed that children grow faster during the summer months than at any other time. This is explainable, perhaps, because it is then that they are out in the sunshine and fresh air. Good health is essential to physical and mental growth. The prime factors of good health are care of the body, nourishing food of the right kind, regular habits, sufficient sleep, rest and play, and a happy state of mind.

"Of course, where the child lives and under what conditions, means a great deal as to the type of recreation he will find during the summer. The city child will look forward to trips to the country or hours spent in the play grounds and swimming pools. The child living in the country will have many things to do that will keep him in the sunshine most of the time.

"Let us all work toward the end that each child may feel at the end of the summer that he has worked out some of his own ideas and dreams, and still developed his physical and mental capacities during these few months of play."

WHEELS OVERHEAD IN CAR OF 2036

When you go for a spin in the park in 2036, your wheels will be over your head instead of under your feet. As a matter of fact, your car will have only one wheel, if we are to credit Mr. H. G. Wells' prognostications for the future as set forth in Alexander Korda's amazing production, "Things To Come," which will be on the screen at the Connellee Theatre Saturday night and Sunday, and that one will run along an elevated structure.

The car itself, the last word in streamlining, will be a cigar-shaped vehicle, suspended by a cable and driven by electricity. As in all his prophecies, Wells' approach to his problem is practical and scientific. The suspended cable-car, by virtue of its single-wheel contact, rather than a four-wheel contact as in surface vehicles, eliminates a great portion of the resistance that is generated from frictional contact. The streamlining, reducing the width of the car, much in the manner of the dirigible, lowers the air resistance.

These cars, according to Mr. Wells, will be used only for the briefest trips, airplanes being the prime means of transportation. In these latter, the author indicates, there will be a vast variety. There will be small cruisers, "joy-buses," and huge super-planes—liners capable of carrying as many passengers as a train. One important improvement that will have a universal effect on air-carriers will be mechanisms to permit practically vertical take-offs and landings. In one scene in "Things To Come," for instance, an auto-gyro is shown which rises vertically into the air to flying height and then proceeds on a straight line. The landing is accomplished in a similar manner—the plane comes to an almost dead standstill, and then descends perpendicularly to land on the proverbial dime.

And while we are on this topic

Connellee Now Playing

Grace Moore and Franchot Tone in "The King Steps Out"—A Columbia Picture

GRACE MOORE'S NEW FILM GAY, HIGHLY MELODIC

Every once in a while, something electrifying happens on the screen, a new picture, a new personality emerges to make audiences tingle. This time it is a picture flushed with enchanting music, directed with the utmost finesse, acted by an excellent cast—and possessed of the screen's loveliest voice—Grace Moore's.

At the Connellee Theatre today, Columbia's musical romance, "The King Steps Out," bursts forth in all its Viennese splendor. In it, Miss Moore lifts her lyric soprano voice to the tune of Fritz Kreisler music, and succeeds in thrilling all within hearing.

Handsome, talented Franchot

Tone plays opposite the diva in the role of Emperor Francis Josef of Austria, a young monarch in search of a bride; he plays the part in fine fashion. Boquets must also be thrust at Walter Connolly, who once more turns in a bull's-eye performance; Raymond Walburn, an excellent character actor who also, in his short film career, has known no wrong; Victor Jory, Elisabeth Risdon, Nana Bryant, Frieda Inescourt, Thurston Hall and Herman Bing.

The story goes that the young ruler wants a bride, and his ambitious mother selects for him Duke Maximilian's daughter, Helena, without the girl's knowledge or consent. The Duke has always been on bad terms with the Dowager Empress, who is his sister-in-law. Wanting to be on the scene, he takes his daughter, Cissy, with him incognito to the castle town. There the Emperor, thinking Cissy a seamstress, falls in love with her just as he has announced his betrothal to her sister, Helena.

Naturally things come out all right; but not before Miss Moore has filled the theater many times with her golden voice. Josef von Sternberg is responsible for the fine direction; and Sidney Buchman for the admirable screen play. "The King Steps Out" is a winning picture, steeped in melody, romance, gaiety and entertainment.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON WITH RODNEY DUTCHER

Lobbyists and friends of the American Federation of Labor, the Townsendsites, and the Co. hinders provided the last-minute opposition which gave worried congressmen an excuse for voting down the bill.

THE Black and Smith bills made initial headway after such recent disclosures as:

Evidence resulting in estimates that $25,000,000 was spent on lobbying during the first session of the 74th Congress.

Thousands of fake telegrams sent here in the effort to beat the public utility holding company bill.

Democratic national committee cleaning up hundreds of thousands of dollars through sale of real or imaginary influence with Democratic officials.

An estimated profit of $20,000,000 by Joe Silverman on 15 years' dealing in army surplus contracts, with assurance from Joe that he had spent "most of $500,000" for "liquor, flowers, and gambling with army officers."

Conviction of a high army officer for receiving a lobbyist's bribe.

Every conceivable form of social, political, and business pressure to make congressmen vote against the holding company bill.

Circulation of fake war scares and discouragement of disarmament and peace gestures by lobbyists for shipping-building companies seeking big cruiser programs.

Various congressmen sharing apartments and houses with lobbyists.

DEMOCRATIC political lobbyists who have reaped fortunes during the New Deal spending era will not be required to tell for whom they're working and what they're getting for their efforts. They can look forward to further undisturbed years aboard the gravy boat.

If the Republicans win in November, a new army of lobbyists will find the same old happy hunting grounds.

"Trigger's dead, Susie," the man said, looking at her steadily. "I just found him out in those aspens back of the doghouse."

papers wagged about her round face that still retained traces of a one-time babyish beauty. "Claire!" She threw her arms about the girl and kissed her. "Have you had your supper? Eh, stir up the kitchen fire quick. Claire'll want something hot after her drive."

Footsteps sounded outside and Eb went to open the door. He admitted the strangers with a sour look. After Claire had presented the newcomers and explained again about the accident, she dispatched the Spratts kitchenward to prepare supper. Then she looked rather curiously at the young men. Bob Steele was handsomer than she had thought, while Pat Magan was—well, still just Pat.

"I'm sure glad to see you again, Claire," he was saying. "Golly, you're looking wonderful." "You haven't forgotten you've kissed the Blarney Stone have you, Pat?" laughed Claire.

"Pat always gets a little groggy when he's excited about something," Miss Fossdick, Bob Steele explained.

The girl turned away with a laugh. "I'm Claire to you, too, Bob. And now while we're waiting, let's go into the library. That was the room Uncle Lyman loved best. Everything has been kept just as it was when he was alive."

LAIRE FOSSDICK sets out on a summer evening to see to the mountain house inherited from her eccentric uncle, Miss Fossdick.

Claire's parents are dead and she has learned that most of the money she thought was secure gone. She owes money to her father's friend, NICK BILM, Nick wants to marry her, but Claire must quite bring herself to say "no."

The trip to the mountains is for the purpose of (1) to search for a mysterious jewel belonging to her uncle and supposed to be in the house, and (2) to search for the main highway Claire's car crashed into a log across the road.

HOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER II

WHEN Claire regained her senses she was lying on the ground with a coat for a pillow. A young man was bending over her with an anxious frown on his face. A minute she stared comically, then a smile of recognition touched her lips.

"Pat Magan?"

He grinned. "Sure, the very name. And what do you think I'm trying to do to yourself, anyway?"

"How is she, Pat?" asked another young man coming out of the darkness.

"Guess she was just knocked out for a minute," Pat told him, with a wave of his hand toward the newcomer, "Claire, this is side-kick, Bob Steele, a min-engineer, with a good job—leave it or not. He's spending vacation in the Rockies."

Claire smiled and held out her hand rather shyly. "How about you, Mr. Steele?"

He shook his head. "Pretty badly damaged. Front axle busted a lot of minor casualties. Someone had closed the road with a log."

Claire turned startled eyes on him. "Closed the road? You mean a log was put there?"

"Sure. Probably repairing or nothing. But Bob and I are on foot, and we'll be tickled to death to trundle you any place I want to go. Feel able to make way to our car?" He helped her up her feet. After a minute she was able to walk unaided, and into their car to wait until they could move the wreck out of the road.

When finally they came back and had decided to tell them why she was going to the house in the mountains.

LAIRE pointed out the road and then told them about her quest, to the part about the mysterious hidden jewel.

"You mean neither of the ang men answered. Then Bob said slowly, "We had to spend most of our vacation in the city, Miss Fossdick, if Pat's willing I'd like to help you look over the house in the mountains. Maybe some of my technical knowledge would come handy."

"Count me in, too, Claire," Pat said.

The rest of the trip was spent making plans. Claire told them about her eccentric Uncle Lyman, fondness for jewels, and how had given the fantastic name to his house in the mountains.

"And you mean to tell me that dame ever waltzed him up her arse and snatched his money and fortune?" asked Pat indignantly. "A bachelor with enough to drift around the world buying jewels!"

"Susie Spratt was his house-keeper for years and she never spoke of any woman. No. He never married," Claire answered.

When they came to the end of the trip both young men agreed that Lyman Fossdick had indeed named his house well.

In the uncertain light of a half moon the building loomed gloomily against the dark background of the mountain. Of imposing height, it was a perfect example of the flamboyant mansions of an earlier period—narrow railed porches, and many bulging bay windows. At the right side of the second story rose a round cupola which seemed to melt into the shadow of a huge pine tree with twin tops that grew close to that side of the house. In fact the gloomy aspect of the place was largely due to this mighty giant of the forest.

"It's really two trees grown together, and a marvelous specimen, as you will see by daylight," Claire said, pointing toward the tree.

"But it must cut off lots of light from the house," remarked Bob Steele.

CLAIRE nodded. "Yes, it's the house of long shadows, you

Malaria Control Shown at Dallas

AUSTIN.—A prominent position in the space of the Federal Building allotted to the United States Public Health Service at the Texas Centennial Exposition is occupied by a twin exhibit arranged by the Texas State Department of Health. The exhibit was made possible through materials furnished by the Public Health Service and is creating much comment and interest.

Two tables, four by six feet each, depict a typical village before and after malaria control shows common malaria mosquito breeding places, including swampy areas, slow, sluggish streams with grassy banks, ox bows or reasacs, poor drainage along railroads and highways, unscreened houses, leaky water tanks and open rain barrels, and other trash and containers which might collect and hold water long enough for mosquito breeding.

The second table represents the same village after extensive malaria control work has accomplished the correction of many hazards and complete elimination of others. Streams through the towns have been cleaned and straightened, rip-rapped or permanently lined. Swamps have been drained by underground drainage or surface ditches, and in one case a dam constructed to raise the water level and convert the swamp into a lake. Houses are screened properly and all containers which would invite mosquito breeding, such as tin cans, fire barrels and water tanks, have been corrected or removed.

Improvement of the village after malaria control was instituted over its former condition is readily apparent, both from an engineering and an economic standpoint. With the elimination of mosquitoes and halting of the spread of malaria, better economic conditions among the population follow as a natural consequence.

Survey Shows Fourth Will Be Social Blank Saturday, July 4, promises to be almost a blank day, socially, a survey showed Friday.

Families are indefinite as to their plans and generally reply to an inquiry with, "Oh, we're going to pack a picnic supper, motor out somewhere in the country and spread our basket contents. No, don't think we will take anyone with us."

Most of the younger set are drifting off into groups of twosomes and threesomes for swims and a sandwich supper at some lake, but say "it isn't a party."

City Group Pass Resolution On Member's Death

The board of city commissioners of the city of Eastland, in regular session assembled, entertained and unanimously passed the following resolution:

Whereas, this body has lost one of its beloved members in the person of T. M. Johnson, who was called from this life on the 22nd day of June, 1936, and

Whereas, the death of our beloved friend and fellow worker causes us to reflect upon the life of usefulness and high purpose which characterized the sojourn of Uncle Tom Johnson among his fellowmen. His strength of character was reflected in his steadfast adherence to his high ideals and his conception of what he conceived to be right and just. His firm belief in the principles of his religion and public duty impelled him to openly advocate the fundamentals in which he so firmly believed. His ideals upon public and political questions were respected by all who knew him, because of his kindly tolerant and charitable respect for the views of those with whom he might take issue.

The many years service on the board of city commissioners of his city, were characterized by the deepest sincerity of purpose, and unyielding adherence to his ideals of fairness and justice to all, and by giving unstintingly of his time and energy to the service of his people. The board of city commissioners will not only miss his kind presence in the years to come, but it will be deprived of the benefit of the ripe experience and sound judgment of "Uncle Tom Johnson of Eastland."

Uncle Tom Johnson was inherently honest with himself and his fellow men, humble and unassuming, strong of intellect, and forceful of character and possessed of a personality that won for him the deep affection of not only his close intimate friends, but of all with whom he came in contact, and

Whereas, as a reward for his long life of service, The Master, whom Uncle Tom Johnson loved and followed through the years, has called his servant from among us to the life beyond. Be it resolved by the board of city commissioners that we adjourn this session in honor and in memory of our departed friend and servant of the people, and that we lament the passage of this good man, who was truly one of God's Noblemen; that we extend our sympathy to the bereaved family and relatives of T. M. Johnson, and at the same time assure them that his memory will be in the hearts of his associates and friends through the years to come and the inspiration of his upright life will strengthen us in the performance of our official duties as did his presence among us in the past.

Be it further resolved that the secretary be instructed to spread this resolution upon minutes and furnish a copy thereof to the press and to the family of our departed friend.

New Shallow Field Develops Slowly

FALFURRIAS.—Development of the new Jim Brooks shallow field in southwestern Brooks county, where the county's first commercial oil production has been found, is continuing slowly but steadily, and the area gives promise of a considerable number of producers from the shallow sand around 900 feet.

The field now has two oil wells, each pumping about 60 barrels daily, and one gasser, now shut in, which has an estimated flow of three million cubic feet daily. Two new wells are drilling in the field.

The field has been known as the Alta Verde field until recently renamed.

Judge Creates a Social Clinic

PITTSBURGH.—A "social clinic" to eliminate guesswork by the sentencing jurist is the vision of Judge Ralph H. Smith, youngest man ever to preside in Allegheny County Criminal Court.

Before Judge Smith completes his sixth-month assignment on the criminal bench in August and returns to the common pleas division, he hopes to see punishment tailored to the individual instead of the crime.

Psychiatric and physical examination of every defendant are the main instruments with which he hopes to institute the most far-reaching reforms the local court has known.

Parallels Federal Plan Judge Smith's plan parallels to some degree that in use in Federal courts and embodies desirable features and systems used in Chicago, Detroit, New York and Baltimore.

For all his bluntness, his unswerving willingness to crack down on the racket men and handle offenders, Judge Smith made it plain that he is deeply concerned over the sentences he is obliged to pass "blindly," as he puts it.

"In all humanity," he said, "I consider it a matter of grave importance to reach into a man's life and take out a year, two years, four years, from the only life that he has.

"When I'm belting a racketeer for a lengthy stretch, often I think of the changes that have come about my life in that same period of time. My children have been born. Relatives have died; some married. These things and more will happen in this defendant's family while he was in prison."

"Why, then, should I sentence him without knowing that his crime, perhaps, was the result of a mental wrinkle which could be ironed out with proper treatment?"

"Perhaps he should be released, hospitalized or given institutional care. But where? We don't know now.

"But with our social clinic, the judge's function will cease to be a guessing game. The criminal courts will cease to be a battleground where prosecution and defense play a game in which the judge sits as a more or less impartial arbiter."

Mexico Plans an Irrigation Project

McALLEN.—Three huge irrigation projects costing 80,000,000 pesos and adding 1,500,000 acres to the irrigated agricultural lands of the Republic of Mexico will be an important part of the work during the next two or three years of President Lazaro Cardenas' administration, according to reliable information received here.

Most interesting of the border are plans for the huge Azucar Dam on the San Juan River, important tributary to the Rio Grande, which empties into the international boundary stream just above Rio Grande city, Texas.

Engineers are already making their surveys and investigations of the dam site and some work has been done at the site, about 100 miles west and south of McAllen.

Azucar Dam is expected to aid in the control of floods on the Rio Grande, since the San Juan River almost invariably floods simultaneously with the boundary streams. It will provide irrigation water for more than 150,000 acres of land.

The first of the major Mexican projects to be completed will be El Palmito Dam on the Nazas River in Coahuila, where about 900,000 acres of land in the Terreon district will be placed under irrigation.

Another major project will be known as the Angostura Dam on the Yaqui River in Sonora, which will irrigate many thousands of acres of Valley land in that area.

The other small projects will be handled as a group and are as follows: Npaja Dam, Isthmus of Tehuantepec, 150,000 acres; Valquillo Dam in the State of Pueblo, 75,000 acres; Trujillo Dam, State of Zacatecas, 100,000 acres; Tepalcatepec Dam, State of Michoacan, 100,000 acres; and San Ildelfonso Dam, at San Juan del Rio, State of Queretaro, 22,500 acres.

LOS ANGELES, Cal.—The National Cactus and Succulent Society has undertaken to inaugurate America's list of sporting events. At its annual meeting here stage a derby between a gila ster and a tortoise.

with an injured thumb at badly swollen finger on his right hand. Charley Gelbert been trying to carry on, but far from a Durocher in the due to his inability to get along with the nimbleness of the Bird captain.

The Cardinals expect Joe Mize to turn into a home run in right field.

The trouble with Mize in field, however, is that he is a fence menace there. His jumping into extra-base hits for opposition, and it is doubtful even the Gas House Gang, its rugged, swashbuckling style, is good enough to carry right fielder who makes so many mistakes and only now and helps his own cause by hitting ball into the next county.

FRANK FRISCH means his job at all times. The Car manager replays the games have been lost, and rem "Now, had we won those wouldn't have anything to v about."

Frisch always is stopped on one. Dizzy Dean picks on the continuously.

"Listen, Frankie," says "You'll be thinking about a thing to worry about after we those four straight from the kees in the world series. At our little manager—ain't he Cheerio, himself?"

There is only one club of dinals, and it will fight the right down to the wire.

The Pirates? Well, the crew is plenty surprising now, and there's no telling the current show horse will up with and pass the rest of field.

Pitching is worrying the Cardinals, whose eastern trip did not start too auspiciously in Boston, after they compiled a record of 15 victories in 23 starts at home. Paul Dean is nursing an ailing arm.

"BARNUM Was RIGHT"

The one and only P. T. Barnum is alleged to have said many things that never found their way into our copy-books... things to which few of us wish to subscribe. But he uttered a profound truth when he said. "If you don't advertise your business, the sheriff will."

Firms which intend to stay in business, that is, firms which deal directly with the public, must advertise. By the same token, it is a sign that they mean to stay in business when they do advertise. For they are offering, through advertisements, the values in their stores.

You, the customer, will decide whether or not they are values. If they are not, it is "just too bad" for the firm that claimed they were. Don't you see, therefore, that no merchant can afford to misrepresent himself or his goods in print? Advertising merely magnifies a misrepresentation—brings the fatal day nearer.

Naturally, then, you can trust the advertisements in this paper. You can believe that the stores signing those advertisements want your trade, and are willing to earn it—with honest values and fair treatment. Read the advertisements. Patronize the advertisers. It is to your selfish interest to do so.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY MARY E. DAGUE N.Y. Service Star Writer

ITS certainly not fair—the least bit fair—for the rest of the family and their friends to troop off to the tennis court or seashore and leave Mother to spend long hours over a hot stove. Often that's what the summer influx of "company" means.

If it does happen, it's really Mother's own fault. Of course she wants "company meals" to be exceptionally nice, but they needn't be elaborate. I've worked out some menus and recipes that will give the table a festive air, yet are neither expensive or difficult to prepare.

Here's Suggested Menu Pork and apples are a universally popular combination, and pork tenderloin with apple fritters make an appetizing dinner. Indeed, with them serve creamed kohlrabi and glazed carrots. Add a salad of curly endive with French dressing and finish the meal with a fruity dessert. This meal is not too heavy, yet it is entirely satisfying and inviting.

When you buy the tenderloin ask the butcher to French it. This means that he will cut the tenderloin in pieces about two inches long. Then he will stand each piece on end and flatten them with one or two blows with the broad side of a cleaver. This makes flat, round cakes to broil or fry. They are so tender you don't need a knife to cut them after cooking.

To cook Frenched pork tenderloin, sprinkle with salt and pepper and dip each piece in flour, coating evenly on both sides. Fry in butter or other fat on both sides, browning first one side and then the other. After the meat is browned, cover and cook slowly until tender, about 25 minutes. Serve with apple fritters and a creamed vegetable. I want to emphasize the point of serving plenty of milk in summer menus. Creamed vegetables, desserts served with sugar and plenty of cream or top milk and creamed soups introduce milk into meals that otherwise would be out of balance in food value.

Apple Fritters Four tart cooking apples, 1 cup flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1 egg, 1-2 cup milk, cinnamon and powdered sugar. Pare apples and cut in slices an inch thick, cutting crosswise. Remove core and sprinkle each with powdered sugar and cinnamon. Mix and sift flour, baking powder, sugar and salt. Beat egg until light and add with milk to dry mixture. Stir until smooth and dip apple slices in batter. Fry in deep hot fat hot enough to brown an inch cube of bread in sixty counts or 360 degrees F. on a fat thermometer, and drain on soft crumpled paper.
