Tid Bit

By HVO

NEW YORK Times claims it prints all the news fit to print. What about all the news that can't see print for various reasons. A Lions Club meeting perked up one day when it was announced that we were going to give a program from our file of unpublished stories. It was a joke-type, but there is such a file, collected over the years and made up of stories that didn't see print for assorted reasons. Many are written, pondered and filed. Some for good taste, some for timing and some for other reasons.

There's a category of expansion and development stories that don't even get put on paper. They come from trusting sources who are in the planning stages of various projects but aren't ready for public distribution. These would be most welcome reading by all if printed, but might damage planning and therefore must remain in the wings until the proper time.

Others which never see the light of day are those which might be considered "news" by some, but which on the whole, would serve no purpose, and therefore, particularly in the "country papers" like this one, remain locked in secret places and hopefully soon forgotten. Principal has a part in news gathering and dissemination too.

And then there's the private kind as it pertains to people in the office. For instance, as bad as he might like to tell the world, an editor would be hesitant to just come right out, even though it be true, true, and print that he loved his wife and appreciated her more than she'll ever know. He might be downtown all day every day and forget to pick up a pretty valentine, and then, even though he'd be tempted to do so, he'd be hesitant to bury somewhere within his columns: HVO loves GNO. Some might do this, but then of course, it's not the ordinary thing.

EASTLAND CHAMBER of Commerce board of directors Monday enthusiastically gave the Centennial Celebration a vote of confidence and sets plans in action to help with the county's 100th birthday party.

President J. T. Buddy Carter will make committee assignments soon and you'll be hearing good plans. So let those beards grow, and start starting your bonnets for the celebration. Present were Mr. Carter, Ann Jernigan, Wade Freeman, Don Baird, Emmett Lasater, James Fullen, Douglas Underwood, Gene Grost, Marie Boney, arcus O'Dell, Don Martin, Lewis Tiner, Bruce Pipkin, M. H. Perry and Grover Hallmark.

REMEMBER TO plan to give a pint Sunday in the aycees Annual Blood drive at Eastland Memorial Hospital. The pint you give, might be the pint you or a loved one might need.

MARK THIS date too: Jaycees will play a benefit basketball game on March 6 at Eastland Gym to raise funds to buy needed medical aids for maria Gutierrez who is a Gonzales Center for treatment. Funds may also be contributed through James Reid, P.O. Box 391 at Eastland National Bank.

Judge Austin McCloud Named

An Eastland resident has been named to an Advisory Committee for Abner V. McCall Recognition Day March 30 in Waco. Austin McCloud, chief justice of the 11th Appeals Judicial District, was asked to serve on the committee by Mrs. R.L. Mathis, Baylor Student Union director and honorary chair-

Citizen Asks About Safety

Dear Editor:

I trust this letter will be printed in accordance with the Freedom of speech and of the Press theory.

I am not one who stirs or wish to stir up trouble, but I do think we as citizens need to look beyond the dollars and cents in comparison to the value of lives.

Isn't it ironic that we have so soon forgotten the tragedy at Texas City?

That we have allowed a dangerous situation to develop right in the heart of one of our residential communities of one of our residential communities. A situation that would be safer on the outskirts or out side the city limits.

Perhaps some people don't care about this set up, but we who will be living next to this danger are very much concerned.

Five mammoth storage tanks of inflammable gasoline will be placed within three blocks of the pride of Eastland, The County Court House.

Three square blocks of the whole downtown sector is within radius of this danger. Nothing flies farther and faster than flaming gasoline and nothing is more destructive.

How could this danger have been over looked in the transaction of this piece of business? I have heard that a pair of local citizens tried to purchase this piece of property to build dwelling houses but for some reason

They could not obtain said property. We are told further that a company wanting to build homes on this site tried also to purchase this same property. I am not sure what happened, but how could a company of this magnitude be allowed to build such a dangerous business in a residential area.

I understand that nothing can be done about this, because there are no zoning laws here.

"There is no danger", a report stated. All precautions are being taken. I believe that was the case in Texas City. Just a few days ago an unexpected explosion occurred at Steton Island in New York. This was a tank filled with some inflammable substance. This proves that the unexpected can happen.

I pray with all my heart that the unexpected won't happen here but if it does, the money received for this property, will in no way, pay for the loss in lives and property.

"No pollution", the report says. Everyone knows differently, any refinery or gasoline storage has fumes, and fumes pollute the air. Those who suffer from respiratory diseases, will be in for it.

The homes down in the s area may not be mansions, but they are the only homes we have, and they mean just as much to all of us.

Perhaps I am being pessimistic but if this thing gets established, and goes off, what a mess it will make!

Not only in this residential area, but all around the square. When we pass and look at the awesome sight of "Those Five Mammoth Tanks which will hold thousands of gallons of gasoline, it's like foreseeing a future of oblivion.

Little as we think, this thing is too close for comfort.

Mrs. Vivian Jones

man of the event. The day will honor the 10th president of the Baptist university.

A Baylor graduate, McCloud is chief justice of the Eastland Court of Civil Appeals. He has been associated with the Houston law firm of Fulbright, Crooker and Jaworski and the Colorado City firm of Ratliff and McCloud.

(ED. NOTE: Realizing that this very well written letter certainly deserved immediate investigative inquiry, we took the liberty of contacting the EXXON USA Regional Headquarters in Dallas, and officials there gave us the following, comforting statement)

"EXXON USA officials would like to reassure the citizens of Eastland that our new bulk plant will be extremely safe from danger of fire, explosion or pollution.

"During the many years we have operated our existing bulk plant in Eastland we have never experienced any such problems and our new facility will feature many additional safeguards which were not in use when the original plant was constructed.

"The most important safeguard will be the placing of all storage tanks under ground.

"And of course, the new plant will comply with all the strict requirements of the Federal Occupational Safety and Health Act."

FULLEN MOTOR CO. Laugh-A-Day

The guy who said, "A bird in the hand," etc, never held one.

A blind Eastland youth, 18 year old Stacy Blair, has marked up a "first" in the annals of Texas High School music.

During the annual convention of the Texas Music Educators Association, held in San Antonio, Feb. 8-10, Blair was selected by competitive tryouts to play 1st chair trumpet in the All State Concert Band. The bands performed in San Antonio's Convention Center.

Blair, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Blair, is what eye specialists call "legally blind". That is, he can see enough light to move about by himself, but not enough to read. Consequently, he must memorize all his music parts in advance.

In playing 1st chair trumpet, he had to rapidly memorize John Philip Sousa's difficult march, "The Gallant Seventh". This particular march, the 101st in Sousa's career, was written in the late 1800's and dedicated to New York's Seventh Cavalry Regiment.

In addition to the march, Blair also had to memorize the trumpet part of Holst's Suite No. 1 in E-flat Major. Conductor of the all-star line up of Texas high school musicians was Robert Reynolds, of Madison, Wisconsin.

Just prior to his Austin trip, young Blair had been notified of his successful audition by the Hardin Simmons School of Music, and that he had been awarded a four year, $2,000 scholarship from the school. Blair performed his audition before Hardin Simmons director of bands, Marion B. McClure, and instructor Bill Owens.

Blair says he plans to get his master's degree in music from Hardin Simmons and become a high school band director.

Blood Donor Project Asks Public Support

The volunteer blood donor gives THE GIFT OF LIFE because the only way people who need blood can get blood is from other people. The life saved could be your own. It could be a stranger's, or the life of someone you love.

The Eastland Jaycees are conducting their annual blood donor drive Sunday, Feb. 18, at Eastland Memorial Hospital between the hours of 1 and 5 p.m.

YOU are welcome! THE NEED

There is no substitute for human blood. Its only source is another healthy, adult human being who has the right type of blood.

Today more blood is needed than ever before - use of whole blood has increased 500 percent in just four years. Blood transfusions have become routine in major surgery - not just in miracles like open-heart surgery, but every day. And when blood is needed, it is needed NOW - there's not always time to look for a donor and draw blood.

The normal life span of blood is just 21 days. Freezing blood prolongs the life span, but it costs $50 to $75 to freeze a unit. This means blood is needed day after day in an even flow - not just in time of disaster.

A hospitalization insurance policy doesn't availability of blood - just dollars. But by participating in a volunteer blood donor program, you can make sure that blood will be available to yourself and your family when you need it. And you can help make your community more secure for all.

WHO CAN GIVE BLOOD

You're an eligible blood donor if you're between the ages of 18 and 59, weigh at least 110 pounds, and are in good health. Minors must have the written consent of both parents.

Don't be afraid - giving blood doesn't hurt. You'll be checked over, and you'll be excused if there's a chance it could hurt your health - normally you shouldn't give blood more than once in six months. Naturally, persons who've had thrombophelbitis, hepatitis, malaria or syphilis will also be excused. Half the U.S. population is eligible to give blood, but only 3 percent do give. If all the eligible persons give blood just once in 16 years, it would cover all this country's foreseeable needs!

WHY VOLUNTEER BLOOD

Volunteer blood is low risk blood. epatitis is the most frequently transmitted of all infectious blood diseases. It can kill the recipient, yet it is virtually impossible to detect the active or carrierstate in a donor's blood. This means the patient must depend upon an unknown donor's honesty about his health record. Whole blood and plasma obtained from non profit, medically sponsored blood banks have proven 10 to 12 times safer than blood obtained through channels where the donor is paid money for his blood.

A successful volunteer blood donor program takes blood out of the marketplace. The charge for blood is to cover the cost of processing, and the responsibility for blood replacement is put where it belongs - on the family and friends of the patient receiving a blood transfusion. Over 60 percent of donors surveyed believe that families have a moral and financial obligation to replace the blood they use. Thus, an adequate supply of safe, whole blood and plasma is always available to meet the needs of all members of the community. Give THE GIFT OF LIFE - you can't afford not to!

THE WHITE HOUSE WASHINGTON

National Volunteer Blood Donor Month

During National Volunteer Blood Donor Month - all Americans are reminded of those who generously give their time and energy in support of the nation's blood banks.

Their efforts together with those of the American National Red Cross and other agencies concerned with the processing and distribution of this vital resource ensure that the medical community's basic need for blood are unfailingly and effectively met. They provide an opportunity for millions of volunteer blood donors to offer this sustaining gift of life to those who might not survive without it.

I know that I am joined by every fellow citizen in acknowledging the important contribution of the American Association of Blood Banks and in paying tribute to the dedicated men and women who assist in their critically important work.

Over 100 friends and relatives helped the Joel T. Bonds celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary Sunday, at their home in Olden. The Bonds were married Feb. 7, 1923 in Olden.

Mrs. Bond was the former Ruby Clark, daughter of Jay and Fannie Calrk. She was born in Eastland County, and Mr. Bond was Production Foreman for the Magnolia Oil company, now Mobil. He retired in 1959 after forty years service with the company. Hosting the party for her parents, was LaRue Hughes, and her sons Kim and Kevin of Altus, Okla. The Bonds spent several years in Oklahoma, and many of their Okla friends attended the reception. Also attending were friends from Gainesville, where they lived when they retired. Others were from San Antonio, Austin, Midland, Abilene, Albany, Desamona, Dallas, and other towns near by, as well as local people. The center piece was a crystal container with yellow rosebuds. The beautiful three tiered decorated cake and punch completed the decorations. On the table, which was covered with a Gold colored Lame Cloth. Ministers Speak

By Evangelist Edgar Martin
In order to save his money for later use, he did not go to the ship's dining room with the other passengers. Throughout the entire voyage he did not enjoy even one of the delicious meals served on board ship. Instead, he meagerly existed on a few small snackbar items each day. Upon completion of the trip the man learned to his dismay that his meals were actually paid for in the price of his ticket. All that time he had missed many daily blessings that were already paid for and meant for him to enjoy. So it is that Christ has offered all a ticket to sail over the sea of life to the harbor of Heaven. This is truly a great gift to man for it required a fare of such a high price that Christ paid for it with His own precious blood. And now that he died for us, it is possible for whosoever will to travel through life in a spiritual health and happiness.

His blood provides for the benefits of a first class journey. Sad it is however, that many Christians on their voyage to Heaven are not aware of the wonderful daily blessings already paid for in the price of their ticket. While others with strong souls feast at God's table, their feeble and frail hearts feed upon the meager crumbs of complacency and mediocrity. Just think, it was all offered to them just as freely as to others but was not accepted and enjoyed. The First Church of God is providing a special meal each evening at 7 o'clock through February 18. So, don't miss out on God's blessing.

Most people's attitude toward giving blood is, "Let the next guy do it."

Unless you're the next guy that needs it.

JAYCEE BLOOD DONOR DRIVE Eastland Memorial Hospital Sunday, Feb. 18 1 to 5 p.m.

Half of the population of the U.S. are qualified blood donors, yet only 3% of that half actually donate. 3% of our population is supplying the entire nation with blood. And that's why our blood supply is at a dangerously low level.

Giving blood is easy and it doesn't hurt a bit. In fact, donating blood is good for you. It stimulates a healthy person's bone marrow to produce more red cells. And anyone from 18 to 66 can give.

It all comes down to this, when you or any other person needs blood, not dollars, not well wishes, nothing else will do except blood.

Today, you be the "next guy" and visit your nearest hospital, Red Cross center or volunteer blood center and give a little of yourself.

Give blood. And give life.

This plea for blood sponsored by Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Texas, Texas Medical Association, Texas Hospital Association, Texas Osteopathic Medical Association, and Texas Osteopathic Hospital Association.

Wonderful World of Books

Every time you hit a ball -- on the baseball field, golf course, or tennis court -- you're using "complex" scientific principles, claims C. B. Daish, scientist-author of the new book LEARN SCIENCE THROUGH BALL GAMES (Sterling $3.95) and he shows how these laws actually work in a dozen popular sports.

With many no-math examples and precise diagrams, he reveals the curious effects of climate and weather on various games, the ways different balls react to force and flight -- how the pitcher creates his curve ball, the football player his spiral kick, and the table tennis player his most effective shots. You'll discover how Newton's law of action and reaction functions when you're up at bat, how the Magnus effect gives you top spin in tennis, how to use centrifugal force to advantage in your golf swing -- and why some professional players soak their golf balls in hot water before starting a round on cold days!

This intriguing book has a double appeal: as high interest level material for learning science, and as usable information for those who want to play their game better.

Seize the initiative with the Center Game!

Launch a vehement attack with the Danish Gambit!

Watch your opponent's spirit break when you make no mistake as you play the formidable Giuoco Pinao!

Your chess game will improve instantly when you explore the strong chess openings Fred Reinfeld outlines and analyzes in his COMPLETE BOOK OF CHESS OPENINGS, just reissued by Sterling ($4.95) after being years out-of-print.

Mr. Reinfeld, former editor of Chess Review and author of over 75 chess books, describes more than 40 major openings and defenses, as well as some gambits which you are likely to meet and want to use in day-to-day play. He gives a concise summary of what each opening is intended to achieve and what it actually does achieve, and then shows its most characteristic variations, so that the player becomes familiar with the best opening lines and at the same time has plenty of room to experiment and use imagination.

Packed with diagrams, the book includes many Queen Pawn Openings, which Bobby Fischer never used in tournament play until his match with Spassky, but which have enjoyed great popularity in master chess for 60 years. These have been avoided by the foresight and planning needed as play continues. In each case, however, Mr. Reinfeld gives a general idea of the likely trend of the middle game and the longterm possibilities

Webb's semi-symphonic "MacArthur Park" to a nostalgic trip in a glittering "Riverboat" finale.

As usual there will be ample comedy for everyone. In addition to the antics of "SNOOPY" the zany humor of Little Lito will be on display. A very new novelty touch will be on hand with the addition of Soule's famous "Poodles of Paris", one of the finest of all canine acts.

The new production staff will be headed by Bob Shipstead who earned his spurs as an ice show producer under the guidance of his father, Eddie Shipstead, of Ice Follies fame. Helen and Bob Maxson, two of the best known choreographers in the history of ice shows, will supervise the skating routines. Stanley Kahn has the job of staging the production and Helen Colvig, noted costume designer, is the person responsible for the unusual and elegant wardrobe. Created at a cost of almost $500,000 it gives the 27th edition of Holiday on Ice a look that is young, bright and beautiful.

Holiday on Ice of 1973 is an American show steeped in the tradition of American entertainment. American music sets the theme including the original compositions by Holiday's own composer and arranger, Dick Friesen.

Original numbers composed by Dick Friesen are "The New Ice Age", "Shoo-Fly Crow", "Town Meeting", "Tip your Hat to a Carrot", "Honey Be My Little Honey Bee", "Soil, Seed, Sun and air" and "Tender Loving Care".

The 1973 Holiday on Ice is a combination that has been molded into one of the great entertainment spectacles of this or any other year. It's "The New Ice Age" that gives Holiday on Ice that "New Look".

of each variation -- an enormous advantage to the player who has read this book! COMPLETE BOOK OF CHESS OPENINGS

BAKKER FUNERAL HOME
306 W. PLUMMER PH. 817-629-1726
EASTLAND, TEXAS 76448

DALE O. BAKKER

Dear friends,

The United States is a nation of mobile people. Each year, 10% of those who die do so in a community other than in which the funeral is conducted. To make funeral plans by prearrangement, not knowing where or when one will die, is obviously difficult. However, it is wise to leave behind a written preference to guide those who are entrusted with the funeral arrangements.

Respectfully,

Dale O. Bakker

Legal Secretaries Holds Meeting

The Eastland Stephens Counties Legal Secretaries Association met February 12, at 7:00 at the Bank Conference in Eastland for their scheduled meeting of the month. Members present were Jacki Perry, Gwenda Eberle, Colene Pennington, Marry Crofts, Glenda Terrell, Clara Nichols, Oleta Moseley, Jo McFarland, Dorothy Pyke and Rita Wilson. Visitors present were Florene Peak and Mary Hammer, secretaries from the Turner, Seaberry and Warford firm in Eastland.

Tommy Warford, the guest speaker, gave an informative talk on Community Property. A question and answer period followed with refreshments being served thereafter.

The speaker was excused, and current business matters of the association were discussed. Jo McFarland and Glenda Terrell gave reports on the Texas Legal Secretaries Association's Board meeting which they attended over the past weekend in Arlington.

The next meeting of the association will be March 12, at the Coffee Room of the Citizens National Bank in Breckenridge.

Their charge. "This is recorded in Acts 7:59.

"Can you love those that mistreat you? Let us see what Jesus said about this. In Matthew 5:43-48 we read,

"Ye have heard that it hath been said, Thou shalt love thy neighbor, and hate thine enemy. But I say unto you, Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you, and pray for them which despitefully use you, and persecute you. That ye may be the children of your Father which is in heaven: for he maketh his sun to rise on the evil and on the good, and sendeth rain on the just and on the unjust. For if ye love them which love you, what reward have ye? Do not even the publicans the same? and if ye salute your brethren only, what do ye more than others do not even the publicans so? Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect."

Jesus taught this some time before he was crucified. Not only did he teach us that we should love our enemies and pray for them but he practiced it.

We notice in this scripture, Christ was our example. He loved not only the good and gentle but also the forward. "That is the stubborn and disobedient".

We notice in Luke 23:34 while Jesus was hanging on the cross. He said, "Father, forgive them; for they know not what they do."

Steven must have believed Jesus was our example because while he was being stoned he said, "Lord, lay not this sin to Let each of us follow Christ as He is OUR example. This will bring about Love and Peace.

MINSTER SPEAK

CHRIST OUR EXAMPLE
By Rev. Charles Whitton

In I Peter 2:17-25 we read, "Honour all men. Love the brotherhood. Fear God. Honour the King. Servants, be subject to your masters with all fear; not only to the good and gentle, but also to the forward. For this is thankworthy, if a man for conscience toward God endure grief, suffering wrongfully. For what glory is it, if when ye be buffeted for your faults, ye shall take it patiently? but if, when ye do well, and suffer for it, ye take it patiently, this is acceptable with God. For even hereunto were ye called: because Christ also suffered for us, leaving us an example, that ye should follow his steps. Who did no sin, neither was guile found in this mouth: Who, when he was reviled, reviled not again; when he suffered, he threatened not; but committed himself to him that judgeth righteously: Who his own self bare our sins in his own body on the tree, that we, being dead to sins, should live unto righteousness: by whose stripes ye were healed. For ye were as sheep going astray; but are now returned unto the Shepherd and Bishop of your souls."

John 3:16-17 says, "For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life. For God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved."

History of the Theatre

shows that came were the exciting mystery plays of Mary Roberts Rinehart, namely, The Cat and the Canary with Henry Hull and Florence Eldridge, and The Bat, that ran for 367 performances on Broadway. Robert Vaughn, May Vokes, Stuart Sage and Effie Ellster starred in the last. An outstanding drama brought here during this period was The Woman of Bronze with Margaret Anglin and William Faversham. These principals enjoyed a large public following and had their names in lights on Broadway for years. Mrs. Elizabeth Freschlag, Mr. Connellee's granddaughter, tells an amusing sidelight on this presentation. Due to her grandfather's insistence, she always sat in one of the box seats, which were so far up front they were almost on the stage itself. From this observation point she became aware of a furious under-the-breath word battle going on between Anglin and Faversham. Afterwards, she, Elizabeth, didn't remember much about the play plot, but she had acquired a lot of information about an intense private feud.

In the interims between these road shows, the theater held benefits, home talent productions, dance recitals, political gatherings, Elks' minstrels and movies. This was still in the early twenties, the era of the silent films. The film showings followed almost invariably in this sequence: first the Pathe News heralded by a huge rooster, its trademark; second the main feature; and third and best of all, the comedy. As an extra enjoyment on most Saturdays there was an episode of the current serial: such as Ruth Roland in The Circle or The Perils of Pauline with Pauline White. Poor Pauline was always left, as the episode ended, in the most precarious circumstances. Either she was tied to a railroad track with the train only a few yards away, or she was tied to a conveyor belt in a saw mill about to be sliced in two, or perhaps she was last seen hanging by one hand to a cliff overlooking a bottomless pit. On the next Saturday, she was miraculously saved from that fate only to be left again tied in a rowboat approaching the edge of a 200 foot waterfall or some other horrible predicament. Those early day movie queens were entirely indestructible. It was action all the way, very little talk and never a dull moment. Compared to these old-time serials, our modern day soap operas aren't really very exciting. In conjunction with these silent movies, the sheet music was sent with each film, and Miss Hallie Morris always sat a piano in the orchestra pit, just under the screen, and played the mood music and appropriate sound effects as the film progressed.

Many of the full length features were Westerns, and we can remember those fearless heroes, William S. Hart, Tom Mix, Hoot Gibson, Richard Dix, and Hopalong Cassidy, to mention a few. They wore white ten-gallon hats and were the "good guys" who could always eliminate the "bad guys" in the blackhats and black whiskers. There was never a non-hero in those days. Each one was classified good or bad immediately.

Some of the charming heroines of this period were: Mary Pickford, America's Sweetheart; the gamine Mabel Normand; Mary Miles Minter, always pure as the driven snow; Gloria Swanson, who is still active today; Bessie Love; and the vamp and seductress Theda Bara, who was always leading the honorable hero astray. In the end, however, justice and purity triumphed and she got her comeuppance. The Gish sisters, Dorothy and Lillian, played in the great David Wark Griffith's The Birth of a Nation that was filmed in 1917 but shown for many years in return engagements. It was an early day Gone With the Wind and a "three handkerchief" tear jerker.

One and two reel comedies were turned out rapidly by the old Edendale Studio in the San Fernando Valley by Mack Sennett, the king of comedy and many were brought to our theater. Charles Chaplin, Harry Langdon, Fatty Arbuckle, Ben Turpin, Louise Fazenda, and Al St. John all got their start in the Sennett comedies. However, Ford Sterling, Chester Conklin, Mack Swain, Bobby Vernon, and Hank Mann as Sennett's Keystone Kops were the cornerstone of all the hilarious comedy that incubated in Hollywood. Their celebrated get-up always consisted of bucket helmets, long coats with brass buttons, floppy shoes, and a night stick. The Kops would pile pell-mell into a trolley and set out on a wild ride at a break-neck speed in pursuit of somebody or something. Half the time nobody knew exactly what. After dozens of hair-breadth crash escapes, hilarious skids, whacks, bangs and bumps they sometimes ended in a terrific explosion or a carload tumble off a cliff. The Kops always walked away from catastrophes without a scratch. Another favorite scene was a custard pie throwing battle that was a million laughs for kids. It was a sad tribulation indeed to have to miss one of these fun festivals.

By 1925 the oil bubble in Eastland had burst and the population had dwindled to about a third of its boom numbers. The day of the big road shows was gone. The Connellee began to show movies only. The talkies came in, and the stage stars with their good voices and polished diction were lured to Hollywood by fabulous salaries. The Connellee acquired the necessary new equipment and the first talking picture to be shown was The Covered Wagon. Then came the depression years of the Thirties. All sorts of gimmicks, bank night, family nights, where, to say the least, hazardous and unpredictable. The Connellee opened with great fanfare and widespread publicity. An extravagant variety show from the Keith-Orpheum circuit and a pre-show address by the silver tongued orator of Texas, Senator Joseph Weldon Bailey, launched the entertainment off to a good start. Then for the next few years, as the county towns were still in prosperous, many dressing rooms, storage areas and a 1200 unit seating space to accommodate large Broadway musicals and plays of the legitimate theater. In front the building housed a magazine stand on the south, a flower shop on the north, and the first beauty shop in Eastland flourished on the mezzanine. Many courageous women went to this emporium of beauty, the Mary Louise, to obtain the newly invented permanent wave. The decision to do this required a gambling spirit to a large degree, because it was a toss up whether one would come out half-scalped, or with a kinky mass of impenetrable hair, or the desired result of beautiful curls. The early beauty aids producer Raymond Hitchcock brought The Passing Show of 1922 to town. It featured Willie and Eugene Howard, Arthur Morgetson and Frances Renault. The special train bringing this large group was on a siding at the old Ringling depot which was located south and east of the cemetery. Mrs. Audrey Kimbrell, box office manager at that time, remembers that Willie Howard, one of the great comedians of the American Theater, walked up from the train and requested a pre-show look at the theater. Permission was given and upon returning, he complimented the facilities profusely, then asked, "Where's the town?"

Of the many musicals that came, we can remember the following that were here: Blossom Time with Bertram Peacock and Colin O'Moore; The Vagabond King with Dennis King; Up in the Clouds with Hal Van Rensselaer; Little Jessie James with Nan Halperin, Marian Hopkins and Allan Kearns; The Student Prince with John Boles; and Eddie Buzzell and Helen Ford appeared in The Gingham Girl. To many the most thrilling eat and after Thanks was said by Mr. Fambrough, all enjoyed the "goodies." Afterward, Mrs. Nina Hasting assoc. outreach Leader, turned the meeting over to Mrs. Lorene Crawford, who brought such a sweet message it had to be heard to get the wonderful message. "OUR TRUE INTENT IS ALL FOR YOUR DELIGHT"

Present day theatre patrons ask that the photoplays be accompanied by well selected musical programs that assist the intent of the mood shadowed on the silver sheet. Comedy, drama, tragedy or any other emotion is expressively given by a well handled pipe organ. Such as organ is ours, one that can give the crashing melody of a brass band, or the soft melodious strains of a symphony orchestra. Considerable attention is given to our musical programs and we hope we have given you additional pleasure by correct musical settings to our pictures.

I REMEMBER
By Dick O'Brien

I can never forget our first days in Carbon as pastor of the Baptist church. It seems too impossible to believe, but there was a bad feeling between the Baptist and Methodist churches.

In fact it was a very bitter feeling. About the same time we arrived in the community a new Methodist pastor came on the scene. His name was Hightower, and he was about my age, was tall and skinny like me, and had been in the ministry about as long as I had. I liked him from the first time I met him. He and I got together rather secretly and discussed prevailing conditions. We agreed to pray for each other, and to set an example which might bring the two congregations closer in fellowship.

There was a tennis court located in a deserted lumber yard, and he and I would walk the length of main street with our tennis rackets and play two or three times a week. Also he and I had identical Ford T roadsters. One day we would visit our members in his car, and the next day in mine. We both visited Methodists and Baptists indiscriminately. It soon began to show in community attitudes. We Baptists changed our weekly prayer-meetings from Wednesday night to Tuesday night so we could attend each others mid-week services.

I would deeply appreciate any information as to where Brother Hightower is now. I would love to communicate with him. We agreed that if we were going to live together forever in the next world, we should get some practice on getting along with each others in this world.

February at the Library

February brings to mind the birthdays of two famous Presidents, George Washington and Abraham Lincoln.

There was a 3rd President with a birthday in February. William Henry Harrison was born on February 9, 1773 but he never got to prove his greatness as he died in office just 32 days after his inauguration.

Many facts and interesting biographies of Presidents are to be found at the Eastland Public Library. We have biographies of Washington, Adams, Jefferson, Jackson, Lincoln, Grant, Cleveland, Wilson, Harding, Coolidge, Roosevelt, Truman, Eisenhower, Kennedy and Johnson. We have Mr. Johnson's recent book, "The Vantage Point and Lady Bird's 'White House Diary'."

There are many other interesting books about the presidency such as: "The 33 Families of the White House", "How They Became President", "Inaugural Addresses", Carl Sandburg's "Lincoln" and many novels about Presidents and their wives and homes.

Children are always interested in Presidents and there are many volumes in their shelves, including 16 Vols. of American Heritage histories, many individual biographies, "The Arrow Book of Presidents", "Mount Vernon" and many other stories. Our display of miniature statues of all the Presidents always attracts the youngsters.

Have you read: "Breakfast at the Hermitage", "The Man From Mt. Vernon", "Vinnie Ream", "Love is Eternal", "The Young Jefferson", "Farewell My General", "The
