

MOORE about... EASTLAND by Virgil E. Moore

Sandra Kirkland, county Home Demonstration agent, tells the one about the Cisco woman who took off for Abilene the other day. Just as she passed one of those "Speed Limit Radar Controlled signs her car came to an unwelcome stop. The woman caught a ride back into Cisco and called up the police, complaining that her car was stopped by the old radar machine.

She was out of gas.

Sandra took a bit of ribbing herself Monday morning from County Commissioners. She and her assistant, Nancy Weathers, have both been in Eastland for just about a year. County commissioners were amazed that the two haven't "found husbands yet." It's not that the commissioners are wanting to marry them off, it's just that every agent who comes to Eastland does get married.

Mrs. Steve Potts was simply amazed at the way news got around that a boy had drowned at Ringling Lake. Mrs. Potts was among the picnics at the lake. We had our family picnics at the other end of the lake and must admit that the banks were lined with people in 30 minutes flat.

Ben Hamner's roses are at their height of glory right now, are as roses all around town. Ben has a large rose garden in back of the funeral home. He tells us that while he has some expensive rose bushes in the garden, about the prettiest rose he has cost him just 15c.

Field Spraying Demonstration At Pecan Meet

Field spraying from a helicopter will be seen by members of the Eastland County Pecan Growers Association during their annual Spring field day meeting in Ranger Friday.

They will see the demonstration on B. B. Freeman's orchard, about 10 miles south of Ranger. They will also be shown the latest techniques of grafting and will check the orchard for damages.

The first session of the meeting will start at 10 a. m. Friday in Ranger College cafeteria, with speakers scheduled until noon. The trip to the Freeman orchard will be taken at 1:30 p. m.

Wilson Guest, president of the Ranger Chamber of Commerce, has sent out 1000 invitations to the affair. Anyone interested is also invited to attend the meeting.

The association was organized in December of 1956 as a result of the efforts of County Agent J. M. Cooper, who, since 1946 has waged a campaign of development and improvement of the pecan industry in the county. Cooper states that the soil and climate are ideal. The association has two main activities in addition to the Spring Field Day, annual tours in the fall and the staging of the annual pecan show in December of each year. There were over 250 entries in last year's show, held in Cisco.

Gray Matter

By JOE GRAY
Most towns have a favorite loafing place for their citizens. Sometimes the loafers tend to congregate at a soda fountain, sometimes it is at a garage, sometimes it's at a grocery store, or sometimes it's in the lobby of one of the town's hotels. In Midland they tell me the "best people" loaf in the leading hotel's lobby and that the same man always sits in the same chair, unless, of course, some unsuspecting rent-paying customer happens to come along and sit down in the loafer's favorite chair.

Right now it would be hard for me to say just where our people like to hang out in their leisure moments. Sometimes you find people at a drug store; at other times you find them on the sidewalk or at a cafe lunch counter.

This wasn't always true, though. A few years ago our people used to loaf in one of the leading hardware stores.
Ed Layton says the town's loafing spot is now the real estate office behind Davis' Drug Store. I don't know whether this is true or not. I spent 30 minutes or so the other day talking to the boys in the real estate office. And I've about reached the conclusion that they're not the best loafers in the world. During that 30-minute period one man reached down and retied his shoe laces; another adjusted his hat to his head. To be a good loafer a fellow has to remain as motionless as a good fisherman waiting for a fish to bite; he can't be moving all the time.

One of the town's favorite loafing places used to be Jack Williamson's hardware store on the west side of the square. The hardware occupied the same building now housing Norris Wilson's store. Jack Williamson was a friendly sort of fellow who had a knack for getting along with people. People just liked to drop in and pass the time of day with him. This, of course, lead to their spending a little time with him and finally people got to dropping by in their spare moments.
Mr. Williamson had a young fellow working for him who used to know just about every little boy in town and most of

Sixteen Year Old Is Drowned at Ringling

David Elmore Dies When Rowboat Flips

An Eastland mother saw Moths' Day turn into a tragedy Sunday afternoon when her 16-year-old son drowned in Ringling Lake, 2½ miles northwest of Eastland.

Scores of rescue workers failed in attempts to save David Elmore from death after the boat in which he was riding turned over. Three other persons in the rowboat were rescued. They were Adrian Elmore, David's older brother, Weldon Harris and Adele Moore.

Picnicers at the lake at first thought the swimmers were playing when they began to scream for help. At the time that the boat turned over the small lake hardly had a ripple on the water, and it remained that way until rescue boats stirred up waves.

The three who survived the ill-fated boatripe had been swimming and diving from the boat. David could not swim and was fully clothed and wearing cowboy boots when the boat tipped over just before 2 p. m. Harris said that he and Adrian were able to each grab the boy by one arm and get his head above water. David knocked them loose, however, and went down again. Harris said he went under and grabbed the youth by the hair only to lose his grip. "I never could find him again," he repeated time and time again.

First persons to reach the scene were David Carothers and Jim Holt. They were at the far end of the lake when the boat tipped over. They jumped into a canoe and raced to the scene, taking the girl from the overturned boat which she had clung to. The two men had managed to swim to shore by this time.
Two other picnicers, Bennett Ragdale and Ed Lorenz swam out to the capsize boat minutes later and began diving for the boy. They were unable to find him, however. Bill Walters Jr. arrived about 30 minutes after the boat overturned. He went into the water in a divers outfit, but he couldn't locate the body. It was Walters, however, who at 6:40 ended the four hour and 40 minute search for the body. He dove again, without his rig, and brought the boy to surface. The body was pulled into a boat driven by Bill Hoffmann and raced to shore. Volunteers worked over his body for some 30 minutes, using artificial respiration and the Volunteer Fire Department resuscitator by their fruitless efforts.
The drowning took place in just eight feet of water. Rescue operations were hampered by moss on the bottom of the lake. Ten boats were used in an effort to hook the body, but the moss made such an operation almost impossible.

Fire Chief Billy Jack Johnson directed rescue operations. Assisting in the rescue were Volunteer Firemen from Cisco, Ranger, Eastland and Breckenridge. National Guardsmen from Ranger and Cisco, Highway Patrolmen from Eastland and Breckenridge, members of the Highway Department and City Police also assisted.
David was the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Elmore.

Plans were mapped out in a joint meeting April 30 in Eastland, but further details are to be made Wednesday night.
Events of the day will include a fishing rodeo, boating exhibitions, skiing contests, and a grand entry boat parade.
Cash prizes will be awarded to the winners in each contest. The largest fish will bring prizes to the adult and child making the catches. Special awards will go to the adult and child making the biggest catch of fish on a string.
All fish will be weighed in before 4 p. m., with the rodeo set to get underway at 12:01 a. m.

Skiing contests are scheduled to be held from 3 to 5 p. m. above the dam with prize money going to the winners. Awards will go to the best man and the best woman in three divisions—trick skiing, regular skiing, and one-ski exhibitions. The oldest and youngest skiers will also win awards along with the best all-round skier.
All types of boating exhibitions are planned, and a grand entry boat parade will get underway at 11 a. m. sponsored by the Lake Leon Boat Club.

Four Injured, One Killed In Crashes
Four persons were injured in an Eastland County accident and a Dublin man was killed about 20 miles east of Ranger Sunday.
The fatal injury took place outside of the county. Killed was Commandore D. Kimbro of Dublin.
All of the injured were involved in a head-on crash 3½ miles west of Rising Star. A 1956 car and a truck-tractor collided head on.
Injured were Elzie Marvin Bell, 33, of Coleman, driver of the car; Mrs. Elzie Marvin Bell, 35, and Jasper Kent of Cross Plains, passengers in the car; and James Pullman Burrell, 45, of Lubbock, driver of the truck.
Mrs. Bell was the most seriously injured. She was rushed first to the Rising Star Hospital, then a Coleman hospital and finally to Hendricks Memorial Hospital in Abilene. Attendants this morning described her condition as "fair." She suffered a broken jaw, shoulder and arm and a fractured hip and lacerations.

Bell is a patient at a Coleman hospital. He suffered lacerations of the head and a sprained knee. Kent remained at the Rising Star hospital with lacerations on a hand. Burrell was treated for a sprained ankle and released.
Highway Patrolmen Les Strawn and Al White investigated the accident. They filed charges of aggravated assault with a motor vehicle against Bell this morning.

Re-Appraisal of What's News Might Be Needed by Metropolitan Press (An Editorial)

The Telegram was shocked recently to learn that the large newspapers of the state, at least some of them, do not consider that a story on high school honor students is news-worthy enough to print.

A staff member of this newspaper mailed out such a story to one of the state's largest newspapers. It was returned with a note saying that "there are too many of these for us to handle."

How's this? Too many honor students! We find that hard to believe. The story sent in would have filled up four precious inches, counting a headline. We realize there are many high schools in the state, but never-the-less we still think four inches of space could have been spared.

This same newspaper this same year carried 10 stories concerning the Eastland High Maverick football team. The stories ran each Saturday in an 11 week period.

As firm backers of the Mavs we do not think that space was wasted. We do think, however, that the story on the honor students was far more important than any of the gridiron stories.

We regret to report this failure of the Texas press, since we are a part of it; but it seems to us that perhaps the metropolitan papers had best leave out some of the stories on the personal life of one of the Crosby boys and print the real news.

WEEKEND COOKOUTS give Dad a chance to shine in the food department! Juicy, thick burgers, grilled to sizzling perfection—tender, fresh buns, plus exciting extras satisfy ravenous appetites. For recipe from Mrs. Bairds read story below.

Cookout Season Is Here Again! And What's Better Than Burgers?

Cookout season is here again. It's time to bring out the grill and let burgers and buns resume their popular place in the eating schedule.

Weekends usually find big, juicy burgers at their sizzling best. That's when the man of the house demonstrates his talent as an outdoor chef.

For those who are new at the game, here are a few suggestions which make for masterful burgers.

Recipes from Mrs. Baird's provide several hearty weekend versions of the hamburger.

First, the hints. When selecting meat, be sure the color is bright red. A little fat adds flavor. If you have beef ground to order, chuck, top round or sirloin is best. Have two or three ounces of suet ground with each pound, if the meat is lean. Medium or coarsely ground meat produces a light-textured burger.

The less you handle the patties, the juicier, more tender the burgers will be. Pat the meat loosely into shape. When entertaining a crowd, shape and stack the patties ahead of time with waxed paper in between each layer. That way they're ready to broil at a second's notice.

An easy way to shape patties is to roll out meat between waxed paper. Cut patties with large biscuit cutter or large rimmed drinking glass.

While broiling, turn the burgers only once. Do not turn the meat back and forth.

Your burgers are at their best when served between buns that are warm or grilled. If you like garlic, brush the inside slices of the buns with garlic butter before warming them.

The weekender is a tasty version of the burger that uses your favorite toppings as a filling instead. It's a hearty combination to please man-sized appetites.

Weekender
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 large onions, finely chopped
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1 1/2 pounds ground beef
Salt and pepper to taste
Melt butter and saute chopped onions until tender and golden, turning often. Add lemon juice and Worcestershire sauce. Divide beef and shape into eight thin patties. On four of the patties, spread the sauteed onion mixture, leaving 1/4-inch margin for sealing. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Place remaining patties on top; press edges together and seal firmly. Brush with soft butter or margarine to prevent sticking to grill. Take care not to smash these burgers. Grill over coals. Serve on Mrs. Baird's Buns.

ABOUT YOUR HEALTH

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health. HENRY A. HOLLE, M.D., Commissioner

Some people say we have more venereal disease today than we used to have. Others say we have less. Still others say we have about the same amount we've always had in proportion to population.

Who's right? The question is timely since national attention is being focused on social hygiene this week.

The answer depends on the point of view. It is true that more cases are being reported to state health authorities. The key word in that sentence is "reported." Venereal disease is like an iceberg—a little bit is visible above the surface, but the vast bulk of it is submerged. Probably no more than 2-10 percent ever comes to light.

Texas has had this experience: Every single area where case reports have increased has a wide-awake program of case finding. Examples are Houston and, more recently, Dallas and Fort Worth.

The exact reverse is also true. Areas claiming to have no VD problem are without energetic case-finding activities. It all boils down to this: The dog won't come unless you call it.

The number of cases of infectious syphilis reported for the entire state in 1956 totaled 541. Of that number, 282 cases were diagnosed by public health clinics, and 259 by private physicians.

Now compare those figures with the record for 1957: A total of 545 cases reported, 368 from public health clinics, and 177 from private physicians.

It is the decline in case reports from physicians that causes concern. It is known that more than 50 percent of all VD patients are treated by private physicians. Unless public health interview-investigators have access to those patients, we cannot find out who their contacts were, and consequently cannot give them under treatment.

Texas has a harder time trying to control VD than most states have. The reasons are obvious: tremendous distances, more than 900 miles of international boundary, and 53 military installations peopled by thousands of young men—most of them away from wholesome home influences for the first time in their lives.

When penicillin proved to be an almost miraculous cure for both syphilis and gonorrhea, we thought our VD troubles were over. Budgets were slashed, personnel reduced, control programs curtailed. Now we are reaping the harvest of misplaced optimism.

We cannot regain that optimism until the public realizes VD is communicable. When this happens we can go ahead with controlling and eventually eliminating a major public health menace.

Camp Wolters Plans Open House May 17

CAMP WOLTERS, Texas — "Open House" plans for May 17, Armed Forces Day at Camp Wolters have been finalized, according to the Post Information Officer, and steps are being taken to provide the civilian populations of the surrounding communities with an entertaining and informative day of Army displays and exhibitions.

The special feature of this year's program will be the "Honest John" long-range artillery rocket sent to Camp Wolters by the 2nd U. S. Army Missile Command, Ft. Hood. This weapon is capable of carrying an atomic or a high explosive warhead and is designed to provide close fire support in ground combat operations.

Another addition to the equipment displays will be the exhibition of two tanks of Company B, 155 Tank Battalion, 49th Armored Division, Texas National Guard. Beginning at 10 a. m., the "Open House" will consist of the opening of many post facilities for civilian inspection, guided bus tours, equipment displays, a barbecue, a concert by the Mineral Wells High School Band, an air demonstration, and an inspection of aircraft on the heliport.

The program will be concluded at 5 p. m. Whereas last year approximately 5,000 visitors attended the "Open House," this number is expected to be greatly increased this year.

An estimated 2,500 people were fed barbecue last year and preparations are being made to take care of almost twice that many this year. The Mineral Wells Chamber of Commerce, Southern Airways Company, and several businessmen of Mineral Wells are assisting in making this part of the program possible.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

By BOYCE HOUSE

The Big B'ar of Arkansas got onto the subject of bears and bear-hunting:

"My dog, Bowie Knife, thinks the world is full of b'ar, he finds them so easy. It's lucky he don't talk as well as think for, with his natural modesty, if he should suddenly find out how much he is above other dogs, he would be astonished to death in two minutes. I never could tell whether he was made expressly to hunt b'ar or whether b'ar was made expressly for him to hunt."

A listener inquired, "What season of the year do your hunts take place?"

"The season for b'ar hunting, stranger," said the man from Arkansas, "is generally all the year 'round. I read that varmints have their fat season and their lean season but that is not the case in Arkansas. Feeding as they do on the spontaneous productions of the soil, they have one continued fat season the year 'round—though, in winter, the critters is rather more greasy than in summer, I admit."

"For that reason, Arkansas b'ar run in warm weather but in winter they only waddle. Fat, fat! Run an Arkansas b'ar in his fat condition and the way it improves the critter for eating is amazing. It sorta mixes the oil up with the meat till you can't tell t'other from which.

"I recollect one purty morning I put an old he-fellow on the stretch and, considering the weight he carried, he run well. But the dogs soon tored him down and, when I came up to him, wasn't he in a beautiful sweat, his sides sinking and opening like a bellows!"

"I blazed at him and pitch me naked in a briar patch if the steam didn't spout out of that bullet hole ten feet! I have no doubt if that b'ar kept on two miles further, his insides would have been stewed.

"And I expect to meet with a varmint yet, of extra bottom, who will run him self into a skinful of b'ar's grease, ready for use!"

It's Almost Unbelievable—

... but statisticians tell us that we Americans go more miles in our cars and trucks nowadays than ever before, with an increase of 30 million vehicles since 1948. Every extra mile is a hazard and the chance for another accident. In 1957, insurance companies lost 279 million dollars on automobile insurance underwriting. Since the driving public determines the insurance rates it must pay, higher rates are inevitable. Better revise your budget now to include the high cost of driving in modern '58.

He Knows
Freedom
Is Not Free!
Do You?

He escaped to the West from behind the Iron Curtain a few weeks ago. But others remain behind... to be buried under an avalanche of lies and oppression unless you help. Bela Varga knows the price of freedom. He risked death from machine guns, land mines, the electric fence at the border... left his family, his home, his belongings behind him. But 70,000,000 people like Varga still remain behind in the oppressed countries of Eastern Europe.

They will drown in the flood of Red lies, restrictions, distortions unless you help. For, word of freedom can only come to them in one way: from stations like those of Radio Free Europe. Every day, every hour, the 29 super-powered transmitters of this freedom network are at work. They overpower "jamming" by Red stations, tell the news as it really happens, and, above all, renew hope that freedom will some day return to the peoples behind the Iron Curtain. That is what makes Radio Free Europe a vital weapon in today's battle for men's minds. What you must do: Radio Free Europe needs your help to stay on the air. It is a private organization supported by the American people. Your dollars are needed to help operate its transmitters, pay for equipment, supplies, announcers and news analysts. Freedom is not free! Send your truth dollars today to Crusade for Freedom. Care of your local Postmaster.

G. A.'s Honor Their Mothers At Reception

Members of the Sarah Henley Girl's Auxiliary honored their mothers with a reception Sunday night following Church services in the Fellowship Hall of the First Baptist Church.

The affair marked the beginning of Focus Week for the intermediate girls. The four members of the group are Jana Eldredge, Gretchen Bailey, Kay Foe and Judy Elvins.

Pink lemonade topped with frozen strawberries served by Mrs. Ola Eldredge and cookies were served. The table was centered with various colors of Amarellos and the napkins carried out the G. A. colors green and white.

Attending the reception were the members, their mothers, the sponsors, Mrs. Ola Eldredge and Mrs. R. D. Kelley and other guests.

Mrs. Tankersley Gives Program On Upholstering

"Use a table or threstle with an old quilt spread on it to put the chair to be upholstered as the quilt will scoot easily as the chair is moved," said Mrs. J. R. Tankersley at the Morton Valley Community Center Club meeting Thursday at the club house.

Mrs. Tankersley stressed that bright colors are said to make small pieces of furniture seem larger, and use only tough textured material on small pieces. She also told the group not to use large patterned material on small chairs or stools and to choose 14 inch material.

She also gave the following helpful hints: assemble the tools needed for a job before starting; use tools found around the house rather than buy new ones; a webbing stretcher may be easily made at home; use ice pick for stuffing and don't try to cover a chair using a claw hammer be sure to get a tack hammer and never attempt a job of upholstery in a hurry.

Mrs. Floyd White, president, presided over the business meeting. Plans to finish the club house were made.

Mrs. E. B. Stovall, hostess, served cakes and cookies to two visitors, Mmes. C. M. Pozue and Ferrell and members, Mmes. Alvin Kineaid, Mary Cox, Paul Tankersley, J. R. Tankersley, H. N. Sherman, W. J. Graham, W. E. Tankersley, Floyd White, Wanda French and Henry Berry.

Mrs. Donald S. Slatton ... marries Saturday

Sylvia Latham Becomes Bride of Donald Stewart Slatton Saturday

Miss Sylvia Jeanne Latham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Latham, 706 South Bassett, Eastland, became the bride of Donald Stewart Slatton, son of Rev. and Mrs. Murphy Slatton, 301 South Dixie, Eastland, Saturday at 7:30 p.m. in the First Baptist Church of Eastland.

Rev. Harvey Kimbler, pastor of the church, read the double ring ceremony before a scene of white candles in white Swedish steel floor candelabra and white gladioli mixed with stock and a daisy tuff in tall white wrought iron baskets, flanked by palm trees and other greenery. Aisle seats for relatives were designated with white satin bows.

R. H. Latham gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a gown of white chantilly lace and pleated nylon tulle over satin and featured a scooped sabrina neckline and long tapered sleeves. The finger-tip veil of illusion was fastened to a crown of white pearls and iridescents. She carried a cascading bouquet of a solid white orchid and maiden hair fern edged with white satin leaves.

Mrs. William Clements of Arlington, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Her ballerina length gown was of heaven blue taffeta fashioned into a full skirt and fitted bodice. The portrait neckline was accented with daisies, each centered with a single tiny pearl. Her bouquet was of pink elf roses edged with pink satin leaves.

Miss Mattye Jo Bently, bridesmaid, wore a dress identical to the matron of honor. Her bouquet was also of pink elf roses edged with pink satin leaves.

Jerry Dale Slatton, brother of the bridegroom, was best man and Victor Latham, brother of the bride was groomsmen. Ushers were William Clements, brother-in-law of the bride, and Richard Connell.

Miss Janice Harris of Abilene, niece of the bridegroom, was flower-girl and Billy Marvin and Vicki Harris of Abilene, nephew and niece of the bridegroom, were ring bearers.

When the bride and groom left for a trip to Galveston Mrs. Slatton was wearing a light blue suit with white accessories. The solid white orchid from her wedding bouquet was her corsage. After their honeymoon, the couple will reside at 1201 South Seaman.

Out of town guests attending the wedding were from Dallas, Irving, Denton, Abilene and Austin.

Three G.A.'s To Be Crowned Wednesday Nite

Three girls will be crowned as Queens at the Second Annual G.A.'s Auxiliary Coronation at the First Baptist Church Wednesday evening at 8 p.m. They are Patricia Liles, Janet Kimbler, and Gretchen Bailey. Gray Matter-

When Curtis novel he took Mr. Footecat along with him, and the loafers' club moved right along with both of them.

Kimberl Hardward got to be a favorite place in a big way in the dark days of the 30s. Then there wasn't much for a fellow to do but sit around and wonder if the depression was ever going to get any better. Curtis had a good stock of 22 shells and if things got too bad one could always go rabbit hunting for a little meat on the table.

Some of us who couldn't afford 22 shells didn't bother to hunt rabbits. We ran them down every chance we got. Some fellows got to be pretty good at it too.

Some of the finest philosophical discussions of almost any subject I ever heard I've heard discussed at the hardware. It was a fellow is relaxed and at peace with the world that he unwinds and discusses things in their proper perspective. It was there that I used to hear a lot of good conversation.

And conversation is something nowadays that is almost a lost art.

Blame it on television or radio or what have you, but conversation at the dinner table these days leaves a lot to be desired. A lot of people can't talk at all unless they're talking about somebody. Gossip and conversation are not one and the same.

Cosmo is the workhild of an idle mind; conversation is the workhild of a fertile mind.

But in today's home I'm afraid that most conversation consists of a grant when Pa asks "what's on the television tonight." Then for three hours all they do is sit there and pass the commercials at one another. No wonder their kids are so nervous.

Highlighted as Personalities of the Week are Beth and Bill Calvert, who live at 1104 Vitalious Street. Mrs. Calvert is the daughter of Reverend and Mrs. S. R. Grace of Gustine, Calvert is the son of Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Calvert of Gordon.

Mrs. Calvert graduated from Breckenridge High School in 1956, where she was valedictorian of her class. She was elected Sophomore Favorite while in Breckenridge High and led various groups and clubs as an officer. She was president of the FHA Club and GAA, secretary of the Future Business Leaders of America Club, and a homeroom officer. She was selected for the Who's Who of Breckenridge High School for her outstanding scholastic records in second-year algebra and short-hand.

ed four years in each of these sports. He received all-district honors in football his senior year and also received all-district recognition in baseball. He was voted Most Handsome Boy for two years by the students of Strawn High School.

A sophomore geology major, Calvert transferred to Ranger College from Sul Ross College in Alpine in 1957. He attends the evening division of the college, serving as reporter of the sophomore evening class. He is employed by the Lone Star Gas Company in Gordon.

The Calverts have been a great asset to both Ranger College and the town of Ranger. They are always eager to help in any way and are very active in all school functions. These personable young people are members of the First Methodist Church in Ranger and both sing in the Chancel Choir.

They both plan to finish their education at Sul Ross College in Alpine.

Ranger Man Resists Arrest, Goes to Jail

A Ranger man was arrested Saturday night at Ranger Hill Cafe for drunkenness and disturbing the peace.

Resisting arrest by Constable, R. W. Veal, he is also charged with assault on an officer. He is being held in Eastland County Jail.

Veal said that fines on the three charges would amount to $97.50.

Tennis Team Takes Second

Ranger College's tennis team took second place in doubles at Tarleton State College in Stephenville Saturday.

The team beat Arlington 6-2 in the doubles match but lost 6-4 to Tarleton, taking second place. Participating in the match were Jodie Beal and Don Szama.

In the singles match, Boon Martin lost to Arlington. Other teams participating were from Cameron and San Angelo.

Ernest Haby, coach, accompanied the team.

Shrinks Hemorrhoids Without Surgery

Science finds healing substance that relieves pain - Shrinks Hemorrhoids

For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain - without surgery. In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. Most amazing of all - results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne*) - discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H.* At all drug counters - money back guarantee. *
