Christmas Magic Lost and Found by Young TV Stars

Shelley Fabares and Paul Petersen, the bright and shiny youngsters who appear each Wednesday night over ABC-TV as the teenage fledglings of the new "Donna Reed Show", have already celebrated two Christmases which are now on film awaiting your Christmas Eve viewing.

These make-believe Christmases find the kids first losing track of the true holiday spirit in a brash, cash evaluation of gifts received against gifts given! The old magic is recaptured, however, as the script takes them to the children's ward of a city hospital for a second Christmas. Aided by Buster Keaton in one of his rare TV appearances as a surprise Santa Claus, they bring their own gifts to these forgotten sick kids and Christmas becomes wonderful again.

For Shelley and Paul these "canned" Christmases have now been forgotten in the excitement of Christmas coming up. "This one is for real," they say as they count out ten championship to the football wars. Ed Layton was exactly right a year or so ago when we were talking about the wonderful football team Church Moser was putting out in Abilene. Asked how long he thought Abilene would continue to win, he said, "As long as they have only one high school."

But the winning Cisco Lobos of the 20s played some of the ugliest school in the state. This and district team was composed of Breckenridge, Ranger, Cisco, Abilene, Brownwood, Eastland, and along toward the end of the 20s Mineral Wells and Sweetwater were in the district for a year or so. Also San Angelo was member of this district. The San Angelo Bobcats used to be famous for lounging in the cellar of this district year in and year out. I don't remember Eastland losing a game to San Angelo all the time I was a student at EHS.

Cisco had some players over there who were players. One man I'll never forget was Honk Irvin. He was a terror. And they also had one of the smallest backs I think I ever saw play with a bunch of big boys, a fellow by the name of Ollie Little. I doubt if he weighed 135 soaking wet. About the same time Ollie was playing for Cisco we had a fellow here, Francis Jones, who wasn't a real big man either. But he was one of the best ball carriers who ever set foot on a football gridiron. But he didn't play with as large a team as Little did over at Cisco; we didn't have as large boys here at Eastland that year as they had at Cisco then.

One year I remember Cisco won the district and it looked as if they were headed for the state championship but the Lobos ran smack into Cleburne. The Yellow-jackets that year had one of the nation's greatest punters—that is he turned out to make one of the nation's greatest punters when he later played at A & M—a fellow named Paul McFadden who ran them ragged punting the ball back to them. Finally, the Lobos made a mistake that was to cost them the game. Cleburne managed to elude out a victory.

Ranger, under Coach Blair Cherry, used to turn out some mighty fine football teams for the Bulldogs. He is the same Cherry who coached at Texas for so many years then resigned after he had a year that he didn't think was so good. I think Texas' record that year, his last at the University of Texas, was 9 wins and 1 loss. University of Texas people never could stand to lose.

One reason, though, that Cherry had such good teams at Ranger was his material. Buster Mills came along while Cherry coached there and he was one of the finest kickers ever to play ball. For some reason or other, Mills wound up playing for Oklahoma in the day before Oklahoma really went to work at this matter of recruiting boys from Texas.

Mills is one of the all-time stars there too. To wind up his college career he won the Annual East-West game for the West at the Shrine Bowl in San Francisco by licking a field goal.

ATTEND THE CHURCH OF YOUR CHOICE EACH SUNDAY

After the service, Karen Green, hostess for the week, served cookies, candy, and punch. She was assisted by her mother, Mrs. Eugene Green.

All 29 members of the troop were invited. They are Sherry Carroll, Brenda Cook, Judy Crosby, Peggy Dunlap, Penny Frantz, Karen Green, Mary Beth Hall, Sandra Harp, Donna Hart, Donna Horton, Kathy Kincaid, Lela Lee, Sandra Mueller, Lana Pittman, Deborah Proyer, Donna Roe, Diore Yancey, Deborah Whitte, and Ronda White.

The troop met Tuesday Dec. 2 at the church. Ronda White, president, opened the meeting. Kathy Kincaid called the roll and each girl answered by putting up a star for a good deed she had done. Lana Pittman collected the weekly dues. Mary Beth Hall and her mother served cookies and chocolate milk. The girls played several games. During the craft period, they made beautiful Christmas cards and tiny favors for the Eastland Memorial Hospital.

In the business session, the Brownies decided to meet Dec. 9 in the home of Mrs. Bob Carroll. They also voted to cancel the regularly scheduled meeting for Dec. 16, because they will have the Christmas party December 18 in the home of Sherry Carroll.

The meeting was closed with the friendship wish circle. All members were present except Deborah Proyer, Mmes. White, Carroll and Mueller had charge of the meeting.

Thursday Afternoon Club Hears Rev. Flaming as Guest Speaker

The Rev. James Flaming was the principal speaker for the Thursday Afternoon Club as the members met in the Woman's Club Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Rev. Flaming is a graduate of Hardin-Simmons University and a student in Southwestern Baptist Seminary in Fort Worth. He is pastor of the Bethel Baptist Church and lives with his family at 501 South Daugherty.

He was introduced by Mrs. Grady Pipkin, leader of the program. His subject, "Christianity in Action Today" was forcefully presented. He emphasized the opportunities for Christian principles today, in a world of people who are seeking the answer to the why of life and living. He pictured the young generation of today as not accepting the concepts of their elders but ever hunting for the truth in a world of turmoil. He pointed out that this is both a challenge and a danger. A challenge to give them the right answer in the teaching of Christ and a danger in allowing the opportunity to pass unfulfilled.

Mrs. Cecil Collings gave the scripture reading, Luke 2 verses 1 through 12.

LACASA LINES

Mrs. D. B. Raney.

Approximately seventy-five men, women, and children were present at the Thanksgiving Supper at the Lacasa Community Center Saturday evening. The serving of a bountiful supply of food and the showing of good fellowship among neighbors gave evidence of the true meaning of Thanksgiving. After each one was filled to his capacity, Joe Lynch Jackson showed movies and slides of his Montana elk hunt. Incidentally Mrs. Jackson had provided barbecued elk meat as her part of the menu.

Vernon Stuard and wife and small son of Fort Worth were week-end visitors to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Stuard.

Carlton Templeton and family of Abilene, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Templeton over the week-end.

Ellis Smith and daughter and her family of Abilene visited a few days with his sister, Mrs. Robert Jackson.

James Raney spent Friday night at home from Texas University.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

By BOYCE HOUSE

One of the most romantic places in Richmond is the Wickham-Valentine house. It is a two-story brick mansion built in 1812 for a lawyer who was the chief attorney for Aaron Burr when he was tried for treason.

There is a spirating stairway with no visible means of support (chunks of wood were crackling and blazing in a fireplace although it was June—in order to give this added touch of authenticity to the scene.

Furniture of long ago fills the rooms, showing how the people lived—the aristocracy, anyway. The parlor is a place of Victorian splendor—mirrors, gilt, plush and paintings.

One room looks out on a garden of trimmed hedges and carpet-like grass, with a fountain, statuary and wrought-iron benches. You enter the garden by stepping through a long window.

But the sight which appealed to me most was a harpsichord (or whatever an early day piano was called) with "Irish Melodies" on the rack.

"Tom Moore!" I exclaimed.

"Yes," the guide replied, "he visited Richmond."

It was in 1803 and, on the wall, was his portrait, painted while he was in the city. The handsome son of Erin wrote the words and music of "Irish Melodies"; furthermore, he sang and provided his own accompaniment. Perhaps he had played on this very instrument—and even perhaps from this copy of his songs. It was pleasing to think so.

"This is Hollywood Cemetery," the guide said.

I was startled—and displeased, too, that a city as rich as Richmond should borrow a name that stands for glitter, tinsel and make-believe.

And then I realized that this was an old cemetery, named long before there was a Hollywood in California, and named for the same reason: the presence of a group of holy trees.

The cemetery was dedicated in 1849, coincidentally the year of the gold rush to California.

Sleeping there are Monros, Tylos, Commodore Matthew Fontaine Maury, the fiery John Randolph of Roanoke and many Confederate officers.

"That is Pickett's grave," the guide said, indicating a pyramid of gray rocks. "A life-termer gained his freedom by volunteering to put the top stone in place."

Monument Avenue is a vista of beauty, long lines of trees adorning the boulevard, making an impressive background for the statues of J.E.B. Stuart, Lee (on Traveller), Davis, Stonewall Jackson and Maury. Those who died in battle look northward, their faces to the foe; those who died after the war look south, to the land for which they fought.

MATHEMATICAL WIZARD—The equation on the blackboard didn't faze 11-year-old Frank Newett, son of Sgt. Harry Newett of Belton, S.C. The Fort Belvoir, Va., sixth-grader quickly identified it as the minimum escape velocity needed for an object to leave the earth, thereby winning a silver pin.

Voluntary Home Mortgage Program Assists Families

The Voluntary Home Mortgage Credit Program has demonstrated its ability to assist the low and medium income families in small towns to obtain FHA financing.

The Program statistics reveal that a very high percent of the loans placed were for persons in the $3500 to $5000 per year income group. The majority of loans were for purchase of home in the $7000 to $9000 price range.

These figures were furnished by C. J. Hermann, Executive Secretary of VHMC, Region IV, which comprises the states of Arkansas, Colorado, Kansas, Louisiana, Missouri, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas. The Regional Office is located at 1114 Commerce Street, Dallas.

"At this time," Hermann stated, "due to the unrealistic VA interest rate, we have no lenders participating in the Program making GI loans." Hermann commented, however, that there were many lending institutions participating in the Program making FHA loans.

"I'm afraid people in the small towns are not taking advantage of the splendid mortgage plan offered by FHA," Hermann added. "It is possible and even probable that FHA mortgage loans can be obtained in the smaller towns provided they meet FHA minimum standards."

VHMC is a Program designed to assist individuals in small towns (under $2,000) to obtain FHA insured loans if there is no local source for such funds. The Program does not make loans, but only serves as a clearing house to bring together willing lenders and qualified borrowers.

Application forms or additional information may be obtained by writing to Hermann at the above address.

Letters To Editor
Eastland Telegram

Dear Sirs: of the wedding of my fathers brother, B. M. Keith to Sarah Jones, Telegram, dated Sept. 2, 1958. or Sara Jane Blair as being the first wedding in Eastland. The above issue has a picture

One of my relatives in Texas wrote me about the Eastland Telegram of the above date. Ben Higginbotham, the founder of the Higginbotham Stores, started his first store in either Dublin or Stephenville, and he married my Aunt. I have a Genealogical record of Leith's dating back to 1005 in Scotland, recording 65000 Keith's dead and alive up to 1930. They all descended from ROBERT, the first Earl of Scotland. Yours very truly A. A. Keith 305 1/2 So Oak Wichita, Kansas.

Editor, Regarding the new system of free telephone service between Eastland, Ranger and Cisco. I never call Cisco or Ranger and do not feel I should have to pay higher rates. I only have a small pension check each month to live on anyway. Please do not pass it. Mrs. J. B. Turner

Dear Sir: Please do not raise our phone rates just so a few can enjoy calling their friends and relatives in Cisco and Ranger. Let each person pay for his own calls. H. S. Lewis.

Dear Sir: It pleases me to leave the telephone just like it is and especially the rates per month.

Mrs. Newt Lewis

Dear Sirs:

I am against the telephone system connecting us with Cisco and Ranger. I would not use it. I am not able to pay any more. I don't want my name mentioned to the public. Name withheld.

Dear Sir,

You left out some of my letter in regard to business phones. What I meant to say was this. Under the present business phone rates would be increased $29 plus 10 percent tax of $2.90, which would mean business will pay $42.90 more a year than they now pay. I guess I didn't realize how buy a newspaper office can be and since I am retired with plenty of leisure time, I would like to invite the telephone users to call me and tell me if you are for or against the proposed increase. I'm sure the editor would be glad to publish the results.

Folks write the Eastland Telegram or call me stating if you are for or against an increase in your phone bill, which would allow you to call Cisco or Ranger without additional charges. My phone is 359.

Roughage Will Increase Milk

COLLEGE STATION.—Increased milk profits may be received by feeding dairy cows all the good roughage they will eat, says A. M. Meekma, extension dairy husbandman.

This is true because nutrients in roughage cost less than nutrients in other forms, Meekma adds. He points out that a cow on pasture will give more milk if she receives supplementary feed, but the amount of supplement needed depends on the quality of pasture she is grazing and the quality of other roughage she receives, such as hay or silage.

So far an economical dairy ration, Meekma advises beginning with high-quality pasture or other roughage and adding concentrates which give the most protein value for the least money. Naturally the type of concentrate used will depend on the type which is most plentiful in the operator's particular locality.

The husbandman suggests contacting the local county agent for more advice on how to produce and preserve high-quality roughage and on which concentrates to feed with the roughage to make the most economical ration. He reminds that any decrease in the feed bill is an increase in net profit.

General Medaris is the first commander of America's new Missile Command. He has been a member of the Armed Services since 1918, when he enlisted in the U.S. Marine Corps at the age of 16. Prior to that he worked as a newspaper boy in Springfield, Ohio—and supplemented this with another job; turning gas street lamps on and off along his newspaper route!

A salute to America's newspaper boys from a former member of their ranks—Major General John B. Medaris, Commanding General, U. S. Army Ordnance Missile Command

"You're a mighty important young man. First, because you keep us supplied with one of the most vital needs of our day: news of the world. We know we can depend on you for that. Second, because you are one of America's future leaders. And we already have evidence of your ability to "sell America" in the way you and your fellow carriers have helped sell Savings Stamps and Bonds ever since 1941. Today thousands of carriers are investing part of their weekly earnings in Stamps and Bonds—saving for the future. This is more important today than ever. Every U.S. Savings Bond or Stamp sold helps strengthen America's Peace Power, by providing money to keep our country strong, to advance science and education, and to keep our economy healthy. So—in honor of Newspaperboy Day, 1958, I salute you. You and your circulation managers are doing a great job. Keep up the good work."
