LOSS HAD BEEN AVIATION MYSTERY
Three Members Of Crew Of Ill-Fated Air Liner, Were Americans

MENDOZA, Argentina, (AP)—The Pan-American Airways plane, "San Jose," lost in 1932 with nine persons aboard, was found Thursday in the Argentine Andes.
The first expedition to reach the wreck reported all bodies were well preserved under a heavy blanket of snow, but that two of them were headless. The plane was totally wrecked.
An expedition was organized to remove bodies of the victims. Disappearance of the great air-liner had been one of the greatest mysteries in aviation.
For days after the plane was lost in July, 1932, planes have searched over mountain peaks for the ship.
Three members of the crew were Americans.

Garner To Vote For Tom Connally

Debt
Congressional leaders are more and more convinced that Mr. Roosevelt will sidestep the war debt issue during this session. They've concluded his tariff message was the last important legislative request to be made before adjournment.

The President tells newspaper men at each press conference when he's going to send Congress a message on any subject. His stock joke is that anyway it's that much closer to materialization than it was at last press conference.
On Capitol Hill they agree he'll probably communicate with them on debts in the closing days of the session. But they look for only a factual report rather than a formal proposal for revising and collecting Europe's obligations.

For one thing all our presidents since the war have found the debt question a stick of dynamite when they had to tote it to Congress for approval of some move in connection therewith.
Further, as matters now stand, Mr. Roosevelt is going to have Congress on his hands longer than he wants. If he tossed the debt problem into the arena the boys would stay here that much longer.
He has plans of his own for this summer, which don't include sitting in Washington and watching Congress wrangle.

It is possible the President has a scheme up his sleeve to be produced after the legislators leave town. BILL any agreement he might reach with our relatives del. have to be ratified by Congress before it was worth the paper it was written on.

Foiled
Though the story never has been printed Mr. Roosevelt once upon a time had a grand idea for scotch-ing this knotty problem.
You may remember that right after being elected he was called into conference by Mr. Hoover. The former President also had a plan but he knew only a united front by himself and Mr. Roosevelt would have any effect on Congress or the people. Mr. Roosevelt refused any part in the Hoover formula on the ground that his hands were tied until he was in-

WASHINGTON (AP)— Vice-President Garner said Thursday he would vote for Senator Tom Connally for renomination over his opponent, Representative Joe Bailey.
Bailey said Wednesday after a White House visit that he offered to withdraw from the race if the president desired that, but added he was still a candidate.
Garner declined to say whether his support would be only as an individual.
"I merely make the statement I'm going to vote for Connally. I'm not authorized to speak for the administration," Garner said.

Roosevelt Assumes 'Hands Off' Policy In Senatorial Race
WASHINGTON, (AP)—Rep. Joseph W. Bailey, Jr., (Dem. Tex.) candidate for the United States senate against Senator Connally (Dem. Tex.) said Wednesday after a conference with President Roosevelt that he had offered to withdraw if the president preferred to reelection of Connally, but added:
"I'm still in the race."
The former's offer was occasioned by published speculation that Mr. Roosevelt would support Connally.
President Roosevelt has declined lately to participate in state and municipal contests.

Drought Area Envoy Is Back From Capital
Back from two weeks' activity in Washington as representative for fourteen counties stricken by drought conditions, C. T. Watson, local chamber of commerce manager, said Thursday he believed good had been accomplished toward obtaining adequate federal relief for this section.
Authorities told him that additional counties would not be designated as drought area since "drought conditions" could not be determined by political subdivisions.
Counties already known as drought areas are Gaines, Dawson, Broden, Andrews, Martin, Howard, Ector, Midland and Reagan. Loving, Wink, Glasscock, Crane and Upton were not included as such.
Watson was engaged Thursday in compiling his report to be given before county judges of interested counties in Sweetwater Friday 10 a. m. at the Blue Bonnet hotel.
Pending completion of his brief he did not reveal the details of his campaign in the national capital.
"They told me it would be done," he said regarding the local airport improvement project. "It may be the latter part of the year before it is started," he said, "but I believe it will be done."
According to Watson, work will be accorded only those who can qualify for relief. Work will be extended on a "work relief basis," he said he was informed. Watson believed that counties in this area, regardless of whether they were designated as drought counties would be amply provided for as conditions warranted.
While in Washington he had a conference with the second assistant postmaster general in reference to the southern transcontinental air mail route being reinstated. The map drawn up for restoration of service placed the route on which Big Spring is included in a secondary position, he revealed.
The moon at noon is hotter than boiling water, but at night its temperature falls to several hundred degrees below zero.

President To Confer With Labor Leaders
Unless Agreement Reached, Green To Advocate Licensing Of Industry
WASHINGTON (AP)—Neither side in the automobile labor controversy had yielded Thursday as President Roosevelt continued efforts for industrial peace among employers and employees.
The president will confer late Thursday with labor representatives.
William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, said unless a solution is reached, his organization will advocate that the industry be licensed. Despite unbroken lines, there is a feeling that the controversy would be settled.
No specific proposition is expected until after the president has a conference with labor heads.
Meanwhile, Joseph Eastman, railway coordinator, began discussions intended to bring a solution of the railroad wage dispute. He met with railway managers and employees.

AMARILLO, (AP)—Charges of murder were filed early Wednesday afternoon against Joe V. Moore, Amarillo attorney, who, officers said, was driving a car which at 12:30 p. m. killed Shirley Pauline Palmateer, 3, and probably fatally injured two other children of the Palmateer family.

Rainey Says House Agrees To Vets Bill
WASHINGTON, (AP)—Speaker Rainey predicted today that the house would agree to liberal veterans allowances voted by the senate, assuring a presidential veto of the legislation.
The senate amendments provide $115,000,000 for veterans benefits, and $189,000,000 for federal employees' pay restoration.
Both these amounts are larger than the administration desired.
President Roosevelt has said he would not approve the bill exceeding budget figures.

Fire Damage At Rockwell Bros. Above $10,000
With a brisk northwest wind to fan and stacks of rich pine lumber to feed it, fire Wednesday afternoon defied efforts of firemen for two hours and wrought damage estimated in excess of $10,000 on the Rockwell Brothers Lumber company, 300 W. Second street.
The entire west side, including the warehouse, and the office structure were reduced to ruins by the stubborn blaze that threatened for a while to spread to surrounding buildings.
Breaking out in the warehouse, the flames had gained great headway before a passerby noticed it and turned in the alarm from the company. Several others followed with alarms.
Howard Stevens, working in the rear part of the office on code material, was unaware of the blaze until an unidentified negro rushed into the building. R. "Buck" Richardson, manager, was on his way back from a bank at the time.
In a matter of a few minutes flames were licking down the long west block and across the yard to the finished lumber and large stacks of soft pine.
While firemen fought heroically in the face of intense heat and choking smoke, the blaze flared across the yard to ignite the office building. Richardson was able to save the company books.
Eight streams of water coming from two city pumps poured into the blazing space for nearly two hours before the flames were entirely brought under control.
Four firefighters were overcome by smoke but were revived immediately and went back to fight the blaze.
East of the lumber yard, across Gregg street, the house in which Mr. and Mrs. Grover Newton resided caught fire but was promptly extinguished. It is the first residence structure erected in this city.
Each time the office structure blazed, firemen rushed in to drown out the fire only to have the performance repeated when they again turned their efforts to the roaring inferno raging from the warehouse down the west block.
Several times it appeared firemen were subduing the flames when a sharp crack followed by the rattle and roar of falling timber drove nozzlemen back while fire bolted out from new sources.
With a tattered hulk remaining of the west block, firemen renewed efforts and soon had the flames well under control. The warehouse across the yard to ignite the office building was the west structure left standing.
Richardson said the blaze destroyed the highest priced materials in the yard. Besides lime, cement, sheetrock, hardware and other materials housed in the warehouse sash and doors and all finished materials were in the west block.
Damage was placed roughly at approximately $10,000 by Richardson, who said he believed two thirds of the value of the yard was destroyed. He could advance no cause for the fire.
City Fire Marshall E. B. Bethell said Thursday that origin of the blaze had not been determined.
Fire Captain Olie Cordill said he believed that the tin roofing over the structure had prevented the fire from spreading.
"If it had been covered with a shingle roof," he said, "the blazing shingles would have been knocked more than 100 feet in the air by pressure from the hose. The wind would have done the rest."
The wind was blowing straight toward the business district.
Cordill expressed thanks to many people who helped firemen fight the flames.
With two pumps forcing 1100 gallons per minute on the fire for two hours, only one of the city reservoirs was lowered and not more than six inches of water had been taken from its original level when firemen ceased efforts.
One pumper furnished water from a 12-inch main at 150 pounds pressure for four streams.
Richardson said the loss was covered by insurance. Agents were expected to arrive Friday morning to inspect the ruins.
Thursday night firemen were called to extinguish fire which gutted a Mexican sheet in the northwest portion of town.

Order Stops Enforcement Refinery Law
AUSTIN (AP)—District Judge J. D. Moore issued a temporary restraining order enjoining the Railroad Commission from enforcing the oil refinery regulatory law recently enacted.
George Culver, a refiner in the East Texas oil field, obtained the order.

Cosden Entry Starts Work

Final Organization Confab To Be Held Sunday Afternoon

The newly organized baseball league has been named the U. S. 80, after the highway on which the towns entering the loop are located. The final organization meeting will be held here in the Settles Hotel Sunday afternoon at 2:30. At that time Midland and Odessa are expected to put up the ten dollar entrance fee, thereby completing a six team circuit. Representatives are expected to attend the parley from Odessa, Midland, Stanton, Coshoma and Colorado.

Scheduled To Be Drafted
The schedule will be made out Sunday and rules adopted. Cosden has a strong entry for the league and a capable and experienced manager in Lee "Lefty" Babers, one time major league prospect. Several other veterans will be on the team battling against youth and "old father time." The Cosden moguls will probably have several players on the Oiler squad not working for the Cosden Oil company. They figure a much stronger team can be formed by varying from their rule of an all-Cosden team.

Worked Out Two Days
The Oilers have been working out for the past two days on a practice field being cleared near the Refinery. About fifteen men were out Wednesday for batting practice. Co-Manager C. E. "Spike" Henninger reports prospects for a fairly good infield. However, he is in the market for a good first and second baseman.

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN GOULD

There's something about the great hitters of baseball that you can't miss, whether it's a Cobb, a Ruth, a Sisler, a Fox or a Hornsby. They have distinctive methods and styles, of course, but there's something beyond that to fascinate the onlooker, an impulse of admiration and interest in them that exists long after they have passed their prime.

Ruth, on the downgrade, still is the highest paid player in baseball. Fox has already moved up to occupy the home run throne and has acquired a big following. Hornsby is a manager in the American league, his playing days largely behind him after some 18 years of activity, but the Rajah is the most commanding figure in the camp of the St. Louis Browns at West Palm Beach. This is not due entirely to the Browns' lack of individuality but because Hornsby can still hit the ball for tremendous distances with fascinating ease and grace.

Heine Manush, a former American league batting king, remarked as he watched the Rajah give the ball a long ride: "That fellow will hit as long as he cares to step up there. It may seem strange but the batting eye, coupled with judgment of speed and distance, is the last thing a really great ball player loses."

IT ONLY TAKES ONE
Like a great many other long-range batsmen, Hornsby rose quickly to hitting fame with the post-war advent of the lively ball in 1920.

Then with the St. Louis Cardinals, the Rajah jumped his average 52 points that year to .370 and let the National league for the first time. The same season marked an output of 54 home runs by Babe Ruth, nearly doubling the best previous record.

For 10 straight years Hornsby was only once below .300. He averaged better than .400 for five consecutive seasons, 1921-25 inclusive, and set the modern mark of .424 in 1924.

No wonder now that all the Brownies and prospective Brownies are lending an attentive ear to any suggestion Hornsby makes about their hitting copying the Rajah's loose, easy swing at the plate.

He has them all with their bats off their shoulders, ready to step quickly into the pinch. One of Hornsby's batting axioms is: "It only takes one strike to produce a base-hit. Don't worry about the count." His own theory always has been that confidence is fully half the battle in swinging against any kind of pitching.

"Let the pitcher do the worrying," he advises.

FRANKNESS—AN ASSET AND A LIABILITY
It is one of the unusual turns of baseball fortune that finds Hornsby, admittedly one of the most successful and forceful leaders in the game, out of the National league and in charge of the American's 1933 cellar club.

Frankness of a sometimes brutal variety has been both a liability as well as an asset to the hard hitting Texan. He has no more hesitated to tell a club-owner what he thinks than to give a rookie the plain facts. Athletes and newspapermen admire the Rajah most for qualities that undoubtedly have cost him a couple of lucrative jobs.

Hornsby has been up in the $40,000 salary bracket and he has known what it means to struggle for a job at less than a fourth of that sum. He has a two-year contract now with the Browns and perhaps the best chance of his career to show his managerial gifts, if he gets half a chance, he will produce.

Davis Cup Champs To Play In Ft. Worth

HOUSTON (UP)—Davis Cup players will be among contenders here April 2 to 8 for the title won last year by Frankie Parker, young Milwaukee sensation; at the annual River Oaks Country Club Invitation Tennis Tournament. George Lott of Chicago and Wilmer Allison, Austin, Texas, Davis Cup team members this year, were among the first to accept invitations to the meet. Lester Stofen, Californian, will continue his bid for Davis Cup recognition in the River Oaks tournament. Bryan (Bitty) Grant of Atlanta, Ga., the "giant killer" of the courts, is another of the American stars who will enter the competition.

Chairman Lewis White of the committee arranging the tournament expects Manuel Alonso, former Spanish Davis Cup player, to bring his whizzing racket for an assault at Parker's title.

John McDiarmid of Fort Worth, Texas, who gave the stars much trouble last year, has announced he will be among the contenders here. Outstanding among the ladies are Gene Simpson of Chicago, Jane Short of Los Angeles and Kathryn Pearson of Houston. The U. S. Lawn Tennis Association has approved the tournament.

The Daily Sport Mill

Football work was actually started at the high school Wednesday afternoon. Some twenty boys reported and Coach Brown was optimistic after watching his charges go through initial drills. The backfield prospects looked especially fine, with Ollie Cordill, Bob Flowers and "Bucket" Hare, all hefty and fairly well seasoned. Bobby Mills made a good show at end and is slated for a try-out in the backfield, Brown said.

The letter:
Judging from a letter McCamey football players sent the Angelo sport scribe, the Upton county boys believe Ed Hennig spoke out of turn in criticizing the Badgers.

Dear Friend Blondy:
Tell Ed Hennig that he is getting a little too far ahead to be thinking out loud, and that we are certainly glad he thinks that McCamey won't have anything new year because he is due for a pleasant (?) surprise.

Yours,
The McCamey football squad.
Tah, tah, just words. It's nice to have ambitions like that but "Loud Mouth" Hill will never see his team win a district three championship as long as Big Spring, San Angelo and Sweetwater are in the circuit.

Pep Faine, star local baseball hurler, will see service with the Mexican Tigers again this year. He will probably manage the club.

Sweater awards were presented the five basketball lettermen Tuesday. They were black with a gold "B." Players receiving them were Bob Flowers, Ollie Cordill, Pep Driver, Bucket Hare and Vendell Wood.

Hardly had Wednesday's edition of the Herald hit the street before ambitious golfers enrolled in the Herald's golf improving course. The instructors are Tom Beasley, Bill Pendleton, Allen Hodges and "Red" McMahon. No matter what's wrong with your game it can be improved by attending these classes. Four sessions of half an hour each, will be given for four dollars. Don't miss the chance of a life time.

School Teams To Play Baseball Series For Title

The junior and senior classes of Big Spring high school will renew baseball rivalry next Wednesday evening on the West 3rd diamond. The intra-school competition has been going on for the past two years. The juniors won the championship last year and have promising material for the coming campaign. The second game in the 1934 series will be played Friday, March 30, and if a third one is necessary to decide the title the date will be settled later.

Dietzel Sets New Southwest Record

FOOT WORTH—When Adolph (Too Tall) Dietzel led the scorers in the Amateur Athletic union national basketball tourney at Kansas City this year, the former Southwest Conference scoring ace fulfilled expectations.

Dietzel as center on the Texas Christian University basketball team in 1931 set a Southwest conference scoring record with 168 points in 12 games.

The lanky San Antonio youth, rated as perhaps the most outstanding basketball player ever turned out of Texas Christian University, accomplished his high scoring feat in the national tourney despite the fact his team, the Hutchinson (Kan.) Renos, did not reach the finals.

Dietzel was all-Southwest conference center the two years he competed in college basketball. He left college without completing his eligibility.

Mrs. F. F. Gary has returned from an extended visit in San Antonio with her daughter, Mrs. Fletcher Etheridge and family.

Committees Are Selected By Cunningham

An enthusiastic meeting of local golfers was held in the Settles hotel Wednesday evening, where plans were discussed for entertaining the tenth annual golf tournament of the West Texas Golf association, to be held in this city, May 24, 25, 26 and 27, at the Big Spring Country club golf course. About twenty golf enthusiasts attended.

C. W. Cunningham, president of the Big Spring Country club, presided. Mr. Cunningham is general chairman of the tournament and Fred Stephens is secretary. These two men will handle details of the tournament. Mr. Cunningham has announced appointment of the following committees:

Publicity—Fred Stephens, Mrs. G. I. Phillips, Joe Galbraith.
Registration—Shirley Robbins, L. Coffey, V. W. Latson.
Entertainment—Dr. H. M. Bennett, Carl Blomsheld, W. B. Currie, R. Richardson.

Program—Joe Kuykendall, R. T. Piner, Fred Stephens.
Barbecue and Refreshments—L. W. Croft, Cecil Wasson, J. Y. Robb, Steve D. Ford, Harry Lees.

Calcutta—Fred Stephens, V. W. Latson, Joe Kuykendall, R. T. Piner, Shirley Robbins.

Directors of the country club will meet at an early date. Mr. Cunningham said, to perfect plans for the tournament.

"Big Spring should be proud of having an opportunity to entertain West Texas golfers here next May," said Mr. Cunningham. "There will be at least 200 golfers here, possibly more. At Wichita Falls last year there were 238 registrations.

"I expect every committeeman to do the best he can to make the tournament a success. Every member of the country club, and every citizen for that matter, should lend their support in putting the tournament over," said Mr. Cunningham.

Fred Stephens, secretary of the tournament, is preparing folders describing the club course here, with illustrations of several views of the course. The folder will be mailed to all clubs and club members in this area. The publicity committee will soon begin publicizing the tournament in West Texas newspapers.

Shirley Robbins, chairman of the registration committee, is formulating plans to handle the golfers as they arrive for play. He will be assisted by Lib Coffey and V. W. Latson.

Dr. Bennett, assisted by Carl Blomsheld, W. B. Currie and R. Richardson will make arrangements for a dance honoring the visiting golfers.

Joe Kuykendall, R. T. Piner and Fred Stephens, representing the program committee, will arrange an official program for the tournament, which will be announced in the near future.

The barbecue and refreshment committee, with L. W. Croft as chairman, and assisted by Cecil Wasson, J. Y. Robb, Steve Ford and Harry Lees, are already making arrangements to make their part of the tournament a success.

The Calcutta committee, headed by Fred Stephens, will secure an out-of-town man to auction the players before the tournament begins.

Panthers Have Few Worries

Optimism And Cheer Noted As Fort Worth Team Starts Work

LAKE CHARLES, La. (UP)—Apparently unworried by finances for the first time in several years, the Fort Worth Panthers will start the Texas league season this year with a new slate.

Optimism and cheer were the predominant notes of the spring training season which opened here Monday.

The primary cause for that feeling was belief the club would not be beset with recurrent financial obstacles such as those of last year which landed it in receivership and kept players guessing as to from where their "next" would be coming.

Club Appears Weak
Where the club will stand in the 1934 race is rinkest speculation. But there is no doubting that the new manager, Del Pratt, faces a difficult task in organizing a winning club. From present material, unless some new talent develops or there is rejuvenation, the club appears to be one of the weakest in the circuit.

Pratt has started work with seven members of last year's team, who probably will form the backbone of the 1934 edition, with promising chances for newcomers breaking into the starting lineup.

Three pitchers from last year's squad are in camp. Dick Whitworth probably will bear the brunt of this season's campaign. Jimmy Mingo, a left-hander, should prove more effective this year with Harry White, other hold-over, expected to perform better with added experience.

A flock of recruits and rookies are being looked over by Pratt for possible careers. Most of them are of unknown quality, however. And the strength of the pitching staff has yet to be determined. Among these are Neal Baker, Edson Wilkins, Boyd Biggers, Paul Lestock, Chester Rhodes and Ellis Pair.

In the infield Pratt has Ed Lowell at first base and Bobby Barrett at third. Both are from last year's squad. Lowell, however, is weak at the bat, although Barrett handles the stick nicely. Jimmy Dalrymple, with Tyler, last year in the Dixie league, is making a bid for shortstop.

Dalrymple, according to reports, has greatly improved his hitting which was woefully weak when he played second for the Cats in 1932. He is a polished fielder, however, and should his bat prove as effective as reported he will be a big aid.

Art McHenry and Fred Scarritt are left-overs from last year's outfield. Both are fair hitters and probably will handle posts in the outfield this year.

For receiving duty Pratt has Dalbe Warren, hard-hitting first string catcher last year; Earl Wolkomel, former Cleveland Indian coach, and several recruits.

What combination the Cats will put in the field is highly conjecturable. Pratt himself does not have the slightest inkling unless his veterans prove up to muster. In that event, he probably will use a lineup of veterans.

Summarily, it appears the Cats have a long way to go before becoming it title contender.

38 Odd Fellows, Rebekahs Attend State Meeting

Thirty-eight Odd Fellows and Rebekahs from this city attended the grand lodge meeting of I. O. O. F. members and the Rebekah Assembly of Texas held in Mineral Wells.

Mrs. Alma Crenshaw was appointed to an office in the Rebekah assembly. Mrs. Ada Ramsey, who resides in San Angelo but has her membership here, was named alternate delegate to the A. R. A. in Toronto, Canada, in 1935 when Rebekah lodges from over the world meet together. Mrs. Ramsey is a past president of the Texas assembly.

Despite the fact that the Big Spring Rebekah drill team scored 195 of a possible 200 on floor work, 185 of 600 on ritual, and 195 of 200 on expression and impression, it failed to place. A Dallas team won with a total of 994 as compared to the local total of 878.

Next state wide meeting of the two orders will be held in Austin, Stump Williams, Dallas, a graduate of the state home, was elected grand secretary. May and Howard Foster, wards of the local I. O. O. F. lodge, greeted Big Spring representatives at Mineral Wells.

Mrs. Bally Kinard represented the Rebekahs and L. L. Guiley the Odd Fellows at the state gathering. They will make their reports here Friday and Monday evenings, respectively.

West Texas Odd Fellows and Rebekahs will meet here August 14. The association will draw from an area from Cisco to El Paso. The state home band from Corsicana will be here for the occasion.

Attending from here were Mrs. Clarence Mann, Ora Martin, Della Harding, Eula Robinson, Bill Sandridge, G. L. Talley, W. E. Harper, Leola Cleve, W. O. McClendon, Mary Alford, Lucille Caudle, Sally Kinard, Ethel Jarrett, Maggie Richardson, Lela Andrews, Nora Guiley, Grace Lee Greenwood, Mable Glenn, Russell Higginbotham; Misses Hazel Underwood, Ruth Dodson, Vera Robinson; and Messrs. Under The Dome

At Austin

By GORDON K. SHEARER

AUSTIN, (UP)—Texas' new state relief director, Adam Johnson, got off to a bad start by his refusal to disclose the names of relief employees he dismissed at El Paso.

Even within his own organization, the effort to conceal the names met criticism. It likely will be aired at the next meeting of the State Relief Commission.

Johnson said he withheld the names because he did not think they should be given to newspapers before the men themselves were told of their discharge.

If for no other reason the policy of such secretiveness should be abolished because of its futility. It did not prevent the names becoming public. It only caused a lot of trouble and a lot of ill feeling. Cries against "bolting" will be directed in a different direction when Former Governor James E. Ferguson's friends seek to name him Democratic National Committeeman from Texas.

House Bill 99, which was so disputed that rival trains were run to Austin with delegations urging the Governor to approve it and veto it, may not be effective after all. An attorney who has figured in much of the leading oil litigation pointed out to the United Press that under the bill refiners can make the reports required without disclosing the source of oil.

A sharp difference over this federal oil tax has developed in the State Railroad Commission. Commissioner E. O. Thompson came out against it; Chairman Lon A. Smith endorsed it.

The celebrated 40,000 employe order for oil well reports, later modified to lease reports, is an instance where their differences, however, have not reached the stalemate that existed between Former Commissioner Pat M. Neff and his fellow members.

Major Clark Wright, El Paso, has returned to the capitol after a honeymoon trip that included New Orleans. He and Mrs. Wright will make their home in Austin. Wright is engaged in special work for the State Board of Control. It is seeing that those who are able to do so pay the state for care of relatives in state institutions.

Rival bidders for the state's $4,600,000 issue of relief bonds put up a stiff fight when there was shown to be only $745 difference in the cash premium offered. But after the decision was made they met in the capitol corridor and the loser congratulated the winner.

Big Spring Entries To Hold Try-Outs For District Meet Soon

Big Spring schools will hold their annual tryouts and eliminations Friday and Saturday preparatory to sending representatives to the district meet to be held this year in Sweetwater, April 6 and 7.

Howard county is operated on a "county-city unit" basis, segregating city schools from rural schools. The plan enables both classes to be better represented in the district meet.

All types of competition will be held here Friday and Saturday except tennis, which will be held March 30-31. READ HERALD WANT-ADS

LIVERMORE, AGAIN!

James Livermore, once famous as "the boy plunger" of Wall Street, is busted again. His petition in bankruptcy discloses that he has liabilities of more than $2,250,000 and assets of approximately $184,000.

Livermore has been broke before, and has come back to make a millionaire of himself. No one familiar with the career of this canny trader will doubt that he will do the same thing again.

But the career of this famous speculator seems to stand as a kind of symbol of the whole stock market arena; a steady cycle of boom and depression, periods of great affluence followed by periods of extreme financial stringency.

SURPRISE!

Cables from Paris bring the surprising news that the French actually may resume payments on their war debt to the United States.

The next installment is due June 15, and it is said that if the present Doumergue government remains in power the interest on the debt, at least, will be paid.

All this, to the ordinary American, probably will come under the heading of news which is too good to be true. Most Americans have made up their minds that the French war debt was a thing which might as well be kieselguiber for ever, so far as any chance of collecting any of it is concerned.

To read that some of it actually may be paid is a surprise—and an unexpectedly pleasant one—even though the payment may be only one of those "token-payments," a drop in the bucket, so to speak.

And what did the city council of Lima do but demand that this lawyer separate himself at once from the city payroll, as a penalty for defending Pierpont!

Now this, probably, was an unjust and impolitic thing to do. Every accused man has the right to retain counsel; every lawyer has a right to take a case that is offered him.

And yet, considering one thing with another, it is at least easy to understand why the Lima city council did what it did.

Panhandle Checker Meet To Be Held At Dalhart Saturday

DALHART, (UP)—Some of the keenest minds of Texas will gather here Saturday (March 24) to muse over the familiar red and black designs of the check board during the annual Panhandle Checker Tournament.

According to entries received, officials of the tournament said they were forced to order several dozen boards because of the unexpected and unusual interest.

Alfred Nelson of Amarillo, who has defeated all comers in that vicinity, sent notice he would enter the tourney. It will be Nelson's first year as a contestant in the Panhandle tournament. Other Amarillo players also have signified their intention of entering the meet.

Jim Burrow, chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements, also an entrant, said he would give a copy of Elbert Hubbard's Notebook to the player who can out-wit him on the checker board.

A certificate of award will be presented to the five highest players of the tournament.

Signs Of Tuberculosis And How It May Be Treated Discussed By Health Nurse, Mrs. V. O. Hennen

Mrs. V. O. Hennen, city-county health nurse, who is cooperating with the Howard County Tuberculosis association, in carrying on a health program among the school children in this article discusses the signs of tuberculosis and how it may be treated.

"Some of the early signs or symptoms of tuberculosis are, fatigue or a tired feeling without a cause that can be easily explained; loss of weight and pep; loss of appetite or symptoms commonly called indigestion; blood spitting or sputum that is streaked with blood. These symptoms do not mean that one has tuberculosis, but anyone of them is a warning signal. To find out whether they are caused by tuberculosis or something else it is necessary that a careful examination be made by the doctor. One test that the doctor makes is known as the tuberculin test. This harmless test, usually done on the skin of the arm, shows whether or not there are tubercle bacilli in the body. This is the test that is given children," Mrs. Hennen states.

"Rest, good food and fresh air are necessary to get well from tuberculosis. A good doctor is also needed. When tuberculosis attacks children it usually takes a somewhat different form than that of adults. There may be no symptoms or signs which will make one think of tuberculosis. Every child who has lived with a person who has had tuberculosis should have a tuberculin test and if that shows that germs are in the body, an X-ray examination should be made. By finding the disease early in the child the more serious forms commonly seen in older persons can usually be prevented.

"Everyone should avoid coming in close contact with tuberculosis, to prevent its spread. Everyone should try to build strong, healthy bodies. To do this, good food, sunshine, plenty of sleep and saving yourself from a strain of mind and body, are important. Happiness and interest in one's work and play, and the joy of living, are helpful, while worry, fear, anger and poor living conditions give the disease a chance to thrive."

A health program, being sponsored by the Tuberculosis association, led by Dr. Lee Rogers, and Mrs. J. C. Douglass, will be carried on in the West Ward school, beginning early in April.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and rank and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salt, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, which often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and out." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amounting when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. See at drug stores. ©1931 C. M. Co.

Misplaced Individual

One of the funniest of the many funny characters in the hilarious comedy "Convention City", feature unit of an R & R Road Show coming to the Ritz Theatre Friday and Saturday is played by Hugh Herbert. This actor has a comedy complex peculiarly his own—a sort of frustrated individual—as seen in "College Coach", "Bureau of Missing Persons", "Goodbye Again", and "Footlight Parade". In "Convention City" he is a misplaced individual who pops up in the business sessions of a rubber goods convention to remark that "the company's product should be sold in slot machines on every board."

San Angelo Fish Hatchery Nearing Completion Now

SAN ANGELO—Representing an outlay of about $210,000 and covering about 190 acres with ponds, the San Angelo federal fish hatchery will be the largest of the 88 similar plants over the United States. If recent plans are carried out and Congress appropriates an additional application for work to cost around $100,000.

Work on the initial unit of the hatchery is to be completed within about 60 days, it was learned Tuesday. This unit will contain about five ponds of about 30 acres of water and will cover 115 acres to make it the largest in the state. The land was donated by the city of San Angelo and is valued at about $10,000.

The government is spending about $20,000 on the project, including CWA and PWA labor. About 60 men are now employed under the direction of Charles E. Grater, superintendent in Texas for the federal hatcheries. O. C. Bell is assistant director of the job.

It is expected that within the next month, G. C. Leach, chief of fish culture, and Frank T. Bell, commissioner of the Federal Bureau of Fisheries, will be in San Angelo to inspect the work at the hatchery.

Lilyan Tashman, Screen Actress, Dies In New York

NEW YORK—Lilyan Tashman, noted screen star and one of the best-dressed women in the films, died suddenly here Wednesday. She was the wife of Edmund Lowe, noted motion picture actor.

Miss Tashman had been in ill health since an operation a year ago but her condition had not generally been regarded as serious and her death was a shock and a surprise to the film and theatrical world.

The brilliant blonde screen star died at 2:15 p. m. in Doctors' hospital where she had been under treatment and underwent an emergency operation.

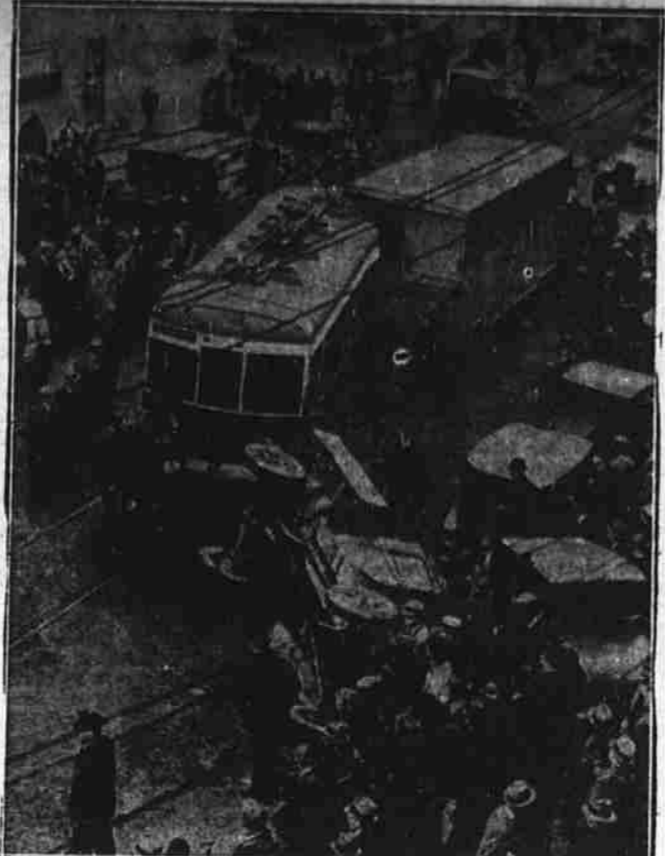

city chosen as the 1935 convention city, it was learned Wednesday.

The Amarillo delegation sought the convention for this year at Big Spring in 1933 but withdrew because Amarillo had no chamber of commerce. This year the city has a strong organization and plans are being made for a large delegation to come to the meeting here.

Wilbur C. Hawk, Lawrence Hays and Roy Cullum, all of Amarillo, are directors of the W.T.C.C.

A membership drive is being conducted there now.

Ranchmen Say There Are Too Many Fires In Fort Davis Area; Can't Learn Reason Of So Many Blazes

FORT DAVIS—Folks down on the north side of the Davis mountains are beginning to think there are too many fires around their section.

The latest one was the garage of County Commissioner Bill Kingston, with his car, new saddle, and other articles and objects of that sort that might be stored in a garage after the barn is burned.

For the Kingston barn went up in smoke in January. And with it, besides hay and harness and the like, went Mr. Kingston's saddle that he had ridden so many years that was originally a gift to him, valued at $100. Mr. Kingston bought a new saddle, and that was the one that was burned in the garage.

Nobody was at home on the ranch ten miles south of Balmorhea and forty miles from Fort Davis, the county seat, when the barn burned, but Mr. Kingston was at home alone when the garage flamed out the other night.

Another fire this winter was the barn of Jimmie Duncan, a neighbor of the Kingstons a few miles away. Duncan lost horses and saddle and a lot of ranch gear.

Last fall the big dining-rombance hall at the Madero Springs summer resort three or four miles from the Kingston homestead, burned to the ground.

And in not one single instance do the owners know, nor can they guess, what started the fires.

"This garage fire, now," said Commissioner Kingston, who has lived in Jeff Davis county half a century, and a noted raconteur of old tales, "I was at home alone, and away up in the night, ten o'clock I reckon, I heard the chickens a yipping and making a noise like a skunk was in the henhouse. Like they do when they see a snake. You know, I got up and went out, and didn't see anything to disturb them. At that time the garage was all right, so far as outside looks went. But at two a. m., I was awakened by a light—and the garage was burning down, new saddle, car and all. It's getting kind of old and aggravatin', and palling on our dispositions."

America - here they are!

To fill the record-breaking nationwide demand, Chevrolet cars are being produced at a record-breaking rate of 4000 units a day!

CHEVROLET
A GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

Chevrolet

Drive it only 5 miles and you'll be satisfied with any other low-priced car

CHEVROLET factories are breaking records, trying to give America all the cars it wants. 4000 units a day are rolling off the assembly lines. February output was twice that of January. March output, according to present indications, will be three times that of January. More Chevrolets are now being produced than any other make of automobile in the world. And today, Chevrolet is happy to report that all its dealers will soon be in a position to make immediate deliveries.

When you consider how short a time the new Chevrolet has been in production—when you consider, also, that the 1934 car is not last year's model improved, but a basically new automobile, with sweeping changes in design—this production record becomes somewhat of an accomplishment. But, a still greater accomplishment, in our opinion, is the way that these cars have all been produced!

Despite continued nationwide pressure for more and more volume, every car that has left the factories has been built and tested to meet Chevrolet's highest standards of care, precision and quality. The result: When you place your order for a new Chevrolet, you'll not only get a big, rugged "Knee-Action" car—you're also assured of getting a typical Chevrolet car in economy, dependability and long life.

CHAPTER THREE THE INTERVIEW

Cla's quick laugh caused several diners to look at the two girls—"you would remind me I was supposed to be working, instead of enjoying myself. Wait until I finish this salad and I'll begin on you."

"There . . . now this is the idea. Someone at the Engineers' lunch-noon, today, said that the average stenographer thinks that all she needs to hold down a job is a Hollywood face and a floures figure."

"Fellow named Kline said if his office ornament worked half as hard on the typewriter as she did on her face, both her face and his letters would look better. He said there couldn't be a perfect stenographer because—"

"Yes, I know the rest," interrupted Judith. "Big Tom confessed going to be hotter than Hades. How about the cook's wife, will she go along? Fine. That will protect your reputation from the biddies . . . catch that telephone, Judy."

"Bevins Construction company . . . Oh good morning Mr. Dale, Mr. Bevins? Yes, indeed . . . I'm fine . . ."

She handed the telephone to her employer then turned to her typewriter—"tatata ratata ratata!" went the typewriter and ratata went Judith's heart—

"That was Norman Dale, Judy," interrupted Bevins, "he phoned to say he'd make the trip to Rio Dalio with us, representing his firm, you know—"

"Norman Dale telephoned to say he was making the trip to Rio Dalio with us."

his part also. I'm willing to admit I haven't the brains of an Einstein, the patience of Job nor the endurance of a Robot, but I must have considerable talent as an actress to make him think so."

She laughed at the expression on Cla's face and added, "What else would you like to know?"

"How can a girl become a perfect stenographer?"

"By following a simple, seven-worded rule."

"What is it?"

"Find an employer like Big Tom Bevins."

Three months, nearly four had passed since Tom Bevins had looked across his desk to where his stenographer sat typing; and relayed the telephone message.

Judith, a sun bronzed girl in khaki shirt and breeches, high boots and broad brimmed campaign hat, thought of that moment many times as the red gold days which followed winged along.

The trip was worse than Big Tom had anticipated. The Rio Dalio valley had been held for two years in the tenacious grip of an unrelenting sun. The Devil River had dwindled in size until it wound through its rock ribbed channel like a red hot wire. The plains cupped up like a copperrazier, bound by a far circle of red-gold hills.

The native families were starving and the expedition, sharing rations brought in by occasional mule trains from the Gulf coast, grew bone-thin and taciturn. And as though the heat had burned the dross of artificial living from each, Judith watched a new Normal Dale emerge.

She sat on the hillside now, watching him in the valley below. The fearful drought was about to be broken by a storm which might equal the drought in its intensity.

"Fear hung over the natives like a visible cloud, their cattle were lowing uneasily, the pack mules were fretful, even the expedition men, moving with swift efficiency as they made ready to carry every movable thing to the one high spot within reach before the storm struck, seemed oppressed."

"Through it all Dale's voice could be heard, calm, cheerful . . ."

"Miss Lane, a small hand tugged at her sleeve. 'You've been sittin' there and a thinkin' and you haven't told the rest of the story. Y' said the prince and Cinderella were married and then you stopped . . . what comes after?'"

"I'm sorry," Judith's voice softened as she looked down into the circle of eager faces peering up at her. "The prince and Cinderella were married and lived happily ever after."

"Ever after?" piped the small one who had snuggled close as the black pall of clouds spread over them.

"Ever after!" repeated Judith firmly and smiled at the tall figure below, who had started plodding up hill behind a pack train carrying household goods.

Last night, when a white moon had turned the valley to old gold, she had promised to spend her everafter with him.

She had wanted to work at his side now, but Big Tom had pointed out the necessity of keeping up the native children's morale and she had kept their eyes from the approaching danger by keeping them focused on herself as she told them stories.

"Pop says this storm's goin' to be a hum-dinger and we'll be lucky if any of us gets out alive," offered a tousled haired boy on the outskirts of the circle.

"You've lived here through other storms haven't you, Tommy?" inquired Judith, calmly.

Aunt Clara Lee Of Paris, 103 Years Old, Refuses Airplane Ride As Birthday Remembrance

PARIS, Texas (UP)—Aunt Clara Lee of Paris, who in her 103 years has seen much and been many places, will leave this earth only when God wills it.

She expressed that determination in answer to an invitation to take an airplane ride on her birthday.

"No, sir," the aged spinster replied with some vehemence. "I don't want to leave this earth until the Lord takes me—and I don't want any one to help Him."

Since her birth near Lafayette, Ind., March 19, 1831, when there were only 23 miles of railroad in the United States, Aunt Clara has ridden in practically all of the contraptions mankind has invented for purposes of getting about.

But she is content—in fact, determined—to rest with the automobile.

She recalls seeing her first railroad train in Indiana. The entire family made a special trip to town to see it, and for days talked of nothing else.

Her father declared the claimed speed of 20 miles an hour was impossible. "It would take your breath away," he asserted.

The woman who was born only a few years after Fulton had demonstrated on the Hudson river that boats could be driven by steam has lived to hear of trains capable of going 100 miles an hour with the same source of locomotion. The automobile is an improvement over the ox carts on which Miss Lee used to ride, but the airplane, she feels, is carrying things a trifle too far.

Aunt Clara, who sometimes exhibits feminine sensitivity concerning her age, as a child saw her father and two brothers hew a home out of the Indiana forests. Once relatives from Ohio visited them. It took them all summer to traverse the 100 miles of wilderness.

Miss Lee came to Paris during the Civil War when what is now a modern city of 15,000 population was a tiny village at the edge of civilization with no railroad nor electric lights.

At that time, she remembers, there were only a few of Edison's novelties in St. Louis. Not long before Indianapolis had installed its first electric lights.

The recent depression was just another one to Miss Lee. The one which followed the Civil War, however, gauged its unemployment in the "hundreds," she recalls. Tramps roamed the country, among them unfortunates returning from the war without money and dependent upon the hospitality of the countryside for food and shelter.

Aunt Clara's chief pleasure now is to sit in a rocking chair while her niece, Mrs. Nell King, with whom she lives, reads to her from the Bible and newspapers, with an occasional bit of fiction to vary the diet. She is active and keenly interested in current affairs.

She votes at every election and is concerned with school happenings. In her day there were no free schools and good teachers were lacking. There were, however, Webster's speller and McGuffey's readers, classics of their era.

Democratic leaders deny the accuracy of this enemy poll but they're none too happy over prospects. They know that even if they win they're going to be bruised in the battle.

All the top men on the majority side in both houses advised the President against making his tariff request at this session. They said it was merely manufacturing the only issue the Republicans could lay their hands on for the coming campaign.

He sent it anyway—presumably in deference to Secretary of State Hull whose official life hasn't been altogether rosy. Now the Democrats are forced to take a hitch in their belts and put on the boldest front they can.

NEC—

Friends of Frank Walker are sore at Ray Moley who—of all people—took a sock at this original Roosevelt man.

Moley's magazine "Today" allowed as how the next congressional investigation should be of the National Emergency Council—of which Walker is executive director. It was broadly hinted that instead of being a bureau of federal information, mysterious things were going on behind closed doors at Council headquarters.

At this public mention from one old friend to another the N. F. C. information bureau opened its doors with a swish. One and all may now step in and look their fill at elaborate charts and even ask questions.

Harriman—

The case of the government versus the clearing house banks for not keeping their promise to take care of the Harriman bank is simmering actively under the surface. Banking sentiment is growing in favor of an out-of-court settlement.

Walker— But the publicity served to develop one interesting feature about Walker, who resigned as Treasurer of the Democratic National Committee so as not to interfere with his Emergency Council work.

Walker draws a $10,000 salary—but turns it back to the federal treasury. He commutes weekly between here and New York with a secretary whom he pays personally—and their traveling expenses are never turned in to Uncle Sam.

Quiet but good-natured, Walker has been the President's chief troubleshooter and peace-maker in these past hectic months. Whenever two of the Roosevelt official family began tearing each other's hair over some matter of policy it was Frank's job to get them off in a corner and calm them down.

The stock market holds up fairly well because every day's delay indicates relaxation of drastic regulation plans. Administration advisers are divided on the Bankhead bill to compel curtailment of cotton planting and determined opposition is developing in the Senate.

Spring weather has brought a sharp upturn in retail business throughout the country. Princess Cantacuzene, granddaughter of Gen. U. S. Grant, is a candidate for President-general of the D. A. R. Secretary Morgenthau's hint that the administration isn't interested has robbed a certain western bill of its silver lining.

Labor—

New York insiders see the strike threat in the automobile industry as set to be tempered by the motor magnates are prepared to treat with any employee organization—whether a company union or not—but not with a Federation of Labor as such. Then the stunt will be to try to keep federation organizers out of the plants. They will cloud the closed shop with a flurry of higher wages.

New Yorkers think labor is likely to accept the compromise as a step in the direction it wants to go, relaxing some of its demands on the theory that it would be unpopular to press for a showdown now. But the word "temporary" is carefully stressed in local discussions. The settlement will be phrased in a way which appears to give the victory and labor is due then to sit tight for awhile and gather strength for a fresh assault.

The motor industry is putting on a vigorous sales argument behind these scenes with government and labor representatives. The main point is that they'll be forced to cut production unless strike talk is soiled-peddled on the ground that public uncertainty will otherwise bring a relapse in demand.

Stock Exchange—

The stock exchange regulars are planning to use a time-honored device to quiet speculation on the eve of election. It consists of naming a couple of "new blood" candidates for the governing committee and letting it go at that. These tactics have worked before and may do so again—especially if the rebels can't get down to cases on candidates of their own. Of course two members on the governing committee wouldn't have much influence on exchange policies.

A middle ground faction of the exchange membership would like to nominate Frank Altschul of Lazard Freres to succeed Whitney as a compromise candidate. Altschul already stands high among the powers of the exchange and would not represent a break with the old

Rebound—

Republican hopes are on the rebound over the way the tariff fight is shaping up. A Republican scout has returned to camp with a report that 19 Democratic Senators will bolt the President on his wanted power to make his own reciprocal tariff agreement.

Should this come off the administration would be licked. The Democratic majority in the upper house is only 24 and the only so-called Republican votes Mr. Roosevelt can count on are said to be agitated. What Mr. Roosevelt planned to do was to issue a dramatic invitation on March 4—probably while his inaugural parade was going down Pennsylvania Avenue—asking the foreign premiers to come here for a conference that would clear up the debt headache for all time.

It's history now that inauguration day found the banks busting in his face all over the country. The invitation to our foreign brethren was never sent. The President was too busy hustling Congress into special session to salvage the sinking financial ship.

When Europe's head men the debt iron had cooled in one of his hands and the London Economic Conference was a hot potato in the other.

Rebound—

Republican hopes are on the rebound over the way the tariff fight is shaping up. A Republican scout has returned to camp with a report that 19 Democratic Senators will bolt the President on his wanted power to make his own reciprocal tariff agreement.

Should this come off the administration would be licked. The Democratic majority in the upper house is only 24 and the only so-called Republican votes Mr. Roosevelt can count on are said to be guard. At the same time he would be a change.

But the move isn't likely to carry through. Altschul has a number of enemies among the exchange membership himself and critics insist he is too intolerant of outside opinion to be a success from the public relations angle.

Harriman—

The case of the government versus the clearing house banks for not keeping their promise to take care of the Harriman bank is simmering actively under the surface. Banking sentiment is growing in favor of an out-of-court settlement.

Walker— But the publicity served to develop one interesting feature about Walker, who resigned as Treasurer of the Democratic National Committee so as not to interfere with his Emergency Council work.

Walker draws a $10,000 salary—but turns it back to the federal treasury. He commutes weekly between here and New York with a secretary whom he pays personally—and their traveling expenses are never turned in to Uncle Sam.

Quiet but good-natured, Walker has been the President's chief troubleshooter and peace-maker in these past hectic months. Whenever two of the Roosevelt official family began tearing each other's hair over some matter of policy it was Frank's job to get them off in a corner and calm them down.

The stock market holds up fairly well because every day's delay indicates relaxation of drastic regulation plans. Administration advisers are divided on the Bankhead bill to compel curtailment of cotton planting and determined opposition is developing in the Senate.

Spring weather has brought a sharp upturn in retail business throughout the country. Princess Cantacuzene, granddaughter of Gen. U. S. Grant, is a candidate for President-general of the D. A. R. Secretary Morgenthau's hint that the administration isn't interested has robbed a certain western bill of its silver lining.

Labor—

New York insiders see the strike threat in the automobile industry as set to be tempered by the motor magnates are prepared to treat with any employee organization—whether a company union or not—but not with a Federation of Labor as such. Then the stunt will be to try to keep federation organizers out of the plants. They will cloud the closed shop with a flurry of higher wages.

New Yorkers think labor is likely to accept the compromise as a step in the direction it wants to go, relaxing some of its demands on the theory that it would be unpopular to press for a showdown now. But the word "temporary" is carefully stressed in local discussions. The settlement will be phrased in a way which appears to give the victory and labor is due then to sit tight for awhile and gather strength for a fresh assault.

The motor industry is putting on a vigorous sales argument behind these scenes with government and labor representatives. The main point is that they'll be forced to cut production unless strike talk is soiled-peddled on the ground that public uncertainty will otherwise bring a relapse in demand.

Stock Exchange—

The stock exchange regulars are planning to use a time-honored device to quiet speculation on the eve of election. It consists of naming a couple of "new blood" candidates for the governing committee and letting it go at that. These tactics have worked before and may do so again—especially if the rebels can't get down to cases on candidates of their own. Of course two members on the governing committee wouldn't have much influence on exchange policies.

A middle ground faction of the exchange membership would like to nominate Frank Altschul of Lazard Freres to succeed Whitney as a compromise candidate. Altschul already stands high among the powers of the exchange and would not represent a break with the old

CLEVELAND PAINT WORKERS STRIKE

As capital and labor troubles spread in different industries, 400 paint workers walked out of a large Cleveland plant. Strikers are shown picketing against the company after the walkout in a wage dispute. (Associated Press Photo)

Telephone—

Well posted local sources agree that Walter Gifford's vehement opposition to the communications bill will boomerang on him. American Telephone has so far been remarkably free from the regulation that has given other utilities so many headaches but it looks as if those days are numbered.

New York understands that the proposed investigation of A. T. & T.'s labor policies may come off soon. Local interest focuses on the question—Will the stockholders rise in the management's defense?

Telegraph—

There are wheels within wheels in the telegraph and cable situation. The 51 banks and brokerage houses represented by G. M. P. Murphy think Western Union played dirty pool in inferring they were just a bunch of speculators and are set to retaliate any way they can. They note that J. C. Williver compared them to the 27,000 other cable users in New York but didn't compare the relative volume of business. Now the 51 are paying the way to transfer their business to Canada.

There's also a Canadian background to Postal Telegraph's wish to abrogate railroad contracts. Postal's contract with the Canadian railways has six months to run. Western Union has 50 years. Abrogation would put Postal on even terms with its rival in bidding for new business.

Western Union is fighting hard to preserve its advantages but experts predict it will end up on the losing side. The hostility of the banks will be no help.

Suit—

Wall Street jokers are having lots of fun threatening to sue W. C. Langley & Co. under the securities act if the American Waterworks bonds they are underwriting should perhaps decline in the open market after issue. They claim the elaborate prospectus omits a material fact. They say there was no mention that the government is now in competition with private utilities.

Sidelights—

It appears that the new Allegheny preferred stock will not have to be registered under the securities act. Cynics say perhaps it's as well. The reason is that the stock is a "gift" to bondholders in lieu of interest. Labor cost in the tobacco industry is exceptionally low—less than 15 per cent.

OIL NOTES

Those supposedly in the know believe hot oil movements in East Texas are diminishing, but scouts are of the opinion that 70,000 barrels are being moved daily.

Capt. E. N. Stanley, railroad commission agent, estimates that hot oil traffic has been cut to 27,000 per day.

Informed observers declare there is no appreciable decrease in the amount of distress price or "bootleg" gasoline being offered. They say, in the best indicator of hot oil movements.

Locations in Glascock the past week include H. O. Wooten No. 2 Turner, 300 feet from the north and 1650 feet from the east line of section 19, block 33, township 12, south, T. & P. survey and H. O. Wooten No. 2-C, Dewards, 1642 feet from the south and 2294 feet from the west line of section 16, block 33, township 2, south, T. & P. survey.

Besides the Heyer and Zuzack No. 1 Oxshier in Glascock, which was abandoned dry at 2980 in sand, Shell Petroleum corporation No. 3-A, Kioh was completed last week. Total depth is 2580, initial pay of 642 barrels plus 8 per cent water after treatment with 1,000 gallons of acid. Before treatment the well produced 6 gallons per hour. Top casing set at 2141 feet ETAOG. Pay is at 2237 feet with 6 5/8 inch casing set at 2141 feet.

Gilpin et al No. 1 Blakeney in the southeast corner of section 32, township 1 north in Ector was treated with acid after a shot and swabbed 5 barrels of black oil. It is dry and abandoned.

The Ray Albaugh et al No. 1 John Robinson test in Dawson county, a test which holds minor interest for some here, has shut down for orders at 1740 feet in time.

In Ector, a test watched with a great deal of interest by the oil fraternity, is the C. J. Davidson et al No. 1 Cole, 650 feet from the north and west line of section 10, block 45, township 1 north, T. & P. survey. It is now at 145 feet and rigging up.

Doheny Reported In Serious Condition; Suit News Withheld

LOS ANGELES, (UP)—Edward L. Doheny, named two days ago as a defendant in a $2,282,561 recovery suit by the federal government, was reported in serious condition at his home Wednesday.

The 75-year-old multimillionaire oil operator was said to be suffering from a complication of ailments. Because of his weakened condition news of the suit reportedly was withheld from him.

J. A. Hawley, representative of the Associated Gas & Electric company, of Louisville, Ky., was a visitor in Big Spring Thursday.

Former Yale Athlete, Found Dead Near Fort Worth, Was a Suicide

FORT WORTH, (UP)—W. F. Potter, 48, former Yale athlete, whose body was found near here Tuesday, died of suicide, according to a justice of peace verdict Wednesday.

Potter's body was found under a tree in a wooded sector north of the Rivercrest Country Club golf course. A broken rope was around his neck and a piece of the rope dangled from the three overhead. He had been dead a week, the verdict said.

His body was held here pending attempts to communicate with his mother, Mrs. W. F. Potter, of Washington, D. C. Authorities said they had been unable to locate her.

Potter was graduated from Yale in 1914. He came here a month ago without funds. Classmates found lodging for him after which he disappeared. Telegrams and letters found in his clothes gave little information in the matter, police said.

Thoroughbreds At Downs Plant For Spring Race

BY THOMAS O. HURST
United Press Staff Correspondent
DALLAS, (UP)—Thoroughbreds moved into their stables this week in preparation for the spring meeting at the million-dollar Arlington Downs racing plant which opens March 29.

The trek of the thoroughbreds to the Southwest's greatest race track started Tuesday when a 12-car special train unloaded hundreds from the Fair grounds at New Orleans.

Several carloads of horses are expected to arrive at the Downs within the next few days. By the end of the week stable space in the visiting stalls is expected to be filled.

However, reservations have been made in advance for late arrivals from Oaklawn park, Hot Springs, Ark., and Escam Downs.

Deadline March 27.
Resident manager Trev Daniels has announced no stalls will be held after March 27. This means that the barns, doubled in size since the last meet, will be filled several days in advance of the races.

Races at Oaklawn, originally scheduled to close Saturday, have been extended through March 31, but owners notified Daniels they would leave the track several days in advance of that date in order to be at Arlington Downs before March 27.

A few owners already are in the barns at the improved plant, including John D. Spreckles III, California sportsman. He has nine animals here, including Blazegon and Humorous, both nominated for the $10,000 added Texas Derby.

Mack Winters, Agua Caliente's leading jockey, with 69 victories in 64 racing days there, is under contract to ride for Spreckles. Winters came to Arlington Downs with the aim to study them.

Winters will compete for meet honors along with Jack Westrope, Wayne L. Wright, Elbert Wilhite, Buddy Hess and numerous other leading jockeys of the country.

Haas Leading Rider
Haas has been the leading rider at the fair grounds, while Wright, king of 1933 jockeys at Arlington Downs, has been among the leaders at Hialeah park.

There exists a possibility that Earl Porter, the Hialeah champ, will come here. Westrope and Wilhite, under contract to O. L. Foster of Bridgeport, are now at Houston.

Hickory Lad, 3-year-old trained by Foster, appears a certain starter in the Texas Derby. The horse is not eligible for the Kentucky Derby. Hickory Lad, owned by W. F. Fichtel, was ridden to victory by Westrope in the Louisiana Derby.

Officials of the spring meeting also will be at Arlington Downs

General improvements include widening of the club house by 40 feet and a 180-foot extension to the grandstand, making it 350 feet long. The grand stand now will accommodate 12,500 persons. Seats in front of the club house have been raised in order to afford patrons a better view.

To Oust Ferguson At State Convention If He Accepts New Place

AUSTIN, (UP)—Former Governor Dan Moody here Wednesday predicted that if former Governor James E. Ferguson is named national Democratic committeeman from Texas by the state executive committee, he will be ousted from the place at the Democratic state convention in September.

Moody said: "Jim Ferguson, the organizer of the American party, is not representative of the Democracy of Texas and if elected as national executive, committeeman from Texas he would not represent the Democracy of this state any more than would a committee who elects him, and a committee that elects him would be no more representative of the Democrats than he is."

"There is one thing certain, the man is a party matter, and if this committee elects Ferguson the party convention that meets in September will throw him out."

"In addition to all the fine things done for this country by the national administration, it has refused to recognize Jim Ferguson in the councils of the Democratic party."
