Local Mobile Home Plant Bought By Major Firm,

Fuqua Homes, Inc.

Eastland Industrial Foundation and Fuqua Homes Inc. executives jointly announced the purchase of the mobile home manufacturing plant in Eastland by Fuqua, a major, nation-wide firm.

Foundation President H.T. Wilson introduced the visitors and gave a brief history of the local plant, which was opened about four years ago after the city gave some ten acres, and local foundation investors donated about $25,000. The plant was sold about two years ago to another firm.

Industrial introduced with Fuqua were Mr. Jim Height of Arlington, president; Divisional Senior Vice President Bob West; Local General Manager Ralph Cain; and Ron Volman, director of corporate engineering for Fuqua.

Mr. Height said initially to the some 25 local business and professional people attending the coffee, that plans are to retain the present some 50 people at the plant, located north of Eastland on the Morton Valley highway.

"Our company has regard for people, and people help us make a profit," Mr. Height said. Describing Fuqua, he called it a multidiversified industry with four major areas of interest. In 1972, the firm had sales of approximately $434 million.

Fuqua's main areas are leisure-time products, travel, shelter and agricultural products. The firm lists among its product 65 foot yachts, theatres, television broadcasting facilities and "possibly our most profitable item - lawnmowers," he said.

In our transportation division, we operate one of the largest freight lines in the northeast and our agricultural products include the manufacturing of from a third to 40 per cent of the accessories (blades, etc.) for the Caterpillar Co. The company is also into hybrid seed corn and grain drying and storage, he said.

Under our shelter division, we are interested in land development and mobile home manufacturing.

There are 21 major subsidiaries, he said and Fuqua has 13 plants in ten states. This is the first Texas plant. Range is from medium to high level cost homes, he said, with some homes going up to 1,430 square feet. Because of "target legislation," he said, many mobile homes being built today, are now better values than conventionally built homes for the consumer.

Our interests here are to be good citizens and make an excellent profit he said. "I believe in the flag and the free enterprise system."

Employment could double in the nine-month period, it was explained when the plant gets up to ten units a day, and Cain

Presented By Congressman Burleson 4 Earn Scouting's Top Eagle Award

A never-to-be-forgotten ceremony took place here this week when United States Congressman Omar Burleson presented Scouting's Highest Award to four Eastland Scouters.

The event took place at the Annual Law Enforcement Banquet Monday evening at Eastland Elementary School. Eastland's proud new Eagle Scouts are Jace Staggs, Jerry Boles, Phillip Arther and Larry Courtney.

Assisting Mr. Burleson with the formal ceremonies were District Attorney Emory Walton and Texas Highway Patrol Sergeant Jerry Matthews.

Eastland Scouts John Marshall and Tom Morren served as escorts for the new Eagles and their parents.

The parents are Mrs. Courtney, Mr. and Mrs. Winston Boles, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Staggs and Mrs. Buddy Rowe.

Mr. Burleson pointed out that records show that no Eagle Scout has ever been convicted of a felony in his salute to the welcoming the major firm to Eastland and pledged themselves to helping make the venture mutually beneficial.

Scouts and to their parents. Scoutmasters Dick Johnson, Troop 103, and Winston Boles, Troop 6, also were honored at the ceremony.

Special Mother's pin marking the event were presented to the mothers of the young men. Young Courtney was pinned with the beautiful Eagle Award with which his later father, also an Eagle, had been pinned.

The Law Enforcement Association sponsored the event in connection with their support for good citizenship.

YOU WILL, of course, remember to set your clock FORWARD one hour Saturday night for the beginning of Daylight Savings Time. We'll probably forget, but at least you've been forwarned.

THIS BIT today wasn't intended this way, but it just sorta turns out to be a "bad news-good news" piece.

First the bad news...

Our morning mail brought a letter that we just flat hate to get. Although we can certainly understand the necessity of retirement for health reasons, it's just that we hate to think about City Hall without Mrs. Clara Butler.

One of the most cheerful and efficient women in the world, she's been a real friend to officials and to the public. She'll be missed.

Her letter of resignation to Mayor Durel Reid and to the Commissioners tells worlds about her and the good work she's done:

Gentlemen, I wish to thank each of you for your good will and for your concern in behalf of the City Employees.

It is with leaders like you that Eastland will continue to grow and to prosper.

For ten years, I have tried to be the kind of an employee of which the City Manager and the City Commission could be proud and one which the people of Eastland could trust.

I have enjoyed my association with all of the City Employees and I have many pleasant memories "stored away" for reminiscing.

Since my roots are very deep here, I've always wanted the very best for Eastland, and my job has been more to me than just my salary.

Regretfully, however, my health will not permit me to continue working any longer. Therefore, I am resigning.

Respectfully submitted, Clara Butler Mrs. Kenneth Butler

A DISTINGUISHED visitor due in our town Thursday will be Mrs. Eloise Trigg Johnson of College Station. Mrs. Johnson was the first Extension Service Home Demonstration Agent in the county and so remember the wonderful work she did here. She recently retired from an important family service office at A&M, and she'll be accompanied by her son, Dr. Cone Johnson of Abilene. They'll be visiting Mrs. Joseph Perkins who will be showing them Eastland today, including the Centennial Library (and it's accompanying Rummage Sale activities), and the Centennial Center where Aunt Dinna's Quilting Party is in full swing.

We'll all want to say a special "Howdy" to Mrs. Johnson for her work here, especially on this important historic occasion.

FUQUA PRINCIPALS and local hosts visit informally Wednesday afternoon at the Eastland National Bank Conference Room where Fuqua President Jim Height, center, announced that his company had purchased the mobile home manufacturing plant in Eastland and plans to produce some ten units a day in about nine months. From left are

Large Crowd In Attendance For Law Enforcement Banquet

Eastland County law enforcers were given a special salute by U.S. Rep. Omar Burleson Monday night at the annual banquet of the Eastland County Law Enforcement Association as he called for a "revival of consciousness" in the United States.

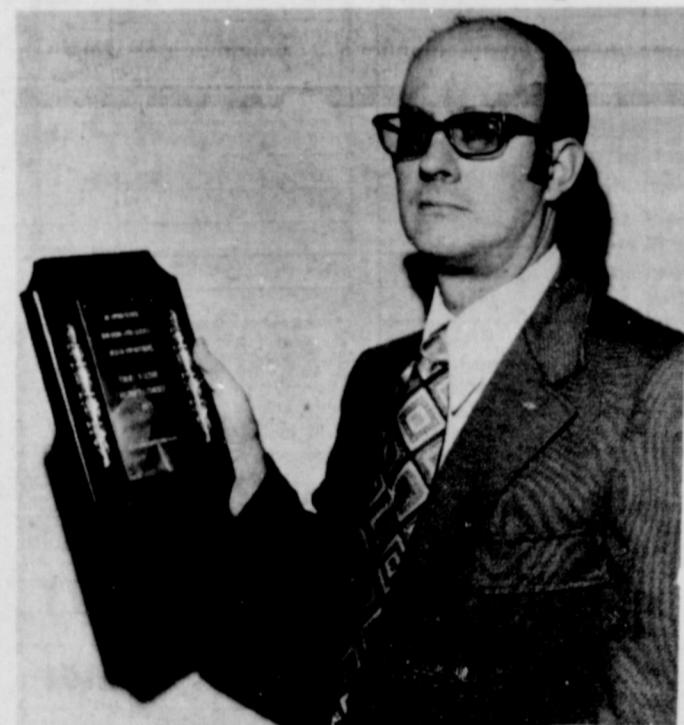

Speaking at the banquet, Burleson, representative from the 17th Congressional District, said the key to this country's "stability lies in the citizens' respect for the law."

About 270 Eastland County residents, including 75 lawmen from all branches, attended Monday night's banquet in the Elementary School Cafeterium.

Eastland County Dist. Atty. Emory Walton received a "surprise" award for his "dedicated service."

The plaque was to go the lawman at any level who most exemplifies the spirit of law enforcement in the county.

It was sponsored by the Eastland County Newspapers Co., and is to become an annual presentation.

Eastland County District Attorney, Emory Walton, proudly displays the plaque presented him Monday night during awards presentation at Eastland County Law Enforcement Association Banquet. The plaque was presented by Eastland County Newspapers, Inc., in recognition of his outstanding contributions toward law enforcement during the year 1972-73.

An Error - $775. - Not $77

Not quite - but wouldn't it be nice!

Un-f-o-r-t-u-n-a-l-y, the figure "$77" needed to begin work on the Centennial Library in a story in Sunday's Telegram, wasn't quite correct.

A typographical error makes it look good, but it's not quite that good. The figure should have been "$775.89". That misplaced "5" caused the headline writer to goof, and well, it just all came out wrong. Tabulator Mrs.

A typographical error makes it look good, but it's not quite that good. The figure should have been "$775.89". That misplaced "5" caused the headline writer to goof, and well, it just all came out wrong. Tabulator Mrs. Inez Bourdeau and Publicist Katherine Germany had their figures right, but, from copy to type, the error occurred, and the Telegram's collective face is red, as sharp citizens who tally up such things as they read, caught us red handed.

So why not help make us right.

If the $15,000 figure could be reached by this weekend (with the help of that $775 not $77) then we could announce that work is ready to begin.

And her's another actioned packed scene. As it looks Russel Smith is about to be Taken In by the luring young lady Susie Hanna. Tickets for the play are 50 cents for elementary and $1.00 for Jr. High to Adults. The play will be May 4th at 8 p.m.

Thoughts

From The Living Bible
One day as the crowds were gathering, he went up the hillside with his disciples and sat down and taught them there. "Humble men are very fortunate!" he told them, "for the Kingdom of Heaven is given to them. Those who mourn are fortunate! for they shall be comforted. The meek and lowly are fortunate! for the whole world belongs to them. "Happy are those who long to be just and good, for they shall be completely satisfied. Happy are the kind and merciful, for they shall be shown mercy."

SEEDS FROM THE SOWER
By Michael A. Guido, Metter, Georgia

A world without war and want, a society without sin and sickness, a time without the tempter and temptation! This is the fulfillment of the prayer, "Thy kingdom come." But there can be no kingdom without the King, and the 72nd Psalm emphasizes the features of the King's Reign.
Its righteousness: "He shall judge thy people with righteousness." Imagine a Ruler so wise as never to make a mistake, so faithful as never to forfeit His word, so gracious as to do everything for the good of His people.
Its range: "They shall fear Thee as long as the sun and moon endure." Because He is eternal. His kingdom is everlasting. He will not abdicate, nor can He be overthrown. His power can not fail nor can His glory fade.

Its region: "He shall have dominion from sea to sea." But no one enters this kingdom except as God, by the new birth, makes him a citizen.
Its rejoicing: "Men shall be blessed in Him." He will put everything good in the world and keep out everything bad. Human plans, human powers and human potentates cannot do it. There is only One - Jesus Christ, the King of kings to whom God has given all power in heaven and earth.

COMMENTS FROM AUSTIN

By Representative Joe C. Hanna

Time grows short for the legislature to consider the hundreds of bills which have been introduced. Our allotted 140 days will be over May 28. Many bills which have been introduced will never be brought to the floor of the House to be debated, but many of them really do not merit the time and expense of debate on the floor.

As the time grows short, tempers of members follow suit. Sponsors of bills often lose their cool and tempers flare when their bills fail to progress through committee. With other members asking detailed questions and offering many amendments, bills are slow in reaching the calendar for floor debate, and their impatient sponsors suffer under the strain.

One can compare the passage of legislation with the game of football. Debate in the committees... the real core of shaping legislation into acceptable form...

One can compare the passage of legislation with the game of football. Debate in the committees... the real core of shaping legislation into acceptable form... can be likened to practice, which is often a tedious process covering days or weeks.

In this process of reshaping and refining, members of the committee show their attitude toward the legislation by the kind of questions they ask. Why is the bill needed? What does it do? Who is benefitted and who is hurt? And what will it cost the State... or the lower unit of government which it affects?

After a debate before the committee as a whole, the bill usually is referred to a sub-committee, sometimes for further testimony and study.

but usually for corrective or compromise amendments. When reported back favorably by the sub-committee it usually will be reported out by the committee. Then comes the struggle for a place on the crowded daily calendar.

Debate on the floor compares with the actual game, climaxing a long series of preparation, and then lasting a comparatively short time.

Our office has had many letters, telegrams, phone calls and even personal visits to express concern with legislation. This I encourage, for it is helpful to know how different bills affect people in our district.

An "ethics" bill was passed last week by almost unanimous consent of House members. Compared with the 140 page document which the House was forced to consider earlier, this eight page bill was concise, and carried out the requirements which cover the subject well. Under it, members of the Legislature and most of the state's appointed and elected officials, as well as candidates, are subject to open disclosure of financial worth and sources of income. I believe this is the proper approach to the question, since it omits about 30,000 people from reporting a fiscal disclosure.

I do not, nor ever have I, objected to any restriction of requirements of a proper nature imposed by the Legislature on its own members, but I feel that to put such a burden on school board members, hospital district and city council members would keep many capable people from offering services which are indeed valuable to their communities and to the state.

is to pick up the phone.

Cops deliver lectures, babies, and bad news. They are required to have the wisdom of Solomon the disposition of a lamb, and muscles of steel and are often accused of having a heart to match. He is the one who rings the doorbell, swallows hard and announces the passing of a loved one; then spends the rest of the day wondering why he ever took such a "crummy" job.

On TV, a cop is an oaf who couldn't find a bull fiddle in a telephone booth. In real life he's expected to find a little blond boy "About so high" in a crowd of a half million people. In fiction, he gets help from private eyes, reporters, and "who-dun-it" fans. In real life, mostly all he gets from the public is "I didn't see nuttin'."

When he serves a summons, he's a monster. If he lets you go, he's a doll. To little kids, he's either a friend or a bogeyman, depending on how the parents feel about it. He works "around the clock", split shifts, Sunday and Holidays, and it always kills him when a joker says, "Hey, tomorrow is election day, I'm off, let's go fishing." (That's the day he works 20 hours.)

A cop is like the little girl who, when she was good, was very, very good, but when she was bad, she was horrid. When a cop is good, "He's getting paid for it." When he makes a mistake, "He's a grafter, and that goes for the rest of them too." When he shoots a stickup man, he's a hero, except when the stick-up man is "only a kid, anybody could have seen that."

Lots of them have homes, some of them covered with Ivy, but most of them covered with mortgages. If he drives a big car, he's a chiseler; a little car, "who's he kidding?" His credit is good; this is very helpful, because his salary isn't. Cops raise lots of kids, most of them belong to other people. A cop sees more misery.

bloodshed, trouble and sunrises than the average person. Like the postman, cops must be out in all kinds of weather. His uniform changes with the climate, but his outlook on life remains the same; most a blank but hoping for a better world.

Cops like days off, vacations, coffee. They don't like auto horns, family fights, and anonymous letter writers.

They have unions, but they can't strike. They must be impartial, courteous, and always remember the slogan "at your service." This is sometimes hard especially when a character reminds him, "I'm a taxpayer, and I pay your salary."

Cops get medals for saving lives, stopping runaway horses, and shooting it out with bandits (once in a while his widow gets the medal). But sometimes, the most rewarding moment comes when, after some small kindness to an older person, he feels the warm hand clasp, looks into grateful eyes and hears, "Thank you, and God bless you, son."

Visiting Rev. and Mrs. A.C. Hardin during Easter weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Hardin and family, Mrs. Maxine Gressett and Jodie and Mrs. Patricia Heath of Denver City, Mrs. JaNa Hawkins and David of Katy, Mr. and Mrs. Hansel McCord of Dallas and Mr. and Mrs. C.W. Freeman of Abilene.

The family of Mr. and Mrs. W.O. Cox met in the W.E. Cox farm for a family reunion last Sunday. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Day Mace, Mrs. Nell Green, Tammy and Joannie, Mr. and Mrs. Ricky Fisher and Ricky, Jr., all of Breckenridge; Mr. and Mrs. Bray Anders and Randy, Fort Worth; Mr. and Mrs. James Cox, Jill and Jamie of Plano; Mr. and Mrs. W.E. Cox of Eastland and family. There were five generations of the Cox family present.

Peanut News

Although farmers and ranchers won a victory recently in Congress over the food price roll-back issues, agricultural producers still need to explain their side of the price issue to the public, the president of the Eastland County Farm Bureau said.

The victory in Congress may represent only a reprieve, said Mr. Cozart of Cisco. He said that if the public had understood the economics behind retail food prices, there would have been no meat boycotts and pressures on Congress to roll-back food prices.

Cozart explained that farmers and ranchers have been "subsidizing consumers with cheap food for many years" during which time living costs and farm production costs have been steadily rising.

Cozart attributed most of the current public outcry over food prices to two factors:

(1) Some retail food prices, particularly meats, did rise rather sharply in recent months because of high demand.

(2) National news media - particularly television - spotlighted the meat price issue and helped to "snowball" the public interest through sensation-type reporting.

What the public should remember, he said, is that food prices have been fueled by higher costs of distribution which are caused primarily by higher wages. Only recently in some commodities has the producer been getting a "decent" price, he added.

From 1952 to 1972, he said, the farm price of food went up only 13 percent while wages of food distribution workers skyrocketed by some 150 percent. He noted that there had been no public pressure to roll-back these wages. Even with higher distribution costs, retail food prices did not increase much as most other items people buy, the county farm leader said.

He pointed out that prices for all consumer items rose by 58 percent between 1952 and 1972, while retail food prices went up only 47 percent.

The rise in the price of food is much less than the average of all wages, Mr. Cozart said.

In the past five years the retail price of food has gone up 22 percent (mostly caused by labor inputs), while the average wages in the nation are up more than a third for the same period.

The farm leader emphasized also that prices farmer receive tend to fluctuate widely - what goes up one month is likely to fall shortly. In contrast, he said, wages very rarely, if ever, go any direction but one - up.

Farmers prices fluctuate because of many factors beyond the farmers' control - weather, yields, pests, total plantings, feed supplies, foreign trade, he said. All of these can have a rather sudden and substantial impact on farmers' prices, he added.

Often these changes bring farm prices down as suddenly as they go up, Mr. Cozart pointed out. Since 1952, he said, average farm prices have declined or remained unchanged in 10 of those 20 years.

The five generations pictured here are Mr. and Mrs. W.O. Cox; their daughter, Mrs. Day Mace; Her daughter, Nell Green; her son, Rickie Fisher; and his baby, Rickie Jr.

I REMEMBER
By Dick O'Brien

About this time each year I find myself thinking about my parents more than at other seasons. I suppose it is because of their birth days being in the early months of the year. My mother was the daughter of a Baptist preacher in Arkansas, and to me she was the ideal of womanhood and motherhood. She had a hard life the mother of twelve children and reared them under the most primitive circumstances. Not a one of us ever spent a night in jail or was accused of crime. I remember mother told me when she had a tooth-ache there were not dentists so she went to Sipe Springs and the black-smith pulled her offending tooth. That was a typical experience for those days. But in the face of it all she remained an optimist. A few years before she died she wrote me that one of her ears had almost gone deaf. When I saw her next I asked about the bum ear, and she replied: "O, that is one of the handiest things that ever happened to me. You know I live here where the house is full of children and there is a lot of noise all the time. Well at night I go to bed early and when I want to get to sleep I turn and lie on my good ear and can't hear the noise with the other one, and sleep like a baby." That was typical of her to the end. God bless the memories of those who laid the foundations upon which we are building. I hope to leave something valuable to those who follow me.

Dear friends,

Punctuality is of prime importance in a funeral service. This essential respect is due the deceased. The service should start promptly at the hour set.

We have always had cooperation from the clergy, musicians, and others identified with the service. Families, too, are invariably ready when our cars call.

Promptness helps to provide a respectful, dignified, funeral service.

Respectfully,
Dale O. Bakker
