

Mavs Outplay Ranger But Lose 21 to 14

Fumbles Are Fatal In Grudge Contest

If jinxes do win football games, the Ranger Bulldogs certainly must have had one working Friday night. The completely outclassed Dogs somehow came up with what counts, the biggest score on the scoreboard, 21-14, after taking a good country kicking from the Eastland Mavericks in the final District 7-AA game of the year for both teams.

Only three things kept the game from being a run-away for Coach Carrol Shelton's Mavs. Fumbles, beautiful punting by End Charles Wolford and the good right arm of Quarterback Lee King were the things that saved Ranger.

Ranger was doing good to get back to the line of scrimmage on the ground and King was forced to pass on almost every offensive play. The Mavs even whipped the Dogs in the air, however, when it comes to statistics.

In the first half Ranger got just 19 yards rushing and 25 in the air, but were fortunate enough to be behind just 14-6.

Ranger scored first, with the game just seven minutes old. Eastland had kicked off to the Dogs and Ranger got one yard in three tries. The Dogs booted to the Mav 25 and two plays later Eastland had it on the 35. On first down the muddy pigskin slipped from the fingers of a Mav back and Tackle Jimmy Robinson came up with it for Ranger on the Mav 33.

It took Ranger 12 plays to put it over from there, with the Dogs twice facing fourth and one situation. Jerry Anderson took it over from the nine. In so doing, Anderson crossed the line of scrimmage for the first time during the game. The passing try for the extra point failed and the Dogs were ahead, 6-0.

The Mavs, used to playing on well sodded Mavericks Stadium, had a lot of trouble getting use to the practically bare Bulldog turf. An inch and a half rain Thursday night left the field in poor condition. But the Mavs scored the second time they got the ball. Marching 65 yards, Clint Humphrey passed to End Stanley Reed for the score from five yards out. Humphreys try for the extra points on a pass failed to make it 6-6. The big gainers in the Mav drive were two passes, one from Humphreys to Hollis for 37 yards and the other from Humphrey to Garner for 16 to the seven yard line.

Ranger couldn't move the ball following the issuing kickoff and had to punt. Wolford, with a strong wind to his back, boomed a beauty which rolled 76 yards from his own 12 to the Maverick 12 yard line. Hollis made a fine runback for Eastland, but one second down the muddy pigskin again left the arms of a Mav back and Robinson came up with the ball again for Ranger on the Eastland 45. In four plays the Dogs lost four yards, however, a n d Eastland regained the ball on the 49. Hollis ripped off 23 yards on first down, but Ranger regained the ball on a pass interception on a beautiful 35 yard scamper and Humphreys hit Garner on a 21 yard pass in two of the highlights of the 80 yard TD march. Humphreys passed to Garner from the six for the touchdown, then passed to McElreath for the extra points. McElreath made a great catch on the goalline for the two point tally.

The Mavs kicked off again to Ranger in the third period, but again the Dogs couldn't get 10 yards and had to kick. From the Mav 37, Humphreys got eight yards on first down, McElreath got (Continued On Page Two)

Two Pecan Entries Made

Pecan entries in Eastland County's sixth annual Pecan Show have started coming in, with two entries received at the Ranger Chamber of Commerce office.

First entry in the county was made by Mr. and Mrs. James Ratliff. The second entry, a Burkett variety, was made by E. L. Brummett of Ranger. Both entries were made in one-quart jars.

R. V. "Rip" Galloway, manager of the Chamber of Commerce again urged local and area pecan growers to select their best pecans for the show. He hopes to receive twice the 65 entries made by Ranger in last year's show.

A person with only one pecan tree is eligible to enter the show, Galloway indicated.

Donald Barton Gets Part On Broadway

(Editor's Note: The following article, written by Earl Wilson, appeared recently in The Dallas Morning News.)

NEW YORK—Donald Barton of Ranger and Eastland, Texas, came to New York to act, got sidetracked into dancing and now plays a bear in the new Broadway musical, "Goldilocks."

Though Don is quite pleased with his bear role, he's determined in his next play to portray a human being—one who doesn't dance.

Don, who was born in Ranger—his mother, Mrs. Ida Barton, now lives at 1007 South Bassett in Eastland—started acting at the University of Texas. After a stint in the Navy, he came to New York to study.

He took up dancing just "to help me move better." But pretty soon, Don found himself dancing full-time.

With three girls in his dancing class, Don formed a nightclub act, featuring modern dance. They toured the country for a year.

"We were just getting well-known," he sighed, "when the girls started getting married and pregnant—so we split up."

"Though the nightclub act fizzled, it did make me a more confident performer. Because if you can handle a nightclub audience—you can handle anything, anywhere else."

"For example, whenever we did our Charleston number, some drunk in the audience would invariably get up and start dancing with us. And all we could do was pretend it was fun."

"I wore a raccoon coat for that number. That was my only previous experience in furs. But at least now I've been graduated from raccoon to bear," he laughed.

"In 'Goldilocks' however, my 'fur coat' comes complete with head and paws."

"At first, I was afraid that I'd have claustrophobia with my head and hands encased—but I got used to it."

"It's impossible, though, to stay too long in the bear suit, because it weighs a lot and gets unbearable—no pun intended—hot. Luckily the bear's scenes are short."

"When we opened out of town, I lost 12 pounds in the bear suit. It's like wearing a sweat suit."

"But the role's been a good discipline," he continued. "Since my face is covered, I can only use my body to convey emotion. So I've been studying the great mimes like Charlie Chaplin and Marcel Marceau."

"Sometimes I forget that my face is covered. Like recently, they were taking some photos of me in my bear suit with Elaine Stritch who stars in the show. As (Continued on Page 2)

Over 100 leaders and wives and other interested parents a n d friends are expected to attend, including a good number of local people.

Dr. E. J. Howell, President of Tarleton State College of Stephenville, will be the speaker. Dr. Howell is past President of the eight-county Council and holder of the coveted Silver Beaver Award.

Jack Merrill of Breckenridge, chairman of the district, will preside. This is ladies night. The theme of the annual occasion is in appreciation for Den Mothers, Cubmasters, Scoutmasters and Explorer Advisors who gave leadership to some 1100 boys in 53 Cub Packs, Scout Troops and Explorer Posts which are sponsored by churches, schools, civic clubs and veteran organizations.

The business phase of the meeting will include reports on accomplishments this year and enrollment (Continued on Page Two)

Deer Season Opens Sunday With Good Crop

Eastland County deer hunters are expected to be out in large numbers Sunday, the opening day of white-tailed deer season in Texas. A bountiful crop of deer are reported in the state this year.

Reports coming into headquarters indicate not only a heavy crop of deer, but that they are in excellent condition, according to the director. There will also be plenty of wardens on hand to see that hunters do not take more than their legal limits or kill the wrong kind of deer.

The director warned: Don't hunt on any land unless you have permission from the land owner, and it is better to have it in writing.

Don't shoot at anything unless you see it first and know it to be a legal animal.

Be careful with your guns. When you take them into the camp or car, be sure they are unloaded.

David Fry Will Head Abilene College Drive

David Fry, vice president of Eastland National Bank, has been named chairman of the Eastland campaign among friends of Abilene Christian College as part of a widespread drive to raise $500,000 for the construction of a new classroom building.

The new building will be erected as a south wing to the Hardin Administration Building and will be designed as the Citizenship Center. In appearance, the south wing will match the Bible Building, erected by friends of the College in 1955 as a north wing to the administration building.

The proposed building will serve 727 students at one time and will contain about 20 classrooms, 48 study offices, and a closed-circuit TV system to be used in coordinating work of the Education Department. College officials say the building is a vital need in face of record enrollments the past five years. Current enrollment is 2456.

Curriculum Study Featured at Sixth Annual Classroom Teachers Meeting

Eastland teachers attending the Sixth Annual Classroom Teachers Conference in Austin Saturday were Mrs. Bernice Durham, Mrs. Betty Cooper, Mrs. Ruby Lee Frazer and Mrs. Majorie Young.

The conference featured the Curriculum Commission and their work. The Commission's study is in line with the authorization by the State Board of Education for a review of the curriculum of all Texas schools.

Emphasis in the section on Programs for the Academically Talented Pupil was to first consider the matter of identification of such a pupil. Mrs. Durham reported. She said it was pointed out that the definition of the academically talented pupil is "high potential plus good adjustment equaled academically talented."

Teachers were urged to look for the talented by considering four points: (1.) high IQ, (2.) high achievement scores, (3.) high level of performance, and (4.) enthusiasm for learning.

Teachers attending the conference were told that after identification of the talented pupils, the "important consideration should be, 'What are we doing for them?'" Provisions suggested included: (Continued on Page Two)

MOORE about... EASTLAND by Virgil E. Moore

Been over peaking at the new department store going in where Penney's was, and believe me, Eastland County citizens are in for a surprise. The new store is going to be top grade from all indications.

Also would like to mention Tri-Cities Furniture Co. The new furniture store certainly brightens up the east side of the square and is a welcomed addition.

While on the subject of free advertising, we would like to again mention how nice it is to see Jeanette's Fabric Shop on the Square. Since moving into new and larger quarters, Jeanette's has greatly increased her merchandise. . . and her business, too, we might add.

District 7-AA champions, the Cisco Labees, will meet Granbury for bi-district honors at Brownwood Saturday, Nov. 22 at 8 p.m. Tickets will go on sale in Cisco this week.

The pep rally Friday afternoon was certainly a good indication of how Eastland feels about its Mavericks. We are proud of the way Eastland fans have followed the Mavs this year, and we know the Mavs and the Mav coaching staff appreciates it too. Eastland's athletic program is well rounded and we are thankful of that.

And speaking of well rounded things, it's time for basketball season to start. The Mavs begin work this week, and Eastland will have the strongest team it has fielded in many, many years. We hope Mav fans follow the roundballers just half as well as they did our football team.

With apologies to Tom Wilson, et al, we offer this bit of verse written by a guy by the name of Anon.

We whined and threatened and blustered,
We ranted and wrangled and roared;
We chided and fretted, we scoffed, and we petted,
We snickered and wept and implored;
We groveled and swore and demanded,
We spurned and we fawned and we brayed,
We trampled on data, we tossed ultimatums,
We grumped and we stamped and inveighed;
We whimpered and simpered and shouted,
Pretended, defended and doubted;
We smiled and we jested, reviled and protested,
Debated, orated and scouted;
We fumed and we sneered and we whined,
We flattered, cajoled and maligned,
We knelt and we begged and we begged,
And finally the loan was approved.

See you next time.

Christian Science

How spiritualization of thought brings man enlarged ability and opportunity will be set forth Sunday at Christian Science services in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Mortals and Immortals."

Highlighting the Bible passages to be read is the story in Genesis of Jacob and Esau.

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will be read the following (254:10):

"When we wait patiently on God and seek Truth righteously, He directs our path. Imperfect mortals grasp the ultimate of spiritual perfection slowly; but to begin aright and to continue the strife of demonstrating the great problem of being, is doing much."

The Golden Text is from Romans (8:5): "They that are after the flesh do mind the things of the flesh; but they that are after the Spirit the things of the Spirit."

Mavs—

22 on the second play, Hollis netted 13 on the third play and Billy Don Turner got six on the next try. Then from the Dog 15, facing second and four, the Mavs lost the ball again on a fumble, Tommy Ford got the miscue for Ranger at that point.

Ranger put on their only impressive march following the recovery on the May 14. King gave up on his ground game and went to the air. He used the flat pass to great advantage, completing seven of eight tosses in the drive. The final toss for the tally came on a seven yarder from King to Wolford. King then passed to Anderson to tie up the ball game.

Ranger broke the game wide open the next time they got the ball. Facing second and eight on his own 43, King found Wolford all by himself on the May 20 yard line. The lone mix-up in the May pass defense proved fatal as the brilliant passing King lofted the ball in a perfect arch, Wolford was never in trouble as he raced in for the Bulldog victory.

Eastland marched the ball 50 yards the next time they got the pigskin, but King, playing an outstanding defensive game as well as looking good on offense, intercepted Humphreys pass on the Dog five yard line to kill the drive. Ranger again had to punt, this time to the May 45. On first down a pass from Humphreys to Hollis moved the ball to the Dog 34, and with time running out Humphreys called for the spread. King intercepted a long pass to the Dog two and raced out to the 23. From there Ranger ground out the clock for the win.

In other final games in the district, Cisco slaughtered Coleman and Ballinger downed Winters.

Vivian Simmons Will Receive Recognition

Miss Vivian Simmons, former instructor of Ranger College, will receive special recognition for outstanding service in that field of education at the Texas Lutheran College Homecoming Banquet this evening (Saturday), in Seguin.

Miss Simmons is an ex-student of Texas Lutheran College, finishing her junior college work there. She completed work for her bachelor's degree at Southwestern University, Georgetown, and took her master's degree at the University of Texas.

She was chairman of the business department of Ranger College for five years, resigning in July of this year to accept a position in the business department of the University of Texas.

While in Ranger Miss Simmons was an active participant in community affairs. She served as choir director of the First Methodist Church for two years; and she was a member of the Ranger Branch of the American Association of University Women, the 1920 Club, the 1947 Club, and Beta Sigma Phi.

(1.) the multiple track system, or letting them advance at their own rate of speed; (2.) individual instruction; (3.) acceleration, advance them a grade or two (not usually recommended); and (4.) enrichment—books, community resources, reports, arts, crafts, researching and assistance to slow pupils.

The discussion in the group creativity in the Elementary Arithmetic Programs emphasized better way to develop skills in the areas of numbers and arithmetic, by having the child relate the problem to his own experience.

"When he accepts the problem as his own he will accept the challenge to the skill needed."

It was suggested that more interest be shown in the historic approach to numbers, that teachers teach a better understanding of man-made number system, that more attention be given to creative arithmetic based on intelligent, everyday problems from experience to make arithmetic meaningful.

The group meeting on English, Speech and Journalism emphasized the importance of communication, both oral and written, and how this might be correlated with other learnings in the instruction units. Another point of emphasis was the importance of the teacher's role in providing an articulated program in the language arts and how guidance services are being improved through a state-wide study directed to the English Language Arts.

Christian Science
How spiritualization of thought brings man enlarged ability and opportunity will be set forth Sunday at Christian Science services in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Mortals and Immortals."
Highlighting the Bible passages to be read is the story in Genesis of Jacob and Esau.
From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will be read the following (254:10):
"When we wait patiently on God and seek Truth righteously, He directs our path. Imperfect mortals grasp the ultimate of spiritual perfection slowly; but to begin aright and to continue the strife of demonstrating the great problem of being, is doing much."
The Golden Text is from Romans (8:5): "They that are after the flesh do mind the things of the flesh; but they that are after the Spirit the things of the Spirit."

Civic League-Garden Club Views Array of Yule Season Ideas

A glittering array of Christmas decorations, handmade gifts, centerpieces and favors made by members themselves brighten the Woman's Club Wednesday afternoon when the Civic League and Garden Club met. Mrs. Art Johnson presided over the meeting.

"Made by Loving Hands" was the subject of Mrs. I. C. Heck, who displayed many of the unusual articles her own skillful hands have made.

Her collection of 18 dolls, which she has costumed, was shown on a red net sequin-appliqued Christmas cloth she had made. She explained that she first became interested in this hobby when she dressed several dolls to use on a table centerpiece for a bride's luncheon party.

Also included in her exhibit were hand-decorated purses, place cards, card talleys, a china plate, handmade aprons, flowers, pictures and a spice apple.

Mrs. Heck was introduced by Mrs. Milburn Long, program chairman.

Petitpoint lace made by Mrs. Frank Castleberry was displayed on one wall of the room against a red satin background. Mrs. Castleberry explained that "point" lace making, taught to her by her sister, is almost a lost art, practiced by less than ten women in the United States.

An arrangement of the blue ribbon winning Chrysanthemums of Mrs. Allen Dabney and her dried arrangement, also a ribbon winner, decorated display tables.

A pink net Christmas tree was displayed by Mrs. A. W. Cartledge; a handmade and decorated candle by Mrs. Bill Hoffmann; a table cloth by Mrs. W. Q. Verner. Another sequin appliqued Christmas cloth was by Mrs. C. G. Stubbfield.

Portraits painted by Mrs. Clyde Young of the J. D. Earley children hung over one of the display tables. Mrs. Earley herself displayed hand-decorated plates.

A toy monkey, a gift idea, was made by Mrs. Wilbur Laney; a decorated white felt Santa stocking by Mrs. E. O. Everett.

A stylized Christmas pot plant, made of orchid metallic paper, strings of gold tinsel bells and a Christmas tree skirt were shown by Mrs. Art Johnson.

Luncheon cloths were displayed by Mrs. E. W. Kaulfus and Mrs. Pean Robinson. Mrs. Robinson also showed party aprons.

Mrs. Victor Cornelius and Mrs. Myrtle Anderson were co-chairman for the tea hour. Other hostesses were Mmes. Johnnie Aaron, J. H. Rushing, D. L. Houle and E. O. Everett.

A pink silk damask cloth, hand-painted with pastel morning glories, covered the refreshment table. It was centered with a gold and pink arrangement.

Mrs. Anderson poured coffee from the silver service. Other appointments were of silver.

During the business session, the club voted to share in the expenses for the permanent repair of the Woman's Club as presented by Mrs. Milton Fullen, club house board member.

Luncheon Is Held By CWF Rachel Group Wed.

Members of the Rachel Group of the Christian Women's Fellowship met in the church annex for a covered dish luncheon Wednesday.

Preceding the luncheon, Mrs. Bill Collings rendered a devotional entitled "On and Off" which dealt with a "convenient religion."

Mrs. Ray Pool, program speaker, gave a very interesting talk on "Baptism" regarding the beliefs, problems and formalities of baptism.

Those attending were Mmes. Kerman Bond, Bill Collings, J. W. Eidson, Ray Pool, Bernard Hanna, B. D. Perkins, Ray Heckendorn and Jack Chamberlain Sr.
