The Farmers are Leaving The Farm

In 1952 a farmer could sell ten bales of cotton and buy a one-half ton pickup truck. Today it takes the sale of 15 bales of cotton to buy the same truck.

To be plain about the matter the present Republican Farm Policy is driving the family-size farmer off the farm and in many cases on relief.

We are hard hit now, but four more years un der the Republicans would bring about a more drastic situation than ever before.
