Dinner-In-A-Dish

Nutritionally, dinner is usually the biggest meal of the day. But from the cook's point of view, it should be easy to prepare as well as good to eat. For quick and easy dinners, evaporated milk is a real genie-in-a-can. Always dependable, it can be stored on a pantry shelf with no fear of spoilage. Its smooth, blendable texture makes this Tuna-Fetti Casserole an immediate success. And it takes only thirty minutes to prepare.

Tuna-Fetti Casserole
2 cans (6 1/2 or 7 ounces each) tuna
1 medium onion, sliced
1 tablespoon flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 cup evaporated milk
1 can (1 pound) cut green beans
1 1/2 cups packaged precooked rice
1 can (4 ounces) pimiento, diced

Drain oil from tuna into 10-inch skillet. Add onion and cook until crisp tender. Blend in flour, salt and pepper. Add evaporated milk and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and comes to a boil. Drain liquid from beans; reserve 1/2 cup. Add beans and tuna to skillet. Push mixture to sides of pan. Place rice in center. Pour reserved bean liquid over rice. Add pimiento and stir gently. Cover. Bake in a moderate oven (375° F.) 15 minutes. Fluff rice with fork before serving. Yield: 4 servings.

BOOK FAIR IS WELL ATTENDED HERE SUNDAY

The Book Fair was well attended Sunday afternoon by many Eastland book lovers, announced Mrs. Ronald Burton, president of the Thursday Club. The Abilene Book Company brought hundreds of beautiful books which were attractively arranged throughout the Club house, amidst colorful posters and fall flowers.

Coffee and cookies were served to the patrons from the refreshment table which was centered with yellow chrysanthemums before a poster background of a little train load of books "to Storybook Land". Mrs. C. C. Collings, chairman of the Library Committee alternated at the silver coffee service with other members of the Library Committee; Mrs. I. C. Inzer, Mrs. W. D. R. Owen, Mrs. Turner Collie and Mrs. A. E. Cushman, librarian.

Many books were purchased; some as personal gifts, many for Christmas gifts, and several for the Library.

Wm. DuBois of the Abilene Book Company said he was glad to bring books again to Eastland for the Fair as the response was always good.

New books in the Library acquired from the Book Fair: "Little House on the Prairie", Laura Ingalls Wilder. "The Long Winter", Wilder. "These Happy Golden Years," Wilder. "All About Radio and Television," Gould. "For Adults: "Goodbye to a River", Graves. "Religious Themes in Flower Arrangement", Mullins. Other recent books: "Exodus", Uris. "Act One", Hart. "The Dean's Watch", Goudge. "The Listener", Caldwell. "I Swear and Vow", Olivier. "The Doctor's Bride", Siefert. "The Green-Eyed Monster", Quentin.

Hints On Late Winter Pastures Are Given

Unusual weather in some areas of Texas has delayed winter pasture planting. For early grazing, most winter temporary pastures should have already been planted, but George McBee, extension pasture specialist, says that late pastures can be profitable if they are managed properly.

The two most important factors to consider when planting late pastures are fertilization and seed treatment, McBee continues. Fertilization helps plants get off to a faster start, and this gives them a chance to become better established before cold weather sets in. Another important contribution of fertilization is the increased yields. Seed treatment for late planted pastures is like insurance—you may not need it, but you can't afford to do without it. Treatment is necessary because some seedling diseases may be worse for late planted small grains. McBee recommends using a mercury containing fungicide to treat the seed.

In some cases, the specialist continues, sod seeding may be advantageous. When an operator doesn't have enough land to allow planting the needed amount of winter pasture, or when winter pastures on prepared seedbed are too wet to graze for long periods, sod seeding is beneficial. If an operator decides to use sod seeding, he should delay seeding until the grasses are dormant, and he should apply plenty of fertilizer.

Winter pastures, early or late, are the only dependable sources of green grazing. There is no substitute for temporary winter pas-

Wheat Outlook For 1961 Crop Is Outlined

The domestic supply of wheat for the marketing year July 1, 1960 to June 30, 1961 is estimated to be about 2,682 million bushels, another record, says John McHaney, extension agricultural economist. This large supply is the result of a carryover on July 1, 1960 of 1,313 million bushels, and a 1960 crop estimated to be about 1,362 million bushels. Added to this will be about 7 million bushels of imports.

Domestic disappearance in the present marketing year 1960-61 will probably be about 610 million bushels, about the same as in 1959-60, McHaney continues. The expected slight decline in per capita consumption will be offset by the population increase, however. Seed and feed use of wheat will be about the same as last year.

Exports during the present marketing year will probably be higher than in 1959-60. About 525 million bushels will be exported as compared to 508 million exported last year. Government export programs, which will account for about two-thirds of the exports, will continue to play a major role in the movement of wheat abroad, the specialist points out. Less favorable crop conditions in Europe, however, will also aid U. S. exports.

The 1959-60 price to U. S. farmers averaged $1.76, about 5c above the average support rate after allowing for storage charges. The price in 1960-61 is expected to gain average above the effect support, storage deducted. This is mainly because large quantities of wheat continue to be placed under the price support program, explains McHaney. The support rate for the 1960 crop is $1.78 as compared to $1.81 for a year earlier.

With minimum allotments in effect for 1961, it is estimated that about 53 million acres will be harvested. If average yields are obtained, a crop of about 1,235 million bushels would be produced, the economist continues. A 1961 crop of this size would be about 9 percent below the 1,362 million indicated for 1960, but 11 percent above the 1950-average. Assuming that domestic disappearance and exports are the same as that estimated for 1960-61, the carryover on July 1, 1962 may be increased about 100 million bushels. The minimum national average support price for the 1961 crop wheat is $1.78 per bushel, the same as the 1960 average support price, McHaney concludes.

Rainwear Offers Study In Smart Contrasts

Rainwear is a study in contrasts this season, coats are big and short, bold and subdued, worn inside and out.

Yes, big, silhouettes are news in rain and all-weather coats. Not only is the body wide, but sleeves are roomy, collars generous, pockets giant.

There's also an important alternate silhouette, the semi-fitted princess style.

Short coats, in seven-eighths and tunic lengths, will be seen in profusion. Other "shorties" are the eskimo-styled coats, "goal" coats and draw-string waistline coats.

Bold are the blanket plaids that often appear in reversible coats. The other half of the story is most often twill, duck or wide wall corduroy.

Subdued are colors and prints. Black olive is the outstanding new hue arrival, prints are medallion, stripe-effect floral or paisley.

In fabrics, jersey assures new fashion stature by way of laminated synthetic foam backings which give qualities of crease resistance and warmth.

Last, but wonderfully new and exciting, is the appearance of capes on the rainwear scene. They will range from the "Sherlock" to a coat with an oversized collar.

Those Famous Last Words—

... of the family who turned and slowly walk away after watching helplessly their home go up in a cloud of smoke are almost sure to be "we didn't have enough insurance." It's a tragic situation but not as bad as the family under similar circumstances who had no insurance at all. After the fire sirens sound it's too late to discuss insurance with your agent. But now is the time while you have time. Tomorrow, you may have nothing to insure.
