Alumni Association Sets Planning Meet

Officers and directors of the Eastland High School and Homecoming Association will meet in a planning session in the high school building in Eastland June 14 at 2 p.m. Jim Golden, association president, announced today.

MOORE about... EASTLAND

Our scouts have come up with a report on some police work that may well be the truth. The report we get, and it doesn't come from City Hall, is that local police get a call the other night to check on a window peeper. It seems the peeper made the mistake of making a cigar too close to an air conditioner. The cooler naturally pulled the cigar smoke into the room, and the folks inside naturally looked out to see who was doing the smoking.

What they saw prompted them to call the police. The city officers arrived in time to spot the culprit and give chase. The poor window peeper unfortunately ran over and broke a plastic hose which was connected to a nearby neighbor's air conditioner. The nearby neighbor heard the noise and rushed outside to see what was going on. The window peeper was just rounding the next house and as the neighbor stepped out the door the oncoming police grabbed him by both arms, thinking he was the prowler. By the time they found out their mistake, the window peeper had raced away.

Now like we said, this may well be the truth, and then again it may not. Some of our most reliable sources aren't very reliable.

Blair Lewis is mad at us and says he is going to cancel his subscription to the Telegram. "I made you guys and I can break you," says he. Blair's anger stems from the fact he submitted a "story" he wanted us to print. The story was a little rich for our blood and we mixed the idea. It is good reading, but our libel insurance wouldn't quite cover it.

The group will take up plans for the 1960 Eastland homecoming, which will be the biggest ever held. The 1957 Homecoming was greater than anyone expected but the next one will be even bigger," Golden said. "Some of our people were skeptic about the last homecoming and didn't show up, but after hearing what a grand time they missed, they'll be here the next time," he said.

"In 1957 we had to do the best we could at times," but this time we have had the experience of one event behind us," he added.

The next meeting is called for the purpose of discussing ways and means of the forthcoming event and setting up committees to do all the actual work that will have to be done.

Officers of the association besides Golden are Gene Harrison, of Dallas, vice president. Harrison is the only member of the official staff who doesn't reside in Eastland at the present time. Norma Frances Vickers is secretary of the association and Russell Hill is treasurer. Joe Gray is public relations chairman for association activities.

Golden urges all ex-students of Eastland High to come to the June 14 meeting as there will be some rather important things to discuss and plan at that time. The date of the Homecoming has been established by the association bylaws as a certain week in June of those years divisible by five, which in the next case would be 1960.

"But a lot of California would like for us to move the date to a week later as their schools weren't out the last time we held a homecoming. This will take a two-thirds vote of those present and voting," Golden said, "and this probably will come up at the next meeting."

"A thing as large as the Eastland Homecoming just doesn't happen by itself. It takes a lot of planning and a lot of hard work," Golden continued, and it is at these meetings that we do the planning.

"Mr. and Mrs. Terrell Coleman ran the first Homecoming from their home in Waco. They did a magnificent job and we Eastland people want to do as well as they did. That'll take a bit of do-

Summer Driver Education Course To be Offered

All students who will be enrolled in Eastland High School next September, including 8th grade students who graduated from Junior High this spring, will be eligible to take driver education this summer.

A tuition fee of $25 will be charged for the course, which will carry a one-half credit. Students must be at least 14 years of age.

Deadline for payment of the tuition fee at the business office in the high school will be Friday, June 5.

Carroll Shelton will teach the course.

Helen Taylor Is Graduate of Baylor University

Baylor University conferred degrees on 700 graduates in commencement exercises Friday at the close of the university's 114th annual session.

The exercises were at the Heart of Texas Coliseum at 10 a.m. Miss Helen Taylor was among the graduates.

Dr. William Richardson White, president of Baylor University for the past 11 years, delivered the commencement address.

Baccalaureate services were held Thursday evening, May 28, in Seventh and James Baptist Church with Dr. Baker James Cauten, executive secretary of the Foreign Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention, as speaker.

'Y' Registration For Summer Camp Slated Wednesday

Boys and girls planning to attend YMCA summer day camp in Eastland will register Wednesday.

Mrs. Milton Day said registration would be made at her house, 515 South Daugherty. Registration for tennis will also be made. Forty-five youths have already signed up for the first session.

New Chief Operator Named In Eastland

Two Eastland telephone operators have received promotions, Fred Nevius, District Traffic Superintendent for the company announced.

Mrs. Laura Lou Trammell has been appointed Chief Operator at Eastland, and Mrs. Tommy Dee Chrisman was named night chief operator for Southwestern Bell Telephone Company.

Mrs. Trammell replaces Mrs. Donna Mae Anderson who has been transferred to Denison where she will assume the duties as chief operator there. Mrs. Chrisman replaced Mrs. Trammell as night chief operator.

Mrs. Trammell began her telephone career as a student operator at Ranger in 1928. She later transferred to Eastland where she served as a senior operator until her appointment as night chief operator in 1947. Mrs. Trammell was serving as night chief operator at the time she was promoted to chief operator here. Mrs. Chrisman started her tele-

Gray Matter

By Joe Gray

The school kids now graduating from high school and college are now busy having their commencement exercises. Although commencement marks the end of school for the graduate, the ceremony is well named. It marks the beginning of a new life, and for the young graduate it actually means the beginning of real living, down to earth responsible living on one's own earnings.

Living off Mom and Dad was pleasant while it lasted, but for most graduates this will be the end of that little gray train.

Commencement begins the real age of responsibility. Although times have changed considerably since a good number of us graduated from the sainted halls of EHS, all of us who graduated from the wonderful and well-loved institution have one thing in common. We never left dear old EHS without a feeling of regret in our hearts and a pain of anxiety for the future in our souls.

It's just human nature for people to want to avoid change if it is possible to do so. That's the reason most of us are all heart mossa-back and conservative. We don't want to exchange what we have and what we are sure of for something we aren't sure of and about which we have some doubts as to its being as good as something different.

That's the fundamental reason why well-fixed and past-middle-age people are politically, as a rule, conservative, while most of the political radicals and wild-eyed dreamers are usually younger than their conservative counterparts and not as well-off financially as they are. The radicals don't have as much at stake in society under their present rules as the conservatives, so they are in favor of a change. Many of them would be in favor of any change, as none would hurt them much.

So, in a way it is with youngsters today graduating from high school. They know what life was in high school and they're not sure what it holds for them in the future. All of them hope that it will hold good fortunes for them, but the law of averages says that some of them will prosper, some of them won't prosper, some of them will do well, and some of them won't do well, and some of them who didn't go to Eastland High School will probably wind up some time or other getting mail at Huntsville, and I don't mean attending the college there either.

I doubt if there ever has been a time when the young people graduated into a land of opportunity than those of today are graduating into. But it is going to take a lot of training for young people to realize on the wonderful opportunity of today's age. It takes skilled people in this world we now live in to do the things that must be done for the betterment of humanity and it takes a lot more than one can get in the way of an education to do the things that need to be done than one can get in high school. A few years ago a high school education was about all that was needed of most individuals unless one expected to enter the professional world. But even that has now changed.

The depression put so many people on the unemployed lists that one almost had to have a college education to get any kind of a job then, and many highly skilled people found themselves out of work for no reason of their own.

The labor market is a highly competitive market and it is getting to where young people need more and more training to compete in that competitive market.

Today every young man and young woman graduating from high school should do everything lawful within his or her power to get to college. A college education opens some doors to youngsters that would never be opened without it. It affords some measure of accomplishment, which might or might not be actually deserved, that one can't get without that education today.

A few years ago an ambitious young fellow could, for example, study law at home or in a lawyer's office while, take the bar examination, and upon passing start in practice. Although it is still technically possible to study law in a lawyer's office and sit for the bar examination, it is almost impossible to do so, and if one can spend the time required for the bar examination studying in an office under the strict regulations

Seniors Goal: Making Life, Hollis Declares

"We have learned that our ultimate goal is making a life, not just a living."

Those were the words of Larry Hollis, Eastland High School valedictorian, last night at the 1959 E.H.S. commencement exercises in the High School auditorium.

Hollis' comments were a reflection of "things we learned" at Eastland High School. Miss Julia Inzer, salutatorian, thanked the seniors' parents, friends, relatives, school board members and faculty for their help. She declared that her classmates realize that "... this is not the end, simply the beginning."

Baccalaureate services were held Sunday night with Rev. Harvey Kimbler, pastor of the First Baptist Church, as speaker.

Charles Marshall, principal, announced that the Senior Class had purchased a public address system for the auditorium as their parting gift.

Special awards were presented by Marshall. Scholarships went to Hollis and Miss Inzer. The Thursday Afternoon Study Club Silver Thimble award, presented to the outstanding home demonstration club girl each year, went to Barbara McCullough.

Oran Rhodes received the DAR award for outstanding work in American history and the DAR citizenship award went to Rebecca Graham. Linda Huckabay was named to receive a trip to Girls State. Expenses will be paid by the American Legion Auxiliary. Clint Humphrey was presented with a Lone Star Future Farmers degree.

M. H. Perry, school board president, presented diplomas to Janie Arther, Knicky Arther, Jackie Baggett, Nancy Beck, Jean Burrow, Linnett Capers, Charles Charney, Wallace Cherry, Judy Cockerill, Janice Crabtree, Denny Dukes, Dixie Durham, Charlene Finley, Johnny Graham, Rebecca Graham, Billy Hallmark, Jerry Hallmark, Laura Harris, Larry Hollis, Sarah Honea, Don Hull, Clinton Humph-

JUDGE CLYDE GRISSOM ... just call him governor

Korean Attacks Communism In Eastland Talk

A native of a country which has felt some of Communist Russia's "peaceful ways" first hand was guest speaker at the Eastland Rotary Club Monday.

Dr. Sherwood Lynn, Abilene physician and a native of Korea, spoke to the club after requesting time to offer rebuttal testimony to Z. S. Alshinov, Russian trade attache in Washington, D. C.

The Korean, who came to this country when 16, completed his high school work, then worked his way through medical school. He said he did not think that would have been possible in Soviet Russia.

He praised Democracy and attacked Russia's rule as a dictatorship.

Judge Grissom Could Be Texas' Governor

Eastland County citizens will soon have something new to be proud of. They will live in the same county with a potential successor to the office of governor.

Clyde Grissom, chief justice of the 11th District Court of Civil Appeals in Eastland is now a potential successor to the top state post. A new law, passed by the 56th Legislature and signed by Gov. Price Daniel, becomes effective Aug. 12. It extends by 13 the number of persons who can legally succeed the governor without a special election. Most of the 13 live outside Austin.

The purpose is to assure the state a chief executive in case of calamitous occurrence, such as atomic attack.

Previously the only legally designated successors to the governor were the lieutenant governor and president pro tempore of the Senate. Added to those now are the speaker of the House, the attorney general, and the chief justices of the 11 courts of civil appeals in their numerical order.

"Enactment of this law is a significant milestone in Texas' survival preparedness program," said James H. Garner, acting state coordinator of civil defense and disaster relief. "Continuity of government at all levels is basic to civil defense, and the short line of succession to the governorship here has been a matter of serious concern."

The civil appeals judges represent an extra safety margin since they are scattered geographically over the state. Their courts are located at Galveston, Fort Worth, Austin, San Antonio, Dallas, Texarkana, Amarillo, El Paso, Waco and Eastland.

Senator Culp Krueger of El Campo, a long-time proponent of civil defense, introduced the measure, and Senator George Moffett of Chillicothe was co-author. Representative Stanley Boyesen of Yoakum was House sponsor.

Manager of the hotel will be Mrs. Curry Robinson, former manager of the Tulsa, Okla. country club.

Connelllee Hotel Is Sold to Don Pierson

Thirty-one years ago this week the Connellee Hotel was making banner headlines in the Eastland Telegram. The eight story building had just been completed and a big grand opening was held. This week the hotel is again making news with the announcement that the building has been purchased by a local investment co.

Don Pierson, president of Grey Investment Co., announced his firm has purchased the 94 room hotel from Mr. and Mrs. John Britt of Fort Worth. Pierson also announced plans for a complete renovation.

Pierson also revealed that the hotel would soon be known as Village Hotel. It was originally named for C. U. Connellee, who donated the land for the building. Connellee was the first official guest in the hotel which stands on the land where he built his first home, a log cabin, in Eastland.

Pierson plans to redecorate the roof garden, all rooms and halls. Suites to accommodate businessmen for sales meetings will also be a new feature of the hotel.

Work on sandblasting the bricks on the lower floor of the hotel was due to begin this morning. Modern lighting will be placed at the hotel entrance and a large sign will be erected soon.

Funeral services were held Sunday at 3 p.m. for Mrs. S. W. Altman, 86, mother of Mrs. Floyd Robertson of Eastland.

Services were held at Wyle's Funeral Home chapel in Cisco with the Rev. Ray N. Johnson, pastor of Aldersgate Methodist Church in Abilene and the Rev. Wallace N. Dunson, pastor of the Cisco First Methodist Church officiating.

Mrs. Altman had been in seriously ill health since Dec. 8. She was born Jan. 9, 1873, near Whitesboro, and married S. W. Altman at Basin Springs Dec. 27, 1895. The couple moved to Lorraine in 1906, then moved to Arlington and later Abilene before making their home in Cisco in 1932.

Mr. Altman died in 1950 after opening stores in Eastland, Cisco and Abilene. Mrs. Robertson manages the Eastland store.

Survivors, in addition to Mrs. Robertson, are two daughters, Mrs. J. M. Terry of Cisco and Mrs. Wanda Altman of Wichita Falls; two sons, F. B. and Mason of Abilene; three grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Burial was in Oakwood Cemetery in Cisco.

laid down by the State Bar, the student might as well be studying in some recognized college or university.

Almost all the other professions are the same way. A man trying to enter one of them without a college background is going to bat with two strikes against him to start with. Why not go to bat with all three like everyone else if one is going to play the game?

Life is a hard struggle and one ought to make every opportunity possible work for him instead of working against him.

I once knew a newspaperman who had only about a third-grade education. He was one of the best sports writers in the business and he never took a course in Journalism, or any other college subject for that matter, but he wouldn't allow anyone that didn't have a college education to work for him.

That sounds a little hard-hearted to me. By his own standard of accomplishment he couldn't have qualified for the job of copy-boy on his own staff but that's the way the wind blows these days.

Some people said the public education of the masses was a mistake. There used to be a newspaperman in the Rio Grande Valley who didn't think the common people should be allowed to read and write. He wanted education reserved for the "best breed" people, in other words, he wanted to reserve education for the aristocrats of this earth. So he would abolish public free education and make school tuition so high the poor couldn't afford it.

I personally think such an approach is wrong. Even the Russian communists decided early in their regime in Russia that the best thing they could do was to educate the people. I understand that they have almost erased illiteracy in the 40 or so years they've been in power over there. They realize that in order to do the things they must do to make of their land they've got to have an educated people to accomplish their aims and purposes. But in the end they will destroy themselves.

It's impossible to fool all of the people all of the time, and that old axiom holds true today just as it did the day it was written. And if the common people in Russia, or any other land for that matter, become an educated people, tyranny can't last long.

As soon as you get the common people educated, some of them will turn out to be creative thinkers, and as soon as people get to thinking, they are going to figure out that a tyrant is a fake and a fraud and they will think of some way to overthrow the tyrant.

Education and democracy walk hand in hand down the pathway of time and progress.

FFA Convention Set In Austin

AUSTIN — A featured speaker of the Texas Future Farmer Convention in Austin, July 15-17 of this year, will be the president of the national organization, Adin Hester from Aurora, Oregon.
About 5000 Texas Future Farmers are expected at the convention, according to George Hart, Director of Agricultural Education for the Texas Education Agency. Almost one thousand voting delegates — one from each of the State's Future Farmer Chapters — will conduct the business of the convention.
Austin civic leaders are busy preparing a program attending to the many details necessary to a successful convention, according to Lewis Bracy, general chairman for the Austin group. "Texas FFA delegates will remember their visit to Austin", Bracy promises. State FFA President, Bill McDowell of Whitehall, will preside at the meeting and will be assisted by nine vice presidents representing every section of the state.

The visiting national officer was elected president of the national organization last October. He has served as President of the Oregon FFA and has been outstanding in public speaking and soil conservation.
Adin now farms with his father and three brothers on a 240-acre dairy. He will resume studies in agriculture at Oregon State College when his year as a national FFA officer is completed.

Mrs. J. Campbell Hosts Final Martin Meeting

The Martin Circle of the W.S.C.S. held its final meeting of the year with Mrs. James Campbell as hostess and Mmes. Harrell and Johnson as co-hostesses. Mrs. Martin, acting chairman, presided over the meeting and gave the devotion. The devotion was the 13 chapter of Corinthians. During the meeting it was announced that new circles would be formed at a future date for next year's meetings. Mrs. Martin was presented a gift of appreciation by the members of the circle. Mrs. Williams was welcomed as a new member of the circle, having only recently moved into town. Refreshments of cake squares and frosted punch were served to Mmes. Heck, Mickle, Johnson, Quinn, White, Williams, Martin, Smith, Alexander, Bulger, Welsh, Perdue and Titworth by the hostesses Mmes. Campbell, Harrell and Johnson.

Ellajoy Walker Is Honored At An Olden Shower

Miss Ellajoy Walker, bride elect of Bill Holladay, was honored with a bridal shower in the homelike cottage in Olden from 7:30 to 9:00 p.m. Friday, May 29. Refreshments of punch and white cake decorated with blue trimmings were served to attending guests. The refreshment table was presided over by Tommie June Sharp and Charlene Rogers. Blue and white marconi daisies centered the refreshment table and was complimented by appointments of crystal and silver. White shasta daisies centered the registration table over which Mrs. Joe McKelvin presided. Miss Walker, her mother, Mrs. Holladay and Mrs. E. H. Everett received the guests as they entered. Hostesses for the shower were Mmes. Joe McKelvin, Carey Hightower, John Yielding, I. B. Walker, J. D. McCloud and E. H. Everett.

Gaila L. Walters Is Honoree At Graduation Party

Miss Gaila Walters was honored at the lakeside cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Bill J. Collings on Lake Leon Friday afternoon with a boating, skiing and swimming party. Miss Walters is one of the 1959 Eastland High School graduates. Barbecued hamburgers, lemonade, cokes, relishes and strawberry short cake topped with ice cream was served following the afternoon of water sports. Those attending were Misses Gaila Walters, honoree, Yvonne Green, Nancy Beck, Julia Inzer, Rebecca Graham, Kim Collings and Messrs. Knicky Arthur, Clinton Humphreys, P. A. Cox, Larry Hollis, Charles Cheaney, the honoree's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Walters Jr. and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Collings. Brenda F. Butler Wins Scholarship To Hardin Simmons

Miss Brenda Fay Butler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Butler of Midland and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Warren, Sr. of Eastland has been awarded the W. F. Lackey scholarship to Hardin Simmons University in Abilene. The scholarship is given in memory of the late W. W. Lackey, former Midland school superintendent, and is worth $100 per semester. If the grade requirements are maintained it will cover the entire eight semesters in school. Miss Butler graduated from a class of 450 in Midland and plans to major in religious education at the Abilene university.

N-A-T-O

4 letters that spell peace

What is NATO? It stands for North Atlantic Treaty Organization, an alliance of 15 free nations, including the United States, which have banded together to protect themselves against aggression. These nations are Belgium, Canada, Denmark, France, Germany, Greece, Iceland, Italy, Luxembourg, Netherlands, Norway, Portugal, Turkey, the United Kingdom and the United States.

What is its purpose? Primarily, NATO is a military alliance, but its great purpose is peace, not war. The 15 members of NATO have pledged that they will regard an attack upon any one of them as an attack upon all. They have also pledged to work together politically and to increase their ability to defend themselves by self-help and mutual aid.

How does NATO function? Each of the 15 member nations is represented in important discussions held regularly. Their main function is to defend a line which stretches from the Aleutians to the Middle East. A line which is manned by Greek patrol boats, Norwegian ski troops, French engineers, Canadian jet pilots—strength to which every NATO country contributes.

What has it accomplished? Before NATO Russia had seized country after country—enslaved 90 million people. The Soviets threatened to engulf the whole of Europe... ultimately to dominate the world. Since NATO not an inch of territory has been lost in the Atlantic area. And by sharing our obligations this 10-year watch has cost us less than a few months of the cost of World War II.

What is its future? So long as there remains a threat to liberty, NATO has a job to do. Slowly a strong shield of freedom has emerged. Secure behind this shield, the peoples of the Atlantic community are working together toward greater political, economic and social well-being.

NATO needs your support

New challenges face NATO every day. It can meet them and grow even stronger... but only if all NATO nations continue to work together in that spirit of co-operation that first made NATO possible. NATO deserves your support to this end. For the full story on NATO write for the free booklet. Write: NATO Information Box 88, New York 21, N.Y.

VALUE-RATE the ROCKET

The man who knows value goes Olds!

More and more medium-price car buyers who want the most for their money are joining the swing to Olds.

Why? Because they figure up all the extra quality features and conveniences Olds has as standard equipment. They carefully consider the economy of the Rocket Engine... its low-cost maintenance of an Olds... its higher resale value. But most of all they ask themselves,

"Is this the kind of car my family and I will be proud to own... one that will give us the full measure of fun and comfort we want... is this the car whose style will stay in style?"

The overwhelming "yes" can be found in the zooming sales success of the '59 Oldsmobile. See your Oldsmobile dealer today Value-Rate the Rocket!

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

By BOYCE HOUSE

O Henry, most beloved of American short story writers, was not a native of Texas, but he owed much to the State. Some forty of his stories are about Texas, practically all of those in "Hearts of the West" and some in "Options", "Roads of Destiny", "Sixes and Sevens", "Whirligigs" and "Rolling Stones". And among these are some of his finest.

Texas is second only to New York City as his inspiration; and Texas came first. By the time that "Bagdad-on-the-Subway" came into his life, he was already the master craftsman and his story-telling magic had been demonstrated.

William Sidney Porter was born on Sept. 11, 1862 in Greensboro,

N. C. Dr. James K. Hall knew him when young Will worked in an uncle's drug store in Greensboro, N. C. The doctor had two sons who had settled in Texas and when he and Mrs. Hall were going to visit them, an invitation was extended to the drug clerk, whose health was not good, to accompany them.

The trip was made in March, 1882 to the Dall Brothers ranch which the Hall brothers were operating. The ranch was located in La Salle County; the postoffice was Fort Ewell, 14 miles away.

When Dr. and Mrs. Hall returned to North Carolina, Will Porter stayed behind. This had been their hope in extending him the invitation as they believed the pure air and life in the open would build up the youth's health. Porter was then 19 and he remained on the ranch for two years.

One of the brothers was Richard M. Hall, who later became Land Commissioner of Texas and employed Porter as a drafting clerk. The other brother was Lee Hall, who had been a famed Texas Ranger.

"Bravest of the brave", said Major General Jesse M. Lee in speaking of "Red" Hall. Of him, Edward King said, "He moved about tranquilly every day in a community where doubtless a hundred men who would have been delighted to shed his blood."

Ranger Captain Hall had led his men in the last battle against the Comanches. At the head of a company of 30, he patrolled from the mouth of the Rio Grande to the head of the Neeces. "He did more", according to John G. Elgin, "to rid Texas of desperadoes than any other officer Texas ever had. He has made more bad men lay down their guns and delivered more outlaws and desperadoes into custody than any other officer in Texas."

Hall retired from the Ranger force in 1882 to become agent and general manager for Dall Brothers. From him, the young visitor learned much of the lore of bad men and officers. Nor were all the thrills in the past for Red Hall harbored resentment by fencing the ranch; a fence-cutting war resulted and at about this time he was receiving warnings in the form of crude sketches, usually effigies with a rope about the neck.

Will Porter lived in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Hall. She described him as having "a charming manner but shy." Another description depicts him as "a young silent fellow, with deep, brooding blue eyes, cynical for his years with a peculiar little hiss instead of a laugh." Mrs. Hall said that he wrote Western stories but at one destroyed them. His urge to write also took the form of long, whimsical letters. He studied the dictionary a great deal in order to acquire new words and to learn exact shades of meaning.

In six months, a chronicler says, Porter had developed into a regular bronxbuster, was able to shoot from the saddle, rope cattle, dip

AS IT LOOKS FROM HERE

WASHINGTON, D. C.—There is a growing menace of mail order obscenity. The sale of obscene literature and photographs by mail has now reached sales estimated at more than half a billion dollars a year.

The Postmaster General has emphasized that the absolute privacy of the mail is a basic American right. The Post Office does not and should not violate this right unless it is being used for unlawful purpose. For the Post Office Department to reach this problem and prosecute offenders, they must rely on the complaints of an alert citizenry.

Until August of 1958 an additional handicap was on the Post Office Department. Obscenity laws had shackled the Government by permitting it to prosecute only at the point of origin of the mail. This meant that court actions occurred mostly in New York and Los Angeles, but could not be prosecuted in the community where the offense was difficult to prove by witnesses, and second, the standards of morality and decency are usually different in the place where filth is received than from the cities where it is mailed.

In 1958 an amendment was enacted into law, which permits the Post Office Department to prosecute violations where the obscene material is received, as well as where it was mailed. During the past year 14,000 separate investigations have been completed. About two-thirds of the investigations were based on complaints from American parents whose and shear sheep. He rode to Fort Ewell for the mail. Several times he drove the grub-wagon the 40 miles into Cotulla for supplies, of course — (John K. Beretta, then a merchant there, remembered him) — and he slept in the old Burke Hotel (which still stands and is known as the La Salle).

Joe Dixon of Austin had been persuaded to write a book, "Carbonate Days", an account of his experience as a prospector in Colorado. Learning of Porter's ability as an artist, he went to the ranch to get the young man to illustrate the book. Porter drew 40 illustrations. Back in Austin, however, Dixon re-examined the book, and decided it wasn't good enough, so he threw the manuscript into the Colorado River.

children receive lewd and obscene materials through the mails. A child need not have indicated any interest in this trash to receive it. The peddlers of filth openly solicit young people whose names they can obtain by various methods. They have all sorts of schemes, such as an advertisement to purchase some innocent item such as a baseball bat, a doll or an air rifle. They receive the child's name and they are then on the mailing list.

In a recent raid by Postal Inspectors in New York City, one dealer in pornography had 17 tons of highly obscene printed and filmed material for mailing, and lists containing the names of thousands of school students, culled out of high school yearbooks.

The Post Office Department estimated that between 700,000 and a million children in American homes will receive unsolicited obscene and pornographic literature through the mails this year.

Undoubtedly the defiant peddlers of obscenity are contributing to the alarming increase in juvenile delinquency.

From investigations of armed robbery, extortion, embezzlement and forgery, authorities find that those guilty were early collectors of obscene pictures and films.

The post office department is urging an intense effort to stop this monstrous practice on the Nation's children. To achieve the greatest possible cooperation, those responsible for the enforcement announce a four-fold program which is:

1. Drawing maximum public attention to the menace of this racket;

2. Urging parents to help apprehend the mailers of filth to their children;

3. Helping mobilize community support behind adequate law enforcement of local ordinances of state laws;

4. Rallying public opinion behind new and stiffer legislation on obscenity.

Parents into whose homes obscene material is mailed are urged to save all materials received, including the envelope and all enclosures, and to report the matter immediately to the local Postmaster.

Services Set For R. R. Browning

R. R. Browning of Crane, a former Ranger resident, died in Crane, Sunday morning, in the home of a daughter, Mrs. Bill Slater. He was 90.

Funeral services will be held in the First Baptist Church of Crane, Wednesday at 2 p.m. with Rev. Ralph Perkins, pastor, officiating. Burial will take place in Howard Cemetery, near Desdemona.

Mr. Browning married Miss Bettie Cheaney, who died in 1957. He was a farmer.

Survivors include two sons and three daughters.

Cooking for two presents problems whether you are newly weds or alone after the grown family is gone. The problem of what to serve is complicated by leftovers that accumulate.

Advance planning is just as important when cooking for two as it is for a large family, according to the specialists. They suggest that a week's menus be planned ahead of time, but made so that they are flexible for changes. If you decide on the main course the rest of the meal falls easily into place.

Meat is usually the main item to consider. When possible, choose a meat that does double duty, such as a roast that can be served for Sunday dinner and used later in the week as cold roast beef slices for supper. Rib end of a pork loin is a triple duty meat. Have the butcher cut off two or three chops for a braised pork chop meal. Then roast the remaining piece and the leftover can be used a third time for a dish like Sweet-Sour Pork.

Space menus well, so that you will not be eating the same kind of meat for three days in a row. Keep cooked meat covered tightly or wrap in waxed paper or foil and store in the refrigerator. Do not handle it again until you are ready to use it.

Desserts need not be a problem when preparing meals for two. Fruit and cheese, ice cream and sherbet are favorites and easily adaptable for meals for two. Individual pie shells and the already-cooked pie fillings are on the market today, and are the sure answer to dessert problems.

A Laundry Problem
Heavily soiled clothes that don't come clean with regular washing are problems to many. How do we remove signs of leftover soils?—A question often asked by homemakers.

Special presoaking, suited to soil and fabric, makes for much easier washing. Soak greasy overalls and cotton work shirts for 15 to 20 minutes in hot sudsy water containing a half cup of household ammonia. For convenience soak in the tub of washer, then spin or wring out clothes and wash.

Oversoiled cotton slip covers, curtains and play clothes may be soaked for 10 to 20 minutes in warm water, or in warm water containing a detergent or non-precipitating water softener. Use one-half to one table spoon of either substance for each gallon of water. Whenever possible, it pays to wash clothes before dirt is ground in and difficult to remove.
