MOORE about... EASTLAND

by Virgil E. Moore

We've had our hand called on the story we ran concerning the city commission meeting held Monday night.

We remember the conversation, and we remember being told that the commission planned a meeting to study the Olden water situation.

Perhaps a good reporter would have asked when the meeting was to have been held. We don't know.

We have always been notified of called meetings in the past and City Manager Young says he phoned us Monday afternoon but couldn't reach us.

Realizing that we will get the old "back down" label, we will say that if we were told the meeting was to be held Monday night we were wrong in calling the meeting secret.

While on this subject, let us point out that the newspaper has no special privileges. A reporter has no more right to attend a city commission meeting than does the average citizen.

We've sided with the present city commission on a lot of things. We don't agree with all they do, but then we haven't met anyone yet that we agree with 100 percent of the time.

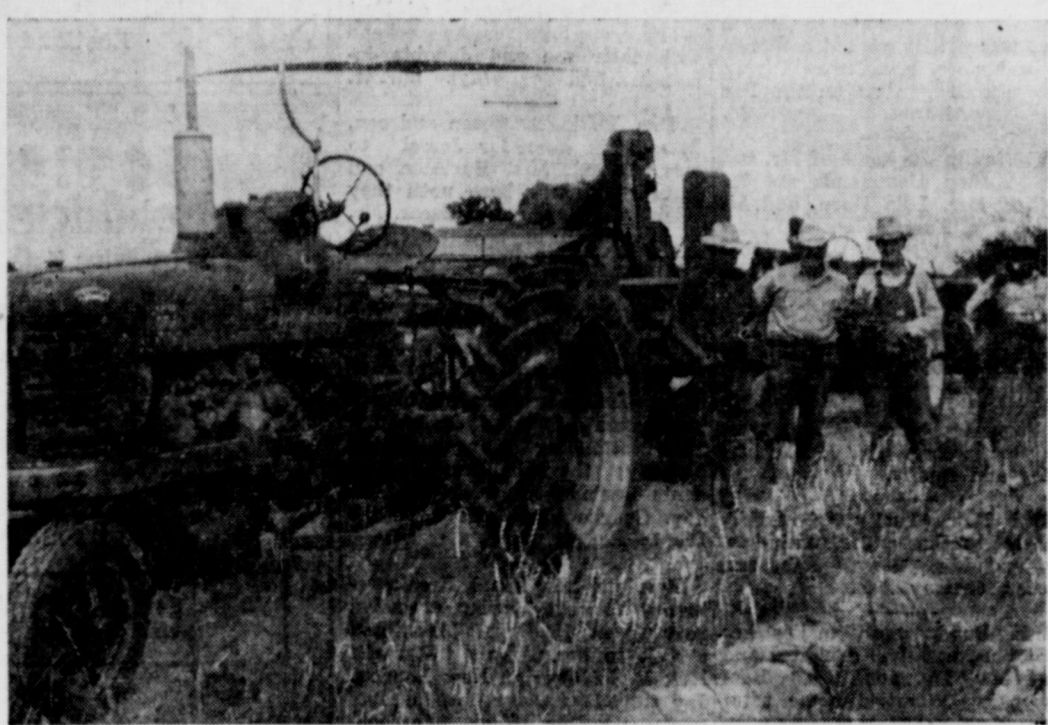

We think the commission has done more for Eastland than any other group since we've been here. You can call this the butter treatment if you like.

No pickets ever had bigger grins on their faces. They carried signs which read "State donuts is one thing but 10c coffee is going too far."

State Rep. Paul Brashear claims that the drug store owners waited until Tuesday to start their new increase in coffee prices so that the Legislature would get the blame for it.

Peanuts Remain Top Choice of Baseball Fans

Peanuts are the most popular snack of baseball fans says the National Peanut Council. Some time ago, the Potato Chip Institute said that "Potato chips outsell all other packaged food, including the former best seller, peanuts, at ball games."

Potato chips, which claimed the popularity crown, are not even sold in eight major league parks. In the remaining eight they trail other snacks, running third in four parks and last in the other four.

Traveling on the Highways

... one has a chance to observe what's going on, here and there. It may be just a roadside collision or a modern farm home with every convenience. If within a city it may be the sight of a huge explosion that has wrecked a great building or a park with children playing everywhere. If one travels he cannot help but observe and back of these observations stands something that is strong and enduring which protects and preserves our way of life, for better living. That's Insurance.

and lots of other things went up the same day because of new taxes. Everett Plowman says the rate increase couldn't be blamed on increased coffee prices. "Water just went up," he says. Brashear, by the way, brought us by some cigars, saying he didn't want to hear anymore gripes about the new tax on 'em. We bet he bought them before the new tax went into effect.

IF YOU LIKE GETTING YOUR MONEY'S WORTH, YOU'LL LIKE CHEVY'S 7 BIG BESTS!

BEST BRAKES... STOP ON A DIME AND GIVE YOU MORE STOPS PER DOLLAR They're bigger too. With 'em, Chevy out-stopped all competitors in its field in a NASCAR*-conducted test of repeated stops from highway speeds.

BEST STYLE... BEAUTY THAT DOESN'T DEMAND A BIG BANK ROLL The experts at POPULAR SCIENCE magazine looked them all over and said that "... in its price class, Chevy establishes a new high in daring styling." Chevy's leadership in sales for '59 says a lot for its looks too!

BEST RIDE... CARRIES YOU AS CAREFULLY AS IT PAMPERS YOUR DOLLARS "The smoothest, most quiet, softest riding car in its price class." That's the way MOTOR TREND magazine describes Chevrolet's cream-smooth ride. It's way more fun to sample than to read about though. Get out in a Chevy and see what Full Coil springs do.

BEST TRADE-IN... YOU GET MORE DOLLARS BACK FOR YOUR CHEVY Last year, for example, Chevrolet used car prices averaged up to $128 higher than comparable models of other makes. Just check the NADA* Guide Book.

BEST ECONOMY... SOCK AWAY YOUR CHEVY SAVINGS As sure as two Chevys Sixes won their class in this year's Mobilgas Economy Run, getting the best mileage of any full-size car!

Now there's an Impala Sport Sedan... one of Chevy's full series of Impalas for '59

Alfalfa Is A Many Purpose Crop

COLLEGE STATION — Alfalfa is a crop of many uses, says E. M. Trew, extension pasture specialist. It is important for hay, seed, pasture, soil improvement and as a honey crop.

Trew says the supply of high quality alfalfa has never seems to be adequate. It is an excellent pasture for hogs, but is used mostly in mixtures with grasses for cattle and sheep. It is one of the best soil improving crops and is used extensively for this purpose.

Alfalfa does best on fertile, well drained, neutral to alkaline soils of medium texture. With applications of lime and plenty of fertilizer it is being grown on some acid, sandy soils of East Texas.

The most widely adapted for Texas are the "Common" varieties - Texas, Southwestern and Barstow. They are the best storage producing varieties north of a line running east and west through College Station and San Antonio.

South of the line from College Station to San Antonio, Hairy Peruvian, Indian and African make more winter growth and more total yield than the "Common" varieties. Arizona Chilean can also be used in this area.

Lahontan and Zia are two new varieties resistant to the spotted alfalfa aphid and are adapted for use in the same area as the "Common" varieties, he notes. Moapa is an aphid resistant variety adapted to the South Texas area.

Ranger and Buffalo are grown in the Rolling and High Plains for seed production, but have no advantage there over the "Common" varieties from the standpoint of forage production. The prostrate varieties of alfalfa have not been successful in Texas, he says.

Fall is the best time to seed alfalfa and the seedbed should be firm, clean and moist. Seed may be planted in dead stubble in areas where wind or blowing sand is likely to damage young plants. Use plenty of phosphorus and potash and be sure you have enough calcium. A soil test will determine these needs, Trew adds.

When seeding alfalfa you should drill 15 to 20 pounds of good seed per acre. The seed should be certified and should be inoculated immediately before planting. And finally, Trew cautions, don't plant alfalfa on land infested with cotton root rot.

Save Summer Moisture For Later Use

COLLEGE STATION — Trapping summer rainfall in your fields may mean more money in tension soil and water conservation specialist. These "traps", better known as terraces, contour farming or mulches, can help you get more profit through better yields.

Barton says research has shown that a summer rain will penetrate only two or three inches in crops plowed "up and down" the hill, but six to twelve inches your pocket, says Jack Barton, extension specialist.

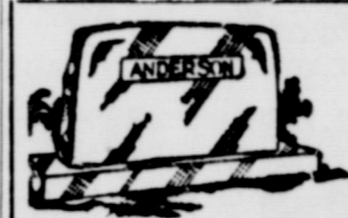

Mulches keep soil surfaces open so that water can penetrate the soil much faster, they slow runoff water speed and help the soil absorb the moisture.

Summer erosion is not always as dangerous to fields as winter erosion, since most fields in summer have some grass, legume or crop cover. But, Barton pointed out, a closely-grazed pasture will hold little runoff water; a row crop only a fair amount; while a good alfalfa field will take an inch or two of rain without any runoff.

Saving the moisture means that in later dry periods, your crops may have a moisture reservoir on which to draw.

To save summer rains, Barton adds, have as much cover on the land as possible; put on manure or crop residues where there are bare spots and cultivate on the contour.
