In 1946 she became superintendent of the Methodist Deaconess Home and West Side Community House, Cleveland.

GRACE FRIEND

Dear Grace Friend

Would you please give me the correct answer to something I want to be real sure about—or tell me where to find out.

If, for example, a mother and daughter have bonds, stock, or property and it is made out "Jane Doe and Mary Doe, joint tenants with right of survivorship but not as tenants in common." In case of one passing does the remaining survivor just get a proof of death and have his or her name transferred and it will be his without court procedure or probate or expense?

I will be very grateful to you if you will give me this information.

H. M. P.
Dear H.M.P.

It is wisest to consult a lawyer as to what procedure is necessary in such cases. It may be that there will be an inheritance tax on such property and a petition will have to be filed with the court to declare the joint tenant dead and to have an inheritance tax appraiser appointed.

Although there is a way of avoiding court procedure by filing an affidavit of death, few title companies will accept it if the survivor should wish to sell the property.

SMAL RAYCHECK
Grace Friend

Recently in a department store here I overheard a talk between two ladies on two weeks' $43. My check for two weeks' $43. The other lady couldn't believe it and nobody else could but I guess it's true. It is a nice store but if that is all they pay their help I think I will buy some place else. I have spent a lot of money in that store and I believe they could pay their help more. Even unskilled workers in the deep south make more than that.

Dear Grace Friend

I understand that the store you have in mind pays on a commission basis so that the more sales, the larger the pay check.

There also is the matter of various withholding taxes. It might be held out of her check than someone else might. You know it matters whether there are dependents and deductions of one kind and another. She could have had as much as a quarter of her check held out for taxes. It could have been that she didn't work full time. Perhaps she missed a few days or just worked half days.

Before you become too irate, check and make sure of all the circumstances.

him to manhood. She's begun the work of sending him toward love for another woman without guilt or fear of hurting her.

To apply this testing counsel will be a triumph for us. It will mean that we have already accepted our proper place in our son's life—and that instead of centering his love upon us, we have the strength to turn it outward.

Trim Figure For Summer Fashions

It won't be long before the nation will begin its annual exodus from city and town to mountain and seashore. Best check now to be sure you're ready for the change.

Wherever you spend your weekends and vacation, you'll enjoy them more if you can feel comfortable in the season's abbreviated sportswear.

Since most older women are less active in winter than during the warmer months, there is a tendency to spread through the hips, waist and stomach, too, usually need some whitening in springtime.

These exercises should help:

1. With arms over your head and clasping the wrists of each hand, pull your ribs up hard. Do this frequently during the day. A n y stretching, twisting or turning will help waist-whitening, so stretch a lot after waking up in the morning.

2. Lie on your back with arms at sides. Then raise your arms and touch the floor over your head. Come to a sitting position, keeping arms extended in front of you, and try to touch your right toes with your left hand. Now slowly lie down and return to original position with arms overhead. Do this, touching each foot with opposing arm, six times.

3. Lie on back with arms outstretched. Then bend knees and put feet close to body. Roll hips to right until outside of leg and hip touch floor; keep knees bent. Then roll to other side. Do this up to 25 times; later work up to 100.

RUTH MILLET

Here is a letter that should be interesting to any woman who isn't married but would like to be. A woman writes:

"There was a letter recently in your column from a spinster who wanted to know how come widows and divorcees can get a second or even third husband so much easier than a spinster can get the first husband.

"I would like to add to your comments to her, that a widow or divorcee learns from her first experience in marriage to be more tolerant, kind, agreeable.

"She learns not to look for perfection in a man, as she has already discovered that there is no such thing. The widow or divorcee tries to be companionable to a man, instead of expecting a man to be companionable to her.

"The spinster is looking for perfection and is inclined to turn up her nose at anything less. She is looking for the ideal man she has pictured in her mind.

"So she waits year after year for the man who she seeks her. Meanwhile the years slip by she grows older and her prospects of marriage grow slimmer.

"I do not advocate accepting just any man, but I do suggest that the spinster remember that she is not perfect. She has not chosen early she will have to find a husband among those men who were not nabbed early."

That is sound advice, of course. And to it let's add this reminder from a man:

"The trouble with most unmarried women is that they expect to find a man who is as good husband material as the men their friends have been married to for years.

"They overlook the fact that marriage has improved those men considerably — that they've been turned into good husbands by smart wives."

There's truth in that observation, also. Most men aren't born good husbands or taught to be good husbands by their mothers. It usually takes a wise and loving wife to turn the average man into a good and dependable husband.

Bleach, Don't Pluck Dark Facial Hairs

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

Have you ever thought about the special contribution that hair makes to the beauty of a woman's face?

Women tend to think of facial hair only in terms of the heavy, dark growths that plague a few. But the face is covered with unbelievably fine hairs, called lanugo hairs, that lend a downy softness to the skin.

When patches of whisker-like hair appear on the face, a woman can remove them temporarily or permanently in a number of acceptable ways.

But when a few of these lanugo hairs darken, it is not advisable to remove them. Actually, they merit little concern because it's likely that no one will ever notice them.

Should they prove a source of annoyance to the perfectionist, it would be best to bleach them. If plucked, these tiny hairs will coarsen in time and the openings out of which they grow will enlarge, marring the appearance of the skin.

It is a very simple matter to lighten such hairs. One can have the druggist prepare a solution for the purpose. In order to make contact only with the darkened hairs, she should use a cotton-tipped swab as the applicator.

Combine 1-4 cups consommé, vinegar, brown sugar, pineapple, and soy sauce; stir until sugar is dissolved. Add pieces of sole and marinate 1 hour or more. Meanwhile, melt butter or margarine; add green pepper and onion. Cook over low heat until onion is tender. Drain vinegar mixture from sole and add to sauce. Drain noodles; bring to boiling point and boil 5 minutes. Combine cornstarch and remaining 1-4 cup consommé; mix well and add to vinegar mixture. Cook until mixture is thickened. Add marinated sole and cook until fish is done, 10 to 15 minutes. Add bean sprouts just before serving. About 10 minutes before sauce is done, add 1 tablespoon salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add noodles and cook until water continues to boil. Cook uncovered stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander. Add 2 tablespoons butter to noodles and serve fish sauce on noodles.

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

The other day I sat in on an advanced class at the New York School of Social Work. Our lesson was discussion of the case record of a nine-year-old child, frightened by a parent's desertion.

We came to a paragraph that read: "This afternoon Caroline told her social worker that she loved her. The worker replied that she liked Caroline, too; and that many other people she'd not yet met would like her."

Our reading was interrupted by the teacher. He asked, "Why was it good for the worker to respond to Caroline's admission of love by telling her that others beside herself would like her?"

"Because it was reassuring," queried a student.

"Not quite," the teacher said. "It was good because it is discipline for not to monopolize a child's love. It is good not to localize his love in you personally. It is always good to suggest that his love will grow and enlarge as he grows to embrace many people."

I was impressed by this professor's counsel to his students. It seems so unimportant that I am reporting it to parents, too.

Whether we are the social worker of a neglected child or the mother of one we cherish, it is always a temptation to take personal pride in his admission of affection.

This pride, overwhelming us, can lose us our chance to suggest his emotional powers will expand. It can trick us into treating his love as a completed thing, so that as we reach out our arms to him, we fall to say, "Oh how glad I am that you love me. And how glad for all the other people who will be wanting you to love them, too."

So this is very important counsel, especially for mothers of little boys. If they want to encourage maleness, applying this counsel is one of the ways to do it. For a little boy who becomes suddenly conscious of loving his mother very much is, to a high degree, open and vulnerable to her influence.

If, to this emotionally exposed little son, she suggests her own joy at the prospect of sharing him with others, she has begun to free sweet and sour fish flakes on buttered egg noodles salad bowl, French dressing, heated French bread, butter or margarine, canned purple plums, Chinese rice wafers, pea, carrots, milk.

They Like Apples

Medical Economics magazine recently observed that when it comes to governmental policy, physicians are sometimes accused of being against everything. Then it quoted an anecdote told by Roger Fleming of the American Farm Bureau Federation which makes a serious and important point in a light fashion.

The magazine said: "At the last American Medical Association Public Relations Conference, Mr. Fleming spoke of an observation he had made during a trip through the apple-raising section of the Shenandoah Valley in Virginia:

"Farmers there spend a lot of time and money applying sprays to kill codling moths. Because they do that, some people think they are against the codling moth. "Not at all," said Mr. Fleming. "They simply like apples."

That is pretty much the case with doctors and medical societies which have been fighting hard against socialized medicine, compulsory government health insurance, and other proposals which would make the politician and the bureaucrat the bosses of our system of medical care. They are carrying on that fight in the sure knowledge that if government ever does move in, we will turn back the clock so far as medical progress and the best possible service to the largest number of people are concerned.

And the doctors aren't alone — writers and top public officials and newspapers all over the country feel just the same. A very typical view was expressed by the Portland Oregonian when it said editorially, "The nations that have resorted to public health insurance and the regimentation of doctors have discovered that such measures lead to the inevitable deterioration of medical care."

Tax Burdens

It is reported that Arizona's Congressional delegation is preparing legislation to authorize the sale of federally-owned power lines in that state to the Arizona Power Authority. The Tribune-News, of Holbrook, Arizona, had something to say about this plan that is of national interest, because of the principle at stake.

It observed: "If the federal government is agreeable to sale of the facilities, why shouldn't some taxpaying agency be allowed to acquire them? Under state power authority ownership they would be tax-exempt. While it is true they are tax-exempt at present, that should be no reason for keeping them so if ownership is to be transferred.

"Few will argue but that private ownership would perform maintenance and administration much more economically than a state agency.

"Last, but not least, there is no state agency to regulate rates that might be charged by the power authority for transmission and distribution of power."

The principle that must forever be stressed, regardless of all other considerations and controversies, is that commercial business belongs in the province of private enterprise and nowhere else. Socialism on the state or local level differs only in degree from socialism on the national level. Both limit opportunity and undermine our freedoms. On the purely practical side, both are a direct, and heavy and unnecessary financial burden on the taxpayers. Get government — all government — out of business!

Prime Movers

How keen is competition among retailers today? A good answer is found in a Wall Street Journal news story, dispatched from London by reporter Mitchell Gordon. He writes: "Keener competition on Main Street is sending more U. S. merchants abroad for wares to spice their shelves.

"The object of their quest is merchandise the fellow next door doesn't have.

"U. S. Embassy officials here estimate that Europe is now being flooded by a tide of American buyers running into the thousands annually."

Imported merchandise isn't likely to become a dominant element in American retailing — it amounts to only a drop in the bucket compared with the amazing production of our own factories. But the current European buying spree is powerful proof that competitive retailing and aggressive selling techniques of modern mass distribution are prime movers in driving the country toward higher living standards.

Mr. Gordon quotes an authority in the field as saying: "American retailers figure the public still has plenty of money to spend — it's just getting more particular about how it spends it." In other words, we're living in a buyers' market.

Communists Ordered To Infiltrate The PTA

Representative Van Pelt from Wisconsin had printed in the February 25, 1954 issue of the Congressional Record an article by Herbert A. Philbrick, as published in the New York Herald Tribune.

Herbert A. Philbrick worked for an extended period as an undercover agent for the F.B.I. His recent disclosures concerning the Red underground started the nation.

For those people who have read social science textbooks used in public schools, it looks as if the communists have already got control of most of the textbooks used in tax-supported schools. Since the textbooks are all politically selected and must be in harmony with public schools based on aggression, it seems that the children in these schools are being indoctrinated to believe in some form of statism without the communists infiltrating the PTA's.

However, the following is the article as published in the New York Herald Tribune, written by Herbert A. Philbrick:

"During the last few weeks in a number of secret cells throughout New York State special orders were received: 'As a Communist you must participate in organizations concerned with schools.' Comrades with children in school were thereupon directed to infiltrate one of the largest and most important organizations in this area — the Parent-Teachers' Association.

"Detailed instructions were given to the underground cell members, outlining the issues to be exploited, tactics of infiltration, and strategy of exerting influence.

Tactics Outlined "Tactics of penetration were carefully prescribed. The members were warned not to be too aggressive, but to exert utmost diplomacy. In joining a parent-teachers' association," they were instructed, "you join a well established organization, many of whose members have been active for many years and are in positions of leadership. They are not looking for someone to tell them what to do."

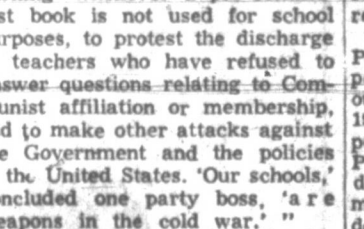

"The proper procedure, the Reds were told, is to volunteer to serve in a minor position, such as on a committee, or as typist, or offer to solicit advertisements for the parent-teachers' paper or publication. They were cautioned 'the PTA is an organization in which you work your way to the top, slowly and patiently.' Even after careful cultivation moves are to be made cautiously: 'We can then give leadership on issues like the raising of the school entrance age."

Teamwork "The cell members were also instructed to work as a team, and to discuss the objectives and progress of individual comrades in branch meetings of the party.

"Party branch bosses are to provide instruction as to how to approach and influence non-Communist members of the PTA; analysis of mistakes; and coordination of the efforts of individual members for better effect. The party branch gives our work a Communist orientation so that we can help set in motion thousands of women," they were advised.

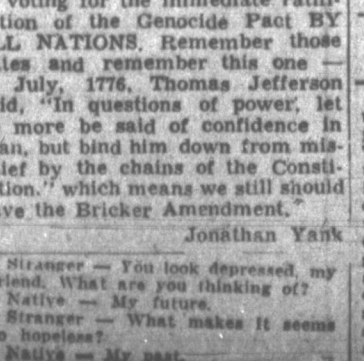

"Finally, specific victims are to be singled out according to the Red instructions; the branch leadership will determine, for example which PTA members is to be invited to attend a meeting to be addressed by a teacher discharged for subversion, and whom to approach with an invitation to purchase party literature. After successful infiltration, the members were told the cell could concentrate on the task of recruiting PTA members into the party itself.

"As to the issues to be exploited for party purposes, the members were instructed to include a number of legitimate slogans, such as 'better schools' 'more teachers,' 'more money for education,' etc. In addition, however, they were instructed to 'fight anti-drugs,' to 'hurl charges of 'book-burning' whenever a pro-Communist book is not used for school purposes, to protest the discharge of teachers who have refused to answer questions relating to Communist affiliation or membership, and to make other attacks against the Government and the policies of the United States. 'Our schools,' concluded one party boss, 'are weapons in the cold war.'"

National Whirligig... Dominant Position Of Several Major Airlines Is Threatened

By RAY TUCKER

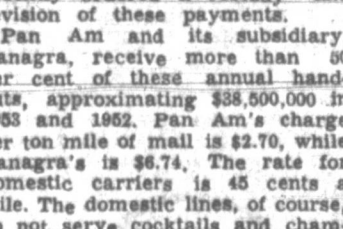

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower's "new look" at commercial aviation is a map and a compass that threatens the dominant position which several major airlines have built up through 20 years of Roosevelt- Truman favoritism. And none regard themselves more menaced by a proposed reorganization than Pan Am and Panagra, two of the giants of the industry.

Pan American World Airways and Eastern Air Lines, respectively. Although these firms enjoy powerful political and legal support at Washington, including present support from the Department of Commerce, they have the backing of the Supreme Court, the Department of Justice, the Civil Aeronautics Board and many members of Congress.

POLITICAL FRIENDSHIP, LOBBYING — Their survey of commercial aviation development since Lindbergh's 1927 flight warrants the belief that the existing structure was built and expanded on the basis of political friendship and lobbying rather than concern for the national interest. In urging a reduction of air line subsidies totalling more than $70,000,000 annually, Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts declares that the billion paid out since D-Day has made only an "intangible contribution" to the country's defense. Only 10 per cent of the subsidized air fleet would have immediate military importance in event of war. The Supreme Court recently ordered a resurvey and revision of these payments.

Pan Am and its subsidiary, Panagra, receive more than 80 per cent of these annual handouts, approximately $38,500,000 in 1953 and 1952. Pan Am's charge per ton mile of mail is $2.70, while Panagra's is $8.74. The rate for domestic carriers is 45 cents a mile. The domestic lines, of course, do not serve cocktails and champagne on the house.

BID FOR A SMILE

Every person in the world may not become a personage. But every person may become a personality. The happiest people are those who think the most interesting thoughts. Interesting thoughts can live only in cultivated minds. Those who decide to use leisure as a means of mental development, who love good music, good books, good pictures, good conversation — what are they? They are the happiest people in the world; and they are not only happy in themselves, they are the cause of happiness in others.—William Lyon Phelps.

The Doctor Says

By EDWIN J. JORDAN, M. D.

There are many interesting and important aspects of high blood pressure or hypertension and different aspects of the problem are discussed in this column from time to time.

One of them which has recently been brought to my attention is whether an accidental fall or automobile accident can bring about high blood pressure.

To this it can be said that in the vast majority of cases there is little reason to believe that an accident or injury has caused hypertension. It is possible that once in a while an accident may be responsible for bringing out the symptoms resulting from high blood pressure, which were not obvious before.

As a direct cause, however, accident or injury seems unlikely.

Hypertension is an extremely common disorder particularly after the age of 40. It should be recognized that there are various kinds, however, such as that which comes from a tumor of one of the hormonal glands (the adrenal), that which comes from kidney disease and several other varieties. The most important and troublesome one, however, is called essential hypertension. In this variety the cause is still not known although some important information on it is now available.

About the beginning of this century it was shown that a diet which contained small amounts of salt was helpful in some cases of high blood pressure.

Further study of this clue was slow for many years, but recently many investigators have worked on the effect of diet both in animals and in human beings.

Some researchers have found that the blood pressure of rats with experimentally produced hypertension could be lowered when these animals were given diets which were low in one part of salt.

This treatment was tried also in a small group of patients, and it was found that the blood pressure could be definitely reduced in some of them.

Fair Enough... Mystery Of Arthur Goldsmith Is About To Break Wide Open

By WESTBROOK PEGLER (Copyright, 1954, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

NEW YORK — Arthur J. Goldsmith, the mysterious political agent who lurks in the Waldorf Tower, was interviewed during the war by a detective from a government intelligence agency regarding Francis Adams Henson, also known as Liggett, the educational director of the United Auto Workers of the AF of L. This is an almost inoperative, standby union of the AF of L, which issued charters to tactical union racketeers in the City of New York.

Six of these charters, held by Johnny Dio, a known ex-convict, now serving another hitch in prison, were revoked a few days ago after a delay of about two years since the exposure.

Henson is an old campus Communist who also worked as a gumshoe investigator in Washington during the war, mainly for a thing called Union for Democratic Action. His brand of Communism was the Trotsky line. His leaders were Jay Lovestone and Irving Brower, stooges of Dava Dubinsky, of the Garment Workers' Union, who also have connections with the sinister Central Intelligence Agency of the Washington government.

Apologists for Lovestone and Brower insist that they had a declared purpose of destroying the American government by bloody revolution, but none of these defenders has put forth a single word of proof of apostasy in more than two years of controversy.

Nevertheless, President Eisenhower has publicly endorsed Brown's clandestine interference in the affairs of more or less friendly nations in Europe and the Orient, financed by our money and handouts from Dubinsky's Union.

And the President also signed a mysterious testimonial book gotten up by Congressmen Hugh Scott, of Philadelphia, and Clifford P. Case, of New Jersey, and Sherman Adams, assistant to the President, attesting that Goldsmith was a firm citizen. Scott and Case have seemed ashamed of their part in this, for nothing can draw a straight-forward statement from them of the text or of the provocation which inspired their signing.

You probably are at least as good a citizen as Arthur J. Goldsmith, but the odds are many millions to one that you have no such citation nor feel the lack of one. Jim Hingerty, the President's secretary, said that he did sign it, it was just a casual, hurried act in a busy day shortly after the election.

However, the fact keeps bobbing up that two brothers of the President, Milton, a reasonable facsimile of a Roosevelt New Dealer, and Arthur, the Kansas City banker, both made connections with Goldsmith, or vice versa, about that time. They had rooms adjacent to Goldsmith's secret political headquarters in the Waldorf Tower. That would seem to be an innocent coincidence but all concerned have acted as though they had something to hide.

To that we may add the fact that Goldsmith, from his tower, has been trying to pick senators for the people of other states by housing money into their primaries and elections. His revealed purpose in Nevada is to get an "Independent" in place of Pat McCarran, Dem., who is anti-Communist and a constitutional nationalist.

I did not intend to develop in today's discussion the whole pattern of the interlocking forces at work in Nevada. But the whole will come because half a dozen government agencies have been bumping into one another in separate quests. The FBI is way ahead of the rest in factual information, especially on Herman Greenspan, the old underworld boss of the Bugsy Siegal mob in Las Vegas and international weapons smuggler, but the FBI doesn't act on its information unless it has strong evidence of a crime.

The report said Goldsmith had been dissolved, but some of its papers got into the hands of souvenir hunters and they disclose fascinating relationships.

The agent's report said Goldsmith was a "militant liberal of left-wing tendencies" and a "left-wing Socialist." That is a mild description of the political character of a campus Red from the University of Virginia, later an agitator at Penn State, who openly identified himself with the blood-thirsty Trotsky element which broke with Stalin over Stalin's determination to get Russia hog-tied before he started in on us.

Lovestone, Brown and Henson wanted blood in our streets right away and the record is not weakly by President Eisenhower's political affection for Lovestone, Brown and the New Deal Democratic Socialist, Dava Dubinsky.

Goldsmith said his first met Henson when he, Goldsmith, was working to prevent American participation in the 1936 Olympic Games in Germany. Henson did "publicity work" for Goldsmith's committee. Goldsmith didn't have much confidence in Henson's judgment but said he was "a patriotic man of integrity and high purpose" and "an industrious and capable investigator."

inary, who said he had known Henson when they both were associated with the Union for Democratic Action during the war. It happens that Goldsmith, also, was in this thing and it also happens that the Union for Democratic Action worked through a thing called Market Analysts, Inc., to smear Standard Oil of N. J., with charges that S. O. N. J. was holding back from the American nation certain German secrets about synthetic rubber.

S. O. N. J. took a bad beating in a campaign, furthered by a left-wing scandal paper of the East and by drew Pearson. And the agency discovered a great mass of telegrams and photographs, between Henson and one "Sandy" in New York, who was the manager of Market Analysts. Sandy's real identity is Sanford Griffith and he has an interesting background, too, but probably this is as much as you can handle for today.

Looking Sideways

By WHITNEY BOLTON

As a man who openly confesses to an ardent love for that bedraggled old doll, the theatre, I often wonder where her next solid meal is going to come from but, as things usually turn out, she makes her own domestic arrangements and keeps going right along. For some weeks now I have been concerned because the older playwrights were not doing their work and the new, younger playwrights still are fumbling. A case in point: Julian Funt. He wrote "The Magician and the Lovers." He wrote two superbly tragic acts concerning an ambitious advertising woman and her own domestic arrangements and keeps going right along. For some weeks now I have been concerned because the older playwrights were not doing their work and the new, younger playwrights still are fumbling. A case in point: Julian Funt. He wrote "The Magician and the Lovers." He wrote two superbly tragic acts concerning an ambitious advertising woman and her own domestic arrangements and keeps going right along. He wrote "The Magician and the Lovers." He wrote two superbly tragic acts concerning an ambitious advertising woman and her own domestic arrangements and keeps going right along.

And then came the envelope from Williams College, with a letter signed by Jay H. Gates, whom I have never met in my life. And I have stopped worrying for awhile. The old doll has found a new meal; young, alert, willing and courageous. The young people of Williams are going to do right by the old girl. And from their project may well come a whole new and healthy group of directors, actors, producers and, for all I know, writers.

A group of undergraduates has put together $15,000 has leased the 31st-seat theatre on the estate of DeWitt Terhune at Falmouth, Mass., has arranged for a 10-week summer season, beginning June 28th and will do 10 plays at one a week. It will be a non-Equity group drawn principally from Williams undergraduates and alumni, plus the same from various Eastern girls' colleges and will not use the star system. The young people want to work at what they know best and to try to make a summer theatre of their own, by their own. They can only be loudly applauded for that and, at the same time, blessed with the fervent hope that their ambitions succeed.

Ownership and policy decisions will rest with the students, although certain adults will hold executive offices in the corporation called Cross Right Stage, Inc. Diana Reynolds, a junior at Sarah Lawrence, will be treasurer, and four Williams undergraduates will be the board members: John Theodore Wegman, Charles DeWitt McHarris, Jay H. Gates and Patrick B. McGinnis III.

If it seems to you, a newspaper reading adult, that I am giving undue space to a small damp spot on the road to theatre accomplishment, let me say that here in this group is a matter of exciting promise. The students are patient, not dreamers. They have put together a substantial sum, have surveyed the Eastern seaboard for a proper theatre lease, have laid down an intelligent operating policy and, obviously, intend to work hard and seriously at creating a living, practical theatre enterprise. From them, uncluttered by professional habit and customary nonsense, may come matters of consequence to the professional theatre work of New York. They may contribute ideas calculated to bring new magic and strength to Broadway. They may prove that the theatre is not an artificial merchandising scheme in which only stars have privilege and security.

Or they may prove nothing and lose their money and go back to college in the fall wearied and slightly bettered.

But they will have tried and they will have worked and maybe they will have done something destined to be important.

I most earnestly hope so and wish them all that is good.

Home Not Enough; Oilers Bow To Plainview

PLAINVIEW, May 10—Two booming home runs by the Pampa Oilers weren't near enough here Sunday afternoon as the Plainview Ponies romped to an 11-2 victory over the Oilers.

Curly Hardaway slammed his fifth homer of the season for the Oilers in the second inning and Eddie Daniels hit his second round tripper of the year in the sixth inning, both coming with the bases full.

That was all the Oilers could manage to do in the way of run producing off Earl Genter who has been sharing pitching laurels this season for the Ponies with the veteran Ed Arthur.

The Oilers got seven hits off Genter's aunts.

The loss broke a three-game winning streak of the Oilers. It also prevented the Oilers from taking over first place in the West Texas-Mexico League standings.

The Oilers are now 1 1/2 games behind the league leading Ponies.

The two teams will conclude their two-game series tonight. Don Tierney, who was due to take the mound Sunday, will likely get the starting bill call for the Oilers in tonight's tilt.

The game tonight will wind up the current road trip of the Oilers. The Pampans will return to Oiler Field Tuesday night with Albuquerque moving in for a two-game series. The Oilers will be at home six days. Following Albuquerque in will be Abilene and Plainview.

On the current road trip, the Oilers have won three and dropped two.

Plainview jumped on starter Jim Lemons yesterday in the first inning for four runs and led all the way. Hardaway's homer made it 4-1 in the second but the Ponies virtually led the game in the second half of the second when veteran Ed Stokes homered with one out to hike the Pony lead to 6-1.

Lemons finally gave way to Jose Valesquez in the fifth inning. Valesquez, the sub-mariner, finished the game.

It was the first loss for Lemons since Oct. 10.

O'Brien pitched a complete game and struck out 10 batters. He pitched a career-high 10 2/3 innings.

O'Brien's record is now 1-1 with a 3.00 ERA. He has pitched 10 2/3 innings in 10 appearances.

Southern California Track Coach Joe Mortenson said a "good score" from someone like Stan Lampert of New York's Pioneer Club to help him along.

Lampert put the shot 68 feet, 7 1/2 inches last week.

ARMORE, Okla., May 10—Poker-faced Julius Boros took home $1,000 Monday in the rich Ardmore Open golf tournament because he edged out Jerry Barber of La Canada, Calif., by one stroke.

The Dornick Hills Country Club course was turned into a regular field by setting the final round Sunday. But Boros still was able to tour it in a one over par 69 for a 72-hole total of 278.

Barber made the front nine in a three under par 21 to go two strokes ahead of Boros at the turn. But his putter failed him on the back nine as he bogeyed the 10th, 11th, 12th and 13th holes and birdied the last two holes.

Boros birdied No. 16, then bogeyed the 15th. On "Old Stonewall," No. 16, a cliff hole, Boros took his third shot at the green. His iron shot stopped 30 inches from the hole as the gallery screamed.

He holed it for a birdie and shot par on the last two holes.

Barber birdied No. 18, with an eight-foot putt to take a second round of 85, and a 72-hole total of 280.

Francis (Bo) Winters of Oklahoma City missed a 16-foot putt on No. 18, which would have given him a birdie and a tie with Barber. As it was, he tied for third place with Jimmy Clark of Los Angeles, Calif.

'Lady Luck' Frowned On Harvesters In State Track Meet At Austin Saturday

YOU KNOW IT TAKES A little luck to annex a state title. Any coach will tell you that.

And Saturday "Lady Luck" frowned on the Pampa Harvester track team in the state meet at Austin.

While the Harvesters didn't exactly enjoy their best times of the year in the state cinder meet, they could have still won the state crown except for a couple of instances that must go down in the books as "bad luck."

Here is the way we figure these two instances cost the Harvesters the state title.

The Harvesters finished with 19 points in the sprint relay and the 440-yard relay and saying the extra seven in the 100, this would have given them an additional 23 points and a grand total of 42.

Abilene, with 47 points, won the meet but the Eagles took first in the 440-yard relay and saying the Harvesters would have finished first in this race had the handoff materialized, the Eagles would have gotten six points less with a second place finish in the sprint relay and a total of 41.

Well, it's not such grapes but we just wanted to point out what a difference a couple of instances in a track meet such as this can make.

We'd like to congratulate Coach Bob Grosz of the Abilene track team upon keeping the state title in District 1-AAA. This district furnished two state champions this year and a runnerup in another. The Harvesters winning the basketball crown, Abilene the track title and Odessa runnerup in football.

And 1-A added a minor sport title to the list. Amarillo won the state golf title.

We could still add another state title before the school year is out. Lubbock will be representing the district in baseball.

State meet for us at Austin said the sprint relay team may well have won the race except for the handoff on the final lap that failed to materialize. Of course we'll never know whether or not the Harvesters would have won the race had the handoff materialized.

But Harold Lewis, the anchor man, is a hard man to beat to the top of his team is still in the running when it comes his turn to take the baton. And the Harvesters were reportedly leading the race through the first three handoffs.

Well, anyway, it might have cost the Harvesters a point after not finishing the race.

Other piece of bad luck for the Harvesters came in the 100-yard dash. The Harvesters were told several close observers figured Lewis finished second in the century dash yet he was awarded only sixth place. You might point out here that you can usually pick out the winner of a 100-yard dash but when there are seven others in the race and all are steaming across the line almost Coach Sibb Falk's perennial titleholder clinched a tie for the crown last week when they out-didn Texas A&M 5 to 3, but they didn't learn until Sunday night that a 10-15 tie with Baylor earlier in the season counted a half game won.

That half game staved any hopes Baylor might have had of gaining a deadlock with Texas for the lead by beating Rice Thursday at Houston while SMU was upsetting Texas as two. Such a finish would have forced Baylor and Texas to play off the tie. Texas now has a 10-2-1 record, Baylor an 8-5-1 mark.

Ironically, the rule would have beaten Texas out of the co-championship last year and given the tie to SMU if it had been used.

Texas played off a tie game with SMU, then the Longhorns were awarded the NCAA playoff spot.

Now, Texas can look forward to another NCAA playoff—probably against Arkansas of the Border Conference.

Texas lost its second game of the league race last week, bowing to the Aggies 5 to 4 in the second game of the series. The Longhorns

Wining and Clark, with totals of 211, got $2,400 each.

Millionaire oilman Waco Turner, who pays for the tournament, handed out the prizes—a total of $31,800—in cash. In addition, there were prizes for low score for each day, birdies, eagles, and chip-ins, totaling a total of nearly $50,000.

Nine Chip-ins

On the last day alone, Turner passed out $1,385 for 91 birdies and 6225 for nine chip-ins.

Besides that, Turner paid the prize entry fees totaling $3,500 and the pros' weekly assessment of $3 each.

Walter Burkemo of Franklin, Mich., and the host pro, E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, were tied for fifth with 284. They got $1,750 each.

Four pros tied for seventh with 285—Rudy Horvath of Windsor, Ont., Canada; Ted Kroll of New Hartford, N.Y.; Dick Mayer of St. Elizabeth, Fla., and Lloyd Mangrum of Miles, Ill. Their prizes were $1,125 each.

Horvath got the $800 bonus for the low score of the final round by a 68. Fred Hawkins of El Paso shot the only eagle of the final round—a dence on the seventh—to take $500.

The low amateur was Charley Coe of Oklahoma City, who posted rounds of 73-73-74 for a 220.

Europe to Use American Gloves MONTE CARLO, Monaco, May 10—UP—The European Boxing Union decided Sunday to adopt the new American-style gloves for its title matches to reduce the chances of accidents. The gloves were shown the delegates by Robert K. Christenberry, commissioner of the New York State Athletic Commission.

Harvester 9 3rd In Final Standings

The Harvester baseballers wound up in a 2-way tie for third place in the final District 1-AAA standings. The Harvesters finished with 19 points in the sprint relay and the 440-yard relay and saying the extra seven in the 100, this would have given them an additional 23 points and a grand total of 42.

Abilene, with 47 points, won the meet but the Eagles took first in the 440-yard relay and saying the Harvesters would have finished first in this race had the handoff materialized, the Eagles would have gotten six points less with a second place finish in the sprint relay and a total of 41.

A meeting of all persons interested in playing softball this summer is on top tonight.

The meeting, which will start at 8 p.m., will be held in the grand jury room on the third floor of the Court House.

A Men's League will be formed if there is enough interest shown in such a league.

Three teams are already formed with a least three more needed to form a league.

Details of the league will be worked out in tonight's meeting.

Owen Handley, manager of the Skelly Softball team, will be in charge of tonight's meeting.

Cats Take Over 1st In Texas League

By UNITED PRESS

First North took sole possession of first place in the Texas League and sent the Sports into a last-place tie with Houston. The Sports used four pitchers in trying to regain their winning stride that had them way out in front in the Texas League in the first few days of the season.

Southpaw Tony Stathos missed his shut out over Beaumont in the eighth inning when the Shippers plated a single unearned tally. Beaumont had provided Stathos with a comfortable eight-run lead to work behind.

Other weekend games saw Houston beat Beaumont 8 to 1 and San Antonio down Shreveport 6 to 3 in series openers. The Tulsa-Oklahoma City doubleheader was postponed because of wet grounds.

The four-game encounters move into the second round Monday night, with Fort Worth playing at Dallas, Tulsa at Oklahoma City, Beaumont at Houston and Shreveport at San Antonio.

Dallas, now in third place behind San Antonio by 22 percentage points, never could catch the Cats, who took a quick two-run lead in the opening frame off loser Wayne McLeland.

The San Antonio Missions drew

Turley's Pitching Is Working In Reverse

BALTIMORE, Md., May 10—UP—Things are working out in reverse for pitcher Bob Turley of the Baltimore Orioles, at least as far as base hits are concerned.

Turley has suffered two defeats, both in games where he allowed only two hits. He gave up four hits in scoring a 2 to 1, 10-inning victory over the Indiana Sunday and his two other wins were a five-hitter and a seven-hitter.

Nelson Wins $30, Horse At Ardmore

ARMORE, Okla., May 10—UP—Byron Nelson won only $30 during the Ardmore Open golf tournament but he took home a beautiful balmain saddle and golfer.

Tournament sponsor Waco Turner gave the Roanoke, Tex., saddle, who came out of virtual retirement to play in the Ardmore tournament.

Nelson apologized for his bad putting during the tourney.

"I hardly made enough bonus money to buy oats for the horse," he told the gallery when Turner presented the horse to him.

Nelson had rounds of 78-71-75-74 for a 72-hole total of 298. His only prize money was $15 each for two birdies—one on the first day and one in the final round Sunday.

Snead Loses Playoff On 15-Inch Putt

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, Va., May 10—UP—Sammy Snead's blowup on a 15-inch putt, one of the oldest stories in golf, proved a $2,000 windfall Monday to Herman Scharlau of Boca Raton, Fla., one of the newest names in the big-time tournament circuit.

Scharlau, a chain-smoking 35-year-old who had never won a major tourney before, captured the Greenbrier Open title and the $2,000 first prize that goes with it, when he beat Snead, the home pro, Sunday on the third hole of a sudden death playoff.

A sudden death playoff was ordered immediately Sunday after Burke Jr. of Klamath Falls, N.Y., which wound up with identical cards of 274 for 72 holes.

Snead fired a 67 in the final round, Scharlau had an even par 70, and Burke dispatched his three-stroke lead with a three over par 72.

All three posted par-fours on the first playoff hole but Burke dropped out of contention on the second hole when he failed to match Scharlau and Snead's birdies.

Snead took $1,000 for finishing second while Burke earned $700 for third place.

Scharlau, who smoked one cigarette after another along the playoff route, said he wasn't nervous, adding, "I've been in these playoffs before." He said, however, that it was a particular thrill to beat Snead.

Valerius George Fazio of Pine Valley, N.J., and Johnny Revolta of Evanston, Ill., were tied for fourth place with 275's apiece.

Tyler Retains 1-Game Lead Over Austin In Big State Loop

By UNITED PRESS

Tyler retained its slim one game lead in the Big State League over Austin Monday as all three top teams took advantage of their opponents in Sunday's games.

The loop-leading Tigers nipped last-place Bryan 2 to 1, runner-up Austin blasted Harlingen 6 to 0 and Corpus Christi wacked Temple 8 to 5 and third-place Waco took the measure of Galveston 5 to 1.

The three leaders hit the road for series openers Monday, with Tyler going to Harlingen, Austin moving to Bryan, Waco journeying to Corpus Christi and seventh-place Temple going to Galveston.

Right-hander Gale Pringle narrowly missed a no-hitter for Tyler as he hurled the Tigers past Bryan 2 to 1.

Waco's Myron Hoffman tossed a four-hitter as the Pirates swept their series from Galveston with an 8 to 2 win.

Harlingen 9 3rd In Final Standings

The Harlingen baseballers wound up in a 2-way tie for third place in the final District 1-AAA standings. The Harlingen finished with 19 points in the sprint relay and the 440-yard relay and saying the extra seven in the 100, this would have given them an additional 23 points and a grand total of 42.

Abilene, with 47 points, won the meet but the Eagles took first in the 440-yard relay and saying the Harvesters would have finished first in this race had the handoff materialized, the Eagles would have gotten six points less with a second place finish in the sprint relay and a total of 41.

Well, it's not such grapes but we just wanted to point out what a difference a couple of instances in a track meet such as this can make.

Musial Goes On Another Rampage

By CARL LUNDQUIST
United Press Sports Writer

Maybe the home run title Stan Musial once missed because of an umpire's questionable decision will go to the "man" at last this year, along with the bat title and a few other honors that would make him "Mr. Everything."

He almost won the right to that accolade in 1948 when he led in batting with 376, hits with 200, runs with 125, doubles with 46, triples with 16, runs batted in with 131, and total bases with 428.

Now the duke of Donora, Pa., is well on his way toward similar achievements as he paces the majors in hitting at a .382 clip, tied with Hank Sauer home runs with 10, and leads in runs batted in with 28. He is near the top in hits with 34 and in runs scored with 23.

Seeking Title

Of all the laurels, though, he would like to get another shot at that homer title because he missed sharing it in 1948 when he hit 39 and should have been credited with another that he blasted in Philadelphia.

"The ball took off to right field, hit something and bounced back on the field," Musial recalled. "I thought sure it was a homer but the umpire would not allow it. Houston had the ball, and he told me it definitely went out of the park. It wasn't so bad, but he, later when I was only one behind Ralph Kiner and Johnny Mize it was kind of rough."

Musial has his 10th homer Sunday with two out to highlight a seven-run inning as the Cardinals walloped Cincinnati 10 to 7, and he added two singles, batting in four runs. But Cincinnati rebounded to win the second game 6 to 5, as another home run thumped Ted Kluszewski, hit two and made it three for the day. Musial got a double and single in the second game, as Solly Hemus and pitcher Ellis Deal homered in a losing cause. Del Rice of the Cards and Jim Greengrass of Cincy also hit

State Trapshoot Meet At Ft. Worth

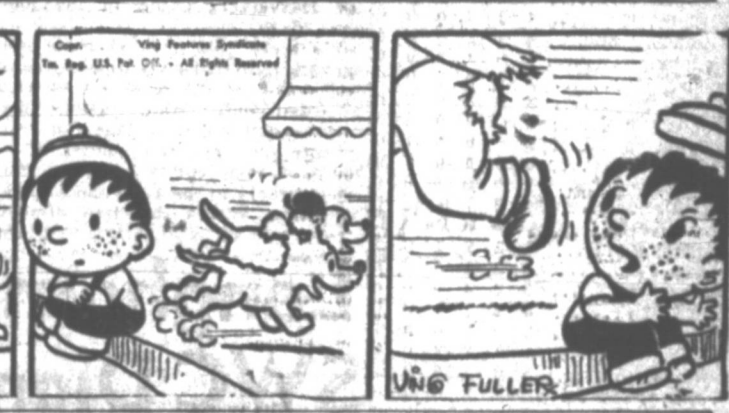

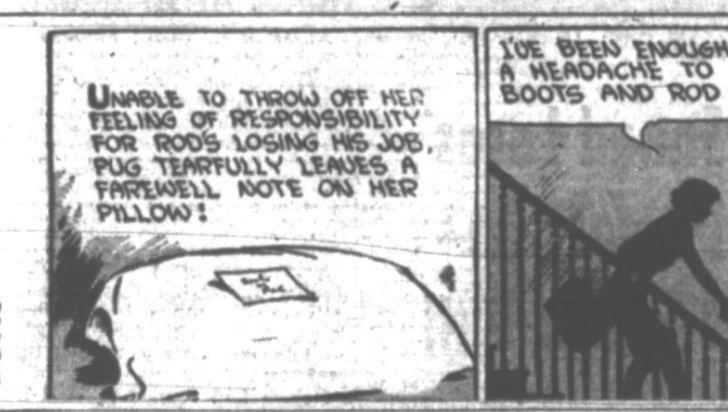

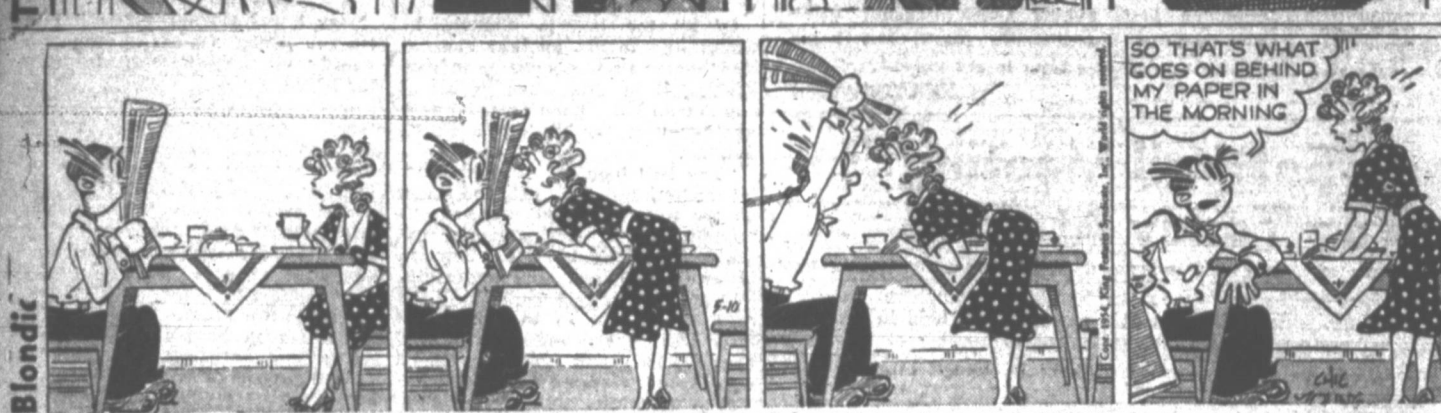

FORT WORTH, May 10—UP—The Texas Trapshooters Association hoped Monday that a five-year weather jinx that has plagued the annual state meet will be snapped as the four-day meet begins Thursday.

Directors of the meet, to be held at the Fort Worth Gun Club, are anticipating better weather than the last five years in which rain, wind or both have marred shoots in Houston, Dallas, Wichita Falls and Fort Worth.

A field of more than 200 shooters is expected for the 75th annual consecutive state meet to compete for better than $5,000 in cash, plus trophies and some $18,000 in other prizes.

Nylon Tires Now Available For All Trucks At Low Cost

A complete line of nylon tires for trucks and off-the-highway vehicles now is being produced by The Firestone Tire & Rubber Company, At Okso, local Firestone dealer, disclosed today.

The nylon tires are stronger, tougher and longer-lasting and will meet the requirements of operators for more economical tire performance on today's higher powered equipment that is traveling at faster speeds with heavier loads, according to Mr. Okso.

Reduces Costs

"As a peacekeeper in the trucking business — more Firestone truck tires were sold in 1953 than any other brand — our Company believes this new line of nylon tires will help operators to get the most miles per dollar from their tires," Mr. Okso said.

"When truckers have extreme operating conditions — where impact and flex breaks are caused by overload, where tread and ply separation result from water seep-

JOHNSON IN HOLLYWOOD

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — Exclusively Yours: Only a few friends and family members have heard the details of Maria-Riva's critical illness that almost snuffed out her life last year.

But now I can reveal that the daughter of Mariene Dietrich spent eight days near death in a bout with deadly bulbar polio in Israel last summer.

Maria told me the story in a quiet, hushed voice.

She had gone to Israel to costar in a TV series and to build a cerebral palsy clinic. She returned to her hotel one night and "I began to feel a splitting headache. It was as though my brain were trying to push out of my skull. For eight days, I was unconscious and they were certain I was going to die. I lost 30 pounds. Then I came out of it, but some miracle and I heard myself saying, 'Where am I?'

"That broke me up. No actress can afford to say, 'Where am I?'" I started to laugh. My husband says it was the most frightening thing in the world to hear someone come back from death laughing.

An Irma-brained starlet, hearing that Walter Bros. will produce Lewis and Clark" in Cinerama, said:

"Goah, it's like they said, Jerry Lewis is getting a new partner."

Mitz Gaylor and her mother, who's guided the dancing star's career since she was a half-pint, are living under separate roofs and hardly talking. The reason:

Mom's objections to the masterminding of Mitz's career by Jack Bean, the boy friend, and to Jack's drastic move in asking Fox to release her from her contract.

Ina Claire, once married to John Gilbert, has agreed to face movie cameras again in "To Catch a Thief." Alfred Hitchcock did the persuading... Ricardo Montalban's hand infection, once feared to be something worse, turned out to be a jungle fungus

The identity of Eva Gabor's secret heart, notes British star ball. It's almost as headline-making, if it could be told, as Zsa Zsa and Rubirosa... It's signed and settled for Victor Jory to play the role of Captain Ahab in Hallmark Playhouse's "Moby Dick" telecast May 16.

Frank Borzage, who directed the memorable "Seventh Heaven" and other big film hits, is talking to CBS and NBC about a dramatic TV series.

Marilyn Monroe's blushing again about TV demoting her to a bit player. She's seen briefly without the open mouth and throbbing voice in Mickey Rooney's "Fireball," now on the home screens.

Lola Butler, once Dennis Day's TV girl friend, is a new supper club warbling hit... M. C. Tubby Boots tells about a gunman growling to a theater cashier:

"The picture was horrible — give me EVERYBODY'S money back."

Ingrid Bergman's quotes to a British sorbit:

"Only one thing makes me want to go back to America. I long to see my daughter. She's 15 now and I haven't seen her for two years. It is very hard."

The Audrey Hepburn-Mel Ferrer linkage is a giggle to their pals, who insist that it's all for the sake of sweet publicity. And to give the heart-involved Audrey a dash of color... Joan Blondell, absent from Movietown since "The Blue Veil," is packing her trunks for a return to the sound stages in a big role.

FHA Scandals Raise Issue Of Federal Aid To Business

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — There is a far bigger issue to the current investigations of Federal Housing Administration irregularities than shows on the surface. It is how much an "incentive" private business needs to do a public service job in the national interest.

A lot of words have been spouted to the effect that government should get out of all business-type activities and leave everything to private enterprise.

But the experience of government over the last 20 years has shown that unless private enterprise is guaranteed a handsome profit on public service it will not take the job.

This is true not only with regard to the various government housing programs, but to national defense and aviation.

It applies to the accelerated tax amortization plan in effect since the beginning of World War II. They were considered necessary to provide business with an incentive to tackle defense production.

It applies to the huge depreciation allowances given oil and gas producers in exchange for the largest loopholes in existing tax law.

It applies to the huge subsidies given American ship builders and shipping line operators. These incentives are considered necessary to maintain an American merchant marine in peacetime so that it will be available for military transport in time of war. Proposed legislation now before Congress would even increase these incentives.

It also applies to the newly proposed incentives to business in pending tax reform legislation. These incentives include a reduction of taxes on dividends, a change in depreciation allowance schedules for tax purposes, and other big film hits, is talking to CBS and NBC about a dramatic TV series.

Sherwin - Williams Announces New Paint Methods

A fascinating new departure in the world of home decoration was revealed today by the Sherwin-Williams Co. of Cleveland and its allied companies — Acme Quality Paints, Inc., The Lows Brothers Co., John Lucas & Co., and the Martin-Senour Co.

It is a unique method to create interesting designs on walls by means of a twin roller. The method includes the use of a new product, Super-Kem-Tone Applikay, which contains materials that were laboratory curiosities a year or two ago.

Applikay has an opalescent sheen that gives a silk-brocade effect when viewed from various angles. The material comes ready-to-use in eight translucent colors: Sapphire Blue, Moonmist White, Span Gold, Silvery Gray, Crystal Green, Frosty Lilac, Radiant Pink and Medallion Yellow. Applikay in all colors is completely washable when dry.

New Frontier in Decor

"Applikay and the techniques of application represent a wholly new frontier in attractive and economical decoration for the home," commented President Arthur W. Stuedel of Sherwin - Williams.

"Home decorating counselors who were given a preview of Applikay were unanimously enthusiastic. It has been acclaimed similarly by home builders and architects."

Designs are applied to surfaces first coated with Super-Kem-Tone, the washable latex base wall paint brought out by Sherwin-Williams and allied companies in 1950. A chemical affinity exists between Applikay and Super-Kem-Tone. Their formulations establish a bond which results in both proper adhesion and complete washability.

A double roller is employed. Joined on a single handle are a fabric covered roller and a molded plastic roller on which the design is embossed. The fabric roller picks up the Applikay from a paint-tray and distributes it evenly over the design roller in the process of application.

Anyone Can Do It

"This modern method of application results in a blending of color and design, even in inexperienced hands," said Ray H. Hookham, Sherwin-Williams decorative artist. "In each of us there is a bit of the creative artist, a desire for decorative color and interesting design. This new method fulfills the desire for new decorative effects which Mr. and Mrs. America are constantly seeking."

These designs are non-directional, capturing the texture theme so popular with homemakers. Since the designs are not geometric, it is not necessary to match their lines while applying Applikay.

Taking into account the hundreds of shades in which Super-Kem-Tone is available as the wall background color it is possible to create almost countless effects with Applikay's designs and colors.

Combinations of Designs

Combinations of the designs may be used to achieve individualized decorative effects. The designs are interesting and decorative by cross-rolling the wall surface, vertically and horizontally. Combining Applikay colors, one upon the other, also is strikingly effective. Rollers with different designs are readily interchangeable on the Applikay roller frame.

Applikay comes ready-to-use except for stirring. No thinner is required. The application technique is simple. After coating the fabric roller in the paint tray, place the design roller against the wall, then simply draw the roller down or across the wall. The Applikay rollers are easily cleaned with soap and water.

Biggest of all the incentives given to private enterprise is of course the farm price support program. Price supports were originally introduced during the depression to assure farmers of a minimum income. The incentives were increased in wartime to guarantee the farmers high income for producing bumper crops for the war effort.

It is now virtually impossible to reduce these support-price levels, even though they provide an incentive to produce farm surpluses in excess of the demand, at a cost of billions of dollars to the taxpayers and at an actual waste.

The question on all these incentives is, how big do they have to be to make the so-called private enterprise system function?

The obvious answer is that no businessman or anybody else is going to risk money on an enterprise if he thinks he'll lose his shirt at it. That is just plain horse sense.

But does there have to be an opportunity for unlimited profits

Up from Brazil for a series of piano concerts is Orisno de Almeida, one of South American's top concert artists. He likes the U.S. fine, except for the affixer. Siffier turns out to be French for whistle — he was using French.

"In Brazil," de Almeida says, "to stiffer means no good. Here, it's good."

The youthful pianist is here on an exchange concert deal worked out by the National Music League. American soprano Shirley Emmons toured Brazil last summer in the opening act of the big switch.

We talked in English-French signals, and he managed to trot out some pretty impressive English adjectives to describe his reactions to the U.S. — words like "fabulous," "starring" and "epicurean."

"Only one thing," he said, frowning, "is on train. Conductors go babbie-babbie but don't give much information. That you would not

MASS MARRIAGES As Protest

COPENHAGEN, May 10 — UP — Twelve men and 12 women chose up sides last week for a big marrying match.

Some of the couples who got engaged at a party behind closed doors didn't even know each other. Others were only passing acquaintances. None, so far as we know, were in love.

All were Danish civil service employes, or those who have been married and widowed or divorced, draw some $15 a month more than single persons.

THE MARQUEE

THE MARQUEE BY DICK KLEINER

The McCarthy-Army hearings didn't get as high ratings as the Kefauver crime hearings — it is obvious that Roy Cohn will never be another Virginia Hill.

Unsungest of TV's unsung heroes is the floor manager. His job is to see that the right actor is on the right set at the right time; to give cues; and to act as the director's ambassador on the set during the actual telecast. It takes a quick mind and comfortable shoes.

Jim Fox is the floor manager for the Campbell TV Soundstage (NBC-TV). He was wearing a small radio called a "cue receiver," stuck in his belt, wired to an ear-piece. And he carried a white book and a flashlight. Those are the tools of his trade.

The book and the flashlight are to give cues. He stands just to the side of a camera. When an actor should begin acting, Jim waves the book. On radio's sets, he flashes a light beam across the actor's face as a get-busy signal.

Sometimes cues are given in other ways. Jim told of one show, which opened with a girl in bed, sleeping. She had to wake up at a precise moment. Jim gave her cue by tickling her foot. He's also poked people with broomsticks and jogged them with steel pipes.

A floor manager's life can be fraught with danger. Jim's comes perilously close to being clobbered with low-flying boom mikes, and he's had to dodge elephants and horses. It is, as he says, a gay life.

"If I ever showed on camera," says Jim Fox, "that would be my neck."

John Cameron Swayze, the NBC-TV newscaster, is a viewer of Western movies on his own time. He says he saw one where the hero was chasing the villain, but had to quit. Reached the end of the cord on his electric guitar.
